UNIVERSITY OF NEW BRUNSWICK
SAINT JOHN CAMPUS

UNB

WARD CHIPMAN LIBRARY

UNIVERSITY OF NEW BRUNSWICK LIBRARIES
3 9960 00131951 6

WITHDRAWN
☐ DESELECTED
☐ LOST
☐ DAMAGED
☐ MISSING (INV.)
☐ OTHER

BURT FRANKLIN BIBLIOGRAPHY & REFERENCE SERIES 105

THE MARLOWE CONCORDANCE

VOL. II.

MATERIALIEN ZUR KUNDE

DES

ÄLTEREN ENGLISCHEN DRAMAS

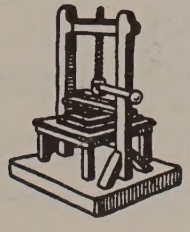
THE MARLOWE CONCORDANCE

BY

Charles Crawford

VOL. II.

BURT FRANKLIN BIBLIOGRAPHY & REFERENCE SERIES 105



BURT FRANKLIN
NEW YORK

WCL-STACKS
PR
2672
.C89
V.2

PUBLISHED BY BURT FRANKLIN
235 EAST 44TH ST.
NEW YORK, N. Y. 10017

FIRST PUBLISHED

LOUVAIN

Materialien zur Kunde
des älteren
Englischen Dramas

1911

LIBRARY
UNIVERSITY OF NEW BRUNSWICK
IN SAINT JOHN

PRINTED IN U.S.A.

THE

MARLOWE

CONCORDANCE

VOL. II.

J

Jacentem.
E2 1926 Hunc dies vidit fugiens j.
Jacinth.
*Loc 1112 of perfect marble, and of j. stones
JM 26 js., hard topaz, grass-green emeralds
Jack.
E2 709 I have not seen a dapper J. so brisk
*Con 1380 why sirrah, J. Cade the dyer of Ashford here, he *Con 1386 but sirrah, who comes more [Q3 else] beside J. Cade?
*Con 1392 as soon as J. Cade is king
*Con 1514 J. Cade hath solemnly vow'd to have thy head
*Con 1535 how now, is J. Cade slain?
*Con 1555 J. Cade, J. Cade
*Con 1739 and so a pox rot thee, for J. Cade must die
*Con 1741 J. Cade, and was it [Q3 this] that monstrous rebel
*2H6 2204 J. Cade the clothier, means to dress the commonwealth
*2H6 2348 J. Cade, the Duke of York hath taught you this *2H6 2414 will parley with J. Cade their general
*2H6 2420 Lord Say, J. Cade hath sworn to have thy head
*2H6 2431 J. Cade proclaims himself Lord Mortimer
*2H6 2452 J. Cade hath gotten London-Bridge
*2H6 2464 how now? is J. Cade slain?
*2H6 2484 J. Cade, J. Cade
*2H6 2486 he'll never call ye J. Cade more
*E3 198 nor lay aside their js. of gymold mail
Jack-out-of-office.
*1H6 176 but long I will not be J.
Jacobe.
MP 1196 Sancte J., now have mercy upon me! (Old ed. Jacobus)
Jacobins.
MP 1219 what this detested Jacobin hath done
JM 1602 malign'd the order of the J.
MP 1152 I am a friar of the order of the J.
MP 1179 here is a friar of the order of the J.
Jacob's.
2T 1076 with the J. staff measure the height
*E3 1483 no otherwise than did old J. words Jacobus.
MP 360 Sanctus [Old ed. Sancta] J., he's [Old ed. he was] my saint MP 1196 Sancte J., now have mercy upon me! [Dyce Jacobe] Jacomo.
JM 1273 O, therefore, J., let me be one
JM 1606 O J., fail not, but come
JM 1614 what, if I murder'd him ere J. comes?
JM 1658 then will not J. be long from hence
JM 1672 why, how now, J.! what hast thou done?

Jaded.
Ov 2119 or j. cam'st thou from some other's bed
L 337 and j. king [Old ed. and J., king] of Pontus poison'd slain
*2H6 2104 must not be shed by such a j. groom Jades.
*E3 1939 bid him to-day bestride the jade himself
*Sel 560 or rusty jade fet from Barbaria?
2T 1665 holla, ye pamper'd j. of Asia
2T 1676 the headstrong j. of Thrace Alcides tam'd 2T 1709 that, like unruly never-broken j., break through 2T 1761 forward then, ye j.!
2T 1926 these j. are broken-winded and half tir'd 2T 2282 bridle the steelèd stomachs of these [8vo those] j.
2T 2317 the nature of these proud rebelling j. will Ov 876 or woful Hector whom wild j. did tear?
*2H6 2056 the j. that drag the tragic melancholy night
*E3 1435 as resty-stiff as 'twere a many over-ridden j.
*E3 1617 no love-sick cockney; nor his soldiers, j.
Ov 53 and rough j.' mouths with stubborn bits are torn Jady.
*Con 1330 base j. groom, King Henry's blood
*Con 1364 Suffolk's imperial tongue cannot plead to such a j. groom Jaertis'.
2T 1467 with [Dyce which] J. [4to Laertis] stream, embracing thee
2T 1772 and crystal waves of fresh J. [4to Laertes] stream Jailer: see Gaoler
Jairim.
JM 128 there's Kirriah J., the great Jew of Greece
James.
E2 1282 Come hither, J.: I do commit this Gaveston to thee
E2 1298 no, J.; it is my country's cause I follow
*Con 1621 to Sir J. Cromer his son-in-law
*2H6 2600 his son-in-law's house, Sir J. Cromer Jangling.
L 521 lest some one might ease the commons' j. minds
Janitorem.
Ov 217 Ad j., ut fores sibi aperiat Janizaries.
*Sel 99 the j. love him more than me
*Sel 406 think you the j. will suffer you to *Sel 527 and gather all our warlike j.
*Sel 755 and how the j. made him flee
*Sel 809 the j. favour Selimus
*Sel 942 he made me captain of the j.
*Sel 1080 what? for because the head-strong j.
*Sel 1098 rebutted by his warlike j.
*Sel 1408 preferr'd he not the stubborn j.
*Sel 1508 of j., stern-born sons of Mars
*Sel 1519 and send forth all thy warlike j.
*Sel 1548 Mustaffa, and the forward j.
*Sel 1609 chief-general of the warlike j.
*Sel 1642 and here he comes with all his j.
*Sel 2292 when I and all the warlike j.
*Sel 2302 and yet the j. mourn for me
*Sel 2396 why then, you never-daunted j., advance
*Sel 2503 thou shall be general of my j.
1T 1110 hath now in arms ten thousand j.
1T 1156 bassoes and j. of my guard
JM 2152 we give, to guard thy person, these our j.
*Sel 1034 your highness knows the j.' love
*Sel 2341 though Selim by the j.' choice
*Sel 2125 keep you safe from my j.' hands

Janizars.
*Sel 1624 for if I once get 'mongst the j.
1T 1121 and rifle all those stately j.
January.
1F 1319 were it now summer, as it is J. and the dead time of the winter 1F 1330 in the dead time of winter and in the month of J.
2F 1677 as it is J., a dead time of the winter Janus'.
2T 758 I burst the rusty beams of J. temple-doors
L 61 peace through the world from J. fane shall fly Jaques.
JM 1230 any of the friars of Saint Jaynes [Dyce, J.]
JM 1362 'tis call'd Saint J.' Even Jar.
*Sel 765 Selim no doubt will broach seditious j.
*HLC 2149 their j. drowns [V. R. jarres Drowne] poor Leander *2H6 2670 were 't not a shame, that whilst you live at j.
*TT 234 how now sons what at a j. amongst yourselves?
F2 1027 here comes she that is the cause of all these js.
*1H6 45 cease, cease these js., and rest your minds in peace
*Con 160 and Humphrey with the peers be fall'n at js.
*2H6 254 and Humphrey with the peers be fall'n at js.
*TT 909 O would my death might stay these civil [Q2 cruel] js.!
JM 799 O my lord, we will not j. about the price
E2 875 ay me, poor soul, when these begin to j.!
E2 1623 be tun'd together! No, no, we j. too far
HLM 236 which long time lie untouch'd, will harshly j.
HLM 338 women are won when they begin to j.
Ov 990 seeing she likes my books, why should we j.?
*1H6 1168 that two such noble peers as ye should j.?
*2H6 734 when such strings j., what hope of harmony?
Jarring.
L 98 Caesar's and Pompey's j. love soon ended
*1H6 1767 this j. discord of nobility
Jason.
*Loc 1577 Medea seeing J. leave her love
*Loc 1583 with which she wrought J. and Creon's ill 1T 1644 spoils as rich to you as was to J. Colchos' golden fleece
JM 1814 I'll be thy J., thou my golden fleece
Ov 1597 what thankless J., Macareus, and Paris
Ov 780 and J.'s Argo [Old eds. Argos], and the fleece of gold?
Ov 823 of J.'s Argo, and the fleece of gold?
Ov 1607 J.'s sad letter doth Hypsipyle greet Jasper-stone.
HLM 142 the walls were of discolour'd j.
Javelin.
L 213 albeit the Moor's light j. or his spear sticks in *Sel 1510 for fear our js. thrust him from his wain Jaws.
*Sel 454 he may devour him with his famished j.
*Sel 598 dost turn thy hungry j. upon thy self
*Sel 1316 Avernus' j. and loathsome Taenarus
*Loc 1187 with greedy j. devour the wandering wights!
1T 814 and pressed out fire from their burning j.
1T 1200 did pash the j. of serpents venemous
2F 2060 the j. of hell are open [1624, 1631, is ready] to receive thee
E2 2107 more safety there is in a tiger's j.
D 949 which I will break betwixt a lion's j.
Ov 2182 they manage peace, and paw war's bloody j.

L 212 with j. wide-open ghastly roaring out
L 332 j. flesh'd [Old ed. flesh] with blood continue murderous
*2H6 2059 from their misty j., breathe foul contagious darkness
*E3 733 the lion doth become his bloody j.

Jaxertes : see Jaertis

Jay.
*HLC 2010 one of Juno's birds, the painted j.

Jaynes.
JM 1230 any of the friars of Saint J. [Dyce, Jaques]

Jealous.
1T 1878 the j. body of his fearful wife
2T 527 and j. anger of His fearful arm
2T 576 j. of his name and honour
JM 1469 both, j. of my love, envied each other
D 517 my mother Venus, j. of my health, convey'd me from D 1240 love made me j. : but, to make amends
HLM'541 now wax'd she j. lest his love abated
*HLC 1817 j. of cruelty to their bright fellows
Dia 72 and, if you be j., God give you good night!

Jealousy.
*Loc 1769 J., Locrine, hath a wicked sting 1T 1049 threaten'd with frowning wrath and j.
1T 1073 the killing frowns of j. and love
2T 656 whose j. admits no second mate
2T 1463 and what the j. of war must do

Jebusite.
JM 1044 this offspring of Cain, this J., that Jeered.

JM 1834 then, like a Jew, he laughed and j.

Jeers.
JM 2373 how the slave j. at him!

Jehovae.
1F 259 Valeat numen triplex J.!
2F 246 Valeat numen triplex J.!

Jehovam.
1F 263 per J., Gehennam, et consecratam aquam
2F 250 per J., Gehennam, et consecratam aquam

Jehovah's.
1F 250 within this circle is J. name
2F 237 within this circle is J. name

Jelly.
L 618 blackness ran though the blood, that turn'd it all to j.

Jemmy.
*E3 226 J. my man, saddle my bonny black

Jennet.
D 1273 and, seated on my j., let him ride
*E3 1933 by me hath sent a nimble-jointed j.

Jephtha.
*3H6 2582 more impiety, than J., when he sacrific'd his daughter

Jerkin.
*Epg 90 endure as long as a buff-j. would
*Epg 92 thy pleasure's place like a buff-j. lasteth
*Epg 93 for no buff-j. hath been oftener worn

Jerome's.
1F 66 J. Bible, Faustus ; view it well
2F 63 J. Bible, Faustus ; view it well

Jerusalem.
2T 491 the kings of Soria and J.
2T 640 our brother[s] of J., of Soria, Trebizon 2T 790 Emperor of Natolia, J., Trebizon, Soria 2T 832 and I as many from J.
2T 1212 from Palestina and J.
JM 951 once at J., where the pilgrims kneel'd
JM 1560 and on my knees creep to J.
*1H6 2635 a king, the King of Naples, and J.
*Con 44 King of Naples, Sicilia, and J.
*2H6 47 Reignier King of Naples, Sicilia, and J.
*TT 441 King of Naples, of both the Sicils and J.
*TT 2118 hath pawn'd the Sicils and J.
*3H6 543 King of Naples, of both the Sicils, and J.
*3H6 2770 to meet with joy in sweet J.
*3H6 2985 hath pawn'd the Sicils and J.

Jesses.
E2 843 I have the j. [Old eds. gresses] that will pull you down

Jest.
*Sel 2129 to seek my death, and make a j. of me
1T 792 'twill prove a pretty j., in faith, my friends
1T 793 a j. to charge on twenty thousand men!
1T 800 make but a j. to win the Persian crown 2T 1755 our pageant, and common soldiers j.
2F 1194 for we called you but in j., I promise you
MP 779 believe me, this j. bites sore
*LD 12 sweat with the invention of some pitiful dry j. or two
*Epg 7 and be to them a laughter and a j.
*Con 1263 by thee to die, were but to die in j.
*2H6 130 a proper j., and never heard before, that *2H6 2006 to die by thee, were but to die in j.
*TT 1405 then none but I shall turn his j. to sorrow
*TT 1753 or did he make the j. against his will *3H6 1018 as if the tragedy were play'd in j., by counterfeiting actors
*3H6 1903 then none but I, shall turn his j. to sorrow
*3H6 2519 or did he make the j. against his will?
E2 715 flout our train, and j. at our attire
Dia 70 why, how now, sweet Nan! I hope you j.
*TT 1177 I am a subject fit to j. withal, but *TT 1203 well, j. on brothers : I can tell you, her suit is *3H6 1519 I am a subject fit to j. withal, but *3H6 1550 well, j. on brothers : I can tell you both, her suit 2F 351 alas, poor slave! see how poverty js. in his nakedness!
2F 1395 when every servile groom js. at my wrongs

Jested.
MP 766 am I thus to be j. at and scorned?
Dia 74 I thought she had j. and meant but a fable

Jesteth.
1F 368 alas, poor slave! see how poverty j. in his nakedness!

Jesting.
2T 1753 and make us j. pageants for their trulls 1F 204 go to, sirrah! leave your j., and 1F 392 leave your j., and bind yourself presently unto me 2F 196 go to, sirrah! leave your j., and tell us where he is 2F 374 leave your j., and take these guilders
E2 777 leave off this j. ; here my lady comes

Jesu.
*2H6 159 J. maintain your royal excellence
*2H6 372 the Lord protect him, for he's a good man, J. bless him
*2H6 3044 for you shall sup with J. Christ to-night

Jesus.
2T 135 the Son of God and issûe of a maid, sweet J. Christ
*Con 99 crying J. bless your royal excellence
*Con 215 J. preserve your majesty

*Con 874 and with long life, J. preserve his grace [Q3 omits]
*Con 1873 for you shall sup with J. Christ to-night
*2H6 330 J. preserve your royal majesty
*TT 2060 O J. bless us, he is born with teeth
*3H6 2928 the women cried O J. bless us, he is born with teeth

Jet.

2T 272 as black as j., and hard as iron
*Con 554 black sir, black as j.
*Con 555 then belike he knows what colour j. is on *Con 556 and yet [Q2 omits] I think j. did he never see *2H6 803 What colour is my gown of? — Black forsooth, coal-black, as j.
*2H6 804 why then, thou know'st what colour j. is of?
*2H6 805 and yet I think, j. did he never see Ov 2106 now, when he should not j., he bolts upright
E2 705 and, Midas-like, he js. it in the court

Jetty.

1T 1430 plumes, and j. feathers, menace death and hell

Jew.

*Sel 1681 Bajazet hath with him a cunning J.
*Sel 1686 this J. with some intoxicated drink
*Sel 1689 go some and fetch [here] Abraham the J.
*Sel 1713 J., thou art welcome unto Selimus
*Sel 1843 ah wicked J.! ah cursèd Selimus!
JM (Title) The Famous Tragedy of the Rich J. of Malta
*JMD 3 the J. presented by so unimitable an actor as Master Alleyn
*JMS 6 the story of a rich and famous J. who liv'd in Malta
*JMS 25 in Tamburlaine, this J., with others many, th' other wan
*JMS 31 merit in him [«Perkins»] who doth personate our J. to-day
JMP 30 but to present the tragedy of a J.
JM 68 go tell 'em the J. of Malta sent thee, man
JM 118 rather had I, a J., be hated thus JM 128 there's Kirriah Jairim, the great J. of Greece
JM 248 tut, J., we know thou art no soldier
JM 260 How! equally? — No, J., like infidels
JM 293 no, J., thou hast denied the articles
JM 297 no, J.; we take particularly thine, to JM 525 the hopeless daughter of a hapless J.
JM 526 the J. of Malta, wretched Barabas
JM 734 here comes the J.: had not his goods been seiz'd
JM 761 I hear the wealthy J. walkèd this way
JM 768 yond' walks the J.: now for fair Abigail
JM 879 what make the J. and Lodowick so private?
JM 893 tell me, Mathias, is not that the J.?
JM 900 sirrah J., remember the book
JM 978 and like a cunning J. so cast about, that JM 1038 disdain to marry with the daughter of a J.
JM 1141 ay, but the J. has gold
JM 1484 but I must to the J., and exclaim on him
JM 1488 and help me to exclaim against the J.
JM 1520 stay, wicked J.; repent, I say, and stay
JM 1529 what needs all this? I know I am a J.
JM 1555 I am a J., and therefore am I lost
JM 1616 as never J. nor Christian knew the like
JM 1665 and intercept my going to the J.
JM 1695 no; for this example I'll remain a J.
JM 1697 when shall you see a J. commit the like?
JM 1784 but you know some secrets of the J.
JM 1805 hang him, J!
JM 1834 then, like a J., he laughed and jeered
JM 1844 «Sirrah J., as you love your life, send me»
JM 1882 J., I must ha' more gold
JM 1927 was ever J. tormented as I am?
JM 1947 Now to the J. — Ha! to the J.; and JM 2002 dost know a J., one Barabas?
JM 2008 'tis a strange thing of that J., he lives upon
JM 2026 one letter more to the J.
JM 2036 to undo a J. is charity, and not sin
JM 2047 Mathias did it not; it was the J.
JM 2055 I always fear'd that J.
JM 2081 was my Mathias murder'd by the J.?
JM 2085 where is the J.? where is that murderer?
JM 2088 so is the Turk and Barabas the J. — Dead!
JM 2109 my name is Barabas; I am a J.
JM 2110 art thou that J. whose goods we heard were sold
JM 2121 the J. is here, and rests at your command
JM 2149 of such a traitor and unhallow'd J.!
JM 2156 farewell, brave J., farewell, great Barabas!
JM 2391 accursed Barabas, base J., relent?
E2 2409 if any Christian, Heathen, Turk, or J., dares
JM 575 who's this? fair Abigail, the rich J.'s daughter
JM 593 what was she? — Why, the rich J.'s daughter
JM 1146 I chanced to cast mine eye up to the J.'s counting-house
JM 1150 but here's the J.'s man
JM 1157 now would I give a hundred of the J.'s crowns that JM 2095 for the J.'s body, throw that o'er the walls
JM 2429 O, monstrous treason! — A J.'s courtesy
1T 1231 I have of Turks, Arabians, Moors, and Js., enough
2T 62 Js., Arabians, Turks, and Moors
JM 109 these are the blessings promis'd to the Js.
JM 150 what accident's betided to the Js.?
JM 173 and all the Js. in Malta must be there
JM 174 hum, — all the Js. in Malta must be there!
JM 230 go one and call those Js. of Malta hither
JM 267 shall all be levied amongst the Js.
JM 313 some Js. are wicked, as all Christians are JM 569 becomes it Js. to be so credulous?
JM 749 we Js. can fawn like spaniels when we please
JM 991 as sure as heaven rain'd manna for the Js.
JM 1055 but all are heretics that are not Js.
JM 1102 are there not Js. enow in Malta, but thou must JM 1252 pity in Js., nor piety in Turks
JM 1554 for store of wealth may I compare with all the Js. in Malta.
JM 2252 this is the life we Js. are us'd to lead
JM 2411 now, Selim, note the unhallow'd deeds of Js.
*JMS 21 the Malta-J. had being and was made

Jewel.

1T 573 and having thee, I have a j. sure
E2 712 a j. of more value than the crown
E2 2536 one j. have I left; receive thou this
D 46 I would have a j. for mine ear
HLM 549 like Aesop's cock, this j. he enjoy'd
*HLC 2405 to find her j.; — j.! — her Leander
*1H6 2183 bear his this j., pledge of my affection
*Con 1271 a j. lock'd into the woefull'st cask, that ever
*2H6 1709 I took a costly j. from my neck
*2H6 2016 a j. lock'd into the woeful!l'st cask, that ever 1T 144 and costly js. hanging at their ears
1T 191 the js. and the treasures we have ta'en shall 1T 285 silk, enchas'd with precious js of mine own
1T 303 now must your js. be restor'd again
1T 1294 that offer'd js. to thy sacred shrine
1T 2113 make ready my coach, my chair, my js.

2T 1736 take them; divide them, and their [8vo omits] js. too
JM 447 rich costly js., and stones infinite
JM 506 the gold and js. which I kept for thee
JM 558 and think upon the js. and the gold
JM 629 the gold, the pearl, and js., which he hid
JM 1002 he sends her letters, bracelets, js., rings
E2 627 no other js. hang about my neck than these D 1057 hold, take these js. at thy lover's hand HLM 583 js. being [V. R. been] lost are found again; this never HLM 738 (rich js. in the dark are soonest spied)
*HLC 948 than all the js. that do [V. R. doth] Juno deck
*HLC 2406 all earth's js. pleas'd not her like his dear name
Ov 586 garments do wear, js. and gold do wast
Ov 2435 js. and gold their virgin tresses crown
L 164 men took delight in js., houses, plate
*E3 214 why then, my liege, let me enjoy her js.
*E3 232 which is he, must have the lady; and which, her js.?

Jewelled.

*1H6 594 an urn more precious than the rich-j. coffer of Darius

Jeweller.

JM 1810 and bid the j. come hither too

Jewish.

JM 1549 I have been zealous in the J. faith

Jig.

E2 992 to England's high disgrace, have made this j.
*E3 181 and in their vild, uncivil, skipping js., bray forth

Jigging.

1TP 1 from j. veins of rhyming mother-wits

Joan.

*1H6 519 the dauphin, with one J. de Pucelle join'd
*1H6 571 thus J. de Pucelle hath perform'd her word *1H6 586 'tis J., not we, by whom the day is won
*1H6 598 but J. de Pucelle shall be France's saint
*1H6 651 tut, holy J. was his defensive guard
*1H6 704 his new-come champion, virtuous J. of Arc
*1H6 1456 then thus it must be, this doth J. devise
*1H6 2421 ah J., this kills thy father's heart outright
*1H6 2425 ah J., sweet daughter J., I'll die with thee
*1H6 2436 fie J., that thou wilt be so obstacle
*1H6 2439 deny me not, I prithee, gentle J.
*1H6 2468 no misconceived, J. of Arc hath been a virgin
*1H6 2479 then J. discover thine infirmity
*Con 471 and 'twas ten to one old J. had not gone out
*2H6 673 and ten to one, old J. had not gone out

Job.

JM 381 yet, brother Barabas, remember J.
JM 382 what tell you me of J.?

John.

*Sel 637 we that have fought with mighty Prester J.
*Sel 1894 « but our sir J., beshrew thy heart »
*Loc 1053 ay, Sir, to you, J. Lack-honesty, Littlewit 2T 433 the mighty Christian priest, call'd J. the Great 1F 558 that he shall appear to the said J. Faustus 1F 559 I, J. Faustus, of Wertenberg, Doctor, by 1F 565 full power to fetch or carry the said J. Faustus
1F 567 By me, J. Faustus
2F (Title) Printed for J. Wright, and are to be sold at his shop 2F 505 that he shall appear to the said J. Faustus, at all times
2F 506 I, J. Faustus, of Wittenberg, Doctor, by these presents
2F 513 full power to fetch or carry the said J. Faustus
2F 514 By me, J. Faustus
E2 1627 ah, good Sir J. of Hainault
E2 1643 ah, sweet Sir J., even to the utmost verge of E2 1686 Sir J. of Hainault, pardon us, I pray
E2 1690 prosper your happy motion, good Sir J.!
E2 1693 Sir J. of Hainault, be it thy renown, that E2 1730 « with Sir J. of Hainault, brother to the marquis »
E2 1740 and will Sir J. of Hainault lead the round?
HL (Title) at London printed for J. Flasket
*Epg (Title) Epigrams by J. D[avies]. At Middleborough
*Epg (Title) Epigrams and Elegies. By J. D[avies] and C[hristopher] M[arlowe]
*1H6 132 if Sir J. Falstaff [? Fastolfe] had not play'd the coward
*1H6 1043 he, from J. of Gaunt doth bring his pedigree
*1H6 1406 whither away Sir J. Falstaffe [? Fastolfe], in such haste?
*1H6 1776 English J. Talbot (captains) calls you forth *1H6 1864 mercy on brave Talbot's soul, and on his son young J.
*1H6 1929 O young J. Talbot, I did send for thee to *1H6 1987 where is J. Talbot? pause, and take thy breath
*1H6 2010 art thou not weary, J.? how dost thou fare?
*1H6 2042 O, where's young Talbot? where is valiant J.?
*1H6 2072 now my old arms are young J. Talbot's grave
*Con 214 what Sir J. Hume, what news with you?
*Con 225 thanks good Sir J.
*Con 234 now Sir J. Hume, no words but mum
*Con 245 but whist Sir J., no more of that I trow
*Con 415 here Sir J., take this scroll of paper here
*Con 505 I am Plantagenet as well as thou, and son to J. of Gaunt
*Con 650[a] the fourth was J. of Gaunt [So in Q3]
*Con 653 the fourth was J. of Gaunt, Duke of Lancaster [So in Q1 Q2]
*Con 668 Henry of Bolingbroke, son and heir to J. of Gaunt
*Con 678 and so ever since the heirs of J. of Gaunt have *Con 683 and Henry from J. of Gaunt the fourth son
*Con 842 and I must deliver her to Sir J. Stanley
*Con 844 must you Sir J. conduct my lady?
*Con 847 I pray you Sir J., use her ne'er the worse
*Con 851 and so Sir J. farewell
*Con 860 ah good Sir J., my shame cannot be hid
*Con 1038 a headstrong Kentishman, J. Cade of Ashford
*Con 1039 under the title of J. Mortimer [Q2 Sir J. Mortimer]
*Con 1396 I J. Cade so named for my valiancy
*Con 1449 kneel down J. Mortimer, rise up Sir J. Mortimer
*2H6 328 where are you there? Sir J.; nay fear not man
*2H6 348 but how now, Sir J.? seal up your lips
*2H6 382 mine is, and 't please your grace, against J. Goodman
*2H6 597 J. Southwell read you, and let us to our work
*2H6 912 next to whom, was J. of Gaunt, the Duke of Lancaster
*2H6 920 the eldest son and heir of J. of Gaunt
*2H6 956 Henry doth claim the crown from J. of Gaunt
*2H6 1000 in banishment, with J. Stanley, in the Isle of Man *2H6 1173 and Sir J. Stanley is appointed now, to *2H6 1175 must you, Sir J., protect my lady here?
*2H6 1181 and so Sir J., farewell
*2H6 1573 a headstrong Kentishman, J. Cade of Ashford
*2H6 1575 under the title of J. Mortimer
*2H6 1588 for that J. Mortimer, which now is dead

*2H6 2231 we J. Cade, so term'd of our supposed father
*2H6 2315 rise up Sir J. Mortimer
*2H6 2503 nay J., it will be stinking law, for his breath
*TT 17 such hope have all the line of J. of Gaunt
*TT 274 Sir J. and Sir Hugh Mortimers [Q3 Mortimer] mine uncles
*TT 1276 then Warwick disannuls great J. of Gaunt
*TT 1278 and after J. of Gaunt wise Henry the Fourth
*TT 1644 brother, this is Sir J. Montgomery
*TT 1646 welcome Sir J.
*TT 1654 nay stay Sir J., and let us first debate
*3H6 19 such hope have all the line of J. of Gaunt
*3H6 347 Sir J., and Sir Hugh Mortimer, mine uncles
*3H6 1716 then Warwick disannuls great J. of Gaunt
*3H6 1718 and after J. of Gaunt, Henry the Fourth
*3H6 2375 brother, this is Sir J. Montgomery
*3H6 2377 welcome Sir J. : but why come you in arms ?
*3H6 2387 nay stay, Sir J., awhile, and we'll debate
*E3 (Register) their wars with King J. of France. Vld.
*E3 21 proclaim'd J., of the House of Valois, now their king
*E3 37 and J. of Valois indirectly climbs
*E3 56 the most renowned prince, King J. of France
*E3 1049 King J. of France, as league and neighbourhood requires
*E3 1235 where J. Valois is three degrees remov'd
*E3 1319 Edward, know, that J., the true King of France
*E3 1438 Vive le Roy ! God save King J. of France !
*E3 1441 we presently will meet thee, J. of France
*E3 1615 now J. of France, I hope, thou know'st
*E3 1722 a squire, my lord ; J. Copland is his name
*E3 1754 J. our king would with his army have reliev'd
*E3 2192 now, J. in France, and lately J. of France
*E3 2354 and J. [Old eds. Charles] de Mountford, regent of that place
*E3 2437 and, lowly at his stirrup, comes a-foot King J.
*E3 2454 so, J. of France, I see you keep your word
*E3 2464 thy ransom, J., hereafter shall be known E2 (Title) at The Red Bull in Saint J.'s Street

Join.

*Sel 1047 that Selim ere long would j. league with him ?
*Sel 2564 and j. it unto ours, or lose our own 1T 361 forsake thy king, and do but j. with me
1T 391 j. with me now in this my mean estate
1T 878 and that made me to j. with Tamburlaine
1T 927 moon begins to j. in one her semicircled horns
1T 1352 where they shall meet and j. their force in one
1T 1583 j. your Arabians with the Soldan's power
2T 849 all which will j. against this Tamburlaine
2T 2054 to j. with you against this Tamburlaine
1F 352 I'll j. the hills that bind the Afric shore
2F 336 I'll j. the hills that bind the Afric shore
2F 1521 he'd j. long asses 'ears to these huge horns
E2 249 then will you j. with us, that be his peers ?
E2 584 and, when the commons and the nobles j.
E2 1071 I come to j. with you, and leave the king
E2 1254 that you, my Lord of Arundel, will j. with me
E2 2078 traitors, be gone, and j. you with Mortimer
MP 810 with the Queen of England j. my force
MP 1137 that basely seeks to j. with such a king
D 885 why should not they, then, j. in marriage
*HLC 1759 mov'd to j. in joys of sacred kind
*HLC 2009 for human race must j. in nuptial life
Ov 162 mingle not thighs, nor to his leg j. thine
Ov 1042 I saw you then unlawful kisses j.
Ov 2244 Nemesis and thy first wench j. their kisses with thine
L 40 at Munda let the dreadful battles j.
L 88 why j. you force to share the world betwixt you ?
*1H6 618 to j. with witches, and the help of hell
*1H6 1166 to j. your hearts in love and amity
*1H6 1245 but j. in friendship, as your lords have done
*1H6 1531 now let us on, my lords, and j. our powers
*Con 109 thanks cousin Buckingham, j. thou with me
*Con 128 then let us j. all three in one for this *2H6 165 cousin of Somerset, j. you with me
*2H6 197 j. we together for the public good
*2H6 460 yet must we j. with him and with the lords
*2H6 2455 the rascal people, thirsting after prey, j. with the traitor
*TT 513 see, see, they j., embrace, and seem to kiss
*TT 520 may j. in one and overpeer the world
*TT 605 in haste, post-haste, are come to j. with you
*TT 873 and in that vow now j. my soul to thee
*TT 1389 to j. mine eldest daughter and my joy to him
*TT 1433 doth j. with Warwick to supplant your state
*TT 1568 and bid her come with speed to j. with us
*TT 1888 let him depart before the battles [Q2 Battaile] j.
*3H6 631 see, see, they j., embrace, and seem to kiss
*3H6 640 should notwithstanding j. our lights together
*3H6 742 in haste, post-haste, are come to j. with you
*3H6 1884 I'll j. mine eldest daughter, and my joy, to him
*3H6 2270 now j. your hands, and with your hands your hearts *3H6 2487 away betimes, before his forces j.
*E3 1195 to j. our several forces all in one
*E3 2405 the battles j.
MP 51 and js. your lineage to the crown of France
L 578 and with what noise an armèd battle js.
*3H6 1858 and mine fair Lady Bona, js. with yours
Ov 1767 in vain why fli'st back ? force con*js.* us now
*E3 1038 besides, we hear the emperor con*js.*, and
*Sel 2247 and means he to dis*j.* the hapless sons
D 841 dis*j.* whom kindred and acquaintance co-unites ?
2T 506 holy laws of Christendom en*j.*
*HLC 1533 thy broken vow deceit with her pied garters must re*j.*
*HLC 1971 but in the midst holds one to re*j.* it ever

Joined.

*Sel 33 public disorder j. with private carke
*Sel 1004 j. unto your highness' tender love
*Sel 1895 « for thou hast j. us, we cannot part »
*Loc 690 policy, j. with chivalry, can never be 1T 13 at whose birth-day Cynthia with Saturn j.
1T 488 then, when our powers in points of swords are j.
2T 1151 eagle's wings j. [8vo in j.] to her feather'd breast
2T 1261 j. those stars that shall be opposite
2T 1412 j. with my father's crown
MP 4 thus j. in nuptial rites
MP 580 Guise, j. with the king of Spain
MP 612 put off that fear, they are already j.
*HLC 1207 two constant lovers being j. in one
Ov 1078 this grieves me not ; no j. kisses spent bewail I
*1H6 94 the Bastard of Orleans with him is j.
*1H6 1638 and j. with Charles, the rightful King of France
*1H6 1837 which j. with him, and made their march for Bordeaux
*1H6 2663 her peerless feature, j. with her birth
*Con 945 all you have j. to betray me thus
*TT 14 whom I encounter'd as the battles j.
*TT 587 our battles j., and both sides fiercely fought
*TT 1436 but yet to have j. with France in this alliance

*3H6 15 whom I encounter'd as the battles j.
*3H6 724 our battles j., and both sides fiercely fought
*3H6 1931 whom God hath j. together
*3H6 1947 yet, to have j. with France in such alliance
*E3 1496 that, courage and experience j. in one
L 87 O faintly-j. friends, with ambition blind
2T 1151 eagle's wings j. [8vo in j.] to her feather'd breast
D 890 and both our deities, con*j.* in one, shall 1T 512 and all con*j.* to meet the witless king
Ov 291 and doors con*j.* with an hard iron lock
*1H6 2210 divided was into two parties, is now con*j.* in one
*E3 1157 hasting to meet each other in the face, at last con*j.*
HLM 9 sea-borderers dis*j.* by Neptune's might 2T 1507 I execute, en*j.* me from above
E2 497 I am en*j.* to sue unto you all for his repeal
*HLC 1566 stopp'd Leucote's lips, en*j.* by Venus
*E3 70 upon a penalty, en*j.* to come
*E3 1595 that is en*j.* to fell a load of oaks 2T 2077 or that it be re*j.* again at full

Joinedst.
*Sel 584 was this the end for which thou j. thy self

Joinest.
*1H6 1501 who j. thou with, but with a lordly nation
*1H6 1514 and j. with them will be thy slaughtermen

Joineth.
*1H6 1328 that j. Roan unto her countrymen

Joining.
1T 500 in j. with the man ordain'd by heaven to 2F 1524 I have a castle j. near these woods
1T 2288 now, ad*j.* all their hands with mine, invest her
D 211 ad*j.* on Agenor's stately town
D 899 the woods ad*j.* to these walls

Joint.
*Sel 2090 well, I'll keep my best j. from the strappado
E2 2538 but every j. shakes as I give it thee
D 935 for otherwhile he will be out of j.
D 1072 or agèd Atlas' shoulder out of j.
*Con 1210 and every j. should seem to curse and ban
*2H6 1925 ay, every j. should seem to curse and ban
*Loc 880 the flinty js. of every stony rock
1T 457 so large of limbs, his js. so strongly knit
1T 1745 my js. benumb'd ; unless I eat, I die 1T 2015 or roaring cannons sever all thy js.
1T 2117 streets strow'd with dissever'd js. of men
2T 1305 while all thy js. be rack'd
Ov 345 her half-dead js. and trembling limbs I saw Ov 1461 and, her small js. encircling, round hoop make thee
Ov 2068 with virgin wax hath some imbast my js.?
L 560 with more and ugly js. than nature gives
*E3 1489 be numb my js ! wax feeble both mine arms !

Jointed.
*E3 1933 by me hath sent a nimble-j. jennet

Jointly.
2T 1292 all have j. sworn thy cruel death
1F 688 all j. move upon one axletree
1F 694 all j. move from east to west
2F 609 and j. move upon one axletree
E2 907 and therefore let us j. here protest to E2 2054 and j. both yield up their wishèd right
D 523 and j. both beating their breasts
L 388 all j. cried they 'll follow where he please
*2H6 2455 and they j. swear to spoil the city
*E3 153 myself, whilst you are j. thus employ'd, will Jointure.

*3H6 1773 touching the j. that your king must make Jollity.

*Epg 335 rode through the street in [MS. streetes with] pompous j.
*E3 1215 doth spend the time in mirthful j.

Jolly.
1F 811 O, but my godmother, she was a j. gentlewoman

Jones.
1T (Title) printed by Richard J. : at the sign of The Rose and Crown
*1TA 19 Yours most humble at commandment, R[ichard] J., printer E2 (Title) Imprinted at London by Richard Bradocke, for William J.

Jonson.
Ov 801 The same by B. I. (i. e. Ben J.)

Jot.
*3H6 865 than in possession any j. of pleasure

Jourdain.
*Con 218 what hast thou conferred with Margery J.
*Con 450 rise J. rise, and stay thy charming spells
*2H6 335 conferr'd with Margery J. the cunning witch
*2H6 596 Mother J., be you prostrate, and grovel on Journey.

*Sel 606 and enterprise thy j. from the East 2T 1170 let the end of this my fatal j. be 1F 973 touching his j. through the world and air 1F 1077 how, from Constantinople ! you have had a great j.
2F 1190 by lady, sir, you have had a shrewd j. of it !
2F 1585 with provision fit for your j.
*HLC 1821 weary of the j. they had gone
Ov 2019 clown, from my j. why dost me deter ?
*Epg 546 or of a j. he deliberates to Paris-garden
*2H6 1205 and go we to attire you far our j.
*E3 1950 and arm thy soul for her long j. towards 2T 1295 I shall have occasion shortly to j. you

Jove.
*Sel 1332 ah ! do not J., Acomat is my son
*Sel 1344 with restless cries doth call upon high J.
*Sel 1668 now sit I like the arm-strong son of J.
*Sel 1805 first made by J., for rest and quiet sleep
*Sel 2435 flung forth a hundreth mountains at great J.
*Loc 80 of mighty J., commander of the world !
*Loc 105 when golden Hebe, daughter to great J.
*Loc 184 or let the ruddy lightning of great J.
*Loc 478 now, by great J., the supreme king of heaven
*Loc 717 flung forth an hundred mountains at great J.
*Loc 832 and, mighty J., commander of the world
*Loc 882 for, by the lightning of almighty J.
*Loc 1262 for, might J., the supreme king of heaven
*Loc 1497 O supreme J., annihilate this thought !
*Loc 1555 accursed J., king of the cursed gods
*Loc 1705 enter the clouds, unto the throne of J.
1T 14 and J., the Sun, and Mercury denied to 1T 170 and J. may never let me longer live than 1T 276 Zenocrate, lovelier than the love of J.
1T 369 and J. himself will stretch his hand from heaven to 1T 388 J. sometime maskèd in a shepherd's weed
1T 865 what better precedent than mighty J. ?
1T 884 for as, when J. did thrust old Saturn down
1T 1721 yet would I with my sword make J. to stoop 1T 2082 O highest lamp of ever-living [4to everlasting] J.
1T 2158 ah, mighty J. and holy Mahomet, pardon
1T 2247 J., viewing me in arms, looks pale and wan 1T 2306 that darted mountains at her brother J.
2T 101 fowl that in her wings carries the fearful thunderbolts of J. ?

2T 388 as if infernal [4to if the infernall] J., meaning to aid
2T 411 J. shall send his winged messenger
2T 574 if he be son to everliving J.
2T 751 amorous J. hath snatch'd my love from hence 2T 1201 calls himself the [8vo omits] scourge of J.
2T 1584 supposing amorous J. had sent his son, the winged Hermes 2T 1889 myself, the wrathful messenger of mighty J.
2T 1688 thus am I right the scourge of highest J.
2T 823 J., surcharg'd with pity of our wrongs
2T 1236 Mahomet, who now, with J., opens the firmament
2T 1470 here, J., receive his fainting soul again 2T 1510 crown'd and invested by the hand of J.
2T 1559 I hear immortal J. say, «Cease, my Tamburlaine»
2T 1697 and art a king as absolute as J.
2T 1724 J., esteeming me too good for earth
2T 1895 and make [8vo wake] black J. to crouch and kneel to me
2T 2139 haste to the court of J.; will him to send Apollo 2T 2184 J. hath sent a present medicine to recure my pain!
1F 103 be thou on earth as J. is in the sky
2F 100 be thou on earth as J. is in the sky
E2 476 never doted J. on Ganymede so much as he on E2 1578 that suffer'd J. to pass in showers of gold
E2 2134 hear me, immortal J., and grant it too!
D 219 and my divine descent from sceptred J.
D 829 but lustful J. and his adulterous child shall find D 864 sister of J., if that thy love be such D 1078 Iarbas, curse that unrevenging J.
D 1097 that I may pacify that gloomy J.
D 1099 eternal J., great master of the clouds
D 1156 J. wills it so; my mother wills it so
D 1252 now looks Aeneas like immortal J.
D 1463 or else abide the wrath of frowning J.
D 1473 J. hath heap'd on me such a desperate charge
D 1504 sent from his father J., appear'd to me
D 1508 I am commanded by immortal J. to D 1664 O, Proteus, Neptune, J., save, save Aeneas
HLM 68 J. might have sipt out nectar from his hand
HLM 153 J. slily stealing from his sister's bed
HLM 442 which being known, — as what is hid from J.
HLM 448 to be reveng'd on J. did undertake
HLM 458 that J., usurper of his father's seat, might HLM 464 were with J. clos'd in Stygian empery
HLM 473 and to the seat of J. itself advance
HLM 666 and swore he never should return to J.
*HLC 1238 J. lov'd him too, and pardon'd her offence
Ov 95 J. knows with such-like prayers I daily move her
Ov 113 and she to whom in shape of swan [A bull] J. came Ov 216 J. send me more such afternoons as this!
Ov 328 pay vows to J.; engirt thy hairs with bays
Ov 533 and whate'er Love made J., should thee inveigle
Ov 697 J., that thou shouldst not haste, but wait his leisure
Ov 859 J. and J.'s thunderbolts I had in hand
Ov 862 even J. himself out of my wit was reft
Ov 863 pardon me, J.! thy weapons aid me nought
Ov 1071 make wrath-kindled J. away his thunder shake
Ov 1643 a mother's joy by J. she had not felt Ov 1645 J. lik'd her better than he did before
Ov 1868 J. throws down woods and castles with his fire
Ov 2153 J., being admonish'd gold had sovereign power
Ov 2282 Crete proud that J. her nursery maintain Ov 2398 J. turns himself into a swan, or gold
L 35 nor J. joy'd heaven until the cruel giants' war was done
L 200 and Latian J. advanc'd on Alba hill!
L 381 these troops should soon pull down the church of J.
L 441 and where J. [Old ed. it] seems bloody like Dian
L 548 the flame in Alba, consecrate to J., parted in twain
L 631 great J. is now displeas'd
*Ign 28 swearing by J., «thou are most debonair!»
*Epg 163 than J. when Pallas issu'd from his brain
*Con 1328 J. sometime went disguis'd, and why not I?
*Con 1329 ay [Q2 yea] but J. was never slain as thou shalt be *2H6 2101 but J. was never slain as thou shalt be *2H6 2803 I beseech J. on my knees thou mayst be turned to 1T 611 and bullets, like J.'s dreadful thunderbolts
1T 1720 Zenocrate, were Egypt J.'s own land
2T 398 the crystal gates of J.'s high court
2T 1138 the concave superficies of J.'s vast palace
2T 2113 that their power is puissant as J.'s
1F 334 by desperate thoughts against J.'s deity
1F 849 graven in the book of J.'s high firmament
2F 318 by desperate thoughts against J.'s deity
2F 571 graven in the book of J.'s high firmament [Dyce omits]
2F 811 graven in the book of J.'s high firmament
E2 668 fly as fast as Iris or J.'s Mercury
E2 2583 as for myself, I stand as J.'s huge tree
D 521 and at J.'s altar finding Priamus
D 553 J.'s marble statue gan to bend the brow
D 1433 Aeneas, stay; J.'s herald bids thee stay
D 1434 whom do I see? J.'s wingèd messenger?
HLM 305 paths, whereon the gods might trace to J.'s high court
HLM 440 stole some from Hebe (Hebe J.'s cup fill'd)
*HLC 1159 like J.'s son's club, strong passion struck her down
*HLC 1488 as if therein she did J.'s thunder hold
Ov 859 J. and J.'s thunderbolts I had in hand
Ov 861 my wench her door shut; J.'s affairs I left
Ov 1863 at me J.'s right hand lightning hath to throw
Ov 2285 faith to the witness J.'s praise doth apply
L 601 Apollo's soothsayers, and J.'s feasting priests
*TT 1818 whose top-branch overpeer'd J.'s spreading tree
*3H6 2619 whose top-branch overpeer'd J.'s spreading tree

Jove-born.

HLM 392 heaven's winged herald, J. Mercury

Jove-loved.

*HLC 1517 of which the fairest was J. Leucote

Jovis.

Ept 2 Et J. Alcides, rigido vulturque latroni

Joy.

*Sel 435 believe, a heaven of j., and hell of endless pain
*Sel 704 when I was glad, thy heart was full of j.
*Sel 2241 come, come, my j., return again with me
*Loc 226 and Albanact, thy father's only j.
*Loc 392 and turn'd their j. into a flood of tears
*Loc 494 nay, like a prince that seeks his father's j.
*Loc 852 sith we return with j. and victory
*Loc 1324 one dram of j. must have a pound of care
*Loc 1710 with pleasant j. enjoy your sweetest love
*Loc 1938 find me young Sabren, Locrine's only j.
1T 152 whereat the soldiers will conceive more j. than 1T 1332 ringing with j. their superstitious bells
1T 1876 in prime and glory of his loving j.
1T 2214 whose sight with j. would take away my life 1T 2225 since death denies me further cause of j.

2T 397 makes me to surfeit in conceiving j.
2T 554 for j. of our [8vo your] admitted truce
2T 1172 the beginning of your j.
2T 2242 retain a thought of j. or spark of life?
2T 2269 pierc'd with the j. of any dignity
2T 2273 Heaven deny my soul fruition of her j.
2T 2306 and glut your longings with a heaven of j.
1F 1499 the throne of the blessed, the kingdom of j.
1F 1517 hath Faustus lost eternal j. and felicity
2F 1981 the throne of the blessed, the kingdom of j.
2F 2000 hath Faustus lost eternal j. and felicity
JM 667 farewell, my j., and by my fingers take a kiss
E2 779 as is the j. of his returning home
E2 863 yet have I words left to express my j.
E2 1642 yet triumph in the hope of thee, my j.!
E2 1670 would cast up caps, and clap their hands for j.
D 1668 and all the sailors merry-make for j.
HLM 781 another world begat of unknown j.
*HLC 879 j. graven in sense, like snow in water wasts [V. R. wastes]
*HLC 1336 for j. to be so like him it did live
*HLC 1641 celebrate, with secret j., her own estate
*HLC 1862 and with wondrous j. offer'd it [V. R. in] Eucharis
*HLC 1938 in spirit and quickness she much j. did take
*HLC 1948 his welcome suit, which he with j. aspir'd
*HLC 2024 brought forth with j. the thickest part of night
*HLC 2051 and for his j. was after deified
*HLC 2062 to hear her dear tongue robb'd of such a j.
*HLC 2115 and suit Night's rich expansure with your j.
*HLC 2414 where all j. was, now shriek out all complaints!
Ov 187 or, if it do, to thee no j. thence spring
Ov 557 making her j. according to her hire
Ov 1564 my stay no crime, my flight no j. shall breed
Ov 1643 a mother's j. by Jove she had not felt Ov 1991 that, seeing thy tears, can any j. then feel Ov 2251 Tibullus doth Elysium's j. inherit
Ov 2341 with j. hears Neptune's swelling waters sound
*1H6 441 Talbot, my life, my j., again return'd?
*1H6 583 to celebrate the j. that God hath given us
*1H6 584 all France will be replete with mirth and j.
*1H6 1868 alas, what j. shall noble Talbot have *Con 1106 farewell poor Henry's j., now thou art gone
*2H6 687 Heaven? — The treasury of everlasting j.
*2H6 1186 my j. is death; death, at whose name I oft have been afear'd
*2H6 1657 for in the shade of death, I shall find j.
*2H6 1682 why then Dame Eleanor [? Margaret] was ne'er thy j.
*2H6 1972 myself no j. in nought, but that thou liv'st
*TT 548 for never shall I have more j.
*TT 663 and he that casts not up his cap for j.
*TT 1344 mine such [Q3 is such] as fills my heart full of j. [Q3 heart with j.]
*TT 1389 to join mine eldest daughter and my j. to him
*TT 2125 for here I hope begins our lasting j.
*3H6 314 and all that poets feign of bliss and j.
*3H6 682 never, oh never shall I see more j.
*3H6 799 and he that throws not up his cap for j., shall *3H6 1599 then since this earth affords no j. to me
*3H6 1884 I'll join mine eldest daughter, and my j., to him
*3H6 2294 my j. of liberty is half eclips'd
*3H6 2770 to meet with j. in sweet Jerusalem
*3H6 2992 for here I hope begins our lasting j.
*E3 291 when he shall hear it, will triumph for j.
*E3 553 to give me all the j. within thy power
*E3 1062 and now my hope is full, my j. complete
*E3 1607 this day thou hast confounded me with j.
*E3 2445 be this a token to express my j., [Kissing him
*Sel 2051 for there our js. are interlaced with fears
*Loc 509 and bring our wished js. to perfect end
*Loc 1508 that hind'reth Locrine in his sweetest js.
1T 761 cannot compare with kingly js. in earth
2T 1597 with thy view my js. are at the full 2T 2100 bear not the burden of your enemies' js.
1F 179 and have these js. in full possession
1F 323 and tasted the eternal js. of heaven
1F 329 for being depriv'd of the js. of heaven?
1F 331 and scorn those js. thou never shalt possess
1F 649 because thou hast depriv'd me of those js.
1F 1596 curse Lucifer that hath depriv'd thee of the js. of heaven
2F 171 and have these js. in full possession
2F 307 and tasted the eternal js. of heaven
2F 313 for being deprivèd of the js. of heaven?
2F 315 and scorn those js. thou never shalt possess
2F 573 because thou hast depriv'd me of those js.
2F 2043 innumerable js. had follow'd thee!
2F 2125 Lucifer that hath depriv'd thee of the js. of heaven
D 136 the while thine eyes attract their sought-for js.!
D 154 and mak'st our hopes survive to cunning [Dyce, coming] js.
D 1259 heaven [Old ed. heavens] envious of our js., is waxen pale
*HLC 850 those thoughts, js., longings, that
*HLC 1173 he came in swimming, painted all with js.
*HLC 1178 to check the [V. R. that] true js. he [V. R. she] deserv'd in her
*HLC 1212 men hate the js. as vain they took in love's estate
*HLC 1223 rapt with pastimes, pomp, all js. impure
*HLC 1225 but love, with all js. crown'd, within doth sit
*HLC 1759 mov'd to join in js. of sacred kind
*HLC 1953 fresh in their js., might do them most renown
*HLC 2138 thus all the nuptial crew to js. depart
*HLC 2256 no miser's nuptial js.
Ov 1247 great js. by hope I inly shall conceive
Ov 1253 js. with uncertain faith thou tak'st and brings Ov 1673 by thy default thou dost our js. defraud
Ov 2018 mad stream, why dost our mutual js. defer?
*Con 158 till Henry surfeiting in js. of love, with *2H6 34 makes me from wond'ring, fall to weeping js.
*2H6 252 till Henry surfeiting in js. of love
*2H6 1097 so cares and js. abound, as seasons fleet
*TT 1855 and girls [Q3 girt] our temples with triumphant js.
*3H6 1812 mine such, as fill my heart with unhop'd js.
*3H6 1986 doth cloud my js. with danger, and with sorrow
*3H6 2235 my fear to hope, my sorrows unto js.
*E3 545 engage thy power to redeem my js.
*HLC 1418 her beauties were with all love's [V. R. love] js. renew'd
*Sel 1603 stand up, my son, I j. to hear thee speak
*Sel 1631 and thou shalt shortly j. as much with me
*Loc 292 you may j., but I must sorrow
*Loc 1347 but rather j. that Locrine favours thee
*Loc 1565 j. heaven, leap earth, dance trees
2T 2189 I j., my lord, your highness is so strong 2T 2264 j. the breath of life and burden of my soul
2T 2294 in tears of blood, j. any hope of your recovery?

E2 151 I have my wish, in that I j. thy sight
HLM 485 and few great lords in virtuous deeds shall j.
*HLC 872 the treasure which the love-god let him j.
*HLC 893 with rank desire to j. it all at first?
Ov 1216 dost j. to have thy hookèd arrows shaked
*2H6 1971 I can no more : live thou to j. thy life
*TT 502 I cannot j. until I be resolv'd, where our
*TT 551 I cannot j. till this white rose be dyed
*3H6 611 I cannot j., until I be resolv'd where our *3H6 681 for never henceforth shall I j. again
*3H6 1842 and j. that thou becom'st Henry's friend
*Sel 92 and in a pleasant quiet js. to pause
*Sel 1854 my sorrow-beaten soul js. to arrive
*Sel 1970 by all the js. thou hop'st to have in heaven
HLM 327 flint-breasted Pallas js. in single life
HLM 730 the longing heart of Hero much more js., than Ov 2505 in Virgil Mantua js.; in Catull Verone

Joy : see Enjoy and Overjoy

Joyed.

2T 1465 and j. the fire of this martial [4to materiall] flesh
*HLC 2050 and thus blest Hymen j. his gracious bride
L 35 nor Jove j. heaven until the cruel giants' war was done
L 134 and j. to hear his theatre's applause
*2H6 2699 was ever king that j. an earthly throne

Joyed : see Overjoyed

Joyer.

*HLC 1065 from every corner driving an en*j.*

Joyeux.

MP 741 the Duke of J. hath made great suit
MP 751 my sweet J., I make thee general of MP 759 health and hearty farewell to my Lord J.

Joyful.

*Sel 996 how j. he is of your victory
*Sel 1809 suffer not once the j. daylight peep
*Loc 74 where 'er the j. day with cheerful light
*Loc 522 For merry pastime and j. glee. — Song
*Loc 826 we are retired with j. victory
*Loc 1702 frolic, brave peers; be j. with your king 1T 2235 O sight thrice-welcome to my j. soul
2F 1553 O, j. day! now am I a made man for ever
E2 796 for I have j. news to tell thee of E2 2495 to comfort you, and bring you j. news
HLM 513 which j. Hero answer'd in such sort, as *1H6 1243 how j. am I made by this contract
*E3 163 the j. clamours of the people are, when
*E3 546 engage thy power to redeem my joys, and I am j.
*E3 1575 O j. sight! victorious Edward lives!
*E3 2359 but now, my lord, as this is j. news, so

Joying.

2T 1701 j. the fruit of Ceres' garden-plot [8vo garded plot]
*2H6 1550 resign to death, it is not worth th' en*j.*

Joyless.

*Loc 1546 you damned ghosts of j. Acheron

Jubalter.

1T 1351 and thence unto the Straits of J.
2T 425 we kept the narrow Strait of Gibraltar [Dyce J.]

Juda.

2T 833 Judaea [4to J.], Gaza, and Judaea.

2T 833 J. [4to Juda], Gaza, and Judas.

JM 2017 the hat he wears, J. left under the elder
*TT 2112 to say the truth so J. kiss'd his master
*3H6 2979 to say the truth, so J. kiss'd his master

Judge.

*Sel 321 there needed then no j., nor yet no law
*Loc 266 thou couldst not move the j. of Erebus
Ov 563 the unjust j. for bribes becomes a stale
Ov 940 she safe by favour of her j. doth rest
Ov 1541 he being j., I am convinc'd of blame
Ov 2180 thence grows the j. and knight of reputation
L 320 who sees not war sit by the quivering j.
*Epg 570 is my gross-headed j., the multitude *1H6 1620 and should (if I were worthy to be j.) be *2H6 2821 how much thou wrong'st me, heaven be my j.
*E3 961 upon which verdict, I, their j., condemn them
*E3 962 O perjur'd beauty! more corrupted j.!
Ov 946 sharp stripes; she sitteth in the j.'s lap
*Loc 1175 you threefold js. of black Tartarus
*Loc 1864 but, O you js. of the ninefold Styx
*Loc 1299 so may we j. by her lamenting words
1T 352 if outward habit j. the inward man
1T 794 I j. the purchase more important far
1T 795 j. by thyself, Theridamas, not me 2F 991 to bind or loose, lock fast, condemn or j.
E2 444 I say no more — j. you the rest, my lord
*HLD 6 whatsoever we may j. shall make to his
*HLC 1214 should show them way to j. of all things right
Ov 215 down she fell. — J. you the rest
Ov 1783 by these I j., delight me may the rest
Ov 2267 thee, goddess, bountiful all nations j.
L 127 which of both had justest cause, unlawful 'tis to j.
*1H6 841 j. you, my Lord of Warwick, then between us
*1H6 1605 then j. (great lords) if I have done amiss
*1H6 2466 you j. it straight a thing impossible to *Con 633 and leave her open for the law to j.
*Con 1294 forbear to j., good Salisbury forbear
*Con 1295 forbear, for God will j. us all
*2H6 570 this doom, my lord, if I may j.
*2H6 1446 and yet herein I j. mine own wit good *2H6 2051 forbear to j., for we are sinners all
*3H6 731 I cannot j. : but to conclude with truth
*E3 439 then may'st thou j. what her condition is
*E3 1408 j. then, conspirators, by this descent, which Judged.

Ov 1851 for his ill-beauteous mother j. to slaughter
*2H6 1670 it may be j. I made the duke away
*2H6 1002 Eleanor, the law thou seest hath j. thee
*2H6 991 sin, such as by God's book are adj. to death

Judgest.

*2H6 1739 O Thou that j. all things, stay my thoughts

Judgment.

JM 34 and thus methinks should men of j. frame
MP 393 is in your j. thought a learned man
MP 695 in sight and j. of thy lustful eye?
D 855 and Paris' j. of the heavenly ball
*HLC 853 delights, that being enjoy'd, ask j.
*HLC 1189 (begot when father J. is away
*HLC 1392 and make her j. conquer Destinies
*HLC 1784 his j. yet, that durst not suit address
*HLC 2269 for his rare j. in th' attire he wears
*LD 16 discredit your (that which you would seem to have) j.
*1H6 847 I have perhaps some shallow spirit of j.
*2H6 1631 God's secret j. : I did dream to-night, the *2H6 1743 for j. only doth belong to thee
*TT 1326 mine ears have tempted j. to desire
*TT 1413 as Warwick and Lewis that are so slack in j.
*3H6 1769 mine ear hath tempted j. to desire
*3H6 1921 which are so weak of courage, and in j.
*3H6 1973 in choosing for yourself, you show'd your j.

*E3 869 but love hath eyes as j. to his steps
*E3 1520 whose secret prôvidence to our gross j. is inscrutable 1F 9 to patient js. we appeal our plaud
2F 9 and now to patient js. we appeal
Judgment-day.
*1H6 29 the dreadful j. so dreadful will not be *Con 913 be brought against me at the j.
Judgment-seat.
Ov 565 or great wealth from a j. ascend Judicating.
*Loc 1777 pre*j.* Locrine's overthrow Judith.
*E3 507 In constancy ! than who ? — « than J. was » Juggled.
*HLC 1852 j. the little god with prayers and gifts Juggling.
*1H6 2487 she and the dauphin have been j.
Juice.
JM 1388 the j. of hebon, and Cocytus' breath
JM 2118 I drank of poppy and cold mandrake j.
Ov 2319 oft bitter j. brings to the sick relief
*E3 623 spider, to turn the j. [Old eds. vice] I take to deadly venom !
Julia.
L 115 J., had heaven given thee longer life
L 111 for J., snatch'd hence by cruel Fates Julius.
1T 1247 my camp is like to J. Caesar's host
1F 900 which J. Caesar brought from Africa
2F 879 that J. Caesar brought from Africa
2F 981 Pope J. swore to princely Sigismond
2F 984 Pope J. did abuse the church's rights
*1H6 57 a far more glorious star thy soul will make, than J. Caesar
*Con 1369 Brutus' bastard hand stabb'd J. Caesar
*2H6 2189 Brutus' bastard hand stabb'd J. Caesar Julus'.
D 1448 and young J. more than thousand years
Juno.
*Loc 1208 Non potuit J. vincere, vicit amor
1T 1036 and higher would I rear my estimate than J.
1T 2305 as J., when the giants were suppress'd E2 474 like frantic J., will I fill the earth with D 2 I love thee well, say J. what she will D 43 gems, my J. ware upon her marriage-day
D 54 J., false J., in her chariot's pomp
D 831 that only J. rules in Rhamnus' town
D 835 J., my mortal foe, what make you here ?
*HLC 948 than all the jewels that do [V. R. doth] J. deck
Ov 1644 while J. Iö keeps, when horns she wore
Ov 2413 the priests to J. did prepare chaste feasts
Ov 2433 where J. comes, each youth and pretty maid
D 34 from J.'s bird I'll pluck her spotted pride
D 1046 whiles Dido lives and rules in J.'s town
*HLC 1860 the flower that J.'s milk did spring
*HLC 1992 and now to J.'s temple they are come
*HLC 2010 one of J.'s birds, the painted jay
Ov 929 while J.'s watchman Iö too much ey'd
Ov 1137 there J.'s bird displays his gorgeous feather
Ov 2445 he to th' Hetrurians J.'s feast commended
L 575 when by J.'s task he had before look'd Pluto in the face
Juno-like.
Ov 2308 and J., with [Not in ed. C] Dis reigns under-ground?
Junonis.
Ov 2410 De J. festo
Jupiter.
*Loc 273 grim Minos, whom just J. deign'd to
*Loc 1210 son to Alcmena and great J.
*Loc 1476 O J., hast thou sent Mercury
*Loc 1803 throw forth thy lightning, mighty J.
*Loc 1901 strengthen these hands, O mighty J.
1T 812 and dare the force of angry J. ?
1T 1218 and calm the rage of thundering J.
1T 1466 cedar-trees struck with the voice of thundering J.
1F 690 nor are the names of Saturn, Mars, or J. feign'd
1F 704 Saturn in thirty years ; J. in twelve ; Mars in four 1F 1458 brighter art thou than flaming J.
2F 611 nor are the names of Saturn, Mars, or J. feign'd
2F 624 Saturn in thirty years ; J. in twelve
2F 1917 brighter art thou than flaming J.
D 19 sweet J., if e'er I pleas'd thine eye
D 78 false J., reward'st thou virtue so ?
D 137 great J. still honour'd mayst thou be D 289 as welcome here as J. to silly Baucis' [Old ed. Vausis] house
D 1491 but that eternal J. commands !
D 1538 wherein have I offended J.
HLM 470 and J. unto his place restor'd
L 660 kind J. hath low declin'd himself Jurisdiction.
*2H6 2518 within point-blank of our j. regal Juror.
MP 849 I am a j. in the holy league
Just.
*Sel 365 as good a part as [have] the best : and that's j. nothing
*Loc 936 even j. ten thousand valiant men-at-arms 1F 890 j. through the midst runs flowing Tiber's stream 1F 1137 i' faith, that's j. nothing at all 2F 868 j. through [1631, thorow] the midst runs flowing Tiber's stream 2F 1641 and when I came j. in the midst, my horse
Ov 1463 and of j. compass for her knuckles be L 217 dividing j. the bounds of Italy from
*Sel 881 why, he was mov'd by j. occasion
*Sel 1059 if you will yield to Corcut's j. request
*Sel 2102 you shall have j. cause for to war on them
*Loc 257 no sad complaints may move j. Aeacus
*Loc 258 no dreadful threats can fear j. Rhadamanth
*Loc 273 Minos, whom j. Jupiter deign'd to 1T 1970 save only that in beauty's j. applause
2T 601 O j. and dreadful punisher of sin
2T 1703 so, for j. hate, for shame, and 1F 740 Christ cannot save thy soul, for he is j.
1F 1132 thou shalt both satisfy my j. desire, and 1F 1372 the j. requests of those that wish him well 2F 662 Christ cannot save thy soul, for he is j.
2F 1451 that all the world may see my j. revenge
2F 1828 to deny the j. request of those that wish him well
JM 2092 wonder not at it, sir ; the heavens are j.
MP 43 doth hear and see the prayers of the j.
MP 196 and see it honoured with j. solemnity
MP 320 and, when this j. revenge is finish'd
MP 577 it is my due, by j. succession
MP 706 sith in a quarrel j. and right we MP 1199 and feel in hell j. torments for his treachery
*HLC 1064 peaceful mansions possess'd with war's j. spoil
*HLC 2154 in whose j. ruth the god of seas
Ov 1170 should I solicit her that is so j.
Ov 1376 to enter wars, j. Latinus, in thy kingdom's centre

Ov 1557 Egeria with j. Numa had good sport
Ov 2189 if of scorn'd lovers god be venger j.
*1H6 995 j. Death, kind umpire of men's miseries
*1H6 1194 we know your grace to be a man j., and upright
*1H6 2368 to give thee answer of thy j. demand
*Con 1068 than by j. proof you can affirm
*Con 1812 prove j. and loyal to [Q2 unto] my king
*2H6 648 why this is j. Aio [te] Aeacida Romanos vincere posse
*2H6 1836 thrice is he arm'd, that hath his quarrel j.
*2H6 2897 the head of Cade? great God, how j. art thou?
*TT 325 lest in revenge thereof, sith God is j., he be as *3H6 409 lest in revenge thereof, sith God is j., he be *3H6 1664 am come to crave thy j. and lawful aid
*3H6 1711 yet heavens are j., and time suppresseth wrongs
*E3 1378 and our pretended quarrel is truly j.
*E3 1768 no good, my lord, except the same be j.

Just : see Unjust

Just-dooming.

*E3 1519 j. heaven, whose secret providence

Justest.

L 127 which of both had j. cause, unlawful 'tis to judge

Justice.

*Sel 998 your grace would do him j. in his cause
*Sel 1398 no faith, no j., no integrity
*Sel 1446 and, in Thy j., dart Thy smould 'ring flame
2T 625 we referr'd to j. of his Christ
2T 1455 from martial j. on thy wretched soul
2T 1506 if tyrannies war's j. ye repute
E2 1532 not by chance of war, but j. of the quarrel
E2 1799 thou God, to whom in j. it belongs
MP 540 to make the j. of my heart relent
*Con 779 and God in j. hath reveal'd to us, the truth
*Con 1633 j., j., I pray you sir, let me have j.
*2H6 1090 and God in j. hath reveal'd to us the truth and *2H6 2558 j. with favour have I always done
*2H6 3073 as I in j., and true right express it
*TT 599 I cheer'd them up with j. of the cause
*TT 798 for York in j. puts his armour on *3H6 736 I cheer'd them up with j. of our cause *3H6 943 for York in j. puts his armour on *3H6 1418 which we in j. cannot well deny
*3H6 2761 you fight in j. : then in God's name, lords
*E3 2290 but, as imperial j. hath decreed
*2H6 897 and poise the cause in j.' equal scales
*Sel 1959 I think he be some J. of peace
*Con 1596 thou hast appointed certain js. of peace [Q3 the peace]
*2H6 2533 thou hast appointed js. of the peace, to Justice : see Injustice

Justified.

Ov 2496 and being j. by two words, think the Justify.

JM 320 sham'st thou not thus to j. thyself
Ov 972 or j. my vices, being many *2H6 1003 I cannot j. whom the law condemns

Justinian.

1F 55 Physic, farewell! Where is J.?
2F 52 Physic, farewell! Where is J.?

Justly.

2F 1375 hath Faustus j. requited this injurious knight
2F 1445 j. rewarded for his villanies
MP 211 they j. challenge their protection
Ov 2374 and j.; for her praise why did I tell?
*E3 2489 that j. would provoke fair England's ire

Juvat.

D 1722 Sic, sic j. ire sub umbras

Juvet.

Ov 1383 Ad Isidem, ut parientem Corinnam j.

K

Katam.

*Epg 88 In K. VIII. [Not in MS.]

Kate.

*Epg 89 K., being pleas'd, wish'd that her pleasure could endure
*Epg 91 content thee, K.; although thy pleasure wasteth

Katharina.

JM 1197 come, K. [Dyce, Katharine]; our losses equal are Katharine.

JM 1176 look, K., look! thy son gave mine these wounds
JM 1197 come Katharina [Dyce, K.]; our losses equal are *1H6 279 the which at Touraine, in Saint K.'s church-yard

Keel.

1F 123 than was the fiery k. at Antwerp's bridge
2F 120 than was the fiery k. at Antwerp-bridge
L 500 mariners, albeit the k. be sound, shipwreck themselves
D 1662 and now down fall the ks. into the deep!

Keemb : see Kemb

Keen.

*Loc 1243 and rippeth up the roots with razors k.

Keend.

D 1630 trait'ress too k. and cursèd sorceress!

Keen-edged.

1H6 277 I am prepar'd : here is my k. sword

Keenest.

1T 648 the k. curtle-axe that e'er made passage

Keenly.

MP 1264 that it may k. slice the Catholics

Keep.

*Sel 340 only bug-bears to k. the world in fear
*Sel 350 a policy, to k. the quiet of society
*Sel 352 because they k. the baser sort in fear
*Sel 715 had sent the sire to k. him company
*Sel 933 and k. that safe his predecessors got
*Sel 1008 but k. it to yourself the while you live
*Sel 1039 we all desire you on our knees to k. the crown
*Sel 1060 and k. the kingdom to you while you live
*Sel 1887 « And I can scarce k. her talents from my eyes »
*Sel 1979 well, if you will k. my sheep truly
*Sel 2090 well, I'll k. my best joint from the strappado
*Sel 2125 could not your philosophy k. you safe?
*Sel 2195 Mustaffa, you shall k. Byzantium
*Sel 2342 through usurpation k. the same from me
*Loc 611 what order k. they in their marshalling?
*Loc 734 forward, brave soldiers, forward; k. the chase
*Loc 1561 take it, and k. it from all mortal eyes
1T 214 if you intend to k. your treasure safe
1T 339 k. all your standings, and nor stir a foot
1T 695 no; I mean I let you k. it
1T 709 and none shall k. the crown but Tamburlaine
1T 1142 those Christian captives which you k. as slaves
1T 2201 nor fortune k. themselves from victory?
2T 136 to k. this peace inviolable
2T 141 I swear to k. this truce
2T 313 you have won enough for me to k.
2T 635 we will both watch and ward shall [8vo and] k. his trunk
2T 859 to k. my promise and to make him king
2T 866 then will I shortly k. my promise

2T 902 k. within the circle of mine arms
2T 943 to k. the bulwark-fronts from battery
2T 1432 what a coil they k. !
2T 1643 and will [8vo and I wil] k. it for the richest present of 2T 1813 to live secure and k. his forces out 1F 231 the Lord bless you, preserve you, and k. you
1F 844 this will I k. as chary as my life
1F 996 k. out, k. out, or else you are blown up 1F 997 k. out, for I am about a roaring piece of work
1F 1440 and k. mine oath I made to Lucifer
2F 218 and so, the Lord bless you, preserve you, and k. you
2F 570 this will I k. as chary as my life
2F 761 this will I k. as chary as my life
2F 774 k. further from me, O thou illiterate and unlearned hostler !
2F 779 k. out of the circle, I say, lest I send you into the ostry with 2F 1364 to k. his carcase from their bloody fangs
2F 1457 to k. his tongue from catching cold
2F 1463 Give him his head, for God's sake. — Nay k. it !
2F 1899 and k. my vow [Dyce, oath] I made to Lucifer
JM 210 and send to k. our galleys under sail
JM 224 we grant a month ; but see you k. your promise
JM 239 to k. your quiet still, your lordship shall do well to JM 712 therefore be rul'd by me, and k. the gold
JM 838 to k. him for his life-time from the gallows
JM 970 provided that you k. your maidenhead
JM 1050 but k. thy heart till Don Mathias comes JM 1479 so I have heard ; pray, therefore, k. it close
JM 1688 now I, to k. my word, and give my goods and JM 1837 the more villain he to k. me thus
JM 2339 nay, k. it still, for, if I k. not promise, trust not me
JM 2438 to k. me here will naught advantage you
E2 139 I can no longer k. me from my lord
E2 424 O, might I k. thee here, as I do this !
E2 1875 to k. your royal person safe with us
E2 1985 come, come, k. these preachments till you
E2 2128 and who must k. me now ? must you, my lord ?
E2 2265 Edward is my son, and I will k. him
E2 2283 to k. your grace in safety
E2 2321 k. them asunder ; thrust in the king
E2 2333 where lords k. courts, and kings are lock'd in prison !
E2 2508 this dungeon where they k. me is the sink wherein MP 141 in one cloister k. five hundred fat Franciscan friars MP 269 see they k. all treacherous violence from MP 292 Switzers, k. you the streets
MP 300 come, let us k. this lane
MP 812 and k. those relics from our countries' coasts
MP 827 yet I mean to k. you out
MP 852 and, being able, I'll k. an host in pay
MPF 16 and though I come not to k. possession
MPF 17 yet I come to k. you out, sir
D 1227 because I fear'd your grace would k. me here
D 1251 O, k. them still, and let me gaze my fill !
D 1306 O, that I had a charm to k. the winds
D 1371 I'll k. these sure
D 1459 lest Dido, spying him, k. him for a pledge
HLM 241 then treasure is abus'd, when misers k. it
HLM 575 ne'er king more sought to k. his diadem
HLM 770 defend the fort, and k. the foeman [V. R. foemen] out Ov 181 and to the doors sight of thyself [will] k.
Ov 446 that this or that man may thy cheeks moist k.
Ov 1114 pure water's moisture thirst away did k.
Ov 1397 and in thy pomp horn'd Apis with thee k.
Ov 1616 fool, if to k. thy wife thou hast no need
Ov 1617 k. her for me, my more desire to breed
Ov 1662 now I forewarn, unless to k. her stronger thou
Ov 1889 nor canst by watching k. her mind from sin
Ov 2015 but woods and groves k. your faults undetected
Ov 2338 these harden'd me, with what I k. obscure
*LD 10 when I bring you the book, take physic, and k. state
L 140 and his own weight k. him within the ground
L 503 nor could the bed-rid parents k. back their sons
L 509 grant men great estates, but hardly grace to k. them !
L 598 they that k. and read Sibylla's secret works
*Epg 248 you k. a whore at your own charge, men tell me
*Epg 249 you k. a whore at your [own] charge in town [Not in eds.]
*1H6 54 prosper this realm, k. it from civil broils
*1H6 120 to k. the horsemen off, from breaking in *1H6 155 to k. our great Saint George's feast withal
*1H6 885 and k. me on the side where still I am
*1H6 1127 or raise myself ? but k. my wonted calling
*1H6 1186 to hold your slaught'ring hands, and k. the peace
*1H6 1371 like peasant foot-boys do they k. the walls
*1H6 1402 then be it so : heavens k. old Bedford safe
*1H6 1903 k. off aloof with worthless emulation
*1H6 1904 let not your private discords k. away the *1H6 2129 to k. them here, they would but stink
*1H6 2203 and k. not back your powers in dalliance.
*1H6 2449 when thou didst k. my lambs a-field
*1H6 2564 rather k. that which I have, than coveting for more
*1H6 2638 and k. the Frenchmen in allegiance
*Con 72 to k. in awe that stout unruly realm ?
*Con 74 done all we could to k. that land in peace ?
*Con 202 the next I have I'll k. [Q3 keepe it] to myself
*Con 277 sirrah take in [Q2 omits] this fellow and k. him close
*Con 625 I am in doubt you 'll scarcely k. your promise
*Con 958 he'll wrest the sense and k. us here all day
*Con 1003 to k. in awe the stubborn Irishmen
*Con 1758 whereas the person of the king doth k. ?
*Con 1856 to k. you from the tempest of the field
*2H6 82 toil his wits, to k. by policy what Henry got *2H6 104 for France, 'tis ours ; and we will k. it still *2H6 105 ay uncle, we will k. it, if we can *2H6 313 next time I'll k. my dreams unto myself
*2H6 533 my Lord of Somerset will k. me here
*2H6 874 'tis like, my lord, you will not k. your hour *2H6 1351 and here commit you to my Lord Cardinal to k.
*2H6 1386 if those that care to k. your royal person from *2H6 1551 let pale-fac'd fear k. with the mean-born man *2H6 1786 and you (forsooth) had the good duke to k.
*2H6 1908 be playfellows to k. you company
*2H6 3013 but greater sin to k. a sinful oath
*2H6 3027 to k. thee from the tempest of the field
*TT 196 and I'll k. London with my soldiers
*TT 178 k. thou the napkin and go boast of that
*TT 712 steel thy melting thoughts, to k. thine own
*TT 722 as asks a thousand times more care to k.
*TT 1658 and k. them back that come to succour you
*TT 1682 Clarence and Warwick do you k. the crown
*3H6 214 and I'll k. London with my soldiers
*3H6 581 k. thou the napkin, and go boast of this

*3H6 864 as brings a thousand-fold more care to k.
*3H6 1993 which if they do, yet will I k. thee safe
*3H6 2392 to k. them back, that come to succour you *3H6 2581 to k. that oath, were more impiety, than *3H6 2609 that Warwick's bones may k. thine company
*3H6 2640 and with thy lips k. in my soul awhile
*3H6 2702 but k. our course (though the rough wind say no)
*E3 692 but neither will I do; I'll k. my oath
*E3 709 to k. in presence of his majesty
*E3 957 with their heart-bloods that k. our love asunder
*E3 968 k. but thy word, great king, and I am thine
*E3 1652 or else retain and k. thee captive still
*E3 2033 and k. in triangles and cornered squares
*E3 2140 what need we fight and sweat and k. a coil when
*E3 2341 his name shall k. me in allegiance still
*E3 2454 so, John of France, I see you k. your word 1TP 2 and such conceits as clownage ks. in pay
1T 1010 and ks. you from the honours of a queen
1F 993 he ks. such a chafing with my mistress about it 2F 1230 that all this day the sluggard ks. his bed
E2 2545 but that grief ks. me waking, I should sleep
HLM 296 some one or other ks. you as his own
HLM 359 a dwarfish beldam bears [V. R. keepes] me company
HLM 488 with encroaching guile ks. learning down
*HLC 1119 ks. and ejects both at one instant
Ov 486 his mistress' doors this, that his captain's ks.
Ov 952 ay me, an eunuch ks. my mistress chaste
Ov 1644 while Juno lō ks., when horns she wore
Ov 1971 who so well ks. his water's head from knowing
L 102 ks. each from other, but being worn away
*Epg 323 the man that ks. the elephant hath one
*Epg 327 taught him that ks. the monuments at Westminster
*1H6 161 and hardly ks. his men from mutiny
*1H6 300 shall we disturb him, since he ks. no mean?
*1H6 1143 as an outlaw in a castle ks., and useth it
*Con 1865 that ks. his leaves in spite of any storm
*2H6 1212 whate'er occasion ks. him from us now
*2H6 3036 that ks. his leaves in spite of any storm
*TT 996 thus far our fortunes ks. an upward course
*TT 1122 he knows the game, how well he ks. the wind
*3H6 1427 he knows the game, how true he ks. the wind?
*3H6 1575 and so I chide the means that ks. me from it
*3H6 2107 while he himself ks. in the cold field?
*3H6 2657 thus far our fortune ks. an upward course
*E3 332 when wisdom ks. the gate as beauty's guard?
*E3 2089 that ks. it to the utmost of his power
*E3 1237 if you will not trust his grace in k.
Ov 1732 but, till the keeper [ed. B keepes; C keepers] went forth, I forget not Keeper.

2T 235 Almeda, your k. under Tamburlaine the great 2T 1336 he was Callapine's k.
E2 1284 be thou this night his k.: in the morning we Ov 280 no pretty wench's k. mayst thou be!
Ov 893 k., if thou be wise, cease hate to cherish
Ov 1732 but, till the k. [ed. B keepes; C ks.] went forth, I forget not Ov 1917 because the k. may come say, «I did it»
Ov 2187 for me, she doth k. and husband fear
*1H6 967 kind k. of my weak decaying age
*1H6 983 but tell me, k., will my nephew come?
*TT 577 I then in London k. of the king, muster'd my soldiers
*3H6 715 I then in London, k. of the king 2T 822 by this my friendly k.'s happy means
Ov 1884 'tis vain thy damsel to commend to k.'s trust
*TT 1078 here is [Q3 heere's] a deer, his skin is a k.'s fee
*3H6 1334 ay, here's a deer, whose skin's a k.'s fee
*1H6 1086 ks. convey him hence
*TT 1586 no this way huntsman, see where the ks. stand
Ov 505 the ks.' hands and corps-du-gard to pass 1F 1030 here's a simple purchase for horse-ks.!

Keepest.
JM 1153 zoons, what a looking thou k.!
*Con 1593 thou k. [Q1 kepst] men in thy house that *3H6 2937 Clarence beware, thou k. me from the light

Keeping.
*Sel 1085 under pretence of k. it himself
*Sel 1980 k. your hands from lying and slandering 1T 1353 k. in awe the Bay of Portingale
1T 1502 k. his kingly body in a cage
1T 1904 Death, k. his circuit by the slicing edge
1T 294 k. in iron cages emperors
*HLC 1377 a country virgin k. of a vine
*HLC 2284 k. more coil than if she danc'd upon Ov 456 by k. of thy birth make but a shift
*1H6 2276 k. them prisoner underneath his wings
*2H6 383 for k. my house, and lands, and wife and all, from me
*Con 124 thy simple plainness and thy house-k., hath *2H6 189 thy deeds, thy plainness, and thy house-k.

Kemb.
Ov 1176 worthy to k. [ed. B keemb] none but a goddess fair

Kembed.
Ov 360 put in their place thy k. [Old eds. keembed] hairs again
Ov 717 the maid that k. them ever safely left them
Ov 1064 even k. as they were, her locks to rend
Ov 736 why dost thy ill-k. tresses' loss lament?
Ov 2243 her un*k.* [Old eds. unkeembe, and unkeembd] locks asunder tearing

Ken.
*2H6 1716 for losing k. of Albion's wished coast
*2H6 1704 as far as I could k. thy chalky cliffs
*E3 1074 which, at the first, far off when I did k., seem'd

Kennel.
2F 1362 I'll raise a k. of hounds shall hunt him so as 2F 1367 zounds, he'll raise up a k. of devils, I think, anon
*1H6 1820 deer, maz'd with a yelping k. of French curs
*Con 1340 Poole. — Poole. — Ay Poole, puddle, k., sink and dirt
*2H6 2123 Poole, Sir Poole? lord, ay, k., puddle, sink Kennel: see Channel

Kennelled.
L 329 whilst with their dams they k. in Hyrcania

Kent.
*Loc 816 And fishers of K. — Song
E2 329 the Earl of K. that favours him
E2 2223 here comes the young prince with the Earl of K.
E2 2263 Isabel is nearer than the Earl of K.
E2 2319 guard the king sure: it is the Earl of K.
E2 2417 Edmund the Earl of K.
E2 1825 my Lord of K., what needs these questions?
E2 2228 how fares my honourable Lord of K.?
E2 2261 help, uncle K.! Mortimer will wrong me
*Epg 415 and that in K. are twenty yeomen found
*Con 1502 come sirs, Saint George for us and K.
*Con 1605 You men of K. — K., what of K.?

*Con 1612 K., in the Commentaries Caesar wrote, termed it
*Con 1649 why countrymen and warlike friends of K.
*Con 1728 that Alexander Iden an esquire of K.
*Con 1736 thou hast slain the flower of K. for chivalry
*Con 1804 a poor esquire of K.
*2H6 2152 the commons here in K. are up in arms
*2H6 2316 rebellious hinds, the filth and scum of K.
*2H6 2545 You men of K. — What say you of K.
*2H6 2551 K., in the Commentaries Caesar writ, is term'd
*2H6 2561 K. to maintain, the king, the realm and you
*2H6 2788 that Alexander Iden an esquire of K., took odds
*2H6 2818 tell K. from me, she hath lost her best man
*2H6 2904 a poor esquire of K., that loves his king
*TT 152 thy southern powers of Essex, Suffolk, Norfolk, and of [Q3 omits] K.
*TT 1712 in Essex, Suffolk, Norfolk, and in K., stir up the *3H6 163 of Essex, Norfolk, Suffolk, nor of K.
*3H6 2437 shalt stir up in Suffolk, Norfolk, and in K.

Kentish.

*2H6 2445 these K. rebels would be soon appeas'd
*2H6 2460 farewell my lord, trust not the K. rebels

Kentishman.

*Con 1037 I have seduc'd a headstrong K., John Cade
*2H6 1572 I have seduc'd a headstrong K.

Kentishmen.

*TT 256 with whom the K. will willingly rise
*3H6 324 with whom the K. will willingly rise

Kept.

*Sel 1935 these two days have we k. us in the cave
*Sel 1932 k. all the sea-coast with his brigandines
*Loc 1004 and k. for treasure 'mongst his hellish crew 1T 255 they shall be k. our forcèd followers 1T 1526 there whiles [4to while] he lives, shall Bajazeth be k.
1T 1559 he dies, and those that k. us out so long 1T 1608 or k. the fair Zenocrate so long, as concubine
1T 1838 have k. to qualify these hot extremes
2T 5 which k. his father in an iron cage
2T 425 we k. the narrow Strait of Gibraltar [Dyce Jubaltèr]
2F 1647 I k. a hallooing and whooping in his ears
2F 2055 hadst thou k. on that way, Faustus, behold
JM 391 and yet have k. enough to live upon
JM 506 the gold and jewels which I k. for thee
JM 722 small though the number was that k. the town
JM 927 and always k. the sexton's arms in ure
JM 2140 much better to k. thy promise than be thus surpris'd?
E2 2288 within a dungeon England's king is k.
HLM 99 rose-cheek'd Adonis, k. a solemn feast
HLM 334 beauty alone is lost, too warily k.
HLM 540 did but fan the fire, and k. it down
HLM 594 saying, « Let your vows and promises be k. »
HLM 807 took that which so long, so charily she k.
*HLC 1778 he k. them company; and might right well
Ov 340 which to her waist her girdle still k. down?
Ov 704 but what had been more fair, had they been k.?
Ov 1691 the Lydian buskin in fit paces [Old eds. buskin fit places] k. her
Ov 1907 what's k., we covet more; the care makes theft
Ov 1911 she's not chaste that's k., but a dear whore
Ov 2168 men k. the shore and sail'd not into deep
L 319 and by him k. of purpose for a dearth?
*AT 49 yet Wormall ever k. his course
*1H6 665 had all your quarters been as safely k.
*Con 993 agreed, for he's already k. within my house
*2H6 90 how France and Frenchmen might be k. in awe *2H6 212 and would have k., so long as breath did last *2H6 638 let them be clapp'd up close, and k. asunder
*2H6 941 who k. him in captivity, till he died
*2H6 1899 had I but said, I would have k. my word
*TT 817 he might have k. that glory till this day
*TT 985 and thou this day hadst k. thy throne in peace
*TT 1935 that you might still have k. your petticoat
*3H6 966 he might have k. that glory to this day
*3H6 1219 and thou this day, hadst k. thy chair in peace
*3H6 2620 and k. low shrubs from winter's powerful wind
Ov 418 from dog-k. flocks come preys to wolves most grateful
*HLC 2059 that her long-k. occurrents would [V. R. should] be stale

Kept'st.

*TT 2070 Clarence beware, thou k. me from the light

Kercher.

*TT 536 gave him a hand*k.* to wipe his eyes

Kern.

*2H6 1583 full often, like a shag-hair'd crafty k.
E2 967 the wild Oncil, with swarms of Irish ks.
*Con 997 with troops of Irish Ks. that uncontroll'd
*Con 1018 try his fortune against [Q2 gainst; Q3 fortunes 'gainst] those Ks.
*2H6 1526 th' uncivil ks. of Ireland are in arms
*2H6 1577 oppose himself against a troop of ks.
*2H6 2724 a mighty power of Gallowglasses and stout ks.

Key-hole.

JM 1006 yet through the k. will he talk to her

Keys.

MP 816 and use a counterfeit k. to his privy-chamber-door
MPF 2 and use a counterfeit k. to his privy-chamber 2T 1321 hang a bunch of ks. on his standard
JM 1329 here take my ks., — I'll give 'em thee anon
JM 1899 I cannot do it; I have lost my ks.
E2 2477 What else? — Here is the ks., this is the lake
*1H6 746 and when you have done so, bring the ks. to me *2H6 112 these counties were the ks. of Normandy
*TT 1640 give me the ks.
*3H6 2372 what, fear not man, but yield me up the ks.

Kicking.

2T 1713 and pull their k. colts out of their pastures

Kill.

*SP 8 poison his father, k. his friends in fight
*Sel 361 differs from him that doth his father k.
*Sel 407 will suffer you to k. him in their sight?
*Sel 625 as easy as a man would k. a gnat
*Sel 1148 will help to k. a common enemy
*Sel 1327 to k. thy nephew and his sister thus
*Sel 1338 speak him fair, Aga, lest he k. thee too
*Sel 1360 to k. thy nephews with revenging sword
*Sel 1384 as k. the man that first gave life to you?
*Sel 1532 I cannot k. myself, he'll do 't for me
*Sel 1730 that make a conscience for to k. a man
*Loc 306 nay, Strumbo, k. thyself, drown thyself, hang
*Loc 321 not only but also to k. him
1T 529 and k. proud Tamburlaine with point of sword
1T 652 and k. as sure as it swiftly flies
2T 525 k. and curse at God's command
2T 1115 mother, despatch me, or I'll k. myself
2T 1381 I know, sir, what it is to k. a man
2T 1407 and, should I [4to I should] go, and k. a thousand men 1F 421 say I should k. one of them, what would folks say?
2F 364 staves-acre! that's good to k. vermin

2F 1405 and k. that [1624, 1631, the] doctor, if he come this way 2F 1493 see where he comes! despatch and k. the slave 2F 1510 nay, fear not, man; we have no power to k.
JM 157 nay, let 'em combat, conquer, and k. all
JM 918 and k. sick people groaning under walls
JM 1184 lend me that weapon that did k. my son
MP 241 which when they hear, they shall begin to k.
MP 278 to k. all that you suspect of heresy
MP 340 k. them! k. them!
MP 400 cannot serve. K. him
MP 650 which are, he saith, to k. the Puritans
MP 946 tush, were he here, we would k. him presently
MP 964 but are they resolute, and arm'd to k.?
MP 1077 will him, in my name, to k. the duke
MP 1148 O words of power to k. a thousand men!
MP 1153 for my conscience' sake will k. the king
E2 1101 no, here he comes; now let them spoil and k.
E2 2345 « Fear not to k. the king, 'tis good he die »
E2 2348 « K. not the king, 'tis good to fear the worst »
D 486 where, meeting with the rest, « K., k.! » they cried
*HLC 1795 sight made him sick, and want of sight did k. him
*HLC 2424 more than might have serv'd to k. her Ov 1448 nor dares the lioness her young whelps k.
Ov 1892 the fainting seeds of naughtiness doth k.
*1H6 1076 which giveth many wounds, when one will k.
*Con 809 then [Q3 the] thought of this, doth k. my woful heart
*Con 1083 come basilisk and k. the silly [Q3 omits] gazer with thy looks
*Con 1202 could curses k. as do the mandrake's groans
*Con 1445 coming with the king's power, and mean to k. us all
*Con 1506 licence to k. four-score and one a-week
*Con 1900 but I did k. his horse he lov'd so well
*2H6 1656 come basilisk, and k. the innocent gazer with thy sight
*2H6 1680 be poisonous too, and k. thy forlorn queen
*2H6 1916 would curses k., as doth the mandrake's groan
*2H6 2273 the first thing we do, let's k. all the lawyers
*2H6 2391 a licence to k. for a hundred lacking one
*2H6 2630 k. and knock down, throw them into Thames
*2H6 2633 sound retreat or parley when I command them k.?
*2H6 2930 like to Achilles' spear, is able with the change, to k. and cure
*2H6 3119 priests pray for enemies, but princes k.
*TT 301 Oh Clifford, k. me with thy sword
*TT 321 I never did thee hurt, wherefore wilt thou k. me?
*TT 783 as thou didst k. our tender brother Rutland
*TT 868 I'll k. my horse because I will not fly
*TT 950 was ever father so unnatural his son to k.?
*TT 955 for I have murder'd where I should not k.
*TT 1951 Oh k. me too
*TT 1979 good Clarence do, sweet Clarence k. me too
*TT 2023 thou hadst not liv'd to k. a son of mine
*3H6 382 ah gentle Clifford, k. me with thy sword
*3H6 928 as thou didst k. our tender brother Rutland
*3H6 1044 I'll k. my horse, because I will not fly
*3H6 1183 for I have murther'd where I should not k.
*3H6 2803 Oh, k. me too
*3H6 2878 ah, k. me with thy weapon, not with words
*3H6 2888 thou hadst not liv'd to k. a son of mine
*E3 580 I k. my poor soul, and my poor soul me
*E3 972 take thou the one, and with it k. thy queen
*E3 1793 why, is it lawful for a man to k.
*E3 1795 to k., my lord, when war is once proclaim'd
*E3 2048 and prey upon the carrion that they k.
*E3 2055 'tis but for meat that we must k. for them
*E3 2169 mordieu, they quoit at us and k. us up
*E3 2157 fly, father, fly! the French do k. the French
*Sel 2545 whose only sight ks. millions of men 2F 1415 who ks. him shall have gold and endless love
2F 1935 his heart-blood dries with grief; his conscience ks. it
*HLC 894 what simply ks. our hunger, quencheth thirst
*1H6 2421 ah Joan, this ks. thy father's heart outright
*3H6 1148 upon thy wounds, that ks. mine eye, and heart
*E3 1901 if he should tell the steps, it ks. his heart

Kill-devil.

1F 424 so I should be called K. all the parish over

Killed.

1T 78 all loaden with the heads of k. men
*Sel 52 was k. himself, the while his men did flee 1T 1687 nay, 'twere better he k. his wife
2T 1453 wounded with shame and k. with discontent 1F 424 yonder tall fellow in the round slop? he has k. the devil
JM 1955 he and I k. 'em both, and yet never touched 'em
E2 2365 'tis not the first time I have k. a man
D 165 till we have fire to dress the meat we k.
D 850 that would have k. him, sleeping, as he lay?
*HLC 1441 it k. the fear of thunder and of death
*HLC 2161 Day's too-long darts so k. their faculties
*HLC 2386 raz'd his love's life's fort, and k. as he embrac'd Ov 1427 in swelling womb her twins had Ilia k.
*Con 971 my heart is k. with grief
*Con 1896 what a-foot? who k. your horse?
*TT 765 'twas you that k. young Rutland, was it not?
*TT 781 why I k. thy father, call'st thou him a child?
*TT 1010 who k. our tender brother Rutland
*TT 2006 where my poor young was lim'd, was caught and k.
*TT 2021 thy son I k. for his presumption
*TT 2022 hadst thou been k. when first thou didst presume
*3H6 910 'twas you that k. young Rutland, was it not?
*3H6 1123 whom in this conflict, I (unwares) have k.
*3H6 2869 where my poor young was lim'd, was caught, and k.
*3H6 2886 thy son I k. for his presumption
*3H6 2887 hadst thou been k., when first thou didst presume

Killer.

*TT 780 that Clifford there, that cruel child-k.
*3H6 925 upon that Clifford, that cruel child-k.

Killest.

MP 546 O, say not so! thou k. thy mother's heart

Killeth.

*1H6 198 him I forgive my death, that k. me

Killing.

1T 489 and clos'd in compass of the k. bullet
1T 1073 the k. frowns of jealousy and love
2F 977 and fearless spurn the k. basilisk
2T 1124 k. myself, as I have done my son
Ov 1434 had seen, my mother k. me, no [Old eds. to] day
*Con 1538 k. all those that withstand them
*2H6 2467 k. all those that withstand them

Killingworth.

E2 1954 your majesty must go to K.
E2 2170 from K., my lord
E2 2178 so that he now is gone from K.

E2 2208 till at the last he come to K.
E2 2317 we'll enter in by darkness to K.
E2 2420 as we were bringing him to K.
*Con 1525 therefore fly my lord, and post to K.
*Con 1528 come madam, let us haste to K.
*2H6 2442 my gracious lord, retire to K.
*2H6 2447 therefore away with us to K.

Killingworth-Castle.

E2 1993 imagine K. were your court
E2 2267 hence will I haste to K.

Kin.

MP 986 't were hard with me, if I should doubt my k.
E2 1758 make k. and countrymen slaughter themselves
*TT 488 had he been slaughterman of all my k.
*3H6 591 had he been slaughterman to all my k.

Kin : see Akin

Kind.

*FB 29 would I had first been made a beast by k.!
JM 1804 let me alone ; I'll use him in his k.
*HLC 1252 he renowns his k.
*HLC 1599 to be the only ruler of her k.
Ov 1422 all human k. by their default had perish'd
L 589 such monsters Nature hatch'd against her k.
*Sel 251 leave to old men and babes that k. of folly
*Sel 348 to strike into our minds a certain k. of love
JM 2364 a kingly k. of trade, to purchase towns
E2 772 and apt for any k. of villany
D 261 nor arm'd to offend in any k.
D 338 what k. of people, and who governs them
D 969 who would not undergo all k. of toil
HLM 571 she, with a k. of granting, put him by it
HLM 693 play'd with a boy so lovely-fair [V. R. so faire] and k.
HLM 817 behold ye might a k. of twilight break
*HLC 1759 mov'd to join in joys of sacred k.
Ov 1560 this k. of verse is not alike ; yet fit
*1H6 252 my wit untrain'd in any k. of art
*1H6 2434 this argues what her k. of life hath been *Con 1039 ½ for he is like him every k. of way [Q1 Q2 omit]
1T 653 thy words assure me of k. success
1F 971 did gratulate his safety with k. words 1F 1675 and, since I find you so k., I will 2F 1743 with all my heart, k. doctor ; please thyself 2F 1857 and so have hope that this my k. rebuke
E2 429 k. words and mutual talk makes our grief greater
E2 1332 we have been too mild, too k. too them
E2 1998 for k. and loving hast thou always been E2 2203 and neither give him k. word nor good look
D 1051 k. clouds, that sent forth such a courteous storm
*HLD 9 you bestowed many k. favours
*HLC 889 whose disposition silken is and k.
*HLC 913 and to his sister, k. Hermione, (who *HLC 917 his most k. sister all his secrets knew
*HLC 1567 Venus ; who with rosy whips beat the k. bird
*HLC 2126 spirit, that was so k. to Teras' hair
*HLC 2329 whom the k. waves so licorously cleapt
*HLC 2332 go to Hero's tower, had that k. minute lasted
*HLC 2385 the more k. Neptune rag'd, the more he Ov 584 in verse to praise k. wenches, 'tis my part Ov 956 to k. requests thou wouldst more gentle prove Ov 1045 but such k. wenches let their lovers have Ov 1517 the youth, oft swimming to his Hero k.
*LD To his k. and true friend, Edward Blunt
L 660 k. Jupiter hath low declin'd himself
*Epg 192 thou art as k. and liberal as a dog
EPF 15 as k. companions, in one union grows
*1H6 967 k. keepers of my weak decaying age
*1H6 995 just Death, k. umpire of men's miseries
*1H6 1197 so k. a father of the commonweal
*1H6 1242 Oh loving uncle, k. Duke of Gloster
*1H6 1522 and lords accept this hearty k. embrace
*Con 20 kindness yet we can bestow, is this k. kiss
*Con 1187 tell them we thank them all for [Q2 for all] their loving [Q3 kinde] care
*2H6 18 I can express no kinder sign of love than this k. kiss
*2H6 2883 York, I commend this k. submission
*TT 613 from your k. aunt, Duchess of Burgundy
*3H6 749 from your k. aunt Duchess of Burgundy
*E3 637 a k. and voluntary gift thou proffer'st
*E3 1301 obstinate against the k. embracement of thy friends ?
*E3 1635 for this k. furth'rance of your king and you

Kind : see Unkind

Kinder.

*2H6 18 I can express no k. sign of love than this Kindest.

E2 1755 our k. friends in Belgia have we left

Kindle.

2T 870 and k. heaps of exhalations
Ov 1893 forbear to k. vice by prohibition
*TT 1707 for if this fire do k. any further, it will Kindled.

*Sel 1112 I'll quench those k. flames with his heart's blood
*Sel 1351 flames which Bajazet hath k. in my heart
*Loc 314 the little sparkles of affection k. in me
1T 1425 then must his k. wrath be quench'd with blood
2T 842 whose courages are k. with the flames
2T 1363 wrath, k. in the furnace of his breast
JM 2309 by him that bears the linstock, k. thus MP 7 k. first this motion in our hearts
*E3 1386 or that enk. fury turn into flame ?
Ov 1071 make wrath-k. Jove away his thunder shake

Kindling.

HLM 159 Love k. fire, to burn such towns as Troy
*3H6 687 is k. coals that fires all my breast

Kindly.

2F 1229 so k. yesternight to Bruno's health
E2 1031 sweet uncle, speak more k. to the queen
E2 1279 'tis very k. spoke, my Lord of Pembroke
MP 760 so, k., cousin of Guise, you and your wife do both salute
MP 789 because his wife bears thee such k. love
HLM 623 and heateth k., shining laterally
*HLC 936 when he lay down, he k. kiss'd his bed
*HLC 1693 welcom'd them k., did much love protest
Ov 913 let him please, haunt the house, be k. us'd
Ov 1925 k. thy mistress use, if thou be wise
Ov 2013 and k. gave her what she liked best
*1H6 1006 that I may k. give one fainting kiss
*1H6 1231 sweet king : the bishop hath a k. gird *2H6 1562 I take it k. : yet be well assur'd, you put *E3 1297 yet, those that would submit, we k. pardon'd

Kindly : see Unkindly

Kindness.

1F 1346 for the great k. he hath showed to you 2F 1805 with all the love and k. that we may E2 1355 Spenser, this love, this k. to thy king
E2 1688 bind us in k. all at your command
Ov 1894 sooner shall k. gain thy will's fruition
*Epg 525 the heavens do owe [A draw] no k. unto thee

*1H6 734 yet hath a woman's k. over-rul'd
*Con 19 the greatest show of k. yet we can bestow, is *2H6 1180 and I may live to do you k., if you do it her
*TT 1255 I come in k. and unfeigned love
*3H6 1684 I come (in k., and unfeigned love)
*3H6 1786 you shall have all k. at my hand
*3H6 2241 nay, be thou sure, I'll well requite thy k.
*3H6 2415 if fortune serve me, I'll requite this k.
*E3 1057 this your great k. I will not forget
*E3 2313 and if this k. hath deserv'd your love Kindness : see Unkindness
Kindred.
*Sel 1945 and if they will needs creep into k. with me
MP 108 hath often pleaded k. to the king
D 842 disjoin whom k. and acquaintance co-unites?
Kine.
*Epg 140 and so, like [B, C, as] Pharaoh's k., they eat up clean those that King.
*SP 10 the image of an unplacable k.
*Sel 39 he knows not what it is to be a k., that
*Sel 322 nor any k. of whom to stand in awe
*Sel 325 then first the sacred name of k. began
*Sel 410 I mean to see him dead, or myself k.
*Sel 440 as I could be a devil to be a k.
*Sel 507 he grows to be of watery floods the k.
*Sel 771 for these should be the chief arts of a k.
*Sel 854 Dionysius did picture out the image of a k.
*Sel 912 but for I owe allegiance to my k.
*Sel 1046 yet thinks your grace if Acomat were k.
*Sel 1063 whom at your death your grace shall choose as k.
*Sel 1086 to wipe me clean for ever being k.?
*Sel 1386 it is the greatest glory of a k. when *Sel 1419 and by his death install myself a k.
*Sel 1455 that ever was despatch'd to any k.
*Sel 1543 unless I shuffle out myself a k.
*Sel 1658 wearied with cares that wait upon a k.
*Sel 2050 passeth the royal pleasures of a k.
*Sel 2110 and worthy councillor unto a k.
*Sel 2276 false of thy faith, and traitor to thy k.
*Sel 2506 why stoop'st thou not with reverence to thy k.?
*Sel 2520 now I am k. alone, and none but I
*Loc 145 when first I follow'd thee and thine, brave k.
*Loc 156 a grateful gift given by a gracious k.
*Loc 208 for thou must bear the person of a k.
*Loc 426 none must be k. but Humber and his son
*Loc 558 has your k. any commission to take
*Loc 562 I command you, in the name of our k.
*Loc 669 do you hear, master k.?
*Loc 1363 no, but to be strumpet to a k.
*Loc 1651 that at defiance standeth with his k.
*Loc 1682 O say me, page, tell me, where is the k.?
*Loc 1688 but prepare yourself; yonder's the k.
*Loc 1702 frolic, brave peers; be joyful with your k.
1T 20 you think I am not wise enough to be a k.
1T 92 unless they have a wiser k. than you
1T 93 unless they have a wiser k. than you!
1T 96 all Asia lament to see the folly of their k.
1T 108 to hear the k. thus threaten like himself?
1T 149 and openly exclaim against their [4to the] k.
1T 175 I doubt not shortly but to reign sole k.
1T 189 God save the k.!
1T 301 sent from the k. to overcome us all
1T 361 forsake thy k., and do but join with me
1T 415 but shall I prove a traitor to my k.?
1T 497 shall be my regent, and remain as k.
1T 505 what will he do supported by a k.
1T 512 and all conjoin'd to meet the witless k.
1T 522 would it not grieve a k. to be so abus'd 1T 544 and make him false his faith unto his [4to the] k.
1T 634 then haste, Cosroe, to be k. alone
1T 637 the k., your brother, is now hard at hand 1T 655 and charge the fainting army of that foolish k.
1T 678 away! I am the k.; go; touch me not 1T 680 kneel, and cry me « mercy, noble k.! »
1T 724 for one that knew not what a k. should do 1T 753 is it not brave to be a k., Techelles?
1T 755 is it not passing brave to be a k.
1T 758 to be a k. is half to be a god
1T 759 a god is not so glorious as a k.
1T 767 why, say, Theridamas, wilt thou be a k.?
1T 789 then shall we send to this triumphing k.
1T 803 that only made him k. to make us sport
1T 843 to save your k. and country from decay
1T 939 great k. and conqueror of Graecia
1T 1070 see you, Agydas, how the k. salutes you!
1T 1090 hath hit the meaning of my lord the k.!
1T 1285 and made my lordly love her worthy k.
1T 1497 unworthy k., that by thy cruelty unlawfully 1T 1514 how you abuse the person of the k.
1T 1589 should brave a k., or wear a princely crown
1T 2177 ready for battle 'gainst my lord the k.
1T 2236 to see the k., my father, issue safe from 2T 104 then County Palatine, but now a k.
2T 152 if any heathen potentate or k. invade Natolia 2T 229 shall I be made a k. for my labour?
2T 233 thou shalt be crown'd a k., and be my mate
2T 293 thou shalt be made a k. and reign with me 2T 297 thou shalt be k. before them, and 2T 336 ere I would lose the title of a k.
2T 340 ere I would lose the title of a k.
2T 449 I took the k. and led him bound in chains 2T 553 how glad the Christian k. is made for joy of 2T 859 to keep my promise and to make him k.
2T 861 that's no matter, sir, for being a k.
2T 1130 will match thee with a viceroy or a k.
2T 1132 dearer unto me than any viceroy, k., or emperor 2T 1309 in despite of thee, he shall be k.
2T 1318 so, sirrah, now you are a k.
2T 1335 and know ye this same k.?
2T 1337 well, now ye see he is a k.
2T 1697 and art a k. as absolute as Jove
2T 1717 how like you that, sir k.?
1F 121 and reign sole k. of all our [Dyce, the] provinces
2F 118 and reign sole k. of all the provinces 2F 1308 your grace demand [1624, demands] no questions of the k.
JM (Title) as it was played before the K. and Queen
JM 710 my lord and k. hath title to this isle
E2 5 than live and be the favourite of a k.!
E2 14 the k., upon whose bosom let me die [Dyce, lie]
E2 19 my knee shall bow to none but to the k.
E2 45 yet I have not view'd my lord the k.
E2 53 draw the pliant k. which way I please
E2 72 Here comes my lord the k. [Old eds. My lord, here comes the k.]
E2 92 beseems it thee to contradict thy k.?
E2 97 what danger 'tis to stand against your k.
E2 111 brav'd Mowbray in the presence of the k.
E2 116 yet dare you brave the k. unto his face
E2 125 come, uncle, let us leave the brain-sick k.

E2 135 am I a k., and must be over-rul'd ?
E2 211 Ah, wicked k. ! accursèd Gaveston !
E2 227 thus, arm in arm, the k. and he doth march
E2 230 thus leaning on the shoulder of the k., he nods
E2 236 we'll [Dyce We'd] hale him from the bosom of the k.
E2 246 my lord, will you take arms against the k. ?
E2 256 for now my lord the k. regards me not
E2 266 ere that day come, the k. shall lose his crown
E2 268 but yet lift not your swords against the k.
E2 279 what we confirm, the k. will frustrate
E2 289 forbear to levy arms against the k.
E2 301 the name of Mortimer shall fright the k.
E2 317 is this the duty that you owe your k. ?
E2 322 were I a k.
E2 323 wherefore talk'st thou of a k., that E2 330 nay, then, lay violent hands upon your k.
E2 333 was ever k. thus over-rul'd as I ?
E2 350 depose him, and elect another k.
E2 382 the k. is love-sick for his minion
E2 392 why should a k. be subject to a priest ?
E2 401 if I be k., not one of them shall live
E2 426 'tis something to be pitied of a k.
E2 473 see the k. my lord thus to abandon me !
E2 485 the k., I fear, hath ill-entreated her
E2 507 the angry k. hath banish'd me the court
E2 513 O, Lancaster, let him dissuade the k. !
E2 554 zeal to mend the k. and do our country good
E2 578 'tis treason to be up against the k.
E2 580 which, for his father's sake, lean to the k.
E2 585 'tis not the k. can buckler Gaveston
E2 596 but see, in happy time, my lord the k.
E2 637 courageous Lancaster, embrace thy k.
E2 648 Pembroke shall bear the sword before the k.
E2 684 leave now to oppose thyself against the k.
E2 713 the k. and he, from out a window, laugh at E2 717 but, nephew, now you see the k. is chang'd
E2 726 because the k. and he are enemies
E2 729 he that hath the favour of a k. may E2 735 and would have once preferr'd me to the k.
E2 741 with letters to our lady from the k.
E2 787 now to the letter of my lord the k.
E2 799 I knew the k. would have him home again
E2 862 sweet lord and k., your speech preventeth mine
E2 865 here, here, k., convey hence Gaveston [So old eds. — Dyce, omits]
E2 903 let's to our castles, for the k. is mov'd
E2 913 now send our heralds to defy the k.
E2 921 who should defray the money but the k. ?
E2 923 I'll to the k.
E2 932 as never subject did unto his k.
E2 937 whither else but to the k. ?
E2 978 that make a k. seem glorious to the world
E2 1071 I came to join with you, and leave the k.
E2 1086 and here in Tynmouth frolics with the k.
E2 1097 none be so hardy as to [1598, 1612 omit to] touch the k.
E2 1129 cease to lament, and tell us where's the k. ?
E2 1130 what would you with the k. ? is 't him you seek ?
E2 1138 the k. hath left him, and his train is small
E2 1140 how comes it that the k. and he is parted ?
E2 1150 no, Mortimer, I'll to my lord the k.
E2 1152 you know the k. is so suspicious
E2 1165 and to the k. my brother there complain
E2 1174 that muster rebels thus against your k.
E2 1178 corrupter of thy k., cause of these broils
E2 1196 but, for thou wert the favourite of a k.
E2 1214 we will gratify the k. in other matters
E2 1223 thus we'll gratify the k.
E2 1230 and in the honour of a k. he swears
E2 1293 an ye be men, speed to the k.
E2 1303 treacherous earl, shall not I see the k. ?
E2 1330 and learn obedience to their lawful k.
E2 1355 Spenser, this love, this kindness to thy k.
E2 1381 boy, see you bear you bravely to the k.
E2 1395 unnatural wars, where subjects brave their k.
E2 1498 and do confront and countermand their k.
E2 1518 and levy arms against your lawful k. ?
E2 1520 t'appease the wrath of their offended k.
E2 1554 than live in infamy under such a k.
E2 1572 Edward this day hath crown'd him k. anew
E2 1601 unnatural k., to slaughter noblemen and E2 1614 the lords are cruel, and the k. unkind
E2 1658 how mean you, and the k. my father lives ?
E2 1664 how hard the nobles, how unkind the k.
E2 1675 the k. will ne'er forsake his flatterers
E2 1778 we may remove these flatterers from the k.
E2 1795 chose thy lawful k., thy sovereign, with thy sword ?
E2 1797 borne arms against thy brother and thy k. ?
E2 1824 nephew, your father ; I dare not call him k.
E2 1834 Baldock is with the k.
E2 1848 but where's the k. and the other Spenser fled ?
E2 1851 and shipp'd but late for Ireland with the k.
E2 1854 shall I not see the k. my father yet ?
E2 1860 your k. hath wrong'd your country and himself
E2 1881 O, hadst thou ever been a k., thy heart
E2 1935 stars, why do you lour unkindly on a k. ?
E2 1944 a k. to bear these words and proud commands !
E2 2014 but when I call to mind I am a k.
E2 2019 my nobles rule ; I bear the name of k.
E2 2028 to make usurping Mortimer a k. ?
E2 2050 stay awhile : let me be [1598 omits] k. till night
E2 2066 what, fear you not the fury of your k. ?
E2 2069 but seek to make a new-elected k.
E2 2077 I'll not resign, but [1612, 1622 not], whilst I live, [be k.]
E2 2085 my lord, the k. is willing to resign
E2 2092 be call'd the murderer of a k., take it
E2 2148 the proud corrupters of the light-brain'd k.
E2 2171 how fares my lord the k. ?
E2 2175 the k. hath willingly resign'd his crown
E2 2187 Berkeley shall be discharg'd, the k. remov'd
E2 2195 that he resign the k. to thee and Gurney
E2 2216 whither goes this letter ? to my lord the k ?
E2 2241 let him be k. ; I am too young to reign
E2 2254 my lord, he hath betray'd the k. his brother
E2 2319 guard the k. sure : it is the Earl of Kent
E2 2321 keep them asunder ; thrust in the k.
E2 2324 lay down your weapons, traitors ! yield the k. !
E2 2328 where is the court but here ? here is the k.
E2 2337 the k. must die, or Mortimer goes down
E2 2345 « Fear not to kill the k., 'tis good he die »
E2 2348 « Kill not the k., 'tis good to fear the worst »
E2 2400 shall rule the realm, the k. ; and none rule us
E2 2410 dares but affirm that Edward's not true k.
E2 2419 'a would have taken the k. away perforce
E2 2422 Mortimer, I did : he is our k.
E2 2438 art thou a [Dyce and 1598 omit] k. ? must I die at thy command ?
E2 2441 either my brother or his son is k.
E2 2451 Gurney, I wonder the k. dies not
E2 2456 much more a k., brought up so tenderly

E2 2470 Know you this token? I must have the k.
E2 2472 the villain's sent to make away the k.
E2 2476 Pereat iste! Let him have the k.
E2 2492 so finely handled as this k. shall be
E2 2503 to see a k. in this most piteous state?
E2 2514 they give me bread and water, being a k.
E2 2541 know that I am a k. : O, at that name I
E2 2587 ah, Mortimer, the k. my son hath news
E2 2589 what if he have? the k. is yet a child
E2 2596 fear not, my lord; know that you are a k.
E2 2610 why speak you not unto my lord the k.?
MP 29 having the k., Queen-Mother on our sides
MP 33 if that the k. had given consent thereto
MP 108 hath often pleaded kindred to the k.
MP 127 the gentle k., whose pleasure
MP 148 that right or wrong, thou deal thyself a k.
MP 150 sufficient yet for such a petty k.
MP 200 let us go tell the k. of this
MP 236 shall die, be he k. or emperor
MP 380 all that I have is but my stipend from the k.
MP 442 come, let us go tell the k.
MP 462 such a k., whom practice long
MP 553 to misdo the welfare of their k.
MP 602 and all things else that a k. may wish besides
MP 616 removeless from the favours of your k.
MP 652 now, madam, must you insinuate with the k.
MP 719 incens'd the k. to send his power
MP 737 the Guise that hath incens'd the k. to MP 742 made great suit unto the k. therefore MP 748 he cares not what becomes of k. or country
MP 801 will make the k. surcease his hate
MP 882 then farewell, Guise, the k. and thou art friends MP 889 durst stand in arms against the k.
MP 913 the Guise hath taken arms against the k.
MP 930 we must aid the k. against the Guise
MP 971 Epernoun, where is the k.?
MP 993 so; now sues the k. for favour to the Guise
MP 998 so will I triumph o'er this wanton k.
MP 1023 then pray to God, and ask forgiveness of the k.
MP 1025 nor will I ask forgiveness of the k.
MP 1029 Ah, Sixtus, be reveng'd upon the k.!
MP 1036 then stay a while, and I'll go call the k.
MP 1059 or else to murder me, and so be k.
MP 1069 art thou k., and hast done this bloody deed?
MP 1085 I slew the Guise, because I would be k.
MP 1086 K.! why, so thou wert before
MP 1087 pray God thou be a k. now this is done
MP 1088 nay, he was k., and countermanded me
MP 1089 but now I will be k., and rule myself
MP 1122 to revenge our death upon that cursèd k.
MP 1129 my noble brother murder'd by the k.!
MP 1153 for my conscience' sake will kill the k.
MP 1186 and will not offer violence to their k.
MP 1188 friar, thou dost acknowledge me thy k.?
MP 1249 surgeon, why say'st thou so? the k. may live
MP 1253 sweet Epernoun, thy k. must die
MP 1256 he's your lawful k., and my next heir
MP 1262 Henry, thy k., wipes off these childish tears
MP 1271 come, lords, take up the body of the k.
MP 1275 shall curse the time that e'er Navarre was k.
D 520 who then ran to the palace of the k.
D 528 to whom the aged k. thus, trembling, spoke
D 532 k. of this city, but my Troy is fir'd
D 533 and now am neither father, lord, nor k.
D 545 which sent an echo to the wounded k.
D 550 and with the wind thereof the k. fell down
D 1031 it was because I saw no k. like thee
D 1128 alas, poor k., that labours so in vain
D 1246 stay here, Aeneas, and command as k.
D 1572 repair'd not I thy ships, made thee a k.
HLM 575 ne'er k. more sought to keep his diadem
Ov 71 thee all shall fear, and worship as a k.
Ov 2088 why was I blest? why made k., to refuse it [ed. A and re,usde]?
L 47 where thou wilt reign as k.
L 315 (whom from his youth he brib'd), needs make him k.?
*Epg 551 fit to be of counsel with a k. for wit
*1H6 7 England ne'er lost a k. of so much worth
*1H6 8 England ne'er had a k. until his time
*1H6 93 the Dauphin Charles is crowned k. in Rheims
*1H6 97 the dauphin crown'd k.? all fly to him?
*1H6 170 and then I will proclaim young Henry k.
*1H6 171 to Eltham will I, where the young k. is *1H6 177 the k. from Eltham I intend to send *1H6 354 thou art no friend to God, or to the k.
*1H6 361 proditor, and not protector of the k. or realm
*1H6 389 here's Beaufort, that regards nor God nor k.
*1H6 397 to crown himself k., and suppress the prince
*1H6 1029 Henry the Fourth, grandfather to this k.
*1H6 1120 the k., thy sovereign, is not quite exempt from *1H6 1133 no one, but he, should be about the k.
*1H6 1158 is not his grace protector to the k.?
*1H6 1219 compassion on the k. commands me stoop
*1H6 1231 sweet k. : the bishop hath a kindly gird
*1H6 1281 the presence of a k. engenders love
*1H6 1430 and then depart to Paris, to the k.
*1H6 1582 that you elect no other k. but him
*1H6 1629 no more but plain and bluntly? (To the K.)
*1H6 1705 to trouble and disturb the k., and us?
*1H6 1753 the k. prettily (methought) did play the orator *1H6 2270 Margaret my name, and daughter to a k.
*1H6 2308 for whom? why for my k. : tush, that's a wooden thing
*1H6 2335 if happy England's royal k. be free
*1H6 2360 thy daughter shall be wedded to my k.
*1H6 2373 fit to be made companion with a k.
*1H6 2385 as deputy unto that gracious k.
*1H6 2388 because this is in traffic of a k.
*1H6 2400 no princely commendations to my k.?
*1H6 2407 heart, never yet taint with love, I send the k.
*1H6 2410 to send such peevish tokens to a k.
*1H6 2514 with letters of commission from the k.
*1H6 2559 and therein reverenc'd for their lawful k.
*1H6 2571 of benefit proceeding from our k.
*1H6 2634 yes my lord, her father is a k.
*1H6 2643 a dower my lords? disgrace not so your k.
*1H6 2661 whom should we match with Henry being a k.
*1H6 2662 but Margaret, that is daughter to a k.
*1H6 2664 approves her fit for none, but for a k.
*1H6 2667 will answer our hope in issue of a k.
*1H6 2702 Margaret shall now be queen, and rule the k.
*1H6 2703 but I will rule both her, the k., and realm
*Con 16 the fairest queen that ever k. possess'd
*Con 48 be released and delivered over to the k. her fa [Q3 fa —]
*Con 55 shall be released and delivered over to the k. her father
*Con 83 as if our k. were bound unto your will *Con 172 uncle to the k., and his protector?
*Con 205 the k. and queen to-morrow morning will ride
*Con 227 for now the k. is riding to Saint Albans

*Con 240 to plot these treasons 'gainst the k. and peers
*Con 268 and that the k. was an usurer
*Con 271 didst thou say the k. was an usurper?
*Con 279 we'll hear more of this [Q3 this thing] before the k.
*Con 315 but stay madam, here comes the k.
*Con 330 our k. is old enough himself, to give his answer
*Con 336 for since that thou wast [Q3 since thou wast a] k.
*Con 337 as who is k. but thee
*Con 387 good k. she'll dandle thee
*Con 436 first of the k., what shall become of him?
*Con 456 the k. shall have notice [Q2 a notice] of this thing
*Con 458 give it me my lord, I'll show it to the k.
*Con 460 let me go post unto the k., unto Saint Albans
*Con 487 to smooth it thus with k. and commonwealth
*Con 605 hath plotted treasons 'gainst the k. and peers
*Con 612 first of the k., what shall become of him?
*Con 650ª and Richard that was after crowned k. [So in Q3]
*Con 659 Richard, that afterwards was k. [So in Q1 Q2]
*Con 669 he claimed the crown, deposed the mirthful k.
*Con 675 and but for Owen Glendower, had been k.
*Con 689 but lords I am not your k., until this sword
*Con 701 live to see the noble Duke of York to be a k.
*Con 704 the greatest man in England, but the k.
*Con 776 Ho well done Peter. God save the k.
*Con 846 and I am so commanded by the k.
*Con 875 honouring him as if he were their [Q2 a] k.
*Con 978 for safety of our k. and commonwealth
*Con 981 Duke Humphrey then would look to be our k.
*Con 1059 that when the k. comes, he may perceive
*Con 1073 ay me, the k. is dead : help, help, my lords
*Con 1185 sent from a sort of tinkers to the k.
*Con 1236 once by the k., but three times thrice by thee
*Con 1243 and sometime [Q3 sometimes] he calls to speak unto the k.
*Con 1246 go then good Vaux and certify the k.
*Con 1251 for if the k. do come, thou sure must die
*Con 1362 save to the God of heaven and to my k.
*Con 1392 as soon as Jack Cade is k.
*Con 1417 and [Q3 omits] if I be k. [Q2 be the k.], as k. I will be *Con 1477 but dost thou hear Stafford, tell the k., that
*Con 1479 I am content that he shall be k. as long as he lives
*Con 1496 nay, bid the k. come to me and he will *Con 1524 to crown himself k. in Westminster
*Con 1546 fight for your k., your country, and your lives
*Con 1653 to rise against your sovereign lord and k.
*Con 1670 the k. is merciful, then yield to him
*Con 1672 to Windsor Castle whereas the k. abides
*Con 1674 a Clifford, a Clifford, God save the k.
*Con 1702 and go in peace obedient to your k.
*Con 1705 God save the k., God save the k.
*Con 1716 stand villain, thou wilt betray me to the k.
*Con 1745 head, and bear it [Q2 adds, with me; Q3 adds, to the K.]
*Con 1758 whereas the person of the k. doth keep?
*Con 1771 the k. doth pardon thee, and grants to thy request
*Con 1778 come York, thou shalt go speak unto the k.
*Con 1810 and thou shalt wait upon the person of the k.
*Con 1812 prove just and loyal to [Q2 unto] my k.
*Con 1821 nor will I subject be to such a k.
*Con 1830 for these proud words which thou hast given the k.
*Con 1835 long live my noble lord, and sovereign k.
*Con 1839 why, I did no way mistake, this is my k.
*Con 1842 to levy arms against his lawful k.
*Con 1964 what say you lords, the k. is fled to London?
*2H6 16 the fairest queen, that ever k. receiv'd
*2H6 29 makes me the bolder to salute my k.
*2H6 50 shall be released and delivered to the k. her father
*2H6 58 released and delivered over to the k. her father *2H6 136 it was the pleasure of my lord the k.
*2H6 148 and no great friend, I fear me to the k.
*2H6 280 when I imagine ill against my k.
*2H6 318 whereas the k. and queen do mean to hawk
*2H6 397 my master said, that he was, and that the k. was an usurper *2H6 401 we'll hear more of your matter before the k.
*2H6 436 but can do more in England than the k.
*2H6 480 because the k. forsooth will have it so
*2H6 481 the k. is old enough himself to give his censure
*2H6 488 since thou wert k., as who is k. but thou?
*2H6 509 against her will, good k.? look to 't in time
*2H6 523 as I in duty love my k. and country
*2H6 615 first of the k. : what shall of him become?
*2H6 630 the k. and commonweal are deeply indebted for *2H6 659 the k. is now in progress towards Saint Albans
*2H6 691 that smooth'd it so with k. and commonweal
*2H6 739 come to the k., and tell him what miracle
*2H6 749 stand by, my masters, bring him near the k.
*2H6 884 how I have lov'd my k., and commonweal
*2H6 918 who after Edward the Third's death, reign'd as k.
*2H6 922 seiz'd on the realm, depos'd the rightful k.
*2H6 940 and but for Owen Glendower, had been k.
*2H6 954 the elder son succeed before the younger, I am k.
*2H6 967 but I am not your k., till I be crown'd
*2H6 983 Warwick shall one day make the Duke of York a k.
*2H6 986 Warwick the greatest man in England, but the k.
*2H6 1015 no less belov'd, than when thou wert protector to thy k.
*2H6 1016 I see no reason, why a k. of years should be *2H6 1019 give up your staff, sir, and the k. his realm
*2H6 1025 farewell good k. : when I am dead and gone
*2H6 1027 why now is Henry k., and Margaret queen
*2H6 1077 I never meant him any ill, nor the k., nor *2H6 1258 as next the k., he was successive heir
*2H6 1304 all happiness unto my lord the k.
*2H6 1325 that doit that e'er I wrested from the k.
*2H6 1453 the k. will labour still to save his life
*2H6 1609 the k. and all the peers are here at hand
*2H6 1633 how fares my lord? help lords, the k. is dead
*2H6 1846 sirs stand apart, the k. shall know your mind
*2H6 1874 an answer from the k., my Lord of Salisbury
*2H6 1882 sent from a sort of tinkers to the k.
*2H6 1883 an answer from the k., or we will all break in *2H6 1964 banished, once by the k., and three times thrice by thee
*2H6 1980 he calls the k., and whispers to his pillow, as to him *2H6 1985 go tell this heavy message to the k.
*2H6 1992 now get thee hence, the k. thou know'st is coming *2H6 2133 to affy a mighty lord unto the daughter of a worthless k.
*2H6 2147 by shameful murder of a guiltless k.
*2H6 2154 and beggary, is crept into the palace of our k.
*2H6 2178 bow to any, save to the God of heaven, and to my k.

*2H6 2198 his body will I bear unto the k.
*2H6 2267 and when I am k., as k. I will be *2H6 2319 the k. is merciful, if you revolt
*2H6 2341 nay, 'tis too true, therefore he shall be k.
*2H6 2350 go to sirrah, tell the k. from me, that *2H6 2369 assail them with the army of the k.
*2H6 2475 fight for your k., your country, and your lives
*2H6 2528 and contrary to the k., his crown, and dignity, thou
*2H6 2561 Kent to maintain, the k., the realm and you
*2H6 2563 because my book preferr'd me to the k.
*2H6 2635 we come ambassadors from the k. unto the commons
*2H6 2642 who loves the k., and will embrace his pardon
*2H6 2647 God save the k., God save the k.
*2H6 2683 we'll follow the k., and Clifford
*2H6 2695 and he that brings his head unto the k., shall have *2H6 2698 to reconcile you all unto the k.
*2H6 2699 was ever k. that joy'd an earthly throne
*2H6 2702 but I was made a k. at nine months old *2H6 2703 was never subject long'd to be a k., as *2H6 2720 God save the k., God save the k.
*2H6 2773 and get a thousand crowns of the k.
*2H6 2828 which I will bear in triumph to the k.
*2H6 2842 the k. hath sent him sure : I must dissemble
*2H6 2857 I am far better born than is the k.
*2H6 2858 more like a k., more kingly in my thoughts
*2H6 2865 to remove proud Somerset from the k.
*2H6 2869 the k. hath yielded unto thy demand
*2H6 2894 may pass into the presence of a k.
*2H6 2904 a poor esquire of Kent, that loves his k.
*2H6 2920 false k., why hast thou broken faith with me
*2H6 2922 k. did I call thee? no : thou art not k.
*2H6 2936 capital treason 'gainst the k. and crown
*2H6 2953 health, and all happiness to my lord the k.
*2H6 2958 this is my k. York, I do not mistake
*2H6 2962 makes him oppose himself against his k.
*2H6 2972 I am thy k., and thou a false-heart traitor
*2H6 3164 for (as I hear) the k. is fled to London
*TT 1 I wonder how the k. escap'd our hands
*TT 23 this is the palace of that fearful k.
*TT 31 and when the k. comes offer him no violence
*TT 35 unless Plantaganet Duke of York be k.
*TT 40 neither the k., nor him that loves him best
*TT 48 to aspire unto the crown, and reign as k.
*TT 77 whom should he follow but his natural k.?
*TT 82 be Duke of Lancaster, let him be k.
*TT 83 why? he is both k. and Duke of Lancaster
*TT 114 sound drums and trumpets and the k. will fly
*TT 120 suppose by right and equity thou be k.
*TT 128 prove it Henry and thou shalt be k.?
*TT 132 tell me may not a k. adopt an heir?
*TT 134 What then? — Then am I lawful k.
*TT 189 whilst I live to honour me as thy k. and sovereign
*TT 206 art thou a k., and wilt be forc'd to yield?
*TT 415 ay, now looks he like a k. ?
*TT 420 as I bethink me you should not be k.
*TT 495 and there's to right our gentle-hearted k.
*TT 577 I then in London keeper of the k., muster'd my soldiers
*TT 581 bearing the k. in my behalf along
*TT 588 but whether 'twas the coldness of the k.
*TT 603 we fled. The k. unto the queen
*TT 638 have wrought the easy-melting k. like wax
*TT 691 he but a duke, would have his son a k.
*TT 693 thou being a k. bless'd with a goodly son
*TT 740 proclaims him k., and many flies to him
*TT 754 malapert, before thy k. and lawful sovereign?
*TT 755 I am his k., and he should bend his knee
*TT 758 that you are k. though he do wear the crown
*TT 788 I am [Q3 being] a k. and [Q3 am] privileg'd [Q1 priviledge] to speak
*TT 808 thy father bears the title of a k.
*TT 825 and we in pity of the gentle k., had *TT 836 since thou deniest the gentle k. to speak
*TT 910 would I had never reign'd, nor ne'er been k.
*TT 922 from London was I press'd out by the k.
*TT 947 how will the people now misdeem their k.
*TT 951 was ever k. thus grieved and vexed still?
*TT 957 here sits a k. as woebegone as thee
*TT 1095 ay but thou talkest [Q3 talkes] as if thou wert a k. thyself
*TT 1097 and if thou be a k. where is thy crown?
*TT 1101 and if thou be a k. crown'd with content
*TT 1121 before the k. will grant her humble suit
*TT 1148 an easy task, 'tis but to love a k.
*TT 1173 one way or other she is for a k.
*TT 1290 why Warwick, canst thou deny thy k., whom
*TT 1295 for shame leave Henry and call Edward k.
*TT 1296 call him my k. by whom mine elder brother
*TT 1308 is Edward lawful k. or no?
*TT 1338 this from our k. unto your majesty
*TT 1346 what hath your k. married the Lady Grey
*TT 1353 no more my k., for he dishonours me
*TT 1375 return in post, and tell false Edward thy supposed k.
*TT 1416 and I am both [Q1 Q2 omit] your k. and Warwick's
*TT 1418 and shall, because our k., [Q2 you are our k.]
*TT 1473 go tell false Edward thy supposed k.
*TT 1548 when we parted last, thou call'dst me k.
*TT 1551 then I disgrac'd you from being k.
*TT 1558 Edward in mind will bear himself a k.
*TT 1628 Henry now is k., and we are sworn to him
*TT 1629 why my Lord-Mayor, if Henry be your k.
*TT 1653 I came to serve a k. and not a duke
*TT 1657 except you presently proclaim yourself our k.
*TT 1747 and call Edward k. and he will pardon thee
*TT 1752 I had thought at least he would have said the k.
*TT 1758 Henry is my k., Warwick his subject
*TT 1763 the k. was finely finger'd from the deck?
*TT 1821 for who liv'd k., but I could dig his grave?
*TT 1915 Henry your [Q3 our] k. is prisoner in the Tower
*TT 1956 Clarence, excuse me to the k. my brother
*3H6 1 I wonder how the k. escap'd our hands?
*3H6 25 this is the palace of the fearful k.
*3H6 33 and when the k. comes offer him no violence
*3H6 40 unless Plantaganet, Duke of York, be k.
*3H6 45 neither the k., nor he that loves him best
*3H6 53 to aspire unto the crown, and reign as k.
*3H6 85 whom should he follow but his natural k.?
*3H6 89 be Duke of Lancaster, let him be k.
*3H6 90 he is both k., and Duke of Lancaster
*3H6 124 sound drums and trumpets, and the k. will fly *3H6 137 prove it Henry, and thou shalt be k.
*3H6 139 'twas by rebellion against his k.
*3H6 141 tell me, may not a k. adopt an heir?
*3H6 143 and if he may, then am I lawful k.
*3H6 156 my conscience tells me he is lawful k.
*3H6 178 let me for this my life-time reign as k.
*3H6 190 farewell faint-hearted and degenerate k.

*3H6 206 to honour me as thy k., and sovereign
*3H6 236 if you be k., why should not I succeed?
*3H6 239 enforc'd thee? art thou k., and wilt be forc'd?
*3H6 318 Richard enough: I will be k., or die
*3H6 329 and yet the k. not privy to my drift
*3H6 342 whom we have left protectors of the k.
*3H6 515 ay marry sir, now looks he like a k.
*3H6 520 as I bethink me, you should not be k., till
*3H6 598 and here's to right our gentle-hearted k.
*3H6 715 I then in London, keeper of the k.
*3H6 718 bearing the k. in my behalf along
*3H6 725 but whether 'twas the coldness of the k.
*3H6 740 so that we fled: the k. unto the queen
*3H6 774 have wrought the easy-melting k., like wax
*3H6 833 he but a duke, would have his son a k.
*3H6 835 thou being a k., bless'd with a goodly son
*3H6 883 proclaims him k., and many fly to him
*3H6 898 before thy sovereign, and thy lawful k.?
*3H6 899 I am his k., and he should bow his knee
*3H6 902 you that are k., though he do wear the crown
*3H6 933 I am a k., and privileg'd to speak
*3H6 953 whose father bears the title of a k.
*3H6 962 wrong'd by that false woman, as this k. by thee
*3H6 964 and tam'd the k., and made the dauphin stoop *3H6 974 and we in pity of the gentle k., had *3H6 985 since thou denied'st the gentle k. to speak
*3H6 1125 from London, by the k. was I press'd forth
*3H6 1169 misthink the k., and not be satisfied?
*3H6 1172 was ever k. so griev'd for subjects' woe?
*3H6 1185 here sits a k., more woeful than you are *3H6 1233 that led calm Henry, though he were a k.
*3H6 1335 this is the quondam k.; let's seize upon him
*3H6 1362 and in conclusion wins the k. from her
*3H6 1371 ay, but thou talk'st, as if thou wert a k.
*3H6 1373 but if thou be a k., where is thy crown?
*3H6 1378 well, if you be a k. crown'd with content
*3H6 1388 I was anointed k. at nine months old
*3H6 1392 no, for we were subjects, but while you were k.
*3H6 1403 go where you will, the k. shall be commanded
*3H6 1412 and what God will, that let your k. perform
*3H6 1426 before the k. will grant her humble suit
*3H6 1477 an easy task, 'tis but to love a k.
*3H6 1515 one way, or other, she is for a k.
*3H6 1657 is, of a k., become a banish'd man
*3H6 1735 for shame leave Henry, and call Edward k.
*3H6 1736 call him my k., by whose injurious doom my *3H6 1749 upon your conscience is Edward your true k.?
*3H6 1773 touching the jointure that your k. must make *3H6 1803 these from our k., unto your majesty
*3H6 1814 what? has your k. married the Lady Grey?
*3H6 1824 no more my k., for he dishonours me
*3H6 1864 and tell false Edward, thy supposed k., that *3H6 1867 thou seest what's past, go fear thy k. withal
*3H6 1913 my lords, forbear this talk; here comes the k.
*3H6 1925 I am Edward, your k. and Warwick's, and must have my will *3H6 1926 and shall have your will, because our k.
*3H6 1977 leave me, or tarry, Edward will be k.
*3H6 2005 go tell false Edward, the supposed k., that *3H6 2034 now brother k. farewell, and sit you fast
*3H6 2095 the k. by this, is set him down to sleep
*3H6 2103 that with the k. here resteth in his tent?
*3H6 2105 O, is it so? but why commands the k., that *3H6 2125 why Warwick, when we parted, thou call'dst me k.
*3H6 2128 then I degraded you from being k.
*3H6 2141 Edward will always bear himself as k.
*3H6 2146 and be true k. indeed: thou but the shadow
*3H6 2201 you know our k., my brother, is prisoner
*3H6 2355 but Master Major [? Mayor], if Henry be your k.
*3H6 2385 I came to serve a k., and not a duke
*3H6 2390 if you 'll not here proclaim yourself our k.
*3H6 2512 call Edward k., and at his hands beg mercy
*3H6 2518 I thought at least he would have said the k.
*3H6 2527 and Henry is my k., Warwick his subject
*3H6 2528 but Warwick's k. is Edward's prisoner
*3H6 2533 the k. was slily finger'd from the deck
*3H6 2579 against his brother, and his lawful k.
*3H6 2626 for who liv'd k., but I could dig his grave?
*3H6 2808 Clarence excuse me to the k. my brother
*E3 21 proclaim'd John, of the House of Valois, now their k.
*E3 38 what then should subjects, but embrace their k.?
*E3 64 be sworn true liegeman to the k.
*E3 91 be it spoke with reverence of the k. my gracious father
*E3 124 the treacherous k. no sooner was inform'd of
*E3 162 as, at the coronation of a k., the joyful clamours of
*E3 174 to solicit with vehement suit the k. in my behalf
*E3 202 till your k. cry out, « Enough
*E3 208 your acceptable greeting to my k.
*E3 255 the k. himself is come in person hither
*E3 268 my gracious k., fair is she not at all
*E3 289 and let the power of a mighty k. honour our roof
*E3 350 being in the sacred presence of a k.
*E3 352 to vail [Old eds. waile] his eyes amiss, being a k.
*E3 354 to bear herself in presence of a k.
*E3 356 to dote amiss, being a mighty k.
*E3 539 thrice-gentle k., acquaint me with your
*E3 550 and tell thyself a k. doth dote on thee
*E3 600 to be a k., is of a younger house than to be married
*E3 604 but not by him anointed for a k.
*E3 685 O doting k.! O detestable office!
*E3 696 if she remember to embrace the k.
*E3 721 to do a message to thee from the k.
*E3 729 the k., that would distain thee, will advance thee
*E3 736 the k. will in his glory hide thy shame
*E3 771 more esteem'd than the polluted closet of a k.
*E3 807 and makes our k. lieutenant-general
*E3 812 the k. is in his closet, malcontent
*E3 818 the trumpets sound; the k. is now abroad
*E3 826 all love, and duty, to my lord the k.!
*E3 854 betwixt a goddess and a mighty k.
*E3 903 set the k., the dauphin, and the peers, at liberty
*E3 968 keep but thy word, great k., and I am thine
*E3 977 stir not, lascivious k., to hinder me
*E3 1262 upon the right hand comes the conquering k.
*E3 1392 no father, k. or shepherd of thy realm
*E3 1405 was ever any of thy father's house k., but thyself
*E3 1416 he that you fight for is your natural k.
*E3 1424 then, to protect your country and your k.
*E3 1608 and proved thyself fit heir unto a k.
*E3 1618 but which way is the fearful k. escap'd?
*E3 1635 for this kind furth'rance of your k. and you
*E3 1735 the burgesses of Calais, mighty k., have
*E3 1754 John our k. would with his army have reliev'd
*E3 1855 before us in the valley lies the k.
*E3 1866 Philip, the younger issue of the k.
*E3 1879 the valley for our flight the k. binds in *E3 1905 and that same k. hath but the

*E3 1906 hath but the puissant legion of one k.
*E3 1924 tell the k., my tongue is made of steel
*E3 2103 the royal k., to grace his warlike son, would not
*E3 2113 and bid the k. prepare a noble grave to
*E3 2126 and tell the k., this is not all his ill
*E3 2268 take pity on this town, and hear us, mighty k. !
*E3 2299 so let her people live to call thee k.
*E3 2314 learn then to reverence Edward as your k.
*E3 2328 I took the k. myself in single fight
*E3 2348 and Copland's faith, relation to his k.
*E3 2353 this, mighty k. : the country we have won
*E3 2369 surpris'd, and brought us prisoners to the k.
*E3 2375 « salute your k., » quoth he, « bid him provide a
*E3 2439 to crown thee with and to proclaim thee k.
*Loc 557 you must be a soldier in the k.'s cause
*Loc 569 be content ; I do the k.'s command
1T 559 which make report it far exceeds the k.'s 1F 826 I'll not speak another word for a k.'s ransom
2F 699 I'll not speak a word more for a k.'s ransom
2F 745 I'll not speak a word more for a k.'s ransom
E2 490 now breaks the k.'s hate forth
E2 540 for the realm's behoof, and for the k.'s
E2 1244 away, base groom, robber of k.'s renown !
E2 1247 to gratify the k.'s request therein
E2 1629 I hear, sweet lady, of the k.'s unkindness
E2 1720 are not so careless of their k.'s command
E2 2160 whenas a k.'s name shall be under-writ
E2 2534 blood, nor shall they now be tainted with a k.'s
E2 2571 and bear the k.'s to Mortimer our lord
E2 2661 thus, madam, 'tis the k.'s will you shall hence
MP 37 without the k.'s consent, to meddle or attempt MP 293 at each corner shall the k.'s guard stand
MP 383 Ramus, the k.'s Professor of Logic
MP 830 lie there, the k.'s delight, and Guise's scorn !
MP 841 durst be in arms without the k.'s consent ?
MP 1131 the k.'s alone, it cannot satisfy
MP 1146 by the k.'s consent, is lately strangled to death
MPF 24 lie there, the k.'s delight, and Guise's scorn !
D 556 and dipp'd it in the old k.'s chill-cold blood
*1H6 403 in arms this day, against God's peace and the k.'s
*1H6 923 for treason executed in our late k.'s days ?
*Con 1445 are coming with the k.'s power, and mean to kill
*Con 1493 wilt thou yield thyself unto the k.'s mercy
*Con 1499 go herald, proclaim in all the k.'s towns
*Con 1508 I mean to sit in the k.'s seat at Westminster
*Con 1591 and against the k.'s crown and dignity, thou hast
*2H6 1171 let not her penance exceed the k.'s commission
*2H6 1464 as place Duke Humphrey for the k.'s protector?
*2H6 2214 nay more, the k.'s council are no good workmen
*2H6 2309 and his brother are hard by, with the k.'s forces
*2H6 2375 and you that be the k.'s friends follow me
*TT 1105 we charge you in God's name and the k.'s to *TT 1107 God's name be fulfill'd, your k.'s name be obey'd
*TT 1263 and gracious madam, in our k.'s behalf, I am
*TT 1325 when I have heard your k.'s deserts recounted
*TT 2048 see how my sword weeps for the poor k.'s death
*3H6 1342 is thither gone, to crave the French k.'s sister *3H6 1409 we charge you in God's name and the k.'s, to *3H6 1411 in God's name lead on, your k.'s name be obey'd
*3H6 1693 and gracious madam, in our k.'s behalf
*3H6 1768 when I have heard your k.'s desert recounted
*3H6 2104 'tis the Lord Hastings, the k.'s chiefest friend
*3H6 2916 see how my sword weeps for the poor k.'s death
*E3 742 the k.'s great name will temper thy [Old eds. their] misdeeds
*E3 1234 Edward is son unto our late k.'s sister
*E3 2224 command a health of k.'s blood, and I'll drink to thee
*E3 2338 but, Copland, thou didst scorn the k.'s command
*Sel 1393 the surest ground for ks. to build upon
*Sel 2020 and now that Death, the conqueror of ks.
*Sel 2240 know'st thou not, Solyma, ks. have long hands?
*Loc 43 a doleful scourge unto my neighbour ks.
*Loc 419 and all the power their petty ks. can make
*Loc 1360 ks. need not fear the vulgar sentences
*Loc 1644 slew the two giants, ks. of Aquitain
*Loc 1895 since mighty ks. are subject to mishap
*Loc 1895a (ay, mighty ks. are subject to mishap)
1T 244 methinks I see ks. kneeling at his feet 1T 247 and making thee and me, Techelles, ks.
1T 387 and mighty ks. shall be our senators
1T 409 where ks. shall crouch unto our conquering swords
1T 435 before I crown you ks. [4to k.] in Asia 1T 666 for ks. are clouts that every man shoots at 1T 675 when ks. themselves are present in the field ?
1T 706 as if as many ks. as could encompass thee with 1T 722 now send embassage to thy neighbour ks.
1T 769 what say my other friends ? will you be ks. ?
1T 916 great ks. of Barbary, and my portly bassoes
1T 1109 besides fifteen contributory ks.
1T 1122 but will those ks. accompany your lord ?
1T 1131 even he, that in a trice vanquish'd two ks.
1T 1161 ks. of Fez, Morocco [Old eds. Moroccus], and Argier
1T 1188 well said, my stout contributory ks. !
1T 1194 that we may rule [4to raigne] as ks. of Africa 1T 1196 fight all courageously, and be you ks.
1T 1223 triumphing over him and these his ks.
1T 1259 come, ks. and bassoes, let us glut our swords
1T 1309 where are your stout contributory ks. ?
1T 1358 I'll make the ks. of India, ere I die, offer
1T 1506 whose feet the ks. [4to k.] of Africa have kiss'd?
1T 1519 Bajazeth, that should be horsèd on four mighty ks.
1T 1522 that will maintain it 'gainst a world of ks.
1T 1533 not all the ks. and emperors of the earth 1T 1759 but none save ks. must feed with these 1T 1765 and pledge me, my contributory ks.
1T 1769 these are not your contributory ks.
1T 1772 ks. of Argier, Morocco [Old eds Moroccos], and of Fez 1T 1781 and they are worthy she investeth ks.
1T 2264 emperors and ks. lie breathless at my feet
1T 2275 to whom all ks. of force must yield
1T 2285 but here these ks. that on my fortunes wait
2T 114 Ks. of Natolia and Hungary
2T 194 a hundred ks. and more, upon their knees
2T 300 have under me as many ks. as you
2T 373 Ks. of Morocco [Old eds. Morocus] and of Fez, welcome 2T 426 made Canaria call us ks. and lords
2T 491 to aid the ks of Soria and Jerusalem 2T 536 where our neighbour ks. expect our power and 2T 544 an hundred ks., by scores, will bid him arms
2T 795 thrice worthy ks., of Natolia and the rest 2T 848 to meet and aid my neighbour ks.
2T 977 view me, thy father, that hath conquer'd ks.
2T 1039 two ks., the friends of Tamburlaine

2T 1238 a knot of ks., sitting as if they were a-telling riddles!
2T 1244 ye petty ks. of Turkey, I am come
2T 1331 how now, ye petty ks.? lo, here are bugs
2T 1441 shall we let go these ks. again?
2T 1692 and thus be drawn by [8vo with] these two idle ks.
2T 1762 now crouch, ye ks. of greatest Asia
2T 1778 thorough [4to through] the streets, with troops of conquer'd ks.
2T 1869 drawn with these ks. on heaps of carcasses
2T 1871 Semiramis, courted by ks. and peers of Asia 2T 1890 with his sword hath quail'd all earthly ks.
2T 2035 that vile carcass, drawn by warlike ks.
1F 4 in courts of ks. were state is overturn'd 1F 84 emperors and ks. are but obeyed in their several provinces
1F 114 and tell the secrets of all foreign ks.
1F 967 the view of rarest things, and royal courts of ks.
1F 1120 amongst which ks. is Alexander the Great 2F 4 in courts of ks. where state is overturn'd 2F 82 emperors and ks. are but obeyèd in their several provinces 2F 111 and tell the secrets of all foreign ks.
JMP 20 might first made ks., and laws were then most sure
JM 32 to ransom great ks. from captivity
JM 133 I must confess we come not to be ks.
JM 138 give us a peaceful rule; make Christians ks.
E2 174 with captive ks. at his triumphant car
E2 688 the mightiest ks. have had their minions
F2 692 and not ks. only, but the wisest men
E2 1761 misgovern'd ks. are cause of all this wreck
E2 1810 successful battle gives the God of ks. to E2 1955 Must! it is somewhat hard when ks. must go
E2 2000 the griefs of private men are soon allay'd; but not of ks.
E2 2017 but what are ks., when regiment is gone?
E2 2049 two ks. in England cannot reign at once
E2 2333 where lords keep courts, and ks. are lock'd in prison!
MP 768 if all the proudest ks. in Christendom
D 647 and yet have I had many mightier ks.
D 784 no, madam; but it seems that these are ks.
D 886 and bring forth mighty ks. to Carthage-town
D 1550 how many neighbour ks. were up in arms
Ov 791 to verse let ks. give place [ed. A, Let ks. give place to verse]
Ov 834 ks. shall give place to it, and kingly shows
Ov 1188 what gracèd ks., in me no shame I deem L 92 shall never faith be found in fellow ks.
Dia 11 f[or] were her lovers lords or ks., they *1H6 596 festivals before the ks. and queens of France
*1H6 1438 but ks. and mightiest potentates must die
*1H6 2457 but issued from the progeny of ks.
*Con 6 in presence of the ks. of France and Sicil
*Con 135 as I have read our ks. of England were wont to *Con 192 and seated in the chair where ks. and queens are crown'd
*2H6 6 so in the presence of the ks. of France, and Sicil
*2H6 126 I never read but England's ks. have had large *2H6 298 and in that chair where ks. and queens are crown'd
*2H6 2235 inspired with the spirit of putting down ks. and princes *2H6 2358 fellow ks., I tell you, that Lord Say hath gelded the *2H6 2568 this tongue hath parley'd unto foreign ks. for your behoof
*TT 874 thou setter up and puller down of ks.
*TT 980 and Henry hadst thou liv'd as ks. should do
*TT 1091 what art thou that talks of ks. and queens?
*TT 1094 and men may talk of ks., and why not I?
*TT 1100 a crown that ks. do seldom times enjoy
*TT 1108 and be you ks., command and I'll obey
*3H6 1027 thou setter up, and plucker down of ks.
*3H6 1106 than doth a rich embroider'd canopy to ks.
*3H6 1213 and Henry hadst thou sway'd as ks. should do
*3H6 1367 say, what art thou talk'st of ks. and queens?
*3H6 1370 and men may talk of ks., and why not I?
*3H6 1377 a crown it is, that seldom ks. enjoy
*3H6 1389 my father, and my grandfather were ks.
*3H6 1404 and be you ks., command, and I'll obey
*3H6 1635 and learn awhile to serve, where ks. command *3H6 1794 proud setter up, and puller down of ks.
*E3 896 I go to conquer ks.
*E3 1139 of lightning flash, affrights not more, than ks., when *E3 1905 that France hath no more ks.
*E3 2222 if thou wilt drink the blood of captive ks.
*E3 2296 and ks. approach the nearest unto God, by
*E3 2498 we shall arrive, three ks., two princes, and a queen
*Loc 640 hold our habitacles in ks.' palaces?
2T 1735 such queens as were ks.' concubines
*E3 2229 behold a Caesar's fame in ks.' captivity
*2H6 410 and this the royalty of Albion's k.?
1T 1437 see, Capolin, the fair Arabian k.
1T 1631 and leads with him the great Arabian k.
1T 1991 the Soldan and the Arabian k. together
1T 2173 madam, your father, and the Arabian k., the *E3 1056 welcome, Bohemian k.; and welcome, all
*Loc 1225 the Britain k. returns triumphantly
*Loc 1725 ay, they are milder than the Britain k.
D 1285 command Aeneas ride as Carthaginian k.
JM 680 vice-admiral unto the Catholic k.
2T 146 if any Christian k. encroach upon the confines of E2 1445 if I be England's k., in lakes of gore your E2 2059 that Edward may be still fair England's k.!
E2 2288 within a dungeon England's k. is kept
E2 2309 that wrong their liege and sovereign, England's k.!
*Con 29 unless the frown of mighty England's k.
*Con 688 long live Richard England's royal k.
*Con 1692 long live K. Henry, England's lawful k.
*Con 1748 to entertain fair England's royal k.
*2H6 634 not half so bad as thine to England's k.
*2H6 965 long live our sovereign Richard, England's k.
*2H6 2833 to entertain great England's lawful k.
*TT 660 the next degree, is England's royal k.
*TT 1047 there to be crowned England's lawful k.
*TT 1261 to England's k. in lawful marriage
*TT 1559 then for his mind be Edward England's k.
*3H6 489 what, was it you that would be England's k.?
*3H6 1290 there to be crowned England's royal k.
*3H6 1661 the seat of England's true-anointed lawful k.
*3H6 1690 thy fair sister, to England's k., in lawful marriage
*3H6 2144 then for his mind, be Edward England's k.
E2 1681 to bid the English k. a base
*TT 1328 that Bona shall be wife to the English k.
*TT 1329 to Edward, but not the English k.

*3H6 1776 that Bona shall be wife to the English k.
*3H6 1777 to Edward, but not to the English k.
*E3 2255 the tribute of my wars, fair France's k.
MP 1238 what, shall the French k. die?
*Con 38 between our sovereign and the French k. Charles
*Con 40 it is agreed between the French k., Charles, and *2H6 41 between our sovereign, and the French k. Charles *2H6 43 it is agreed between the French k. Charles 2T 113 or treat of peace with the Natolian k.
1T 403 if the Persian k. should offer present dukedoms
1T 723 and let them know the Persian k. is chang'd 1T 883 to lift our swords against the Persian k.
2T 1963 been subject to the Persian k.
*Loc 1578 and choose the daughter of the Theban k.
1T 1661 as Progne's to th' adulterous Thracian k.
*Sel 1467 so Acomat might die the Turkish k.
*3H6 1682 from worthy Edward, K. of Albion
2T 2020 K. of Amasia, now our mighty host 1T 1763 the Soldan of Egypt, the K. of Arabia, and 1T 1766 I crown you here, Theridamas, K. of Argier
2T 357 welcome, Theridamas, K. of Argier
2T 1311 I here invest thee K. of Ariadan
2T 95 the K. of Boheme, and the Austric Duke
*E3 1588 the K. of Boheme, father, whom I slew
*E3 1044 the K. of Bohemia [Query, Boheme], and of Sicily
*Loc 1692 peace to the K. of Brittany, my love!
D 1056 the K. of Carthage, not Anchises' son
E2 (Title) death of Edward the Second, K. of England
E2 663 now is the K. of England rich and strong
E2 996 « what weeneth the K. of England »
E2 1636 the K. of England, nor the court of France
E2 2408 K. of England and Lord of Ireland!
*1H6 916 third son to the third Edward K. of England
*1H6 1777 servant in arms to Harry K. of England
*Con 42 ambassador for Henry K. of England
*Con 55 sent over of the K. of England's own proper cost and charges
*2H6 24 great K. of England, and my gracious lord
*2H6 45 ambassador for Henry K. of England
*2H6 58 and she sent over of the K. of England's own proper cost
*TT 661 the K. of England shalt thou be proclaim'd
*TT 1253 from worthy Edward K. of England
*TT 1668 Edward the Fourth by the grace of God, K. of England
*3H6 797 for K. of England shalt thou be proclaim'd *3H6 1386 where did you dwell when I was K. of England?
*3H6 2408 Edward the Fourth, by the grace of God, K. of England and *3H6 2478 and once again proclaim us K. of England
*E3 225 dislodge, dislodge, it is the K. of England
*E3 722 the mighty K. of England dotes on thee 1T 1766 Techelles, K. of Fez; and 2T 375 my neighbour K. of Fez
2T 395 thanks, K. of Fez
E2 483 look, where the sister of the K. of France sits
E2 812 the K. of France sets foot in Normandy
E2 1371 that Lord Valois our brother, K. of France
E2 1380 you shall go parley with the K. of France
E2 1676 sith th' ungentle K. of France refuseth to E2 1727 dealt with the K. of France his lords
MP 257 I vow and swear, as I am K. of France
MP 468 my brother Charles, our K. of France
MP 846 lest thou perceive the K. of France be mov'd
MP 871 wear our crown, and be thou K. of France!
MP 909 here is no staying for the K. of France
MP 916 to shew your love unto the K. of France
MP 1046 I ne'er was K. of France until this hour
MP 1063 ne'er was there K. of France so yok'd as I
MP 1166 I vow, as I am lawful K. of France
MP 1171 esteemèd faithful to the K. of France
MP 1250 O, no, Navarre! thou must be K. of France
MP 1251 long may you live, and still be K. of France!
*1H6 1638 and join'd with Charles, the rightful K. of France
*TT 1249 great K. of France, that thus regards our wrongs
*TT 2117 Reignier her father to the K. of France, hath pawn'd *3H6 1633 no, mighty K. of France: now Margaret must *3H6 2984 Reignier her father, to the K. of France, hath pawn'd
*E3 1308 hast thou not seen the usurping K. of France?
*E3 1319 Edward, know, that John, the true K. of France
*E3 1904 there is but one France, one K. of France
*E3 1910 the K. of France, my sovereign lord and master
*E3 1944 son to the most mighty Christian K. of France
*E3 2298 as thou intendest to be K. of France
D 680 am I not K. of rich Gaetulia?
*Loc 69 Goffarius, the arm-strong K. of Gauls
2T 9 Sigismund, the K. of Hungary
2T 51 Sigismund, the K. of Hungary
2F 1035 and with Lord Raymond, K. of Hungary
D 1060 and be thou K. of Libya by my gift
*Epg 111 for what said Philip K. of Macedon?
1T 1767 and Usumcasane, K. of Morocco [Old eds. Moroccus]
2T 382 thanks, K. of Morocco [Old eds. Morocus]
*1H6 2271 the K. of Naples, whosoe'er thou art
*1H6 2313 for though her father be the K. of Naples
*1H6 2497 but Reignier K. of Naples that prevail'd
*1H6 2635 a k., the K. of Naples, and Jerusalem
*Con 43 Margaret, daughter to Reignier K. of Naples
*2H6 46 Reignier K. of Naples, Sicilia, and Jerusalem
*TT 440 thy father bears the type of K. of Naples
*3H6 542 thy father bears the type of K. of Naples
2T 13 K. of Natolia, let us treat of peace
MP 524 vow, with the rebellious K. of Navarre
1T 431 than doth the K. of Persia in his crown
1T 646 that it may reach the K. of Persia's crown 1T 681 are you the witty K. of Persia?
1T 904 who think you now is K. of Persia?
1T 915 and all pronounc'd me K. of Persia
1T 960 they say he is the K. of Persia
1T 1041 you see, though first the K. of Persia
1T 1227 and may my love, the K. of Persia, return
2T 803 this proud usurping K. of Persia
2T 1184 Tamburlaine, this K. of Persia, (in numbers 2T 1339 as the foolish K. of Persia did
L 337 and jaded K. [Old ed. and Jaded, k.] of Pontus poison'd slain
*1H6 1736 because (forsooth) the K. of Scots is crown'd
*E3 2319 Copland, my lord, and David K. of Scots
MP 580 Guise, join'd with the K. of Spain
MP 709 I mean the Guise, the Pope, and K. of Spain
MP 855 the Pope and K. of Spain are thy good friends
MP 864 the Catholic Philip, K. of Spain
MP 1052 did he not cause the K. of Spain's huge fleet
*Epg 293 the K. of Spain would put us all in fear
*Sel 169 to signify his alliance with the K. of Tartary
D 796 this was the wealthy k. of Thessaly
*Loc 912 not aged Priam, K. of stately Troy
2T 1677 that K. Aegeus fed with human flesh

*Loc (Title) Locrine, the eldest son of K. Brutus
*Loc 386 the only daughter of K. Cepheus
E2 (Title) and mighty favourite of K. Edward the Second
E2 1171 and though divorcèd from K. Edward's eyes
E2 1187 K. Edward is not here to buckler thee
E2 1202 my lords, K. Edward greets you all by me
E2 1220 yet grant K. Edward this
E2 1302 come, let thy shadow parley with K. Edward E2 1317 were I K. Edward, England's sovereign
E2 1345 sworn to defend K. Edward's royal right
E2 1461 long live K. Edward, England's lawful lord!
E2 1530 Saint George for England, and K. Edward's right!
E2 1574 begets the quiet of K. Edward's land
E2 1593 proclaim K. Edward's wars and victories
E2 1683 I think K. Edward will outrun us all
E2 1734 « to give K. Edward battle in England »
E2 2407 long live K. Edward, by the grace of God
*1H6 1032 heir of Edward K., the third of that descent
*1H6 1042 Lionel Duke of Clarence, third son to K. Edward the Third
*TT 665 K. Edward, valiant Richard, Montague
*TT 1079 this is the k., K. Edward hath depos'd
*TT 1104 you are our quondam k., K. Edward hath depos'd
*TT 1175 say that K. Edward took thee for his queen
*TT 1601 news, of that success K. Edward had of late?
*TT 1604 K. Edward's noble mind his honours doth display
*TT 1610 ay, there's my grief, K. Edward is surpris'd
*TT 1620 K. Edward's seed true heir to England's crown
*TT 1647 to help K. Edward in this time of storms
*TT 1670 and whosoever gainsays K. Edward's right
*3H6 801 K. Edward, valiant Richard Montague
*3H6 1364 to strengthen and support K. Edward's place
*3H6 1381 you are the k., K. Edward hath depos'd
*3H6 1405 we are true subjects to the k., K. Edward *3H6 1408 if he were seated as K. Edward is *3H6 1517 say, that K. Edward take thee for his queen?
*3H6 2163 what late misfortune is befall'n K. Edward?
*3H6 2185 I blast or drown K. Edward's fruit
*3H6 2190 guess thou the rest, K. Edward's friends must down
*3H6 2378 to help K. Edward in his time of storm
*3H6 2410 and whosoe'er gainsays K. Edward's right
*E3 1033 what friends K. Edward hath retain'd in Netherland
*E3 1073 the proud Armado of K. Edward's ships
*E3 1524 rescue, K. Edward! rescue for thy son!
*E3 1616 thou know'st K. Edward for no wantonness
*E3 2111 to Calais, where my liege, K. Edward, is
*E3 2263 mercy, K. Edward! mercy, gracious lord!
*E3 2349 kneel therefore down; now rise, K. Edward's knight
*Epg 106 when great K. Henry Boulogne conquerèd
*1H6 6 K. Henry the Fifth, too famous to live long
*1H6 105 laments, wherewith you now bedew K. Henry's hearse
*1H6 1284 when Gloster says the word, K. Henry goes
*1H6 1580 God save K. Henry of that name the sixth
*1H6 1725 K. Henry's peers, and chief nobility, destroy'd
*1H6 2396 the Christian prince K. Henry were he here
*1H6 2543 that in regard K. Henry gives consent
*1H6 2686 crown'd K. Henry's faithful and anointed queen
*Con 77 hath given away for our K. Henry's queen
*Con 136 but our K. Henry gives away his own
*Con 169 what seest thou Duke Humphrey K. Henry's crown?
*Con 292 that seeks to him more than to K. Henry
*Con 307 I thought K. Henry had been like to thee
*Con 739 where should it be, but in K. Henry's hand?
*Con 936 and stay their moods for good K. Henry's sake
*Con 962 O! thus K. Henry casts away his crutch
*Con 980 if our K. Henry had shook hands with death
*Con 1330 K. Henry's blood, the honourable blood of Lancaster
*Con 1789 long live K. [Q1 Q2 omit] Henry in triumphant peace
*2H6 128 and our K. Henry gives away his own
*2H6 267 what seest thou there? K. Henry's diadem
*2H6 411 what, shall K. Henry be a pupil still *2H6 418 I thought K. Henry had resembled thee
*2H6 868 demanding of K. Henry's life and death
*2H6 1018 God and K. Henry govern England's realm
*2H6 1402 ah, thus K. Henry throws away his crutch
*2H6 1407 for good K. Henry, thy decay I fear
*2H6 2102 obscure and lowsy swain, K. Henry's blood
*TT 18 thus do I hope to shape K. Henry's head
*TT 25 for this is thine and not K. Henry's heirs
*TT 116 peace thou and give K. Henry leave to speak
*TT 148 think not K. Henry shall be thus depos'd?
*TT 154 K. Henry be thy title right or wrong
*TT 191 long live K. Henry
*TT 245 and dispossess K. Henry from the crown
*TT 416 this is he that took K. Henry's chair
*TT 421 till our K. Henry had shook hands with death
*TT 585 touching K. Henry's heirs and your succession
*TT 968 that whilst it lasted gave K. Henry light
*TT 1246 and place K. Henry in his former rule
*TT 1359 and thrust K. Henry from his native home
*TT 1366 if now thou wilt become K. Henry's friend
*TT 1537 then cry K. Henry with resolved minds
*TT 1570 and free K. Henry from imprisonment
*TT 1636 open the gates, we are K. Henry's friends
*TT 1687 Clarence agrees to what K. Henry likes
*TT 2075 Henry and his son are gone, [Q3 K. Henry, and the prince his son are gone]
*3H6 20 thus do I hope to shake K. Henry's head
*3H6 27 for this is thine, and not K. Henry's heirs
*3H6 126 peace thou, and give K. Henry leave to speak
*3H6 166 K. Henry, be thy title right or wrong
*3H6 209 long live K. Henry! Plantaganet embrace him
*3H6 293 mine boy? not till K. Henry be dead
*3H6 516 ay, this he that took K. Henry's chair
*3H6 521 till our K. Henry had shook hands with death
*3H6 722 touching K. Henry's oath, and your succession
*3H6 1202 which whiles it lasted, gave K. Henry light
*3H6 1707 yet here Prince Edward stands, K. Henry's son
*3H6 2159 to free K. Henry from imprisonment
*3H6 2363 open the gates, we are K. Henry's friends
*3H6 2942 K. Henry, and the prince his son are gone
*E3 (Register) their wars with K. John of France. Vld.
*E3 56 the most renowned prince, K. John of France
*E3 1049 K. John of France, as league, and neighbourhood requires
*E3 1438 Vive le Roy! God save K. John of France!
*E3 2437 and, lowly at his stirrup, comes a-foot K. John
*TT 1269 K. Lewis and Lady Bona hear me speak
*TT 1350 K. Lewis, I here protest in sight of heaven
*TT 1368 that if K. Lewis vouchsafe to furnish us with *3H6 1699 K. Lewis, and Lady Bona, hear me speak
*3H6 1796 make K. Lewis behold thy sly conveyance
*3H6 1821 K. Lewis, I here protest in sight of heaven
*3H6 1844 that if K. Lewis vouchsafe to furnish us with

*3H6 1940 that K. Lewis becomes your enemy
*3H6 2003 what answer makes K. Lewis unto our letters?
*Loc 564 K. Nactaball! I cry God mercy
MP 428 to get those pedants from the K. Navarre
MP 753 to march 'gainst the rebellious K. Navarre
2T 498 league we lately made with K. Orcanes
D 325 Achates, see, K. Priam wags his hand!
*2H6 109 the poor K. Reignier, whose large style agrees not with *1H6 992 and even since then, hath K. Richard been obscur'd 2T 20 K. Sigismund hath brought from 1T 1307 now, k. of bassoes, who is conqueror?
1T 1866 most happy k. and emperor of the earth
1T 484 show him to be made his fortune's master and the k. of men
*HLC 1904 he Hymen crowns k. of his thoughts
*HLC 1615 the day's k., god of undaunted verse
*Loc 1555 accursed Jove, k. of the cursed gods
D 1441 the k. of gods sent me from highest heaven
HLM 438 wherewith the k. of gods and men is feasted
*2H6 1757 that dread K. that took our state upon him
*Loc 478 now, by great Jove, the supreme K. of Heaven
*Loc 1262 for, mighty Jove, the supreme K. of Heaven
E2 1304 the K. of Heaven, perhaps, no other k.
*E3 595 commit high treason, 'gainst the K. of Heaven 2T 671 that sing and play before the K. of Ks.
*1H6 27 he was a k., bless'd of the K. of Ks.
2T 396 loving friends and fellow-ks.
2T 1695 while these their fellow-ks. may be
*E3 1729 and with him he shall bring his prisoner-k.

Kingdom.

*Sel 798 lest that our k. be too momentary
*Sel 838 and thinks his k. free from alterations
*Sel 1027 and Acomat seeks the k. in my life
*Sel 1060 and keep the k. to you while you live
*Sel 1755 was he that pull'd him from his k. so
*Sel 366 in Death's void k. reigns eternal Night
*Loc 388 and that his k. should for aye endure
*Loc 1329 O k., object to all miseries!
1T 784 assay to get the Persian k. to myself
2T 703 dissolve, and make your k. in the sky
2T 865 'tis naught for your majesty to give a k.
2T 1664 the treasure of my [8vo thy] k. may afford 1F 495 enlarge his k.
1F 726 ay, that is not against our k.
1F 1498 the throne of the blessed, the k. of joy
2F 443 what good will my soul do thy lord? — Enlarge his k.
2F 648 Ay, [Not in 1624, 1631] that is not against our k.
2F 1981 the throne of the blessed, the k. of joy
*FB 77 but hope that Christ his k. you may gain JM 1390 break from the fiery k., and
JM 1842 give me a ream of paper: we'll have a k. of gold for 't
MP 1222 and [th'] antichristian k. falls
E2 2 « and share the k. with thy dearest friend »
E2 2043 to lose my crown and k. without cause
D 210 it is the Punic k., rich and strong
D 1054 whose crown and k. rests at my command
D 1287 deserves as large a k. as is Libya
L 86 dire league of partners in a k. last not
L 351 neither spoil nor k. seek we by these arms
L 452 that souls pass not to Erebus or Pluto's bloodless k.
*Con 680 then am I lawful heir unto the k.
*2H6 948 by her I claim the k.
*TT 73 'twas mine [Q3 my] inheritance as the k. is *TT 559 for chair, and dukedom, throne and k. say
*TT 1553 alas how should you govern any k.
*TT 1754 'twas Warwick gave the k. to thy brother
*3H6 182 enjoy the k. after my decease
*3H6 299 but for a k. any oath may be broken
*3H6 697 for chair and dukedom, throne and k. say
*3H6 1580 well, say there is no k. then for Richard *3H6 2036 that though I want a k., yet in marriage I may *3H6 2130 alas, how should you govern any k.
*3H6 2523 'twas I that gave the k. to thy brother
*E3 702 but not his k. can buy out the sin
*E3 1786 or else a k. should not draw me hence
*E3 2199 should in the bosom of your k. thus MP 482 the wealth and safety of your k.'s right
Ov 1376 to enter wars, just Latinus, in thy k.'s centre
L 4 armies allied, the k.'s league uprooted
*1H6 2118 your k.'s terror, and black Nemesis?
*TT 1289 to make prescription for a k.'s worth
*3H6 1729 a silly time to make prescription for a k.'s worth
*E3 1135 to buckle for a k.'s sovereignty
*Sel 110 with crowns and ks. shall their hungers fill
*Sel 245 and seek with sword whole ks. to displace
*Sel 2107 with two so worthy ks. as they are
*Sel 2569 dividing ks. into equal shares
1TP 6 and scourging ks. with his conquering sword
1T 219 till men and ks. help to strengthen it
1T 381 of conquer'd ks. and of cities sack'd
1T 407 and ks. at the least we all expect 1T 2303 and all the ks. and dominions that 1T 2318 that purchas'd ks. by your martial deeds
2T 264 all the wealthy ks. I subdu'd
2T 780 conquer'd ks. with my sword
2T 792 ks. late contributory to his mighty father
2T 1723 rifle the ks. I shall leave unsack'd
2T 2045 ks. made waste, brave cities sack'd and burnt 2T 2068 of twenty several ks. at the least 1F 901 now, by the ks. of infernal rule, of Styx 1F 1115 got such riches, subdu'd so many ks.
2F 829 that measures coasts and ks. of the earth 2F 880 now, by the ks. of infernal rule 2F 907 there did we view the ks. of the world
E2 365 make several ks. of this monarchy
Ov 19 great are thy ks., over-strong, and large
L 527 and comets that presage the fall of ks.
*1H6 2113 the Turk that two-and-fifty ks. hath, writes not so
*2H6 152 and all the wealthy ks. of the West

Kingly.

*Sel 32 O who can take delight in k. throne?
*Sel 200 but love of rule, and k. sovereignty
*Sel 444 Selim, thy mind in k. thoughts attire
*Sel 982 and vexèd with the cares of k. rule
*Sel 1391 he knows not how to sway the k. mace
*Sel 2497 and rends them strongly in his k. paws
*Loc 460 k. resolved, thou glory of thy sire 1T 55 is it not a k. resolution?
1T 499 we have set the crown upon your k. head
1T 761 cannot compare with k. joys in earth
1T 1269 must plead for mercy at his k. feet
1T 1311 each man a crown! why, k. fought i' faith
1T 1502 keeping his k. body in a cage
1T 1930 and fear to see thy k. father's harm
2T 361 all the power I have, in all affection at thy k. feet
2T 448 having sack'd Borno, the k. seat

2T 1693 thy youth forbids such ease, my k. boy
JM 220 'tis more k. to obtain by peace than to enforce
JM 2364 a k. kind of trade, to purchase towns
E2 165 is Edward pleas'd with k. regiment
E2 310 can k. lions fawn on creeping ants?
E2 614 and with my k. sceptre struck me dead
E2 820 on whose top-branches k. eagles perch
E2 2604 his k. body was too soon interr'd
MP 484 for Poland's crown and k. diadem
MP 767 'tis more than k. or emperious
MP 1173 thanks to my k. brother of Navarre
D 116 besiege[s] th' offspring of our k. loins
D 212 the k. seat of Southern Libya
D 627 or else in Carthage make his k. throne
HLM 664 where k. Neptune and his train abode
Ov 791 to verse let kings give place, and k. shows
Ov 834 kings shall give place to it, and k. shows
L 210 pauseth till fell wrath and k. rage increase
*1H6 2387 Reignier of France, I give thee k. thanks *2H6 2858 more like a king, more k. in my thoughts
*TT 121 think'st thou that I will leave my k. seat
*TT 732 my gracious father by your k. leave
*TT 1820 were likened oft to k. sepulchres
*TT 2090 that in their chains fetter'd the k. lion
*3H6 130 think'st thou, that I will leave my k. throne
*3H6 875 my gracious father, by your k. leave, I'll *3H6 2625 were liken'd oft to k. sepulchres
*3H6 2957 that in their chains fetter'd the k. lion
*TT 178 and die in bands for this un*k.* [Q3 unkindly] deed

Kinsman.

*Sel 1179 in that thou wrong'st me that thou art my k.
Ov 89 behold thy k. [Old eds. ks.] Caesar's prosperous bands
*1H6 2640 because he is near k. unto Charles *2H6 1278 our k. Gloster is as innocent, from 1T 1170 by Mahomet my k.'s sepulchre
D 119 that durst thus proudly wrong our k.'s peace

Kinsmen.

*Sel 1178 being your friends and k. as we are 2T 1978 slew all his priests, his k., and 1F 14 whereas his k. chiefly brought him up
2F 14 whereas his k. chiefly brought him up
*1H6 1734 both are my k., and I love them both
*TT 92 of thee and of thy sons, thy k. and thy friends
*3H6 99 thy k., and thy friends, I'll have more lives
D 1297 our k.'s lives [Old ed. loves] and thousand guiltless souls

Kirriah.

JM 128 there's K. Jairim, the great Jew of Greece

Kirtle.

HLM 21 her k. blue, whereon was many a stain
PS 11 a k. embroider'd all with leaves of myrtle
*Con 1583 item, a gown, a k., a petticoat, and a smock

Kiss.

1F 1445 sweet Helen, make me immortal with a k.
1F 1455 and then return to Helen for a k.
2F 1904 sweet Helen, make me immortal with a k.
2F 1914 and then return to Helen for a k.
JM 668 a k. from him that sends it from his soul
JM 1857 that k. again! — She runs division of my lips
E2 630 O, how a k. revives poor Isabel!
D 1205 and every speech be ended with a k.
D 1244 this k. shall be fair Dido's punishment
D 1330 and he'll make me immortal with a k.
HLM 80 that leapt into the water for a k. of his own shadow
HLM 683 steal a k., and then run out and dance
HLM 793 and every k. to her was as a charm
*HLC 940 should be her [V. R. the] altar to prefer a k.
*1H6 1006 that I may kindly give one fainting k.
*Con 20 kindness yet we can bestow, is this kind k.
*Con 1231 Oh let this k. be printed in thy hand
*2H6 18 I can express no kinder sign of love than this kind k.
*2H6 1949 Oh, could this k. be printed in thy hand
*3H6 2978 witness the loving k. I give the fruit
*Sel 390 desires to speak with him and k. his hands
*Sel 463 and says he longs to k. my aged hands
*Sel 885 to k. his hands, and speak his mind to him 1T 98 you may do well to k. it, then
1T 1886 (whose sceptre angels k. and Furies dread)
2T 713 yet let me k. my lord before I die
2T 1419 who shall k. the fairest of the Turks' concubines
1F 772 or, like a fan of feathers, I k. her lips
2F 696 then, like a fan of feathers, I k. her lips [So Dyce. — Not in 1616, 1624, 1631]
2F 1410 I saw him kneel, and k. the Emperor's hand
JM 752 I learn'd in Florence how to k. my hand
JM 977 daughter, a word more : k. him, speak him fair
E2 140 welcome! k. not my hand : embrace me
E2 397 enforce the papal towers to k. the lowly ground
E2 1804 Mortimer and Isabel do k., while they conspire
MP 304 then pray unto our Lady; k. this cross
MP 880 I k. your grace's hand, and take my leave
MP 1226 and enforce the papal towers to k. the lowly earth
D 308 I cannot choose but fall upon my knees, and k. his hand
D 347 he names [Old ed. meanes] Aeneas; let us k. his feet
D 666 and give thee leave to k. her too
D 1529 wilt thou k. Dido? O, thy lips have sworn to stay
HLM 315 to expiate which sin, k. and shake hands
HLM 476 that he and Poverty should always k.
HLM 579 we often k. it, often look thereon
*HLC 1262 dear place, I k. thee, and do welcome thee
*HLC 1514 both which did k. her, though their goddess frown
*HLC 2240 through such tempests swim to k. the torch
*HLC 2243 men k. but fire that only shows pursue
*HLC 2331 one in another, so, to k. his skin
Ov 170 entreat thy husband drink; but do not k.
Ov 182 then will he k. thee, and not only k.
Ov 215 being tir'd [B. C. tride, try'd], she bade me k.
Ov 696 thou art as fair as she; then k. and play
Ov 1138 and loving doves k. eagerly together
Ov 1342 I'll clip and k. thee with all contentation
Ov 2087 to k., — I kiss'd [Old eds. kisse]; to lie with her, — she let me
L 417 pulls them aloft, and makes the surge k. heaven
*1H6 2267 I k. these fingers for eternal peace
*Con 1648 and at every lane's ends, let them k. together
*2H6 1960 embrace, and k., and take ten thousand leaves *2H6 2621 let them k. one another : for they lov'd well when *2H6 2628 and at every corner have them k.
*TT 513 see, see, they join, embrace, and seem to k.
*TT 1265 humbly to k. your hand and with my tongue, to *TT 2094 come hither Bess, and let me k. my boy
*TT 2106 and k. your princely nephew brothers [Q3 omits] both
*TT 2111 witness the loving k. I give the child
*3H6 631 see, see, they join, embrace, and seem to k.

*3H6 1695 with your leave and favour, to k. your hand
*3H6 2451 in sign of truth, I k. your highness' hand
*3H6 2961 come hither Bess, and let me k. my boy
*3H6 2973 and k. your princely nephew brothers both
*E3 777 taint the loathed carrion that it seems to k.
*E3 1865 winds, that for their gaudiness struggles to k. them

Kissed.
1T 1506 whose feet the kings [4to king] of Africa have k.
JM 989 for now by this has he k. Abigail
D 454 k. him, embrac'd him, and unloos'd his bands
HLM 501 he k. her, and breath'd life into her lips
HLM 590 embrac'd her suddenly, took leave, and k.
HLM 592 and k. again, as lovers use [V. R. usde] to do
HLM 671 which mounted up, intending to have k. him
HLM 792 enclos'd her in his arms, and k. her too
*HLC 936 when he lay down, he kindly k. his bed
*HLC 1653 pull'd him back ; and, as she pull'd, she k.
*HLC 1844 lips by reflection k., and hands hands shook
*HLC 2367 she k. and spake it fair
Ov 1070 she laugh'd, and k. so sweetly as might make Ov 2048 and eagerly she k. me with her tongue
Ov 2087 to kiss, — I k. [Old eds. kisse] ; to lie with her, — she let me
Ov 2094 well I believe, she k. not as she should
*Con 1342 those lips of thine that so oft have k. the queen
*Con 1353 hast not thou k. thy [Q2 thine] hand and held my stirrup ?
*2H6 2105 hast thou not k. thy hand, and held my stirrup ?
*2H6 2127 thy lips that k. the queen, shall sweep the ground
*TT 2112 to say the truth so Judas k. his master
*3H6 2979 to say the truth so Judas k. his master

Kisses.
D 723 as many k. as the sea hath sands
HLM 410 and then he woo'd with k.
*HLC 493 where sweet k. are th' only crowns of HLM 527 (sweet are the k., the embracements sweet
*HLC 2072 Come, come, dear Night ! Love's mart of k.
Ov 158 if thou giv'st k., I shall all disclose
Ov 1042 I saw you then unlawful k. join
Ov 1069 lest with worse k. she should me endue
Ov 1078 no joinèd k. spent bewail I only
Ov 1584 and thousand k. gives, that work my harms
Ov 1633 great gods, what k. and how many ga' [Old eds. gave] she !
Ov 2244 Nemesis and thy first wench join their k. with thine
*2H6 1745 chafe his paly lips, with twenty thousand k.

Kissing.
2T 714 and let me die with k. of my lord
*HLC 2180 k. his skipping hand with charmed skips Ov 333 meeter it were her lips were blue with k.

Kitchen.
2F 1206 for I'll into the k. presently

Kitchen-maid.
1F 1016 if thou hast any mind to Nan Spit, our k.

Kite.
*Con 1131 although the k. soar with unbloody beak ?
*Con 1133 are you the k. Beaufort, where's your [Q3 his] talons ?
*2H6 1463 eagle were set, to guard the chicken from a hungry k.
*2H6 1796 although the k. soar with unbloodied beak ?
*2H6 1799 is Beaufort term'd a k. ? where are his talons ?
*2H6 3058 and made a prey for carrion ks. and crows

Knave.
*Sel 1889 « sir k., she cries, where have you bin ? »
*Loc 1443 « thou drunken k., where hast thou been so long ? » 2F 701 thou art a proud k., indeed
JM 766 that is, more k. than fool
JM 1208 the bravest, gravest, secret, subtle, bottle-nosed k.
JM 1210 say, k., why rail'st upon my father thus ?
JM 1928 to have a shag-rag k. to come [force from me] three *Epg 175 the false k. Flaccus once a bribe I gave *Epg 176 the more fool I [MS. I was a foole] to bribe so false a k.
*Con 284 how now sir k.
*Con 568 then Sander sit there, the lyingest k. in Christendom
*Con 771 to prove myself an honest man, and Peter a k.
*2H6 360 they say, a crafty k. does need no broker
*2H6 388 how now, Sir K. ?
*2H6 793 a subtle k., but yet it shall not serve
*2H6 819 sit there, the lyingest k. in Christendom
*2H6 850 follow the k., and take this drab away
*2H6 1075 to prove him a k., and myself an honest man
*2H6 1080 despatch, this k.'s tongue begins to double
*Loc 1445 and so she began to play ks. trumps 1T 525 sought for by such scald ks. as love him not ?
*2H6 363 to call them both a pair of crafty ks.

Knavely.
JM 1945 k. spoke, and like a knight-at-arms

Knaveries.
*2H6 365 Hume's k. will be the duchess' wrack

Knavery.
2F 767 and now we'll have such k. as't passes 2F 1177 I thought 'twas your k. to take it away

Knaves-acre.
1F 383 how, how, k. ! ay, I thought that was

Knee.
*Sel 2572 and scorn to stoop or bend my lordly k.
E2 19 my k. shall bow to none but to the king
D 28 sit on my k. and call for thy content
HLM 38 and branch'd with blushing coral to the k.
*HLC 1141 her left hand lean'd on her heart-bowing k.
*HLC 1143 her k. stay'd that, and that her falling face
*HLC 1152 how fast her clear tears melted on her k.
*HLC 1652 she his horses rein'd, set on his golden k.
Ov 29 and bent his sinewy bow upon his k.
Ov 1772 for shame, press not her back with thy hard k.
*1H6 1269 stoop then, and set your k. against my foot
*1H6 1960 here on my k. I beg mortality
*1H6 2045 when he perceiv'd me shrink, and on my k.
*1H6 2197 I'll either make thee stoop, and bend thy k., or *Con 1361 this neck stoop to the axe's edge, before this k. do bow to any *2H6 10 and humbly now upon my bended k.
*2H6 1220 immediately he was upon his k.
*2H6 1225 he passeth by with stiff unbowed k.
*2H6 1823 on thy k. make thee beg pardon for thy passed speech
*2H6 2939 if they can brook I bow a k. to man *2H6 2991 why Warwick, hath thy k. forgot to bow ?
*2H6 3003 bend thy k. to me, that bows unto the grave with mickle age
*TT 755 I am his king, and he should bend his k.
*TT 1074 no bending k. will call thee Caesar now
*3H6 899 I am his k., and he should bow his k.
*3H6 1019 here on my k., I vow to God above

*3H6 1023 Oh Warwick, I do bend my k. with thine
*3H6 1025 and ere my k. rise from the earth's cold face
*3H6 1330 no bending k. will call thee Caesar now
*3H6 2511 speak gentle words, and humbly bend thy k.
*E3 2342 but to his person I will bend my k.
*Sel 1038 we all desire you on our ks. to keep the crown
*Sel 1602 upon his ks. begs pardon of your grace
1T 79 and, from their ks. even to their hoofs below
1T 1842 with ks. and hearts submissive we entreat
2T 96 basely on their ks., in all your names, desir'd a truce 2T 195 a hundred kings and more, upon their ks.
2T 1159 humbly craves upon her ks. to stay
2T 2059 pull proud Tamburlaine upon his ks. to sue for mercy
JM 366 and here upon my ks., striking the earth
JM 953 and therewithal their ks. would rankle so, that JM 1560 and on my ks. creep to Jerusalem
E2 95 and hew these ks. that now are grown so stiff
E2 636 and on their ks. salute your majesty
E2 2452 being in a vault up to the ks. in water
D 307 I cannot choose but fall upon my ks.
L 612 the quick priest pull'd him on his ks., and slew him
*1H6 1520 and made me almost yield upon my ks.
*Con 10 and now most humbly on my bended ks.
*Con 364 he did vow upon his ks. that he would be even with me
*Con 1158 on thy ks. make thee crave pardon for thy *Con 1790 lo here my lord upon my bended ks.
*2H6 566 did vow upon his ks. he would be even with me
*2H6 2177 rather let my head stoop to the block, than these ks. bow to any *2H6 2803 I beseech Jove on my ks. thou mayst be turned to *TT 872 Lord Warwick, I do bend my ks. with thine
*E3 277 and for my dull ks. bow my feeling heart
*E3 1750 and prostrate yield themselves, upon their ks.

Kneel.

*Sel 1891 « then do I crouch, then do I k. » 1T 679 thou break'st the law of arms, unless thou k.
2T 462 until Natolia k. before your feet
2T 1288 first thou shalt [4to shalt thou] k. to us
2T 1895 and make [8vo wake] black Jove to crouch and k. to me
1F 1071 great potentates do k. with awful fear 2F 1050 then k. down presently
2F 1410 I saw him k., and kiss the Emperor's hand
JM 2137 and k. for mercy to your conquering foe
E2 142 why shouldst thou k.? know'st thou not Ov 836 k. hinds to trash : me let bright Phoebus swell
*1H6 2418 that when thou com'st to k. at Henry's feet
*1H6 2444 k. down and take my blessing, good my girl
*Con 57 they please us well, Lord Marquis k. down
*Con 686 then noble father, k. we both together, and *Con 1449 k. down John Mortimer, rise up Sir John Mortimer
*Con 1453 then k. down Dick Butcher, rise up Sir Dick Butcher
*Con 1802 k. down my friend, and tell me what's thy name?
*Con 1838 if thou didst mistake, we pardon thee, k. again
*2H6 61 They please us well. Lord Marquess k. down
*2H6 961 then father Salisbury, k. we together
*2H6 2907 Iden, k. down, rise up a knight
*2H6 2937 obey audacious traitor, k. for grace
*2H6 2938 wouldst have me k.?
*2H6 2956 we are thy sovereign Clifford, k. again
*TT 157 where I do k. to him that slew my father
*TT 729 dub him knight. K. down Edward
*TT 751 and k. for mercy at thy sovereign's feet?
*TT 1059 but first before we go, George k. down
*TT 1931 resign thy chair, and where I stand k. thou
*3H6 77 and k. for grace and mercy at my feet
*3H6 169 where I shall k. to him that slew my father
*3H6 872 Edward, k. down
*3H6 893 now perjur'd Henry, wilt thou k. for grace?
*3H6 2538 take the time, k. down, k. down
*3H6 2781 resign thy chair, and where I stand, k. thou
*E3 81 and where he sets his foot, he ought to k.
*E3 276 in duty lower than the ground I k.
*E3 1914 and with thyself and those k. at his feet
*E3 2349 k. therefore down ; now rise, King Edward's knight

Kneeled.

JM 951 once at Jerusalem, where the pilgrims k.
HLM 183 he k. ; but unto her devoutly pray'd
*HLC 914 (who on the shore k., praying to the sea
*HLC 2368 k. to it, gave it drink out of her eyes
*2H6 299 where Henry and Dame Margaret k. to me *2H6 2109 fed from my trencher, k. down at the board

Kneeling.

1T 244 methinks I see kings k. at his feet
D 494 k. for mercy to a Greekish lad
*E3 840 and I to her, am as a k. vassal, that

Knell.

JM 1495 there is no music to a Christian's k.
E2 1096 and ring aloud the k. of Gaveston !
E2 1961 let Pluto's bells ring out my fatal k.
*E3 2218 is as a mourning k. to one dead-sick
*E3 2401 anon, the death-procuring k. begins
*E3 2427 his k., the groaning cries of dying men
JM 928 digging graves and ringing dead men's ks.

Knew.

*Sel 318 the earth k. not the share, nor sea the bark
*Sel 821 if the bashaws k. I sought their grace, it
1T 179 we k. [4to knowe], my lord, before we brought the crown 1T 660 they k. not, ah, they k. not, simple men, how 1T 724 for one that k. not what a king should do
1T 1859 they k. [4to know] my custom
2T 1678 made so wanton that they k. their strengths
2T 1751 lost long before ye k. what honour meant 2F 1465 k. you not, traitors, I was limited for 2F 1632 I k. him to be such a horse as would run over hedge
JM 321 as if we k. not thy profession?
JM 1462 you k. Mathias and Don Lodowick?
JM 1616 as never Jew nor Christian k. the like
JM 1633 yet, if he k. our meanings, could he scape?
JM 1732 I never k. a man take his death so patiently
JM 1954 you k. Mathias and the governor's son
MP 408 I k. the Organon to be confus'd
E2 799 I k. the king would have him home again
D 1067 in all my life I never k. the like
HLM 93 and such as k. he was a man, would say
HLM 401 and too-too well the fair vermilion k.
HLM 511 he, being a novice, k. not what she meant HLM 634 Leander's father k. where he had been HLM 667 but when he k. it was not Ganymed
HLM 805 again, she k. not how to frame her look
*HLC 917 his most kind sister all his secrets k.
*HLC 1046 new come thoughts, that yet she never k.
*HLC 1132 she k. the black shield of the darknest night

*HLC 2259 and no man k. the cause of this [V. R. his] expense
*HLC 2351 k. with affright his wreck'd Leander's voice
Ov 932 by whom the husband his wife's incest k.
Ov 1038 I k. your speech (what do not lovers see?)
Ov 1100 or voice that how to change the wild notes k.?
Ov 1603 white-cheek'd Penelope k. Ulysses' sign
Ov 1736 first of thy mind the happy seeds I k.
Ov 1816 the horses seem as thy [Old eds. they] desire they k.
Ov 1936 thee I have pass'd, and k. thy stream none such Ov 2149 not what we slothful know [Old eds. k.], let wise men learn L 586 one that k. the hearts of beasts, and
*AT 51 he k. not what thing was remorse
*2H6 2241 I k. her well, she was a midwife
*TT 925 Oh pardon God, I k. not what I did
*TT 926 and pardon father, for I k. thee not *3H6 1130 pardon me God, I k. not what I did
*3H6 1131 and pardon father, for I k. not thee
*3H6 2111 if Warwick k. in what estate he stands
*E3 649 I say again, that if I k. your grief, and *E3 1643 now, if I k. but safely how to pass

Knewest.

1F 211 why, didst thou not say thou k.?

Knife.

*Sel 582 seek for to reave that breast with bloody k.
*Loc 255 alas! too soon by Demogorgon's k. the
*Loc 312 my pen is naught; gentlemen, lend me a k.
2T 1117 give me your k., good mother, or strike home [4to have]
JM 2354 here, hold that k.; and, when thou seest
MP 1237 you are stricken with a poison'd k.!
MP 1238 a poison'd k.! what, shall the French king die
L 609 then crams salt leaven on his crookèd k.
*Epg 435 then comes a cutpurse ready with a [MS. his] k.
*Con 1134 is Suffolk the butcher, where's his k.?
*Con 1135 I wear no k. to slaughter sleeping men
*2H6 1387 to keep your royal person from treason's secret k.
*2H6 1798 are you the butcher, Suffolk? where's your k.?
*2H6 1800 I wear no k., to slaughter sleeping men
*3H6 1249 but set his murth'ring k. unto the root
*3H6 2861 and next his throat, unto the butcher's k.
*E3 984 this sharp-pointed k. shall stain thy earth with Knight.

*Sel 667 art thou that k. that, like a lion fierce
*Sel 673 nay, I have match'd a braver k. than you
*Sel 2476 a matchless k. is warlike Selimus
*Loc 493 spoke like a warlike k., my noble son
*Loc 904 amongst the which old Debon, martial k.
2T 1251 the worthiest k. that ever brandish'd sword
1F 1172 the k. was so pleasant with me here of late?
1F 1175 how now, sir k.? I had thought thou hadst been 1F 1193 hath Faustus worthily requited this injurious k.
1F 1195 and, sir k., hereafter speak well of scholars
2F 1350 why, how now, Sir K.! what, hanged by the horns!
2F 1376 hath Faustus justly requited this injurious k.
*FB 38 'mongst princes, peers, and many a worthy k.
E2 294 Guy of Warwick, that redoubted k.
*HLD 1 To the Right Worshipful Sir Thomas Walsingham, K.
Ov 2180 thence grows the judge and k. of reputation
*Epg 80 Faustus, nor [Eds. not] lord nor k., nor wise nor old
*Epg 137 as well the thread-bare cobbler as the k.
*Epg 297 more than the most valiant and all-daring k. [So MS.]
*1H6 751 great is the rumour of this dreadful k.
*1H6 1411 cowardly k., ill fortune follow thee
*1H6 1592 I vow'd (base k.) when I did meet thee next, to *1H6 1610 much more a k., a captain, and a leader
*1H6 1618 doth but usurp the sacred name of k.
*1H6 1624 be packing therefore, thou that wast a k.
*1H6 2084 doubtless he would have made a noble k.
*1H6 2108 k. of the noble order of Saint George
*1H6 2320 what though I be enthrall'd, he seems a k.
*1H6 2590 as thou art k., never to disobey
*Con 1446 let them come, he's but a k. is he?
*Con 1447 no, no, he's but a k.
*Con 1448 why then to equal him, I'll make myself k.
*Con 1801 shalt be immediately created k.
*Con 1805 then rise up Sir [Q3 omits] Alexander Iden k.
*2H6 2312 He is but a k., is a'? — No
*2H6 2314 to equal him I will make myself a k. presently
*2H6 2906 not amiss he were created k. for his good service *2H6 2907 Iden, kneel down, rise up a k.
*TT 728 unsheathe your sword and straightway [Q1 Q2 straight do] dub him k.
*TT 730 Edward Plantagenet, arise a k.
*3H6 873 Edward Plantagenet, arise a k.
*E3 1602 and done, I hope, the duty of a k.
*E3 2059 this k., and forty mo, — of whom the
*E3 2349 kneel therefore down; now rise, King Edward's k.
*Loc 616 there might we see the valiant-minded ks.
*Loc 623 were not to be compared to these two ks.
*Loc 684 as many lanciers, and light-armed ks.
*Loc 943 full twenty thousand brave courageous ks.
1T 1569 environèd with brave Argolian ks.
JM 197 know, ks. of Malta, that we came from Rhodes
JM 209 stand all aside, and let the ks. determine
JM 228 farewell, brave governor, and brave ks. of Malta
JM 701 will ks. of Malta be in league with Turks
JM 718 we and our warlike ks. will follow thee
E2 1185 and bloody wars so many valiant ks.
MP 214 ladies of honour, ks., and gentlemen
Ov 562 ks. of the post of perjuries make sale
*1H6 1612 ks. of the garter were of noble birth
*Con 1451 is there any more of them that be ks.?
*TT 1713 stir up the ks. and gentlemen to come with thee
*TT 1912 lords, ks. and gentlemen, what I should say, my *3H6 2438 the ks. and gentlemen, to come with thee
*3H6 2753 lords, ks., and gentlemen, what I should say
*E3 1612 a hundred-and-twenty ks.
*E3 1913 lords, ks., squires, and English gentlemen
*E3 2102 for all your ks. to pass his father's land
*E3 2365 with forty other serviceable ks.

Knight-at-arms.

JM 1945 knavely spoke, and like a k.
*E3 1606 arise, Prince Edward, trusty k.

Knighted.

Ov 2134 for bloodshed k., before me preferr'd!

Knighthood.

*1H6 1607 to wear this ornament of k., yea or no?
*TT 727 you promis'd k. to your princely son
*3H6 770 you promis'd k. to our forward son
*E3 1477 now wants there nought but k.
*E3 1532 he is labouring for a k., man
*E3 1603 ay, well thou hast deserv'd a k., Ned!

Knightly.

*Loc 381 will pass the day in k. sports

Ov 99 that am descended but of k. line
Knit.
1T 457 so large of limbs, his joints so strongly k.
2T 799 the sinews of th' imperial seat so k. and strengthen'd
E2 1537 to whom right well you knew our soul was k.
E2 1757 a heavy case, when force to force is k.
MP 4 k. in these hands, thus join'd in nuptial rites
*HLC 1572 her tresses were of wire, k. like a net
*HLC 2037 k. with Minerva's knot
Ov 1477 but in small compass her small fingers k.
*1H6 2153 the Earl of Armagnac near k. to Charles *2H6 263 why doth the great Duke Humphrey k. his brows
*2H6 3090 k. earth and heaven together
*TT 690 thou smiling, while he k. his angry brows
*3H6 832 thou smiling, while he k. his angry brows
*2H6 1224 he ks. his brow, and shows an angry eye
*3H6 1508 the widow likes him not, she ks. her brows
Ov 925 on tell-tales' necks thou seest the link-k. chains
*1H6 765 and large proportion of his strong-k. limbs
*TT 845 hath robb'd my strong-k. sinews of their strength
*TT 1835 hath robb'd my strong-k. sinews of their strength
*3H6 994 have robb'd my strong-k. sinews of their strength Knives.
1F 668 then swords, and k., poison, guns, halters
*E3 971 here by my side do hang my wedding-k.
Knob.
L 627 at that bunch where the liver is, appear'd a k. of flesh Knock.
*Epg 27 endures the lie [Eds. lies] and ks. about the ears
2T 1323 I may k. out his brains with them
1F 420 and I'll k. them, they were never so knocked since Ov 1723 my flattering speeches soon wide-open k.
*1H6 1313 therefore we'll k.
*Con 1556 zounds, k. him down
*2H6 2485 Jack Cade. Jack Cade. — K. him down there
*2H6 2630 kill and k. down, throw them into Thames
*3H6 2350 my liege, I'll k. once more to summon them
MP 348 who is that which ks. there?
Ov 1654 search at the door who ks. oft in the dark
Ov 2201 and ks. his bare breast with self-angry hands!
*1H6 334 who's there, that ks. so imperiously?
Knocked.
1F 421 they were never so k. since they were devils
HLM 729 to the solitary tower he got: and k. and call'd
*1H6 1182 that many have their giddy brains k. out
*Con 1504 and k. them down as if thou hadst been in Knockest.
Ov 1989 and fiercely k. thy breast that open lies?
Knot.
1T 471 about them hangs a k. of amber hair
*HLC 2003 bind in one self-sacred k. each other's [V. R. other] mind
*HLC 2037 knit with Minerva's k.
*1H6 2152 and surer bind this k. of amity
*TT 1259 to confirm that amity with nuptial k.
*3H6 1688 to confirm that amity with nuptial k.
D 1362 for this will Dido tie ye full of ks.
*HLC 1575 and twenty-fashion'd ks., pulleys, and brakes 2T 1238 see, a k. of kings, sitting as if they were a-telling riddles!
Know.
*Sel 193 could he not let his father k. his mind
*Sel 311 (what God I do not k., nor greatly care)
*Sel 461 and there I k. lieth his chief disease
*Sel 469 too well I k. the crocodile's feignèd tears
*Sel 480 that he may make them k., that Selimus
*Sel 787 you k. how much your father doth detest
*Sel 807 that we may k. what Bajazet intends
*Sel 938 princes, you k. how mighty Bajazet
*Sel 945 Yet k., you warlike peers, Mustaffa is *Sel 1033 for all I k. are minded as I am
*Sel 1104 but he shall k. that I can use my sword
*Sel 1128 you k. he is displeas'd with Bajazet
*Sel 1131 you k. his angry heart hath vow'd revenge
*Sel 1184 wilt thou? then k. assuredly from me
*Sel 1194 then, Acomat, k. we'll rather die, than *Sel 1403 yet k. it is a sacrilegious will, to slay
*Sel 1436 here take thy hands, I k. thou lov'st them well
*Sel 1439 I k. not which it is, but 'tis my hand
*Sel 1836 now k., old lords, that you have drunk your last
*Sel 1884 « and how to please her alas I do not k. »
*Sel 2074 Hali, I k. thou sorrowest for my case
*Sel 2104 you k. they are two mighty potentates
*Sel 2251 for he, you k., is most unmerciful
*Sel 2303 they k. Mustaffa never provèd false
*Sel 2343 you k. contrary to my father's mind
*Sel 2368 summon a parley, sirs, that we may k.
*Sel 2469 soon shalt thou k. that Selim's mighty arm
*Sel 2509 if I had conquer'd, k. assuredly
*Sel 2511 k. I disdain them, as I do thyself
*Loc 425 that Locrine and his brethen all may k.
*Loc 477 that they might k. we are invincible
*Loc 707 superbious Briton, thou shalt k. too soon
*Loc 732 that they may k. the Britons' force is more
*Loc 1389 we k.; and all k., you have your reward
*Loc 1660 that thou mayst k. thy prince is mov'd
*Loc 1772 and make her k., Locrine can brook no braves
*Loc 1983 little do you k. what sorrow
1T 5 I k. you have a better wit than I
1T 22 I refer me to my noblemen, that k. my wit 1T 26 I mean it not, but yet I k. I might 1T 179 we knew [4to knowe], my lord, before we brought the crown 1T 187 I k. it well, my lord, and thank you all
1T 553 (as our spials say, and as we k.)
1T 723 and let them k. the Persian king is chang'd 1T 782 I k. they would with our persuasions
1T 889 I k. not how to take their tyrannies
1T 922 you k. our army is invincible
1T 984 to k. the cause of these unquiet fits 1T 1167 and k., thou Turk, that those which lead my 1T 1859 they knew [4to k.] my custom 1T 1919 k. my customs are as peremptory as 1T 1986 and let us k. if the town be ransacked
1T 1995 we k. the victory is ours, my lord
2T 177 I k. thou would'st depart from hence with me
2T 278 I k. they issu'd from thy womb
2T 860 is a gentleman, I k., at least 2T 997 I k. not what I should think
2T 1078 that we may k. if our artillery will carry point-blank
2T 1223 k. not what retreat doth mean
2T 1294 you k. I shall have occasion shortly to journey you 2T 1335 see ye this rout, and k. ye this same king?
2T 1342 you k. not, sir
2T 1381 I k., sir, what it is to kill a man
2T 1459 k. ye not yet the argument of arms?
2T 2017 something, Techelles; but I k. not what 2T 2192 I k. it will, Casane

1F 128 k. that your words have won me at the last to 1F 185 Valdes, first let him k. the words of art
1F 197 that shall we k., for see, here comes his boy 1F 202 Why, dost not thou k.? — Yes, I k.; but that follows not 1F 370 that I k. he would give his soul to the devil for a 1F 430 I'll tell you how you shall k. them : all he-devils
1F 638 that I might k. their motions and dispositions
1F 848 learned Faustus, to k. the secrets of astronomy
1F 888 k. that this city stands upon seven hills
1F 907 nay, Faustus, stay : I k. you'd fain see the Pope
1F 947 nay, I k. not : we shall be cursed with bell, book 1F 1167 how shall I k. whether it be so or no?
1F 1259 that he would not have had me known [Dyce, k.] of 1F 1370 for that I k. your friendship is unfeign'd 2F 125 k. that your words have won me at the last 2F 177 Valdes, first let him k. the words of art
2F 189 that shall we presently k.; here comes his boy 2F 194 Why, dost not thou k., then? — Yes, I k.; but that follows not 2F 352 I k. the villain's out of service, and so hungry
2F 353 I k. he would give his soul to the devil for a shoulder of mutton 2F 571 learned Faustus to k. the secrets of astronomy [Dyce omits]
2F 866 k. that this city stands upon seven hills
2F 886 nay, stay, my Faustus : I k. you'd see the Pope 2F 1163 never deny't, for I k. you have it 2F 1409 by this, I k. the conjurer is near 2F 1594 dost thou [Not in 1624, 1631] k. why I stand so mute?
2F 1611 you k. Doctor Faustus?
2F 1614 here's some on 's have cause to k. him 2F 1640 some rare quality [Not in 1616] that he would not have me k. of 2F 1660 nor k. I how sufficiently to recompense your 2F 1734 ay; but, Sir Saucebox, k. you in what place?
2F 1779 but I would fain k. that
2F 1826 for that I k. your friendship is unfeign'd
*JMS 19 we k. not how our play may pass this stage
JMP 7 and let them k. that I am Machiavel
JM 53 sent me to k. whether yourself will come
JM 84 tush, they are wise! I k. her and her strength
JM 89 k., Barabas, doth ride in Malta-road
JM 179 I'll look unto myself. — I k. you will JM 197 k., knights of Malta, that we came from Rhodes
JM 219 let's k. their time; perhaps it is not long
JM 238 now, then; here k. that it concerneth us
JM 248 tut, Jew, we k. thou art no soldier
JM 285 why, k. you what you did by this device?
JM 707 captain, we k. it; but our force is small
JM 790 is it square or pointed? pray, let me k.
JM 813 and yet I k. the prayers of those nuns
JM 887 seem not to k. me here before your mother
JM 904 now let me k. thy name, and JM 981 I k. it : yet, I say, make love to him
JM 1037 I k. your lordship would disdain to marry with JM 1065 I k. not : but farewell; I must be gone
JM 1131 and yet I k. my beauty doth not fail
JM 1156 I k. she is a courtezan by her attire
JM 1181 Who made them enemies? — I k. not
JM 1213 Why, k. you not? — Why, no
JM 1215 k. you not of Mathia[s'] and Don Lodowick['s] disaster?
JM 1257 k., holy sir, I am bold to solicit thee
JM 1331 only k. this, that thus thou art to do
JM 1454 and first k., that in this house I liv'd
JM 1475 k. that confession must not be reveal'd
JM 1522 I fear they k. we sent the poison'd broth
JM 1529 what needs all this? I k. I am a Jew
JM 1564 besides, I k. not how much weight in pearl
JM 1577 and, Barabas, you k.
JM 1578 I k. that I have highly sinn'd
JM 1581 I k. they are; and I will be with you
JM 1598 you k. my mind; let me alone with him
JM 1628 yes, and I k. not what the reason is JM 1771 an ye did but k. how she loves you, sir!
JM 1784 but you k. some secrets of the Jew
JM 1902 you k. my meaning
JM 1903 I k. enough, and therefore talk not to me of JM 1905 k., Jew, it is in my power to hang thee
JM 1911 why, sir, you k. I have no child
JM 1923 I k. it, sir
JM 1951 but I k. what I k.; he's a murderer
JM 2002 dost k. a Jew, one Barabas?
JM 2033 let me alone to urge it, now I k. the meaning
JM 2050 and I k. not what mischief beside JM 2260 I k.; and they shall witness with their lives
JM 2296 k., Selim, that there is a monastery which JM 2396 and, villains, k. you cannot help me now
JM 2400 k., governor, 'twas I that slew thy son
JM 2402 k., Calymath, I aim'd thy overthrow
JM 2432 k., therefore, till thy father hath made good
E2 44 you k. that I came lately out of France
E2 79 that cross me thus, shall k. I am displeas'd
E2 85 and k., my lord, ere I will break my oath
E2 96 you shall k. what danger 'tis to
E2 148 I k. it. — Brother, welcome home my friend
E2 318 we k. our duties : let him k. his peers
E2 346 you k. that I am legate to the Pope
E2 487 I k. 'tis 'long of Gaveston she weeps
E2 555 k. you not Gaveston hath store of gold
E2 571 when he shall k. it lies in us to banish him
E2 721 you k. my mind : come, uncle, let's away
E2 782 I k. thou couldst not come and visit me
E2 817 pray thee, let me k. it
E2 1064 I k., my lord, many will stomach me
E2 1084 k. this, that Gaveston is secretly arriv'd
E2 1152 you k. the king is so suspicious
E2 1219 I k. it, lords, it is this life you aim at E2 1240 but, for we k. thou art a noble gentleman
E2 1266 nay, do your pleasures : I k. how 'twill prove E2 1312 I k. the malice of the younger Mortimer
E2 1313 Warwick I k. is rough, and Lancaster inexorable
E2 1903 and all the land, I k., is up in arms
E2 2116 I k. the next news that they bring will be E2 2143 I k. not; but of this I am assur'd
E2 2188 and none but we k. where he lieth
E2 2245 brother, you k. it is impossible
E2 2266 Mortimer shall k. that he hath wrongèd me
E2 2306 immortal powers, that k. the painful cares that E2 2360 ay, ay; and none shall k. which way he died
E2 2374 nay, you shall pardon me; none shall k. my tricks
E2 2466 what's here? I k. not how to construe it
E2 2470 k. you this token? I must have the king
E2 2479 I k. what I must do. Get you away
E2 2497 villain, I k. thou com'st to murder me
E2 2517 and whether I have limbs or no I k. not E2 2537 still fear I, and I k. not what's the cause
E2 2541 k. that I am a king : O, at that name
E2 2596 fear not, my lord; k. that you are a king
MP 15 as you k., our difference in religion

MP 172 doth not your grace k., the man that gave them you?
MP 311 'tis he; I k. him by his look
MP 331 may k. their watchword; then toll the bell
MP 405 I k. the things that I have wrote
MP 617 we k. that noble minds change not MP 686 are those the secrets that no man must k.?
MP 712 you k. our quarrel is no more but to defend their MP 770 they should k. how I scorn'd them
MP 772 I k. none else but holds them in disgrace
MP 807 but God we k. will always put them down
MP 863 and k., my lord, the Pope will sell his triple crown
MP 1018 he is coming; I k. him by his voice
MP 1061 as all the word shall k. our Guise is dead
D 130 Triton, I k., hath fill'd his trump with Troy
D 176 to k. what coast the wind hath driven us on D 241 I k. her by the movings of her feet
D 305 and when I k. it is not, then I die
D 340 and scarcely k. within what clime we are D 646 Iarbus, k., that thou, of all my wooers
D 651 albeit the gods do k., no wanton thought had D 694 O Anna, didst thou k. how sweet love were D 696 poor soul, I k. too well the sour of love
D 779 I k. this face; he is a Persian born
D 783 but speak, Aeneas; k. you none of these?
D 961 stout friend Achates, dost thou k. this wood?
D 1631 I k. not what you mean by treason, I
HLM 151 for k., that underneath this radiant flour was HLM 290 and k. that some have wrong'd Diana's name?
HLM 553 but k. you not that creatures wanting sense
HLM 567 which taught him all that elder lovers k.
HLM 802 should k. the pleasure of this [V. R. the] blessed night
*HLC 1040 tell it how much his late desires I tender (if yet it k. not)
*HLC 1209 we k. not how to vow till love unblind us
*HLC 1865 mix'd so, she could not k. it
*HLC 2223 we, that k. the proper virtue of it, make it so Ov 130 but how thou shouldst behave thyself now k.
Ov 363 there is — whoe'er will k. a bawd aright
Ov 367 she magic arts and Thessal charms doth k.
Ov 852 his own flame's best-acquainted signs may k
Ov 1081 I k. no master of so great hire sped
Ov 1173 myself unguilty of this crime I k.
Ov 1231 I k. not whither my mind's whirlwind drives me
Ov 1304 Lo, country gods and known [Old eds. k.] bed to forsake
Ov 1568 I k. a wench reports herself Corinne
Ov 1752 that thou mayst k. with love thou mak'st me flame
Ov 1910 I k. not what men think should thee so move
Ov 2034 I k. not what expecting, I erewhile nam'd
Ov 2122 and, lest her maid should k. of this disgrace
Ov 2149 not what we slothful k. [Old eds. knew], let wise men learn
Ov 2322 I k. not whom thou lewdly didst embrace
Ov 2415 to k. their rites, well recompens'd my [ed. C may] stay Ov 2449 but let not me, poor soul, k. [Ed. A wit] of thy straying
L 237 whether the gods or blustering south were cause I k. not
L 450 heavenly powers you k., or only k. you nothing
L 685 this headless trunk that lies on Nilus' sand I k.
*Ign 14 but wilt thou k. wherefore? fair sweet, for all Dia 27 thou long time his love did k.
*AT 8 in crime grown old, though age he did not k.
*AT 92 trouble from our birth, the wise do say and k.
*Epg 101 for a fifth sort, I k., thou canst not find
*Epg 337 « Sir, now you k. not me »
*Epg 339 for at this time myself I do not k. »
*1H6 218 of old I k. them; rather with their teeth the *1H6 246 I k. thee well, though never seen before
*1H6 301 he may mean more than we poor men do k.
*1H6 421 father I k., and oft have shot at them
*1H6 549 I k. not where I am, nor what I do
*1H6 775 to k. the cause of your abrupt departure?
*1H6 937 and k. us by these colours for thy foes
*1H6 1136 But he shall k. I am as good. — As good?
*1H6 1153 and k. the office that belongs to such *1H6 1193 my lord, we k. your grace to be a man just *1H6 1666 first let me k., and then I'll answer you
*1H6 1682 yet k. (my lord) I was provok'd by him
*1H6 2092 to k. who hath obtain'd the glory of the day
*1H6 2096 I come to k. what prisoners thou hast ta'en
*1H6 2515 for k. my lords, the states of Christendom, mov'd
*1H6 2621 you k. (my lord) your highness is betroth'd *1H6 2693 I k. it will excuse this sudden execution of *Con 94 my lords you k. he is my great enemy
*Con 263 and th' are gone together, and I k. not where to find them
*Con 478 they k. their master soars a falcon's pitch [So Q3]
*Con 559 alas master I k. not
*Con 561 What's his name? — I k. not
*Con 670 and as both you [Q2 you both] k., in Pomfret
*Con 900 nay, Gloster k., that thou art come too soon
*Con 979 and so think I madam, for as you k., if *Con 989 then let him die before the commons k.
*Con 1086 the duke and I too, you k. were enemies
*Con 1408 that's true, I k. he can endure anything
*Con 1474 nay look you, I k. 'twas [Q3 was] true
*Con 1611 no 'tis Outalian, I k. it well enough
*Con 1701 for you did take in hand you k. not what
*Con 1755 to k. the reason of these arms in peace?
*Con 1763 and not [Q2 omits] far hence I k. they cannot be *Con 1860 might I but k. thee by thy household badge
*2H6 137 my Lord of Winchester I k. your mind
*2H6 600 patience, good lady, wizards k. their times
*2H6 680 they k. their master loves to be aloft
*2H6 811 alas master, I k. not
*2H6 813 What's his name? — I k. not
*2H6 885 and for my wife, I k. not how it stands
*2H6 924 Pomfret; where, as you all k. harmless Richard *2H6 980 break we off; we k. your mind at full
*2H6 1218 we k. the time since he was mild and affable
*2H6 1306 nay Gloster, k. that thou art come too soon
*2H6 1360 I k., their complot is to have my life
*2H6 1593 I k., no pain they can inflict upon him, will make him say
*2H6 1600 let him k. we have despatch'd the duke
*2H6 1668 what k. I how the world may deem of me?
*2H6 1846 sirs stand apart, the king shall k. your mind
*2H6 1952 so get thee gone, that I may k. my grief
*2H6 2068 what is my ransom master, let me k.
*2H6 2441 Oh graceless men: they k. not what they do
*2H6 2635 k. Cade, we come ambassadors from the king
*2H6 2777 whatsoe'er thou be, I k. thee not *2H6 2847 to k. the reason of these arms in peace
*2H6 2941 I k. ere they will have me go to ward, they 'll pawn

*2H6 3031 might I but k. thee by thy housed [? household] badge
*2H6 3163 I k. our safety is to follow them
*TT 62 O k. you not the city favours them
*TT131 I k. not what to say my title's weak
*TT 340 I k. they have demean'd themselves like men
*TT 619 for thou shalt k. that this right hand of mine
*TT 624 I k. it well Lord Warwick blame me not *TT 724 ah cousin York, would thy best friends did k.
*TT 813 to make that shameless callat k. herself
*TT 831 yet k. thou we will never cease to strike
*TT 908 and none doth k. to whom the day will fall
*TT 1020 say Clifford, dost thou k. who speaks to thee?
*TT 1036 what not an oath? nay, then I k. he's dead
*TT 1038 by this I k. he's dead
*TT 1123 widow come some other time to k. our mind
*TT 1147 why stops my lord, shall I not k. my task?
*TT 1183 I k. I am too bad to be your queen
*TT 1339 and these to you madam, from whom I k. not
*TT 1576 k. that the cause I sent for you is this
*TT 1631 truth my lord, we k. you for no less
*TT 1786 father of Warwick, k. you what this means?
*TT 1946 I k. my duty, you are all undutiful
*TT 2020 then I k. thou art an executioner
*3H6 68 ah, k. you not the city favours them
*3H6 140 I k. not what to say, my title's weak
*3H6 426 but this I k., they have demean'd themselves like men
*3H6 755 for thou shalt k. this strong right hand of mine
*3H6 760 I k. it well Lord Warwick, blame me not *3H6 866 ah cousin York, would thy best friends did k.
*3H6 958 to make this shameless callat k. herself
*3H6 980 yet k. thou, since we have begun to strike
*3H6 1261 speak Clifford, dost thou k. who speaks to thee?
*3H6 1281 I k. by that he's dead, and by my soul, if *3H6 1394 ah simple men, you k. not what you swear
*3H6 1431 and come some other time to k. our mind
*3H6 1525 I k., I am too mean to be your queen
*3H6 1606 and yet I k. not how to get the crown
*3H6 1805 and Madam, these for you: from whom I k. not *3H6 1911 alas, you k., 'tis far from hence to France
*3H6 2131 that k. not how to use ambassadors
*3H6 2201 you k. our king, my brother, is prisoner
*3H6 2357 true, my good lord, I k. you for no less
*3H6 2504 they are at hand, and you shall quickly k.
*3H6 2572 father of Warwick, k. you what this means?
*3H6 2795 I k. my duty, you are all undutiful
*E3 51 a messenger? — Lord Audley, k. from whence
*E3 228 I k. it well, my liege, and therefore flee
*E3 436 'twere requisite that I should k., my lord
*E3 609 I k., my sovereign — in my husband's love, who
*E3 634 may I with pardon k. your highness' grief
*E3 813 malcontent, for what, I k. not
*E3 1284 I k. not how, we should have met our son
*E3 1319 Edward, k., that John, the true King of France
*E3 1382 and, I k., his conscience witnesseth, it is my right
*E3 1352 k. that thy wolvish barking cannot hurt
*E3 1387 Edward, I k. what right thou hast in France
*E3 1401 k., these grave scholars of experience
*E3 1634 k. that I resolve, for this kind furth'rance of *E3 1776 why, then I k. the extremity, my lord
*E3 2109 and those that k. me call me Salisbury
*Sel 39 he ks. not what it is to be a king, that
*Sel 1034 your highness ks. the janissaries' love
*Sel 1391 he ks. not how to sway the kingly mace
*Sel 1952 that would fain persuade me he ks. me
*Sel 2290 your highness ks. Mustaffa was the man
*Loc 64 your highness ks. how many victories
*Loc 87 God ks. it was the least of all my thought
*Loc 780 but God ks., full sore against their wills 1T 30 grief, which is, God ks., about that Tamburlaine 1T 1096 basso, by this thy lord and master ks.
2T 484 your highness ks., for Tamburlaine's repair, that 1F 201 where's thy master? — God in heaven ks.
1F 701 who ks. not the double motion of the planets?
2F 193 where's thy master? — God in heaven ks.
2F 621 who ks. not the double motion [1624, motions] of the planets?
JM 69 tush, who amongst 'em ks. not Barabas?
JM 406 and ks. no means of his recovery
JM 1290 I hear she ks. — 'tis so — of my device in JM 1618 the other ks. enough to have my life
JM 1679 I have done 't: but nobody ks. it but you two JM 1909 that he, who ks. I love him as myself
JM 1932 for in his villany he will tell all he ks.
JM 2007 he ks. it already
E2 454 your highness ks., it lies not in my power
E2 1207 and sends you word, he ks. that die he shall E2 1831 my lord, the Mayor of Bristow ks. our mind
MP 280 I am disguis'd, and none ks. who I am
MP 856 all France ks. how poor a duke thou art
D 281 since Carthage ks. to entertain distress
D 789 and yet, God ks., entangled unto one
D 800 the rest are such as all the world well ks.
HLM 179 the reason no man ks.
HLM 212 Gods ks., I cannot force love as you do
HLM 357 and there, God ks., I play with Venus' swans
*HLC 1606 who ks. not Venus would seem as far from *HLC 1631 and comes when no man ks.
Ov 95 Jove ks. with such-like prayers I daily move her Ov 369 she ks. with grass, with threads on Ov 1180 whence ks. Corinna that with thee I play'd?
Ov 1241 better than I their quiver ks. them not Ov 1625 and craftily ks. by what means to win me
*Epg 13 and ks. not what an epigram doth [Eds. does] mean
*Epg 470 but straight he ks. it [Not in Eds.]
*1H6 2365 Margaret ks. that Suffolk does not flatter
*1H6 2430 I did beget her, all the parish ks.
*1H6 2437 God ks., thou art a collop of my flesh
*1H6 2499 she ks. not well (there were so many) whom *Con 183 what it bodes God ks.; [Q1 Q2 omit]
*Con 478 he ks. his master loves to be aloft [So Q1 Q2]
*Con 494 Why Suffolk, England ks. thy insolence. — And thy ambition Gloster
*Con 555 then belike he ks. what colour jet is on *Con 1101 but how he died God ks., not Henry
*Con 1822 that ks. not how to govern nor to rule *2H6 291 this was my dream, what it doth bode God ks.
*2H6 702 why Suffolk, England ks. thine insolence
*2H6 770 God ks. of pure devotion
*2H6 1734 but how he died, God ks., not Henry *2H6 2346 credit this base drudge's words, that speaks he ks. not what *2H6 2668 nor ks. he how to live, but by the spoil
*2H6 2835 let them obey, that ks. not how to rule
*2H6 3157 God ks. how long it is I have to live
*TT 339 but God ks. what chance hath betide my sons
*TT 1122 he ks. the game, how well he keeps the wind
*TT 1554 that ks. not how to use ambassadors
*3H6 425 my sons, God ks. what hath bechanc'd them

*3H6 550 but God he ks., thy share thereof is small *3H6 1427 he ks. the game, how true he keeps the wind?
*3H6 1950 why, ks. not Montague, that of itself, England is
*E3 1960 besides, he ks. not my sin's quality
*E3 1961 and therefore ks. no prayers for my avail

Knowest.

*Sel 1521 thou k. we cannot fight without a guide
*Sel 2240 k. thou not, Solyma, kings have long hands?
*Loc 330 thou k., my pretty boy, what a good master I have been 1T 1240 thou k. not, foolish-hardy Tamburlaine, what 1T 1678 villain, k. thou to whom thou speakest?
2F 902 thou k., within the compass of eight days we JM 770 Barabas, thou k. I am the governor's son
JM 996 thou k., and heaven can witness it is true
JM 1031 thou k. I have lov'd thy daughter long
JM 1493 thou k. 'tis death, an if it be reveal'd
E2 142 k. thou not who I am?
E2 765 Spenser, thou k. I hate such formal [1612, 1622 omit] toys
E2 1051 k. thou him, Gaveston?
E2 2622 ah, Mortimer, thou k. that he is slain!
D 569 thou k. we saw Cassandra sprawling in the streets
D 881 thy son, thou k., with Dido now remains
Ov 385 « Mistress, thou k. thou hast a blest youth pleas'd
Ov 2137 k. not this [ed. C his] head a helm was wont to bear?
Ign 39 well-featur'd lass, thou k. I love thee dear
*1H6 388 peace mayor, thou k. little of my wrongs
*1H6 419 sirrah, thou k. how Orleans is besieg'd
*1H6 1570 villain, thou k. the law of arms is such, that *2H6 804 why then, thou k. what colour jet is of?
*2H6 1992 now get thee hence, the king thou k. is coming
*E3 523 Lodowick, thou k. not how to draw a battle
*E3 655 but, when thou k. my grief's condition
*E3 1616 thou k. King Edward for no wantonness
*E3 1649 Villiers, thou k., thou art my prisoner
*E3 1903 and yet, thou k., we call it but a rain

Knoweth.

*Sel 1126 who k. not but his blood-thirsty sword shall

Knowing.

*Sel 331 k. that laws could not in quiet dwell
*Sel 1239 k. thou wert a monster like themselves
*Sel 1647 k. thy weak and too unwieldy age
*Sel 2282 k. they were my vowèd enemies
2T 1039 k. two kings, the friends to Tamburlaine
2T 1205 k. he must die here in Natolia
2T 1377 k. my father hates cowardice
JM 465 and, k. me impatient in distress, think
D 1353 and shrunk not back, k. my love was there?
*HLD 8 k. that in his lifetime you bestowed
HLM 427 and, k. Hermes courted her, was glad
*HLC 1923 k. what 'tis to be the first mouth of *HLC 2397 k. there was a storm in Hero's heart
Ov 911 k. her scapes, thine honour shall increase
Ov 1971 who so well keeps his water's head from k.
*Epg 240 I, k. [B, C, seeing] how it doth the humour fit
*2H6 357 they (k. Dame Eleanor's aspiring humour)
*2H6 1698 k. that thou wouldst have me drown'd on shore
*2H6 2921 k. how hardly I can brook abuse?
*TT 810 k. from whence thou are deriv'd
*3H6 955 sham'st thou not, k. whence thou art extraught *3H6 1611 not k. how to find the open air

Knowledge.

1T 872 still climbing after k. infinite
1F 1090 heard strange reports of thy k. in the black art 2F 2149 a scholar once admir'd for wondrous k.
*JMD 8 within the compass of my long k.
JM 2357 to give thee k. when to cut the cord
MP 141 and more, — of my k., in one cloister keep
*HLC 1422 light, whose k. teacheth wonders infinite
*HLC 1464 and though her k. did not teach her so
*AT 57 ah, how is k. wasted quite on such
*Epg 489 his k. and [MS. or] his wit will not be better'd
*1H6 604 let us have k. at the court of guard *2H6 2565 k. the wing wherewith we fly to heaven
*E3 1094 they, having k. brought them by the scouts, did

Known.

*Sel 314 war was not then, and riches were not k.
1T 671 so shall not I be k.; or if I be, they cannot 1F 1259 that he would not have had me k. [Dyce know] of 2F 1675 will make k. unto you what my heart desires
JM 1477 and the priest that makes it k.
JM 1503 but think you it will not be k.?
JM 1705 law wills that each particular be k.
JM 1962 and 'twas never k., nor never shall be for me
JM 2208 for, as a friend not k. but in distress
E2 2301 lest you be k., and so be rescuèd
HLM 442 which being k., — as what is hid from Jove?
HLM 609 which made his love through Sestos to be k.
*HLC 1424 Nature had plac'd in it to make it k.
Ov 467 if this thou dost, to me by long use k.
Ov 594 thy service for night's scapes is k. commodious
Ov 685 say that thy love with Cephalus were not k.
Ov 787 and Gallus shall be k. from east to west
Ov 830 our Gallus shall be k. from east to west
Ov 904 let him go forth k., that un*k.* did enter
Ov 1340 I from the shore thy k. ship first will see
Ov 1304 lo, country gods and k. [Old eds. know] bed to forsake
Ov 1547 ay me, why is it k. to her so well?
Ov 2270 nor on the earth was k. the name of floor
Ov 2286 Ceres, I think, no k. fault will deny
Ov 2372 err I? or by my books [Old eds. lookes] is she so k.?
L 246 but seeing white eagles, and Rome's flags well k.
L 325 he casts for civil war, wherein through use he's k. to
*Epg 24 and is for marriage k. a common wooer
*Epg 97 since he hath k. this town, seven years and more [So in MS.]
*Eg 407 to tell for truth that which for false is k.
*Epg 556 to make me so well k. for my [A omits] ill rhyme
*Epg 557 yet Banks his horse is better k. than he *1H6 180 so in the earth, to this day is not k.
*1H6 1951 my worth un*k.*, no loss is k. in me
*1H6 2557 'tis k. already that I am possess'd with *Con 101 and many things besides that are not k.
*Con 570 thou mightst as well have k. all our names
*Con 921 why 'tis well k. that whilst I was protector
*Con 1123 ay [Q2 yea] but 'twas [Q2 tis] well k. they were not his friends
*2H6 146 'tis k. to you he is mine enemy
*2H6 501 if they were k., as the suspect is great
*2H6 821 thou might'st as well have k. all our names
*2H6 1337 why 'tis well k., that whiles I was protector
*2H6 1669 for it is k. we were but hollow friends
*2H6 2521 be it k. unto you by these presence
*3H6 1091 when this is k., then to divide the times
*3H6 1655 now therefore be it k. to noble Lewis, that
*E3 2285 salute our coming forth, when we were k.
*E3 2305 yet, insomuch it shall be k. that we
*E3 2464 your ransom, John, hereafter shall be k.

Ov 1920 and this town's well-k. customs not believes Known : see Unknown
Knuckles.
Ov 1463 and of just compass for her k. be

L

L.
1F 832 the first letter of my name begins with Lechery [Dyce L.]
2F 751 the first letter of my name begins with Lechery [Dyce L.]
Labels.
E2 990 where women's favours hung like l. down
Labentis.
D 1546 miserere domus l., et istam
Laborious.
*Loc 142 now let me see, if my l. toils, if Labour.
*Sel 525 he may with little l. win the crown
*Loc 514 « Our ease is great, our l. small » 1T 798 and lose more l. than the gain will quite 2T 230 shall I be made a king for my l. ?
2T 1847 to save thy life, and us a little l.
2T 1879 that made us all the l. for the town
1F 397 do you hear, sir ? you may save that l.
1F 1299 a bottle of hay for his l.
2F 371 you may save [1631 spare] yourself a l.
JM 350 you have my wealth, the l. of my life
E2 2302 why strive you thus ? your l. is in vain
E2 2475 see how he must be handled for his l.
Ov 6 two ta'en away, thy [ed. A, the] l. will be less
Ov 912 and what less labour than to hold thy peace ?
Ov 1745 thy l. ever lasts ; she asks but little Ov 1928 least l. so shall win great grace of any *Con 1682 shall have a thousand crowns for his l.
*TT 1084 your l. is but spent in vain
*3H6 439 a swan with bootless l. swim against the tide *3H6 1344 poor queen, and son, your l. is but lost
*E3 1337 thy l. rather to be fear'd than lov'd
Ov 2220 Troy's l.'s fame, and that slow web
*Sel 1672 as many ls. Selimus hath had
*Loc 1381 is this the guerdon for my ls. past ?
1F 96 conference will be a greater help to me than all my ls.
2F 93 will be a greater help to me than all my ls.
D 967 O, how these irksome ls. now delight
*Con 75 and is all our ls. then spent in [Q3 spent quite in] vain
*2H6 93 and shall their ls. and these honours die ?
*TT 2099 and of our ls. thou shalt reap the gain
*3H6 2966 and of our ls. thou shalt reap the gain 1T 1898 in vain you l. to prevent that which 2T 1070 which, till it may defend you, l. low
MP 592 as I intend to l. for the truth
E2 2218 and tell him that I l. all in vain to ease his grief
JM 17 would in his age be loath to l. so
JM 1261 it is not yet long since that I did l. thy admission
*2H6 179 while these do l. for their own preferment
*2H6 180 behoves it us to l. for the realm
*2H6 1453 the king will l. still to save his life
*2H6 1740 my thoughts, that l. to persuade my soul
*2H6 2216 and yet it is said, l. in thy vocation JM 2177 that ls. with a load of bread and wine, and D 1128 alas, poor king, that ls. so in vain
Laboured.
*Sel 888 should reap the fruit that he had l. for *1H6 1046 they l. to plant the rightful heir Labouring.
1F 1574 into the entrails of yon l. cloud[s]
2F 1935 his [1624 omits] l. brain begets a world of idle fantasies 2F 2105 into the entrails of yon [1624, 1631, your] l. cloud[s]
JM 385 two hundred yoke of l. oxen
JM 534 to make atonement for my l. soul
D 1421 like l. bees that load their thighs with Ov 676 thou sett'st [ed. A, seest] their l. hands to spin and card Ov 1402 on l. women thou dost pity take
*2H6 1555 my brain, more busy than the l. spider, weaves
*2H6 1766 being all descended to the l. heart
*E3 2335 the wealthy tribute of my l. hands
*E3 1594 like the continual-l. woodman's axe that L 267 and l. to approve his quarrel good
*E3 1532 and he is l. for a knighthood, man
Labouring-men.
*2H6 2217 which is as much to say, let the magistrates be l.
Labres.
*Loc 368 then you shall soon have the succado de l.
Labyrinth.
JM 1268 hath pac'd too long the fatal l. of misbelief
*1H6 2412 thou mayst not wander in that l.
Laced.
*Sel 2051 for there our joys are inter*l.* with fears
*Loc 1519 and inter*l.* with sun-bright carbuncles Lacedaemon.
D 1299 and fire proud L. o'er their heads
Laces.
*Con 1401 she was a pedlar's daughter indeed, and sold many l.
*2H6 2244 she was indeed a pedlar's daughter, and sold many l.
Ov 514 and on Andromache his helmet l.
Lachesis.
*HLC 2381 it wounded L. that drew Leander's thread
Lachryma.
2T 466 L. Christi and Calabrian wines
Lacies.
*Con 1400 my mother came of the Brases [Q3 L.]
*2H6 2242 my wife descended of the L.
Lack.
*Loc 583 truly, master gentleman, I l. no money 2F 1592 how now ! what l. you ?
Ov 611 I hate fair paper should writ matter l.
Ov 1132 whose earth doth not perpetual green grass l.
Ov 1419 because thy belly should rough wrinkles l.
Ov 1873 the father's thigh should unborn Bacchus l.
Ov 1952 trust me, land-stream, thou shalt no envy l.
Ov 2428 only the goddess hated goat did l.
*Con 173 then what shouldst thou l. that might content thy mind
*HLC 2187 whips and calls for everything he ls.
Lacked.
*Con 1035 'twas men I l., and now they give them me
*2H6 1561 'twas men I l., and you will give them me
Lack-honesty.
*Loc 1053 ay, sir, to you, John L., Littlewit Lacking.
*2H6 2391 thou shall have a licence to kill for a hundred l. one Lactantius.
*Loc 290 as L. in his fourth book of Constultations doth say

Lad.
*Sel 1978 a good well-nutrimented l.
D 494 kneeling for mercy to a Greekish l.
*TT 1692 Henry of Richmond, come hither pretty l.
*TT 1945 untutor'd l. thou art too malapert
*3H6 2301 this pretty l. will prove our country's bliss
*3H6 2687 like a fearful l., with tearful eyes add water to the sea *3H6 2794 untutor'd l., thou art too malapert Lade.
2F 1088 hale them to [1624, 1631 them forth to] prison, l. their limbs with gyves
*Epg 269 with title of « Tenth Worthy » [Ed. A, tenth worthlie; MS. ten worthies] doth her l.
*3H6 1573 saying, he'll l. it dry, to have his way
*Con 1298 un*l.* their goods with speed and sink their ship
*HLC 911 where he un*ls.* himself of that false wealth Laden.
1T 579 we have our camels l. all with gold 2F 1411 and take his leave, l. with rich rewards
JM 90 l. with riches, and exceeding store of Persian silks
E2 1912 on thy lap lay I this head, l. with mickle care
HLM 384 l. with languishment and grief, he flies
*HLC 1823 dull Morpheus enter'd, l. with silken [V. R. silke] chains
*Epg 113 if an ass l. with gold come [Eds. comes] on, the guard will stoop
*E3 1200 and wherefore are ye l. thus with stuff?
Ov 580 take cluster'd grapes from an o'er*l.* vine
Ladies.
*Loc 440 where Phoebus with the learned l. nine, delight
*Loc 1361 but l. must regard their honest name
*Loc 1712 when first you woo'd your l. to your wills
*Loc 1791 the wat'ry l. [Hazlitt Naiads], and the lightfoot Fauns 1F 1361 since our conference about fair l.
2F 1817 since our conference about fair l.
MP 214 l. of honour, knights, and gentlemen
*HLC 2441 or when they sorrow, l. use [Old eds. usde] to wear *1H6 730 sport, when l. crave to be encounter'd with *Con 299 Eleanor, that ruffles it with such a troop of l.
*2H6 442 she sweeps it through the court with troops of l.
*TT 1223 and witch sweet l. with my words and looks
*3H6 1584 and witch sweet l. with my words and looks
*E3 137 hast thou none to grieve, but silly l., with *HLC 1393 O, what sweet forms fair l.' souls do shroud
*Con 306 and stol'st away our l.' hearts in France
*2H6 417 and stol'st away the l.' hearts of France Lading.
1T 121 l. their ships [8vo shippe] with gold and precious stones Ladle.
JM 1341 what, hast thou brought the l. with thee, too?
JM 1344 the devil had need of a long spoon : I have brought you a l.
Lady.
*Loc 673 near the tavern; ay, by our l.
1F 375 by'r l., I had need have it well roasted 2F 1189 by l., sir, you have had a shrewd journey of it!
MP 304 O, let me pray before I die! — Then pray unto our L.
*1H6 253 heaven and our gracious L. hath it pleas'd to shine on *TT 1049 and ask the L. Bona for thy queen
*TT 1082 to entreat a marriage with the L. Bona
*TT 1260 that virtuous L. Bona thy fair sister, to *TT 1269 King Lewis and L. Bona hear me speak
*TT 1321 unless the L. Bona quit his pain
*TT 1363 I will revenge the wrongs done to L. Bona
*TT 1477 but what said L. Bona to these wrongs?
*TT 1563 I'll come and tell thee what the L. Bona says
*3H6 1292 and ask the L. Bona for thy queen
*3H6 1689 grant that virtuous L. Bona, thy fair sister, to *3H6 1699 King Lewis, and L. Bona, hear me speak
*3H6 1764 unless the L. Bona quit his pain
*3H6 1837 I will revenge his wrong to L. Bona
*3H6 1858 and mine fair L. Bona, joins with yours
*3H6 1942 for mocking him about the marriage of the L. Bona *3H6 2009 but what said L. Bona to my marriage?
*3H6 2152 Lewis and the L. Bona send to him
*2H6 862 under the countenance and confederacy of L. Eleanor *TT 1346 what hath your king married the L. Grey
*TT 1411 what think you of our marriage with the L. Grey?
*TT 1425 show me some reasons why the L. Grey, may not be my love
*3H6 1814 what? has your king married the L. Grey?
*3H6 1909 what think you of this new marriage with the L. Grey?
*3H6 1935 tell me some reason, why the L. Grey should not become my wife
*Loc 1670 to love and favour L. Guendolen
*1H6 2307 I'll win this L. Margaret. For whom?
*1H6 2684 procure that L. Margaret do vouchsafe to come
*Con 43 the said Henry shall wed and espouse the L. Margaret *2H6 46 that the said Henry shall espouse the L. Margaret JM 855 a youth! I'll buy you, and marry you to L. Vanity, if you do well
*Loc 1332 in ransacking the Scythian tents, I found this l.
*Loc 1335 he lies, my lord; I found the l. first
*Loc 1613 but where's my l. mistress, Guendolen?
*Loc 1696 arise, fair l., leave this lowly cheer
*Loc 1753 yet, for he wrongs my l. mother thus, I 1T 190 come, l., let not this appal your thoughts
1T 225 but, l., this fair face and heavenly hue must grace
2T (Title) his impassionate fury, for the death of his l. and love
2T 1134 but, l., go with us to Tamburlaine
2T 1156 and him, fair l., shall thy eyes behold
2T 1179 this lady shall have twice so much again
2T 1425 a naked l. in a net of gold
2T 1616 nay, l., then, if nothing will prevail
1F 1165 I heard this l., while she lived, had a wart or mole
1F 1364 that Helen of Greece was the admirablest l. that ever lived 2F 1325 this fair l., whilst [1624, 1631, while] she liv'd on earth, had 2F 1668 but, gracious l., it may be that you have 2F 1820 Helen of Greece was the admirablest l.
E2 741 with letters to our l. from the king
E2 777 leave off this jesting; here my l. comes E2 1108 Farewell, my lord. — L., farewell
E2 1629 I hear, sweet l., of the king's unkindness
E2 1654 l., the last was truest of the twain
*1H6 722 the virtuous l., Countess of Auvergne, with *1H6 774 stay Lord Talbot, for my l. craves
*1H6 821 be not dismay'd, fair l., nor misconster the *1H6 2322 l., vouchsafe to listen what I say
*1H6 2327 l., wherefore talk you so?
*1H6 2622 betroth'd unto another l. of esteem

*1H6 2670 with a l. of so high resolve (as is fair Margaret)
*Con 786 that my poor l. should come by this way
*Con 793 my gracious lord, see where my l. comes *Con 840 I pray proceed no further against my l., than the *Con 844 must you Sir John conduct my l.?
*Con 946 and you my gracious l., and sovereign mistress
*Con 952 doth he not twit our sovereign l. here, as if *Con 1149 if ever l. wrong'd her lord so much
*2H6 600 patience, good l., wizards know their times *2H6 660 with him, the husband of this lovely l.
*2H6 872 your l. is forthcoming, yet at London
*2H6 1030 his l. banish'd, and a limb lopp'd off
*2H6 1175 must you, Sir John, protect my l. here?
*2H6 1196 like to a duchess, and Duke Humphrey's l.
*2H6 1374 and you, my sovereign l., with the rest, causeless
*2H6 1391 hath he not twit our sovereign l. here with *2H6 1814 if ever l. wrong'd her lord so much, thy mother
*TT 1120 I see the l. hath something to grant
*TT 1210 lords along, and use this l. honourably
*3H6 1425 I see this l. hath a thing to grant
*E3 211 my liege, I crave the l., and no more
*E3 231 say, good my lord, which is he, must have the l.
*E3 282 l. stand up: I come to bring thee peace
*E3 535 ah, l., I am blunt, and cannot straw the flowers of *E3 992 arise, true English l., whom our isle may
*Sel 199 in love? if he be, lording, 'tis not l.'s love
*Sel 928 but always slept upon a l.'s lap 1T 263 I hope our l.'s treasure and our own may serve 2T 275 their arms to hang about a l.'s neck
2T 1158 take pity of a l.'s ruthful tears
E2 748 our l.'s first love is not wavering
*1H6 2179 as liking of the l.'s virtuous gifts
*TT 1110 this l.'s husband here Sir Richard Grey, at *TT 1222 and lull myself within a l.'s lap
*3H6 1415 this l.'s husband, Sir Richard Grey, was slain
*3H6 1582 I'll make my heaven in a l.'s lap

Ladyship.

E2 802 I humbly thank your l.
*1H6 770 but since your l. is not at leisure, I'll *1H6 792 I laugh to see your l. so fond
*2H6 590 will her l. behold and hear our exorcisms?

Laelius.

L 357 then L. [Old eds. Lalius], the chief centurion, crown'd with Laertes'.

2T 1772 and crystal waves of fresh Jaertis' [4to L.] stream

Laertis'.

2T 1467 Jaertis' [4to L.] stream, embracing thee with deepest of his love

Laesae.

*Loc 1576 L. furtivo quam cor mulieris amore

Lag.

*1H6 1473 fortune in favour makes him l. behind
L 477 and that he ls. behind with them, of purpose

Laid.

*2H6 2751 all the country is l. for me
*Sel 612 if once thou hadst been l. in grave
*Sel 954 when he is dead, and l. in quiet grave
*Sel 1680 to make that sure I have a platform l.
1T 110 the plot is l. by Persian noblemen and captains
1F 670 and envenom'd steel are l. before me to despatch myself 2F 591 are l. before me to despatch myself
*JMS 42 here were no bets at all, no wagers laid
JM 2410 this train he l. to have entrapp'd thy life
E2 243 then l. they violent hands upon him
E2 2179 that Edmund l. a plot to set his brother free
MP 164 the plot is l., and things shall come to pass
D 913 my princely robes, thou see'st, are l. aside
HLM 49 and l. his childish head upon her breast
HLM 393 asleep had l. enchanted Argus
HLM 411 at last, as shepherds do, her on the ground he l.
HLM 455 at his [V. R. this] fair-feather'd feet the engines l.
*HLC 941 then l. he forth his late-enrichèd arms
*HLC 1166 and l. her down even where Leander lay
*HLC 1704 then l. she wine on cares to make them sink
*HLC 1909 Hymen and Eucharis had l. this plat [V.R. plot]
Ov 384 while closely hid betwixt two doors I l.
Ov 1223 his sword l. by, safe, though rude places yields
Ov 1558 Venus with Vulcan, though, smith's tools l. by Ov 2004 O, would in my forefathers' tomb deep l. my bones had been Ov 2214 where Linus, by his father Phoebus l.
L 466 and l. before their eyes slaughter to come
*1H6 748 the plot is l., if all things fall out right, I shall *Con 181 this night when I was l. in bed, I dreamt that *Con 927 but greater matters are laid unto your charge
*Con 947 causeless have l. complaints upon my head
*Con 1059 then see the clothes l. smooth about him still
*Con 1109 violent hands were l. upon the life of this thrice [Q2 omits] famous duke
*2H6 939 as I have read, l. claim unto the crown
*2H6 1347 but mightier crimes are l. unto your charge
*2H6 1375 causeless have l. disgraces on my head
*2H6 1378 ay, all of you have l. your heads together
*2H6 1610 have you l. fair the bed?
*2H6 1741 some violent hands were l. on Humphrey's life
*2H6 1759 that violent hands were l. upon the life of *TT 680 lenity, and harmful pity must be l. aside
*TT 1380 tell him my mourning weeds be l. aside
*TT 2100 I'll blast his harvest and [Q3 if] your head were l.
*3H6 822 lenity and harmful pity must be l. aside
*3H6 1638 and with dishonour l. me on the ground
*3H6 1870 tell him, my mourning weeds are l. aside
*3H6 2967 I'll blast his harvest, if your head were l.
*E3 1185 the other by compulsion l. about
*E3 2049 for when we see a horse l. down to die, although Lain.

2T 421 and l. in leaguer fifteen months and more 1F 822 begotten on a sunny bank, where I have l. ever since Ov 646 among day-books and bills they had l. better
Ov 2225 what to have l. alone [ed. C, above] in empty bed?

Lair.

D 942 and raise the light-foot deer from forth their l.?

Läis.

Ov 202 or L. of a thousand lovers [eds. B, C, wooers] sped [ed. A, spread]

Lake.

*Loc 1143 I'll send thy soul unto the Stygian l.
1T 168 and of the ever-raging [4to river raging] Caspian L.
1T 385 shall vail to us as lords of all the l.
1T 2010 Furies from the black Cocytus' l.
2T 1204 and travel headlong to the l. of hell
2T 1814 this our famous l. of Limnasphaltis 2T 1864 now fill the mouth of Limnasphaltis' l.
2T 1912 in Limnasphaltis' l. there lies more gold than 2T 1952 no, though Asphaltis' l. were liquid gold 2T 1959 and cast them headlong in the city's l.
2T 2001 thousands of men, drown'd in Asphaltis' l.
2T 2024 Babylon, circled about with Limnasphaltis' l.

2T 2215 from thence to Nubia near Borno-l.
1F 902 Acheron, and the fiery l. of ever-burning Phlegethon 2F 881 the fiery l. of ever-burning Phlegethon
2F 1479 and hurl him into some l. of mud and dirt
2F 1505 here, half smother'd in a l. of mud and dirt
E2 2477 What else? — Here is the keys, this is the l.
*Con 430 send up I charge you from Sosestus' l., the spirit Ascalon
*2H6 626 descend to darkness, and the burning l. : false fiend avoid 2T 441 the Ethiopian sea, rivers and ls.
2T 953 that you may dry-foot march through ls. and pools
1F 861 with walls of flint, and deep entrenched ls.
2F 837 with walls of flint, and deep-entrenchèd ls.
E2 1445 in ls. of gore your headless trunks, your bodies will I trail
*Loc 1203 through burning sulphur of the Limbo-l.

Lalius.

L 357 then Laelius [Old eds. L.] the chief centurion, crown'd with Lamb.

*Sel 1228 soft-hearted, mild, and gentle as a l.
E2 2032 for he's a l., encompassèd by wolves
*Con 984 the fox barks not when he would steal the l.
*Con 1069 for as the sucking child or harmless l., so is he innocent
*Con 1573 that of the skin of an innocent l. should parchment [Q3 parchment should] be made *2H6 1264 the fox barks not, when he would steal the l.
*2H6 1280 as is the sucking l., or harmless dove
*2H6 1286 is he a l.? his skin is surely lent him
*2H6 2275 that of the skin of an innocent l. should be made parchment
*TT 298 so looks the pent-up lion on the l.
*TT 540 who like a l. fell at the butchers' feet
*3H6 251 such safety finds the trembling l., environed with wolves *3H6 2474 and when the lion fawns upon the l., the *3H6 2475 the l. will never cease to follow him
JM 751 yet are our looks as innocent and harmless as a l.'s
*Sel 668 a lion fierce, tiring his stomach on a flock of ls.
*Loc 896 like to a lion 'mongst a flock of ls.
PS 14 wool which from our pretty ls. we pull [Not in P. P.]
*1H6 255 lo, whilst I waited on my tender ls., and *1H6 2449 or else, when thou didst keep my ls. a-field
*TT 938 poor ls. do feel the rigour of their wraths
*3H6 424 or ls. pursu'd by hunger-starved wolves
*3H6 1136 poor harmless ls. abide their enmity

Lambeth.

E2 285 to cross to L., and there stay with me
E2 295 with Guy of Warwick, that redoubted knight, are gone towards L.

Lame.

E2 (Title) to be sold at his shop at the L. Hospital gate, near Smithfield
E2 966 and, l. and poor, lie groaning at the gates
*2H6 855 true : made the l. to leap and fly away
*Con 531 What art thou l. too? — I [Q2 Yea] indeed sir, God help me
*Con 533 How cam'st thou l.? — With falling off on [Q3 omits] a plum-tree
*2H6 778 What, art thou l.? — Ay God Almighty help me
*E3 76 his l. unpolish'd shifts are come to light
*E3 239 excuse it that your bonny horse is l.
*E3 1691 that long have been diseas'd, sick and l.

Lament.

*Loc 63 cease your ls., and leave your grievous moan
*Loc 81 then, worthy Brutus, leave these sad ls.
*Loc 926 is not to be compared with my ls.
*Loc 932 with childish sobs and womanish ls.?
*Loc 981 with anguish, sorrow, and with sad ls.
*Loc 1158 and aid me in my sorrowful ls.?
*Loc 1166 and gnash your teeth with dolorous ls.
2T 2267 my body's mortified lineaments [4to ls.]
JM 372 why stand you thus unmov'd with my ls.?
E2 2025 to company my heart with sad ls.
*1H6 104 my gracious lords, to add to your ls.
*E3 405 with such sweet ls., that it may raise drops in a Tartar's eye
*Loc 814 « with wailing and weeping, Come you to l. »
*Loc 929 he loves not most that doth l. the most
*Loc 1751 though nature makes me to l.
1T 96 all Asia l. to see the folly of their king
E2 1129 cease to l., and tell us where's the king
E2 1992 be patient, good my lord, cease to l.
MP 520 how Charles our son begins for to l.
D 334 leave to l., lest they laugh at our fears
Ov 943 spying his mistress' tears, he will l.
Ov 1079 kisses spent bewail I only, though I them l.
Ov 1452 and whoe'er see her, worthily l.
*AT 55 and no man ever did l. for him, to die unfit
*TT 406 but that I hate thee much, I should l. thy miserable state?
*3H6 504 I should l. thy miserable state
*3H6 2718 'twere childish weakness to l., or fear 1T 1997 for fair Zenocrate that so ls. his state 2F 2147 as every Christian heart ls. to think on *2H6 1661 yet he most Christian-like ls. his death

Lament : see Waiment.

Lamentable.

*SP 3 a most l. history which this last age acknowledgeth
*Sel 427 and poor Ixion's l. moan?
*Sel 1340 mourn a while over these princes' l. tombs
*Loc (Title) The l. tragedy of Locrine
*Loc 1308 and felt not long his l. smart 1T 664 in what a l. case were I, if nature had not given E2 (Title) The troublesome reign and l. death of Edward the second *2H6 2274 is not this a l. thing, that of the skin of an innocent lamb

Lamentably.

*Loc 749 most l. slain by Humber's treacheries

Lamented.

*Loc 916 l. more than I for Albanact HLM 532 and turn'd aside, and to herself l.

Lamenteth.

JM 431 father, for thee l. Abigail

Lamenting.

*Loc 1299 so may we judge by her l. words
*HLC 2401 searching the l. waves for him
*Con 1516 still l. and mourning for Suffolk's death
*2H6 2424 still l. and mourning for Suffolk's death?

Lamp.

1T 1477 I, the chiefest l. of all the earth, first rising in the east 1T 2082 O highest l. of ever-living [4to everlasting] Jove
2T 1654 a greater l. than that bright eye of heaven
*TT 515 now they are but one l., one light, one sun
*3H6 633 now are they but one l., one light, one sun
*Sel 1819 that quench'd those ls. of ever-burning light 1T 1215 whose eyes are brighter than the ls. of heaven

1T 1450 that sphere enchas'd with thousands ever-shining ls.
1T 1475 and dim the brightness of your [Old eds. their] neighbour ls.
2T 247 whose beams illuminate the ls. of heaven
2T 662 Apollo, Cynthia, and the ceaseless ls. that 2T 1166 drawing from it the shining ls. of heaven 2T 2081 and summon all the shining ls. of heaven to 2T 2236 as bright as all the ls. that beautify the sky !
*1H6 974 these eyes, like ls., whose wasting oil is spent

Lancaster.

E2 74 L. ! — My lord ? — That Earl of L. do I abhor
E2 93 frown'st thou thereat, aspiring L. ?
E2 102 four earldoms have I, besides L.
E2 129 and northward Gaveston [Dyce L.] hath many friends
E2 150 and that high-minded Earl of L.
E2 216 how now ! why droops the Earl of L. ?
E2 234 ah, that bewrays their baseness, L. !
E2 291 Edmund, the mighty prince of L., that hath more earldoms
E2 332 Warwick and L., wear you my crown
E2 361 thou, L., High-Admiral of our fleet
E2 497 His wanton humour will be quickly left. — O, never, L. !
E2 513 O, L., let him dissuade the king !
E2 545 my Lord of L., mark the respect
E2 560 mark you but that, my Lord of L.
E2 589 on that condition L. will grant
E2 637 courageous L., embrace thy king
E2 806 look, L., how passionate he is
E2 824 and what is yours, my Lord of L. ?
E2 832 proud Mortimer ! ungentle L. !
E2 912 The like oath Pembroke takes. — And so doth L.
E2 1040 would L. and he had both carous'd a bowl of poison
E2 1083 I have inform'd the Earl of L.
E2 1132 far be it from the thought of L. to offer violence to E2 1139 forslow no time, sweet L. ; let's march
E2 1188 L., why talk'st thou to the slave ?
E2 1262 my Lord of L., what say you in this ?
E2 1313 Warwick I know is rough, and L. inexorable
E2 1415 Mortimer hardly ; Pembroke and L. spake least
E2 1505 look, L., yonder is Edward among his flatterers
E2 1514 traitor on thy face, rebellious L. !
E2 1556 these lusty leaders, Warwick and L., I charge
E2 1667 a many friends are made away, as Warwick, L.
*1H6 1068 strong-fix'd is the House of L.
*Con (Title) of the two famous Houses of York and L.
*Con 151 nor shall proud L. usurp my right
*Con 164 to graffle [Q3 grapple] with the House of L.
*Con 650[a] the fourth was John of Gaunt, the Duke of L. [So in Q3]
*Con 654 the fourth was John of Gaunt, the Duke of L. [So in Q1 Q2]
*Con 668 Bolingbroke, son and heir to John of Gaunt, the Duke of L.
*Con 672 by Richard's death came the House of L. unto the crown
*Con 690 even in the heart-blood of the House of L.
*Con 1331 the honourable blood of L., cannot be shed by *Con 1823 resign thy crown proud L. to me
*Con 1910 hath sworn immortal hate to thee and all the House of L.
*Con 1915 now L. sit sure, thy sinews shrink
*2H6 245 nor shall proud L. usurp my right
*2H6 258 to grapple with the House of L., and *2H6 912 next to whom, was John of Gaunt, the Duke of L.
*2H6 919 till Henry Bolingbroke, Duke of L., the eldest son
*2H6 927 thus got the House of L. the crown
*2H6 969 sword be stain'd with heart-blood of the House of L.
*2H6 2103 the honourable blood of L. must not be shed
*TT (Title) The whole contention between the two Houses of L. and York
*TT 21 throne which now the House of L. usurps
*TT 41 the proudest bird that holds up L.
*TT 82 be Duke of L., let him be king
*TT 83 why ? he is both king and Duke of L.
*TT 159 Henry of L. resign thy crown
*TT 269 Westmoreland, and [Q3 with] others of the House of L.
*TT 336 thou House of L., thrice-happy chance is it for thee
*TT 552 dyed, even in the heart-blood of the House of L.
*TT 643 what may make against the House of L.
*TT 969 ah L., I fear thine overthrow
*TT 1302 whilst life upholds this arm, this arm upholds the House of L.
*TT 1614 Edward hath more friends, than L. at this time must perceive
*TT 1769 Oxford, Oxford, for L.
*TT 1773 Somerset, Somerset, for L.
*TT 1777 Montague, Montague, for L.
*TT 1782 Clarence, Clarence, for L.
*TT 1790 who gave his blood to lime the stones together, and set up L.
*TT 1920 Saint George for L.
*TT 1937 and ne'er have stoln the breech from L.
*TT 2046 what ? will the aspiring blood of L. sink into the ground
*3H6 23 throne, which now the House of L. usurps
*3H6 46 the proudest he that holds up L.
*3H6 89 be Duke of L., let him be king
*3H6 90 he is both king, and Duke of L.
*3H6 171 Henry of L., resign thy crown
*3H6 211 now York and L. are reconcil'd
*3H6 296 by giving the House of L. leave to breathe
*3H6 330 nor any of the House of L.
*3H6 779 may make against the House of L.
*3H6 1203 O L. ! I fear thy overthrow
*3H6 1742 this arm upholds the House of L.
*3H6 2550 Oxford, Oxford, for L.
*3H6 2558 Montague, Montague, for L.
*3H6 2563 Somerset, Somerset, for L.
*3H6 2576 gave his blood to lime the stones together, and set up L.
*3H6 2786 and ne'er have stoln the breech from L.
*3H6 2914 what ? will the aspiring blood of L. sink in the ground ?

Lance.

*E3 2368 a troop of ls. met us on the way
*Sel 76 and cracked in two our uncontrollèd l.
*Sel 931 will be unskilful at the warlike l.
*Loc 484 and crack my l. upon his burgonet
*Loc 490 Penthesilea, armed with her l.
*Loc 636 or, with my l. I'll prick your bowels out 1T 1201 whose hands are made to grasp a warlike l.
1T 2176 as Turnus 'gainst Aeneas did, armed [4to Armes] with l.
2T 23 with the halberd, l., and murdering axe
2T 288 well done, my boy ! thou shalt have shield and l.
2T 757 desperate, and mad, breaking my steelèd l.

2T 1632 nor pistol, sword, nor l., can pierce your flesh
Ov 1861 Pallas' l. strikes me with unconquer'd arm
*1H6 123 above human thought, enacted wonders with his sword and l.
*1H6 1352 break a l., and run a-tilt at death
*1H6 1436 a braver soldier never couched l.
*Con 1951 charging his l. with his old weary arms
*3H6 1006 broach'd with the steely point of Clifford's l.
*E3 1466 receive this l. into thy manly hand
*Sel 144 breaking our ls. on his sturdy crest
*Loc 974 the broken ls. climb the crystal skies
1T 610 our quivering ls., shaking in the air
1T 1492 so shall our swords, our ls., and our shot fill all the air
1T 2017 let all the swords and ls. in the field stick in his breast
1T 2123 on horsemen's ls. to be hoisted up
2T 972 dyeing their ls. with their streaming blood
2T 1564 and break their burning ls. in the air
*Loc 470 for we'll receive them at the ls.' points
1T 1186 leave words, and let them feel your ls.' points
*TT 208 the soldiers should have toss'd me on their ls.' points, before 1T 335 and either l. [8vo lanch] his greedy thirsting throat, or 1T 566 their careless swords shall l. [Old eds. lanch] their fellows' throats 2T 981 and see him l. [8vo lanch] his flesh to teach you all 2T 1113 who gently now will l. thy ivory throat
2T 1258 think of thy end ; this sword shall l. thy throat

Lanced.

L 3 whose conquering swords their own breasts l. [Old ed. launcht]

Lanch.

1T 335 either lance [8vo l.] his greedy thirsting throat, or 1T 566 their careless swords shall lance [Old eds. l.] their fellows' throats 2T 981 and see him lance [8vo l.] his flesh to teach you all

Lanched.

L 3 whose conquering swords their own breasts l. [Old ed. launcht]

Lanciers.

*Loc 684 as many l., and light-armed knights 2T 155 and back'd by [4to with] stout l. of Germany

Land.

*Sel 135 the lowest l. [Grosart bank], and damnèd spirits' holt
*Sel 541 to make thee regent of so great a l.
*Sel 553 in giving such a l. so full of strife
*Sel 875 Mustaffa, we are princes of the L.
*Sel 1132 vow'd revenge on all the subjects of his father's L.
*Sel 1365 I am not like the unmanurèd l., which
*Sel 2222 fly hence with me unto some desert l.
*Sel 2542 preventing such a mischief from the L.
*Loc 224 that shall maintain the honour of this l.
*Loc 423 right noble father, we will rule the l.
*Loc 1259 there lie the beasts that sought to usurp our l.
*Loc 1260 ay, they are beasts that seek to usurp our l.
*Loc 1450 she bought with her portion a yard of l.
*Loc 1457 the l. where ugly Fames dwelt
*Loc 1458 may no ways equalize this cursed l.
*Loc 2037 for their private amours dare turmoil our l.
1T 38 trading by l. unto the Western Isles
1T 127 Afric and Europe bordering on your l.
1T 977 that no relief or succour come by l.
1T 1720 Zenocrate, were Egypt Jove's own l., yet
1T 1776 and thence by l. unto the torrid zone
2T 49 meaning to make a conquest of our l.
2T 424 and all the l. unto the coast of Spain 2T 442 but neither man nor child in all the l.
2T 876 threatening a dearth [Old eds. death] and famine to this l. !
2T 950 when this is learn'd for service on the l.
2T 1030 wherein is all the treasure of the l.
2T 1189 fire the town, and over-run the l.
2T 1216 of that sweet l. whose brave metropolis
2T 1227 and neighbour cities of your highness' l. [4to omits line] 2T 1699 surveying all the glories of the l.
2T 2234 eastward behold as much more l.
1F 120 and chase the Prince of Parma from our l.
1F 384 I thought that was all the l. his father left him 1F 977 now is his fame spread forth in every l.
2F 117 and chase the Prince of Parma from our l.
2F 897 may be admir'd thorough [1616, 1624, through] the furthest l.
JMP 4 to view this l., and frolic with his friends
JM 107 thus trolls our fortune in by l. and sea
JM 1046 nor e'er shall see the l. of Canaan
JM 1812 content : but we will leave this paltry l.
JM 2214 bands wherein the Turk hath your l. and you ?
E2 152 and sooner shall the sea o'erwhelm my l. than E2 403 that I am banish'd and must fly the l.
E2 414 thou from this l., I from myself am banish'd
E2 954 the Mortimers are not so poor, but, would they sell their l.
E2 1070 my lords, of love to this our native l., I come
E2 1104 Spenser and I will post away by l.
E2 1321 and suffer uncontroll'd these barons thus to beard me in my l.
E2 1540 brother, in regard of thee and of thy l., did they E2 1574 begets the quiet of King Edward's l.
E2 1763 whose looseness hath betray'd thy l. to spoil
E2 1774 injuries Edward hath done to us, his queen, and l.
E2 1903 and all the l., I know, is up in arms
MP 57 and make his Gospel flourish in this l.
MP 711 and rent our true religion from this l.
MP 734 which are already muster'd in thy l.
MP 824 himself should occupy, which is his own free l.
MP 1056 to spend the treasure, which should strength my l.
MPF 9 he's to have the choice of his own free l.
D 209 for the l. whereof thou dost inquire, it is the D 278 from thence a few of us escap'd to l.
D 825 and wrought him mickle woe on sea and l.
D 1109 with whom we did divide both laws and l.
D 1289 I shall be planted in as rich a l.
D 1290 speak of no other l. ; this l. is thine
D 1305 and seek a foreign l. call'd Italy
D 1718 betwixt this l. and that be never league
HLM 354 sends forth a rattling murmur to the l.
HLM 725 by this, Leander, being near the l., cast Ov 100 soon may you plough the little l. [ed. A, landes] I have Ov 114 and she that on a feign'd bull swam to l.
Ov 2443 having wander'd now through sea and l.
L 13 what a world of l. and sea might they have won
L 83 men so strong by l. and sea no foreign force could ruin
L 96 nor then was l. or sea, to breed such hate
L 262 silent thorough winter's rage, or sea far from the l.

L 307 woods turn'd to ships ; both l. and sea against us
L 411 that uncertain shore which is nor sea nor l.
Dia 47 and you [shall] have both l. and [hill]
*Epg 484 but on the l. a little gulf there is *Con 74 done all we could to keep to keep that l. in peace?
*Con 95 and though he be protector of the l., and *Con 196 art thou not second woman in this l.
*Con 334 madam I am but protector over [Q3 ore] the l.
*Con 727 the Lord shall be my guide both for my l. and me
*Con 737 when thou wert protector over my l.
*Con 817 and he a prince, protector of the l.
*Con 1178 they wish you to banish him from forth the l.
*Con 1381 he means to turn this l., and set a new nap on it [Q3 on't]
*Con 1613 term'd it the civil'st place of all this l.
*Con 1796 did work me and my l. such cruel spite
*2H6 75 your grief, the common grief of all the l.
*2H6 174 more intolerable than all the princes in the l. beside *2H6 202 while they do tend the profit of the l.
*2H6 203 as he loves the l., and common profit of his country
*2H6 539 a fouler fact did never traitor in the l. commit *2H6 1125 and thou a prince, protector of this l.
*2H6 1139 and he a prince, and ruler of the l.
*2H6 1359 and equity exil'd your highness' l.
*2H6 1711 and threw it towards the l. : the sea receiv'd it
*2H6 1965 tis not the l. I care for, wert thou thence, a
*TT 209 the duke is made protector of the l.
*TT 983 I and ten thousand in this woeful l., had left no
*TT 1072 and thus disguis'd to greet my native l.
*TT 1073 no, Henry, no, it is no l. of thine
*TT 1916 his l. and all our friends are quite distress'd
*3H6 1326 to greet mine own l. with my wishful sight
*3H6 1327 no Harry, Harry, 'tis no l. of thine
*3H6 1416 his l. then seiz'd on by the conqueror
*3H6 2252 that the people of this blessed l. may not be punish'd *3H6 2272 I make you both protectors of this l.
*E3 246 they would not back for all the armed power of this l.
*E3 380 for she is all the treasure of our l.
*E3 1065 by l., with Xerxes we compare of strength
*E3 1246 is quite abandon'd and expuls'd the l.
*E3 1320 musing thou shouldst encroach upon his l.
*E3 2069 your pass and warrant for my safety through this l.
*E3 2102 for all your knights to pass his father's l.
*E3 2240 I give to thee three thousand marks a-year in English l.
*2H6 1708 to rob my earnest gaping sight of thy l.'s view
*Sel 2056 feeding thy sheep among these grassy ls.
*Sel 2524 that hath his steps guided through many ls.
*Loc 42 that was a terror to the bordering ls.
*Loc 1255 if all the hosts of the barbarian ls.
*Loc 1492 those that do intrude themselves in others' ls.
JM 2103 take my goods too, and seize upon my ls.
MP 811 to beat the papal monarch from our ls.
D 1283 all that they have, their ls., their goods, their lives
Ov 1601 as soon as from strange ls. Sabinus came Ov 1960 what, not Alpheus in strange ls. to run
L 169 and then large limits had their butting ls.
L 251 all ls. else have stable peace : here war's rage first begins
*Epg 291 that he hath livings and fair ls. to lose
*1H6 1882 lives, honours, ls., and all, hurry to loss
*Con 303 her worst gown, was worth more wealth than all my father's ls.
*2H6 232 while his own ls. are bargain'd for, and sold
*2H6 384 for keeping my ls., and wife and all, from me
*2H6 451 gown, was better worth than all my father's ls.
*2H6 2881 ls., goods, horse, armour, anything I have is his *TT 1050 so shalt thou sinew both these ls. together
*TT 1135 were it not pity they should lose their father's ls.?
*TT 1137 I'll tell thee how these ls. are to be got *TT 1142 nay then widow I'll warrant you all your husband's ls.
*TT 1150 why then thy husband's ls. I freely give thee
*TT 1159 why then thou canst not get thy husband's ls.
*TT 1204 her suit is granted for her husband's ls.
*TT 1825 of all my ls., is nothing left me but my body's length
*3H6 1293 so shalt thou sinew both these ls. together
*3H6 1417 her suit is now, to repossess those ls.
*3H6 1435 ay widow ? then I'll warrant you all your ls.
*3H6 1447 'twere pity they should lose their father's ls.
*3H6 1460 then get your husband's ls., to do them good *3H6 1463 I'll tell you how these ls. are to be got *3H6 1479 why then, thy husband's ls. I freely give thee
*3H6 1497 why then thou shalt not have thy husband's ls.
*3H6 1551 her suit is granted for her husband's ls.
*3H6 2286 a traitor, and all his ls. and goods confiscate
*3H6 2630 of all my ls., is nothing left me, but my body's length
*E3 808 lieutenant-general in all his ls. and large dominions
D 1713 grant, though the traitors l. in Italy, they
*TT 1370 I'll undertake to l. them on our coast
*TT 1508 I'll march to meet proud Warwick ere he l.
*3H6 1846 I'll undertake to l. them on our coast
*E3 1104 to several places, lest they chance to l.
*E3 1732 to l. at Calice and to visit you

Landed.

*TT 1830 and at Southampton l. all her train
*TT 1863 are l. and mean once more to menace us
*3H6 2047 they are already, or quickly will be l.
*E3 1192 were fain to give them way, and they are l.

Landing.

*E3 1288 whom since our l. we could never meet
*E3 1362 how, since my l., I have won no towns

Landish.

E2 706 with base out*l.* cullions at his heels
HLM 86 the rudest peasant melt, that in the vast up*l.* country dwelt

Landlord.

MP 821 whereas he is your l., you will take upon you to be his MPF 10 where he is your l., you take upon you to be his Land-stream.

Ov 1952 trust me, l., thou shalt no envy lack

Lane.

E2 (Title) and are to be sold at his shop in Chancery L.
MP 300 let us keep this l., and slay his servants
*3H6 428 three times did Richard make a l. to me
*Con 1647 and at every l.'s ends, let them kiss together
JM 1144 walking the back ls., through the gardens
JM 1819 the meads, the orchards, and the primrose-ls.

Langley.

*1H6 1051 deriv'd from famous Edmund L., Duke of York
*Con 650 the second was Edmund of L., Duke of York [So in Q1 Q2]

*Con 650[a] the fifth was Edmund of L., Duke of York [So in Q3]
*Con 661 Edmund of L. Duke of York died, and left behind [So in Q1 Q2]
*2H6 913 the fifth, was Edmund L., Duke of York
*2H6 946 who was to Edmund L., Edward the Third's fifth son's son

Language.
*2H6 2743 for he is fierce, and cannot brook hard l.
2T 779 epitaph writ in as many several ls.

Languish.
1T 156 droop and l. in my brother's government
2T 2134 why, shall I sit and l. in this pain?
Ov 905 let him go see her, though she do not l.

Languished.
*HLC 1136 with a deep sigh, and hand that l.

Languishment.
HLM 384 laden with l. and grief, he flies
*E3 429 how full of l., her beauty makes me

Lank.
*2H6 494 the clergy's bags are l. and lean with thy extortions

Lantchidol.
2T 69 where raging L. beats on the regions

Lantern.
*2H6 1013 my stay, my guide, and l. to my feet
*E3 889 men, like ls., show light lust within themselves

Laocoon.
D 460 L., breaking a spear upon his hollow breast

Laodamia.
Ov 1612 with L., mate to her dead lord

Laomedon.
Ov 1985 Ilia, sprung from Idaean L.?

Lap.
*Sel 928 but always slept upon a lady's l.
2T 414 shall hide his head in Thetis' watery l.
JM 1806 now, gentle Ithamore, lie in my l.
JM 1966 come, gentle Ithamore, lie in my l.
JM 1968 let music rumble, whilst I in thy incony [Old eds. incoomy] l. do tumble
E2 1911 on thy l. lay I this head, laden with mickle care
D 621 will set thee on her l., and play with thee
D 660 sit in my l., and let me hear thee sing
D 867 Cupid shall lay his arrows in thy l.
D 1052 as made disdain to fly to fancy's l.!
Ov 399 when on thy l. thine eyes thou dost deject
Ov 579 he wants no gifts into thy l. to hurl
Ov 754 she holds and views her old locks in her l.
Ov 946 to thee, being cast, do hap sharp stripes; she sitteth in the judge's l.
Ov 1469 and hide thy left hand underneath her l.
Ov 1580 she in my l. sits still as erst she did
Ov 2158 she held her l. ope to receive the same *1H6 2245 and let her head fall into England's l.
*Con 1254 but like a pleasant slumber in thy l.?
*2H6 1996 but like a pleasant slumber in thy l.?
*TT 1222 and lull myself within a lady's l.
*3H6 1582 I'll make my heaven in a lady's l.
JM 112 than thus to pour out plenty in their ls.

Lapiths.
Ov 1373 the L. and the Centaurs, for a woman, to cruel arms

Lapland.
1F 153 or L. giants, trotting by our sides
2F 145 or L. giants, trotting by our sides

Lapped.
2T 775 not lapt in lead, but in a sheet of gold
L 327 barbarous tigers, having l. the blood of many a herd

Lapwing-faces.
*HLC 1105 l. that still cry, « Here 'tis! » when that they vow is nothing nigh

Larded.
E2 711 a short Italian cloak, l. with pearl

Lares.
D 259 or steal your household L. from their shrines

Large.
2TP 9 himself in presence shall unfold at l.
JM 1471 my fathers practice, which is there set down at l.
D 402 discourse at l., and truly too, how Troy was overcome?
D 1580 the rocks and sea-gulfs will perform at l.
*1H6 110 the circumstance I'll tell you more at l.
*1H6 408 we shall meet, and break our minds at l.
*1H6 1025 discover more at l. what cause that was *1H6 2178 I have inform'd his highness so at l.
*2H6 870 as more at l. your grace shall understand
*Sel 357 to which dame Nature so l. freedom gave?
*Sel 1995 finding him fled, proposèd l. rewards
1T 457 so l. of limbs, his joints so strongly knit 1T 1203 their limbs more l. and of a bigger size than 2T 937 the bulwarks and the rampires l. and strong
D 1287 deserves as l. a kingdom as is Libya
*HLC 1137 took a robe was nigh, exceeding l.
*HLC 2292 thy l. worth I hide in a short grave!
Ov 19 great are thy kingdoms, over-strong, and l.
Ov 212 how l. a leg, and what a lusty thigh!
Ov 368 and makes l. streams back to their fountains flow
Ov 1392 and where swift Nile, in his l. channel slipping, by Ov 1717 small doors unfitting for l. houses are Ov 1950 rather, thou l. bank-overflowing river, slide in thy bounds
Ov 2295 and seeds were equally in l. fields cast
Ov 2406 poets' l. power is boundless and immense
Ov 2434 show l. ways, with their garments there display'd
L 169 and then l. limits had their butting lands
*1H6 393 o'er-charging your free purses with l. fines
*1H6 765 and l. proportion of his strong-knit limbs
*1H6 2156 in marriage, with a l. and sumptuous dowry
*Con 136 were wont to have l. dowries with their wives
*2H6 109 whose l. style agrees not with the leanness of his purse
*2H6 127 had l. sums of gold, and dowries with their wives
*2H6 2562 l. gifts have I bestow'd on learned clerks
*3H6 2425 and that once gotten, doubt not of l. pay
*E3 808 lieutenant-general in all his lands and l. dominions
*E3 892 shall the l. limits of fair Brittany by me be overthrown?
*E3 1113 you stand for France, an empire fair and l.

Largely.
Ov 1276 and in the midst [ed. A, mids] their bodies l. spread

Largely-spreading.
HLM 605 wherewith she wreath'd her l. hair

Large-spread.
Ov 1793 first, Victory is brought with l. wing
L 439 who were wont in l. hair to exceed the rest of France

Largess.
E2 1365 soldiers, a l., and thrice-welcome all!
MP 119 for this, I have a l. from the Pope

Largition.
*Sel 813 timely l. the steadfast persons from their purpose lifts

Larissa.
2T 539 Tamburlaine, that nigh L. sways a mighty host Larissa-Plains.
2T 250 now rest thee here on fair L.
2T 352 promis'd to meet me on L.
2T 901 thou shalt not beautify L.
Larissa-Walls.
2T 1009 the burning of L., my speech of war
Lark.
JM 670 and, for the raven, wake the morning l.
'Larum : see Alarum
Lascivious.
*Sel 924 that leads his life still in l. pomp
*Loc 1819 with filthy crimes, or with l. lusts?
1F 603 for I am wanton and l., and
2F 548 for I am wanton and l., and
E2 960 the idle triumphs, masks, l. shows, and Ov 140 when our l. toys come in thy mind
Ov 460 and thy neck with l. marks made blue
Ov 2464 the bed is for l. toyings meet
*Ign 22 to court thy beauty with l. rhymes
*1H6 1114 l., wanton, more than well beseems a man of *TT 1947 l. Edward, and thou perjur'd George
*3H6 2796 l. Edward, and thou perjur'd George
*E3 977 stir not, l. king, to hinder me
*E3 1429 a belly-god, a tender and l. wantonness Lash.
Ov 1759 now would I slack the reins, now l. their hide Lashed.
2T 1285 and, when ye stay, be l. with whips of wire
Lashes.
Ov 670 to pedants that with cruel l. pay them
Lass.
*Ign 39 well-featur'd l., thou know'st I love thee dear
Last.
*SP 4 which this l. age acknowledgeth for true
*Sel 55 was at the l. slain fighting in the field
*Sel 1301 and l. of all to see my Acomat prove a
*Sel 1449 even the l. refuge of a wretched man is took *Sel 1465 or make that old false traitor bleed his l.
*Sel 1836 now know, old lords, that you have drank your l.
*Sel 1866 yet glad that I must breathe my l. with him
*Sel 1900 now at the l., seeing she was so cramuk with me
*Loc 1138 next for your peace, l. for your victory 1T 1355 and by this means I'll win the world at l.
1T 1800 altered with terrors to the l. and cruel'st hue
2TP 2 when he arrivèd l. upon the [8vo our] stage
2T 445 at l. I came to Cubar, where the negroes dwell
2T 1214 since l. we show'd your [4to shewed to your] majesty
2T 1219 since l. we number'd to your majesty
2T 1225 since l. we number'd to your majesty
2T 1229 since l. we number'd to your majesty
2T 1826 though this be held his l. day's dreadful siege
2T 1857 thou seest us prest to give the l. assault
2T 2220 I came at l. to Graecia
2T 2259 help me, my lords, to make my l. remove 1F 128 know that your words have won me at the l.
1F 828 what are you, Mistress Minx, the seventh and l.?
1F 1584 years, a hundred thousand, and at l. be sav'd!
2F 125 know that your words have won me at the l. to 2F 747 and what are you, Mistress Minx, the seventh and l.?
2F 2113 a hundred thousand, and at l. [1624, 1631, at the l.] be sav'd
*FB 61 at l., when I had but one hour to come
*FB 62 I turn'd my glass, for my l. hour to run
*JMS 10 is now come at l. to have your princely ears
JM 389 and other ships that came from Egypt l.
JM 639 when we parted l., he said he would attend me
E2 1521 then, Edward, thou wilt fight it to the l.
E2 1654 lady, the l. was truest of the twain
E2 1933 O day, the l. of all my bliss on earth!
E2 2052 so shall my eyes receive their l. content
E2 2208 till at the l. he come to Killingworth
MP 94 and at l. have learn'd that peril is the chiefest way
D 509 at l. came Pyrrhus, fell and full of ire
D 543 at l., the soldiers pull'd her by the heels
D 626 and he, at l., depart to Italy
HLM 203 at l., like to a bold sharp sophister, with HLM 343 so having paus'd a while, at l. she said
HLM 410 at l., as shepherds do, her on the ground he laid
HLM 521 at l. he came : O, who can tell the greeting
*HLC 1942 what became of her I'll tell at l.
*HLC 2428 and with Leander's name she breath'd her l.
*HLC 2435 to testify the hardness of their first life in their l.
Ov 33 let my first verse be six, my l. five feet
Ov 206 betray'd herself, and yielded at the l.
Ov 613 and some blotted letter on the l. edge
Ov 1471 and in her bosom strangely fall at l.
Ov 1534 add deeds unto thy promises at l.
Ov 1747 some greater work will urge me on at l.
Ov 2218 him the l. day in black Avern hath drown'd
Ov 2241 nor did thy ashes her l. offerings lose
Ov 2245 nor this l. fire their presence misses Ov 2296 the ploughman's hopes were frustrate at the l.
Ov 2500 this l. end to my Elegies is set
L 335 at l. learn, wretch, to leave thy monarchy!
L 338 must Pompey as his l. foe plume on me
L 603 and Flamens l., with net-work woollen veils
*Epg 565 only this l. in credit doth remain
*1H6 111 the tenth of August l., this dreadful lord, retiring
*1H6 306 fight till the l. gasp : I'll be your guard *1H6 1059 of which, my lord, your honour is the l.
*1H6 1291 and will at l. break out into a flame
*1H6 2526 shall we at l. conclude effeminate peace?
*1H6 2697 ay grief I fear me, both at first and l.
*Con 469 my lord, how did your grace like this l. flight?
*Con 650[a] the seventh and l. was Sir Thomas of Woodstock, Duke of York [So in Q3]
*Con 657 William of Windsor was the seventh and l. [So in Q1 Q2]
*Con 1388 and Will that came a-wooing to our Nan l. Sunday
*Con 1876 lie thou there, and breathe thy l. [Q3 and tumble in thy blood]
*2H6 281 be my l. breathing in this mortal world
*2H6 364 I fear at l., Hume's knavery will be the duchess' wrack
*2H6 464 so one by one we'll weed them all at l.
*2H6 536 l. time I danc'd attendance on his will, till
*2H6 585 the day of combat, shall be the l. of the next month *2H6 915 William of Windsor was the seventh, and l.
*2H6 1061 for I think I have taken my l. draught in this world
*2H6 2515 and one shilling to the pound, the l. subsidy
*2H6 3089 and the premised flames of the l. day knit earth and heaven
*TT 632 if for the l., say I, and to it lords
*TT 770 when you and I met at Saint Albans l., your legs

*TT 1373 then at the l. I firmly am resolv'd, you shall have aid
*TT 1548 why Warwick when we parted l., thou call'dst me king?
*TT 1837 thy brother Montague hath breath'd his l.
*TT 1856 the big-bon'd traitor Warwick hath breath'd his l.
*3H6 768 if for the l., say I, and to it lords
*3H6 1831 and am I guerdon'd at the l., with shame?
*3H6 1860 therefore, at l., I firmly am resolv'd you shall have aid
*3H6 2245 at l., by notes of household harmony, they quite forget *3H6 2645 ah Warwick, Montague hath breath'd his l.
*3H6 2650 at l., I well might hear, delivered with a
*E3 1154 when l. I was reporter to your grace
*E3 1157 hasting to meet each other in the face, at l.-conjoin'd
*E3 1334 and l. of all, — although I scorn to cope with
*E3 2246 lay thy consent to this bequeath in my l. testament
*E3 2382 wand'ring, at l., we climb'd unto a hill
*Loc 776 and l., (O that his l. might so long l.!)
2T 2143 this grief will cease [4to case], and cannot l.
2T 2144 not l., Techelles! no, for I shall die
MP 572 whilst that these broils do l.
MP 809 which I'll maintain so long as life doth l.
Ov 587 the fame that verse gives doth ever l.
L 86 dire league of partners in a kingdom l. not
L 667 many a year these furious broils let l.
*2H6 212 and would have kept, so long as breath did l.
1F 1031 our horses shall eat no hay as long as this ls.
*HLC 880 without preserve of virtue, nothing ls.
Ov 773 for ever ls. high Sophocles' proud vein
Ov 1745 thy labour ever ls.; she asks but little Ov 2220 the work of poets ls.
*Epg 564 what fame is this that scarce ls. out a fashion?
*TT 1201 why that's a day longer than a wonder ls.
*3H6 1548 that's a day longer than a wonder ls.

Lasted.

*HLC 2332 to Hero's tower, had that kind minute l.
*TT 968 my candle out, that whilst it l. gave King Henry light
*3H6 1202 which whiles it l. gave King Henry light

Lasteth.

*Epg 92 thy pleasure's place like a buff-jerkin l.

Lasting.

*Sel 2030 whose l. praise mounteth to highest heaven
*Sel 2163 we are reserv'd to l. punishment
2F 1926 bringing with us l. damnation
2F 1946 I do yield my life and l. service for your love
*JMS 24 in Hero and Leander one did gain a l. memory
Ov 476 perpetual thirst, and winter's l. rage!
*TT 2125 for here I hope begins our l. joy
*3H6 2992 for here I hope begins our l. joy
*E3 1554 why, then his epitaph is l. praise
*E3 2250 to these and theirs shall l. freedom stay

Lastly.

1F 557 l., that he shall appear to the said John Faustus
2F 504 l., that he shall appear to the said John Faustus
JM 276 l., he that denies this, shall absolutely lose all he has
*TT 1258 and l. to confirm that amity with nuptial knot
*3H6 1687 and l., to confirm that amity with nuptial knot

Late.

*Loc 696 and rue too l. thy over-bold attempts
1T 1124 to rule the provinces he l. subdu'd
1T 1865 and tells for truth submission [Old eds. submissions] come too l.?
1T 2304 that l. the power of Tamburlaine subdu'd
2T 788 heir to the l. mighty emperor Bajazeth
2T 792 kingdoms l. contributory to his mighty father
2T 991 a massy robe that l. adorn'd the Afric potentate
1F 733 Is 't not too l. — Too l.
1F 735 never too l., if Faustus can repent
1F 1173 the knight that was so pleasant with me here of l.?
1F 1437 that heavenly Helen which I saw of l.
1F 1527 and now 'tis too l. Gentlemen, away, lest you perish with me
2F 655 Is 't not too l. — Too l.
2F 657 Too l. — Never too l., if Faustus will repent
2F 1005 in quittance of their l. conspiracy
2F 1036 drink to our l. and happy victory 2F 1082 that Bruno here was l. deliver'd you
2F 1235 for Faustus at the court is l. arriv'd 2F 1244 he was upon the devil's back l. enough
2F 1268 and if this Bruno, thou hast l. redeem'd 2F 1286 then, Faustus, as thou l. didst promise us 2F 1538 have lost very much of l. by horse-flesh 2F 1849 then, Faustus, will repentance come too l.
2F 1896 that heavenly Helen which I saw of l.
2F 2010 and now 'tis [1624, 1631, it is] too l.
2F 2040 what, weep'st thou? 'tis too l.; despair! farewell
*FB 53 then all too l. I curst my wicked deed
JM 683 for l. upon the coast of Corsica, because JM 1548 is 't not too l. now to turn Christian?
JM 2181 slip not thine opportunity, for fear too l. thou
E2 (Title) as it was publicly acted by the l. Queen's majesty's servants
E2 1010 now let them thank themselves, and rue too l.
E2 1063 heir unto the Earl of Glocester l. deceas'd
E2 1792 this way he fled; but I am come too l.
E2 1851 gone, and shipp'd but l. for Ireland with the king
E2 2068 they pass not for thy frowns as l. they did
E2 2231 I hear of l. he hath depos'd himself
MP 32 have you not heard of l. how he decreed
MP 178 the l. suspicion of the Duke of Guise might well
MP 181 too l. it is, my lord, if that be true
MP 207 and, as we l. decreed, we may perform
MP 519 have you mark'd of l., how Charles our son begins
MP 521 begins for to lament for the l. night's-work
MP 675 had l. been pluck'd from out fair Cupid's wing
D 1020 what ails my queen? is she fain sick of l.?
HLM 133 but, alas, too l.! for faithful love will never turn to hate
*HLC 1039 tell it how much his l. desires I tender Ov 92 let her [eds. B, C, he] that caught me l., either love, or Ov 619 my faithful tables, being vile maple l.
Ov 1320 too l. you look back, when, with anchors weigh'd, the Ov 1634 thou also, that l. took'st mine eyes away
Ov 1846 by her eyes, I remember, l. she swore
L 121 that l. deeds would dim old triumphs
*AT 40 and never gave his life a look until it was too l.
*Epg 336 Caius [M. S. Leaves], his poor familiar friend [M. S. frends] of l.
*1H6 181 l. did he shine upon the English side
*1H6 228 hath the l. overthrow wrought this offence?
*1H6 353 whom Henry our l. sovereign ne'er could brook?
*1H6 923 for treason executed in our l. king's days?
*1H6 1008 why didst thou say of l. thou wert despis'd?
*1H6 1178 forbidden l. to carry any weapon

*1H6 1289 this l. dissention grown betwixt the peers
*1H6 1416 they that of l. were daring of their scoffs
*1H6 1434 the noble Duke of Bedford, l. deceas'd
*1H6 1883 it is too l., I cannot send them now
*1H6 1924 too l. comes rescue, he is ta'en or slain
*2H6 89 early and l. debating to and fro how France
*2H6 194 thy l. exploits done in the heart of France
*2H6 462 this l. complaint will make but little for his benefit *2H6 1216 how insolent of l. he is become *2H6 2245 of l., not able to travel with her furred pack
*2H6 2671 the fearful French, whom you l. vanquish'd
*TT 584 to dash your l. decree in parliament
*TT 934 poor boy thy father gave thee life too l.
*TT 1267 heart, where fame l. ent'ring at his heedful ears, hath
*TT 1599 why is your grace so passionate of l.?
*TT 1601 the news, of that success King Edward had of l.?
*3H6 721 to dash our l. decree in parliament
*3H6 1697 heart; where fame, l. ent'ring at his heedful ears, hath *3H6 1785 from giving aid, which l. I promised
*3H6 2163 what l. misfortune has befall'n King Edward?
*3H6 2323 as Henry's l. presaging prophecy did glad my heart
*E3 1216 and then too l. he would redeem his time
*E3 1234 Edward is son unto our l. king's sister
*E3 2121 humble of l., but now made proud with arms
*E3 2204 the l. good-counsel-giver to my soul!

Late-betrayed.

*1H6 1384 as sure as in this l. town great

Late-built.

Ov 1377 a woman against l. Rome did send

Late-despised.

*1H6 1002 your nephew, l. Richard, comes

Late-discovered.

1T 166 East India and the l. isles

Late-enriched.

*HLC 941 then laid he forth his l. arms

Late-felt.

1T 1067 so fares Agydas for the l. frowns
*HLC 1289 as relics of her l. passion

Lately.

*Sel 1118 departed l. from Iconium
1T 1230 which l. made all Europe quake for fear
1T 1590 have you l. heard the overthrow of mighty Bajazeth
2T 476 l. made betwixt the city Zula and Danubius
2T 498 the league we l. made with King Orcanes
2T 2180 young Callapine, that l. fled from your majesty
JM 594 what, Barabas, whose goods were l. seiz'd?
JM 705 Rhodes, from whence you came, was l. lost
JM 2282 to feast my train within a town of war so l. pillag'd
E2 44 you know that I came l. out of France
MP 1146 Lorraine, by the king's consent, is l. strangled unto death
Ov 67 I, l. caught, will have a new-made wound
L 312 raw soldiers, l. press'd, and troops of gowns
*TT 612 but as for your brother he was l. sent from *3H6 748 he was l. sent from your kind aunt
*E3 1713 David of Scotland, l. up in arms
*E3 2192 now, John in France, and l. John of France

Later.

*JMD 4 being in this l. age commended to the stage

Laterally.

HLM 623 and heateth kindly, shining l.

Late-shorn.

L 438 and you, l. Ligurians, who were wont in large-spread hair

Latest.

*Sel 65 well may thy soul rest in her l. grave
*Sel 1011 shall call your highness to your l. home
*Sel 1760 and to my l. hour I shall be so
*Loc 19 the archer Death brought to his l. end
*Loc 102 then hearken to your sovereign's l. words
*Loc 168 and take thy l. blessings at his hands
*Loc 212 if thou tend'rest these my l. words
*Loc 1130 and die with honour in my l. days
*Loc 1395 cousin, remember Brutus' l. words
*Loc 1667 the l. words that Brutus spake to you
*Loc 2010 bring wretched Sabren to her l. home
2T 657 draws in the comfort of her l. breath
2T 718 whose true nobility have merited my l. memory
2T 2029 and so revenge our l. grievous loss
2T 2303 now, eyes, enjoy your l. benefit
1F 1205 calls for the payment of my l. years 2F 1940 both come from drawing Faustus' l. will JM 2397 then, Barabas, breathe forth thy l. fate
E2 2053 my head, the l. honour due to it
Ov 121 pray God it may his l. supper be!
*1H6 1806 this is the l. glory of thy praise, that I
*TT 574 where your brave father breath'd his l. gasp
*3H6 712 where your brave father breath'd his l. gasp
*3H6 2646 and to the l. gasp, cried out for Warwick

Lath.

*2H6 2202 get thee a sword, though made of a l.

Latian.

L 200 Quirinus' rites, and L. Jove advanc'd on Alba hill!

Latin.

L 9 hath made barbarians drunk with L. blood?

Latinus.

Ov 1376 wars, just L., in thy kingdom's centre

Latitude.

2T 898 that have not pass'd the centre's l.

Latmus'.

HLM 115 dragons draw her thirling car from L. mount

Latona's.

*Sel 41 twice fifteen times hath fair L. son walked about the world 1T 2309 or as L. daughter, bent to arms

Latroni.

Ept 2 Et Jovis Alcides, rigido vulturque l.

Latter.

MP 404 in my l. hour to purge myself
D 552 at whose l. gasp Jove's marble statue gan to bend the brow
*1H6 1004 and in his bosom spend my l. gasp
*3H6 2274 and in devotion spend my l. days

Laud.

Ov 1219 hence with great l. thou mayst a triumph move
*Con 1708 in l. and honour of the God of heaven

Laudis.

*3H6 415 Dii faciant l. summa sit ista tuae

Laugh.

*Loc 292 ay, masters, ay, you may l., but I must weep
*Loc 638 place! ha! ha! ha! l. a month and a day at him
*Loc 1765 it makes me l., to think that Guendolen should 1T 117 now sit and l. our regiment to scorn 1T 2044 will see and l. to scorn the former triumphs of 1F 1470 heavens smile at your repulse, and l. your state to scorn!
2F 1438 the devil's dead; the Furies now [1624, 1631, omit] may l.

2F 2041 fools that will l. on earth must weep in hell
E2 714 the king and he, from out a window, l. at such as we MP 681 when she reads my lines, will l., I fear me
D 17 O, how I would with Helen's brother l.
D 334 leave to lament, lest they l. at our fears
*HLC 1537 and have an antic face to l. within *1H6 792 I l. to see your ladyship so fond
*Con 811 and when I start the cruel people l.
*2H6 1131 and when I start, the envious people l.
*2H6 1179 the world may l. again, and I may live to do you kindness
*Sel 1886 « Sometime she ls., sometime she cries »
D 1391 how prettily he ls. ! Go, you wag !
*TT 1087 he ls. and says, his Edward is install'd
*E3 67 see how occasion ls. me in the face !

Laughed.

2F 2070 and l. to see the poor starve at their gates
JM 954 I have l. a-good to see the cripples go limping home
JM 1834 then, like a Jew, he l. and jeered
Ov 1070 she l., and kiss'd so sweetly as might make *Epg 144 some l. a little ; she forsook [Eds. B, C, refus'd] the place *3H6 664 crown'd the gracious duke in high despite, l. in his face

Laughest.

JM 1202 why, how now, Ithamore ! why l. thou so ?
*Epg 118 thou grinn'st [M. S. l.], and then thy lover seeth thy canker-eaten gums
*1H6 790 Ha, ha, ha. — L. thou wretch ?
*1H6 2058 thou antic death, which l. us here to scorn

Laughing.

*Epg 17 oft in my l. rhymes I name a gull
E2 988 and thyself, bedaub'd with gold, rode l. at the rest
*Epg 276 and rotten teeth, which she in l. shows
*Con 796 with envious looks l. at thy shame
*2H6 1106 with envious looks l. at thy shame

Laughing-sport.

D 32 Vulcan shall dance to make thee l.

Laughing-stock.

*Loc 1843 and we are left to be a l.
Ov 1698 a l. thou art to all the city
*Con 820 and made a l., to every idle rascald [Q2 rascall] follower 2F 1522 and make us ls. to all the world

Laughter.

*HLC 1611 scarce durst up for fear of Phoebe's l.
*HLC 1703 nor hath constrainèd l. any grace
*Epg 7 and be to them a l. and a jest
*Epg 148 my fart, quod she ; which did more l. move

Launch.

JM 225 now l. our galleys back again to sea

Launched.

1F 1443 was this the face that l. a thousand ships
2F 1902 was this the face that l. a thousand ships
D 581 for all our ships were l. into the deep
D 1357 these were the instruments that l. him forth
D 1498 l. from the haven, lie they in the road ?

Launched : see Lanched

Launching.

2T 369 l. from Argier to Tripoly, will quickly ride before Natolia

Laund : see Lawnd

Laundress.

1T 1272 thou shalt be l. to my waiting-maid

Laureat.

1F 276 no, Faustus, thou art conjuror l.

Laurel.

*Loc 174 thou shalt be crowned with a l. branch
*HLC 980 her other hand a l. rod applies
*HLC 1617 a theme to such as wore his l. anademe
*3H6 2265 adjudg'd an olive-branch, and l. crown
*E3 1463 with Bellona's hand, be still adorn'd with l. victory
Ov 616 then with triumphant l. will I grace them

Laurel-bough.

1F 1606 and burnèd is Apollo's l.
2F 2154 and burnèd is Apollo's l.

Laurel-wreaths.

2T 1348 loaden with l. to crown us all

Lavinia.

1T 2188 the gods, to end the Trojans' toil, prevented Turnus of L.
D 895 darts forth her light to L.'s shore

Lavinian.

D 1487 now will I haste unto L. shore

Lavish.

2T 410 such l. will I make of Turkish blood
MP 1266 he that makes most l. of his blood
1T 1267 thou wilt repent these l. words of thine
1T 1508 to make these captives rein their l. tongues
HLM 574 and, seeming l., sav'd her maidenhead
*1H6 1013 among which terms, he us'd his l. tongue
*Con 25 forbids me to be l. of my tongue
*Con 1357 then shall I charm thee, hold thy l. tongue
*E3 35 provokes my tongue thus l. in report
*E3 644 and choke the l. tongue when it doth utter the Law.

*Con 773 l. you now, I told you he's in his fence already
*Sel 118 should set the l. of Nature all at nought !
*Sel 321 there needed then no judge, nor yet no l.
*Sel 335 pains for those men which did neglect the l.
*Sel 1397 where there's no shame, no care of holy l.
*Loc 1739 his words to us stand always for a l.
1T 679 thou break'st the l. of arms, unless thou kneel 1F 61 the institute, and universal body of the Church [Dyce l.]
1F 134 both l. and physic are for petty wits
2F 58 the institute, and universal body of the l.
2F 128 both l. and physic are for petty wits
2F 960 Pope Adrian, let me have right [1616, have some right] of l.
JM 1684 no, pardon me ; the l. must have his course
JM 1702 touch me not. — The l. shall touch you
JM 1705 l. wills that each particular be known
JM 2075 let me have l. ; for none of this can prejudice my life
JM 2077 once more, away with him ! — You shall have l.
JM 2086 in prison, till the l. has pass'd on him
E2 1431 a bloody part, flatly 'gainst l. of arms !
E2 1548 and headed him 'gainst l. of arms ?
E2 2424 strike off his head : he shall have martial l.
MPF 15 this is against the l., sir
*HLC 973 the snaky paths to each observèd l.
*HLC 1914 rewards deserts, that l. cannot assist with force
L 2 and outrage strangling l., and people strong
L 278 but l. being put to silence by the wars, we *1H6 407 cardinal, I'll be no breaker of the l.
*1H6 838 faith I have been a truant in the l.
*1H6 840 and therefore frame the l. unto my will *1H6 848 in these nice sharp quillets of the l., good faith I am no wiser

*1H6 1571 the l. of arms is such, that whoso draws a sword *1H6 1673 the truth, about a certain question in the l.
*1H6 1678 I crave the benefit of l. of arms
*1H6 2480 that warranteth by l., to be thy privilege
*Con 356 let him have what punishment the l. will afford
*Con 361 I beseech your grace, let him have the l.
*Con 369 the l. my lord is this by case, it rests suspicious
*Con 633 and leave her open for the l. to judge
*Con 824 I should incur the danger of the l.
*Con 840 proceed no further against my lady, than the course of l. extends *Con 1425 I [Q2 Yea] and stinking l. too, for his breath stinks so *2H6 498 thy cruelty in execution upon offenders hath exceeded l.
*2H6 521 prove them, and I lie open to the l.
*2H6 562 let him have all the rigour of the l.
*2H6 569 uncle, what shall we say to this in l.?
*2H6 576 this is the l., and this Duke Humphrey's doom
*2H6 891 and give her as a prey to l. and shame
*2H6 990 receive the sentence of the l. for sin
*2H6 1002 Eleanor, the l. thou seest hath judg'd thee
*2H6 1003 I cannot justify whom the l. condemns
*2H6 1162 but I in danger for the breach of l.
*2H6 1267 did he not, contrary to form of l., devise strange deaths *2H6 1451 'tis meet he be condemn'd by course of l.
*2H6 2503 nay John, it will be stinking l., for his breath stinks
*3H6 1961 and for this once, my will shall stand for l.
*E3 598 in violating marriage' sacred l.
*E3 762 blot out the strict forbidding of the l.
*E3 944 thy opposition is beyond our l.
*E3 945 if the l. can hinder you to execute the one, let it forbid
*E3 1119 and that's the surest point of all the l.
*E3 2279 robbers on the sea, whom, apprehended, l. would execute
*E3 2327 my desert and public l. of arms
*Sel 90 in learning Arts, and Mahound's dreaded ls.
*Sel 246 let Mahound's ls. be locked up in their case
*Sel 328 then they established ls. and holy rites
*Sel 331 knowing that ls. could not in quiet dwell unless *Sel 774 to make good ls., ill customs to expell
*Sel 1693 a grave philosopher, given to read Mahomet's dread ls.
*Loc 1505 that disannuls thy mother's sugar'd ls.!
*Loc 1825 unkind, thou scorn'st all skilful Brutus' ls.
*Loc 1868 whose will and ls. irrevocable stand
1T 2322 and there make ls. to rule your provinces
2T 506 accomplishments the holy ls. of Christendom enjoin 2T 1994 and spurns the abstracts of thy foolish ls.?
JMP 20 ls. were then most sure when, like the Draco's [Old eds. Drancus], they JM 540 to frame my solitary life to your strait ls.
JM 1580 O Barabas, their ls. are strict!
MP 600 a watchful senate for ordaining ls.
D 1109 with whom we did divide both ls. and land
D 1199 were to trangress against all ls. of love
Ov 763 nor that I study not the brawling ls.
Ov 806 or that I study not the tedious ls.
Ov 1707 to fill my ls. thy wanton spirit frame
Ov 1768 the place's ls. this benefit allow Ov 1926 look gently, and rough husbands' ls. despise
Ov 2181 they govern fields, and ls., they manage peace
L 179 ls. were broke, tribunes with consuls strove
L 227 « Here, here », saith he, « An end of peace; here end polluted ls.!
L 322 and ls. assail'd, and arm'd men in the senate?
L 666 and to the sword's strong hand let all ls. yield
*AT 26 he was a fellow to all those that did God's ls. reject
*Con 1421 there shall be no ls. but such as comes [Q3 come] from my mouth
*Con 1423 we shall have sore ls. then, for he was thrust
*2H6 2499 that the ls. of England may come out of your mouth
*2H6 2932 and with the same to act controlling ls.
*TT 1155 my humble service, such as subjects owes and the ls. commands *3H6 1588 and for I should not deal in her soft ls., she JM 1476 confession must not be reveal'd; the canon-l. forbids it
*Epg 492 Publius, a [MS. omits] student at the Common-L.
*Con 925 I tortur'd above the rate of Common-l.
*E3 148 be thou ambassador for us unto our father-in-l.
*Sel 1931 Bostangi Bashaw, Selim's son-in-l.
*Con 1622 then go to Mile-end Green, to Sir James Cromer his son-in-l.
*2H6 2600 then break into his son-in-l.'s house

Lawful.

*Sel 889 'tis l. for the father to take arms, ay and
*Sel 894 l. for a subject-prince to rise in arms
*Sel 897 much less is 't l. for a man's own son 1T 1434 ignorant of l. arms or martial discipline!
2F 983 to hold the Emperors their l. lords
E2 1330 and learn obedience to their l. king
E2 1461 long live King Edward, England's l. lord!
E2 1518 and levy arms against your l. king?
F2 1795 why dost thou chase thy l. king, thy sovereign, with thy sword?
MP 1166 I vow, as I am l. king of France, to récompense
Ov 1593 what l. is, or we profess love's art Ov 1618 we scorn things l.; stoln sweets we affect Ov 1646 who covets l. things, takes leaves from woods
*Epg 480 by l. mart, and by un*l.* stealth
*1H6 1031 the first-begotten, and the l. heir of *1H6 1500 exclaims on thee, doubting thy birth and l. progeny
*1H6 2559 and therein reverenc'd for their l. king
*Con 353 that the Duke of York was l. heir unto the crown
*Con 680 then I am l. heir unto the kingdom
*Con 1692 long live King Henry, England's l. king
*Con 1842 to levy arms against his l. king
*2H6 2833 to entertain great England's l. king
*TT 134 then am I l. king For Richard the Second in *TT 248 an oath is of no moment being not sworn before a l. magistrate
*TT 754 thus malapert, before thy king and l. sovereign?
*TT 811 to parley thus with England's l. heirs?
*TT 1047 there to be crown'd England's l. king
*TT 1261 to England's king in l. marriage
*TT 1308 tell me true; is Edward l. king or no?
*TT 1309 for I were loath to link with him, that is not l. heir
*3H6 143 and if he may, then am I l. king
*3H6 156 my conscience tells me he is l. king
*3H6 306 being not took before a true and l. magistrate
*3H6 898 bold in terms, before thy sovereign, and thy l. king?
*3H6 1661 and the seat of England's true anointed l. king

*3H6 1664 am come to crave thy just and l. aid
*3H6 1690 to England's king, in l. marriage
*3H6 1750 to link with him, that were not l. chosen
*3H6 2579 against his brother, and his l. king
*E3 673 to break a l. and religious vow?
*E3 1793 why, is it l. for a man to kill, and Ov 1042 I saw you then un*l.* kisses join
*1H6 2625 as doth a ruler with un*l.* oaths
*E3 912 than to embrace in an un*l.* bed

Lawfully.

E2 280 then may we l. revolt from him
*E3 1797 for wrongs receiv'd, no doubt, is l. permitted us

Lawgiver.

Ov 1563 lay in the mid bed, there be my l.

Law-giving.

Ov 2303 l. Minos did such years desire

Lawless.

*Loc 2034 lo! here the end of l. treachery
1T 39 with his l. train daily commit incivil [4to uncivill] outrages 1T 199 enrich thy followers by l. rapine from a silly maid
1T 540 outragious men that live by rapine and by l. spoil
E2 1843 like the l. Catiline of Rome, revell'd in England's wealth
D 260 our hands are not prepar'd to l. spoil
*HLC 1825 swelling veins and tirèd senses of these l. swains
L 641 the world's swift course is l. and casual
*AT 65 his lust was l. as his life, and brought about his death
*E3 1792 not to perform the covenant of my word is l.

Lawn.

E2 2367 to strangle with a l. thrust down [1598 through] the throat
D 759 the sails of folded l., where shall be wrought the wars of Troy
*Epg 280 her cut [Eds. out] l. apron, and her velvet shoes
HLM 15 the outside of her garments were of l.
HLM 740 those white limbs which sparkled through the l.
*HLC 1395 through their beauties, like rich work through l.
*Epg 346 and his wrought pillow overspread with l.
*E3 391 my passion; which he shall shadow with a veil of l.
E2 59 my men, like satyrs grazing on the ls., shall HLM 697 and when he sported in the fragrant ls.

Lawnd.

*3H6 1314 for through this l. anon the deer will come
D 207 that they may trip more lightly o'er the ls.

Lawyer.

Ov 671 thou mak'st the surety to the l. run
Ov 673 the l. and the client hate [ed. A, client both do hate] thy view
*Epg 422 he is a l., and doth well espy that
*Epg 425 Philo, the l., and the [MS. the gentleman, the] fortune-teller *2H6 2273 the first thing we do, let's kill all the ls.
*2H6 2439 ls., courtiers, gentlemen, they call false caterpillars

Laxiorem.

Ov 884 ut custodiam puellae sibi commissae l. habeat

Lay.

*2H6 3075 My soul and body on the action both. — A dreadful l.
2T 203 skilful in music and in amorous ls.
*HLC 1711 singing prophetic elegies and ls.
Ov 35 Elegian Muse, that warblest amorous ls.
*2H6 455 that she will light to listen to their ls.
*E3 433 or who, but women, do our love-ls. greet?
1F 940 friars, prepare a dirge to l. the fury of this ghost 2F 1122 sing a dirge, to l. the fury of this same troublesome ghost
E2 1586 these barons l. their heads on blocks together
*2H6 2687 I see them l. their heads together to surprise me E2 1364 and, Spenser, spare them not, l. it on
*E3 1590 and l. as thick upon my batter'd crest as on an anvil
*Sel 1890 « Thus please, or displease, she ls. it on my skin »
*Sel 278 thus to l. siege against my father's life
*Sel 736 to see me now l. off effeminate robes
*Sel 863 that can l. wait to take away their breath
*Loc 1571 and l. proud Humber on the whirling wheel
1T 328 l. out our golden wedges to the view
1T 1534 if they would l. their crowns before my feet
1T 1947 whose sorrows l. more sorrow unto my soul
2T 1393 as if I l. with you for company
1F 97 O, Faustus, l. that damnèd book aside
2F 94 O, Faustus, l. that damnèd book aside
2F 1051 whilst on thy head I l. my hand
2F 1276 and l. his life at holy Bruno's feet
JM 1420 l. waste the island, hew the temples down
E2 189 ah, brother, l. not violent hands on him!
E2 315 l. hands on that traitor Mortimer!
E2 316 l. hands on that traitor Gaveston!
E2 330 nay, then, l. violent hands upon your king
E2 1428 but, ere he came, Warwick in ambush l., and E2 1912 on thy lap l. I this head, laden with mickle care
E2 1959 a litter hast thou? l. me in [1612, 1622, on] a hearse, and E2 1994 and that you l. for pleasure here a space
E2 2323 l. hands upon the earl for his assault
E2 2324 l. down your weapons, traitors! yield the king!
E2 2564 so, l. the table down, and stamp on it
MP 441 thou traitor, Guise, l. off thy bloody hands!
D 122 disquiet seas, l. down your swelling looks
D 613 amongst green brakes, I'll l. Ascanius
D 847 if thou but l. thy fingers on my boy
D 850 that would have kill'd him, sleeping, as he l.?
D 867 Cupid shall l. his arrows in thy lap
D 1239 that young Ascanius l. with me this night
D 1622 Ascanius is gone! he l. with me last night
D 1693 l. to thy hands, and help me make a fire
HLM 406 the while upon a [V. R. the] hillock down he l.
HLM 752 and in her lukewarm place Leander l.
HLM 804 in each other's [V. R. other] arms chain'd as they l. [Old eds. laid]
*HLC 936 when he l. down, he kindly kiss'd his bed
*HLC 1166 and laid her down even where Leander l.
*HLC 1284 she every piece did l. upon an [V. R. the] altar
*HLC 1380 by her l. her scrip that nourish'd her
*HLC 1501 her torn robe, which on the altar l.
*HLC 1812 a prey to barbarous rovers, that in ambush l.
*HLC 1834 what pains he felt, how long in pain he l.
*HLC 2084 l. thy velvet hand on glorious day's out-facing face
*HLC 2159 at her humorous breasts Visions and Dreams l. sucking
*HLC 2166 t' entreat them l. their charge upon the Winds Ov 192 to rest my limbs, upon a bed I l.
Ov 285 on this hard threshold till the morning l.
Ov 431 make a small price, while thou thy nets dost l.
Ov 908 l. down thy forehead in thy lap to snort

Ov 1077 for in my lips l. her whole tongue hid
Ov 1501 upon the cold earth pensive let them l.
Ov 1563 l. in the mid bed, there be my lawgiver
Ov 1993 there shalt be lov'd : Ilia, l. fear aside
Ov 2042 idly I l. with her, as if I lov'd not [ed. A, lovede her not]
Ov 2054 like a dull cypher or rude block I l.
Ov 2321 to l. my body on the hard moist floor
EPF 4 that in the pebble-pavèd channel l.
*Epg 520 for she doth l. more colours on her face than *1H6 659 or will you blame and l. the fault on me?
*1H6 680 and l. new platforms to endamage them
*1H6 1199 or aught intend'st to l. unto my charge
*1H6 1786 even with the earth, shall l. your stately, and air-braving towers *1H6 2069 come, come, and l. him in his father's arms *1H6 2268 and l. them gently on thy tender side
*Con 104 I'll l. a plot to heave him from his seat
*2H6 628 l. hands upon these traitors, and their trash
*2H6 1649 l. not thy hands on me : forbear I say
*2H6 2069 a thousand crowns, or else l. down your head
*2H6 2317 l. your weapons down, home to your cottages
*TT 843 I l. me down a little while to breathe
*TT 956 weep wretched man, I'll l. thee tear for tear
*3H6 992 I l. me down a little while to breathe
*3H6 1338 why linger we? let us l. hands upon him
*E3 198 nor l. aside their jacks of gymold mail
*E3 1016 to l. aside unnecessary soothing
*E3 2245 l. thy consent to this bequeath in my last testament
*E3 2280 law would execute, albeit severity l. dead in us
*E3 2387 we did descry down in a valley how both armies l.
Ov 1287 he's happy who Love's mutual skirmish slays [B, C, layes]
Ov 1356 conquer'd Corinna in my bosom [ed. C, bosomes] ls.
Ov 1608 Sappho her vow'd harp ls. at Phoebus' feet
L 608 on the altar he ls. a ne'er-yok'd bull
*2H6 2042 fiend, that ls. strong siege unto this wretch's soul

Layed.

Ov 531 when on her head a water-pitcher l.
Ov 1898 and on his loose mane the loose bridle l.
Ov 2328 when have not I, fix'd by thy side, close l.?

Layedst.

*1H6 1117 in that thou l. a trap to take my life

Layest.

*TT 147 Plantagenet for all the claim thou l., think not *3H6 158 Plantagenet, for all the claim thou l., think not Layeth.

*Sel 1592 and at your feet l. his bloody sword

Laying.

D 1503 when I was l. a platform for these walls
L 206 this said, l. aside all lets of war, approach'd

Lazy.

2T 1361 call forth our l. brother from the tent
*Epg 187 as l., sleepy, idle [Eds. sleepie and as idle] as a dog
*TT 596 our soldiers like the night-owl's l. flight
*3H6 733 our soldiers like the night-owl's l. flight
*3H6 734 or like a l. thresher with a flail
*E3 94 like the l. drone crept up by stealth unto the eagle's nest

Lea.

Ov 1235 the haven-touching [ed. B, heaven-touching] bark, now near the l.

Lead.

2T 775 not lapt in l., but in a sheet of gold 2T 1305 with burning irons and drops of scalding l.
2F 2064 there bodies boil [1616 broil] in l.
HLM 221 a diamond set in l. his worth retains Ov 632 yet, as if mix'd with red l., thou wert ruddy
*1H6 64 the loss of those great towns will make him burst his l., and rise
*E3 641 and peise their deeds with weight of heavy l.
*E3 647 that I should owe bright gold and render l.!
*E3 2152 myself, whose spirit is steel to their dull l.
*Sel 213 Tartarians armed at all points does he l. with him
*Sel 1453 come l. me back again to Bajazet
*Sel 1553 that I might once the imperial army l.
*Sel 1610 go l. them out against false Acomat
*Sel 2399 for Selimus will l. the way
*Sel 2530 the monster-guarded paths that l. to crowns
*Sel 929 will scant endure to l. a soldier's life
*Loc 264 and made stones, birds, and beasts, to l. a dance
*Loc 510 « We cobblers l. a merry life »
*Loc 1773 march on, Assaracus; thou must l. the way
1TP 3 we'll l. you to the stately tent of war
1T 378 and l. thy thousand horse with my conduct
1T 1164 those that l. my horse have to their names titles [4to title] 1T 1167 those which l. my horse shall l. thee captive
1T 1361 come, bind them both, and one l. in the Turk
1T 1362 the Turkess let my love's maid l. away
1T 1541 shall l. him with us wheresoe'er we go
2T 622 shall l. his soul, through Orcus' burning gulf
2T 1436 and l. your bodies [4to glories] sheep-like to the sword!
JM 1702 the law shall touch you; we'll but l. you, we JM 2129 I'll l. five hundred soldiers through the vault
JM 2252 this is the life we Jews are us'd to l.
E2 803 come, l. the way : I long till I am there
E2 935 L. the way. — Whither will your lordship?
E2 1740 and will Sir John of Hainault l. the round?
E2 1893 O, that I might this life in quiet l.!
E2 2335 ay, l. me whither you will, even to my death
D 1272 fair sister Anna, l. my lover forth
D 1292 do as I bid thee, sister; l. the way
D 1298 will l. an host against the hateful Greeks
HLM 207 I would my rude words had the influence to l. thy thoughts
Ov 65 young men and women shalt thou l. as thrall
Ov 794 fair Phoebus l. me to the Muses' springs
Ov 849 let maids whom hot desire to husbands l.
L 368 well, l. us, then, to Syrtes' desert shore
*Epg 445 yet in the course of life that he doth l., he's *1H6 2505 then l. me hence : with whom I leave my curse
*2H6 1209 go, l. the way, I long to see my prison
*2H6 1528 to Ireland will you l. a band of men
*2H6 2641 or let a rabble l. you to your deaths
*TT 1673 We thank you all. Lord-Mayor l. on the way
*3H6 1411 in God's name l., your king's name be obey'd
*3H6 2273 while I myself will l. a private life
*E3 1540 to l. my soldiers where I may relieve your grace's son
*Sel 89 Corcut in fair Magnesia ls. his life in *Sel 385 quick speed is good, where wisdom ls. the way
*Sel 830 then Resolution for me ls. the dance
*Sel 924 that ls. his life still in lascivious pomp
*Sel 415 the Scythian emperor ls. Fortune tied in a chain of gold
*Loc 451 where resolution ls. the way, and courage follows

1T 491 the port be made that ls. to palace of my brother's life
1T 1631 and ls. with him the great Arabian king
2T 1091 along the cave that ls. beyond the foe
Ov 2415 though thither ls. a rough steep hilly way
L 687 dry Afric, where a Fury ls. the Emathian bands
*AT 60 that which should be guiding light but ls. to errors new *TT 1808 yes Warwick he dares, and ls. the way
*3H6 2604 yes Warwick, Edward dares, and ls. the way

Leaden.
1T 974 the water that by l. pipes runs to thy city
2T 1055 these Moors shall cut the l. pipes
E2 877 base, l. earls, that glory in your birth, go
*1H6 1995 then l. age, quicken'd with youthful spleen

Leader.
*Sel 1650 that he may be our l. and our guide
1T 62 thou shalt be l. of this thousand horse
L 314 let come their l. [Old ed. leaders], whom long peace hath quail'd
L 360 chief l. of Rome's force, so be I may be bold to speak
*1H6 144 whilst such a worthy l., wanting aid, unto his *1H6 1610 much more a knight, a captain, and a l.
*1H6 1846 thou princely l. of our English strength
*2H6 1729 like an angry hive of bees that want their l.
*3H6 2091 applaud the name of Henry, with your l.
E2 1556 these lusty ls., Warwick and Lancaster, I charge you
*2H6 863 the ring*l.* and head of all this rout

Leadest.
L 682 thou l. me toward th' east, where Nile augmenteth

Leading.
1T 237 silly country swains may have the l. of so great an host
1T 360 deserv'st to have the l. of an host?
*E3 1493 the l. of the vaward, Ned, is thine
1T 506 l. a troop of gentlemen and lords
2T 2276 l. a life that only strives to die
*HLC 1400 their needles l. Affection prisoner
*3H6 2588 to plague thee, for thy foul misleading me

Leaf.
1T 662 staggering like a quivering aspen-l.

Leafy.
Ov 1522 and cool gales shake the tall trees' l. spring

League.
2T 221 scarce half a l. from hence
JM 100 a Spanish fleet, that never left us till within a l.
2T 7 we march'd from fair Natolia two hundred ls.
2T 2212 being distant less than full a hundred ls.
2T 2223 backward[s] and forwards near five thousand ls.
*E3 2116 some two ls. hence there is a lofty hill
*Sel 1047 that Selim ere long would join l. with him?
1T 2194 conclude a l. of honour to my hope
2T 115 we came from Turkey to confirm a l.
2T 145 as memorable witness of our l.
2T 149 confirm'd [8vo Confirme] this l. beyond Danubius' stream 2T 438 with whom, being women, I vouchsaf'd a l.
2T 498 the l. we lately made with King Orcanes
JM 159 were it for confirmation of a l., they JM 163 what need they treat of peace that are in l.?
JM 164 the Turks and those of Malta are in l.
JM 359 for, if we break our day, we break the l.
JM 696 we dare not give consent, by reason of a tributary l.
JM 701 will knights of Malta be in l. with Turks
JM 1425 broke the l. by flat denial of the promis'd tribute
JM 1440 for by this answer broken is the l.
MP 3 I wish this union and religious l., knit MP 849 I am a juror in the holy l.
D 879 hark to a motion of eternal l.
D 1718 betwixt this land and that be never l.
L 4 armies allied, the kingdom's l. uprooted
L 60 that men shall bide in l. and ease
L 86 dire l. of partners in a kingdom last not *1H6 2538 what the conditions of that l. must be *1H6 2567 by secret means us'd intercession to obtain a l.
*2H6 96 Oh peers of England, shameful is this l.
*2H6 125 before I would have yielded to this l.
*TT 514 as if they vow'd some l. inviolate
*TT 1257 and then to crave a l. of amity
*3H6 632 as if they vow'd some l. inviolable
*3H6 1686 and then to crave a l. of amity
*3H6 1708 that by this l. and marriage thou draw not on thy danger
*E3 122 how stands the l. between the Scot and us?
*E3 1049 as l. and neighbourhood requires
*E3 1332 broke l. and solemn covenant made with me
*E3 1674 since they refuse our proffer'd l., my lord, and *HLC 1742 in such pure ls. his beauties were combin'd
L 228 hence ls. and covenants! Fortune, thee I follow!

Leaguer.
2T 421 and lain in l. fifteen months and more

Leake.
HL (Title) Printed by N. Okes for William L.

Leaking.
*E3 1256 as the reeking [A, B, l.] vapour in the wind turn'd but aside

Lean.
1F 794 I am l. with seeing others eat
2F 711 I am l. with seeing others eat
*HLC 2065 lightning from above shrunk her l. body
L 627 one half did look dead and discolour'd, th' other l. and thin
*Epg 141 they eat up clean those that be fat, yet still themselves be l. [So eds.]
*Epg 141 they eat up clean those that are fat, yet they themselves are l. [So in MS.]
*1H6 213 l. raw-bon'd rascals, who would e'er suppose, they *1H6 1784 l. famine, quartering steel, and climbing fire
*2H6 494 the clergy's bags are lank and l. with thy extortions
*E3 2171 have forty l. slaves this day ston'd to death 1T 60 legs whereon our state doth l. as on a staff 1F 892 over the which four stately bridges l.
2F 870 over the which two stately bridges l.
JM 1652 so, let him l. upon his staff; excellent!
E2 580 which, for his father's sake, l. to the king
MP 1132 sweet Duke of Guise, our prop to l. upon, now thou art dead
Ov 155 nor l. [ed. B, leave] thy soft head on his boisterous breast
*Epg 11 that thinks [Eds. thinke] I do to private taxing [MS. talkinge] l.
*1H6 1009 first l. thine aged back against mine arm
*TT 544 sweet Duke of York our prop to l. upon, now thou art gone
*TT 656 Lord Warwick, on thy shoulder will I l.
*TT 1617 and let me l. upon thine arm a while [Q2 Q3 awhile]
*3H6 672 sweet Duke of York, our prop to l. upon *3H6 792 Lord Warwick, on thy shoulder will I l.

Leander.
E2 8 and, like L., gasp'd upon the sand
*JMS 23 in Hero and L. one did gain a lasting memory
HL (Title) Hero and L. By Christopher Marloe
HL (Title) Hero and L. Begun by Christopher Marloe
HL (Title) Hero and L. Begun by Christopher Marlowe, and finished by George Chapman
HL (Title) Hero and L. By Christopher Marloe
HL (Title) Hero and L. Begun by Christopher Marloe
HLM 57 amorous L., beautiful and young
HLM 83 had wild Hippolytus L. seen, enamour'd of HLM 94 « L., thou art made for amorous play
HLM 168 and thus L. was enamourèd
HLM 188 wherewith L. much more was inflam'd
HLM 198 and now begins L. to display love's holy fire
HLM 347 with that, L. stoop'd to have embrac'd her
HLM 510 thinking to train L. therewithal
HLM 559 albeit L., rude in love and raw
HLM 589 L., fearing to be miss'd, embrac'd her suddenly
HLM 596 she turn'd about, as loath to see L. going out
HLM 644 what is it now but mad L. dares?
HLM 657 L. striv'd; the waves about him wound
HLM 673 L., being up, began to swim
HLM 689 L. made reply, « You are deceiv'd
HLM 700 « Ay me », L. cried, « th' enamour'd sun that now
HLM 711 when this fresh-bleeding wound L. view'd
HLM 725 by this, L., being near the land, cast
HLM 743 bed, whereon L. sitting, thus began
HLM 752 and in her lukewarm place L. lay
HLM 785 L. now, like Theban Hercules, enter'd the orchard
HLM 789 wherein L., on her quivering breast, breathless spoke
HLM 794 to her was as a charm, and to L. as a fresh alarm
HLM 810 leaving L. in the bed alone
*HLC 833 L. to the envious light resigns his night-sports
*HLC 862 and young L., lord of his desires
*HLC 864 L. into Hellespontus throws his Hero-handled body
*HLC 927 love-blest L. was with love so fill'd
*HLC 955 and, like the rainbow, views L.
*HLC 1044 her maidenhead, her vows, L. gone
*HLC 1055 our L., that made Mars his Cupid
*HLC 1166 and laid her down even where L. lay
*HLC 1168 the red sea of her blood ebb'd with L.
*HLC 1201 Hero L. is, L. Hero
*HLC 1203 if, then, L. did my maidenhead git
*HLC 1204 L. being myself, I still retain it
*HLC 1246 to his place, so his place were L.
*HLC 1255 this place was mine; L., now 'tis thine
*HLC 1263 welcome thee, as from L. ever sent to me
*HLC 1325 and stood not resolute to wed L.
*HLC 1332 like simple merchants' goods, L. was *HLC 1340 she fear'd she prick'd L. as she wrought
*HLC 1415 shut them, and inwards for L. look'd
*HLC 1462 and her L. her chief deity
*HLC 1635 Hero's plight longs for L. and the night
*HLC 2145 L., with Love's complete fleet mann'd
*HLC 2150 their jar drowns [V. R. jarres Drowne] poor L.
*HLC 2169 and guard L. to his love in peace
*HLC 2172 show'd their favours to conceal their hates, and draw L. on *HLC 2189 thus his false fate did with L. play
*HLC 2239 L. did not through such tempests swim to *HLC 2289 so short of himself in his high thought was our L.
*HLC 2292 O sweet L., thy large worth I hide in a short grave!
*HLC 2307 at Sestos' bay, that should L. meet
*HLC 2338 toss'd L., being in hell, as high as heaven
*HLC 2344 poor L. cried for help to sea-born Venus
*HLC 2356 they lov'd L. so, in groans they brake
*HLC 2377 L. still call'd Neptune, that now rent his brackish curls
*HLC 2405 to find her jewel; — jewel! — her L.
*HLC 2407 L., still my choice, come naught but my L.!
*HLC 2409 O my voice, turn to L.!
*HLC 2411 phrases, that show all griefs wounds, analyz'd in L.!
*HLC 2419 L. brought by Neptune, bruis'd and torn
*E3 952 beardless L. not so strong as I
HLM 78 that my slack Muse sings [V. R. must sing] of L.'s eyes HLM 500 viewing L.'s face, fell down and fainted
HLM 602 L.'s amorous habit soon reveal'd
HLM 628 so to his mind was young L.'s look HLM 634 L.'s father knew where he had been HLM 721 wherefore, L.'s fancy to surprise, to *HLC 990 did reprove L.'s bluntness in his violent love
*HLC 1172 and here L.'s beauties were embark'd
*HLC 1233 the logic of L.'s beauty, and them
*HLC 1245 she view'd L.'s place, and wish'd
*HLC 1257 mine, and L.'s mine, L.'s mine
*HLC 1269 events, L.'s counterfeit presents
*HLC 1282 now from L.'s place she rose [V. R. arose]
*HLC 1329 the wrack of her free quiet from L.'s lips
*HLC 1420 L.'s form left no ill object there
*HLC 1431 to fair L.'s picture sacrifice
*HLC 1627 Hero held L.'s picture, as a Persian shield
*HLC 1647 weary of the day, thought an Olympiad in L.'s stay
*HLC 2209 being object to L.'s sight
*HLC 2260 the two hapless lords, L.'s sire, and poor L.
*HLC 2351 knew with affright his wreck'd L.'s voice
*HLC 2364 by that she felt, her dear L.'s state
*HLC 2372 dear, for it nourish'd her L.'s life
*HLC 2382 it wounded Lachesis that drew L.'s thread
*HLC 2428 and with L.'s name she breath'd her last

Leandrian.
*HLC 1450 this picture wrought, and sprung L. sects

Leaned.
*HLC 1141 her right hand l. on her heart-bowing knee

Leaner.
JM 866 let me see one that's somewhat l.
JM 867 here's a l.; how like you him?

Lean-faced.
*Con 1206 as l. [Q1 leave fast] envy in her loathsome cave
*2H6 1921 as l. Envy in her loathsome cave

Leaning.
*Loc 1437 l. her back against the bed, singing
E2 230 thus l. on the shoulder of the king, he nods, and scorns
D 559 so, l. on his sword, he stood stone-still *HLC 2196 l., with his arms in folds, upon a rock [V. R. rocky]
*TT 907 now l. this way, now to that side drive

Leanness.
*2H6 110 whose large style agrees not with the l. of his purse

Leap.
*Loc 1565 Humber is dead. Joy heavens, l. earth, dance trees

1F 1559 O, I'll l. up to my God! — Who pulls me down?
2F 2090 O, I'll l. up to heaven! — Who pulls me down?
JM 1733 he was ready to l. off ere the halter was about his neck
MP 371 hark, hark, they come! I'll l. out at the window
D 323 then would it l. out to give Priam life
D 1382 stream, where thou shalt see the red-gill'd fishes l.
D 1589 l. in mine arms; mine arms are open wide
HLM 556 mov'd by love's force, unto each other lep[V.R.l.]?
Ov 869 snakes l. by verse from caves of broken mountains
*Ign 10 for that my soul doth dance and l. with pleasure
*1H6 709 l. o'er the walls for refuge in the field
*Con 584 l. me over this stool and run away
*Con 588 sirrah beadle, whip him till he l. over that same stool
*2H6 838 l. me over this stool, and run away
*2H6 842 sirrah beadle, whip him till he l. over that same stool
*2H6 855 true: made the lame to l. and fly away
*E3 810 what, doth his highness l. to hear these news?
1F 245 ls. from th' antarctic world unto the sky
2F 232 ls. from th' antarctic world unto the sky
*HLC 2181 ls. upon his lips like a cock-sparrow
L 154 filling the world, ls. out and throws forth fire
L 499 the pilot from the helm ls. in the sea

Leaped.

1F 785 I leapt out of a lion's mouth, when I was scarce 2F 720 I leapt out of a lion's mouth, when I was D 480 Neoptolemus, setting his spear upon the ground, leapt forth
D 540 at which the frantic queen l. on his face
D 579 mov'd with her voice, I l. into the sea
D 1348 thou wouldst have l. from out the sailors' hands
HLM 80 lips, exceeding his that leapt into the water for a kiss
HLM 652 and, crying, « Love, I come », l. lively in *HLC 2328 off went his silken [V. R. silke] robe, and in he leapt
L 485 the fathers selves l. from their seats

Leaper.

*Con 1091 I am no loathsome leper [Q1 leoper; Q2 Q3 l.] look on me

Leaping.

*E3 443 to music every summer-l. swain compares his sun-burnt lover 2T 217 when Phoebus, l. from his hemisphere, descendeth
MP 948 O, that his heart were l. in my hand!

Learn.

*Sel 1371 l. by Selimus that hasty purposes have hated ends
*Sel 1636 that Acomat may l. by Selimus, to yield
*Loc 1665 farewell, proud boy, and l. to use thy tongue
2T 922 I'll have you l. to sleep upon the ground
2T 961 we may be slain or wounded ere we l.
2T 1286 I'll have you l. to feed on [8vo with] provender
2T 2313 l. with awful eye to sway a throne
1F 330 l. thou of Faustus manly fortitude
2F 314 l. thou of Faustus manly fortitude
JM 432 but I will l. to leave these fruitless tears
JM 539 as a novice l. to frame my solitary life to JM 2185 My lord? — Ay, lord; thus slaves will l.
E2 334 l., then, to rule us better, and the realm
E2 727 Baldock, l. this of me: a factious lord shall hardly E2 753 cast the scholar off, and l. to court it like a gentleman
E2 1330 and l. obedience to their lawful king
MP 156 those that hate me will I l. to loathe
MP 835 what your intent is yet we cannot l.
D 1617 that I may l. to bear it patiently
HLM 247 ah, simple Hero, l. thyself to cherish!
Ov 445 and let thine eyes constrainèd l. to weep
Ov 901 wilt thou her fault l.? she may make thee tremble
Ov 2149 not what we slothful know [Old eds. knew] let wise men l.
*Epg 357 of speaking well why do we l. the skill
L 335 at last l., wretch, to leave thy monarchy!
*2H6 2746 come wife, let's in, and l. to govern better
*TT 731 and l. this lesson boy [Q3 omits], draw thy sword in right
*3H6 874 and l. this lesson; draw thy sword in right
*3H6 1634 must strike her sail, and l. a while to serve
*3H6 2162 are you yet to l. what late misfortune is befall'n
*E3 165 within this school of honour I shall l.
*E3 855 go, bid the drummer l. to touch the lute
*E3 973 and l. by me to find her where she lies
*E3 2314 l. then to reverence Edward as your king Ov 1548 but by her glass disdainful pride she ls.
Ov 1726 by me Corinna ls., cozening her guard
*Epg 468 straight he ls. the news, and doth disclose it [Eds. omit the line]

Learned.

*Sel 2131 why, this I l. by studying l. arts
*Loc 440 where Phoebus with the l. ladies nine, delight 2T 1650 in whom the l. Rabbis of this age might find 1F 160 if l. Faustus will be resolute
1F 847 l. Faustus, to know the secrets of astronomy
1F 870 there saw we l. Maro's golden tomb
1F 975 which Faustus answer'd with such l. skill
1F 1345 you must well reward this l. man
1F 1607 that sometime grew within this l. man
2F 152 if l. Faustus will be resolute
2F 571 l. Faustus to know the secrets of Astronomy [Dyce omits]
2F 809 l. Faustus, to find the secrets of astronomy
2F 846 there saw we l. Maro's golden tomb
2F 1219 with him comes the German conjurer, the l. Faustus 2F 1803 we are much beholding [1631 beholden] to this l. man
2F 2155 that sometime grew within this l. man
*FB 63 and call'd in l. men to comfort me
JM 1134 scholars I mean, l. and liberal
MP 393 is in your judgment thought a l. man
Ov 987 if she be l., then for her skill I crave her
Ov 2253 with Calvus, l. Catullus comes and greet him
L 600 next, l. augurs follow
*AT 61 well might l. Cambridge oft regret he ever there was bred
*2H6 87 with all the l. council of the realm
*2H6 2562 large gifts have I bestow'd on l. clerks 2F 1261 thrice-l. Faustus, welcome to our court
*Sel 567 dismay my thoughts, which never l. to stoop
*Sel 2147 and l. of them the way to save my soul
*Sel 2265 and l. of them, Mustaffa was the man
*Loc 1708 and l. to love proud Humber's concubine
2T 950 when this is l. for service on the land 1F 186 and then, all other ceremonies l.
2F 178 and then, all other ceremonies l., Faustus may try
JM 752 I l. in Florence how to kiss my hand
E2 2366 I l. in Naples how to poison flowers
MP 94 have l. that peril is the chiefest way to happiness
Ov 853 l. hath this same poet my sad chance discern'd

*Con 761 he hath l. so much fence already
*Con 1463 the Duke of York, nay, I learnt it of myself
*2H6 1066 he hath l. so much fence already

Learnedly.

*Loc 356 you speak too l. for me to understand

Learnedst.

D 662 and tell me where l. thou this pretty song

Learning.

*Loc 360 my great l. is an inconvenience unto me
*FB 9 in l., loe, my uncle brought up me
HLM 471 L., in despite of Fate, will mount aloft
HLM 488 clown, who with encroaching guile keeps l. down
*E3 1969 show thy time's l. in this dangerous time
*Sel 284 digs deep with l.'s wonder-working spade 1F 24 and glutted more [Dyce, now] with l.'s golden gifts
2F 23 and glutted now with l.'s golden gifts
*Sel 90 in l. Arts, and Mahound's dreaded laws

Lease.

*2H6 2752 if I might have a l. of my life for a thousand years

Least.

*Sel 194 but match himself where I l. thought on it?
*Sel 1256 which feareth most the things it l. desires
*Loc 87 God knows it was the l. of all my thought 1T 1078 and of extremities elect the l.
1T 260 therefore at l. admit us liberty
1T 407 and kingdoms at the l. we all expect 1T 1964 one thought, one grace, one wonder, at the l.
2T 860 that is a gentleman, I know, at l.
2T 2068 men of twenty several kingdoms at the l.
JM 403 but give him liberty at l. to mourn
JM 599 to love, or, at the l., to pity
JM 1790 send for a hundred crowns at l.
JM 2173 at l., uprofitably lose it not E2 158 brother, the l. of these may well suffice for E2 1621 ah, boy, thou art deceiv'd, at l. in this HLM 747 at l. vouchsafe these arms some little room
*HLC 847 more harsh, at l. more hard, more grave and high
*HLC 1484 when she did worst, and when she thought it l.!
*HLC 1539 but since thy lips (l. thought forsworn) forswore
*HLC 1803 women are most won, when men [Omitted in some 4tos] merit l.
*HLC 2014 grow, 'twixt married loves, nor any l. disdain
Ov 1744 grant, Tragedy, thy poet time's l. tittle [ed. C, title]
Ov 1827 at l. now conquer, and out-run the rest
Ov 1865 and fear those, that to fear them l. intend Ov 1888 nor, 'less [Old eds. l.] she will, can any be restrain'd Ov 1891 who may offend, sins l.
Ov 1928 l. labour so shall win great grace of any Ov 2292 and corn with l. part of itself return'd
*LD 3 walk the Church-yard in, at the l., three or four sheets
*AT 75 a foe to all, and l. unto himself a friend
*Epg 342 is nine and thirty [MS. nine and thirtith; Eds. thirtie nine] years of age at l.
*1H6 490 speak Salisbury; at l., if thou canst, speak
*1H6 693 there hath at l. five Frenchmen died to-night
*1H6 801 the smallest part, and l. proportion of humanity
*Con 1119 the l. of these are probable, it cannot choose but *2H6 435 and not the l. of these, but can do more in England than the king
*2H6 1781 the l. of all these signs were probable
*TT 1093 a man at l., and more I cannot be
*TT 1200 that would be ten days' wonder at the l.
*TT 1630 Edward I am sure at l., is Duke of York
*TT 1752 I had thought at l. he would have said the king
*3H6 1369 a man at l., for less I should not be *3H6 1547 that would be a ten days' wonder at the l.
*3H6 2194 to save (at l.) the heir of Edward's right
*3H6 2356 yet Edward, at the l., is Duke of York
*3H6 2518 I thought at l. he would have said the king
*E3 1820 and we are three-score thousand at the l.
*E3 2330 loath to lose the l. pre-eminence that I had won

Leather.

*2H6 2224 the skins of our enemies, to make dog's l. of 2F 704 Covetousness, begotten of an old churl, in a l. bag
*Con 1384 thou shalt never see a lord wear a l. apron now-a-days
*2H6 2212 the nobility think scorn to go in l. aprons
*3H6 1109 his cold thin drink out of his l. bottle

Leathern.

1F 778 Covetousness, begotten of an old churl, in an old l. bag
L 243 worm-eaten l. targets, through which the wood peer'd
*E3 201 nor from their button'd tawny l. belts dismiss
*E3 914 since l. Adam till this youngest hour

Leave.

*Sel 404 my gracious lord, give Sinam l. to speak
*Sel 2140 nay, we can give such losers l. to speak 1T 81 then now, my lord, I humbly take my l.
1T 1669 I pray you, give them l., madam
1T 1733 yet give me l. to plead for him, my lord
2T 716 let me take l. of these my loving sons
2T 1315 dost thou ask him l.? here; take it
1F 285 and may not follow thee without his l.
1F 355 the Emperor shall not live but by my l.
1F 1199 having done my duty, I humbly take my l.
2F 269 and may not follow thee without his l.
2F 339 the emperor shall not live but by my l.
2F 1411 and take his l., laden with rich rewards 2F 1722 do as thou wilt, Faustus; I give thee l.
2F 1741 my lord, beseech you give me l. a while JM 208 then give us l., great Selim Calymath
JM 234 yes; give me l.: — and, Hebrews, now come near JM 257 have strangers l. with us to get their wealth?
JM 454 but they will give me l. once more, I trow, to JM 676 and why thou cam'st ashore without our l.?
JM 2243 when he hath view'd the town, will take his l.
E2 435 and, therefore, give me l. to look my fill
E2 551 why, then, my lord, give me but l. to speak
E2 1396 my lord, I take my l., to make my preparation for France
E2 1610 I thank them, gave me l. to pass in peace
E2 2115 and thus, most humbly do we take our l.
MP 623 then may it please your majesty to give me l. to MP 757 thanks to your majesty: and so, I take my l.
MP 880 I kiss your grace's hand, and take my l.
MP 1022 O, I have my death's wound! give me l. to speak
D 729 give Dido l. to be more modest than her thoughts admit
D 1224 O princely Dido, give me l. to speak!
D 1528 Aeneas, say, how canst thou take thy l.?
HLM 422 and began to give her l. to rise
HLM 590 embrac'd her suddenly, took l., and kiss'd
HLM 591 long was he taking l., and loath to go Ov 1746 She gave me l.
Ov 1808 greater than her, by her l., thou'rt, I'll say
Ov 1876 were I a god, I should give women l., with

*1H6 166 and here take my l., to go about my preparation *1H6 249 stand back you lords, and give us l. a while *1H6 1980 then here I take my l. of thee, fair son
*1H6 2262 I prithee give me l. to curse a while *1H6 2495 Oh give me l., I have deluded you
*Con 84 and might not do his will without your l.
*Con 90 but I'll be gone, and give thee l. to speak
*Con 324 Peace Warwick. Give thy betters l. to speak
*Con 410 and take my l. to post with speed to France
*Con 719 Oh gracious Henry, give me l. a while to l. your grace
*Con 955 Ay but [Q2 Yea but; Q3 But] I can give the loser l. to speak
*Con 1532 with your highness' l., I'll stay behind
*Con 1721 entered into my [Q2 the] ground without the l. of me the owner *2H6 527 give me l. to show some reason, of no little force, that *2H6 664 your grace shall give me l., my Lord of York, to *2H6 672 yet by your l., the wind was very high
*2H6 900 our simple supper ended, give me l., in this *2H6 1007 I beseech your majesty give me l. to go
*2H6 1170 my Nell, I take my l.
*2H6 1395 but I can give the loser l. to chide
*2H6 1398 and well such losers may have l. to speak
*2H6 1912 and let thy Suffolk take his heavy l.
*2H6 2771 for entering his fee-simple without l.
*2H6 2850 should raise so great a power without his l.?
*TT 116 peace thou and give King Henry l. to speak
*TT 194 my lord I'll take my l., for I'll to Wakefield
*TT 231 brother, and cousin Montague, give me l. to speak
*TT 243 and if it please your grace to give me l., I'll show
*TT 732 my gracious father by your kingly l., I'll *TT 1005 hark, what soul is this that takes his heavy l.?
*TT 1126 lords, give us l., we mean to try this widow's wit
*TT 1127 ay, good l. have you
*TT 1128 for you will have l. till youth take l., and l. you to your crutch
*TT 1151 I take my l. with many thousand thanks
*TT 1454 you shall give me l. to make my choice as I think good
*TT 1721 fair lords take l. and stand not to reply
*3H6 126 peace thou, and give King Henry l. to speak
*3H6 284 brother, though I be youngest, give me l.
*3H6 296 by giving the House of Lancaster l. to breathe
*3H6 346 and thus most humbly I do take my l.
*3H6 646 by your l., I speak it
*3H6 875 by your kingly l., I'll draw it as apparent to the crown
*3H6 1032 now lords, take l. until we meet again
*3H6 1042 and give them l. to fly, that will not stay *3H6 1241 whose soul is that which takes her heavy l.?
*3H6 1449 lords give us l., I'll try this widow's wit
*3H6 1451 ay, good l. have you, for you will have l.
*3H6 1452 till youth take l., and l. you to the crutch
*3H6 1481 I take my l. with many thousand thanks
*3H6 1654 and give my tongue-tied sorrows l. to speak
*3H6 1694 with your l. and favour, humbly to kiss your hand
*3H6 1974 give me l. to play the broker in mine own behalf
*3H6 2448 fair lords take l., and stand not to reply
*3H6 2453 comfort, my lord, and so I take my l.
*3H6 2725 he should have l. to go away betimes
*E3 207 I take my l., and fairly will return your
*E3 1375 yet thus much, briefly, by my father's l.
*E3 1539 renowned Edward, give me l., I pray, to 2F 1839 we'll take our ls.: and, for this blessèd sight
JM 180 Let's take our ls. — Farewell, good Barabas
E2 1950 here humbly of your grace we take our ls.
MP 477 then, with your ls., I may retire me to my native home
MP 645 as not a man may live without our ls.
*2H6 1960 embrace, and kiss, and take ten thousand ls.
*TT 884 and take our ls. until we meet again
*Sel 8 l. me my Lords until I call you forth
*Sel 132 and l. your Grace, and cleave to Selimus
*Sel 140 and l. his steeds benighted in the East
*Sel 251 l. to old men and babes that kind of folly
*Sel 438 to enter hell, and l. fair heaven's gain
*Sel 530 and l. rebellious Selimus behind
*Sel 717 and l. his body for the airy birds
*Sel 824 and worse it were to l. my enterprise
*Sel 1218 so do I freely l. to thee my curse
*Sel 1242 now scour the streets, and l. not one alive
*Sel 1358 and thought to l. possessor of the crown
*Sel 1424 not l. me in so comfortless a life
*Sel 1633 shall l. that ghost which made thee lose thy sight
*Sel 1799 l. weeping, Aga, we have wept enough
*Sel 2023 and l. her frail, earthly pavilion
*Loc 63 cease your laments, and l. your grievous moan
*Loc 81 then, worthy Brutus, l. these sad laments
*Loc 308 Oh, but then I shall l. my sweetheart
*Loc 358 tell your tale in plain terms, and l. off your dark riddles
*Loc 778 must l. my crown for Humber to possess
*Loc 1011 make you to l. the warding of the camp?
*Loc 1066 L., l., l.; I will, I will, I will
*Loc 1557 that I may l. this death-like life of mine!
*Loc 1568 now Sisyphus, l. the tumbling of thy rock
*Loc 1577 Media seeing Jason l. her love, and
*Loc 1652 l. these thy taunts, l. these thy bragging words
*Loc 1653 unless thou mean'st to l. thy wretched life
*Loc 1696 arise, fair lady, l. this lowly cheer
*Loc 1978 fairies, which at even-tide your closets l.
*Loc 550 by your l., master cobbler
1T 437 and they will never l. thee till the death
1T 741 my brother's camp I l. to thee and to Theridamas 1T 902 shall make me l. so rich a prize as this 1T 1004 and l. my body senseless as the earth
1T 1017 l. to wound me with these words
1T 1186 l. words, and let them feel your lances' points
1T 1242 that l. no ground for thee to march upon 1T 1489 or l. Damascus and th' Egyptian fields
1T 1659 and l. your venoms in this tyrant's dish?
1T 1852 l. us, my lord, and loving countrymen
1T 1916 would she l. the angry god of arms and lie with me 2T 254 when wilt thou l. these arms, and 2T 412 to bid me sheathe my sword and l. the field
2T 415 and l. his steeds to fair Böotes' [8vo Boetes] charge
2T 912 boys, l. to mourn; this town shall ever mourn
2T 920 but now, my boys, l. off, and list to me
2T 1366 what, given so much to sleep, you cannot [4to Can you not] l. it 2T 1604 l. this, my love, and listen more to me
2T 1723 rifle the kingdoms I shall l. unsack'd
2T 1968 l. not a Babylonian in the town
2T 2008 but that we l. sufficient garrison
2T 2132 ah, good my lord, l. these impatient words 1F 204 l. your jesting, and tell us where he is 1F 326 O, Faustus, l. these frivolous demands
1F 392 but, sirrah, l. your jesting, and

1F 470 sweet Faustus, l. that execrable art
1F 982 what there he did, in trial of his art, I l. untold 1F 1236 I'll not l. my horse for forty 1F 1412 l. me a while to ponder on my sins 2F 196 go to, sirrah ! l. your jesting, and 2F 310 O, Faustus, l. these frivolous demands
2F 374 well, sirrah, l. your jesting, and take these guilders
2F 418 sweet Faustus, l. that execrable art
2F 782 you had best l. your foolery
2F 1842 O gentle Faustus, l. this damnèd art
2F 1027 and l. it in the church's treasury 2F 1239 come, l. thy chamber first, and 2F 1413 take you the wealth, l. us the victory 2F 1870 l. me a while to ponder on my sins
2F 1871 Faustus, I l. thee ; but with grief of heart 2F 2059 and now, poor soul, must thy good angel l. thee
JM 281 to l. your goods to their arbitrement ?
JM 401 ay, I pray, l. me in my patience
JM 410 come, let us l. him ; in his ireful mood our words
JM 432 but I will learn to l. these fruitless tears
JM 468 and l. no memory that e'er I was ?
JM 470 since you l. me in the ocean thus to sink or swim, and JM 554 that thou l. these devils and their damnèd heresy !
JM 1177 O, l. to grieve me ! I am griev'd enough
JM 1621 that I will l. my house, my goods, and all
JM 1770 canst thou be so unkind to l. me thus ?
JM 1812 but we will l. this paltry land, and JM 1840 I'll not l. him worth a grey groat
JM 1912 unto whom should I l. all, but unto Ithamore ?
JM 1942 there, if thou lov'st me, do not l. a drop
JM 2320 l. nothing loose, all levell'd to my mind
E2 48 I have some business : l. me to myself
E2 125 come, uncle, let us l. the brain-sick king
E2 128 all Warwickshire will love [Dyce, l.] him for my sake
E2 431 stay, Gaveston ; I cannot l. thee thus E2 615 when I was forc'd to l. my Gaveston !
E2 684 l. now to oppose thyself against the king
E2 670 Lord Mortimer, we l. you to your charge
E2 777 l. off this jesting ; here my lady comes E2 1071 I come to join with you, and l. the king
E2 1082 but what's the reason you should l. him now ?
E2 1258 must we now l. him on « Had I wist », and let him go?
E2 1394 and go in peace ; l. us in wars at home
E2 1787 and l. the Mortimers conquerors behind ?
E2 1927 but, Leicester, l. to grow so passionate MP 673 so, set it down, and l. me to myself
MP 1100 away ! l. me alone to meditate
MPF 7 but you will say you l. him room enough besides
D 238 and so, I l. thee to thy fortune's lot
D 331 sweet father, l. to weep ; this is not he D 334 l. to lament, lest they laugh at our fears
D 458 made him to think Epeus' pine-tree horse a sacrifice
D 585 I die with melting ruth ; Aeneas, l.
D 666 ay, wag ; and give thee l. to kiss her too
D 669 come, Dido, l. Ascanius ; let us walk
D 762 take what ye will, but l. Aeneas here
D 971 Aeneas, l. these dumps, and let's away
D 1045 never to l. these new-uprearèd walls
D 1133 O, leave me, l. me to my silent thoughts
D 1138 I will not l. Iarbas, whom I love
D 1196 commands me l. these unrenowmèd realms [Old eds. beames]
D 1198 to l. her so, and not once say farewell
D 1237 thinks Dido I will go and l. him here ?
D 1263 when I l. thee, death be my punishment !
D 1304 ay, but it may be, he will l. my love
D 1490 how loath I am to l. these Libyan bounds
D 1507 but yet Aeneas will not l. his love
D 1509 I am commanded by immortal Jove to l. this town
D 1560 if thou go'st, what canst thou l. behind
D 1671 ah, sister, l. these idle fantasies !
D 1700 so, l. me now ; let none approach this place
HLM 536 that he would l. her turret and depart
*HLC 920 streams dead for love, to l. his ivory skin
*HLC 921 which yet a snowy foam did l. above
*HLC 1013 there l. we him
*HLC 1243 made her wonder why she should not l. her bed
*HLC 1468 to l. gods in profession and in thought
*HLC 1476 love would not l. her conscience perplext
*HLC 1918 Hymen must l. the virgins in a grove
*HLC 2181 that cannot l., but leaps upon his lips
*HLC 2426 and l. poor plaints to us that shall succeed
Ov 155 nor lean [ed. B, l.] thy soft head on his boisterous breast
Ov 213 to l. the rest, all lik'd [ed. A, pleasde] me passing well
Ov 589 l. asking, and I'll give what I refrain
Ov 702 l. colouring thy tresses, I did cry
Ov 1001 to l. myself, that am in love with all, some one
Ov 1073 and wish hereby them all unknown to l.
Ov 1212 hunters l. taken beasts, pursue the chase
Ov 2166 the ditcher no marks on the ground did l.
Ov 2342 l. thy once-powerful words, and flatteries
*LD 20 l. to think good of me when I fall from thee
L 335 at last learn, wretch, to l. thy monarchy !
L 507 as loath to l. Rome whom they held so dear
*1H6 215 let's l. this town, for they are hare-brain'd slaves
*1H6 259 will'd me to l. my base vocation
*1H6 325 l. off delays, and let us raise the siege
*1H6 499 his sword did ne'er l. striking in the field
*1H6 643 'twas time (I trow) to wake and l. our beds
*1H6 1191 you of my household, l. this peevish broil
*1H6 1409 what ? will you fly, and l. Lord Talbot ?
*1H6 1459 to l. the Talbot, and to follow us
*1H6 1660 be patient lords, and give them l. to speak *1H6 1973 and l. my followers here to fight and die ?
*1H6 2011 wilt thou yet l. the battle, boy, and fly
*1H6 2302 I were best to l. him, for he will not hear
*1H6 2505 then lead me hence : with whom I l. mỹ curse
*Con 633 and l. her open for the law to judge
*Con 719 give me l. a while to l. your grace
*Con 731 and even as willing at thy feet I l. it, as others
*Con 762 come l. your drinking, and fall to blows
*Con 970 what will your highness l. the parliament ?
*Con 1022 and l. such a band as soon shall overcome those Irish rebels
*Con 1659 and l. to seek your country's overthrow
*Con 1725 l. thee and thy five men as dead as a door-nail
*Con 1906 it grieves my soul to l. thee unassail'd
*2H6 487 resign it then, and l. thine insolence
*2H6 595 and so I pray you go in God's name, and l. us
*2H6 875 ambitious churchman, l. to afflict my heart
*2H6 1023 and even as willingly at thy feet I l. it
*2H6 1067 come, l. your drinking, and fall to blows
*2H6 1410 what, will your highness l. the parliament ?
*2H6 1939 you bade me ban, and will you bid me l. ?
*2H6 2170 thou shalt have cause to fear before I l. thee
*2H6 2378 we will not l. one lord, one gentleman
*2H6 2652 l. me at the White Hart in Southwark

*2H6 2686 and makes them l. me desolate
*2H6 2785 if I do not l. you all as dead as doór-nails
*2H6 3065 it grieves my soul to l. thee unassail'd
*TT 38 then l. me not my lords, for now I mean to *TT 121 think'st thou that I will l. my kingly seat wherein *TT 218 come son, let's away and l. him [Q2 them] here alone
*TT 262 to l. the city, and with his men-of-war to meet me
*TT 286 Oh fly my lord, let's l. the castle
*TT 317 till I root out that cursed line and l. not one on earth
*TT 712 to keep thine own, and l. thine own with him
*TT 719 I l. my son my virtuous deeds behind
*TT 744 do good my lord, and l. us to our fortunes
*TT 1129 for you will have l. till youth take l., and l. you to your crutch
*TT 1295 for shame l. Henry and call Edward king
*TT 1456 and to that intent, I shortly mean to l. you
*TT 1457 l. me or tarry I am full resolv'd
*TT 1802 now Warwick, wilt thou l. the town and fight?
*TT 1895 or l. my body as witness of my thoughts
*3H6 43 then l. me not, my lords be resolute
*3H6 130 think'st thou, that I will l. my kingly throne
*3H6 264 thus do I l. thee : come son, let's away
*3H6 400 and l. not one alive, I live in hell
*3H6 854 to hold thine own, and l. thine own with him
*3H6 861 I'll l. my son my virtuous deeds behind
*3H6 887 ay good my lord, and l. us to our fortune
*3H6 981 we'll never l., till we have hewn thee down
*3H6 1452 till youth take l., and l. you to the crutch
*3H6 1735 for shame l. Henry, and call Edward king
*3H6 1969 and l. your brothers to go speed elsewhere
*3H6 1976 and to that end, I shortly mind to l. you
*3H6 1977 l. me, or tarry, Edward will be king
*3H6 2199 l. off to wonder why I drew you hither
*3H6 2391 I'll l. you to your fortune, and be gone
*3H6 2498 at Southam I did l. him with his forces
*3H6 2599 wilt thou l. the town, and fight?
*3H6 2687 is 't meet that he should l. the helm
*3H6 2858 sirrah, l. us to ourselves, we must confer
*E3 98 bid him l. off the lion's case he wears
*E3 204 tell him, that you l. us here before this castle
*E3 572 but thou may'st lend [A, leve] it me, to sport withal
*E3 579 if I should lend [A, leave] her house, my lord, to thee
*E3 657 thy word thou wilt eat up again, and l. me helpless
*E3 792 so l. I, with my blessing in thy bosom
*E3 834 I mean the emperor : l. me alone
*E3 835 let's l. him to his humour
*E3 905 go, l. me, Ned, and revel with thy friends
*E3 917 so thou wilt hence a while and l. me here
*E3 982 either swear to l. thy most unholy suit, and
*E3 1266 to l. a desolation where they come
*E3 1341 l. therefore now to persecute the weak
*E3 1478 we l. till thou hast won it in the field
*E3 2080 and rather let me l. to be a prince than 1T 1043 in his majesty, he ls. those books; those words of favour JM 2178 and ls. it off to snap on thistle-tops
*HLC 1251 it ls. something behind worth observation
Ov 412 with swift horses the swift year soon ls. us
*Epg 126 which ls. his head, to travel in the mire
*Epg 336 Caius [MS. Ls.], his poor familiar friend [MS. frends] of late
*Epg 493 oft ls. his books [MS. booke], and, for his [MS. omits] recreation, to Leaved.

Ov 2491 and I see when you ope the two-l. book

Leave-fast.

*Con 1206 as l. [Q2 leane facde ; Q3 leane fac'd] envy in her loathsome cave

Leaven.

L 609 then crams salt l. on his crookèd knife

Leaves.

*Loc 446 moving the pittering ls. of Sylvan's woods
*Loc 1534 devouring l. and beastly excrements
1T 1401 or wither'd l. that autumn shaketh down
2T 613 through shady l. of every senseless tree
2T 1185 more than are the [8vo this] quivering l. of Ida's forest
E2 1473 the royal vine, whose golden l. [1598, leave] empale your princely head MP 728 l. of boasting green, that change their colour when the winter comes D 172 you shall have l. and windfall boughs enow
D 633 the rattling of the winds, or whisking of these l.
HLM 25 her veil was artificial flowers and l.
Ov 346 like poplar l. blown with a stormy flaw
Ov 1271 why add'st thou stars to heaven, l. to green woods
Ov 1531 maids' words, more vain and light than falling l.
Ov 1646 who covets lawful things, takes l. from woods
L 358 crown'd with oaken l. for saving of a Roman citizen
PS 12 a kirtle embroider'd all with l. of myrtle
EPF 21 their l., that differ'd both in shape and show
*1H6 1670 the l. did represent my master's blushing cheeks
*Con 1865 that keeps his l. in spite of any storm
*2H6 1301 and caterpillars eat my l. away
*2H6 3036 that keeps his l. in spite of any storm
*TT 1319 the l. and fruit maintain'd with beauty's sun
*3H6 1248 lopp'd the branch in hewing Rutland, when his l. put forth
*3H6 1762 the l. and fruit maintain'd with beauty's sun
*E3 1091 shall suck forth deadly venom from the l.
*E3 1869 pikes do seem straight trees of gold, the pendant [streamers] l.
*E3 2006 the l. move not, the world is hush'd and still 2F 2038 then I turn'd the l., and led thine eye
Ov 1472 then I, that I may seal her privy l., lest

Leavest.

JM 2279 and banquet with him ere thou l. the isle
D 247 but thou art gone, and l. me here alone
Ov 689 thou l. his bed, because he's faint through age

Leaveth.

*Loc 754 wheel, which never l. turning upside-down !

Leaving.

*Sel 675 l. his body naked on the plains
*Sel 2407 l. the banks of swift-stream'd Thermodon
*Loc 25 l. the confines of fair Italy
*Loc 1607 and in his room l. us worlds of care
1T 2206 l. thy [8vo my] blood for witness of thy love 1F 306 but, l. these vain trifles of men's souls, tell 1F 601 but, l. off this, let me have a wife 2F 290 but, l. these vain trifles of men's souls, tell me
2F 546 but, l. this, let me have a wife
D 1604 and, l. me, will sail to Italy !
*HLC 999 she vanish'd, l. pierc'd Leander's heart
*HLC 1810 l. the town with songs and hallow'd lights
*HLC 1884 l. the chalky shore a great way pale
L 461 l. your country open to the spoil
L 558 wild beasts were seen l. the woods

*Epg 37 l. the best and most conspicuous place
*Epg 504 l. [MS. And leaves] old Ployden, Dyer, and Brooke alone
*1H6 1038 l. no heir begotten of his body
*Con 650[a] the Black Prince died before his father, l. behind him two sons [So in Q3]
*2H6 2829 l. thy trunk for crows to feed upon
*E3 1294 l. at our heels a wide apparent field
*E3 1851 l. no hope to us but sullen dark

Lebanon.
*Loc 40 'mongt all the daughters of proud L.

Lecherous.
Ov 1957 Inachus grew pale, and in cold fords, hot l.

Lechery.
*Loc 1752 my luckless father's froward l.
2T 1739 brawl not, I warn you, for your l.
1F 221 slow to wrath, prone to l. (to love, I would say) 1F 825 be carried thither again by Gluttony and L.
1F 832 the first letter of my name begins with L. [Dyce, L.]
2F 209 slow to wrath, and prone to l. (to love, I would say)
2F 751 the first letter of my name begins with L. [Old eds., L.]
*Epg 61 for their mirth and for their l.

Lecture.
JMP 29 I come not, I, to read a l. here in Britain

Led.
*Loc 892 l. forth his army 'gainst the straggling mates
1T 543 inveigle him that l. a thousand horse
1T 1300 overthrew the Greeks, and l. them captive into Africa
2T 449 I took the king and l. him bound in chains
2F 2039 then I turn'd the leaves, and l. thine eye
E2 2067 but, hapless Edward, thou art fondly l.
D 221 and made that way my mother Venus l.
D 275 and l. our ships into the shallow sands
D 563 and by the hand l. fair Creusa
D 591 we hear they l. her captive into Greece
D 926 but love and duty l. him on perhaps
D 1493 I fear I saw Aeneas' little son l. by Achates
HLM 739 unto her was he l., or rather drawn, by
*HLC 961 in a chain, compact of ears and eyes, she l. Religion
*HLC 1058 l. in his power, and made Confusion run
*HLC 1110 of bed-rid nature and lives l. amiss
*HLC 1691 of youths and maids, l. after by the Graces
Ov 1296 weeping cry, « Even as he l. his life, so did he die »
Ov 2423 white heifers by glad people forth are l.
*AT 31 and l. a life most foul and free, to his eternal wrack
*1H6 462 then broke I from the officers that l. me
*1H6 1836 two mightier troops than that the dauphin l.
*Con 820 was l. with shame, and made a laughing-stock
*2H6 1126 methinks I should not thus be l. along
*2H6 3149 three times bestrid him : thrice I l. him off
*TT 1611 is surpris'd, and l. away, as prisoner [Q2 prison] unto York
*3H6 1233 queen, that l. calm Henry, though he were a king
*E3 1021 to war as if unto a triumph they were l.

Leda.
Ov 528 such as was L., whom the god deluded
Ov 1012 black hair, why, so was L.'s, yet was L. fair
Ov 1326 then wilt thou L.'s noble twin-stars pray

Leddest.
JM 618 O Thou, that with a fiery pillar l. the sons of Israel

Lee.
*Loc 1521 from the L. with water-flowing pipes the moisture is derived

Leek.
*Sel 289 I like a lion's look — not worth a l., when every dog deprives

Leese.
*Loc 1656 they l. their former estimation

Leesing.
*Sel 63 in losing [Old ed. l.] Alemshae, poor I lost more

Left.
*Sel 1438 which hand is this ? right ? or l. ?
*Loc 499 the l. wing shall be under Segar's charge 1F 451 let thy l. eye be diametarily fixed upon my right heel 2F 401 let your right eye be always diametrally fixed upon my l. heel
*HLC 1140 her l. hand made it at her bosom meet
*HLC 1713 tied with black and purple scarfs by her l. side
Ov 1469 and hide thy l. hand underneath her lap
Ov 1690 her l. hand held abroad a regal sceptre
Ov 2139 his l. hand, whereon gold doth ill alight
*TT 1090 she on his l. side craving aid for Henry
*3H6 1355 she on his l. side, craving aid for Henry
*E3 1263 upon the l. his hot unbridled son
*E3 1865 on our l. hand lies Philip, the younger issue of the king
*Sel 723 that l. not Bajazet in greatest need
*Sel 1430 yet are my hands l. on to murder thee
*Sel 2352 great Tonombey hath l. Egyptian Nilus
*Loc 180 great renown l. unto him for an inheritage
*Loc 651 the ashes are l. there for the country wives
*Loc 1312 he l. me cause to wish a speedy death
*Loc 1413 where not a root is l. for Humber's meat ?
*Loc 1594 now who is l. to helpless Albion
*Loc 1597 now who is l. to hapless Brittany
*Loc 1687 credit the little honesty that is yet l. me
*Loc 1843 and we are l. to be a laughing-stock
*Loc 1928 so I am l. to wail my parents' death
1T 2031 then is there l. no Mahomet, no God
1T 2266 l. to themselves while we were at the fight 1T 2268 with them Arabia, too, hath l. his life
2T 139 whose glorious body, when he l. the world
2T 422 since we l. you at the Soldan's court
2T 592 the power I have l. behind
2T 1092 no hope is l. to save this conquer'd hold 2T 1392 and l. your slender carcasses behind
2T 1801 that little hope is l. to save our lives
2T 2046 and but one host is l. to honour thee
2T 2203 how much is l. for me to conquer all the world
1F 384 I thought that was all the land his father l. him
1F 804 devil a penny they have l. me, but a bare pension
1F 1160 when Actaeon died, he l. the horns for you 2F 728 and the devil a penny they have l. me 2F 1624 he never l. off eating till he had eat up all
*FB 11 and, when he dy'd, he l. me all his wealth
JM 100 a Spanish fleet, that never l. us till
JM 457 for there I l. the governor placing nuns
JM 614 have ta'en their flight, and l. me in despair
JM 687 then we luff'd and tack'd [Old ed. l., and tooke] and fought at ease
JM 781 yet I have one l. that will serve your turn
JM 1392 that, like a fiend, hath l. her father thus !
JM 1721 and so l. him, being driven to a non-plus
JM 1729 and so I l. him to the mercy of the hangman
JM 2017 the hat he wears, Judas l. under the elder

E2 367 so I may have some nook or corner l., to frolic
E2 467 would, when I l. sweet France, and was embark'd, that E2 496 his wanton humour will be quickly l.
E2 976 complains that thou hast l. her all forlorn
E2 1138 the king hath l. him, and his train is small E2 1755 our kindest friends in Belgia have we l.
E2 2467 Gurney, it was l. unpointed for the nonce
D 316 rejoice that nothing now is l. of Priamus!
D 317 O, Priamus is l., and this is he!
D 1074 in all this coil, where have ye l. the queen?
D 1470 and l. me neither sail nor stern aboard
D 1694 that shall consume all that this stranger l.
HLM 656 imagining that Ganymede, displeas'd, had l. the heavens
*HLC 1015 because I l. her so out of countenance
*HLC 1043 sweet Hero, l. upon her bed alone
*HLC 1420 Leander's form l. no ill object there
*HLC 2445 yellow shows their saint, the dainty Venus, l. them
Ov 323 Tydides l. worst signs of villany
Ov 703 now hast thou l. no hairs at all to dye
Ov 717 the maid that kemb'd them ever safely l. them
Ov 861 my wench her door shut: Jove's affairs I l.
Ov 1217 in naked bones? love hath my bones l. naked
Ov 1738 She l. I said, « You both I must beseech
Ov 1908 few love what others have unguarded l.
L 241 young men l. their beds, and snatch'd arms
L 486 l. hateful war decreed to both the consuls
L 501 even so, the city l., all rise in arms
L 512 is by cowards l. as a prey
*1H6 52 and none but women l. to wail the dead
*1H6 175 I am l. out; for me nothing remains
*1H6 202 but that they l. me midst my enemies
*1H6 1686 will not this malice Somerset be l.?
*1H6 1986 and l. us to the rage of France his sword
*1H6 2123 were but his picture l. amongst you here, it would amaze
*Con 658 the Black Prince he died before his father, and l. behind him Richard [So in Q1 Q2]
*Con 661 and l. behind him two daughters, Anne and Eleanor [So in Q1 Q2]
*Con 663 and l. behind Alice, Anne, and Eleanor [So in Q1 Q2]
*Con 1711 this little land my father l. me here
*Con 1927 and l. not one of them to breathe on earth
*2H6 499 and l. thee to the mercy of the law
*2H6 917 and l. behind him Richard, his only son
*2H6 1041 purposely therefore l. I the court, to see this quarrel tried *2H6 1696 but l. that hateful office unto thee
*2H6 2764 this small inheritance my father l. me
*TT 3 he slily stole away and l. his men
*TT 555 his name that valiant duke hath l. with thee
*TT 720 and would my father had l. me no more
*TT 854 lest they retire now we have l. the field
*TT 960 no hope is l. for us, therefore away
*TT 961 Oh father fly, our men have l. the field
*TT 984 had l. no mourning widows for our deaths
*TT 1447 and l. your brothers go seek elsewhere
*TT 1736 I l. him at Dunsmore with his troops
*TT 1764 you l. poor Henry in the bishop's palace
*TT 1826 of all my lands, is nothing l. me but my body's length
*3H6 3 he slily stole away, and l. his men
*3H6 232 thou would'st have l. thy dearest heart-blood there *3H6 693 his name that valiant duke hath l. with thee
*3H6 694 his dukedom, and his chair with me is l.
*3H6 862 and would my father had l. me no more
*3H6 1145 if any life be l. in thee, throw up thine eye
*3H6 1218 had l. no mourning widows for our death
*3H6 2534 you l. poor Henry at the bishop's palace
*3H6 2631 of all my lands, is nothing l. me, but my body's length
*E3 9 yet died and l. no issue of their loins
*E3 746 which without shame could not be l. undone
*E3 2175 what, is there no hope l.?

Left-out.

D 822 and feed infection with his let-out [Old ed. l.] life

Leg.

E2 759 making low ls. to a nobleman, or looking downward
*Loc 354 « As mine eye to my nose, My l. unto my hose » 1F 1288 O, my l., my l.! — Help, Mephistophilis!
1F 1289 help, Mephistophilis! call the officers. — My l., my l.!
1F 1298 Faustus has his l. again, and the Horse-courser, I 2F 1572 what shall I do? I have pulled off his l.
2F 1576 now he has [1631, hath] but one l., I'll outrun him 2F 1576 and cast this l. into some ditch or other 2F 1579 Ha, ha, ha! Faustus hath his l. again 2F 1649 I, seeing that, took him by the l., and 2F 1650 never rested till I had pulled me his l. quite off 2F 1652 and has the doctor but one l., then!
2F 1749 I'll drink a health to thy wooden l. for that word 2F 1750 my wooden l.! what dost thou mean by that?
2F 1753 he has forgot his l.
2F 1756 no, faith; not much upon a wooden l.
2F 1766 and do you remember nothing of your l.?
Ov 162 mingle not thighs, nor to his l. join thine
Ov 212 how large a l., and what a lusty thigh!
*AT 23 but brake his l. in one lewd scene, when in his early age
*2H6 2794 thy l. a stick compared with this truncheon 1T 59 the very ls. whereon our state doth lean as on a staff
2T 276 their ls. to dance and caper in the air 2F 1774 be both your ls. bed-fellows every night together?
2F 1786 did not I [1624, I not] pull off one of your ls.
2F 1789 O, horrible! had the doctor three ls.?
*FB 71 both arms and ls. in pieces torn they see Ov 931 I saw one's ls. with fetters black and blue
Ov 1775 envious garments, so good ls. to hide!
Ov 1777 swift Atalanta's flying ls., like these Ov 1779 coat-tuck'd Diana's ls. are painted like them
Ov 1811 thy ls. hang down: thou mayst, if that be best
*1H6 785 and I will chain these ls. and arms of thine
*Con 574 that could restore this cripple to his ls. again
*Con 587 well sir, we must have you find your ls.
*Con 963 casts away his crutch, before his ls. can bear his body up
*2H6 828 that could restore this cripple to his ls. again
*2H6 841 well sir, we must have you find your ls.
*2H6 1403 before his ls. be firm to bear his body
*2H6 2983 hath clapp'd his tail between his ls. and cried
*TT 771 your ls. did better service than your hands
*TT 1231 to make my ls. of an unequal size
*TT 2056 that [Q3 omits] I came into the world with my ls. forward
*3H6 917 your ls. did better service than your hands
*3H6 1593 to shape my ls. of an unequal size
*3H6 2924 I came into the world with my ls. forward
*E3 1175 there mangled arms and ls. were toss'd aloft

Legacies.
1F 58 A pretty case of paltry l. !
2F 55 A pretty case of paltry l. !
Legacy.
HLM 256 all heaven would come to claim this l.
Legate.
1T 959 as fits the l. of the stately Turk
E2 346 you know that I am l. to the Pope
E2 359 I must speak fair : the l. of the Pope will be obey'd
E2 405 the l. of the Pope will have it so 2T 78 Orcanes, (as our ls. promis'd thee), we D 787 some came in person, others sent their ls.
*1H6 2187 stay my Lord-L., you shall first receive the Legatur.
1F 56 Si una eademque res l. [all 4tos legatus] duobus
2F 53 Si una eademque res l. [Old eds. legatus] duobus
Legend.
Ov 778 are both in Fame's eternal l. writ
Legion.
*E3 1906 hath but the puissant l. of one king
*Loc 1406 ls. of spirits vex thy impious ghost !
1T 1251 ls. of spirits, fleeting in the air, direct our bullets
1T 1676 first, ls. of devils shall tear thee in pieces 2T 1205 to the lake of hell, where ls. of devils (knowing 2T 1842 that ls. of tormenting spirits may vex your slavish bosoms 2F 1185 you princely ls. of infernal rule
*1H6 1898 to beat assailing death from his weak ls. [Fol. Regions] Legis.
Ept 5 Plange ! fori lumen, venerandae gloria l.
Legitimate.
*HLC 907 and every birth of men and actions makes l.
Leicester.
E2 103 Derby, Salisbury, Lincoln, L.
E2 1927 but, L., leave to grow so passionate
E2 1936 Comes [So Dyce : 1598, Come ; 1612, 1622, Came] L., then, in Isabella's name
E2 1953 and, L., say, what shall become of us ?
E2 1970 L., thou stay'st for me ; and go I must E2 1996 L., if gentle words might comfort me, thy speeches
E2 2042 ah, L., weigh how hardly I can brook to lose my crown
E2 2145 L., farewell. — Not yet, my lord
E2 2182 pitiful as L. that had charge of him before Leicestershire.
*TT 1714 and thou brother Montague, in L.
*3H6 2440 in Buckingham, Northampton, and in L.
Leisure.
Ov 697 that thou shouldst not haste, but wait his l.
*1H6 116 no l. had he to enrank his men
*1H6 770 but since your ladyship is not at l., I'll *1H6 2191 I will attend upon your lordship's l.
*1H6 2316 hear ye captain ? are you not at l. ?
*E3 1167 no l. serv'd for friends to bid farewell Lemannus'.
L 397 they by L. nook forsook their tents
Lemans.
E2 994 Maids of England, sore may you mourn, For your l.
Lenam.
Ov 361 Execratur l. quae puellam suam meretricis arte instituebat
Lend.
*Sel 2556 that durst l. aid to Selim's enemies
*Loc 311 my pen is naught ; gentlemen, l. me a knife
1T 697 here, take it for a while : I l. it thee 1T 2218 would l. an hour's licence to my tongue, to 2T 1939 rather l. me thy weapon, Tamburlaine
JM 1184 l. me that weapon that did kill my son
Ov 464 pray him to l. what thou mayst ne'er restore
Ov 747 and vanquish'd people curious dressings l. thee
*1H6 88 wounds will I l. the French, instead of eyes, to weep
*1H6 1905 the levied succours that should l. him aid
*Con 21 l. me a heart replete with thankfulness
*E3 572 but thou may'st l. [A, leve] it me, to sport withal
*E3 575 as l. my body, palace to my soul
*E3 579 if I should l. [A, leave] her house, my lord, to thee
Ov 448 Venus to mock'd men ls. a senseless ear
*2H6 19 O Lord, that ls. me life, l. me a heart replete with Lending.
EPF 18 l. to dulness feeling sympathy
Length.
1F 871 the way he cut, an English mile in l.
2F 847 the way he cut, an English mile in l.
D 1425 what l. or breadth shall this brave town contain ?
*Epg 410 is of such thickness, l., and breadth, throughout
*TT 1826 of all my lands, is nothing left me but my body's l.
*3H6 2631 of all my lands, is nothing left me, but my body's l.
*Sel 1673 and now at l. attainèd to the crown
*Sel 1767 alas ! at l. allay your stormy strife
*Loc 141 and in that isle at l. I placed you
*Loc 401 at l. the snail doth climb the highest tops
*Loc 403 at l. the water with continual drops doth penetrate
*Loc 405 at l. we are arrived in Albion
*FB 26 and at the l. my soul was truly paid
JM 2206 and now at l. am grown your governor
MP 587 and, at the l., in Pampeluna [Old ed. Pampelonia] crown
HLM 783 seeming not won, yet won she was at l.
*HLC 1798 at l. with sickly looks he greeted them
*HLC 1838 at l., one cheering other, call for wine Ov 50 being not shak'd [eds. B, C, slackt], I saw it die at l
Ov 1579 often at l., my wench depart I bid
Ov 2317 victorious wreaths at l. my temples greet Lengthen.
*Con 171 if thine arm be too short, mine shall l. it
*2H6 272 what, is't too short ? I'll l. it with mine Lengthened.
2T 715 but, since my life is l. yet a while, let L 277 five years I l. thy command in France
Lenity.
*Sel 491 my l. adds fuel to his fire
1T 555 he should live, and be reclaim'd with princely l.
1T 1851 with happy looks of ruth and l.
*1H6 2544 of mere compassion, and of l., to ease
*TT 679 this too-much l., and harmful pity must be laid aside
*TT 987 and what makes robbers bold but l. ?
*3H6 821 this too much l. and harmful pity must be laid aside
*3H6 1221 and what makes robbers bold, but too much l. ?
Lent.
*Con 1505 the L. shall be as long again as it was *2H6 2390 the L. shall be as long again as it is *2H6 1286 is he a lamb ? his skin is surely l. him
*TT 355 arm with downright payment l. unto my father
*E3 574 as easy may my intellectual soul be l. away

Lente.
1F 1556 O l., l. currite, noctis equi !
2F 2087 O l., l. currite, noctis equi !
Leopard.
*1H6 560 or horse or oxen from the l.
D 186 and clothèd in a spotted l.'s skin ?
Lep.
HLM 556 mov'd by love's force, unto each other l. [V. R. leap] ?
Leper.
*Con 1091 I am no loathsome l. [Q1 leoper ; Q1 Q2 leaper] look on me
*2H6 1678 I am no loathsome l., look on me Lepidus.
*Epg 559 and so is L. his printed dog [Ed. L. hie printed dogge] Leprosy.
JM 785 I ha' the poison of the city for him, and the white l.
Leprous.
*E3 758 no marvel, though the l. infant die, when Lerna.
1T 1658 or wingèd snakes of L., cast your stings
JM 1387 the blood of Hydra, L.'s bane, the juice of hebon Lesbia.
2T 737 nor L. nor Corinna had been nam'd
*Epg 59 with Gella, L. [MS. Lisba], Thais, Rhodope [Ed. A, Rodpe] Less.
2T 1220 from Trebizon in Asia the L.
*Sel 897 much l. is 't lawful for a man's own son
*Sel 2335 much l. make strong resistance in hard fight
*Sel 2540 those Ibises meet them l. in set array
*Loc 1650 injurious traitor (for he is no l. that 1T 1079 more honour and l. pain it may procure
2T 2212 being distant l. than full a hundred leagues
1F 717 in some years we have more, in some l. ?
2F 639 in some years we have more, in some l. ?
JM 347 the injury far l., to take the lives of miserable men
E2 728 shall hardly do himself good, much l. us
*JMS 14 neither can it be l. than sin to wrong your D 1524 am I l. fair than when thou saw'st me first ?
D 1558 had I a son by thee, the grief were l.
HLM 77 can hardly blazon forth the loves of men, much l. of powerful gods
HLM 249 l. sins the poor rich man, that starves himself
HLM 285 much l. can honour be ascrib'd thereto
*HLC 1467 'twas l. naught to leave gods in profession
*HLC 1477 great man that will have l. do for them
*HLC 1629 the more ill threats us, we suspect the l.
Ov 6 two ta'en away, thy [ed. A, the] labour will be l.
Ov 325 a goddess struck ; another I. Yet he harm'd less
Ov 417 many to rob is more sure, and l. hateful Ov 912 and what l. labour than to hold thy peace ?
Ov 1477 but in l. compass her small fingers knit
Ov 1818 what dost ? thy waggon in l. compass bring Ov 2268 nor l. at man's prosperity any grudge
Ov 2326 yet is this l. than if he had seen me
Ov 2352 or l. fair, or l. lewd, would thou mightst be !
L 145 Caesar's renown for war was l.
L 284 Rome may be won with far l. toil
*1H6 752 and his achievements of no l. account
*1H6 816 I find thou art no l. than fame hath bruited
*1H6 1066 was nothing l. than bloody tyranny
*1H6 1708 much l. to take occasion from their mouths, to *1H6 1916 I owe him little duty, and l. love
*Con 736 go in peace, no l. beloved of us, than when *2H6 1014 no l. belov'd, than when thou wert protector to thy king *2H6 2393 and to speak the truth, thou deserv'st no l.
*TT 1092 more than I seem, for l. I should not be
*TT 1481 she had the wrong, indeed she could say little l.
*TT 1631 truth my lord, we know you for no l.
*TT 2035 and yet brought forth l. than a mother's hope
*3H6 689 to weep, is to make l. the depth of grief
*3H6 1368 more than I seem, and l. than I was born to *3H6 1369 a man at least, for l. I should not be *3H6 1423 it were no l., but yet I'll make a pause
*3H6 2013 I blame not her ; she could say little l.
*3H6 2357 true, my good lord, I know you for no l.
*3H6 2742 I thought no l. : it is his policy to haste thus fast
*3H6 2902 and yet brought forth l. than a mother's hope
*E3 103 a voluntary mischief hath l. scorn, than
*E3 561 though little, I do prize it ten times l.
*E3 924 no l. than right for right and tender love for love
*E3 1698 we can no l. but put you to the sword
*E3 1840 by this revenge that loss will seem the l.
*E3 2170 no l. than forty thousand wicked elders have 'Less : see Unless Lessen.
*Sel 2283 I do not seek to l. my offence
*HLC 1240 it supples [V. R. supplies] rigour, and it ls. sin Lessened.
*E3 650 and that by me it may be l.
Lesser.
E2 1142 going several ways, might be of l. force
L 533 the l. stars, which wont to run their course
*2H6 2792 set limb to limb, and thou art far the l.
Lesson.
*Loc 1070 hath my daughter taught you a new l. ?
*HLC 1805 love's special l. is to please the eye
*3H6 874 and learn this l. ; draw thy sword in right
E2 1328 no doubt, such ls. they will teach the rest
E2 1982 reduce we all our ls. unto this Lest.
*Sel 494 l. these small sparkles grow to such a flame
*Sel 524 l. if your son before you take the town
*Sel 798 l. that our kingdom be too momentary
*Sel 815 but then beware l. Bajazet's affection change
*Sel 837 and feareth not l. fickle Fortune lower
*Sel 1338 speak him fair, Aga, l. he kill thee too
*Sel 1559 l. I should once again rise up in arms
*Sel 2209 l. cruel Selim put them to the sword
*Loc 790 and l. he should triumph at my decay, this 1T 132 l. you [4to they] subdue the pride of Christendom !
1T 537 l., if we let them linger here a while, they 1T 945 l. he incur the fury of my wrath
2T 242 l. time be past, and lingering let us both 2T 1126 l. cruel Scythians should dismember him
2T 1338 l. he hide his crown as the foolish king of Persia did
1F 98 and gaze not on it, l. it tempt thy soul
1F 1427 l. greater danger do attend thy drift
1F 1528 gentlemen, away, l. you perish with me
2F 95 and gaze not on it, l. it tempt thy soul
2F 780 l. I send you into the ostry with a vengeance
2F 1063 l. Faustus make your shaven crowns to bleed
2F 1234 speak softly, sir, l. the devil hear you 2F 1886 l. greater dangers do attend thy drift
2F 2011 gentlemen, away, l. you perish with me
JM 888 l. she mistrust the match that is in hand
JM 2415 let's hence, l. further mischief be pretended
E2 1227 l. he bestow more cost in burying him

E2 2301 l. you be known, and so be rescuèd
E2 2512 and, l. that I should sleep, one plays continually upon a drum
E2 2565 not too hard, l. that you bruise his body
MP 846 l. thou perceive the king of France be mov'd
D 334 leave to lament, l. they laugh at our fears
D 421 l. you be mov'd too much with my sad tale
HLM 541 now wax'd she jealous l. his love abated
HLM 696 l. water-nymphs should pull him from the brink
*HLC 2172 l. seas too high should stay his too obsequious destiny
Ov 169 l. I should think thee guilty of offence
Ov 225 and guides my feet, l., stumbling, falls they catch
Ov 359 l. the sad signs of my crime remain
D 639 l. she imagine thou art Venus' son
D 709 l. their gross eye-beams taint my lover's cheeks
D 711 l. with these thoughts I melt clean away
D 731 l. I be made a wonder to the world
D 1315 yet, l. he should, for I am full of fear, bring D 1459 l. Dido, spying him, keep him for a pledge
Ov 432 while thou thy nets dost lay, l. they should fly
Ov 434 take heed l. he gets that love for nought
Ov 437 receive him soon, l. patient use he gain
Ov 438 l. his love, oft beaten back, should wane
Ov 457 beware, l. he, unrivall'd, loves secure
Ov 910 nor fear l. she to the theatres run
Ov 1058 l. long years should turn the dye
Ov 1069 l. with worse kisses she should me indue
Ov 1072 I grieve l. others should such good perceive
Ov 1358 l. art should win her, firmly did enclose
Ov 1473 l. to the wax the hold-fast dry gem cleaves
Ov 1823 l. their gowns toss thy hair, to hide thee
Ov 2122 l. her maid should know of this disgrace
*LD 4 well, l. you should, let me tell you, this spirit
*LD 15 commend nothing, l. you discredit your (that which L 324 l. age might wane his state, he casts for civil war
L 394 l. sloth and long delay might cross him
L 520 l. some one hope might ease the commons' jangling minds
*Epg 117 l. thou my rhymes [MS. lines] unto thy lover read
*1H6 881 l. bleeding, you do paint the white rose red *1H6 1160 l. it be said, Speak sirrah when you should *Con 26 l. I should speak more than beseems a woman
*Con 717 l. God had pour'd his vengeance on thy head
*Con 988 l. that in living he offend us more
*Con 1034 l. when thou wouldst, thou canst it not [Q2 not it] attain *2H6 1866 l. being suffer'd in that harmful slumber
*2H6 2623 l. they consult about the giving up of *2H6 2989 l. by your heat you burn yourselves
*TT 95 urge it no more, l. in revenge I send thee
*TT 325 l. in revenge thereof, sith God is just, he be as *TT 854 l. they retire now we have left the field
*TT 1889 l. he in time of need entice another
*3H6 101 urge it no more, l. that instead of words, I send *3H6 370 l. thou be hated both of God and man
*3H6 409 l. in revenge thereof, sith God is just, he be *3H6 2184 l. with my sighs or tears, I blast or drown
*3H6 2726 l. in our need he might infect another
*E3 99 l., meeting the lion in the field, he chance to *E3 286 l. yielding here I pine in shameful love
*E3 613 l. being therein guilty by my stay, from
*E3 1104 dispers'd to several places, l. they chance to land!
*E3 1254 l. when we would, we cannot be reliev'd

Lestrigon.

*Loc 125 we came unto the fields of L.

Let.

*SP 12 all obstant ls., down with his fury fling
L 206 this said, laying aside all ls. of war, approach'd the
*E3 934 remove those ls. that stand between your highness' love and mine 1T 1698 that Mahomet will suffer this? — 'Tis like he will, when he cannot l. it 2T 242 lest time be past, and lingering l. us both Ov 1733 the maid to hide me in her bosom l. not
*Sel 749 what ls. me then from this vain slumber rise Ov 556 and ls. what both delight, what both desire

Lethe.

*Sel 1807 henceforth thy mantle in black L. steep
*Loc 1167 you fearful dogs, that in black L. howl 2T 880 compass'd with L., Styx, and Phlegethon

Let-out.

D 822 and feed infection with his l. [Old ed. left out] life

Letter.

1F 831 and the first l. of my name begins with Lechery [Dyce, L.]
2F 750 and the first l. of my name begins with Lechery [Dyce, L.]
Ov 612 some blotted l. on the last edge to stay mine eyes 1F 78 lines, circles, scenes, ls., and characters
2F 76 lines, circles, scenes [added by Dyce], ls., and [added by Dyce] characters
*Con 1431 and he has a book in his pocket with red ls.
*Con 1593 men in thy house that daily reads books with red ls.
*2H6 2286 h'as a book in his pocket with red ls. in 't
*E3 460 write but in ls. capital my mistress' name
*Sel 1544 friend, let me see thy l. once again
*Loc 338 and carry this l. to Mistress Dorothy JM 1709 And didst thou deliver my l.? — I did
JM 1713 at the reading of the l., he looked like a
JM 1742 he gave me a l. from one Madam Bellamira
JM 1758 did not you, sir, bring the sweet youth a l.?
JM 1828 at reading of the l., he stared and stamped
JM 2026 one l. more to the Jew
E2 780 this l. came from my sweet Gaveston
E2 787 now to the l. of my lord the king
E2 2177 further, or this l. was seal'd, Lord Berkeley came E2 2193 Matrevis, write a l. presently unto the Lord of Berkeley
E2 2216 whither goes this l.? to my lord the king?
E2 2342 this l., written by a friend of ours, contains his death
MP 762 remember you the l., gentle sir
HLM 512 but stay'd, and after her a l. sent Ov 1607 Jason's sad l. doth Hypsipyle greet
*1H6 1589 a l. was deliver'd to my hands, writ to your grace
*1H6 1626 view the l. sent from our uncle Duke of Burgundy
*1H6 1644 is that the worst the l. doth contain?
*Con 1513 yet stay, I'll read the l. one [Q2 Q3 once] again
*TT 1336 my Lord-Ambassador this l. is for you
*Loc 342 I received your ls. by your man here
1T 208 his highness' ls. to command aid and assistance
1T 210 you see these ls. and commands are countermanded
1T 213 you must expect ls. of conduct from my mightiness
JMP 23 commands more than ls. can import
JM 965 here are ls, come from Ormus
JM 967 give me the ls.
JM 1002 he sends her ls., bracelets, jewels, rings

JM 2223 by my ls. privately procure great sums of money
JM 2229 tush, send not ls. to 'em ; go thyself
E2 741 even now a post came from the court with ls.
E2 915 Ls. ! from whence ? — From Scotland, my lord
E2 1370 informeth us, by ls. and by words, that E2 1374 these be the ls., this the messenger
E2 1722 ls., my lord, and tidings forth of France
E2 2169 Ls. ! from whence ? — From Killingworth, my lord
D 1709 these ls., lines, and perjur'd papers, all shall burn
Ov 605 the rest my hand doth in my ls. write
Ov 903 think when she reads, her mother ls. sent her
*1H6 2137 have you perus'd the ls. from the Pope
*1H6 2514 with ls. of commission from the king
*Con 1436 for they use to write that o' the [Q3 ore the] top of ls.
*2H6 2295 Emanuel. — They use to write it on the top of ls.
*TT 1467 now sirrah, what ls. or what news ?
*TT 1468 no ls. my lord, and such news as without your *TT 1471 tell me, what said Lewis to our ls. ?
*TT 1566 but we must despatch some ls. to [Q3 into] France
*3H6 1801 my Lord-Ambassador, these ls. are for you *3H6 1849 as for Clarence, as my ls. tell me, he's *3H6 1996 now messenger, what ls., or what news from France ?
*3H6 1997 my sovereign liege, no ls., and few words
*3H6 2003 what answer makes King Lewis unto our ls. ?
*E3 1645 whither I am by ls. certified that he intends to Leuca.

L 42 the Mutin toils, the fleet at L. sunk
L 425 and they of Rhene and L., cunning darters
L 588 dwelt in forsaken Luca [Old ed. L., with marginal note, — or Lunae]
*Epg 143 L. in presence once a fart did let Leucam.

*Epg 143 In L. XIV. [Not in MS.]

Leucote.

*HLC 1274 with vocal and articulate force inspires L.
*HLC 1553 gave bright L. voice, and made her speak
*HLC 2142 L. flies to all the Winds
*HLC 2163 for bright L., Venus' whitest swan, that *HLC 2190 to black Eurus flies the white L.
*HLC 1565 with this, the Furies stopp'd L.'s lips
*HLC 2204 who with L.'s sight did cease to blow

Levant.

*Sel 50 took the L. clean away from me
*HLC 2190 born 'mongst the negroes in the L. sea

Level.

*Sel 580 so impiously to l. at his life ?
1F 32 be a divine in show, yet l. at the end of every art
2F 31 be a divine in show, yet l. at the end of every art
E2 2281 it is the chiefest mark they l. at E2 2308 O, l. all your looks upon these daring men
*2H6 1373 by false accuse doth l. at my life
*TT 689 ambitious York did l. at thy crown
*3H6 831 ambitious York did l. at thy crown
*Con 943 and dogged York that ls. at the moon whose Levelled.

JM 2320 leave nothing loose, all l. to my mind
E2 1584 that's it these barons and the subtle queen long l. [Old eds. levied] at MP 94 oft have I l., and at last have learn'd that peril
L 384 what walls thou wilt be l. with the ground

Levi.

JM 747 I am not of the tribe of L., I

Levied.

E2 659 be you the general of the l. troops
*1H6 1905 the l. succours that should lend him aid
*1H6 1913 swearing that you withhold his l. host JM 267 shall all be l. amongst the Jews
E2 1584 that's it these barons and the subtle queen long l. [Dyce, levell'd] at *1H6 1054 in pity of my hard distress, l. an army
*1H6 1840 of horsemen, that were l. for this siege
*3H6 1893 why stay we now ? these soldiers shall be l.
*E3 828 I have, my liege, l. those horse and foot

Levune.

E2 1369 our friend L., faithful and full of trust
E2 1375 These be the letters, this the messenger. — Welcome, L.
E2 1391 L. shall follow you with all the haste
E2 1573 L., the trust that we repose in thee begets
E2 1585 yea, but, L., thou seest, these barons lay
E2 1592 then make for France amain ; L., away !
E2 1723 to you, my Lord of Glocester, from L.
E2 1737 Your honour's in all service, L.

Levy.

*Sel 892 to l. arms 'gainst his injurious sire ?
2T 1024 dare l. arms against our puissance
2T 1476 ready to l. power against thy throne
1F 119 I'll l. soldiers with the coin they bring 2F 116 I'll l. soldiers with the coin they bring
JM 237 to l. of us ten years' tribute past
E2 223 why post we not from hence to l. men ?
E2 289 for my sake, forbear to l. arms against the king
E2 901 come, Edmund, let's away, and l. men
E2 955 'twould [1598 Would] l. men enough to anger you
E2 1518 to assemble aid, and l. arms against your lawful king ?
MP 738 to l. arms, and make these civil broils
MP 1149 come, let us away, and l. men
*Con 1842 to l. arms against his lawful king
*2H6 1270 l. great sums of money through the realm
*TT 1395 now we will prepare to l. soldiers for to go with you
*3H6 2046 go l. men, and make prepare for war
*3H6 2431 let's l. men, and beat him back again
*E3 140 go l. footmen for our wars in France

Lewd.

*Sel 1773 Grief, my l. boat-swain, stirreth nothing sure
Ov 920 counterfeit tears, and thee l. hangman call
Ov 974 here I display my l. and loose behaviour
Ov 1919 he is too clownish, whom a l. wife grieves
Ov 2352 or less fair, or less l., would thou mightst be !
*AT 23 but brake his leg in one l. scéne, when in his early age
*1H6 1110 thy l., pestiferous and dissentious pranks

Lewdly.

Ov 2085 the [ed. A, This] benefit which l. I forslow'd
Ov 2322 I know not whom thou l. didst embrace
*2H6 860 a sort of naughty persons, l. bent, under Lewdness.

Ov 2089 why, Philomel, dost Tereus' l. mourn ?
Ov 2353 beauty with l. doth right ill agree
Ov 1699 without shame thou sing'st thy l.' ditty

Lewis.

*TT 1085 for L. is a prince soon won with words
*TT 1242 it fits not L. to sit whilst thou dost stand
*TT 1269 King L. and Lady Bona hear me speak
*TT 1342 and mark how L. stamps as he were nettled
*TT 1350 King L., I here protest in sight of heaven, and *TT 1368 that if King L. vouchsafe to furnish us with

*TT 1376 that L. of France is sending over maskers to revel it
*TT 1415 suppose they do, they are but L. and Warwick
*TT 1432 and L. in regard of his sister's wrongs, doth
*TT 1434 suppose that L. and Warwick be appeas'd, by *TT 1471 tell me, what said L. to our letters?
*TT 1474 that L. of France is sending over maskers, to
*TT 1476 is L. so brave, belike he thinks me Henry
*3H6 1346 and L. a prince soon won with moving words
*3H6 1632 that thou shouldst stand, while L. doth sit *3H6 1655 now therefore be it known to noble L., that *3H6 1699 King L., and Lady Bona, hear me speak
*3H6 1708 look therefore L., that by this league
*3H6 1780 before thy coming, L. was Henry's friend
*3H6 1821 King L., I here protest in sight of heaven, and *3H6 1844 that if King L. vouchsafe to furnish us with *3H6 1865 that L. of France, is sending over maskers
*3H6 1919 as well as L. of France, or the Earl of Warwick
*3H6 1924 they are but L. and Warwick, I am Edward *3H6 1940 that King L. becomes your enemy for mocking him
*3H6 1945 what if both L. and Warwick be appeas'd, by *3H6 2003 what answer makes King L. unto our letters?
*3H6 2006 that L. of France is sending over maskers
*3H6 2152 L. and the Lady Bona send to him

Ley.

*Loc 1512 nigh Durolitum, by the pleasant L.
*Loc 1620 go, boy, to Durolitum, down the L.

Liable.

*E3 215 those are her own, still liable to her

Libas.

Ov 2063 and L. and the white-cheek'd Pitho thrice

Libel

*Epg 567 each bastard cast-forth rhyme which doth but savour of a l. vein
E2 980 ls. are cast again [1612, 1622, against] thee in the street

Libelling.

E2 837 what call you this but private l. against the Earl

Liber.

*Epg 96 L. doth vaunt how chastely he hath liv'd
*Epg 100 then, L., thou hast swiv'd all womenkind

Liberal.

JM 1134 scholars I mean, learnèd and l.
E2 731 the l. Earl of Cornwall is the man on whose
*HLD 10 with good countenance and l. affection
HLM 515 fort, wherein the l. Graces lock'd [V. R. lock] their wealth
Ov 2125 what man will now take l. arts in hand
L 132 sought by l. gifts to gain the light unstable commons' love
*Epg 192 thou art as kind and l. as a dog
*1H6 2501 it's sign she hath been l. and free
*1H6 2641 beside, his wealth doth warrant a l. dower
*2H6 2554 the people l., valiant, active, wealthy
*3H6 326 they are soldiers, witty, courteous, l., full of spirit
*E3 58 as by his l. gift the Guyenne dukedom is entail'd to thee

Liberally.

JM 1993 how l. the villain gives me mine own gold!

Liberties.

1T 264 may serve for ransom to our l.

Liberty.

*Loc 113 there I restored your antique l.
1T 215 but, since I love to live at l., as 1T 260 therefore at least admit us l.
1T 1855 on whose safe return depends our city, l., and lives
1T 2002 you hope of l. and restitution?
2T 174 forbids you further l. than this 2T 511 should not infringe our l. of arms and victory 2F 894 my four-and-twenty years of l. I'll spend in pleasure 2F 955 restore this Bruno to his l., and JM 403 but give him l. at least to mourn, that E2 2206 that Edmund casts to work his l.
E2 2219 to ease his grief and work his l.
Ov 899 stoln l. she may by thee obtain
Ov 2507 whom l. to honest arms compell'd
*1H6 1047 I lost my l., and they their lives
*1H6 1575 and crave, I may have l. to venge this wrong
*1H6 1797 squadrons pitch'd, to wall thee from the l. of flight *1H6 2252 and try if they can gain your l.
*1H6 2363 hath gain'd thy daughter princely l.
*Con 1817 who's that, proud Somerset at l.?
*2H6 2377 now show yourselves men, 'tis for l.
*2H6 2916 how now? is Somerset at l.?
*3H6 2203 at whose hands he hath good usage, and great l.
*3H6 2234 and turn'd my captive state to l.
*3H6 2246 they quite forget their loss of l.
*3H6 2294 by doubtful fear, my joy of l. is half eclips'd
*E3 761 and youth the dangerous rein of l.
*E3 904 set the king, the dauphin, and the peers, at l.
*E3 1281 we here enlarge and give thee l.
*E3 1423 curtail and curb your sweetest l.
*E3 1662 and then thou shalt be set at l.

Library.

1F 1069 forgive me now, and I'll never rob thy l. more
D 725 his looks shall be my only l.

Librum.

*Epg 95 In L. IX

Libya.

D 212 Agenor's stately town, the kingly seat of Southern L.
D 684 am not I queen of L.? then depart
D 1060 and be thou king of L. by my gift
D 1241 wear the imperial crown of L.
D 1287 deserves as large a kingdom as is L.
L 369 or Scythia, or hot L.'s thirsty sands

Libyan.

D 228 do trace these L. deserts, all despis'd
D 258 we come not, we, to wrong your L. gods
D 1215 gold, and Ilioneus gum and L. spice
D 1490 how loath I am to leave these L. bounds
D 1570 wast thou not wreck'd upon this L. shore
Ov 1507 with her I durst the L. Syrts break through L 497 from the breach of L. Syrtes rolls a monstrous wave

Libya-shore.

D 1444 with what thought sleep'st thou in L.?

Lice.

1F 394 I'll turn all the l. about thee into familiars
2F 369 I'll turn all the l. about thee into familiars

Licence.

1T 2218 would lend an hour's l. to my tongue, to *Con 1506 thou [Q3 and thou] shalt have l. to kill for four-score and one *2H6 2391 thou shalt have a l. to kill for a hundred lacking one
*E3 2093 go, hang him; for thy l. lies in me

Licensed.

*Con 886 and if I had been l. first to speak, I think Licentiates.

1F 207 force of argument, that you, being l., should stand upon't [Dyce, upon] 2F 199 force of argument, which you, being l., should stand upon Licentious.
E2 771 curate-like in mine attire, though inwardly l. enough
L 162 wealth flow'd, and then we grew l. and rude Lick.
*Loc 365 sayest thou so, sweet wench, let me l. thy toes
*TT 683 whose hand is it the savage bear doth l.?
*3H6 825 whose hand is it the forest bear doth l.?
Licked.
L 330 so, Pompey, thou, having l. warm gore from Sylla's sword
*3H6 1595 like to a chaos, or an un*l.* bear-whelp Lickfingers.
*Loc 1051 you, slopsauce, l., will you not hear?
Licorously.
*HLC 2329 whom the kind waves so l. cleapt
Lids : see Eye-lids
Lie.
*Epg 423 that for such ls. an action will not l.
1T 677 base villain, darest thou give me [8vo omits] the l.?
*Epg 27 endures the l. [Eds. ls.] and knocks about the ears
JM 1125 and, like a cunning spirit, feign some l.
JM 1308 made mine Abigail a nun. — That's no l.
E2 31 to wait at my trencher, and tell me ls. at dinner-time
Ov 1497 but absent is my fire : ls. I'll tell none
Ov 2332 what should I tell her vain tongue's filthy ls.
L 468 bringing news of present war, made many ls. and tales
*Epg 404 Crassus his ls. are no [Eds. not] pernicious ls.
*Epg 420 but why doth Crassus tell his [MS. those] ls. so rife
*Epg 423 that for such ls. an action will not l.
*Epg 476 the wide-mouth slave will eat as fast as he will utter ls.
*E3 1377 is scandalous and most notorious l.
1T 693 No ; I took it prisoner. — You l. ; I gave it you 1F 1051 Well, tone of you hath this goblet about you. — You l., drawer 2F 1175 nay, there you l. ; 'tis beyond us both *Con 619 it must be so, or else the devil doth l.
*Loc 1335 he ls., my lord ; I found the lady first *1H6 4915 York ls : he might have sent, and had the horse
*2H6 2349 he ls., for I invented it myself
*Sel 1885 « From morn to even, her tongue ne'er ls.
*Sel 30 such is our life — under crowns cares do l.
*Sel 706 and though thy bloodless body here do l.
*Loc 90 and in you, lordings, doth the substance l.
*Loc 350 « For your love doth l. As near and as nigh »
*Loc 768 do l., like mountains, in the congeal'd sea
*Loc 975 some headless l., some breathless, on the ground
*Loc 1259 there l. the beasts that sought to usurp our land
*Loc 1345 there let them l., and try their quarrel out
*Loc 2028 let Estrild l. without the shallow vaults 1T 230 l. here, ye weeds, that I disdain to wear!
1T 534 Tartarian thieves, that l. in ambush, waiting for a prey
1T 930 or breathless l. before the city-walls
1T 979 then shall our footmen l. within the trench
1T 1148 that they [4to omits] l. panting on the galleys' side
1T 1296 by this the Turks l. weltering in their blood
1T 1346 shall l. at anchor in the Isle Asant
1T 1377 l. slumbering on the flowery banks of Nile
1T 1917 leave the angry god of arms and l. with me
1T 2202 l. down, Arabia, wounded to the death
1T 2264 emperors and kings l. breathless at my feet
2T 607 now l. the Christians bathing in their bloods
2T 1057 and l. in trench before the castle-walls
2T 1287 and in a stable l. upon the planks
2T 2027 we may l. ready to encounter him
2T 2075 come, soldiers, let us l. in wait for him
1F 1024 make clean our boots, which l. foul upon our hands 1F 1072 upon whose altars thousand souls do l.
2F 929 to me and Peter shalt thou grovelling l.
2F 1694 India, Saba, and such countries that l. far east
*FB 42 where I did see how all the world did l.
JM 152 galleys, Barabas, are come from Turkey, and l. in our road
JM 199 isles that l. betwixt the Mediterranean seas
JM 541 and let me lodge where I was wont to l.
JM 1547 the burden of my sins l. heavy on my soul!
JM 1806 now, gentle Ithamore, l. in my lap
JM 1966 come, gentle Ithamore, l. in my lap
E2 14 the king, upon whose bosom let me die [Dyce, l.]
E2 966 and, lame and poor, l. groaning at the gates
E2 1386 heaven's great beams on Atlas' shoulder shall not l. more safe E2 2524 l. on this bed, and rest yourself a while E2 2544 you're overwatch'd, my lord : l. down and rest
E2 2602 on his mournful hearse thy hateful and accursed head shall l.
E2 2666 go, fetch my father's hearse, where it shall l.
MP 830 l. there, the king's delight, and Guise's scorn!
MP 1174 then here we'll l. before Lutetia-walls [Old ed. Lucrecia walles] MPF 24 l. there, the king's delight and Guise's scorn!
D 575 and I, alas, was forc'd to let her l.!
D 1335 I'll hang ye in the chamber where I l.
D 1498 launch'd from the haven, l. they in the road?
HLM 236 which long time l. untouch'd will harshly jar
HLM 360 that hops about the chamber where I l.
Ov 376 and her old body in birds' plumes to l.
Ov 470 that my dead bones may in their grave l. soft
Ov 634 as evil wood, thrown in the highways, l.
Ov 992 yet would I l. [ed. A, be] with her, if that I might Ov 1196 let me l. with thee, brown Cypass, to-day
Ov 1273 yet this is better far than l. alone
Ov 1464 blest ring, thou in my mistress' hand shalt l.!
Ov 1636 and on thy threshold let me l. dispread
Ov 1689 her cloak [Old eds. looke] on ground did l.
Ov 1773 but on the ground thy clothes too loosely l.
Ov 1784 delight me may the rest, which l. hid
Ov 1825 but now again the barriers open l.
Ov 2087 to l. with her, — she let me
Ov 2109 l. down with shame, and see thou stir no more
Ov 2117 who bade thee l. down here against thy will?
Ov 2136 fool, canst thou l. in his enfolding space?
L 26 huge heaps of stone l. in our towns
Dia 24 here he stands shall l. with the bride
*1H6 184 at pleasure here we l., near Orleans
*1H6 1431 for there young Henry with his nobles l. [? ls.]
*1H6 1962 shall all thy mother's hopes l. in one tomb?
*Con 1876 l. thou there, and breathe thy last [Q3 and tumble in thy blood]
*2H6 521 prove them, and l. open to the law
*2H6 2195 there let his head, and lifeless body l.
*2H6 2406 here may his head l. on my throbbing breast

*2H6 3114 so l. thou there
*TT 927 l. there thou that fought'st with me so stoutly
*TT 1157 but to tell thee the troth, I aim to l. with thee
*TT 1158 to tell you plain my lord, I had rather l. in prison
*3H6 1494 to tell thee plain, I aim to l. with thee
*3H6 1495 to tell you plain, I had rather l. in prison
*3H6 2098 made a solemn vow, never to l. and take his natural rest, till *3H6 2606 so, l. thou there : die thou, and die our fear
*E3 296 far from this place let ugly treason l. !
*E3 300 in the sun alone it doth not l. with light to take light
*E3 318 for, where the golden ore doth buried l., the *E3 551 say that within thy power [it] doth l. to
*E3 2083 thou and thy word l. both in my command
*Sel 2160 there ls. a book written with bloody lines
*Loc 780 every man ls. sleeping in the fields
*Loc 802 but I smell a fox : look where my master ls.
*Loc 820 « at this very hour, Ls. dead on the ground »
*Loc 1132 what force ls. in stout Corineus' hand
*Loc 1621 unto the arch were lovely Estrild ls.
*Loc 1913 ls. slaughter'd in this foul accursed cave
*Loc 1919 here ls. a sword, and Sabren hath a heart
*Loc 1948 see where he murder'd ls. by luckless lot
*Loc 1950 and by him ls. his lovely paramour
2T 186 wherein at [8vo an] anchor ls. a Turkish galley 2T 220 how far hence ls. the galley, say you ?
2T 226 she ls. so close that none can find her out
2T 1094 a deadly bullet, gliding through my side, ls. heavy on my heart
2T 1184 here at Aleppo, with an host of men, ls. Tamburlaine
2T 1913 in Limnasphaltis' lake there ls. more gold
2T 1917 Whereabout ls. it ? — Under a hollow bank 2T 2025 where Tamburlaine with all his army ls.
2T 2225 see, what a world of ground ls. westward
1F 1128 where ls. entomb'd this famous conqueror 2F 1444 that's the head, and here [1624, 1631, and Dyce, there] the body ls.
JM 1448 I'll to her lodging ; hereabouts she ls.
E2 454 your highness knows, it ls. not in my power
E2 571 when he shall know it ls. in us to banish him
E2 2150 and he himself ls. in captivity
MP 1065 boy, look, where your father ls.
D 399 ls. it in Dido's hands to make thee blest ?
D 812 here ls. my hate, Aeneas' cursèd brat
D 1704 here l[s]. the sword that in the darksome cave he drew D 1707 here l[s]. the garment which I cloth'd him in HLM 20 disdainful eyes of proud Adonis, that before her ls.
HLM 173 it ls. not in our power to love or hate
*HLC 1469 therein ls. most of her duties
*HLC 2194 to have him cease his blasts ; and down he ls.
Ov 44 or ls. he close, and shoots where none can spy him ?
Ov 172 if he ls. down, with wine and sleep opprest
Ov 497 he cities great, this thresholds ls. before
Ov 508 who thou never think'st should fall down, ls.
Ov 658 if ever, now well ls. she by my side
Ov 678 who can endure, save him with whom none ls. ?
Ov 1004 an Amazon, and therefore fills the bed she ls. upon
Ov 1005 if short, she ls. the rounder
Ov 1242 hapless is he that all the night ls. quiet
Ov 1711 err I, or myrtle in her right hand ls. ?
Ov 1989 and fiercely knock'st thy breast that open ls. ?
Ov 2061 or one that with her tender brother ls.
Ov 2141 canst touch that hand wherewith some one l[s]. dead ?
Ov 2264 in empty bed alone my mistress ls.
L 684 this headless trunk that ls. on Nilus' sand I know
*1H6 725 to visit her poor castle where she ls.
*1H6 2085 see where he ls. inhearsed in the arms of *1H6 2116 stinking and fly-blown ls. here at our feet
*1H6 2303 there all is marr'd : there ls. a cooling card
*Con 1920 O dismal sight, see where he breathless ls.
*2H6 1370 the envious load that ls. upon his heart
*3H6 938 that Clifford's manhood, ls. upon his tongue
*3H6 1957 in them, and in ourselves, our safety ls.
*3H6 2212 this way my lord, for this way ls. the game
*3H6 2501 it is not his, my lord, here Southam ls.
*E3 735 when vassal fear ls. trembling at his feet
*E3 955 to arrive at Sestos where my Hero ls.
*E3 973 and learn by me to find her where she ls.
*E3 975 my love, which now ls. fast asleep within my heart
*E3 1623 now ls. it on an upshot ; therefore strike
*E3 1855 before us in the valley ls. the king
*E3 1865 on our left hand ls. Philip, the younger issue of the king
*E3 2093 go, hang him ; for thy licence ls. in me

Lied.

Ov 1843 by which she perjur'd oft hath l. to [Old eds. by] me

Liefest.

D 1665 save, save Aeneas, Dido's l. love !
*2H6 1377 stirr'd up my l. liege to be mine enemy
*2H6 28 with you mine alder-l. sovereign

Liege.

E2 1500 'tis not amiss, my l., for either part to breathe a while E2 2282 the chiefest mark they level at. — Not so, my l.
E2 2309 daring men that wrong their l. and sovereign
*1H6 1547 yes, if it please your majesty, my l.
*1H6 1649 are you not content ? — Content, my l. ? yes
*Con 899 pardon my l., that I have stay'd so long
*2H6 1305 pardon my l., that I have stay'd so long
*2H6 1377 stirr'd up my liefest l. to be mine enemy
*2H6 1385 my l., his railing is intolerable
*2H6 1474 as Humphrey prov'd by reasons to my l.
*2H6 1491 I'll provide his executioner, I tender so the safety of my l.
*2H6 1737 that shall I do my l.
*2H6 2845 art thou a messenger from Henry, our dread l.
*2H6 2911 and never live but true unto his l.
*3H6 821 my gracious l., this too much lenity and *3H6 845 for shame, my l., make them your precedent
*3H6 934 my l., the wound that bred this meeting here, cannot *3H6 1484 the fruits of love, I mean, my loving l.
*3H6 1730 why Warwick, canst thou speak against thy l.
*3H6 1997 my sovereign l., no letters, and few words
*3H6 2298 my l., it is young Henry, Earl of Richmond
*3H6 2350 my l., I'll knock once more, to summon them
*E3 211 my l., I crave the lady, and no more
*E3 214 why, then, my l., let me enjoy her jewels
*E3 217 my l., as we were pricking on the hills, to
*E3 224 will bring the hindmost rank unto this place, my l.
*E3 228 I know it well, my l., and therefore fly
*E3 237 after the French ambassador, my l., and tell him
*E3 261 they are, my l. ; but, with a cheerful cry

*E3 264 even she, my l. ; whose beauty tyrant's fear
*E3 284 no war to you, my l. ; the Scots are gone
*E3 292 then, dear my l., now niggard not thy state
*E3 387 I will, my l.
*E3 395 and paper ready, Lodwick ? — Ready, my l.
*E3 532 sorry I am, to see my l. so sad
*E3 542 as near, my l., as all my woman's power can
*E3 547 I will, my l. — Swear, countess, that thou wilt
*E3 582 swear, to give me what I would ? — I did, my l.
*E3 614 from that, not from my l., I turn away
*E3 828 I have, my l., levied those horse and foot
*E3 833 The countess' mind, my l. ? — I mean the emperor
*E3 843 that yet, my l., ere night she will resolve your majesty
*E3 872 my l., the drum that struck the lusty march
*E3 900 my l., the countess with a smiling cheer desires access
*E3 923 That thou shalt yield to me. — Ay, dear my l., your due
*E3 940 my thrice-loving l., your queen, and Salisbury
*E3 2059 behold, my l., this knight, and forty mo
*E3 2111 to Calice, where my l., King Edward, is
*E3 2231 till I did see my l., thy royal [A, B, loyall] father
*E3 2322 I am, my l., a northern squire, indeed

Liegeman.

*E3 64 thou may'st be sworn true l. to our king

Liegemen.

*1H6 2547 you shall become true l. to his crown

Lien.

L 28 Italy many years hath l. untill'd
*Epg 347 his grief's cause hath line [= l. or lain] at Trollop's

Liest.

1T 676 Thou l. — Base villain, darest thou give me [8vo omits] the lie ?
*E3 825 thou l., she hath not ; but I would, she had !
*E3 2026 coward, what flight ? thou l., there needs no flight
Ov 1205 O boy, that l. so slothful in my heart !

Lieth.

*Sel 461 and there I know l. his chief disease
*Loc 55 it l. not in us to disannul
E2 2138 favour him, my lord, as much as l. in you
E2 2188 and none but we shall know where he l.

Lieu.

E2 1352 pours, in l. of all your goodness shown, his life

Lieutenant.

2T 1182 Callapine, God's great l. over all the world
E2 1706 from the L. of the Tower, my lord
*1H6 345 l., is it you whose voice I hear ?
*3H6 2232 Master L., now that God and friends have *3H6 2240 for what, L. ? for well using me ?
1T 711 regent of Persia, and general-l. of my armies

Lieutenant-General.

*E3 807 makes our king l. in all his lands

Life.

1T 479 well hast thou pourtray'd in thy terms of l. the face
*HLC 2444 that, as we construe colours, paint their states to l.
*Sel 30 such is our l. — under crowns cares do lie
*Sel 69 that high power that l. first to thee gave !
*Sel 89 Corcut in fair Magnesia leads his l.
*Sel 153 you see the harvest of my l. is past
*Sel 278 thus to lay siege against my father's l.
*Sel 281 wherein I may my errant l. behold
*Sel 313 and every one his l. in peace did pass
*Sel 406 to work your father's death, you venture l.
*Sel 554 his meaning is to rid me of my l.
*Sel 580 so impiously to level at his l. ?
*Sel 615 I took not arms to take away thy l.
*Sel 639 venturing l. and living, to honour thee
*Sel 924 Acomat that leads his l. still in lascivious pomp
*Sel 929 will scant endure to lead a soldier's l.
*Sel 1021 Acomat, he would have it in my l.
*Sel 1027 and Acomat seeks the kingdom in my l.
*Sel 1102 my l. forepassed in Pleasure's court
*Sel 1133 young prince, thy uncle seeks to have thy l.
*Sel 1188 why, uncle, doth my l. put you in fear ?
*Sel 1226 sweet uncle, spare wretched Zonara's l.
*Sel 1274 entreating l. and not obtaining it
*Sel 1280 wherefore have you prolong'd my wretched l., to *Sel 1282 to lift his hands against his father's l. ?
*Sel 1384 as kill the man that first gave l. to you ?
*Sel 1424 not leave me in so comfortless a l.
*Sel 1476 Acomat is full resolv'd to take thy l. from thee
*Sel 1589 whose l. I aim'd at with rebellious sword
*Sel 1606 thy reformed l. and humble thoughts are thrice as pleasing
*Sel 1683 as if he had pow'r over l. and death
*Sel 1715 but, on your l., be secret in the deed
*Sel 1717 whose envenom'd taste may take away the l. of Bajazet
*Sel 1831 I care not much to end my l. with him
*Sel 1857 farewell, sweet l. ! and Aga now farewell
*Sel 2049 the sweet content that country l. affords
*Sel 2055 but let thee live, here shouldst thou spend thy l.
*Sel 2178 I never will entreat thee for my l.
*Sel 2214 and crabbèd Hali stormeth at thy l.
*Sel 2316 spare my Mustaffa's l., and let me die
*Sel 2415 yet will I never beg my l. of thee
*Loc 45 is clove asunder, and bereft of l.
*Loc 146 I hazarded my l. and dearest blood
*Loc 157 his l. and dearest blood will Corineus spend
*Loc 248 and all my miseries do end with l.
*Loc 250 accursed stars t' abbreviate my noble father's l. !
*Loc 256 the martial Brutus is bereft of l.
*Loc 321 a proper tall young man of a handsome l.
*Loc 510 « We cobblers lead a merry l. »
*Loc 791 this sword shall reave his master of his l.
*Loc 792 that oft hath saved his master's doubtful l.
*Loc 869 you may easily see that all our l. is but a tragedy
*Loc 908 yielded his l. and honour to the dust
*Loc 1129 or lose my l. amongst the thickest press
*Loc 1234 with loss of l. and ever-during shame
*Loc 1278 O l., the harbour of calamities !
*Loc 1309 I, being conqueror, live a lingering l.
*Loc 1400 but as thou lov'st thy l., so love thy wife
*Loc 1472 that guid'st the l. of every mortal wight
*Loc 1499 should he enjoy the benefit of l.
*Loc 1501 that makes my l. equal to dreadful death ?
*Loc 1507 with murthering blade bereave him of his l.
*Loc 1529 till Atropos cut off mine uncle's l.
*Loc 1550 these arms that have sustain'd their master's l.
*Loc 1557 that I may leave this death-like l. of mine !
*Loc 1606 increased our woe by taking Corineus from this l.
*Loc 1653 unless thou mean'st to leave thy wretched l.
*Loc 1680 to trouble Locrine in his sweetest l.
*Loc 1684 is it to die ? is it to end my l. ?
*Loc 1872 hast saved the l. of Brutus and his son
*Loc 1873 end now his l. that wisheth still for death
*Loc 1875 work now his death that hateth still his l. !
*Loc 1889 for mighty Locrine is bereft of l.

*Loc 1894 we plainly see that all our l. is but a tragedy
*Loc 1896 since martial Locrine is bereft of l.
*Loc 1898 shall love of l. bar her from Locrine's sword?
*Loc 1899 this sword that hath bereft his l., shall
*Loc 1959 by violently cutting off her l.?
*Loc 1993 uncalled com'st, and shear'st our l. in twain
*Loc 1999 though all the world should seek to save her l.
1T 68 our l. is frail, and may die to-day
1T 220 and must maintain my l. exempt from servitude
1T 420 as long as l. maintains Theridamas
1T 470 and in their smoothness amity and l.
1T 486 with reasons of his valour and his l.
1T 491 the port be made that leads to palace of my brother's l.
1T 763 whose virtues carry with it l. and death
1T 836 vowing our loves to equal death and l.
1T 845 the stars that make the loathsome circle of my dated l.
1T 850 thus to deprive me of my crown and l.!
1T 898 and like a harpy [4to Harper] tires on my l.
1T 1003 ah, l. and soul, still hover in his [4to the] breast
1T 1005 or else unite you [4to me] to his l. and soul 1T 1149 and strive for l. at every stroke they give 1T 1556 so shall he have his l., and all the rest
1T 1743 preserving l. by hastening [8vo hasting] cruel death 1T 1945 for Egypt's freedom and the Soldan's l.
1T 1946 his l. that so consumes Zenocrate
1T 1996 but let us save the reverend Soldan's l.
1T 2047 O l., more loathsome to my vexèd thoughts [4to thought] than 1T 2070 that, in the shorten'd sequel of my l., I may 1T 2075 sweet Bajazeth, I will prolong thy l.
1T 2096 and make a passage for my loathèd l.!
1T 2118 and wounded bodies gasping yet for l.
1T 2133 whose lives were dearer to Zenocrate than her own l.
1T 2162 be equally against his l. incens'd
1T 2170 as long as l. maintains his mighty arm
1T 2184 must fight against my l. and present love 1T 2196 with happy safety of my father's l.
1T 2214 whose sight with joy would take away my l.
1T 2268 with them Arabia, too, hath left his l.
2T 606 conceive a second l. in endless mercy!
2T 652 Zenocrate, that gave him light and l.
2T 680 that this my l. may be as short to me
2T 692 in whose sweet being I repose my l.!
2T 699 live still, my love, and so conserve my l.
2T 712 your grief and fury hurts my second l.
2T 715 but, since my l. is lengthen'd yet a while, let 2T 1044 nay, captain, thou art weary of thy l.
2T 1114 and quickly rid thee both of pain and l.
2T 1171 be likewise end to my accursèd l.
2T 1289 and humbly crave a pardon for thy l.
2T 1438 if the wars be not a l. that may illustrate gods
2T 1571 devise some means to rid thee of thy l.
2T 1611 spending my l. in sweet discourse of love
2T 1807 villain, respect'st [Old eds. respects] thou more thy slavish l. than honour 2T 1809 is not my l. and state as dear to me
2T 1845 as long as any l. is in my breast
2T 1847 to save thy l., and us a little labour
2T 1915 save but my l., and I will give it thee
2T 1916 then, for all your valour, you would save your l.?
2T 1950 yet save my l., and let this wound appease 2T 1953 and offer'd me as ransom for thy l.
2T 2038 when I record my parents' slavish l.
2T 2102 as his birth, l., health, and majesty were strangely blest 2T 2105 his birth, his l., his health, and majesty!
2T 2168 which, being the cause of l., imports your death
2T 2238 what death forbids my l., that let your lives command
2T 2242 retain a thought of joy or spark of l.?
2T 2246 for by your l. we entertain our lives
2T 2265 joy the breath of l. and burden of my soul
2T 2276 leading a l. that only strives to die
1F 53 or, being dead, raise them to l. again
1F 594 to imagine that, after this l., there is any pain?
1F 844 this will I keep as chary as my l.
1F 1131 and attire they us'd to wear during their time of l.
1F 1204 shortening my days and thread of vital l.
1F 1263 never so near drowning in my l.
1F 1341 the best grapes that e'er I tasted in my l. before 1F 1358 such belly-cheer as Wagner ne'er beheld in all his l.
1F 1389 to guide thy steps unto the way of l.
1F 1507 gush forth blood, instead of tears! yea, l. and soul!
2F (Title) The tragical history of the l. and death of Doctor Faustus 2F 50 or, being dead, raise them [1624, 1631, men] to l. again 2F 540 that, after this l., there is any pain?
2F 570 this will I keep as chary as my l.
2F 761 this will I keep as chary as my l.
2F 788 horns on's head as e'er thou sawest in thy l.
2F 1025 we will determine of his l. or death
2F 1151 I'll so conjure him as he was never conjured in his l.
2F 1181 stand close at my back, and stir not for thy l.
2F 1276 and lay his l. at holy Bruno's feet
2F 1494 what's here? an ambush to betray my l.!
2F 1814 Wagner in his l. ne'er [1624, 1631, never] saw the like 2F 1946 I do yield my l. and lasting service for your love
2F 1990 gush forth blood, instead of tears! yea, l. and soul!
*FB 3 I liv'd a l. the like did none before
JM 11 tell that which may maintain him all his l.
JM 344 and now shall move you to bereave my l.
JM 350 you have my wealth, the labour of my l.
JM 469 no, I will live; nor loathe I this my l.
JM 532 I'd pass away my l. in penitence
JM 540 to frame my solitary l. to your strait laws
JM 648 the loadstar of my l., if Abigail
JM 798 What's the price? — Your l., an if you have it
JM 983 nay, on my l., it is my factor's hand
JM 1091 my l. is not so dear as Abigail
JM 1262 and then thou didst not like that holy l.
JM 1269 far from the sun that gives eternal l.!
JM 1281 yet never shall these lips bewray thy l.!
JM 1297 come near, my love; come near, thy master's l.
JM 1298 thy master's l., my trusty servant, nay, my second self [Old ed. l.]
JM 1321 I cannot think but that thou hat'st my l.
JM 1350 rice-porridge? that will preserve l.
JM 1618 the other knows enough to have my l.
JM 1845 as you love your l., send me five hundred crowns
JM 2076 for none of this can prejudice my l.
JM 2169 whenas thy l. shall be at their command?
JM 2188 thy l. and Malta's happiness are at my arbitrement

JM 2198 'tis not thy l. which can avail me aught
JM 2216 if I render you the l. of Calymath
JM 2236 wherein no danger shall betide thy l.
JM 2252 this is the l. we Jews are us'd to lead
JM 2399 strive to end thy l. with resolution
JM 2408 die, l. ! fly soul ! tongue, curse thy fill, and die !
JM 2410 this train he laid to have entrapp'd thy l.
JM 2413 but I have rather chose to save thy l.
E2 (Title) and also the l. and death of Pierce Gaveston
E2 193 no, spare his l., but seize upon his goods
E2 273 I will endure a melancholy l., and let him frolic
E2 533 now, for my l., his mind is chang'd !
E2 749 my l. for thine, she will have Gaveston
E2 886 the l. of thee shall salve this foul disgrace
E2 887 villain, thy l. ! unless I miss mine aim
E2 1073 will be the first that shall adventure l.
E2 1219 I know it, lords, it is this l. you aim at E2 1289 I see it is your l. these arms pursue
E2 1291 O, must this day be period of my l.
E2 1353 his l., my lord, before your princely feet
E2 1467 salute your highness with long l. and happiness
E2 1710 now, on my l., they'll neither bark nor bite
E2 1801 Edward, this Mortimer aims at thy l.
E2 1887 have not in l. or death made miserable ?
E2 1892 father, this l. contemplative is heaven
E2 1893 O, that I might this l. in quiet lead !
E2 1918 upon my l., these be the men ye seek
E2 1924 t' escape their hands that seek to reave his l. !
E2 1937 to take my l., my company from me ?
E2 1971 and go I must. — L., farewell, with my friends !
E2 1978 we are depriv'd the sunshine of our l.
E2 1979 make for a new l., man ; throw up thy eyes and E2 2033 which in a moment will abridge his l.
E2 2048 here, take my crown ; the l. of Edward too
E2 2064 my diadem, I mean, and guiltless l.
E2 2161 sweet Mortimer, the l. of Isabel, be thou persuaded
E2 2239 who should protect the son, but she that gave him l. ?
E2 2286 but can my air of l. continue long, when all my E2 2343 contains his death, yet bids them save his l.
E2 2430 entreat my Lord Protector for his l.
E2 2529 when I shall lose my l., my mind may be more steadfast
E2 2559 wherefore art thou come ? — To rid thee of thy l.
E2 2629 I will rather die than sue for l. unto a paltry boy
E2 2640 as thou receivèdest thy l. from me, spill not the blood of MP 367 fly, Ramus, fly, if thou wilt save thy l. !
MP 403 not for my l. do I desire this pause ; but MP 756 regarding still the danger of thy l.
MP 809 which I'll maintain so long as l. doth last
MP 944 hating the l. and honour of the Guise ?
MP 965 hating the l. and honour of the Guise ?
MP 969 breathe out that l. wherein my death was hid MP 1026 O, that I have not power to stay my l.
MP 1141 but that's prevented, for to end his l.
D 299 who for her sons' death wept out l. and breath
D 313 would my prayers (as Pygmalion's did) could give it l.
D 323 then would it leap out to give Priam l.
D 506 and, desperate of my l., ran in the thickest throngs
D 542 a little while prolong'd her husband's l.
D 695 full soon wouldst thou abjure this single l. !
D 834 to harm my sweet Ascanius' lovely l.
D 940 or else I would have given my l. in gage
D 1010 and will she be avengèd on his l. ?
D 1067 in all my l. I never knew the like
D 1184 this is no l. for men-at-arms to live
D 1321 or impious traitors vow'd to have my l.
D 1339 conspire against the l. of me, poor Carthage queen
D 1607 and I will live a private l. with him
D 1737 and rue our ends, senseless of l. or breath
HLM 327 flint-breasted Pallas joys in single l.
HLM 454 knife that shears the slender threads of human l.
HLM 501 he kiss'd her, and breath'd l. into her lips
HLM 577 above our l. we love a steadfast friend
*HLC 902 to Love's sweet l. this is the courtly carving
*HLC 1215 when l. is gone, death must implant his terror
*HLC 1216 as death is foe to l., so love to error
*HLC 1247 that love's sweet l. [V. R. love] and sense should do it harm !
*HLC 1303 in her l. was dear in Venus' love
*HLC 1343 they double l. that dead things' grief sustain
*HLC 1469 in thought than in her love and l.
*HLC 1920 to restore them all with fame and l.
*HLC 2009 man and wife for human race must join in nuptial l.
*HLC 2226 nor did Nature propose one l. to maids
*HLC 2372 dear, for it nourish'd her Leander's l.
*HLC 2435 to testify the hardness of their first l. in their last Ov 104 my spotless l., which but to gods gives [ed. A, give] place
Ov 233 thy lightning can my l. in pieces batter
Ov 686 then thinkest thou thy loose l. is not shown ?
Ov 1102 birds' hapléss glory, death thy l. doth quench
Ov 1118 whose l. nine ages scarce bring out of date
Ov 1296 weeping cry, « Even as he led his l., so did he die»
Ov 1385 weary Corinna hath her l. in doubt
Ov 1399 thou giv'st my mistress l., she mine again
Ov 1438 l. is no light price of a small surcease
Ov 1478 my l., that I will shame thee never fear
Ov 2206 and Venus grieves, Tibullus' l. being spent
Ov 2224 what profit to us hath our pure l. bred ?
Ov 2229 yet shall thy l. be forcibly bereaven
Ov 2256 Gallus, that car'd'st [Old eds. carst] not blood and l. to spend L 115 Julia, had heaven given thee longer l., thou
L 454 so (if truth you sing) death brings long l.
L 457 and shame to spare l. which being lost is won
*AT 15 as if this l. was but a dream, not ending in despair
*AT 31 and led a l. most foul and free, to his eternal wrack
*AT 39 and never gave his l. a look until it was too late
*AT 65 his lust was lawless as his l., and brought about his death
*AT 91 l. is but trouble from our birth, the wise do say and know
*AT 96 of every heinous deed, in l. that shall ensue
*Epg 218 and th' happiest accident of all his l.
*Epg 421 of bridges, towns, and things that have no l. ?
*Epg 445 yet, in the course of l. that he doth lead, he's *Epg 512 his dearest friend in peril of his l.
*Epg 527 for in thy l. thou never usest prayer but at primero
*1H6 35 his thread of l. had not so soon decay'd
*1H6 67 if Henry were recall'd to l. again, these news would *1H6 204 a desperate homicide, he fighteth as one weary of his l.
*1H6 411 Talbot, my l., my joy, again return'd ?
*1H6 506 Sir Thomas Gargrave, hast thou any l. ?
*1H6 1080 and prosperous be thy l., in peace and war

*1H6 1087 myself will see his burial better than his l.
*1H6 1117 in that thou lay'dst a trap to take my l.
*1H6 1147 reverent, touching thy spiritual function, not thy l.
*1H6 1410 ay, all the Talbots in the world, to save my l.
*1H6 1826 sell every man his l. as dear as mine
*1H6 1907 yield [? yields] up his l. unto a world of odds *1H6 1920 never to England shall he bear his l.
*1H6 1961 rather than l., preserv'd with infamy
*1H6 1981 born to eclipse thy l. this afternoon
*1H6 1988 I gave thee l., and rescu'd thee from death
*1H6 1990 the l. thou gav'st me, was lost and done
*1H6 2020 'tis but the short'ning of my l. one day
*1H6 2028 to save a paltry l., and slay bright fame
*1H6 2038 thou Icarus, thy l. to me is sweet
*1H6 2041 where is my other l.? mine own is gone
*1H6 2088 whose l. was England's glory, Gallia's wonder
*1H6 2090 that which we have fled during the l., let us not wrong it dead *1H6 2121 Oh, that I could but call these dead to l.
*1H6 2434 this argues what her kind of l. hath been *Con 250 I pray God save the good Duke [Q2 omits] Humphrey's l.
*Con 536 never but once in my l.
*Con 728 my staff, ay [Q2 yea] noble Henry, my l. and all
*Con 874 and with long l., Jesu preserve his grace [Q3 omits the line]
*Con 949 that so amongst you, you may have my l.
*Con 954 had suborn'd or hir'd some to swear against his l.?
*Con 1009 York would have lost his l. before that
*Con 1110 violent hands were laid upon the l. of this thrice [Q2 omits] famous duke
*Con 1118 his fingers spread abroad as one that grasp'd for l.
*Con 1266 Oh mightst thou stay with safety of thy l.
*Con 1293 but as his death, so was his l. in all
*Con 1322 come sirrah, thy l. shall be the ransom I will have *Con 1359 good my lord, entreat him mildly for thy l.
*Con 1710 good Lord, how pleasant is this country l.
*Con 1795 O let me see that head that in his l. did work
*Con 1799 his frowning brow, presageth warlike humours in his l.
*Con 1961 the small remainder of my weary l., I hold for thee
*Con 1963 three times this day thou hast preserv'd my l.
*2H6 19 O Lord, that lends me l., lend me a heart replete with *2H6 742 a man that ne'er saw in his l. before
*2H6 786 but that in all my l., when I was a youth
*2H6 792 and made me climb, with danger of my l.
*2H6 809 never before this day, in all his l.
*2H6 868 demanding of King Henry's l. and death
*2H6 997 despoil'd of your honour in your l.
*2H6 1255 upon my l. began her devilish practices
*2H6 1360 I know, their complot is to have my l.
*2H6 1373 by false accuse doth level at my l.
*2H6 1380 and all to make away my guiltless l.
*2H6 1421 do seek subversion of thy harmless l.
*2H6 1453 the king will labour still to save his l.
*2H6 1454 the commons haply rise, to save his l.
*2H6 1511 I rather would have lost my l. betimes
*2H6 1658 in l., but double death, now Gloster's dead
*2H6 1664 or blood-consuming sighs recall his l.
*2H6 1741 some violent hands were laid on Humphrey's l.
*2H6 1755 for seeing him, I see my l. in death
*2H6 1776 his hands abroad display'd, as one that grasp'd and tugg'd for l.
*2H6 1873 they say is shamefully bereft of l.
*2H6 1903 the world shall not be ransom for thy l.
*2H6 1962 yet now farewell, and farewell l. with thee
*2H6 1971 I can no more : live thou to joy thy l.
*2H6 2025 ah, what a sign it is of evil l., where *2H6 2050 so bad a death, argues a monstrous l.
*2H6 2076 I'll give it sir, and therefore spare my l.
*2H6 2229 argo, their thread of l. is spun
*2H6 2557 yet to recover them would I lose my l.
*2H6 2597 shall die, and it be but for pleading so well for his l.
*2H6 2607 and therefore yet relent, and save my l.
*2H6 2710 expect your highness' doom of l., or death
*2H6 2752 a lease of my l. for a thousand years
*TT 289 chaplain away, thy priesthood saves thy l.
*TT 293 lest heaven revenge it on thy head : Oh save his l.
*TT 335 ah York, post to thy castle, save thy l.
*TT 341 demean'd themselves, like men born to renown by l. or death
*TT 348 no way to fly, no way to save my l.?
*TT 349 and here I stay, and here my l. must end
*TT 374 I would prolong the traitor's l. a while
*TT 424 now in his l. against your holy oath?
*TT 915 content to yield it them and live a private l.
*TT 934 poor boy thy father gave thee l. too late
*TT 935 and hath bereav'd thee of thy l. too soon
*TT 1006 a deadly groan, like l. and death's departure
*TT 1021 dark cloudy death o'ershades his beams of l.
*TT 1039 would this right hand buy but an hour's l., that
*TT 1111 at the battle of Saint Albans did lose his l.
*TT 1301 whilst l. upholds this arm, this arm upholds the House of Lancaster
*TT 1664 to claim the crown, and win it too, or else to lose my l.
*TT 1792 to lift his sword against his brother's l.
*TT 2051 if any spark of l. remain in thee, down, down to hell
*TT 2073 as Edward shall be fearful of his l.
*3H6 255 but thou preferr'st thy l., before thine honour
*3H6 294 your right depends not on his l., or death
*3H6 364 chaplain away, thy priesthood saves thy l.
*3H6 427 like men born to renown, by l. or death
*3H6 444 the sands are number'd, that makes up my l.
*3H6 445 here must I stay, and here my l. must end
*3H6 471 I would prolong a while the traitor's l.
*3H6 524 now in his l., against your holy oath?
*3H6 592 I should not for my l. but weep with him
*3H6 1047 for yet is hope of l. and victory
*3H6 1102 ah! what a l. were this? how sweet? how lovely?
*3H6 1120 yield both my l. and them to some man else *3H6 1128 and I, who at his hands receiv'd my l., have *3H6 1129 have by my hands, of l. bereav'd him
*3H6 1145 ah boy, if any l. be left in thee, throw up thine eye
*3H6 1153 O boy! thy father gave thee l. too soon
*3H6 1154 and hath bereft thee of thy l. too late
*3H6 1262 dark cloudy death o'er-shades his beams of l.
*3H6 1282 if this right hand would buy two hours of l., that *3H6 1421 the worthy gentleman did lose his l.
*3H6 1741 while l. upholds this arm, this arm upholds the *3H6 2273 while I myself will lead a private l.

*3H6 2772 shall have a high reward, and he his l.?
*3H6 2877 whose envious gulf did swallow up his l.
*3H6 2881 but wherefore dost thou come? is 't for my l.?
*3H6 2919 if any spark of l. be yet remaining, down, down to hell *3H6 2940 that Edward shall be fearful of his l.
*E3 569 but, sovereign, it is soldered to my l.
*E3 570 it haunts the sunshine of my summer's l.
*E3 723 he that hath power to take away thy l.
*E3 725 consent to pawn thine honour, rather than thy l.
*E3 727 but l., once gone, hath no recovery
*E3 1166 as those that were but newly reft of l.
*E3 1245 sweet-flow'ring peace, the root of happy l.
*E3 1570 O, would my l. might ransom him from death!
*E3 1688 a l. far worse than is the quiet sleep of death
*E3 1701 as welcome death is unto us as l.
*E3 1739 to grant them benefit of l. and goods
*E3 1846 we pay sour earnest for a sweeter l.
*E3 1948 and, for thy hour of l., entreats thee that thou meditate
*E3 1993 ah, what an idiot hast thou made of l.
*E3 1998 I will not give a penny for a l., nor
*E3 2001 and dying but beginning of new l.
*E3 2051 ravenous birds sit watching the departure of his l.
*E3 2221 what may I do, to win thy l., or to revenge thy death?
*E3 2239 to repair thy l., I give to thee three thousand marks
*E3 2297 nearest unto God by giving l. and safety unto men
*E3 2377 to-day our sword shall cut his thread of l.
JM 2167 Malta hates me, and in hating me, my l.'s in danger
*HLC 2386 the more he raz'd his love's l.'s fort
*3H6 2177 till then, fair hope must hinder l.'s decay
Ov 1660 to steal sands from the shore he loves a-l.
*HLD 4 living an after-l. in our memory

Life-blood.

*1H6 2026 these words of yours draw l. from my heart
*TT 457 how couldst thou drain the l. of the child
*3H6 559 how couldst thou drain the l. of the child

Lifeless

1T 997 conceits which dye my looks so l. as they are MP 317 the Duke of Guise stamps on thy l. bulk!
D 1586 and weep upon your l. carcasses
*2H6 2195 there let his head, and l. body lie

Life-time.

*Sel 979 and make it sure to him in thy l.
JM 15 and all his l. hath been tired, wearying
JM 838 to keep him for his l. from the gallows
*HLD 8 in his l. you bestowed many kind favours
*3H6 178 let me for this my l. reign as king

Lift.

1T 456 straightly fashionèd, like his desire, l. upwards and divine
*1H6 16 he ne'er l. up his hand, but conquer'd
*Sel 1282 to l. his hands against his father's life?
*Sel 1444 see, unto The I l. these bloody arms
*Sel 1445 for hands I have not for to l. to Thee
*Sel 2452 or l. thy hand against our majesty?
*Loc 1689 then, Estrild, l. thy dazzled spirits up
*Loc 1697 l. up those looks that cherish Locrine's heart
1T 334 and 'gainst the general we will l. our swords
1T 645 and l. thy lofty arm into the clouds
1T 883 to l. our swords against the Persian king 1F 1508 I would l. up my hands; but see, they hold them, they hold them!
2F 1991 I would l. up my hands; but see, they hold'em, they hold'em?
E2 268 but yet l. not your swords against the king
E2 269 no; but we will l. Gaveston from hence
E2 1914 never again l. up this drooping head
E2 1915 O, never more l. up this dying heart!
MP 808 put them down that l. themselves against the perfect truth
Ov 269 ay me, how high that gale did l. my hope!
Ov 1774 gather them up, or l. them, lo, will I!
*2H6 274 we'll both together l. our heads to heaven
*TT 1792 to l. his sword against his brother's life
*Sel 814 timely largition the steadfast persons from their purpose ls.
*Loc 722 and ls. his lofty face against us all
*TT 1676 early as the morning sun, ls. up his beams above this horizon
*E3 481 what is she, when the sun ls. up his head

Lifted.

*Sel 746 his manly deeds hath l. up his fame unto the skies
*Sel 2546 l. his ungracious hands against my aged father
D 546 whereat he l. up his bed-rid limbs

Lifting.

1T 1065 l. his prayers to the heavens for aid 2F 968 l. his lofty head above the clouds

Light.

*Sel 569 were his l. steeds as swift as Pegasus
2T 1031 then let us bring our l. artillery
1T 1942 making the moon, the planets, and the meteors, l.
E2 665 ay, Isabel, ne'er was my heart so l.
MP 1083 and let her droop; my heart is l. enough
D 649 I fear me, Dido hath been counted l., in being too familiar HLM 507 afraid, in offering parley, to be counted l.
HLM 544 and, like l. Salmacis, her body throws upon his bosom
*HLC 849 that l. flame, those thoughts, joys, longings
*HLC 1608 Venus would seem as far from any spot of l. demeanour Ov 48 let's yield: a burden easily borne is l.
Ov 709 fastening her l. web some old beam about?
Ov 865 toys and l. elegies, my darts, I took Ov 1252 l. art thou, and more windy than thy wings
Ov 1438 life is no l. price of a small surcease
Ov 1531 maids' words, more vain and l. than falling leaves
Ov 1718 l. am I, and with me, my care, l. Love
Ov 2344 now love and hate my l. breast each way move
L 133 to gain the l. unstable commons' love
L 166 and ware robes too l. for women
L 213 albeit the Moors l. javelin or his spear sticks in his side
L 424 those of Bituriges, and l. Axon pikes
*Epg 315 is now put down since my l. Muse arose
*1H6 1816 out some l. horsemen, and peruse their wings
*E3 480 who, being set in dark, seems therefore l.?
*E3 890 men, like lanthorns, show l. lust within themselves
*E3 503 let's see what follows that same moon-l. line
Ov 195 like twi*l.* glimpse at setting of the sun
Dia 73 I fear you're a gelding, you caper so l.
*Sel 42 Latona's son walked about the world with his great l.
*Sel 490 although I see it plainer than the l.
*Sel 1415 wanting the tapers that should give thee l.

*Sel 1583 and liv'st as an exile in this l.
*Sel 1819 that quench'd those lamps of ever-burning l.
*Sel 1867 and now farewell, sweet l., which my poor eyes
*Loc 74 where'er the joyful day with cheerful l.
*Loc 75 where'er the l. illuminates the world
*Loc 496 bashful Eos, messenger of l., expels the liquid sleep
*Loc 1717 deny thy cheerful l. unto the world
*Loc 1948 that wonted was to guide our stayless steps, enjoy this l.
1T 69 before the moon renew her borrowed l.
1T 396 or fair Böotes [8vo Botëes: 4to Boetes] sends his cheerful l.
1T 1253 and make your [Old eds. our] strokes to wound the senseless l. [Old eds. lure]
1T 1481 and cause the sun to borrow l. of you 1T 1476 disdain to borrow l. of Cynthia!
2T 652 Zenocrate, that gave him l. and life
2T 694 gives l. to Phoebus and the fixèd stars 2T 1655 from whence the stars do borrow [8vo borow doo] all their l.
E2 2489 here's a l. to go into the dungeon
E2 2494 who's there? what l. is that? wherefore com'st thou?
MP 959 whose l. was deadly to the Protestants
D 895 darts forth her l. to Lavinia's shore
HLM 116 where, crown'd with blazing l. and majesty, she proudly sits HLM 631 the l. of hidden fire itself discovers HLM 829 and ran before, as harbinger of l.
*HLC 833 Leander to the envious l. resigns his night-sports
*HLC 845 new l. gives new directions, fortunes new
*HLC 953 a l. of twenty hues brake through the roof
*HLC 1040 and to l. surrender my soul's dark offspring
*HLC 1126 the l. of her discoursive wits perhaps might find
*HLC 1146 like an embryon that saw never l.
*HLC 1213 that's since they have lost the heavenly l.
*HLC 1421 l., whose knowledge teacheth wonders infinite
*HLC 1612 and so most ugly-clouded was the l.
*HLC 1695 when her fault should chance t' abide the l.
*HLC 1866 as two clear tapers mix in one their l.
*HLC 1965 l. was held a happy augury of generation
*HLC 1967 is nothing else but to produce to l.
*HLC 2078 the reap'd [V. R. The reapest, and That reapest] harvest of the l.
*HLC 2210 naught but fires perfum'd must give it l.
*HLC 2230 till when, maids are but torches wanting l.
Ov 144 when I, my l., do or say aught that please thee
Ov 194 which gave such l. as twinkles in a wood
Ov 197 such l. to shamefac'd maidens must be shown
Ov 227 wondering if any walkèd without l.
Ov 378 two eye-balls shine, and double l. thence flies
Ov 1562 and thou, my l., accept me howsoever
Ov 2199 his broken vow, his firebrand without l.!
L 263 now l. had quite dissolv'd the misty night
L 536 Phoebe having fill'd her meeting horns to match her brother's l.
*AT 59 and that which should be guiding l. but leads to errors new *Con 102 which time will bring to l. in smooth Duke Humphrey
*Con 716 be thou glad, in that these treasons thus are come to l.
*Con 1054 none then can stop the l. to England's crown
*2H6 744 to believing souls gives l. in darkness, comfort in despair
*2H6 1136 no: dark shall be my l., and night my day
*2H6 1274 which time will bring to l. in smooth Duke Humphrey
*TT 515 now they are but one lamp, one l., one sun
*TT 2070 Clarence beware, thou kept'st me from the l.
*3H6 633 now are they but one lamp, one l., one sun
*3H6 1063 when dying clouds contend with growing l.
*3H6 2937 Clarence beware, thou keep'st me from the l.
*E3 76 his lame unpolish'd shifts are come to l.
*E3 301 with l. to take l. from a mortal eye
*E3 303 more than the sun, steals mine own l. from me MP 59 and had his altar deck'd with dusky ls.
*HLC 1103 painted moons, whose ls. profane Beauty's true heaven
*HLC 1810 leaving the town with songs and hallow'd ls.
*HLC 1826 when the virgin ls. thus dimly burn'd
*3H6 640 should notwithstanding join our ls. together
*Sel 1542 let Selim never see the day*l.* spring
HLM 801 much it griev'd her that the bright day-l. should know
Ov 2065 and nine sweet bouts we had [ed. A, had we] before day-l.
*HLC 1299 in honour of the queen-l. of the east
E2 16 what need the arctic people love star-l., to whom E2 394 with these thy superstitious taper-ls.
2T 1582 which with thy beauty thou wast wont to l.
JM 620 l. Abraham's offspring; and direct the hand of Abigail
D 171 hold; take this candle, and go l. a fire
*HLC 2208 to l. her torch, which in such curious price she held
*HLC 2225 and when 'tis made, we l. it
*HLC 1843 one ls. another, face the face displays
*Loc 1164 and l. upon the Briton Locrine's head?
*Loc 1402 blood and revenge shall l. upon thy head 1T 900 and fearful vengeance l. upon you both!
1T 1525 confusion l. on him that helps thee thus!
1T 2009 sharp forkèd arrows l. upon thy horse!
2T 566 hell and confusion l. upon their heads
2T 1347 fair Victory, hovering betwixt our armies, l. on me 2F 995 our dreadful curse, to l. as heavy as the pains of hell
*1H6 2258 a plaguing mischief l. on Charles, and thee
*2H6 455 that she will l. to listen to their lays *2H6 2659 and so God's curse l. upon you all
L 158 falls, and returns, and shivers where it ls.

Light-armed.

*Loc 684 as many lanciers, and l. knights

Lightborn.

E2 2357 L., come forth! Art thou as resolute as thou wast?
E2 2361 but at his looks, L., thou wilt relent

Light-borne.

*E3 197 nor rusting canker have the time to eat their l. snaffles

Light-brained.

E2 2148 the proud corrupters of the l. king

Lighted.

*HLC 2240 to kiss the torch, although it l. him
HLM 30 and, beat from thence, have l. there again
*HLC 1510 l. in Hero's window, and from thence to her fair shoulders flew Lighten.

*Loc 1520 carbuncles, l. the room with artificial day
MP 461 to l. doubts, and frustrate subtle foes
D 196 and l. our extremes with this one boon

1F 1123 ls. the world with his reflecting beams
Lightened.
D 1068 it hail'd, it snow'd, it l., all at once
HLM 32 pebble-stone, which, l. by her neck, like diamonds shone Lighter.
2F 1416 my head is l., than it was, by the horns
Light-foot.
*Loc 679 with l. foragers depopulate the places
*Loc 942 where l. fairies skip from bank to bank
*Loc 1542 what l. Euripus may now allay the fury of that heat
*Loc 1791 the wat'ry ladies [Hazlitt Naiads], and the l. Fauns
*Loc 1976 you Dryades, and l. Satyri
D 942 and raise the l. deer from forth their lair?
Light-headed.
E2 697 freely enjoy that vain l. earl
HLM 145 where by one hand l. Bacchus hung Lightly.
D 207 that they may trip more l. o'er the lawnds
Ov 54 but manag'd horses' heads are l. borne
*2H6 2684 was ever feather so l. blown to and fro Lightness.
*HLC 1530 begin where l. will, in shame it ends
*3H6 1400 such is the l. of you, common men Lightning.
*HLC 1148 like a scorchèd statue made a coal with three-wing'd l.
*Sel 1330 dart down on him your piercing l. brand
*Loc 184 or let the ruddy l. of great Jove descend
*Loc 882 for, by the l. of almighty Jove, the Hun shall die
*Loc 1556 cast down your l. on poor Humber's head
*Loc 1803 throw forth thy l., mighty Jupiter
1T 651 as swift as doth the l. or the breath of heaven 1T 1063 and from their shields strike flames of l.
1T 1487 and casts a flash of l. to [4to on] the earth
2T 321 which, being wroth, sends l. from his eyes
2T 877 flying dragons, l., fearful thunder-claps
2T 1364 will send a deadly l. to his heart
2T 1981 from whom the thunder and the l. breaks 1F 627 brings whirlwinds, tempests, thunder, and l.
2F 565 brings thunder, whirlwinds, storm, and l.
*HLC 1279 inflaming Hero's sacrifice with l.
*HLC 1567 fierce l. from her eyes did set on fire fair Hero's sacrifice
*HLC 1584 of l. and of shreds she was begot
*HLC 2064 l. from above shrunk her lean body
Ov 233 thy l. can my life in pieces batter
Ov 864 her shut gates greater l. than thine brought Ov 1863 at me Jove's right hand l. hath to throw
Ov 1896 I saw a horse against the bit stiff-neck'd, like l. go
L 531 l. in silence stole forth without clouds
L 605 look, what the l. blasted, Arruns takes *3H6 732 their weapons like to l., came and went *TT 595 their weapons like to ls. went and came Lightning-flash.
*E3 788 dark night seems darker by the l.
*E3 1138 exhalations of the air breaks in extremity of l.
Lightsome.
1T 2085 and shut the windows of the l. heavens!
Ligurians.
L 438 L., who were wont in large-spread hair to exceed Like.
Ov 240 gratis thou mayst be free; give l. for l.
L 639 whose l. Aegyptian Memphis never had for skill
1T 2156 in fear and feeling of the l. distress behold the Turk
1T 2197 send l. defence of fair Arabia
2T 516 should not give us presumption to the l.
2T 1623 as all the world cannot afford the l.
2F 1814 Wagner in his life ne'er [1624, 1631, never] saw the l.
*FB 3 I liv'd a life the l. did none before JM 1616 as never Jew nor Christian knew the l.
JM 1697 when shall you see a Jew commit the l.?
JM 2253 and reason too, for Christians do the l.
E2 911 the l. oath Pembroke takes
MP 636 barriers, tourney, tilt, and l. disports, such as do fit the court?
D 1067 in all my life I never knew the l.
HLM 558 some hidden influence breeds l. effect
Ov 165 and with mistrust of the l. measure vex'd
*1H6 200 whoever saw the l.? what men have I?
*1H6 784 but now the substance shall endure the l.
*1H6 1016 else with the l. I had requited him
*1H6 1978 stay, go, do what you will, the l. do I
*1H6 2577 ten to one we shall not find l. opportunity
*1H6 2700 with hope to find the l. event in love
*TT 284 and why should I now doubt of the l. success?
*TT 901 to execute the l. upon thyself, and so have at thee
*3H6 361 why should I not now have the l. success?
*3H6 636 'tis wondrous strange, the l. yet never heard of *3H6 1058 to execute the l. upon thyself, and so have at thee
*3H6 1639 where I must take l. seat unto my fortune
*3H6 1983 and meaner than myself have had l. fortune
*3H6 2727 and make him of l. spirit to himself
*E3 1563 and still in danger he'll expect the l.
*E3 2477 may still be famous for l. victories!
*SP 11 and l. a sea or high resurging flood
*Sel 430 l. devils' faces scor'd on painted posts
*Sel 597 l. to a crafty polipus, dost turn thy hungry jaws upon thy self
*Sel 667 l. a lion fierce, tiring his stomach on a flock of lambs
*Sel 688 and I will rend you all l. trembling reeds
*Sel 693 l. an angry ram, he'll turn more fiercely than before
*Sel 747 we l. earth-worms lurking in the weeds do live inglorious
*Sel 893 you reason, Hali, l. a sophister
*Sel 1013 l. a ship sailing without stars' [sight]
*Sel 1022 but gentle Corcut, l. a loving son, desires me live
*Sel 1064 O how thou speakest ever l. thyself
*Sel 1105 and l. a lion seize upon my prey
*Sel 1113 not l. a son, but a most cruel foe
*Sel 1137 l. an Armenian tiger that hath lost her lovèd whelps
*Sel 1207 how l. the villain is to Bajazet!
*Sel 1239 knowing thou wert a monster l. themselves
*Sel 1307 the channels run l. riverets of blood
*Sel 1365 I am not l. the unmanurèd land, which *Sel 1560 and l. Antaeus quelled by Hercules, gather new forces
*Sel 1668 now sit I l. the arm-strong son of Jove
*Sel 1765 l. hugy mountains do your waters rear their lofty tops
*Sel 1904 l. a desperate fellow ran away
*Sel 1938 constrain'd l. fearful snakes to creep out step by step

*Sel 2067 l. poor Amphiaraus, sought by hiding my estate in shepherd's coat
*Sel 2155 l. head-strong sons, neglect to hearken to our loving Father's voice
*Sel 2406 l. to that Amazonian Menalip, leaving the banks of *Sel 2421 l. a wary pilot sit, and wisely stir this all-containing barge
*Sel 2462 l. to the bold fool-hardy Phaeton that sought to rule the chariot
*Sel 2477 l. a shepherd 'mongst a swarm of gnats, dings down the flying Persians
*Sel 2532 l. the Egyptian Ibis hath expelled those swarming armies
*Sel 2541 and eat them up l. to a swarm of gnats
*Sel 2548 and I l. Egypt's bird have rid that monster
*Loc 178 and bear himself in all things l. a prince
*Loc 205 l. crafty dames that most of all deny that which
*Loc 454 for valiantness is l. unto a rock that standeth
*Loc 493 spoke l. a warlike knight, my noble son
*Loc 494 nay, l. a prince that seeks his father's joy
*Loc 674 sir, it was spoken l. a good fellow
*Loc 724 l. as we see the wrathful sea from far
*Loc 727 and toss them in the waves l. tennis balls
*Loc 768 do lie, l. mountains, in the congeal'd sea
*Loc 859 with shields of brass that shined l. burnish'd gold
*Loc 896 l. to a lion 'mongt a flock of lambs, made havoc
*Loc 1087 now sit I l. the mighty god of war, when
*Loc 1261 and l. to brutish beasts they shall be served
*Loc 1317 are l. to snares, which wily fowlers wrought
*Loc 1320 which shine l. rubies glittering with the sun
*Loc 1510 his wrathful eyes, piercing l. lynxes' eyes
*Loc 1849 l. to grim Mars, when, cover'd with his targe, he fought 1T 31 that, l. a fox in midst of harvest-time, doth prey
1T 49 full true thou speak'st, and l. thyself, my lord 1T 108 amaz'd to hear the king thus threaten l. himself!
1T 390 may we become immortal l. the gods
1T 456 straightly fashionèd, l. his desire, lift upwards and divine
1T 477 in every part proportion'd l. the man
1T 495 and fall, l. mellow'd fruit, with shakes of death
1T 545 will quickly win such as be [4to are] l. himself
1T 564 l. to the cruel brothers of the earth
1T 588 and live l. gentlemen in Persia
1T 611 and bullets, l. Jove's dreadful thunderbolts
1T 662 stand staggering [4to those staggering] l. a quivering aspen-leaf 1T 879 for he is gross and l. the massy earth that moves not upwards
1T 980 their cannons, mouth'd l. Orcus' gulf, batter the walls
1T 1247 my camp is l. to Julius Caesar's host
1T 1287 his foes, l. flocks of fearful roes pursu'd by hunters, fly 1T 1465 or scatter'd l. the lofty cedar-trees struck with the 1T 1544 Damascus' lofty towers, l. to the shadows of Pyramides
1T 1815 and use us l. a loving conqueror
1T 1932 l. to Flora in her morning's pride, shaking her silver tresses 2T 261 sit up, and rest thee l. a lovely queen
2T 271 which should be l. the quills of porcupines
2T 620 with apples l. the heads of damnèd fiends 2T 668 l. trièd silver run through Paradise to 2T 835 look l. the parti-colour'd clouds of heaven
2T 984 now look I l. a soldier, and this wound as great 2T 1127 'twas bravely done, and l. a soldier's wife
2T 1140 l. lovely Thetis, in a crystal robe
2T 1266 l. a roguish runaway, suborn'd that villain
2T 1284 and, harness'd [4to harnesse] l. my horses, draw my coach 2T 1344 fight as you ever did, l. conquerors
2T 1356 l. so many suns that half dismay the majesty of heaven 2T 1561 meteors (that, l. armèd men, are seen to march 2T 1570 stain'd thy cheeks, and made thee look l. death
2T 1608 sit l. to Venus in her chair of state
2T 1709 l. unruly never-broken jades, break through the hedges
2T 1719 how l. his cursèd father he begins to practise taunts
2T 1779 I'll ride in golden armour l. the sun 2T 1783 l. to an almond-tree y-mounted high upon the 2T 1789 then in my coach, l. Saturn's royal son mounted
2T 1825 and use us l. a loving conqueror
2T 1874 have rid in pomp l. rich Saturnia 2T 1937 and, l. base slaves, abject our princely minds to 2T 1955 so, now he hangs l. Bagdet's [4to Badgets] governor
2T 2195 l. summer's vapours vanish'd by the sun
2T 2312 and all the earth, l. Aetna, breathing fire
2T 2319 and draw thee [4to me] piecemeal, l. Hippolytus through rocks
1F 151 l. lions shall they guard us when we please
1F 152 l. Almain rutters with their horsemen's staves
1F 154 sometimes l. women, or unwedded maids
1F 226 I will set my face l. a precisian, and 1F 378 I'll make thee go l. Qui mihi discipulus?
1F 769 I am l. to Ovid's flea; I can creep into every corner
1F 770 sometimes, l. a perriwig I sit upon her brow
1F 771 or, l. a fan of feathers, I kiss her lips 1F 1069 vanish villains, th' one l. an Ape [Dyce omits all this] 1F 1069 another l. a Beare [Dyce omits all this] 1F 1102 i' faith, he looks much l. a conjuror 1F 1255 yet, l. an ass as I was, I would not be ruled 1F 1573 now draw up Faustus, l. a foggy mist, into the 2F 143 l. lions shall they guard us when we please
2F 144 l. Almain rutters with their horsemen's staves
2F 146 sometimes l. women, or unwedded maids
2F 214 I will set my countenance l. a precisian 2F 360 I will make thee go l. Qui mihi discipulus?
2F 692 I am l. to Ovid's flea; I can creep into every corner of a wench
2F 693 sometimes, l. a perriwig, I sit upon her brow
2F 694 next, l. a necklace, I hang about her neck
2F 695 then, l. a fan of feathers, I kiss her lips [added by Dyce]
2F 916 to make his monks and abbots stand l. apes 2F 917 and point l. antics at [1624, 1631, to] his triple crown 2F 969 and, l. a steeple, overpeers the church
2F 1161 we look not l. cup-stealers, I can tell you 2F 1285 he looks as l. a* [1616, omits] conjurer as the Pope to a costermonger 2F 1845 though thou hast now offended l. a man 2F 1846 do not persèver in it l. a devil
2F 2057 in yonder throne, l. those bright-shining saints
2F 2104 now draw up Faustus, l. a foggy mist
JMP 21 when, l. the Draco's [Old ed. Drancus], they were writ in blood
JM 23 and in his house heap pearl l. pebble-stones

JM 260 How ! equally ? — No, Jew, l. infidels
JM 607 thus, l. the sad-presaging raven, that tolls the JM 616 l. a soldier's scar, that has no further comfort for his maim
JM 749 we Jews can fawn l. spaniels when we please
JM 773 the slave looks l. a hog's cheek new-singed
JM 776 when we speak with Gentiles l. to you, we turn
JM 978 speak him fair, and l. a cunning Jew so cast about
JM 1125 and, l. a cunning spirit, feign some lie
JM 1316 perish underneath my bitter curse, l. Cain by Adam
JM 1385 and with her let it work l. Borgia's wine
JM 1392 her that, l. a fiend, hath left her father thus !
JM 1497 that sound at other times l. tinkers' pans !
JM 1713 reading of the letter, he looked l. a man of another world
JM 1740 a fellow met me with a muschatoes l. a raven's wing
JM 1741 and a dagger with a hilt l. a warming-pan
JM 1834 then, l. a Jew, he laughed and jeered
JM 1859 what an eye she casts on me ! it twinkles l. a star
JM 1875 who, when he speaks, grunts l. a hog
JM 1876 and looks l. one that is employ'd in catzery and cross-biting
JM 1945 knavely spoke, and l. a knight-at-arms
JM 1982 l. thy breath, sweetheart ; no violets l. 'em
JM 1984 foh ! methinks they stink l. a hollyhock
JM 2093 their deaths were l. their lives ; then think not of 'em
JM 2176 lives l. the ass that Aesop speaketh of E2 8 and, l. Leander, gasp'd upon the sand
E2 58 l. sylvan [Old eds. Silvian] nymphs my pages shall be glad E2 59 my men, l. satyrs grazing on the lawns
E2 67 one l. Actaeon, peeping through the grove, shall E2 311 l. Phaeton, aspir'st unto the guidance of the sun !
E2 474 l. frantic Juno, will I fill the earth with ghastly murmur
E2 610 which beats upon it l. the Cyclops' hammers
E2 753 cast the scholar off, and learn to court it l. a gentleman
E2 769 my buttons, and, being l. pins' heads, blame me for the bigness
E2 986 thy soldiers march'd l. players, with garish robes, not armour
E2 990 thy spangled crest, where women's favours hung l. labels down
E2 1184 monster of men, that, l. the Greekish strumpet, train'd to arms
E2 1338 a school-boy still, and must be aw'd and govern'd l. a child
E2 1577 enchanted, l. the guard that suffer'd Jove to pass in showers of gold
E2 1843 l. the lawless Catiline of Rome, revell'd in England's wealth
E2 2036 l. the snaky wreath of Tisiphon, engirt the temples of his hateful head !
E2 2045 that, l. a mountain, overwhelms my bliss
E2 2275 l. the nightly bird, whose sight is loathsome to all wingèd fowls ?
MP 873 make or war or peace, whilst I cry placet, l. a senator !
D 68 Aeolus, l. Agamemnon, sounds the surges, his fierce soldiers, to D 72 l. Rhesus' steeds, are drawn by darkness forth Astraeus' tents
D 343 l. Ilioneus speaks this nobleman
D 411 l. pale Death's stony mace, beats forth my senses
D 932 peasant, go seek companions l. thyself
D 952 how l. his father speaketh he in all !
D 979 and, l. the planets, ever love to range !
D 1015 whose amorous face, l. Paean, sparkles fire
D 1031 it was because I saw no king l. thee
D 1176 yet Dido casts her eyes, l. anchors, out, to stay my fleet
D 1252 now looks Aeneas l. immortal Jove
D 1300 speaks not Aeneas l. a conqueror ?
D 1421 l. labouring bees that load their thighs with D 1521 O, speak l. my Aeneas, l. my love !
D 1571 and cam'st to Dido, l. a fisher swain ?
D 1652 I'll frame me wings of wax, l. Icarus, and D 1656 that I may swim to him, l. Triton's niece
HLM 32 pebble-stone, which, lighten'd by her neck, l. diamonds shone
HLM 45 so l. was one the other, as he imagin'd Hero was his mother
HLM 103 every street, l. to a firmament, glister'd with breathing stars
HLM 111 for l. sea-nymphs' inveigling harmony, so was her beauty
HLM 200 which, l. sweet music, enter'd Hero's ears
HLM 203 l. to a bold sharp sophister, with cheerful hope thus he accosted her HLM 235 l. untun'd golden strings all women are HLM 248 lone women, l. to empty houses, perish
HLM 367 l. a planet moving several ways at one self instant
HLM 415 l. an insolent commanding lover, boasting his parentage
HLM 544 and, l. light Salmacis, her body throws upon his bosom
HLM 549 l. Aesop's cock, this jewel he enjoy'd
HLM 573 l. to the tree of Tantalus, she fled
HLM 616 l. exil'd air thrust from his sphere, set in a foreign place
HLM 621 l. as the sun in a diameter fires and inflames objects
HLM 672 and fell in drops l. tears because they miss'd him
HLM 753 whose lively heat, l. fire from heaven fet, would HLM 757 his hands he cast upon her l. a snare
HLM 759 l. chaste Diana when Actaeon spied her HLM 773 much l. a globe, (a globe may I term this HLM 779 this strife of hers, l. that which made the world
HLM 785 Leander now, l. Theban Hercules, enter'd the orchard
HLM 803 and them [Old eds. then], l. Mars and Erycine, display [Old eds. displaid]
*HLC 875 l. a greedy vulgar prodigal, would on the stock dispend
*HLC 879 joy graven in sense, l. snow in water, wasts [V. R. wastes]
*HLC 888 and sweeten human thoughts l. Paradise
*HLC 892 and who, l. earth, would spend that dower [V. R. power] of heaven
*HLC 918 and to her, singing, l. a shower, he flew
*HLC 955 and, l. the rainbow, views Leander
*HLC 992 l. bills unsign'd ; desires without delights
*HLC 993 l. meat unseason'd ; l. rank corn that grows on cottages
*HLC 1047 l. th' Iberian city that War's hand did strike
*HLC 1146 l. an embryon that saw never light

*HLC 1147 l. a scorchèd statue made a coal with three-wing'd lightning
*HLC 1159 l. Jove's son's club, strong passion struck her down
*HLC 1249 had [V. R hath] not gone hence, had he been l. his place
*HLC 1253 his motion is, l. heaven's, orbicular
*HLC 1332 l. simple merchants' goods, Leander was *HLC 1336 for joy to be so l. him it did live
*HLC 1395 through their beauties, l. rich work through lawn
*HLC 1572 her tresses were of wire, knit l. a net
*HLC 1618 l. to a fiery bullet made descent
*HLC 1621 melted l. pitch, as blue as any vein
*HLC 1859 l. the flower that Juno's milk did spring, the silver lily
*HLC 1944 moist-lipp'd, long-fac'd, thin l. an iron wedge
*HLC 1955 l. a quick offering burn'd in flames of hair
*HLC 2133 did, l. a shooting exhalation, glide out of their sights
*HLC 2160 men's rests fell l. the mists of death upon their eyes
*HLC 2162 the Winds yet, l. the flowers, to cease began
*HLC 2165 spread her fair wings, l. to a field of snow
*HLC 2174 who, l. a fleering [V. R. fleeting] slavish parasite, in *HLC 2181 leaps upon his lips l. a cock-sparrow
*HLC 2402 l. a poor snail, her gentle supple limb hung on *HLC 2407 a name of all earth's jewels pleas'd not her l. his dear name
*HLC 2431 l. two sweet birds, surnam'd th' Acanthides
*HLC 2438 their colours show, as none (so little) l. them
*HLC 2440 even l. the forehead-cloth that, in the night, or Ov 146 strike on the board, l. them that pray for evil
Ov 195 l. twilight glimpse at setting of the sun
Ov 288 whate'er thou art, farewell; be l. me pain'd!
Ov 335 but, though I l. a swelling flood was driven, and Ov 344 l. marble from the Parian mountains hew'd
Ov 346 l. poplar leaves blown with a stormy flaw
Ov 350 tears did flow, l. water gushing from consuming snow
Ov 707 l. to the silk the curious Seres spin
Ov 722 l. a Thracian Bacchanal that tir'd doth rashly on the green grass fall
Ov 724 when they were slender, and l. downy moss
Ov 978 am [ed. A, And] driven, l. a ship upon rough seas
Ov 1003 if she be tall, she's l. an Amazon
Ov 1777 swift Atalanta's flying legs, l. these Ov 1779 coat-tuck'd Diana's legs are painted l. them
Ov 1842 sharp eyes she had; radiant l. stars they be Ov 1896 I saw a horse against the bit stiff-neck'd, l. lightning go
Ov 2043 l. a burden, griev'd the bed that mov'd not Ov 2052 yet, l. as if cold hemlock I had drunk, it mocked me
Ov 2054 l. a dull cypher or rude block I lay
Ov 2060 pure rose she, l. a nun to sacrifice
Ov 2104 yet notwithstanding, l. one dead it lay
Ov 2477 and, l. a wittol, think thee void of slight
Ov 2480 l. one start up, your hair toss'd and displac'd
*LD 15 censure scornfully enough, and somewhat l. a traveller
L 137 l. to a tall oak in a fruitful field, bearing old spoils
L 208 l. to a lion of scorch'd desert Afric, who, seeing hunters
L 431 and Vangions who, l. those of Sarmata, wear open slops
L 442 bloody, l. Dian, whom the Scythians serve
L 550 with a double point rose, l. the Theban brothers' funeral fire
L 572 much l. that hellish fiend which made the stern Lycurgus
L 574 or l. Megaera that scar'd Alcides, when L 602 the skipping Salii with shields l. wedges
EPF 23 l. to the checker'd bent of Iris' bow
*Epg 55 O, had his tongue l. to his feet been taught
*Epg 92 thy pleasure's place l. a buff-jerkin lasteth
*Epg 133 and thereof [MS. therefore], l. [Eds. B, C, as] a Pharisee, he vaunts
*Epg 140 l. [Eds. B, C, as] Pharaoh's kine, they eat up clean those that be fat
*Epg 155 much l. the burden of a northern song
*Epg 180 Thou [MS. Thous], dogged Cineas, hated l. a dog
*Epg 181 for still thou grumblest l. a masty dog
*Epg 195 thou art as l. [MS. That thou art l.] thy father as may be
*Epg 197 but I am glad thou art not l. to me
*Epg 254 I fear me they would cut my throat l. swords
*Epg 289 to answer, l. [B, C, as] a gentleman, his foes
*Epg 331 though all his poetry be l. to this *Epg 362 Septimius [Ed. A and MS. Septimus] lives, and is l. garlic seen
*Epg 446 he's l. a horse which, turning [MS. that turneth] round a mill, doth
*Epg 500 than is he [Eds. When he is] l. his [A, a] father's country hall [B, C, shall]
*1H6 22 l. captives bound to a triumphant car
*1H6 37 an effeminate prince, whom l. a school-boy you may over-awe
*1H6 185 l. pale ghosts, faintly besiege us one hour in a month
*1H6 188 dieted l. mules, and have their provender tied to their mouths *1H6 190 piteous they will look, l. drowned mice
*1H6 205 l. lions wanting food, do rush upon us as their hungry prey
*1H6 221 their arms are set, l. clocks, still to strike on *1H6 312 glory is l. a circle in the water
*1H6 317 l. that proud insulting ship which Caesar and his fortune bare *1H6 322 nor yet Saint Philip's daughters were l. thee
*1H6 513 l. thee, play on the lute, beholding the towns burn
*1H6 548 my thoughts are whirled l. a potter's wheel
*1H6 550 a witch, by fear, not force, l. Hannibal, drives back our troops
*1H6 555 now l. to whelps, we crying run away
*1H6 574 l. Adonis' garden, that one day bloom'd, and fruitful were the next *1H6 714 l. to a pair of loving turtle-doves, that *1H6 969 even l. a man new-haled from the rack
*1H6 974 these eyes, l. lamps, whose wasting oil is spent *1H6 977 l. to a wither'd vine, that droops his sapless branches to the ground *1H6 1069 and l. a mountain, not to be remov'd
*1H6 1083 and l. a hermit overpass'd thy days
*1H6 1272 rise Richard, l. a true Plantagenet, and *1H6 1305 talk l. the vulgar sort of market-men
*1H6 1332 now shine it l. a comet of revenge
*1H6 1368 will ye, l. soldiers, come and fight it out?
*1H6 1371 l. peasant foot-boys do they keep the walls
*1H6 1372 and dare not take up arms, l. gentlemen

*1H6 1445 and l. a peacock sweeps along his tail
*1H6 1454 and have thee reverenc'd l. a blessed saint
*1H6 1506 and thou be thrust out, l. a fugitive?
*1H6 1519 have batter'd me l. roaring cannon-shot
*1H6 1525 done l. a Frenchman: turn and turn again
*1H6 1601 l. to a trusty squire, did run away
*1H6 1621 be quite degraded, l. a hedge-born swain
*1H6 1745 and l. true subjects, sons of your progenitors, go
*1H6 2047 and l. a hungry lion did commence rough deeds of rage
*1H6 2600 and l. as rigour of tempestuous gusts provokes the mightiest hulk
*Con 119 more l. a ruffian than a man of church [Q3 of the church]
*Con 167 why droops my lord l. over-ripened corn
*Con 295 but still must be protected l. a child
*Con 1039 ½ for he is l. him every kind of way [Line not in Q1 Q2]
*Con 1096 the commons l. an angry [Q3 hungry] hive of bees, run up and down
*Con 1208 mine eyes should sparkle l. the beaten flint
*Con 1216 their music frightful, l. the serpent's hiss
*Con 1253 here to die what were it else, but l. a pleasant slumber in thy lap?
*Con 1675 how l. a feather is this rascal company blown every way
*Con 1717 and swallow my sword l. a great pin
*2H6 182 Humphrey Duke of Gloster did bear him l. a noble gentleman
*2H6 184 more l. a soldier than a man o' th' church
*2H6 186 swear l. a ruffian, and demean himself un*l.* the *2H6 225 still revelling l. lords till all be gone
*2H6 261 why droops my lord l. over-ripen'd corn
*2H6 443 more l. an empress, than Duke Humphrey's wife
*2H6 510 she'll hamper thee, and dandle thee l. a baby
*2H6 889 such, as l. to pitch, defile nobility
*2H6 1017 why a king of years should be protected l. a child
*2H6 1196 l. to a duchess, and Duke Humphrey's lady
*2H6 1569 l. to the glorious sun's transparent beams
*2H6 1579 were almost l. a sharp-quill'd porpentine
*2H6 1581 I have seen him caper upright, l. a wild Morisco
*2H6 1583 full often, l. a shag-hair'd crafty kern
*2H6 1679 what? art thou l. the adder waxen deaf?
*2H6 1722 am I not witch'd l. her? or thou not false l. him?
*2H6 1728 the commons l. an angry hive of bees that *2H6 1773 staring full ghastly, l. a strangled man
*2H6 1779 l. to the summer's corn by tempest lodged
*2H6 1787 'tis l. you would not feast him l. a friend
*2H6 1923 mine eyes should sparkle l. the beaten flint
*2H6 1936 and these dread curses l. the sun 'gainst glass
*2H6 1937 or l. an over-charged gun, recoil
*2H6 1996 what were it else, but l. a pleasant slumber in thy lap?
*2H6 2036 l. lime-twigs set to catch my wingèd soul
*2H6 2136 and l. ambitious Sylla over-gorg'd, with gobbets
*2H6 2226 then is sin struck down l. an ox
*2H6 2227 and iniquity's throat cut l. a calf
*2H6 2271 apparel them all in one livery, that they may agree l. brothers *2H6 2298 hast thou a mark to thyself, l. a honest plain-dealing man?
*2H6 2387 they fell before thee l. sheep and oxen
*2H6 2417 this lovely face, rul'd l. a wandering planet over me
*2H6 2730 l. to a ship, that having scap'd a tempest, is *2H6 2773 I'll make thee eat iron l. an ostrich [Fol. A stridge]
*2H6 2775 and swallow my sword l. a great pin
*2H6 2779 and l. a thief to come to rob my grounds
*2H6 2855 now l. Ajax Telamonius, on sheep or oxen could I spend my fury
*2H6 2858 more l. a king, more kingly in my thoughts
*2H6 2929 l. to Achilles' spear is able with the change, to kill and cure
*2H6 3143 and l. a gallant, in the brow of youth, repairs him with occasion *2H6 3152 l. rich hangings in a homely house, so was his will *TT 341 demean'd themselves, l. men born to renown
*TT 358 my ashes l. the phoenix may bring forth a bird that
*TT 415 ay, now looks he l. a king?
*TT 433 to triumph l. an Amazonian trull upon his woes
*TT 540 who l. a lamb fell at the butchers' feet
*TT 595 their weapons l. to lightnings went and came
*TT 596 our soldiers l. the night-owl's lazy flight
*TT 597 or l. an idle thresher with a flail
*TT 638 have wrought the easy-melting king l. wax
*TT 692 and raise his issue l. a loving sire
*TT 735 why that is spoken l. a toward prince
*TT 782 ay l. a villain, and a treacherous coward
*TT 803 but thou art neither l. thy sire nor dam
*TT 804 l. a foul mis-shapen stigmatic mark'd by the Destinies to be avoided
*TT 905 how l. a mastless ship upon the seas, this woeful battle
*TT 974 the common people swarm l. summer flies
*TT 1006 a deadly groan, l. life and death's departure
*TT 1315 such it seems as may beseem a monarch l. himself
*TT 1841 which sounded l. a clamour in a vault
*TT 1903 and l. the owl by day be hiss'd, and wonder'd at if he arise
*TT 1929 speak l. a subject proud ambitious York
*TT 2037 lump, not l. the fruit of such a goodly tree
*TT 2065 I had no father, I am l. no father
*TT 2066 I have no brothers [Q2 brother], I am l. no brothers
*TT 2068 be resident in men l. one another, and not in me
*TT 2082 what valiant foemen l. to Autumn's corn have we mow'd down
*3H6 278 l. an empty eagle, tire on the flesh of me, and of my son
*3H6 423 to the eager foe turn back, and fly, l. ships before the wind *3H6 427 demean'd themselves l. men born to renown, by l. or death
*3H6 515 ay marry sir, now looks he l. a king
*3H6 534 to triumph l. an Amazonian trull
*3H6 626 trimm'd l. a younker, prancing to his love
*3H6 732 their weapons l. to lightning, came and went *3H6 733 our soldiers l. the night-owl's lazy flight
*3H6 734 or l. a lazy thresher with a flail
*3H6 774 have wrought the easy-melting king, l. wax
*3H6 834 and raise his issue l. a loving sire
*3H6 878 why that is spoken l. a toward prince
*3H6 927 ay, l. a dastard, and a treacherous coward
*3H6 948 but thou art neither l. thy sire nor dam
*3H6 949 but l. a foul mis-shapen stigmatic
*3H6 1008 cried, l. to a dismal clangour heard from far *3H6 1015 why stand we l. soft-hearted women here
*3H6 1062 this battle fares l. to the morning's war
*3H6 1066 l. a mighty sea, forc'd by the tide, to combat with the wind

*3H6 1068 now sways it that way, l. the self-same sea
*3H6 1138 let our hearts and eyes, l. civil war, be blind with tears
*3H6 1187 and Warwick rages l. a chafed bull
*3H6 1190 l. a brace of grey-hounds, having the fearful flying hare in sight *3H6 1216 they never then had sprung l. summer flies
*3H6 1242 a deadly groan, l. life and death's departing
*3H6 1569 l. one that stands upon a promontory
*3H6 1590 to shrink mine arm up l. a wither'd shrub
*3H6 1595 l. to a chaos, or an unlick'd bear-whelp
*3H6 1596 bear-whelp, that carries no impression l. the dam
*3H6 1608 and I, l. one lost in a thorny wood
*3H6 1624 and l. a Sinon, take another Troy
*3H6 1645 whate'er it be, be thou still l. thyself
*3H6 1758 such it seems, as may beseem a monarch l. himself
*3H6 2280 we'll yoke together, l. a double shadow to Henry's body
*3H6 2404 ay, now my sovereign speaketh l. himself
*3H6 2445 l. to his island, girt in with the ocean
*3H6 2649 spoke, which sounded l. a cannon in a vault
*3H6 2687 l. a fearful lad, with tearful eyes add water to the sea *3H6 2736 and l. the owl by day, if he arise, be mock'd and wonder'd at *3H6 2779 speak l. a subject, proud ambitious York
*3H6 2904 not l. the fruit of such a goodly tree
*3H6 2933 I have no brother, I am l. no brother
*3H6 2935 be resident in men l. one another, and not in me
*E3 42 l. to fruitful showers, hath added growth unto my dignity
*E3 75 but l. a conqueror, to make him bow
*E3 94 l. the lazy drone crept up by stealth unto the eagle's nest
*E3 310 l. the April sun, flatter our earth and suddenly be done
*E3 314 l. a country swain, whose habit rude and manners blunt
*E3 327 l. a cloak, doth hide, from weather's waste, the
*E3 338 l. inconstant clouds that rack upon the carriage of the winds
*E3 346 but no more l. her oriental red, than brick to coral
*E3 368 for who could speak l. her?
*E3 451 l. to a flattering glass, doth make more fair the yellow amber
*E3 452 « l. a flattering glass » comes in too soon
*E3 454 her eyes, I'll say, that l. a glass they catch the sun
*E3 482 but l. a fading taper, dim and dead?
*E3 496 that she doth thaw cold winter l. the sun
*E3 497 that she doth cheer fresh summer l. the sun
*E3 498 that she doth dazzle gazers l. the sun
*E3 570 l. an humble shadow, it haunts the sunshine of my summer's life
*E3 617 l. as a wind doth beautify a sail
*E3 889 men, l. lanthorns, show light lust within themselves
*E3 906 thy mother is but black; and thou, l. her, dost
*E3 1078 l. to a meadow full of sundry flowers
*E3 1127 l. the field of bears, when they defend their younglings in their caves!
*E3 1133 echoing cannot-shot, l. sweetest harmony, disgests my cates!
*E3 1161 l. fiery dragons took their haughty flight
*E3 1228 l. unnatural sons forsake your loving parents in distress
*E3 1248 war sits l. to ravens upon your houses' tops
*E3 1255 corn-fields and vineyards burning l. an oven
*E3 1274 thy glory shaketh l. a tottering wall
*E3 1305 thou, l. a skittish and untamed colt dost start aside
*E3 1394 and, l. a thirsty tiger, suck'st her blood
*E3 1402 l. stiff-grown oaks, will stand immovable
*E3 1473 l. Perseus' shield, astonish and transform thy gazing foes
*E3 1490 that, l. a sapless tree, I may remain the map of infamy
*E3 1542 the snares of French, l. emmets on a bank muster about him
*E3 1594 l. the continual-lab'ring woodman's axe that
*E3 1861 the aspiring hill shows l. a silver quarry or an orb
*E3 1874 l. a half-moon, op'ning but one way, it rounds us in *E3 2040 let fall their arms and stand l. metamorphos'd images
*E3 2329 l. a soldier, would be loath to lose the least pre-eminence
*E3 2388 the French had cast their trenches l. a ring
*E3 2394 l. to a slender point within the compass of the horizon
*E3 2435 triumphant rideth l. a Roman peer
HLM 618 Alcides-l., by mighty violence, he would have chas'd
*E3 1067 then, Bayard-l., blind over-weening Ned, to reach
*Sel 157 these branch-l. veins which once did gird my arms
*3H6 2596 welcome good Clarence, this is brother-l.
Ov 68 and captive-l. be manacled and bound
*2H6 1661 yet he most Christian-l. laments his death
Ov 2089 chuff-l., had I not gold, and could not use it?
*Con 154 whose church-l. humours fit not for a crown
*2H6 248 whose church-l. humours fits not for a crown
*HLC 2128 still as it, comet-l., brake from her brain
E2 770 which made me curate-l. in my attire, though inwardly licentious
*Loc 1557 that I may leave this death-l. life of mine!
D 1466 have me, Deucalion-l., float up and down where'er the billows drive?
*HLC 1261 elixir-l. contracts, though separates!
*Epg 394 for this is thought a gentleman-l. smell
*HLC 1190 and, gossip-l., says because others [V. R. other] say
*E3 1561 and ever after she'll be haggard-l.
Ov 2308 and, Juno-l., with [ed. C. omits] Dis reigns under-ground?
*Loc 747 I that e'erwhile full lion-l. did fare 2T 1732 that fought so lion-l. upon Asphaltis' plains?
*E3 1543 he, lion-l., entangled in the net of their assaults, franticly rends
*Con 1317 ere I merchant-l. sell blood for gold, then cast me headlong down
*2H6 2094 when merchant-l. I sell revenge, broke be my sword
HLM 813 that, mermaid-l., unto the floor she slid
D 13 to hang her, meteor-l., twixts heaven and earth
E2 705 and, Midas-l., he jets it in the court
*1H6 972 Nestor-l. aged, in an age of care
*1H6 1822 not rascal-l. to fall down with a pinch
Ov 2185 now, Sabine-l., though chaste she seem to live 2T 1436 and lead your bodies [4to glories] sheep-l. to the sword!

L 530 now spear-l. long, now l. a spreading torch
*Sel 345 of father, mother, brother, and such l.
Ov 95 Jove knows with such-l. prayers I daily move her
Ov 648 your name approves you made for such-l. things
*E3 1242 such-l. surmises strike many Frenchmen cold
*Loc 1975 care in my heart so tyrant-l. doth deal
D 70 see how the night, Ulysses-l., comes forth
D 965 Venus, virgin-l., bearing her bow and quiver at her back
*TT 435 but that thy face is visard-l., unchanging, made
*3H6 536 but that thy face is visard-l., unchanging HLM 178 of two gold ingots, l. in each respect
HLM 240 for both, not us'd, are of l. worth
HLM 528 when l. desires and l. [Omitted in several 4tos] affections meet
*HLC 1755 l. form and colour mix'd in Hymen's face
Ov 223 and to get out doth l. apt members render Ov 1060 to these, or some of these, l. was her colour
L 6 trumpets and drums, l. deadly, threatening other
*Con 304 can any grief of mind be l. to this
*Con 307 I thought King Henry had been l. to thee
*Sel 2571 if this first part, Gentles, do l. your well 1T 51 therefore 'tis best, if so it l. you all 1F 923 here's nobody, if it l. your Holiness 1F 1138 but, if it l. your grace, it is not in my ability to 1F 1332 if it l. your grace, the year is divided into two circles
E2 652 if that lofty office l. thee not, I make thee here Lord Marshal
E2 1351 Thy father, Spenser? — True, an it l. your grace
*Con 492 and it l. your lordly Lord's Protectorship *2H6 678 no marvel, and it l. your majesty, my *2H6 701 an 't l. your lordly Lord's Protectorship
*2H6 757 his wife, and 't l. your worship
*2H6 761 at Berwick in the north, and 't l. your grace
*2H6 2901 I was, an 't l. your majesty
*Loc 998 that ls. me best that is not got with ease 2T 1525 and I'll dispose them as it ls. me best
E2 1635 so pleaseth the queen my mother, me it ls.
Ov 979 no one face ls. me best; all faces move
Ov 993 trips she, — it ls. me well; plods she, — what than?
Ov 1043 kisses join (such with my tongue it ls. me to purloin)
*Sel 289 I l. a lion's look — not worth a leek, when *Sel 770 I l. your highness' resolution well
*Sel 1733 I l. Lysander's counsel passing well
*Sel 2099 herein, my lord, I l. his enterprise
*Loc 362 if you l. to accept me into your familiarity 1T 54 how l. you this, my honourable lords?
2T 227 I l. that well
2T 1717 how l. you that, sir king? why speak you not?
1F 613 tell me [Added by Dyce], Faustus, how dost thou l. thy wife?
1F 620 she whom thine eye shall l., thy heart shall have 1F 834 now, Faustus, how dost thou l. this?
1F 1338 how do you l. them madam? be they good?
2F 558 she whom thine [1631, thy] eye shall l., thy [1624 thine] heart shall have 2F 1943 thou hast perus'd my will, — how dost thou l. it?
JM 792 I l. it much the better
JM 796 you 'll l. it better far o' nights than days
JM 867 here's a leaner; how l. you him?
JM 1120 I cannot choose but l. thy readiness
JM 1262 and then thou didst not l. that holy life
JM 2326 and, if you l. them, drink your fill and die
E2 32 and, as I l. your discoursing, I'll have you
E2 1829 I l. not this relenting mood in Edmund
MP 99 that l. I best, that flies beyond my reach
MP 500 now, madam, how l. you our lusty Admiral?
MP 794 I l. not this
MP 1084 mother, how l. you this device of mine?
MP 1183 I l. not this friar's look
D 892 well could I l. this reconcilement's means
D 1047 never to l. or love any but her!
D 1634 my sister comes: I l. not her sad looks
HLM 346 words as these should I abhor, and yet I l. them for the orator
Ov 585 and whom I l. eternize by mine [ed. C, my] art Ov 983 and she that's coy I l., for being no clown
Ov 999 and her [ed. A, she] I l. that with a majesty folds up her arms
Ov 1165 to l. a base wench of despis'd condition!
Ov 1524 nor do I l. the country of my birth
*1H6 36 none do you l. but an effeminate prince
*1H6 38 Gloster, whate'er we l., thou art protector
*1H6 1345 'twas full of darnel: do you l. the taste?
*1H6 1755 but yet I l. it not, in that he wears the badge
*Con 469 my lord, how did your grace l. this last flight?
*TT 1340 I l. it well that our fair queen and mistress, smiles
*TT 1391 withall [Q2 Q3 With all] my heart, that match I l. full well
*TT 1623 but soft the gates are shut, I l. not this *3H6 1806 I l. it well, that our fair queen and mistress smiles
*3H6 1917 now brother of Clarence, how l. you our choice
*3H6 2109 quietness, I l. it better than a dangerous honour
*3H6 2320 my lord, I l. not of this flight of Edward's *3H6 2344 the gates made fast? brother, I l. not this
*E3 2344 this man doth please me and I l. his words
E2 170 what so thy mind affects, or fancy ls.
MP 639 how ls. your grace my son's pleasantness?
Ov 749 and say, « He ls. me for my borrow'd bush
Ov 916 and what she ls., let both hold ratified
Ov 990 seeing she ls. my books, why should we jar?
*Con 87 that dares [Q2 dare] presume 'gainst that thy sovereign ls.
*TT 1170 the widow ls. him not, she bends the brow
*TT 1687 Clarence agrees to what King Henry ls.
*3H6 1508 the widow ls. him not, she knits her brows
*3H6 1541 the widow ls. it not, for she looks very sad
*1H6 2031 and l. me to the peasant boys of France
1T 1697 Mahomet will suffer this? — 'Tis l. he will, when he cannot let it 2T 1389 for person l. to prove a second Mars 2F 782 that's l., faith [1624, 1631, i' faith]!
JM 175 all the Jews in Malta must be there! ay, l. enough
E2 744 It is about her lover Gaveston. — 'Tis l. enough
Ov 43 were Love the cause, it's l. I should descry him
L 610 the beast long struggled as l. to prove an awkward sacrifice
Dia 20 the farmers son, I fear, is l. to carry your wench away
Dia 57 he that can win her is l. to wear her
*Epg 196 'Tis]MS. Its] l. enough; and, faith, I l. it [MS. thee] well *1H6 1408 we are l. to have the overthrow again
*Con 275 I [Q2 Yea] marry this is something l.
*Con 1179 indeed 'tis l. the commons rude unpolish'd hinds would *2H6 874 'tis l., my lord, you will not keep your hour

*2H6 1787 'tis l. you would not feast him l. a friend
*2H6 1876 'tis l. the commons, rude unpolish'd hinds, could *2H6 2508 then we are l. to have biting statutes
*3H6 2331 'tis l. that Richmond, with the rest, shall down
*E3 131 the Countess of Salisbury is l. to perish
*E3 1822 what success is l. to happen us
*E3 1836 so is it l., we shall not be subdu'd *2H6 1595 say that he thrive, as 'tis great l. he will Like : see Belike
Liked.
Ov 213 to leave the rest, all l. [ed. A, pleasde] me passing well
Ov 1645 Jove l. her better than he did before
Ov 2013 and kindly gave her what she l. best
L 129 Ceasar's cause the gods abetted, Cato l. the other Likely.
JM 817 'tis l. they in time may reap some fruit
*Epg 338 « 'Tis l., friend », quoth Priscus, « to be so
*1H6 1288 not seeing what is l. to ensue
*1H6 2669 is l. to beget more conquerors, if *Con 878 'tis l. that the people will follow him
*Con 1536 is Jack Cade slain ? — No my lord, nor l. to be slain
*2H6 2465 no my lord, nor l. to be slain
*TT 1865 and 'tis l. if she have time to breathe, her faction
*3H6 1850 he's very l. now to fall from him
*3H6 2266 as l. to be bless'd in peace and war
*3H6 2305 himself l. in time to bless a regal throne Likened.
*TT 1820 my brows now fill'd with blood were l. oft to kingly sepulchres *3H6 2625 were l. oft to kingly sepulchres
*E3 492 and let me have her l. to the sun Likeness.
1F 441 in the l. of a little pretty frisking flea 2F 680 appear to thee in their own proper shapes and l.
2F 1654 one of his devils turned me into the l. of an ape's face
E2 69 in the l. of an hart, by yelping hounds pull'd down
*TT 1950 take that thou l. [Q1 the litnes ; Q2 the lightnes] of this railer here
*3H6 2800 take that, the l. of this railer here Likest.
1T 1273 how l. thou her, Ebea ? will she serve ?
1F 1217 if thou l. him for fifty, take him
2F 1533 if thou l. him for ten dollars more, take him
JM 1107 now tell me, Ithamore, how l. thou this ?
JM 1671 as thou l. that, stop me another time !
Liketh.
*Loc 431 how l. she the temperature thereof ?
Likewise.
2T 1171 this my fatal journey be l. end to my accursèd life
2F 1693 in the contrary circle it is l. summer with them
E2 1029 ay, and 'tis l. thought you favour 'em [Old eds. him]
D 91 and full three summers l. shall he waste
D 883 she, l., in admiring spends her time
HLM 479 l. the angry Sisters, thus deluded, to Ov 116 so l. we will through the world be rung
Ov 961 thy mistress' ensigns must be l. thine
L 458 you l. that repuls'd the Caÿc foe
*1H6 148 most of the rest slaughter'd, or took l.
*1H6 997 I would his troubles l. were expir'd
*E3 150 and l. will him, with our own allies that
*E3 1083 and l. all the handmaids of his train
*E3 1162 and, l. meeting, from their smoky wombs sent *E3 1257 I l. might discern the poor inhabitants
*E3 1509 as l. they betook themselves to flight
*E3 2488 but l. Spain, Turkey, and what countries else that Liking.
*HLD 12 the first breath it should take might be the gentle air of your l.
HLM 429 loveliness and beauty had as could provoke his l.
*Con 27 let this suffice, my bliss is in your l.
*2H6 1856 as being thought to contradict your l.
*1H6 2179 as l. of the lady's virtuous gifts Lilies.
*E3 789 l. that fester smell far worse than weeds
Lily.
*HLC 1860 like the flower that Juno's milk did spring, the silver l.
*HLC 1867 so did the l. and the hand their white Ov 1056 such as a rose mix'd with a l. breeds Limb.
HLM 687 and there pry upon his breast, his thighs, and every l.
HLM 769 and every l. did, as a soldier stout, defend the fort
*HLC 1144 each l. help'd other to put on disgrace
*HLC 1355 she did so quaintly shadow every l.
*HLC 2402 her gentle supple l. hung on her turret's top
*2H6 1030 his lady banish'd, and a l. lopp'd off
*2H6 2792 set l. to l., and thou art far the lesser
*Loc 1567 and with them feed thy hunger-bitten ls.
1T 457 so large of ls., his joints so strongly knit 1T 1203 their ls. more large and of a bigger size than 2T 967 whose shatter'd ls., being toss'd as high as heaven
2T 1935 first let thy Scythian horse tear both our ls.
1F 1576 my ls. may issue from your smoky mouths
2F 1088 hale them to [1624, 1631, them forth to] prison, lade their ls. with gyves 2F 2139 Faustus' ls., all torn asunder by the hand of death 2F 2150 we'll give his mangled ls. due burial
E2 2133 so may his ls. be torn as is this paper !
E2 2517 and whether I have ls. or no I know not
D 84 whose weary ls. shall shortly make repose
D 174 Ascanius, go and dry thy drenchèd ls.
D 546 whereat he lifted up his bed-rid ls.
HLM 740 by those white ls. which sparkled through the lawn
*HLC 868 the god of gold of [V. R. a] purpose gilt his ls.
*HLC 943 and made his characters sweet Hero's ls.
*HLC 984 eating earth and excrement and human ls.
*HLC 1307 her harmonious ls. sustain'd no more but a Ov 134 when his ls. be spread upon the bed
Ov 192 to rest my ls., upon a bed I lay
Ov 345 her half-dead joints and trembling ls. I saw Ov 2066 waste my ls. through some Thessalian charms ?
L 248 they shook for fear, and cold benumb'd their ls.
*1H6 765 and large proportion of his strong-knit ls.
*1H6 970 so fare my ls. with long imprisonment
*1H6 1900 drops bloody sweat from his war-wearied ls.
*1H6 1932 when sapless age, and weak unable ls. should *Con 1729 my ls. are equal unto thine, and every way as big
*TT 300 and so he turns again to rend his ls. in sunder
*TT 894 shall lop thy ls., and slice thy cursed heart
*3H6 381 and so he comes, to rend his ls. asunder
*E3 2493 sheathe up your swords, refresh your weary ls.
Limbo-Lake.
*Loc 1203 through burning sulphur of the l.
Lime.
*TT 1789 who gave his blood to l. the stones together

*3H6 2575 who gave his blood to l. the stones together Limed.
*Con 832 have all l. bushes to betray thy wings
*2H6 1150 have all l. bushes to betray thy wings
*TT 2003 the bird once l. doth fear the fatal bush
*TT 2006 where my poor young was l., was caught and kill'd
*3H6 2865 the bird that hath been l. in a bush, with *3H6 2869 where my poor young was l., was caught, was kill'd Lime-twigs.
*Con 313 I have set l. that will entangle her
*2H6 2036 like l. set to catch my wingèd soul Limit.
*E3 1988 no resolved proffer can overthrow the l. of our fate
1T 228 measuring the ls. of his empery by east and west
1F 579 hell hath no ls., nor is circumscrib'd in one self-place
2F 527 hell hath no ls., nor is circumscrib'd in one self-place
L 169 and then large ls. had their butting lands
*TT 787 I prithee give no ls. to my tongue
*3H6 932 I prithee give no ls. to my tongue
*E3 892 shall the large ls. of fair Brittany by me be overthrown?
E2 1066 the headstrong barons shall not l. me
*HLC 887 whose both hands l. both love's deities Limited.
1F 1585 O, no end is l. to damnèd souls!
2F 1465 know you not, traitors, I was l. for four-and-twenty years 2F 2114 no end is l. to damnèd souls
Limnasphaltis.
2T 1814 our famous lake of L. makes walls a-fresh with 2T 1864 now fill the mouth of L.' lake
2T 1912 in L.' lake there lies more gold than 2T 2024 Babylon, circled about with L.' lake
Limping.
JM 955 to see the cripples go l. home to Christendom on stilts
HLM 158 Mars heaving the iron net which l. Vulcan and his Cyclops set Lincoln.
E2 103 Derby, Salisbury, L., Leicester
Line.
*Epg 347 his grief's cause hath l. [= lien, lain] at Trollop's
*Sel 2199 that Bajazet's fair l., should be eclipsèd thus MP 847 why, I'm a prince of the Valois l.
MP 1032 the wicked branch of curs'd Valois his l.!
MP 1135 and root Valois his l. from forth of France
MP 1257 Valois's l. ends in my tragedy
Ov 99 that am descended but of knightly l.
Ov 762 or that, unlike the l. from whence I sprung [Old eds. come]
Ov 804 or that, unlike the l. from whence I sprung
*1H6 1044 being but fourth of that heroic l.
*2H6 933 from whose l. I claim the crown
*TT 17 such hope have all the l. of John of Gaunt
*TT 316 till I root out that cursèd l. and leave not one on earth
*TT 850 frowns from heaven upon the harmless l. of York's true house?
*3H6 19 such hope have all the l. of John of Gaunt *3H6 399 and till I root out that accursed l., and Ov 427 nor let the arms of ancient ls. [Old eds. lives] beguile thee
L 199 ye gods of Phrygia and Iülus' l.
1T 119 men from the farthest equinoctial l.
1T 1479 but fixèd now in the meridian l.
2T 29 millions of soldiers cut the [4to soldiers out of] arctic l.
2T 1153 to the adverse poles of that straight l.
2T 2217 cutting the tropic l. of Capricorn
2T 2225 lies westward from the midst of Cancer's l.
*HLC 976 gathering in one l. a thousand rays from her bright eyes
L 222 the thunder-hoof'd horse, in a crookèd l., to scape
1F 78 ls., circles, scenes, letters, and characters
2F 76 ls., circles, scenes [added by Dyce], letters, and [added by Dyce] characters
HLM 772 with azure circling ls. empal'd, much like a globe
2T 734 her name had been in every l. he wrote
2T 1614 and every l. begins with death again
JM 1849 I scorn to write a l. under a hundred crowns. — You'd make a rich poet, sir
HL (Title) the first book of Lucan, translated l. for l.
*HLC 2073 sweet close of his [V. R. this] ambitious l.
Ov 10 rash boy, who gave thee power to change a l.?
Ov 1037 the board with wine was scribbled, and thy fingers writ a l.
Ov 1604 the step-dame read Hippolytus' lustless l.
*Ign 12 graceful utterance to some (by thee made happy) poet's l.
L (Title) translated l. for l., by Chr[istopher] Marlow[e]
*E3 486 read o'er the l. again
*E3 503 let's see what follows that same moon-light l.
*E3 508 O monstrous l.! put in the next a sword, and *E3 1354 with a strumpet's artificial l. to paint thy *Sel 779 your matchless name be register'd up in immortal ls.
*Sel 1545 that I may read these reconciling ls.
*Sel 2160 there lies a book written with bloody ls.
1F 625 the iterating of these ls. brings gold
2F 563 the iterating of these ls. brings gold
E2 6 these thy amorous ls. might have enforc'd me to MP 676 that it might print these ls. within his heart!
MP 680 when she reads my ls., will laugh, I fear me
MP 688 thou trothless and unjust! what ls. are these?
MP 704 he, to whom these ls. should go, shall buy her love
MP 1193 and sends his duty by these speedy ls.
D 1709 these letters, ls., and perjur'd papers, all shall burn
Ov 139 ls. thou shalt read in wine, by my hand writ
Ov 598 receive these ls.; them to my mistress carry
Ov 840 you are unapt my looser ls. to hear
Ov 1024 no intercepted ls. thy deeds display
Ov 1587 yet tragedies and sceptres fill'd my ls.
Ov 1656 whither [Old eds. Whether] the subtle maid ls. brings and carries Ov 1714 thou deign'st unequal ls. should thee rehearse
Ov 2382 with Muse oppos'd, would I my ls. had done
Ov 2478 why see I ls. so oft receiv'd and given?
*Epg 117 lest thou my rhymes [MS. ls.] unto thy lover read
*1H6 1096 com'st thou with deep premeditated ls.
*1H6 2609 would make a volume of enticing ls.
*E3 849 and I will teach it to conduct sweet ls. unto
*E3 491 out with the moon-l., I will none of it Lineage.
MP 51 and joins your l. to the crown of France?
*E3 18 when thus the l. of Le Beau was out, the *E3 1406 Edward's great l., by the mother's side

Lineal.
*1H6 1266 from whence you spring by l. descent
*Con 643 title of the House of York, to England's crown by l. descent
*E3 36 you are the l. watchman [A, B, watchmen] of our peace Lineally.
*Sel 2357 from whom my father l. descends
*TT 119 and from two brothers l. descent [Q1 Q2 discent]?
*TT 1282 from these our Henry's [Q3 Henry is] l. descent
*3H6 1722 from these, our Henry l. descends Lineaments.
2T 2267 my body's mortified l. [4to laments]
Lined.
PS 15 fair-l. slippers [C. A. Slippers lin'd choisely] for the cold [Not in P. P.]
Linen.
MP 234 and tie white l. scarfs about their arms
*E3 1748 come naked, all but for their l. shirts Linger.
1T 537 lest, if we let them l. here a while, they E2 353 then l. not, my lord, but do it straight
E2 389 be it or no, he shall not l. here
HLM 505 many poor excuses did she find to l. by the way
Ov 157 chiefly on thy lips let not his lips l.
*Con 247 come sirs let us l. hereabouts a while *2H6 2457 then l. not my lord, away, take horse *3H6 272 come son away, we may not l. thus *3H6 315 why do we l. thus ? I cannot rest, until *3H6 1338 why l. we ? let us lay hands upon him Lingered.
1T 2297 that long hath l. for so high a seat
Ov 700 yet l. not the day, but morning scar'd me
L 506 none l., as loath to leave Rome
Lingering.
*Loc 92 to ease your l. grief, I, in the name
*Loc 991 for now revenge shall ease my l. grief
*Loc 1309 I, being conqueror, live a l. life
*Loc 1611 that was the causer of his l. wound !
1T 2020 that l. pains may massacre his heart
*1H6 75 one would have l. wars, with little cost
*2H6 1851 and torture him with grievous l. death
*E3 358 'twill prove a l. English siege of peevish love 2T 242 lest time be past, and l. let us both
L 282 where men are ready, l. ever hurts
D 1189 and not stand l. here for amorous looks
D 1506 rebuk'd me bitterly, for l. here, neglecting Italy
*1H6 1901 and in advantage l. looks for rescue Lingones.
L 398 they whom the L. foil'd with painted spears Lining.
HLM 16 the l. silk, with gilt stars drawn
Link.
MP 14 that l. you in marriage with our daughter here
D 1179 and let me l. thy [Old ed. my] body to my lips
*TT 1309 for I were loath to l. with him, that is not lawful heir
*3H6 1750 to l. with him, that were not lawful chosen Linked.
D 42 these l. gems, my Juno ware upon her marriage-day
*Loc 1353 but he was l. to me in marriage-bond
*1H6 2671 (as is fair Margaret) he be l. in love
*TT 1493 they're so l. in friendship, that young Prince Edward *3H6 2030 they are so l. in friendship, that Link-knit.
Ov 925 on tell-tales' necks thou seest the l. chains
Linstock.
JM 2309 a culverin dischar'd by him that bears the l.
Linus.
Ov 2214 where L., by his father Phoebus laid
Lion.
*Sel 667 like a l. fierce, tiring his stomach on a flock of lambs
*Sel 1105 and like a l. seize upon my prey
*Sel 1229 ah do not prove a l. unto me !
*Sel 2232 a greedy l. with wide-gaping throat seiz'd on my *Sel 2495 as when a l. rav'ning for his prey, falleth upon a
*Loc 2 a mighty l., ruler of the woods, of
*Loc 11 wounded the l. with a dismal shaft
*Loc 896 like to a l. 'mongst a flock of lambs, made havoc 2F 976 treading the l. and the dragon down
E2 1007 shall the crowing of these cockerels affright a l.?
D 950 what, dar'st thou look a l. in the face ?
L 208 like to a l. of scorch'd desert Afric, who, seeing hunters
*Epg 157 « That youth », saith Faustus, « hath a l. [MS. the ls.] seen, who *1H6 2047 and like a hungry l. did commence rough deeds of rage
*2H6 1228 but great men tremble when the l. roars
*TT 298 so looks the pent-up l. on the lamb
*TT 505 bear himself, as doth a l. midst a herd of neat
*TT 1817 under whose shade the ramping [Q3 rampant] l. slept
*TT 2090 that in their chains fetter'd the kingly l.
*3H6 378 so looks the pent-up l. o'er the wretch, that *3H6 616 as doth a l. in a herd of neat
*3H6 2474 and when the l. fawns upon the lamb, the *3H6 2618 under whose shade the ramping l. slept
*3H6 2957 that in their chains fetter'd the kingly l.
*E3 99 lest, meeting the l. in the field, he chance to tear him
*E3 733 the l. doth become his bloody jaws and grace his foragement, by *E3 1240 when as a l., roused in the west, shall
*E3 1706 the l. scorns to touch the yielding prey 1F 785 I leapt out of a l.'s mouth when I was scarce half-an-hour old
*Sel 289 I like a l.'s look — not worth a leek, when *Sel 1734 « If that I cannot speed with l.'s force, To clothe my » *Sel 1743 or fox's skin, or l.'s rending paws
*Loc 1215 she took the club [Hazlitt, cub], and wore the l.'s skin 2T 1145 mounted on a l.'s back, Rhamnusia bears a helmet
2F 720 I leapt out of a l.'s mouth when I was scarce an hour old
E2 2002 when the imperial l.'s flesh is gor'd, he rends and tears it
E2 2303 the wren may strive against the l.'s strength
D 949 which I will break betwixt a l.'s jaws
1F 151 like ls. shall they guard us when we please
*E3 98 bid him leave off the l.'s case he wears 1T 241 as princely ls., when they rouse themselves, stretching their paws
2F 143 like ls. shall they guard us when we please
E2 310 can kingly ls. fawn on creeping ants ?
*1H6 205 like ls. wanting food, do rush upon us as their hungry prey

*1H6 557 renew the fight, or tear the ls. out of England's coat
*TT 681 to whom do ls. cast their gentle looks?
*TT 937 whilst ls. war and battle for their dens
*3H6 823 to whom do ls. cast their gentle looks?
*3H6 1135 whiles ls. war, and battle for their dens
*1H6 558 renounce your soil, give sheep in ls.' stead
*2H6 3141 that winter-l., who in rage forgets aged contusions

Lionel.
*1H6 1041 I derived am from L. Duke of Clarence
*Con 650[a] the third was L., Duke of Clarence [So in Q3]
*Con 650[a] L. Duke of Clarence died, and left him one only daughter, named Philippe [So in Q3]
*Con 650[a] as the true heir to L. Duke of Clarence [So in Q3]
*Con 652 the third was L. Duke of Clarence [So in Q1 Q2]
*Con 663 L. Duke of Clarence died, and left behind Alice, Anne, and Eleanor [So in Q1 Q2]
*Con 665 as the true heir to L. Duke of Clarence [So in Q1 Q2]
*Con 682 he claims it from L. Duke of Clarence, the third son to *2H6 911 and the third, L., Duke of Clarence
*2H6 952 Philippe, sole daughter unto L., Duke of Clarence
*Con 684 so that till L.'s issue fails, his should not reign
*2H6 958 till L.'s issue fails, his should not reign

Lioness.
Ov 1448 nor dares the l. her young whelps kill
*Epg 160 I doubt [MS. feare] me, he [Ed. A, omits] had seen a l.

Lion-like.
*Loc 747 I that e'erwhile full l. did fare amongst 2T 1732 that fought so l. upon Asphaltis' plains?
*E3 1543 he, l., entangled in the net of their assaults, franticly rends

Lipped.
*HLC 1943 moist-l., long-fac'd, thin like an iron wedge
*HLC 2183 or a [omitted in one 4to] shameless quean sharp at a red-l. youth

Lips.
*Sel 468 Selim's heart agree with Selim's l.
1F 772 or, like a fan of feathers, I kiss her l.
1F 1446 her l. suck forth my soul : see, where it flies!
1F 1448 here will I dwell, for heaven be [Dyce, is] in these l.
2F 696 then, like a fan of feathers, I kiss her l. [added by Dyce] 2F 1457 they shall serve for buttons to his l.
2F 1905 her l. suck forth my soul : see, where it flies!
2F 1907 here will I dwell, for heaven is in these l.
JM 1281 yet never shall these l. bewray thy life!
JM 1743 as if he had meant to make clean my boots with his l.
JM 1858 That kiss again! — She runs division of my l.
E2 23 the wind, that glanceth at my l., and flieth away
E2 1278 must not come so near to balk their l.
D 722 his l. an altar, where I'll offer up as many kisses
D 1179 and let me link thy [Old ed. my] body to my l.
D 1529 O, thy l. have sworn to stay with Dido!
HLM 79 those orient cheeks and l., exceeding his, that HLM 501 he kiss'd her, and breath'd life into her l.
*HLC 1329 the wrack of her free quiet from Leander's l.
*HLC 1539 but since thy l. (least thought forsworn) forswore
*HLC 1565 with this the Furies stopp'd Leucote's l.
*HLC 1720 never slight tale flew from her charm'd l. without *HLC 1844 l. by reflection kiss'd, and hands hands shook
*HLC 2082 L. his swords are, The field his arms
*HLC 2090 L. his swords are, The field his arms
*HLC 2102 L. his swords are, The field his arms
Ov 157 chiefly on thy l. let not his l. linger
Ov 333 meeter it were her l. were blue with kissing
Ov 645 from barbarous l. of some attorney strain'd
Ov 996 I long to quaver on her l., even in her song
Ov 1076 for in my l. lay her whole tongue hid
Ov 1291 let merchants seek wealth with perjurèd l.
Ov 1474 would first my beauteous wench's moist l. touch
Ov 1877 with lying l. my godhead to deceive
Ov 2470 there in your rosy l. my tongue entomb
*Ign 10 those l. of thine give musical and graceful utterance to *1H6 1005 Oh tell me when my l. do touch his cheeks
*Con 236 seal up your l., for you must silent be *Con 1257 babe, that dies with mother's dug between his l.
*Con 1260 or with thy l. to stop my dying soul
*Con 1342 those l. of thine that so oft have kiss'd the queen, shall *2H6 349 seal up your l., and give no words but mum
*2H6 1744 fain would I go to chafe his paly l.
*2H6 1999 the cradle-babe, dying with mother's dug between its l.
*2H6 2002 to have thee with thy l. to stop my mouth
*2H6 2127 thy l. that kiss'd the queen, shall sweep the ground
*TT 786 defy them then, or else hold close thy l.
*TT 2108 I seal upon the roseate l. of this sweet babe
*3H6 931 defy them then, or else hold close thy l.
*3H6 2640 and with thy l. keep in my soul a while *3H6 2643 blood, that glues my l., and will not let me speak *3H6 2974 I seal upon the l. of this sweet babe
*E3 587 but that your l. were sacred, my lord, you would
*E3 990 I never mean to part my l. again in any words that
*E3 1922 that such base breath should vanish from my l.

Liquid.
*Loc 497 expels the l. sleep from out men's eyes
*Loc 1723 the l. air doth weep for Guendolen
1T 2092 and my pin'd soul, resolv'd in l. air
2T 325 is cover'd with a l. purple veil
2T 468 soldiers drink in quaffing bowls, ay, l. gold
2T 1816 every thing that falls into the l. substance of his stream 2T 1952 no, though Asphaltis' lake were l. gold 2T 2079 weep, heavens, and vanish into l. tears!
HLM 303 a stream of l. pearl, which down her face made milk-white paths
Ov 1491 Pelignian fields with [ed. B, which] l. rivers flow *2H6 1663 might l. tears, or heart-offending groans, or Liquor.

1T 2102 give him l.? not I

Lisba.
*Epg 59 with Gella, Lesbia [MS. L.], Thais, Rhodope [Ed. A, Rodpe]

Lisp.
*Ign 17 I cannot l., nor to some fiddle sing

Lisping.
*HLC 857 ye l. Flatteries, and obsequious Glances

List.
2T 920 but now, my boys, leave off, and l. to me
JM 329 grave governor, l. not to his exclaims
E2 2504 weep'st thou already? l. a while to me, and then
D 1142 I may nor will l. to such loathsome change

*2H6 295 but l. to me my Humphrey, my sweet duke
*2H6 457 madam l. to me, for I am bold to counsel you in this
*E3 186 step aside, and l. their babble, blunt and full of pride
2T 281 but, when they l., their conquering father's heart 2T 1406 the bullets fly at random where they l.
1F 1094 thou canst accomplish what thou l.
2F 697 then, turning myself to a wrought smock, do what I l.
E2 1067 he that I l. to favour shall be great
E2 2402 and what I l. command who dare control?
MP 831 revenge it, Henry, as thou l. or dare
MPF 25 revenge it, Henry, if thou l. or dar'st
*HLC 1117 shifted place as either l. to utter or conceal
*HLC 1652 and, as she l., she pull'd him back
*Con 877 and if he l. to stir commotions, 'tis likely that the people
*E3 1741 command, dispose, elect, and govern as they l.
*E3 2095 then, arms adieu, and let them fight that l.
*1H6 550 drives back our troops, and conquers as she ls.

Listen.

2T 1604 leave this, my love, and l. more to me
JM 909 hast thou no trade? then l. to my words
*AT 2 now, l. unto me, whilst I do tell
*1H6 2322 lady, vouchsafe to l. what I say
*2H6 455 that she will light to l. to their lays *2H6 514 and l. after Humphrey, how he proceeds
*TT 1070 but stay, here comes a man, let's l. him a while Listening.

*Epg 438 and, l. [Ed. A, and MS. harkning] to the song, heed [Ed. A, mark; MS. markes] not each other Lists.

*1H6 2627 forsaketh yet the l. by reason of his adversary's odds
*2H6 1038 the armourer and his man, to enter the l.
*2H6 1042 a' God's name see the l. and all things fit
Ov 1814 four-chariot horses from the l.' even ends

Lither.

*1H6 2061 two Talbots wing'd through the l. sky, in thy despite Litora.

D 1719 L. litoribus contraria, fluctibus undas | Imprecor

Litoribus.

D 1719 Litora l. contraria, fluctibus undas | Imprecor

Litter.

E2 1956 here is a l. ready for your grace
E2 1959 a l. hast thou? lay me in [1612, 1622, on] a hearse
*1H6 1397 that stout Pendragon, in his l. sick, came to the field
*E3 2252 I'll see my friend bestow'd within an easy l.

Little.

*Sel 525 he may with l. labour win the crown
*Sel 840 he would but l. by his sceptre set
*Sel 1903 beginning at great A, l. a, till I came to w, x, y
*Loc 297 the l. god, nay the desperate god, with
*Loc 314 the l. sparkles of affection kindled in me
*Loc 1256 should dare to enter this our l. world
*Loc 1437 my wife soberly sat rocking my l. baby
*Loc 1686 if you will credit the l. honesty that is yet left me
*Loc 1983 l. do you know what sorrow Sabren suffers
*Loc 2019 where l. Sabren resolutely died
1T 502 he that with shepherds and a l. spoil durst
1T 729 with l. slaughter take Meander's course
1T 1755 having so small a walk and so l. exercise
2T 183 a l. further, gentle Almeda
2T 513 breed l. strength to our security
2T 568 and care so l. for their prophet Christ!
2T 593 too l. to defend our guiltless lives
2T 954 deep rivers, havens, creeks, and l. seas
2T 1424 and I fear as l. their taratantaras
2T 1788 blossoms tremble every one at every l. breath
2T 1801 that l. hope is left to save our lives
2T 1847 to save thy life, and us a l. labour
1F 441 in the likeness of a l. pretty frisking flea
1F 1433 I will attempt, which is but l. worth
1F 1599 O soul, be chang'd into l. water-drops 2F 1326 had on her neck a l. wart or mole
2F 1564 I had nothing under me but a l. straw 2F 1620 thinking that a l. would serve his turn
2F 1892 I will attempt, which is but l. worth
JM 37 so inclose infinite riches in a l. room
JM 218 what Callapine! a l. courtesy
JM 306 from naught at first thou cam'st to l. worth
JM 307 from l. unto more, from more to most
JM 428 what, woman! moan not for a l. loss
JM 548 hinder her not, thou man of l. faith
JM 974 I am a l. busy, sir; pray, pardon me
JM 1651 nay, master, be ruled by me a l.
JM 1967 lie in my lap. — Love me l., love me long
E2 434 the time is l. that thou hast to stay
E2 754 'tis not a black coat and a l. band, a velvet-cap'd cloak
E2 1276 my house is not far hence; out of the way a l.
E2 1379 we will employ you and your l. son
E2 1748 my l. boy is thus misled to countenance their ills!
MP (Title) dwelling near the l. north door of S. Paul's Church
MP 28 now Guise may storm, but do us l. hurt
D 542 a l. while prolong'd her husband's life
D 655 look, sister, how Aeneas' l. son plays
D 945 yea, l. son, are you so forward now?
D 1270 as many Moors as in the sea are l. water-drops
D 1430 rather Ascania, by your l. son
D 1460 spend'st thou thy time about this l. boy
D 1492 I fear I saw Aeneas' l. son led by Achates
D 1621 O Dido, your l. son Ascanius is gone!
HLM 747 at least vouchsafe these arms some l. room
*HLC 1127 perhaps might find some l. hole to pass
*HLC 1722 this l. sylvan, with her songs and tales, gave *HLC 1835 how l. food he eat, what he would say
*HLC 1852 Proteus, who had long juggled the l. god with prayers
*HLC 2360 and the poor lover took a l. breath
*HLC 2438 their colours show, as none (so l.) like them Ov 100 soon may you plough the l. land [ed. A, landes] I have Ov 220 l. I ask: a l. entrance make Ov 451 many asking l., within a while great heaps grow of a tittle Ov 1111 a l. fill'd thee; and, for love of talk, thy Ov 1142 the l. stones these l. verses have Ov 1345 each l. hill shall for a table stand
Ov 1361 no l. ditched towns, no lowly walls, but to Ov 1535 with [ed. C, omits] swift nags drawing thy l. coach
Ov 1727 to get the door with l. noise unbarr'd
Ov 1745 thy labour ever lasts; she asks but l.
Ov 2284 a l. boy, drunk teat-distilling showers
Ov 2426 and l. pigs, base hog-sties' sacrifice
Ov 2510 where l. ground to be enclos'd befalls
*LD 11 sleep l., and sweat with the invention of some
*LD 12 with some l., or not all, marking of your friends

*Epg 144 some laugh'd a l.; she forsook [Eds. B, C, refus'd] the place
*Epg 302 the portion of his wit being passing l.
*Epg 484 but on the land a l. gulf there is
*Epg 527 thou hast the heavens so l. in thy mind
*Epg 533 what great affairs trouble his l. wit
*Epg 569 so dull, and with so l. sense endu'd
*1H6 75 one would have ling'ring wars, with l. cost
*1H6 388 peace Mayor, thou know'st l. of my wrongs
*1H6 654 make us partakers of a l. gain
*1H6 1819 a l. herd of England's timorous deer, maz'd with *1H6 1916 I owe him l. duty, and less love
*1H6 1952 upon my death, the French can l. boast
*1H6 2014 the help of one stands me in l. stead
*1H6 2375 since thou dost deign to woo her l. worth
*1H6 2448 had been a l. ratsbane for thy sake
*1H6 2534 as l. shall the Frenchmen gain thereby
*Con 127 and Nevil's name, is of no l. force if I command
*Con 308 madam content yourself a l. while
*Con 876 Gloster is no l. man in England
*Con 1574 with a l. blotting over with ink, a man should undo himself
*Con 1711 this l. land my father left me here
*2H6 463 this late complaint will make but l. for his benefit
*2H6 528 give me leave to show some reason, of no l. force, that *2H6 1229 and Humphrey is no l. man in England
*TT 843 I lay me down a l. while to breathe
*TT 1481 she had the wrong, indeed she could say l. less
*TT 1999 'tis sin to flatter, good was l. better
*3H6 36 but l. thinks we shall be of her council
*3H6 658 and many strokes, though with a l. axe, hews
*3H6 992 I lay me down a l. while to breathe
*3H6 1339 forbear a while, we'll hear a l. more
*3H6 2013 I blame not her; she could say l. less
*3H6 2432 a l. fire is quickly trodden out
*3H6 2666 a l. gale will soon disperse that cloud
*3H6 2855 'tis sin to flatter, good was l. better
*E3 288 a l. while, my gracious sovereign, stay
*E3 512 I thank thee then, thou hast done l. ill
*E3 549 then take thyself a l. way aside
*E3 561 though l., I do prize it ten times less
*E3 894 shall I not master this l. mansion of myself?
*E3 969 stand where thou dost, I'll part a l. from thee
*E3 1037 doth not a l. aggravate mine ire
*E3 1516 withdraw your powers unto this l. hill
*E3 2058 despatch this l. business of a silly fraud
*E3 2236 too proud to yield her city for one l. breach
*E3 2476 bred and brought up within that l. isle

Littlewit.

*Loc 1053 ay, sir, to you, John Lack-honesty, L.

Live.

*E3 347 than brick to coral or l. things to dead
*Sel 67 that thou mightst l., how often did I crave!
*Sel 122 dread Emperor! long may you happy l.
*Sel 257 and hath not much above two years to l.
*Sel 371 here while I l., I'll have a snatch at all
*Sel 622 Selimus is content that they should l.
*Sel 650 since thou fear'st as long as I do l.
*Sel 651 I'll also fear, as long as thou dost l.
*Sel 748 do l. inglorious in all men's eyes
*Sel 914 Mustaffa, while old Bajazet doth l., will be as true
*Sel 952 only let Bajazet while he doth l. enjoy in peace
*Sel 991 long l. the mighty emperor Bajazet!
*Sel 1000 do seek the empire while your Grace doth l.
*Sel 1008 but keep it to yourself the while you l.
*Sel 1023 desires me l. and die an Emperor
*Sel 1060 and keep the kingdom to you while you l.
*Sel 1140 but you may l. to 'venge your citizens
*Sel 1230 why wouldst thou l., when Mahomet is dead?
*Sel 1413 ah, let me never l. to see that day
*Sel 1414 yes, thou shalt l., but never see that day
*Sel 1425 to l. on earth, and never see the sun
*Sel 1503 how shall he l., that full of misery calleth for Death
*Sel 1595 that I deserve not longer time to l.
*Sel 1615 may Selim l. to show how dutiful and *Sel 1662 long l. Selimus Emperor of Turks!
*Sel 1663 l. thou a long and a victorious reign
*Sel 1666 and l. in peace the remnant of our days
*Sel 1676 and there he purposes to l. at ease
*Sel 1797 to l. and never see the cheerful day
*Sel 1830 and have not many months to l. on earth
*Sel 1876 and not l. in daily fear of the breach of *Sel 2018 long didst thou l., triumphant Bajazet
*Sel 2055 would thy brother Selimus but let thee l.
*Sel 2273 if he do die at your command, and she should l.
*Sel 2329 thou shalt not l. after him, Solyma
*Sel 2517 disgra'ct, displa'ct, I longer loathe to l.
*Loc 233 l. long, my sons, with endless happiness
*Loc 994 either l. with glorious victory, or die with fame
*Loc 1309 I, being a conqueror, l. a lingering life
*Loc 1355 better to l., than not to l. at all
*Loc 1357 than l. with shame and endless infamy
*Loc 1362 is it a shame to l. in marriage-bonds?
*Loc 1496 and seven years more he hopeth yet to l.
*Loc 1553 use me as you will, so Humber may not l.
*Loc 1740 should Locrine l., that caused my father's death?
*Loc 1741 should Locrine l. that now divorceth you?
*Loc 1750 shall, if I l., die a reproachful death
*Loc 1897 shall Estrild l. then after Locrine's death?
*Loc 1922 that they that l. and view your tragedy, may
*Loc 1967 and every night doth l., again to die 1T 27 yet l.; yea, l.; Mycetes wills it so 1T 169 long l. Cosroe, mighty emperor!
1T 170 and Jove may never let me longer l. than 1T 215 but, since I love to l. at liberty
1T 271 disdains Zenocrate to l. with me?
1T 540 men that l. by rapine and by lawless spoil 1T 554 his highness' pleasure is that he should l.
1T 577 thieves that l. confounded in disorder'd troops
1T 588 and l. like gentlemen in Persia
1T 768 nay, though I praise it, I can l. without it 1T 912 long l. Tamburlaine, and reign in Asia!
1T 1006 that I may l. and die with Tamburlaine!
1T 1039 but let the young Arabian l. in hope 1T 1154 but, as I l., that town shall curse the time that 1T 1302 prepare thyself to l. and die my slave
1T 1404 that not a man should [8vo shal] l. to rue their fall 1T 1692 for, if she l. but a while longer, she 1T 1746 eat, Bajazeth; let us l. in spite of them 1T 2040 why should we l.? O, wretches, beggars, slaves!
1T 2041 why l. we, Bajazeth, and build up nests so high 1T 2091 that in this terror Tamburlaine may l.
1T 2165 to see them l. so long in misery!
2T 130 but, whilst I l., will be at truce with thee
2T 299 yes, father; you shall see me, if I l.
2T 699 l. still, my love, and so conserve my life
2T 701 l. still, my lord; O, let my sovereign l.!
2T 762 come down from heaven, and l. with me again!
2T 764 and all this raging cannot make her l.
2T 793 long l. Callapinus, Emperor of Turkey!

2T 1094 I cannot l. : I feel my liver pierc'd 2T 1100 death, whither art thou gone, that both we l.?
2T 1116 for think you I can l. and see him dead?
2T 1197 by Mahomet, not one of them shall l.!
2T 1684 if you can l. with it, then l., and 2T 1745 l. continent [Old eds. content], then, ye slaves
2T 1813 to l. secure and keep his forces out
2T 1979 and yet I l. untouch'd by Mahomet
2T 2179 and l., in spite of death, above a day
2T 2253 and l. in all your [4to our] seeds immortally
1F 33 and l. and die in Aristotle's works
1F 52 wouldst [Dyce Couldst] thou make man [Dyce, men] to l. eternally 1F 162 as resolute am I in this as thou to l.
1F 280 I charge thee wait upon me whilst I l.
1F 314 and what are you that l. with Lucifer?
1F 337 letting him l. in all voluptuousness
1F 355 the Emperor shall not l. but by my leave
1F 358 I'll l. in speculation of this art
1F 604 lascivious, and cannot l. without a wife
1F 797 that all might die, and I l. alone!
1F 1131 and give me cause to praise thee whilst I l.
1F 1348 and, whilst I l., rest beholding for this courtesy 1F 1543 gentlemen, farewell : if I l. till morning, I'll visit you 1F 1548 now hast thou but one bare hour to l.
1F 1583 let Faustus l. in hell a thousand years
1F 1593 but mine must l. still to be plagu'd in hell
2F 32 and l. and die in Aristotle's works
2F 49 couldst thou make men to l. eternally 2F 154 Valdes, as resolute am I in this as thou to l.
2F 264 I charge thee wait upon me whilst I l.
2F 298 and what are you that l. with Lucifer?
2F 299 unhappy spirits that fell [So Dyce : 1616, 1621, 1631, l.] with Lucifer 2F 321 letting him l. in all voluptuousness
2F 339 the Emperor shall not l. but by my leave
2F 342 I'll l. in speculation of this art
2F 549 and cannot l. without a wife
2F 714 that all might die, and I l. alone!
2F 1390 and l. belov'd of mighty Carolus
2F 1525 and thither we'll repair, and l. obscure 2F 1528 we'll rather die with grief than l. with shame
2F 2026 if I l. till morning, I'll visit you 2F 2079 now hast thou but one bare hour to l.
2F 2112 let Faustus l. in hell a thousand years
2F 2122 but mine must l. still to be plagu'd in hell
*FB 24 to l. in peace [V. R. pleasure] and do what things I would JM 303 l. still; and, if thou canst, get more
JM 317 the man that dealeth righteously shall l.
JM 391 and yet have kept enough to l. upon
JM 469 no, I will l.; nor loathe I this my life
JM 1179 and these my tears to blood, that he might l.!
JM 1313 ne'er shall she l. to inherit aught of mine
JM 1328 and, whilst I l., use half; spend as myself
JM 1348 that thou mayst freely l. to be my heir
JM 1418 nor shall the heathens l. upon our spoil
JM 1500 for every year they swell, and yet they l.
JM 1574 so I may be baptiz'd, and l. therein
JM 1619 therefore 'tis not requisite he should l.
JM 1822 shall l. with me, and be my love
JM 2078 devils, do your worst! — I['ll] l. in spite of you
JM 2199 yet you do l., and l. for me you shall JM 2225 nay, more, do this, and l. thou governor still JM 2227 governor, I enlarge thee; l. with me
JM 2248 thus, loving neither, will I l. with both
JM 2313 rather than thus to l. as Turkish thralls
JM 2327 for, so I l., perish may all the world!
JM 2362 thou shalt not l. in doubt of any thing
JM 2440 here thou must stay, and l. in Malta prisoner
E2 5 l. and be the favourite of a king!
E2 43 I'll flatter these, and make them l. in hope
E2 138 and either die or l. with Gaveston
E2 255 to l. in grief and baleful discontent
E2 401 if I be king, not one of them shall l.
E2 409 l. where thou wilt, I'll send thee gold enough
E2 558 and whereas he shall l. and be belov'd
E2 595 then let her l. abandon'd and forlorn
E2 640 l. thou with me as my companion
E2 718 then so am I, and l. to do him service
E2 730 may with one word advance us while we l.
E2 890 more than thou canst answer, though he l.
E2 899 but, if I l., I'll tread upon their heads
E2 909 by heaven, the abject villain shall not l.!
E2 1024 do what they can, we'll l. in Tynmouth here
E2 1159 as Isabel could l. with thee for ever
E2 1339 long l. my sovereign, the noble Edward E2 1461 long l. King Edward, England's lawful lord!
E2 1553 better die to l. than l. in infamy under such a king
E2 1649 madam, long may you l. much happier than your friends
E2 1983 to die, sweet Spenser, therefore l. we all
E2 1984 Spenser, all l. to die, and rise to fall
E2 2077 I'll not resign, but [1612, 1622, not], whilst I l., [be king]
E2 2102 close my eyes, or, if I l., let me forget myself!
E2 2271 men are ordain'd to l. in misery
E2 2407 long l. King Edward, by the grace of God King of England and E2 2426 my lord, he is my uncle, and shall l.
E2 2434 if you will let my uncle l., I will requite it when MP 190 that I with her may die and l. again!
MP 291 beset his house, that not a man may l.
MP 422 how may we do? I fear me they will l.
MP 528 as I do l., so surely shall he die
MP 645 as not a man may l. without our leaves
MP 700 and fly my presence, if thou look to l.!
MP 787 I may be stabb'd, and l. till he be dead
MP 911 but, as I l., so sure the Guise shall die
MP 1109 for, since the Guise is dead, I will not l.
MP 1197 O, my lord, let him l. a while!
MP 1207 ah, had your highness let him l., we might MP 1247 tell me, surgeon, and flatter not — may I l.?
MP 1248 alas, my lord, your highness cannot l.!
MP 1251 long may you l., and still be king of France!
D 160 to make us l. unto our former heat
D 195 l. happy in the height of all content
D 349 l. long Aeneas and Ascanius!
D 534 yet who so wretched but desires to l.?
D 535 O, let me l., great Neoptolemus!
D 676 no; l. Iarbus : what hast thou deserv'd that
D 869 Fancy and modesty shall l. as mates
D 953 and mought I l. to see him sack rich Thebes
D 957 and might I l. to see thee shipp'd away
D 1184 this is no life for men-at-arms to l.
D 1390 that I might l. to see this boy a man!
D 1403 a grave! why, I may l. a hundred years
D 1607 and I will l. a private life with him
D 1721 l., false Aeneas! truest Dido dies
HLM 233 why vow'st thou, then, to l. in Sestos here
HLM 263 wilt thou l. single still? one shalt thou be

HLM 295 as Greece will think, if thus you l. alone, some one
*HLC 895 clothes but our nakedness, and makes us l.
*HLC 966 all which her sight made l., her absence die
*HLC 1205 we break chaste vows when we l. loosely ever
*HLC 1206 but bound as we are, we l. loosely never *HLC 1244 her health said she must l.
*HLC 1336 for joy to be so like him it did l.
*HLC 1337 things senseless l. by art
*HLC 1482 that was best, now she [V. R. she now] must l. with men
*HLC 2388 if any comfort l., it is in peace
Ov 107 if men have faith, I'll l. with thee for ever
Ov 109 I'll l. with thee, and die ere [ed. A, or] thou shalt [eds. B, C, shall] grieve
Ov 469 oft thou wilt say, « L. well » ; thou wilt pray oft
Ov 767 Homer shall l. while Tenedos stands and Ide
Ov 781 lofty Lucretius shall l. that hour that Ov 800 I'll l., and, as he pulls me down, mount higher
Ov 810 Homer will l. whilst Tenedos stands and Ide
Ov 843 my name shall l., and my best parts aspire
Ov 1109 behold how quails among their battles l. !
Ov 1226 and time it was for me to l. in quiet
Ov 1229 if he but said, « L. without love » ; so sweet ill is a maid
Ov 2185 now, Sabine-like, though chaste she seem to l.
Ov 2228 l. godly, thou shalt die
Ov 2450 nor do I give thee counsel to l. chaste
L 20 and they of Nilus' mouth, if there l. any L 27 few l. that behold their ancient seats
PS 1 come [omitted in P. P.] l. with me, and be my love
PS 20 come [P. P. Then] l. with me, and be my l.
PS 28 then l. with me, and be my love [Not in P. P.]
*1H6 6 King Henry the Fifth, too famous to l. long ?
*1H6 191 let's raise the siege : why l. we idly here
*1H6 282 and whilst I l., I'll ne'er fly from a man
*1H6 715 that could not l. asunder day or night
*1H6 952 I will not l. to be accounted Warwick
*1H6 1979 for l. I will not, if my father die
*1H6 1982 come, side by side, together l. and die
*1H6 2489 well go too, we'll have no bastard l.
*Con 34 long l. Queen Margaret, England's happiness
*Con 327 and Warwick may l. to be the best [Q3 be best] of all
*Con 389 as sure as I do l., she shall not strike Dame Eleanor unreveng'd
*Con 688 long l. Richard England's royal king
*Con 700 my mind presageth I shall l. to see the *Con 703 l., to be the greatest man in England, but the king
*Con 815 ah Gloster, can I endure this and l.
*Con 850 the world may smile again and I may l., to do you favour
*Con 986 we should not question if that he should l.
*Con 1227 or l. where thou wilt within this world's globe
*Con 1252 and if I go I cannot l. : but here to die, what were it
*Con 1276 Oh death, if thou wilt let me l. but one whole year
*Con 1282 can I make men l. whether they will or no ?
*Con 1345 shalt l. no longer to infect the earth
*Con 1599 only for which cause they were most worthy to l.
*Con 1692 long l. King Henry, England's lawful king
*Con 1703 and l. as subjects, and you shall not want
*Con 1789 long l. Henry in triumphant peace
*Con 1811 and I no longer l., than I prove just and loyal to [Q2 unto] my king
*Con 1834 long l. my noble lord, and sovereign king
*2H6 37 long l. Queen Margaret, England's happiness
*2H6 447 shall I not l. to be aveng'd on her ?
*2H6 477 Warwick may l. to be the best of all
*2H6 965 long l. our sovereign Richard, England's king *2H6 985 Richard shall l. to make the Earl of Warwick the *2H6 999 l. in your country here, in banishment
*2H6 1180 and I may l. to do you kindness, if you do it her
*2H6 1724 for Henry weeps, that thou dost l. so long *2H6 1753 as surely as my soule intends to l. with *2H6 1971 I can no more : l. thou to joy thy life
*2H6 1994 if I depart from thee, I cannot l.
*2H6 2024 so thou wilt let me l., and feel no pain
*2H6 2030 can I make men l. where [? whether] they will or no ?
*2H6 2081 be not so rash, take ransom, let him l.
*2H6 2451 and l. alone as secret as I may *2H6 2537 only for that cause they have been most worthy to l.
*2H6 2594 Oh let me l. — I feel remorse in myself
*2H6 2655 and delight to l. in slavery to the nobility
*2H6 2668 nor knows he how to l., but by the spoil
*2H6 2670 were 't not a shame, that whilst you l. at jar, the *2H6 2762 Lord, who would l. turmoil'd in the court
*2H6 2879 I'll send them all as willing as I l.
*2H6 2910 may Iden l. to merit such a bounty
*2H6 2911 and never l. but true unto his liege
*2H6 3137 and we will l. to see their day, and *2H6 3157 God knows how long it is I have to l.
*TT 166 let me but reign in quiet whilst [Q3 while] I l.
*TT 180 or l. in peace abandon'd and despis'd
*TT 189 and whilst I l. to honour me as thy king and sovereign
*TT 191 long l. King Henry. Plantagenet embrace him ?
*TT 192 and long l. thou and all thy forward sons
*TT 304 be thou reveng'd on men, and let me l.
*TT 317 and leave not one on earth, I l. in hell therefore
*TT 327 Oh, let me l. in prison all my days
*TT 654 ne'er may he live to see a sun-shine day, that
*TT 915 content to yield it them and l. a private life
*TT 1671 long l. Edward the Fourth. — Long l. Edward the Fourth
*TT 1827 ah Warwick, Warwick, cheer up thyself and l.
*TT 1831 and might'st thou l., then would we never fly
*TT 1845 and l. we how we can, yet die we must
*TT 1899 thy noble grandfather doth l. again in thee
*TT 1900 long may'st thou l. to bear his image
*TT 1954 why should she l. to fill the world with words ?
*3H6 129 for he that interrupts him, shall not l.
*3H6 195 or l. in peace abandon'd and despis'd
*3H6 205 and whilst I l., to honour me as thy king
*3H6 209 long l. King Henry : Plantagenet embrace him
*3H6 210 and long l. thou, and these thy forward sons *3H6 386 be thou reveng'd on men, and let me l.
*3H6 411 ah, let me l. in prison all my days
*3H6 790 ne'er may he l. to see a sun-shine day, that *3H6 1090 how many years, a mortal man may l.
*3H6 1603 and whiles I l., t' account this world but hell
*3H6 1658 and forc'd to l. in Scotland a forlorn *3H6 1855 renowned prince, how shall poor Henry l., unless *3H6 2412 long l. Edward the Fourth

*3H6 2633 and l. we how we can, yet die we must *3H6 2733 thy famous grandfather doth l. again in thee
*3H6 2733 long may'st thou l., to bear his image
*3H6 2806 why should she l., to fill the world with words
*E3 574 soul be lent away, and yet my body l.
*E3 1330 dost altogether l. by pilfering
*E3 1553 ah, but he shall not l. to see those days
*E3 1976 to die is all as common as to l.
*E3 2000 since for to l. is but to seek to die
*E3 2003 to l., or die, I hold indifferent
*E3 2178 the twentieth part of those that l. are men enough
*E3 2227 share wholly, Audley, to thyself, and l.
*E3 2247 renowned Audley, l., and have from me this gift
*E3 2249 but, l. or die, what thou hast given away, to these *E3 2299 so let her people l. to call thee king
*E3 2309 these men shall l. to boast of clemency
*E3 2311 long l. your highness ! happy be your reign !
*Loc 1288 poor Estrild ls., despairing of relief
*Loc 1986 ls. Sabren yet to expiate my wrath ?
1T 1306 but that he ls. and will be conqueror 1T 1526 there, whiles [4to while] he ls., shall Bajazeth be kept 2T 4 who ls. in Egypt prisoner to that slave 2T 771 though she be dead, yet let me think she ls.
1F 486 that I shall wait on Faustus whilst I l. [Dyce, he ls.] 1F 1022 I'll feed thy devil with horse-bread as long as he ls.
2F 434 that I shall wait on Faustus whilst he ls.
2F 1387 come, Faustus : while the Emperor ls., in JM 124 and for his conscience ls. in beggary
JM 635 for whilst I l., here ls. my soul's sole hope
JM 2008 that Jew, he ls. upon pickled grasshoppers and JM 2176 ls. like the ass that Aesop speaketh of E2 178 ay, priest, and ls. to be reveng'd on thee
E2 968 ls. uncontroll'd within the English pale
E2 1657 and ls. t' advance your standard, good my lord
E2 1658 how mean you, and the king my father ls. ?
E2 2292 thus ls. old Edward not reliev'd by any MP 661 for, while she ls., Catharine will be queen
MP 1121 yet ls. my brother Duke Dumaine, and many more [Old ed. moe]
D 1046 whiles Dido ls. and rules in Juno's town
HLM 130 he whom she favours ls. ; the other dies
Ov 769 Ascraeus ls. while grapes with new wine swell
Ov 1115 the ravenous vulture ls. ; the puttock hovers
Ov 1136 there ls. the phoenix, one alone bird ever
Ov 1606 and Phillis hath to read, if now she ls.
*Epg 362 Septimius [Ed. A and MS. Septimus] ls., and is like garlic seen
*1H6 146 O no, he ls., but is took prisoner
*1H6 926 his trespass yet ls. guilty in thy blood
*1H6 1382 and I, as sure as English Henry ls.
*1H6 1928 his fame ls. in the world, his shame in you
*Con 437 the duke yet ls. that Henry shall depose, but [Q2 Yet] him outlive
*Con 613 the duke yet ls., that Henry shall depose, yet him outlive
*Con 1480 I am content that he shall be king as long as he ls.
*Con 1704 whilst Henry ls., and wears the English crown
*2H6 617 the duke yet ls., that Henry shall depose
*2H6 645 the duke yet ls., that Henry shall depose
*TT 1330 Henry now ls. in Scotland at his ease
*3H6 1788 Henry now ls. in Scotland, at his ease
*3H6 2686 yet ls. our pilot still
*E3 1575 O joyful sight ! victorious Edward ls. !
*Con 438 the duke yet ls. that Henry shall depose, but [Q2 Yet] him out*l.*
*Con 613 the duke yet ls., that Henry shall depose, yet him out*l.*
*2H6 618 but him out*l.*, and die a violent death
*2H6 646 but him out*l.*, and die a violent death

Lived.

*Sel 72 thy father oft hath cried that thou hadst l.
*Sel 228 hadst thou l. till this day, thou wouldst
*Sel 336 rewards, for those that l. in quiet awe
*Sel 375 and l. at ease, while others l. uneath
*Sel 734 I have l., almost a votary to wantonness
*Sel 1297 but I have l. to see thee, Alemshae, by *Sel 1861 that he l. to see his Hector die
*Sel 1865 for I have l. to see my sovereign's death
*Sel 2013 after he has five long ages l., the sacred phoenix
*Loc 284 who while he l. upheld the Trojan state
*Loc 1100 of all the wrongs thou didst him when he l.
*Loc 1121 full fourscore years hath Corineus l.
*Loc 1494 seven years hath aged Corineus l. to
*Loc 1532 long have I l. in this desert cave 2T 730 and, had she l. before the siege of Troy
1F 1166 I heard this lady, which she l., had a wart 1F 1364 the admirablest lady that ever l.
1F 1475 had I l. with thee, then had I l. still !
2F 1325 whilst [1624, 1631, while] she l. on earth, had on her neck a 2F 1820 Helen of Greece was the admirablest lady that ever l.
2F 1953 had I l. with thee, then had I l. still !
*FB 3 I l. a life the like did none before
JM 1455 know, that in this house I l. religiously
JM 1513 no, but I grieve because she l. so long
JM 1655 who would not think but that this friar l. ?
E2 472 and not l. to see the king my lord
E2 767 mine old lord, whiles he l., was so precise, that E2 1043 two of my father's servants whilst he l.
E2 2447 had Edmund l., he would have sought thy death
E2 2655 nay, to my death ; for too long have I l. wheras
*JMS 7 of a rich and famous Jew who l. in Malta
D 1218 which Circe [Old ed. Circes] sent Sichaeus when he l.
*HLC 1604 one that was her servant vow'd, and l. a maid
*HLC 1925 to hear and bear news brave folks l.
L 135 he l. secure, boasting his former deeds
*Epg 96 Liber doth vaunt how chastely he hath l.
*1H6 2453 take her away, for she hath l. too long
*Con 714 even to my death, for I have l. too long
*Con 1116 more-better colour'd than when he l.
*Con 1262 and then it l. in sweet Elysium [all quartos Elyziam]
*2H6 1772 his eye-balls further out, than when he l.
*2H6 2005 and then it l. in sweet Elyzium
*TT 58 he durst not sit there had your father l. ?
*TT 980 and Henry hadst l. as kings should do
*TT 1821 for who l. king, but I could dig his grave ?
*TT 2023 thou hadst not l. to kill a son of mine
*3H6 64 he durst not sit there, had your father l.
*3H6 2626 for who l. king, but I could dig his grave ?
*3H6 2888 thou hadst not l. to kill a son of mine

Livedst.

Ov 2247 thou l., while thou esteem'd'st my faith

Livelier.

Ov 2081 and Tithon l. than his years require

Lively.

2T 654 and temper'd every soul with l. heat

2T 2172 the l. spirits which the heart engenders 1F 1145 such spirits as can l. resemble Alexander and JM 1178 O, that my sighs could turn to l. breath
HLM 144 and over-head a l. vine of green sea-agate spread HLM 652 and, crying, « Love, I come », leap'd l. in HLM 753 whose l. heat, like fire from heaven fet, would Ov 1286 and in the morn been l. ne'ertheless
L 364 even now when youthful blood pricks forth our l. bodies
*E3 1184 of resolution and of cowardice, we l. pictur'd

Liver.

2T 1095 I cannot live : I feel my l. pierc'd
Ov 2069 pierc'd my l. with sharp needles' points ?
L 620 the l. swell'd with filth; and every vein did threaten horror
L 623 from the gaping l. squeez'd matter through the caul
L 626 where the l. is, appear'd a knob of flesh

Liveries.

2T 1144 with naked swords and scarlet l.
E2 707 whose proud fantastic l. make such show

Livery.

2T 249 clear the cloudy air, and clothe it in a crystal l.
2T 983 blood is the god of war's rich l.
D 1415 and clad her in a crystal l.
*Con 1420 you shall eat and drink of my score, and go all in my l.
*2H6 2271 I will apparel them all in one l.
*2H6 3095 to achieve the silver l. of advised age

Lives.

*Sel 35 do toss our l., as waves a silly bark
*Sel 2207 as they mean to save their l., to fly in haste
*Sel 2249 if you love your l. fly from the bounds of *Loc 883 the Hun shall die, had he ten thousand l.
*Loc 884 and would to God he had ten thousand l.
*Loc 1293 to end their l., and with their l. their woes !
*Loc 1960 would God she had the monstrous Hydra's l.
*Loc 2023 to whom we owe our country, l., and goods 1T 587 share equally the gold that bought their l.
1T 736 so will we with our powers and our [8vo omits] l. endeavour
1T 1192 why stay we thus prolonging of [4to all] their l. !
1T 1736 if with their l. they will be pleas'd to yield 1T 1798 and make us desperate of our threaten'd l.
1T 1811 whose honours and whose l. rely on him
1T 1833 your honours, liberties, and l. were weigh'd in 1M 1855 on whose safe return depends our city, liberty and l.
1T 1887 as for their liberties, their loves, or l. !
1T 1918 they have refus'd the offer of their l.
1T 2132 whose l. were dearer to Zenocrate than her own life
1T 2267 have desperately despatch'd their slavish l.
2T 561 to bid us battle for our dearest l.
2T 593 too little to defend our guiltless l.
2T 720 and in your l. your father's excellence [8vo excellency]
2T 1243 but yet I'll save their l., and make them slaves 2T 1801 that little hope is left to save our l.
2T 1822 and now will work a refuge to our l.
2T 2239 that let your l. command in spite of death
2T 2246 for by your life we entertain our l.
2F 1487 pity us, gentle Faustus ! save our l. !
JM 261 through our sufferance of your hateful l.
JM 348 to take the l. of miserable men
JM 1109 by this you purchase both their l.
JM 1615 now have I such a plot for both their l.
JM 1648 You would have had my goods. — Ay, and our l. too
JM 2093 their deaths were like their l. ; then think not of 'em
JM 2260 I know ; and they shall witness with their l.
E2 265 that sly inveigling Frenchman we'll exile, or lose our l.
E2 341 and either have our wills, or lose our l.
E2 1442 I will have heads and l. for him as many as I have manors
E2 1480 their l., are to your highness vow'd and consecrate
E2 1895 your l. and my dishonour they pursue
E2 1904 up in arms, arms that pursue our l. with deadly hate
E2 2272 therefore, come ; dalliance dangereth our l.
MP 5 may not dissolve till death dissolves our l.
MP 263 these are the Guisians, that seek to massacre our guiltless l. !
MP 421 that swim about, and so preserve their l.
MP 804 how many nobleman have lost their l. in D 257 and spare our l., whom every spite pursues !
D 747 we will account her author of our l.
D 963 that sav'd your famish'd soldiers' l. from death
D 1262 O Dido, patroness of all our l.
D 1283 all that they have, their lands, their goods, their l.
D 1297 our kinsmen's l. [Old ed. loves] and thousand guiltless souls
*HLC 1073 she hates their l., and they their own and hers
*HLC 1110 of bed-rid nature and l. led amiss
*HLC 1497 as if their l. were cut out by their places
Ov 427 nor let the arms of ancient lines [Old eds. l.] beguile thee
Ov 1095 full concord all your l. was you betwixt
*AT 93 our l., then, let us mend with speed, or we shall surely rue *1H6 1047 I lost my liberty, and they their l.
*1H6 1867 now they meet where both their l. are done
*1H6 1882 l., honours, lands, and all, hurry to loss
*1H6 2016 to hazard all our l. in one small boat
*1H6 2494 it dies, and if it had a thousand l.
*Con 795 I charge you for your l. stir not a foot
*Con 1321 then save our l., it shall be paid
*Con 1546 fight for your king, your country, and your l.
*Con 1694 and offer their l. before your highness' feet
*2H6 1113 no, stir not for your l., let her pass by *2H6 2074 the l. of those which we have lost in fight *2H6 2475 fight for your king, your country, and your l.
*2H6 2713 soldiers, this day have you redeem'd your l.
*TT 92 I'll have more l. than drops of blood were in my father's veins
*TT 309 their l. and thine were not revenge sufficient for me
*TT 365 so desperate thieves all hopeless of their l., breathe out invectives
*TT 702 offering their own l. in their young's defence ?
*TT 841 thy words will cost ten thousand l. to-day
*TT 942 for if you strive, ten thousand l. must perish
*TT 1775 have sold their l. unto the House of York
*3H6 99 I'll have more l. than drops of blood were in my my father's veins
*3H6 392 their l. and thine were not revenge sufficient for me
*3H6 461 so desperate thieves, all hopeless of their l., breathe out *3H6 844 offering their own l. in their young's defence ?
*3H6 990 these words will cost ten thousand l. to-day

*3H6 1163 if you contend, a thousand l. must wither
*3H6 1607 for many l. stand between me and home
*3H6 2565 have sold their l. unto the House of York
*E3 937 it is their l., that stand between our love
*E3 939 whose l., my lady?
*E3 1396 him that is so prodigal to spend your l.?
*E3 1916 and ransom shall redeem l. forfeited
*E3 1996 since all the l., his conquering arrows strike
*E3 2243 with lusty and dear hazard of their l.
*E3 2449 got with mickle peril of our l.
*E3 2460 how many people's l. might'st thou have sav'd
*Con 939 that dreads not yet their l.' destruction

Lives'-blood.

E2 1008 and let their l. slake thy fury's hunger

Livest.

*Sel 621 for whilst thou l. Selimus is content that
*Sel 1028 and both of them are griev'd thou l. so long
*Sel 1583 and l. as a poor exile in this light 1T 2114 wretched Zenocrate! that l. to see
2T 1307 for, if thou l., not any element shall shroud thee
MP 854 maintain an host in pay, that l. by foreign exhibition!
*1H6 500 yet l. thou Salisbury? though thy speech doth fail
*2H6 1972 myself no joy in nought, but that thou l.
*TT 168 and thou shalt reign in quiet whilst thou l.
*3H6 180 and thou shalt reign in quiet while thou l.

Liveth.

*Sel 1426 nay, let him die that l. at his ease
JM 2174 for he that l. in authority, and E2 1172 yet l. Pierce of Gaveston unsurpris'd *1H6 2431 her mother l. yet, can testify she was the *3H6 1706 this reason may suffice, that Henry l. still Living.

*Sel 639 venturing life and l., to honour thee 1F 386 I would be sorry to rob you of your l.
1F 1238 I'd make a brave l. on him: he has a buttock as Ov 797 the l., not the dead, can envy bite
Ov 840 envy the l., not the dead, doth bite
*Con 1597 to hang honest men that steal for their l.
*Epg 291 that he hath ls. and fair lands to lose
*Con 1666 and make them yield their ls. to your hands 2T 2330 and heaven consum'd his choicest l. fire!
D 1049 that calls my soul forth his l. seat to *HLD 6 whatsoever shall make to his l. credit
HLM 194 the air with sparks of l. fire was spangled
*HLC 1033 whose l. subject stood up to the chin in the Pierian flood
*HLC 1344 they kill that feel not their friends' l. pain
*E3 1686 what are you? l. men, or gliding ghosts, crept
*E3 1945 seeing thy body's l. date expir'd
*2H6 3112 but then, Aeneas bare a l. load
1T 2082 O highest lamp of ever-l. [4to everlasting] Jove 2T 574 if he be son to ever-l. Jove, and *1H6 1880 that ever-l. man of memory, Henry the Fifth 1T 146 now l. idly in the wallèd towns
1T 262 eternized by l. Asia's mighty emperor
1T 2043 by l. long in this oppression
MP 322 and he, that l. hated so the Cross, shall *HLD 4 l. an after-life in our memory
*1H6 143 I will slay myself, for l. idly here, in pomp and ease
*Con 988 lest that in l. he offend us more
*2H6 2200 so will the queen, that l., held him dear
*2H6 2899 that l. wrought me such exceeding trouble
*3H6 2251 by l. low, where Fortune cannot hurt me
*E3 942 who l. have that title in our love

Livor.

Ept 8 Pro tot virtutibus uni, L., parce viro

Lizards'.

*Con 1215 their softest touch as smart as l. stings
*2H6 1931 their softest touch, as smart as l. stings
*TT 806 to be avoided, as venom'd [Q1 Q2 venome] toads, or l. fainting looks *3H6 951 to be avoided, as venom toads, or l. dreadful stings

Lo.

*E3 1293 as Harfleur, L., Crotaye, and Carentine
*Sel 388 l. fly, boy, to my father Bajazet
*Sel 1262 and l.! what doleful exequy is here
*Loc 389 but l.! proud Phineas with a band of men
*Loc 837 l.! here a flow'ring garland wreath'd of bay
*Loc 1222 l. here the sum; the process doth ensue
*Loc 1368 then l.! brave Locrine, Estrild yields to thee
*Loc 1399 then, Locrine, l. I reconcile myself
*Loc 1489 l., here the gift of fell ambition
*Loc 1491 l., here the harms that wait upon all those that
*Loc 1802 l. where their army glistereth on the plains
*Loc 2034 l.! here the end of lawless treachery
2T 1331 l., here are bugs will make the hair stand upright
2T 2230 l., here, my sons, are all the golden mines 1F 508 l., Mephistophilis, for love of thee, I cut mine arm
2F 456 l., Mephistophilis, for love of thee, Faustus hath cut his arm 2F 1496 for, l., these [1624, 1631, the] trees remove at my command
*FB 9 in learning, loe, my uncle brought up me
*FB 69 then present, l., [V. R. presently], they came into the hall
JM 1088 l., here I give thee Abigail!
E2 1343 l., with a band of bowmen and of pikes
Ov 57 l., I confess, I am thy captive, I!
Ov 1160 l., how the miserable great-ear'd ass, dull'd with Ov 1304 l., country gods and known [Old eds. know] beds to forsake Corinna means Ov 1774 gather them up, or lift them, l., will I!
Ov 2198 l., Cupid brings his quiver spoilèd quite *1H6 255 l., whilst I waited on my tender lambs, and *1H6 1804 l., there thou stand'st a breathing valiant man
*1H6 2057 O my dearest lord, l. where your son is borne
*Con 1115 but l. the blood is settled in his [Q2 the] face
*Con 1693 l. here my lord, these rebels are subdu'd
*Con 1790 l. here my lord upon my bended knees
*2H6 2895 l., I present your grace a traitor's head
*TT 477 and l. with tears I wash the blood away
*TT 508 l. how the morning opes her golden gates
*TT 1780 and l. where George of Clarence sweeps along
*TT 1823 l. now my glory smear'd in dust and blood
*TT 1921 l. here a period of tumultuous broils
*3H6 2567 and l., where George of Clarence sweeps along *3H6 2628 l., now my glory smear'd in dust and blood *3H6 2773 it is, and l. where youthful Edward comes
*E3 341 l., when she blush'd, even then did he look pale
*E3 1601 l., thus hath Edward's hand fill'd your request
*E3 2239 l., to repair thy life, I give to thee three thousand marks

Load.

2F 1618 going to Wittenberg, t' other day with a l. of hay 2F 1625 never left eating till he had eat up all my l. of hay 2F 1626 O, monstrous! eat a whole l. of hay!
2F 1628 I have heard of one that has eat a l. of logs 2F 1791 how you cozened me, and eat up my l. of —

JM 2177 that labours with a l. of bread and wine
D 225 and all of them, unburden'd of their l.
Ov 1479 or be [Old eds. by] a l. thou shouldst refuse to bear
*Con 168 over-ripened corn, hanging the head at Ceres' plenteous l.
*2H6 262 over-ripen'd corn, hanging the head at Ceres' plenteous l.?
*2H6 1370 unburthens with his tongue, the envious l. that lies upon his heart *2H6 3112 but then, Aeneas bare a living l.
*E3 1594 axe that is enjoin'd to fell a l. of oaks
*Sel 1507 we'll l. the earth with such a mighty host 2T 2151 I and my army come to l. thy back with souls
D 954 and l. his spear with Grecian princes' heads
D 1422 bees that l. their thighs with Hybla's honey-spoils [Old ed. honeys-spoyles]
*2H6 74 to you Duke Humphey must un*l.* his grief
*3H6 685 nor can my tongue un*l.* my heart's great burthen

Loaden.

1T 78 all l. with the heads of killèd men
2T 1348 l. with laurel-wreaths to crown us all 2T 1769 l. with the martial spoils we will convey with us
JM 45 mine argosy from Alexandria, l. with spice
*1H6 683 for I have l. me with many spoils

Loadeth.

*Sel 2015 l. his wings with precious perfumes

Loading.

JM 86 and bid my factor bring his l. in Loadstar.

JM 648 what star shines yonder from the east? the l. of my life, if Abigail

Loan.

HLM 241 put to l., in time it will return us two for one

Loath.

*Sel 1067 though l. I am longer to wear the crown
1T 1827 l. to be enthrall'd to foreign powers
*JMD 6 I was l. it should be published without the ornament of JM 17 would in his age be l. to labour so
JM 1376 I'm l. such a pot of pottage should be spoiled
D 1490 how l. I am to leave these Libyan bounds
HLM 299 perhaps thy priesthood makes thee l.
HLM 591 long was he taking leave, and l. to go
HLM 596 she turn'd about, as l. to see Leander going out
*HLC 1633 as l. the Night, incens'd by Fate, should wreck our lovers
*HLC 2358 space did take 'twixt one another, l. to issue on L 506 as l. to leave Rome whom they held so dear
*1H6 856 since you are tongue-tied, and l. to speak
*TT 1186 your grace would he l. my sons should call you father
*TT 1309 for I were l. to link with him, that is not lawful heir
*3H6 1749 for I were l. to link with him, that were not lawful chosen
*3H6 2279 why then, though l., yet must I be content
*E3 2329 l. to lose the least pre-eminence that I had won

Loathe.

*Sel 2517 disgra'ct, displa'ct, I longer l. to live
JM 469 no, I will live; nor l. I this my life
MP 156 those that hate me will I learn to l.
Ov 975 I l., yet after that I l. I-run
Ov 1672 can I but l. a husband grown a bawd?
Ov 2349 I l. her manners, love her body's feature

Loathed.

1T 2051 O dreary engines of my l. sight
1T 2096 and make a passage for my l. life!
2F 1078 condemn'd for l. Lollards and base schismatics
L 589 the barren mule's l. issue, to be cut forth
*E3 777 the freshest summer's day doth soonest taint the l. carrion
*HLC 2218 poor virtue l. for good, obscur'd, held low
L 167 Poverty, who hatch'd Rome's greatest wits, was l.

Loather.

*2H6 1961 l. a hundred times to part than die

Loathing.

D 554 as l. Pyrrhus for this wicked act
*HLC 1890 female pride l. the lower place, more than Ov 1230 for when my l. it of heat deprives me, I know

Loathsome.

*Sel 29 yet under all a l. snake doth hide
*Sel 556 and by the blackest brook in l. hell
*Sel 1316 Avernus' jaws and l. Taenarus, from whence
*Sel 1912 why dost thou creep from out thy l. fen 1T 845 stars that make the l. circle of my dated life
1T 1505 treading him beneath thy l. feet
1T 2047 more l. to my vexèd thoughts [4to thought] than noisome parbreak 2T 663 lamps that gently look'd upon this [4to the] l. earth
1F 1394 of thy most vild [Dyce, vile] and l. filthiness
E2 2276 the nightly bird, whose sight is l. to all wingèd fowls?
D 692 because his l. sight offends mine eye
D 713 yet must I hear that l. name again?
D 1142 I may nor will list to such l. change
HLM 832 dang'd [V. R. Hurld] down to hell her l. carriage
L 619 and stain'd the bowels with dark l. spots
*1H6 991 this l. sequestration have I had *1H6 1023 all my flow'ring youth, within this l. dungeon
*Con 1091 I am no l. leper [Q1 leoper; Q2 Q3 leaper] look on me
*Con 1206 as lean-fac'd [Q1 leave fast] envy in her l. cave
*2H6 1678 I am no l. leper, look on me
*2H6 1921 as lean-fac'd Envy in her l. cave

Loaves.

*Con 1415 you shall have seven halfpenny l. for a penny
*2H6 2263 in England, seven halfpenny l. sold for a penny

Lobby.

*2H6 2113 how in our voiding l. hast thou stood

Lobcock.

*Loc 1050 you, master saucebox, l., cockscomb

Lock.

*Ign 37 nor will I wear a rotten Bourbon l.
*Epg 231 he takes tobacco, and doth wear a l.
*Loc 1716 shadow thy radiant ls. in gloomy clouds
*Loc 1979 and on your shoulders spread your golden ls.
Ov 331 with ls. spread on her white neck
Ov 357 bescratch mine eyes; spare not my ls. to break
Ov 705 beyond thy robes thy dangling ls. had swept Ov 732 lost are the goodly ls., which from their crown
Ov 743 no envious tongue wrought thy thick ls.' decay
Ov 754 she holds and views her old ls. in her lap
Ov 1064 even kembèd as they were, her ls. to rend
Ov 1168 add she was diligent thy ls. to braid
Ov 1709 and seven times [ed. B, time] shook her head with thick ls. garnish'd Ov 1836 how long her ls. were ere her oath she took Ov 2202 the ls. spread on his neck receive his tears
Ov 2243 her unkemb'd [Old eds. unkeembe, and unkeembd] ls. asunder tearing

L 565 curling their bloody ls., howl dreadful things
*1H6 971 and these grey ls., pursuivants of death
JM 1900 O, if that be all, I can pick ope your ls.
Ov 291 and doors conjoin'd with an hard iron l.
Ov 871 ls. put in the post, although of oak, to yield to verses boast 2T 1324 and l. you in the stable, when you shall come 1F 781 gold, that I might l. you up in my good chest
2F 706 that I might l. you safe into my chest
2F 991 to bind or loose, l. fast, condemn or judge
D 727 in whose fair bosom I will l. more wealth than HLM 515 fort, wherein the liberal Graces lock'd [V. R. l.] their wealth Ov 1915 a free-born wench no right 'tis up to l.
*1H6 1084 well, I will l. his counsel in my breast
JM 1005 and, when he comes, she ls. herself up fast
Ov 1722 what gate thy stately words cannot unlock

Locked.

*HLC 1954 first, gold-l. Hymen did to church repair
*Sel 246 let Mahound's laws be l. up in their case
*Sel 1751 whom the Tartarians l. in a cage
E2 857 fair Danaë, when she was l. up in a brazen tower
E2 2333 where lords keep courts, and kings are l. in prison!
E2 2353 within this room is l. the messenger
HLM 409 till in his twining arms he l. her fast
HLM 515 fort, wherein the liberal Graces l. [V. R. lock] their wealth
L 295 though l. and chain'd in stalls, souse down the walls
*Con 459 go sirs, see them fast l. in prison
*Con 1271 a jewel l. in the woefull'st cask, that ever
*2H6 1837 and he but naked, though l. up in steel *2H6 2016 a jewel l. into the woefull'st cask, that Ov 27 Love un*l.* his quiver, took out the shaft

Locrine.

*Loc (Title) The lamentable tragedy of L.
*Loc 165 L., the column of my family, and only pillar
*Loc 167 L., draw near, draw near unto thy sire
*Loc 177 if L. do not follow your advice
*Loc 188 L., receive this present at my hand
*Loc 209 L., stand up, and wear the regal crown
*Loc 393 so fares it with young L. and his love
*Loc 425 that L. and his brethren all may know
*Loc 1108 sweet Fortune, favour L. with a smile
*Loc 1217 so martial L., cheer'd with victory
*Loc 1221 and forceth L. for his grace to sue
*Loc 1244 so L., with his mighty curtle-axe
*Loc 1305 L. may well bewail his proper grief
*Loc 1306 L. may move his own peculiar woe
*Loc 1347 but rather joy that L. favours thee
*Loc 1350 but L. was the causer of his death
*Loc 1368 then lo! brave L., Estrild yields to thee
*Loc 1373 hath L. then forgot his Guendolen
*Loc 1382 now, by my sword, L., I swear to thee
*Loc 1399 then, L., lo I reconcile myself
*Loc 1508 that hind'reth L. in his sweetest joys!
*Loc 1516 a curious arch, of costly marble wrought, hath L. framed
*Loc 1538 now L. comes, now, Humber, thou must die
*Loc 1614 in Cornwall, L., is my sister now
*Loc 1619 to countercheck brave L. in his love
*Loc 1627 hath L. then forsook his Guendolen?
*Loc 1636 dost thou not quake, when mighty L. frowns?
*Loc 1637 thou beardless boy, were't not that L. scorns to
*Loc 1642 yet will I cope with L. when he dares
*Loc 1663 then, losel L., look unto thyself
*Loc 1680 to trouble L. in his sweetest life
*Loc 1691 that warlike L. first did favour thee
*Loc 1707 for L. hath forsaken Guendolen
*Loc 1714 since L. shuns my nothing-pleasant face
*Loc 1720 for L. hath forsaken Guendolen
*Loc 1740 should L. live, that caused my father's death?
*Loc 1741 should L. live, that now divorceth you?
*Loc 1746 but cursed L., look unto thyself
*Loc 1769 jealousy, L., hath a wicked sting
*Loc 1772 make her know, L. can brook no braves
*Loc 1807 that thus she braveth L. to the teeth?
*Loc 1812 ay, L., traitorous L., we are come
*Loc 1827 believe me, L., but the girl is wise
*Loc 1830 L., we came not here to fight with words
*Loc 1857 shall L. then be taken prisoner by
*Loc 1889 for mighty L. is bereft of life!
*Loc 1896 since martial L. is bereft of life, shall *Loc 1903 L., I come; L. I follow thee!
*Loc 1912 L., the map of magnanimity, lies slaughter'd
*Loc 1930 ah, L., honour'd for thy nobleness
*Loc 1933 search, soldiers, search; find L. and his love
*Loc 2021 and as for L., our deceased spouse
*Loc 2033 and place young L. in his father's tomb
*Loc 867 doth yield his glory unto L.'s sword
*Loc 1094 shall in a moment yield to L.'s sword
*Loc 1164 and light upon the Briton L.'s head?
*Loc 1177 with new-found torments rack proud L.'s bones!
*Loc 1246 so L.'s peers have daunted all thy peers
*Loc 1321 have so entrapp'd poor L.'s love-sick heart
*Loc 1351 he was an enemy to L.'s state
*Loc 1364 if thou wilt yield to L.'s burning love
*Loc 1495 seven years hath aged Corineus lived to L.'s grief
*Loc 1697 lift up those looks that cherish L.'s heart
*Loc 1777 suspires, prejudicating L.'s overthrow
*Loc 1799 and feed thy soul with L.'s overthrow
*Loc 1804 and pour thy plagues on cursed L.'s head!
*Loc 1884 welcome to L.'s over-burthened heart!
*Loc 1887 help me to mourn for warlike L.'s death!
*Loc 1897 shall Estrild live then after L.'s death?
*Loc 1898 shall love of life bar her from L.'s sword?
*Loc 1938 find me young Sabren, L.'s only joy
*Loc 1981 come wail with me the martial L.'s death
*Loc 2013 that which L.'s sword could not perform

Locrinus'.

*Loc 1730 this war must finish with L. death

Locus.

D 1547 Oro si quis adhuc [Old ed. ad haec] precibus l.

Lodge.

*Sel 1478 witness, these empty ls. of mine eyes!
2T 939 and room within to l. six thousand men
JM 541 and let me l. where I was wont to lie
JM 1624 I'll feast you, l. you, give you fair words
D 283 and will not let us l. upon the sands
L 558 leaving the woods, l. in the streets of Rome
*Con 635 come my lords this night we'll l. in Saint Albans
*2H6 78 did he so often l. in open field
*TT 30 lords and soldiers stay you here and l. this night
*3H6 32 and soldiers stay and l. by me this night
*3H6 2106 that his chief followers l. in towns about him
*E3 1111 Philip, my youngest boy, and I will l.
D 430 gave up their voices to dis*l.* the camp
*E3 225 dis*l.*, dis*l.*, it is the King of England

Lodged.

*Sel 1119 Alemshae, departed from Iconium, is l. there

E2 2023 whilst I am l. within this cave of care
*2H6 1779 like to the summer's corn by tempest l.
*E3 1875 there at our backs are l. the fatal cross-bows
*Sel 2021 the conqueror of kings, dis*l.* hath thy never-dying soul

Lodging.
JM 1448 I'll to her l.; hereabouts she lies
JM 2053 his man's now at my l., that was his agent
*LD 11 afore the day, be sure to have changed your l.
*Epg 62 scarce were they settled in their l. [MS. 3 ls.] when wenches

Lodovico.
JM 985 the account is made, for L. [Old ed. Lodowicke] dies
JM 1166 Now L.! now Mathias! So
JM 1170 what sight is this! my L. [Old ed. Lodowicke] slain!
JM 1291 my device in Don Mathias' and L.'s deaths

Lodowick.
JM 584 believe me, noble L., I have seen the JM 606 Farewell Mathias. — Farewell, L.
JM 759 here comes Don L., the governor's son
JM 789 Lord L., it sparkles bright and fair
JM 879 what make the Jew and L. so private?
JM 891 but wherefore talk'd Don L. with you?
JM 960 but stand aside; here comes Don L.
JM 968 entertain L.. the governor's son
JM 985 the account is made, for Lodovico [Old ed. L.] dies
JM 1009 O treacherous L.!
JM 1048 this gentle maggot, L., I mean, must be deluded
JM 1051 what, shall I be betroth'd to L.?
JM 1070 trouble her not; sweet L., depart
JM 1077 be quiet L.; it is enough that
JM 1090 shall L. rob me of so fair a love?
JM 1114 and tell him that it comes from L.
JM 1117 it is a challenge feign'd from L.
JM 1124 so; now will I go in to L., and JM 1170 what sight is this! my Lodovico [Old ed. L.] slain!
JM 1173 O L., hadst thou perish'd by the Turk
JM 1183 my son lov'd thine. — And so did L. him
JM 1219 and I carried it, first to L., and JM 1244 admit thou lov'dst not L. for his sire [Old ed. sinne]
JM 1462 you knew Mathias and Don L.?
JM 1465 first to Don L.: him I never lov'd JM 1540 Barabas, remember Mathias and Don L.
JM 1216 know you not of Mathia[s'] and Don L.['s] disaster?

Lodwick.
*E3 383 art thou there, L.? give me ink and paper
*E3 394 hast thou pen, ink, and paper ready, L.?
*E3 400 now, L., invocate some golden muse to bring
*E3 459 come, L., hast thou turn'd thy ink to gold?
*E3 461 read, L., read
*E3 510 blot, blot, good L.!
*E3 523 L., thou know'st not how to draw a battle
*E3 915 go, L., put thy hand into my purse, play

Lofty.
*Sel 508 and though you dam him up with l. ranks
*Sel 1766 like hugy mountains do your waters rear their l. tops
*Loc 722 and lifts his l. face against us all 1T 145 and shining stones upon their l. crests 1T 289 and scale the icy mountains' l. tops
1T 382 both we will walk upon the l. cliffs [4to cliftes]
1T 469 his l. brows in folds do figure death
1T 645 and lift thy l. arm into the clouds 1T 1465 scatter'd like the l. cedar-trees struck with the 1T 1543 now may we see Damascus' l. towers
2T 109 to those that stand on Bagdet's [8vo Badgeths; 4to Baieths] l. tower 2T 1396 were all the l. mounts of Zona Mundi that 2T 1784 high upon the lofty and celestial mount of 1T 1861 Babylon, whose l. pillars, higher than the clouds 2F 968 lifting his l. head above the clouds
JM 2271 two l. turrets that command the town
E2 652 if that l. office like thee not, I make thee here Lord Marshal
E2 819 a l. cedar-tree, fair flourishing, on whose top-branches
E2 2149 have done their homage to the l. gallows
HLM 399 l. Pride that dwells in towerèd courts, is oft in shepherds' cells
HLM 487 and still enrich the l. servile clown
Ov 98 if l. titles cannot make me thine [ed. A, cause me to be thine]
Ov 781 l. Lucretius shall live that hour that Ov 824 then shall Lucretius' l. numbers die when earth
Ov 1298 the l. pine, from high mount Pelion raught
Ov 1700 'tis time to move grave things in l. style
Ov 1712 « With l. words, stout Tragedy », she said, « Why
Ov 1716 thy l. style with mine I not compare
L 247 and l. Caesar in the thickest throng
*1H6 803 it is of such a spacious l. pitch
*2H6 1033 thus droops this l. pine, and hangs his sprays
*2H6 2148 and l. proud encroaching tyranny
*E3 1053 and l. Poland, nurse of hardy men
*E3 1180 until their l. tops were seen no more
*E3 2116 some two leagues hence there is a l. hill
*E3 2429 an hundred fifty [Collier, l.] towers shall burning blaze

Lofty-plumed.
*1H6 2244 that France must vail her l. crest

Logic.
MP 383 'tis Ramus, the king's Professor of L.
MP 412 he that despiseth him can ne'er be good in l.
*HLC 1233 the l. of Leander's beauty, and them together, would 1F 36 is, to dispute well, l.'s chiefest end?
2F 35 is, to dispute well, l.'s chiefest end?

Logices.
1F 35 Bene disserere est finis l.
2F 34 Bene disserere est finis l.

Logs.
2F 1628 I have heard of one that has eat a load of l.

Loins.
*Sel 1523 sprung from the l. of mighty Ottoman
*Loc 334 as if thou hadst been the fruit of my l.
*Loc 1340 or with my sword I'll pierce thy coward's l.
*Loc 1609 I that am the issue of his l.
1T 1204 the brats y-sprung [Old eds. ysprong] from Typhon's l.
2T 314 bastardly boy, sprung [4to sprong] from some coward's l.
2T 1718 ah, cruel brat, sprung from a tyrant's l.!
D 116 besiege[s] th' offspring of our kingly l.
D 128 that erst-while issu'd from thy watery l.
*TT 1213 that from his l. no issue might succeed to *TT 1218 and all they look'd [Q2 Q3 looke] for issue of their l.
*3H6 1560 that from his l. no hopeful branch may spring
*E3 9 yet died and left no issue of their l.

Loiter.
JM 1637 you l., master; wherefore stay we thus?
Loitered.
Ov 1701 long hast thou l.; greater works compile Lollards.
2F 1011 be held as L. and bold schismatics
2F 1078 condemn'd for loathèd L. and base schismatics
2F 1105 what L. do attend our holiness
Londinensis.
*Epg 57 In Plurimos. V [MS. In meritriculas [sic] L.]
London.
*Sel (Title) L. Printed by Thomas Creede
*Loc (Title) L. Printed by Thomas Creede. 1595
1T (Title) L. Printed by Richard Jones
1T (Title) sundry times showed upon stages in the City of L.
1F (Title) L. Printed by V. S. for Thomas Bushel 1604
2F (Title) L., Printed for John Wright
JM (Title) L. : Printed by I. B. for Nicholas Vavasour
JM 1569 in Florence, Venice, Antwerp, L., Seville
E2 (Title) L., Printed for Henry Bell
E2 (Title) imprinted at L. by Richard Bradocke, for William Jones
E2 (Title) printed at L. for Roger Barnes
E2 10 the sight of L. to my exil'd eyes is as Elysium
MP (Title) At L. Printed by E. A. for Edward White
D (Title) At L., Printed by the Widow Orwin, for Thomas Woodcocke
HL (Title) At L. Printed for Joh Flasket
HL (Title) L., Printed by Adam Islip, for Edward Blunt. 1598
*1H6 1176 pity the city of L., pity us
*Con (Title) L. Printed by Thomas Creed, for Thomas Millington
*Con 636 and to-morrow we will ride to L.
*Con 708 thou shalt two days in L. do penance bare-foot
*Con 1507 drum strike up, for now we'll march to L.
*Con 1510 and the rebels march amain to L.
*Con 1706 come let us haste to L. now with speed
*Con 1937 away my lord, and fly to L. straight
*Con 1940 come then fair queen to L. let us haste
*Con 1971 sound drums and trumpets, and to L. all
*2H6 872 your lady is forthcoming, yet at L.
*2H6 894 to-morrow toward L., back again
*2H6 2396 dragg'd at my horse's heels, till I do come to L.
*2H6 2401 come, let's march towards L.
*2H6 3130 we shall to L. get, where you are lov'd
*2H6 3164 for (as I hear) the king is fled to L.
*2H6 3172 sound drums and trumpets, and to L. all
*TT (Title) L. Printed by P. S. for Thomas Millington, 1595
*TT 196 and I'll keep L. with my soldiers
*TT 260 and Richard thou to L. straight shall post
*TT 577 I then in L. keeper of the king, muster'd
*TT 641 but now to L. all the crew are gone
*TT 649 why via, to L. will we march amain
*TT 922 from L. was I pressed out by the king
*TT 1046 and now to L. with triumphant march
*TT 1066 now to L., to see these honours in possession
*TT 1677 we'll march to L., to meet with Warwick
*TT 1704 and with his troops do march amain towards L.
*TT 1720 my sovereign with his loving citizens, shall rest in L.
*TT 1957 I must to L. on a serious matter
*TT 1990 whither's [Q3 whether is] Gloster gone? — Marry my lord to L.
*TT 1994 and now let us towards [Q3 lets toward] L., to see
*3H6 214 and I'll keep L. with my soldiers
*3H6 319 brother, thou shalt to L. presently
*3H6 340 my brother Montague shall post to L.
*3H6 715 I then in L., keeper of the king
*3H6 777 and now to L. all the crew are gone
*3H6 785 why via, to L. will we march
*3H6 1125 from L., by the king was I press'd forth
*3H6 1289 and now to L. with triumphant march
*3H6 1311 now to L., to see these honours in possession
*3H6 2187 I am inform'd that he comes towards L.
*3H6 2447 shall rest in L., till we come to him
*3H6 2809 I'll hence to L. on a serious matter
*3H6 2846 Where's Richard gone. — To L. all in post
*3H6 2850 let's away to L., and see our gentle queen
*E3 (Title) as it hath been sundry times played about the city of L.
*E3 (Title) L., printed for Cuthbert Burby. 1596
London-Bridge.
*1H6 1118 as well at L., as at the Tower
*Con 1560 but first go on and set L. a-fire [Q2 on fire]
*Con 1630 O captain, L. is a-fire
*2H6 2452 Jack Cade hath gotten L.
*2H6 2491 but first, go and set L. on fire
London-Gates.
*2H6 2651 hath my sword therefore broke through L.
London-Stone.
*Con 1549 and now sitting upon L., we command that *2H6 2478 and here sitting upon L., I charge and London-Streets.
*2H6 2674 I see them lording it in L.
Lone.
HLM 248 l. women, like to empty houses, perish
Long.
*Con 283 for enclosing the commons of L. Melford
*Sel 2240 know'st thou not, Solyma, kings have l. hands?
*Loc 856 grinding in her sharp l. teeth the broken bowels
1T 475 his arms l., his fingers snowy-white. — So in 4to
1T 475 his arms and fingers l. and snowy [Dyce, sinewy] — So in 8vo 1F 428 a vengeance on them! they have vild [Dyce, vile] l. nails 2F 1521 he'd join l. asses' ears to these huge horns
JM 940 pinning upon his breast a l. great scroll
JM 1343 he that eats with the devil had need of a l. spoon
E2 758 or saying a l. grace at a table's end
Ov 199 then came Corinna in a l. loose gown
Ov 380 and with l. charms the solid earth divides
Ov 928 fruit flying touch, Tantalus seeks; his l. tongue's gain is such Ov 1006 both short and l. please me, for I love both Ov 1502 that mean to travel some l. irksome way
Ov 1743 come, therefore, and to l. verse shorter frame
Ov 1836 how l. her locks were ere her oath she took Ov 1837 so l. they be since she her faith forsook
Ov 2298 her l. hair's ear-wrought garland fell away
L 68 to unfold of these garboils, whence springs a l. discourse
L 401 shallow Isara, who, running l., falls in a greater flood
L 530 now spear-like l., now like a spreading torch
*Epg 230 the treble ruff [Eds. ruffes], l. cloak, and doublet French
*Epg 544 esteem'd for his l. cloak or [for] his great black feather
*Con 1375 come away Nick, and put a l. staff in thy pike
*E3 325 but, to make up my all too l. compare, these

*E3 1950 and arm thy soul for her l. journey towards
*Sel 79 my decrease so l. wrought their increase
*Sel 122 dread Emperor! l. may you happy live
*Sel 236 l. hast thou marchèd in disguis'd attire
*Sel 374 l. enough the grey-beard now hath reign'd
*Sel 380 compass it without delay, or l. procrastination
*Sel 650 and since thou fear'st as l. as I do live
*Sel 651 I'll also fear, as l. as thou dost live
*Sel 738 I have enjoyed quiet l. enough
*Sel 981 for I have been encumbered l. enough
*Sel 991 l. live the mighty emperor Bajazet!
*Sel 1028 both of them are griev'd thou liv'st so l.
*Sel 1047 that Selim ere l. would join league with him?
*Sel 1234 yes, that he wants so l. thy company
*Sel 1662 l. live Selimus Emperor of Turks!
*Sel 1663 live thou a l. and a victorious reign
*Sel 1677 as l. as he is on earth, thou shalt not sleep in rest
*Sel 1989 if you dwell with me l., sirs, I shall *Sel 2013 thus, after he has five l. ages liv'd, the *Sel 2018 l. didst thou live, triumphant Bajazet
*Loc 7 l. did he range amid the shady trees
*Loc 20 O, what may l. abide above this ground
*Loc 233 live l., my sons, with endless happiness
*Loc 315 will, ere it be l., consume my poor heart
*Loc 776 and last (O that this last might so l. last!)
*Loc 1308 and felt not l. his lamentable smart
*Loc 1431 how have you scaped hanging this l. time?
*Loc 1444 where hast thou been so l.?
*Loc 1532 l. have I liv'd in this desert cave 1T 169 l. live Cosroe, mighty emperor!
1T 420 as l. as life maintains Theridamas
1T 429 l. may Theridamas remain with us!
1T 912 l. live Tamburlaine, and reign in Asia!
1T 990 hath seem'd to be digested l. ago
1T 991 although it be digested l. ago, as 1T 1559 he dies, and those that kept us out so l.
1T 1608 kept the fair Zenocrate so l., as concubine
1T 1770 nor shall they l. be thine, I warrant them
1T 2043 by living l. in this oppression
1T 2076 as l. as any blood or spark of breath can quench
1T 2165 to see them live so l. in misery!
1T 2170 as l. as life maintains his mighty arm
1T 2297 that l. hath linger'd for so high a seat
2T 283 not l. ago bestrid a Scythian steed
2T 480 they have, not l. since, massacred our camp
2T 793 l. live Callapinus, Emperor of Turkey!
2T 815 Fortune, who hath follow'd l. the martial sword of 2T 1751 lost l. before ye knew what honour meant
2T 1845 as l. as any life is in my breast
1F 671 and l. ere this I should have slain myself
1F 1021 with horse-bread as l. as he lives
1F 1030 our horses shall eat no hay as l. as this lasts
1F 1141 which l. since are consumed to dust
2F 221 then I fear that which I have l. suspected 2F 592 and l. ere this I [1624, this time I] should have done the deed 2F 823 not l. he stay'd within his quiet house 2F 934 l. ere with iron hands they punish men
*JMD 8 within the compass of my l. knowledge
JM 185 l. to the Turk did Malta contribute
JM 219 let's know their time; perhaps it is not l.
JM 516 'tis thirty winters l. since some of us did stray
JM 821 hoping ere l. to set the house a-fire
JM 1031 Barabas, thou know'st I have lov'd thy daughter l.
JM 1260 it is not yet l. since that I did labour
JM 1267 hath pac'd too l. the fatal labyrinth of misbelief
JM 1513 no, but I grieve because she liv'd so l.
JM 1658 then will not Jacomo be l. from hence
JM 1967 love me little, love me l.
JM 2000 musician, hast been in Malta l.?
JM 2040 for Calymath, having hover'd here so l., will E2 410 and l. thou shalt not stay; or, if thou dost, I'll come to thee
E2 783 I will not l. be from thee, though I die
E2 1057 I'll grace thee with a higher style ere l.
E2 1339 l. live my sovereign, the noble Edward, in peace triumphant
E2 1461 l. live King Edward, England's lawful lord!
E2 1467 salute your highness with l. life and happiness
E2 1519 for which, ere l., their heads shall satisfy t' appease
E2 1584 that's it these barons and the subtle queen l. levell'd [Old eds. levied] at E2 1649 l. may you live much happier than your friends
E2 1681 ere l. to bid the English king a base
E2 1709 they bark'd apace a month [1612, 1622, apace not l.] ago
E2 1717 'a will be had ere l., I doubt it not E2 1902 'a gave a l. look after us, my lord
E2 1997 thy speeches l. ago had eas'd my sorrows
E2 2189 as l. as he survives, what safety rests for us
E2 2286 but can my air of life continue l., when E2 2407 l. live King Edward, by the grace of God King of England
E2 2655 nay, to my death; for too l. have I lived, whenas MP 462 whom practice l. hath taught to please himself with MP 502 I could l. ere this have wish'd him there
MP 604 and l. may Henry enjoy all this, and more!
MP 809 truth; which I'll maintain as l. as life doth last MP 924 and tell him, ere it be l., I'll visit him
MP 1251 l. may you live, and still be king of France!
D 77 intends, ere l., to sport him in the sky
D 93 Troy, so l. suppress'd, from forth her ashes shall advance her head
D 272 that in such peace l. time did rule the same
D 349 live l. Aeneas and Ascanius!
D 642 how l., fair Dido, shall I pine for thee?
D 1455 welcome, sweet child: where hast thou been this l.?
D 1569 ah, foolish Dido, to forbear this l.!
D 1688 how l. will Dido mourn a stranger's flight
D 1690 how l. shall I with grief consume my days
HLM 175 l. ere the course begin, we wish that one should lose
HLM 236 which l. time lie untouch'd, will harshly jar
HLM 465 but l. this blessèd time continu'd not HLM 560 l. dallying with Hero, nothing saw that HLM 587 and, red for anger that he stay'd so l.
HLM 591 l. was he taking leave, and loath to go
HLM 647 having spied her tower, l. star'd he on't HLM 807 that which so l., so charily she kept
*HLC 1015 whose most wished view I thus l. have forborne
*HLC 1658 day was so l., men walking fell asleep
*HLC 1678 two lovers that had l. crav'd marriage-dues
*HLC 1834 what pains he felt, how l. in pain he lay
*HLC 2300 usurp, with l. lives, loves, and lust the seats of Virtue
Ov 41 although the nights be l., I sleep not tho
Ov 222 l. love my body to such use make[s] slender
Ov 466 if this thou dost, to me by l. use known

Ov 907 if l. she stays, to think the time more short, lay
Ov 1058 lest l. years should turn the dye
Ov 1088 for l. shrild trumpets let your notes resound
Ov 1245 l. shalt thou rest when Fates expire thy breath
Ov 1648 her lover let her mock, that l. will reign
Ov 1664 l. have I borne much, hoping time would beat thee
Ov 1678 an old wood stands, uncut of l. years' space
Ov 1701 l. hast thou loiter'd ; greater works compile
Ov 2304 and wish'd the goddess l. might feel love's fire
Ov 2312 l. have I borne much ; mad thy faults me [ed. C, we] make Ov 2513 both Loves, to whom my heart l. time did yield
L 131 and by l. rest forgot to manage arms
L 311 their leader]Old ed. leaders], whom l. peace hath quail'd
L 316 and shall he triumph l. before his time
L 341 yet, for l. service done, reward these men
L 394 lest sloth and l. delay might cross him
L 454 so (if truth you sing) death brings l. life
L 610 the beast l. struggled, as like to prove an awkward sacrifice
Dia 27 thou l. time his love did know
*AT 42 he had a friend, once gay and green, who died not l. before
*Epg 90 wish'd that her pleasure could endure as l. as a buff-jerkin would *1H6 6 King Henry the Fifth, too famous to live l.
*1H6 176 but l. I will not be Jack-out-of-office
*1H6 297 my lord methinks is very l. in talk
*1H6 299 else ne'er could he so l. protract his speech *1H6 415 guard thy head, for I intend to have it ere l.
*1H6 623 pray God she prove not masculine ere l.
*1H6 782 l. time thy shadow hath been thrall to me
*1H6 970 so fare my limbs with l. imprisonment
*1H6 1048 l. after this, when Henry the Fifth
*1H6 1072 cloy'd with l. continuance in a settled place
*1H6 1347 I trust ere l. to choke thee with thine own
*1H6 1377 and there will we be too, ere it be l.
*1H6 1546 that hath so l. been resident in France ?
*1H6 1552 l. since we were resolved of your truth
*1H6 1750 where I hope ere l. to be presented by your victories, with *1H6 2453 take her away, for she hath liv'd too l.
*Con 34 l. live Queen Margaret, England's happiness
*Con 92 I prophesied France would be lost ere l.
*Con 211 but ere it be l., I'll go before them all
*Con 211 as l. as Gloster bears this base and humble mind [Q1 Q2 omit line]
*Con 218 your grace's state shall be advanc'd ere l.
*Con 237 these gifts ere l. will make me mighty rich
*Con 314 as that your grace ere l. shall understand
*Con 333 what needs your grace to be protector over him so l.
*Con 688 l. live Richard England's royal king
*Con 714 even to my death, for I have lived too l.
*Con 733 and l. hereafter when I am dead and gone, may *Con 864 I wonder our uncle Gloster stays so l.
*Con 874 and with l. life, Jesus preserve his grace [Q3 omits the line]
*Con 899 pardon my liege, that I have stay'd so l.
*Con 966 l. mayst thou enjoy, thy father's happy days free from annoy
*Con 1229 and l. thou shalt not stay, but I'll have thee repeal'd
*Con 1268 and therefore go, but hope ere l. to be repeal'd
*Con 1479 I am content that be shall be king as l. as he lives
*Con 1498 otherwise I'll have his crown tell him, ere it be l.
*Con 1505 the Lent shall be as l. again as it was *Con 1692 l. live King Henry, England's lawful king
*Con 1789 l. live Henry in triumphant peace
*Con 1824 that thou usurped hast so l. by force
*Con 1834 l. live my noble lord, and sovereign king
*Con 1945 and our great honour that so l. we lost
*2H6 37 l. live Queen Margaret, England's happiness
*2H6 88 studied so l., sat in the council-house
*2H6 144 I prophesied France will be lost ere l.
*2H6 212 and would have kept, so l. as breath did last *2H6 753 what, hast thou been l. blind, and now restor'd ?
*2H6 783 how l. hast thou been blind ?
*2H6 848 O God, seest thou this, and bearest so l. ?
*2H6 965 l. live our sovereign Richard, England's king
*2H6 1159 so l. as I am loyal, true, and crimeless
*2H6 1302 but I will remedy this gear ere l.
*2H6 1305 pardon my liege, that I have stay'd so l.
*2H6 1509 he never would have stay'd in France so l.
*2H6 1513 by staying there so l., till all were lost
*2H6 1578 and fought so l., till that his thighs with darts were *2H6 1724 for Henry weeps, that thou dost live so l.
*2H6 2390 the Lent shall be as l. again as it is *2H6 2578 l. sitting to determine poor men's causes
*2H6 3157 God knows how l. it is I have to live
*TT 191 l. live King Henry. Plantagenet embrace him ?
*TT 192 and l. live thou and all thy forward sons
*TT 706 and l. hereafter say unto his child, what
*TT 1383 and therefore I'll uncrown him ere 't be l.
*TT 1489 and therefore I'll uncrown him ere 't be l.
*TT 1671 L. live Edward the Fourth. — L. live Edward the Fourth
*TT 1900 l. may'st thou live to bear his image
*3H6 209 l. live King Henry : Plantagenet embrace him
*3H6 210 and l. live thou, and these thy forward sons
*3H6 848 and l. hereafter say unto his child
*3H6 1873 and therefore I'll uncrown him ere 't be l.
*3H6 1989 so l. as Edward is thy constant friend
*3H6 2024 and therefore I'll uncrown him ere 't be l.
*3H6 2322 and we shall have more wars before 't be l.
*3H6 2412 l. live Edward the Fourth
*3H6 2733 l. may'st thou live, to bear his image
*E3 133 whose husband hath in Britain serv'd so l.
*E3 636 it shall not cumber l. your majesty
*E3 1640 I hope, ere l. the whole dominions of
*E3 1691 that l. have been diseas'd, sick and lame
*E3 2311 l. live your highness ! happy be your reign !
*E3 2336 which should l. since have been surrender d up, had
*E3 2442 as things, l. lost, when they are found again, so doth *1H6 2232 Oh hold me not with silence over-l.
*HLC 2161 Day's too-l. darts so kill'd their faculties
*Sel 391 tell him I l. to see his gracious face
*Sel 1914 and gape and l. one for the other's ends ?
*Loc 887 but say, my cousin (for I l. to hear), how
*Loc 1106 I l. to see the treacherous Scythians 1T 76 I l. to see thee back return from thence 1T 749 I l. to sit upon my brother's throne
1T 1193 I l. to see those crowns won by our swords
1T 1613 I l. to break my spear upon his crest
2T 1020 I l. to pierce his [8vo the] bowels with my sword 1F 904 that I do l. to see the monuments and 1F 1313 that great-bellied women do l. for some dainties or other 2F 883 that I do l. to see the [1624, 1631, those] monuments 2F 1673 great-bellied women do l. for things are rare and dainty

JM 1638 O, how I l. to see him shake his heels !
E2 299 quick, quick, my lord ; I l. to write my name
E2 300 but I l. more to see him banish'd hence
E2 803 come, lead the way : I l. till I am there
E2 1308 I l. to hear an answer from the barons
D 357 O, tell me, for I l. to be resolv'd
Ov 995 I l. to quaver on her lips, even in her song
*Con 537 my wife did l. for plums
*Con 1366 I l. to have his head for ransom of mine eye
*2H6 904 my lord, I l. to hear it at full
*2H6 1209 go, lead the way, I l. to see my prison
*2H6 2704 as I do l. and wish to be a subject
*3H6 1896 I l. till Edward fall by war's mischance
*Sel 463 and says he ls. to kiss my aged hands
*HLC 1635 Hero's plight ls. for Leander and the night
*TT 893 this thirsty sword that ls. to drink thy blood

'Long.

E2 487 I know 'tis l. of Gaveston she weeps
*1H6 1862 they daily get, all l. of this vile traitor Somerset
*1H6 1875 are won away, l. all of Somerset, and his delay
*3H6 2367 would fain that all were well, so 'twere not l. of him 1T 725 to one that can command what ls. thereto
JM 241 soft, Barabas ! there's more ls. to 't than so

Longa.

*Loc 1530 O vita, misero l., felici brevis !

Long-admiring.

Ov 853 and, l., say, « By what means learn'd hath

Long-boat's.

*Con 1336 and on our l. side, chop off his head
*2H6 2120 and on our l. side, strike off his head

Longed.

JM 1061 now have I that for which my soul hath l.
HLM 534 by being possess'd of him for whom she l.
*2H6 2703 was never subject l. to be a king, as Longer.

Ov 1685 and one, I think, was l., of her feet
*HLC 2131 she no l. stay'd ; but, bowing to
*Sel 1067 though loth I am l. to wear the crown
*Sel 1595 that I deserve not l. time to live
*Sel 1648 unable is l. to govern us
*Sel 2517 disgra'ct, displa'ct, I l. loathe to live
*Loc 216 no l. let me well enjoy the crown, than 1T 170 never let me l. live than I may seek to 1T 1692 if she live but a while l.
1T 1795 and to resist with l. stubbornness
1T 2069 to cool and comfort me with l. date
D 1195 we will not stay a minute l. here
JM 563 yet let my daughter be no l. blind
JM 1033 and now I can no l. hold my mind
JM 1763 I can withhold no l. : welcome, sweet love
F2 139 I can no l. keep me from my lord
E2 1295 my Lord of Pembroke's men, strive you no l.
*HLC 2156 no l. could the Day nor Destinies delay the Night
Ov 1663 she shall be mine no l.
L 115 Julia, had heaven given thee l. life, thou
*1H6 436 now do thou watch, for I can stay no l.
*1H6 597 no l. on Saint Denis will we cry
*1H6 1524 so farewell Talbot, I'll no l. trust thee
*1H6 2070 my spirit can no l. bear these harms
*Con 1345 shalt live no l. to infect the earth
*Con 1811 and I no l. live, than I prove just and loyal to my [Q2 unto my] king
*2H6 141 if I l. stay, we shall begin our ancient bickerings
*2H6 1894 but three days l., on the pain of death
*2H6 2753 for a thousand years, I could stay no l.
*TT 363 so cowards fight when they can fly no l.
*TT 659 no l. Earl of March, but Duke of York
*TT 666 stay we no l. dreaming of renown
*TT 835 I defy thee, not [Q3 Nor] willing any l. conference
*TT 840 hence wrangling woman, I'll no l. stay
*TT 1201 why that's a day l. than a wonder lasts
*3H6 795 no l. Earl of March, but Duke of York
*3H6 802 stay we no l., dreaming of renown
*3H6 984 I defy thee, not willing any l. conference
*3H6 989 no wrangling woman, we'll no l. stay
*3H6 1048 forslow no l., make we hence amain
*3H6 1548 that's a day l. than a wonder lasts
*E3 1805 thy suit shall be no l. deferr'd
*E3 2260 I will no l. stay to be deluded by their false delays

Long-expected.

1T 635 my men may triumph in our l. fate

Long-faced.

*HLC 1943 moist-lipp'd, l., thin like an iron wedge

Long-imprisoned.

*2H6 2917 then York unloose thy l. thoughts

Longing.

*Sel 1695 yet he may have a l. for the crown
1F 1435 to glut the l. of my heart's desire
2F 1894 to glut the l. of my heart's desire
2T 2306 and glut your ls. with a heaven of joy
*HLC 850 joys, ls., that before became high unexperienc'd blood
*HLC 2116 Love paints his ls. in sweet virgins' eyes
*HLC 2124 Love paints his ls. in sweet virgins' eyes
*Loc 992 and now revenge shall glut my l. soul 2F 1323 to satisfy my l. thoughts [1624, thought] at full MP 697 of whose increase I set some l. hope
HLM 730 the l. heart of Hero much more joys, than 1F 244 l. to view Orion's drizzling look
2F 231 l. to view Orion's drizzling look

'Longing.

E2 1441 and all the honours l. to my crown

Long-kept.

*HLC 2059 that her l. occurrents would [V. R. should] be stale

Longshanks'.

E2 1319 son to the lovely Eleanor of Spain, great Edward L. issue
E2 1807 Bristow to L. blood is false

Long-tongued.

*TT 769 what, l. Warwick [Q1 Q2 War.] dare you speak ?
*3H6 915 why how now l. Warwick, dare you speak ?

Long-usurped.

L 333 speak, when shall thy l. power end ?

Look.

*Sel 289 I like a lion's l. — not worth a leek, when 1F 244 longing to view Orion's drizzling l.
2F 231 longing to view Orion's drizzling l.
E2 113 with his l. th' undaunted spirit of Percy was appeas'd
E2 226 vouchsafes, for vailing of his bonnet, one good l.
E2 309 see, what a scornful l. the peasant casts !
E2 432 for every l., my love [Old eds. lord] drops down a tear
E2 635 these nobles fair, that wait attendance for a gracious l.

E2 881 did never creep so low as to bestow a l. on such as you
E2 1902 'a gave a long l. after us, my lord
E2 2203 and neither give him kind word nor good l.
MP 157 give me a l., that, when I bend the brows, pale death may walk MP 311 cousin, 'tis he; I know him by his l.
HLM 172 such force and virtue hath an amorous l.
HLM 628 so to his mind was young Leander's l.
HLM 805 again, she knew not how to frame her l.
HLM 824 more pleasure took than Dis, on heaps of gold fixing his l.
*HLC 1436 for even the very l. of it repell'd all blastings
*HLC 2265 thinks each l. an act, each drop a storm
Ov 981 if any eye me with a modest l., I burn [Old eds. blush]
Ov 1689 her cloak [Old eds. looke] on ground did lie
L 298 his grave l. appeas'd the wrestling tumult
*AT 39 and never gave his life a l. until it was too late
*2H6 1219 and if we did but glance a far-off l., immediately *2H6 2955 nay, do not fright us with an angry l.
*TT 302 kill me with thy sword, and not with such a cruel threatening l.
*TT 370 whose very l. hath made thee quake ere this *3H6 383 and not with such a cruel threat'ning l.
*Sel 2446 to see how courage masketh in our ls.
*Loc 18 whose only ls. did scare his enemies
*Loc 1635 dost thou not tremble at our royal ls.?
*Loc 1646 that he should fear and tremble at the ls. or
*Loc 1697 lift up those ls. that cherish Locrine's heart
*Loc 1935 that I may change those her so pleasing ls. to 1T 75 and with thy ls. thou conquerest all thy foes
1T 245 with frowning brows and fiery ls. spurning their crowns
1T 346 his ls. do menace heaven and dare the gods
1T 354 with what a majesty he rears his ls.!
1T 417 won with thy words, and conquer'd with thy ls.
1T 765 when ls. breed love, with ls. to gain the prize
1T 964 true, Argier; and tremble[s] at my ls.
1T 997 conceits, which dye my ls. so lifeless as they are 1T 1043 in his majesty, he leaves those ls., those words of favour 1T 1217 that with thy ls. canst clear the darken'd sky 1T 1288 like roes pursu'd by hunters, fly his angry ls.
1T 1381 see the frowning ls. of fiery Tamburlaine
1T 1839 and bring us pardon in your cheerful ls.
1T 1843 entreat grace to our words and pity to our ls.
1T 1851 with happy ls. of ruth and lenity
1T 2121 whose ls. might make the angry god of arms to break his sword 1T 2129 gazing upon the beauty of their ls.
2T 248 whose cheerful ls. do clear the cloudy air
2T 266 but yet methinks their ls. are amorous 2T 280 my gracious lord, they have their mother's ls.
2T 384 whose ls. make this inferior world to quake
2T 906 those [Old eds. Whose] ls. will shed such influence in my camp 2T 1136 in whose high ls. is much more majesty
2T 1300 see'st thou not death within my wrathful ls.?
2T 1594 in whom thy ls. have greater operation and more force 2T 1658 for every Fury gazeth on her ls.
2T 1820 and have no terror but his threatening ls.?
2T 2186 my ls. shall make them fly
2F 1949 Faustus, methinks your ls. are chang'd
JM 750 yet are our ls. as innocent and harmless as a lamb's
E2 416 in whose gracious ls. the blessedness of Gaveston remains
E2 532 and see how coldly his ls. make denial!
E2 900 think with high ls. thus to tread me down
E2 2308 O, level all your ls. upon these daring men that E2 2361 but at his ls., Lightborn, thou wilt relent
E2 2389 Aristarchus' eyes, whose ls. were as a breeching to a boy
E2 2496 small comfort finds poor Edward in thy ls.
E2 2525 these ls. of thine can harbour naught but death
MP 703 her eyes and ls. sow'd seeds of perjury
MP 1016 and princes with their ls. engender fear
D 122 disquiet seas, lay down your swelling ls.
D 189 whose ls. set forth no mortal form to view
D 452 ls. so remorseful, vows so forcible
D 637 to be enamour'd of thy brother's ls.
D 725 his ls. shall be my only library
D 1127 and dive into her heart with colour'd ls.
D 1189 and not stand lingering here for amorous ls.
D 1329 for in his ls. I see eternity
D 1480 if that be all, then cheer thy drooping ls.
D 1554 for being entangled by a stranger's ls.?
D 1634 my sister comes: I like not her sad ls.
HLM 90 for in his ls. were all that men desire
HLM 207 the influence to lead thy thoughts as thy fair ls. do mine!
HLM 337 Hero's ls. yielded, but her words made war
*HLC 1096 her inward guilt would in her ls. have wrought
*HLC 1098 to bear foul thoughts, yet forge what ls. she listed
*HLC 1520 but Venus' ls. [V. R. looke] brought wrath, and urged fear
*HLC 1538 while thy smooth ls. make men digest thy sin
*HLC 1798 at length with sickly ls. he greeted them
Ov 111 that I may write things worthy thy fair ls.
Ov 313 but secretly her ls. with checks did trounce me
Ov 343 her bloodless white ls. show'd like marble
Ov 386 he stay'd, and on thy ls. his gazes seiz'd
Ov 609 by speechless ls. we guess at things succeeding
Ov 881 wenches, apply your fair ls. to my verse
Ov 985 though her sour ls. a Sabine's brow resemble
Ov 1016 this for her ls., that for her womanhood
Ov 1398 turn thy ls. hither, and in one spare twain
Ov 1546 beauty gives heart: Corinna's ls. excel
Ov 1764 almost fell'd, Hippodamia's ls. while he beheld!
Ov 1839 now shine her ls. pure white and red betwixt
Ov 1959 when nymph Neaera rapt thy ls., Scamander
Ov 1978 whom Ilia pleas'd, though in her ls. grief revell'd
Ov 2236 Eryx' bright empress turn'd her ls. aside
Ov 2372 err I? or by my books [Old eds. lookes] is she so known?
*1H6 227 methinks your ls. are sad, your cheer appall'd
*1H6 241 question her proudly, let thy ls. be stern
*1H6 1374 for Talbot means no goodness by his ls.
*1H6 1718 if they perceive dissention in our ls.
*Con 30 her ls. did wound, but now her [Q2 omits] speech doth pierce
*Con 790 with envious ls. laughing at thy shame
*Con 942 Buckingham's proud ls. bewrays his cruel thoughts
*Con 1082 come basilisk and kill the silly [Q3 omits] gazer with thy ls.
*Con 1837 nay, do not affright us with thy ls.
*2H6 1106 with envious ls. laughing at thy shame
*2H6 1119 ah Gloster, hide thee from their hateful ls.

*2H6 2791 see if thou canst out-face me with thy ls.
*TT 681 to whom do lions cast their gentle ls.?
*TT 806 to be avoided, as venom [Q3 venom'd] toads, or lizards' fainting ls.
*TT 1172 her ls. are all replete with majesty
*TT 1223 and witch sweet ladies with my words and ls.
*TT 1697 thy ls. are all replete with majesty
*3H6 219 here comes the queen, whose ls. bewray her anger
*3H6 647 but what art thou, whose heavy ls. foretell some *3H6 823 to whom do lions cast their gentle ls.?
*3H6 1231 and smooth the frowns of war, with peaceful ls.
*3H6 1512 her ls. doth argue her replete with modesty
*3H6 1584 and witch sweet ladies with my words and ls.
*3H6 2302 his ls. are full of peaceful majesty
*E3 348 why did he then thus counterfeit her ls.?
*E3 377 there is no summer, but in her chèerful ls.
*E3 2024 what fearful words are those thy ls. presage?
*E3 2258 shall find displeasure written in our ls.
*E3 2381 our hearts were dead, our ls. diffus'd and wan
*Sel 25 l. how the earth clad in her Summer's pride
*Sel 149 if I l. not closely to myself
*Sel 670 and unless thou l. unto thyself, this sword
*Sel 2395 but l. for stronger resistance at our hands
*Loc 586 l. you be at the common-house to-morrow
*Loc 801 but I smell a fox: l. where my master lies
*Loc 1663 then, losel Locrine, l. unto thyself
*Loc 1746 but cursed Locrine, l. unto thyself 1T 318 or l. you I should play the orator?
1T 320 l. for orations when the foe is near 1T 330 and l. we friendly on them when they come 1T 1026 when you l. for amorous discourse, will 1T 1104 my soldiers l. as if they meant to conquer Africa?
1T 1467 then, as I l. down to the damnèd fiends
1T 1468 fiends, l. on me!
1T 1509 Zenocrate, l. better to your slave
1T 1510 she shall l. that these abuses flow not 2T 265 plac'd by her side, l. on their mother's face
2T 783 the houses, burnt, will l. as if they mourn'd 2T 984 now l. I like a soldier, and this wound as 2T 1241 poor souls, they l. as if their deaths were near 2T 1337 l. to him, Theridamas, when we are fighting
2T 1570 stain'd thy cheeks, and made thee l. like death
2T 1635 which when you stab, l. on your weapon's point 2T 2149 and, when I l. away, comes stealing on!
2T 2153 l., where he goes! but, see, he comes again
2T 2224 l. here, my boys; see, what a world of ground lies
1F 751 and Faustus vows never to l. to heaven
1F 922 How now! who's that which spake? — Friars, l. about 1F 929 snatched the meat from me? will no man l.?
1F 994 and she has sent me to l. out
1F 1055 l. to the goblet, Ralph
1F 1059 l. to the goblet, Ralph
1F 1476 l., comes he not? comes he not?
1F 1485 l. up to heaven; remember God's mercies are infinite 1F 1601 my God, my God, l. not so fierce on me!
2F 674 and Faustus vows never to l. to heaven
2F 724 and l. to it, for some of you shall be my father 2F 764 what, Dick! l. to the horses there 2F 1096 Who is that spoke? — Friars, l. about 2F 1112 My wine gone too! — Ye lubbers, l. about 2F 1145 we were best l. that your devil can answer
2F 1161 we l. not like cup-stealers, I can tell you 2F 1205 let the maids l. well to their porridge-pots, for 2F 1345 l. up, Benvolio; 'tis the Emperor calls 2F 1379 hereafter, sir [1624, omits] l. you speak well of scholars 2F 1606 l. up into the hall, there, ho!
2F 1788 now I am awake: l. you here, sir 2F 1954 l., sirs, comes he not? comes he not?
2F 1967 yet, Faustus, l. up to heaven, and remember 2F 2130 O, mercy, heaven! l. not so fierce on me!
*FB 14 nor on Gods word would ever after l.
JM 178 assure yourselves I'll l. — unto myself
JM 1152 l. not towards him, let's away
JM 1176 l., Katharine, l.! thy son gave mine these wounds
JM 1435 and now, you men of Malta, l. about
JM 1516 l., l., master; here come two religious caterpillars
JM 1676 he's slain; l. how his brains drop out on's nose
JM 1757 I am not worthy to l. upon her
E2 131 or l. to see the throne, where you should sit, to float in blood E2 435 and therefore give me leave to l. my fill
E2 483 l., where the sister of the king of France sits wringing
E2 806 l., Lancaster, how passionate he is E2 852 that shall we see: l., where his lordship comes!
E2 895 l. to your own heads; his is sure enough
E2 896 l. to your own crown, if you back him thus E2 964 l. for rebellion, l. to be depos'd
E2 1002 l. next to see us with our ensigns spread
E2 1160 in vain I l. for love at Edward's hand
E2 1186 l. for no other fortune, wretch, than death!
E2 1505 l., Lancaster, yonder is Edward among his flatterers
E2 1735 in England, sooner than he can l. for them
E2 1830 madam, 'tis good to l. to him betimes
E2 1916 L. up, my lord. — Baldock, this drowsiness betides no good
E2 2097 rather than I'll l. on them, here, here! [Gives the crown]
E2 2237 next of blood, do l. to be protector o'er the prince
E2 2387 and when I frown, make all the court l. pale
E2 2444 what safety may I l. for at his hands, if MP 61 and made it l. with terror on the world
MP 299 but, l., my lord, there's some in the Admiral's house
MP 700 and fly my presence, if thou l. to live!
MP 1000 now do I but begin to l. about
MP 1004 villain, why dost thou l. so ghastly? speak
MP 1020 as pale as ashes! nay, then, it is time to l. about D 368 l., where she comes; Aeneas, view [Old ed. viewd] her well
D 416 l. up, and speak
D 655 l., sister, how Aeneas' little son plays
D 682 mother, l. here
D 689 I charge thee never l. on me
D 950 what, dar'st thou l. a lion in the face?
D 1037 if that your majesty can l. so low
D 1610 and l. upon him with a mermaid's eye
D 1660 l., sister, l.! lovely Aeneas' ships!
HLM 525 l. how their hands, so were their hearts united HLM 579 we often kiss it, often l. thereon
*HLC 1017 to l. of [V. R. on] one abash'd is impudence
*HLC 1077 she mus'd how she could l. upon her sire
*HLC 1804 if Merit l. not well, Love bids stand by *HLC 2311 forth did his beauty for his beauty l. 1 T*
Ov 737 why in thy glass dost l., being discontent? 1 TT*

Ov 1148 if on the marble theatre I l.
Ov 1154 if I l. well, thou think'st thou dost not move
Ov 1320 too late you l. back, when, with anchors weigh'd, the Ov 1926 l. gently, and rough husbands' laws despise
*LD 3 methinks you should presently l. wild now
L 418 philosophers, l. you; for unto me, thou cause
L 496 l. how, when stormy Auster from the breach of Libyan Syrtes rolls a L 605 l., what the lightning blasted, Arruns takes L 627 one half did l. dead and discolour'd
*1H6 141 durst not presume to l. once in the face
*1H6 190 or piteous they will l., like drowned mice
*1H6 296 meantime l. gracious on thy prostrate thrall
*1H6 480 let us l. in, the sight will much delight thee
*1H6 501 one eye thou hast to l. to heaven for grace
*1H6 507 speak unto Talbot, nay, l. up to him
*1H6 664 did l. no better to that weighty charge
*1H6 894 for pale they l. with fear, as witnessing the truth
*1H6 935 l. to it well, and say you are well warn'd
*1H6 1225 why l. you still so stern, and tragical?
*1H6 1483 l. on thy country, l. on fertile France
*Con 138 come sons away and l. unto the main
*Con 259 let us see them first, l. on them my Lord of Suffolk
*Con 769 before we fight, l. you, I will tell you my mind
*Con 800 see how the giddy people l. at thee
*Con 981 Duke Humphrey then would l. to be our king
*Con 1091 I am no loathsome leper [Q1 leoper; Q2 Q3 leaper] l. on me
*Con 1285 l., l., comb down his hair
*Con 1464 for l. you, Roger Mortimer the Earl of March married
*Con 1474 nay l. you, I know 'twas [Q3 was] true
*Con 1724 l. on me well, I have eat no meat this five days
*Con 1729 l. on me, my limbs are equal unto thine
*2H6 154 l. to it lords, let not his smoothing words bewitch
*2H6 509 against her will, good king? l. to 't in time, she'll *2H6 882 and l. thyself be faultless, thou wert best
*2H6 895 to l. into this business thoroughly
*2H6 1116 l. how they gaze, see how the giddy multitude do point *2H6 1134 trowest thou, that ere I'll l. upon the world, or *2H6 1432 l. after him, and cannot do him good
*2H6 1654 l. not upon me, for thine eyes are wounding
*2H6 1665 l. pale as primrose with blood-drinking sighs
*2H6 1678 I am no loathsome leper, l. on me
*2H6 1777 l. on the sheets, his hair (you see) is sticking
*2H6 2033 I'll give a thousand pound to l. upon him
*2H6 2035 comb down his hair; l., l., it stands upright
*2H6 2040 l. with a gentle eye upon this wretch
*2H6 2082 l. on my George, I am a gentleman
*2H6 2405 but who can cease to weep, and l. on this *2H6 2783 l. on me well, I have eat no meat these five days
*2H6 2971 l. in a glass, and call thy image so *2H6 3154 but noble as he is, l. where he comes
*TT 45 l. lordings where the sturdy rebel sits
*TT 288 Oh tutor, l. where bloody Clifford comes *TT 400 l. York? I dipp'd this napkin in the blood, that *TT 709 l. on the boy and let his manly face, which *TT 903 Oh gracious God of heaven l. down on us
*TT 1054 yet l. to have them busy to offend thine ears
*TT 1214 to hinder me from the golden time I l. for *TT 1465 and if they l. for favour at my hands
*TT 1577 I l. my brother with a slender train, should come
*TT 1706 'tis best to l. to this betimes, for *TT 1971 l. in his youth to have him so cut off
*3H6 50 my lords, l. where the sturdy rebel sits
*3H6 363 ah tutor, l. where bloody Clifford comes *3H6 498 l. York, I stain'd this napkin with the blood *3H6 851 l. on the boy, and let his manly face, which *3H6 1017 and l. upon, as if the tragedy were play'd in jest
*3H6 1297 yet l. to have them buzz to offend thine ears
*3H6 1395 l., as I blow this feather from my face, and *3H6 1561 to cross me from the golden time I l. for *3H6 1708 l. therefore Lewis, that by this league
*3H6 2573 l. here, I throw my infamy at thee
*3H6 2828 l. in his youth to have him so cut off
*E3 341 lo, when she blush'd, even then did he l. pale
*E3 816 Warwick, Artois, and all, l. underneath the brows
*E3 832 Derby, I'll l. upon the countess' mind anon
*E3 1112 so, lords, be gone, and l. unto your charge
*E3 1125 to l. our foes more sternly in the face
*E3 1223 must l. in time to l. for them and us
*E3 1370 l. not for cross invectives at our hands
*E3 2013 with open mouths and staring eyes l. on each other
*E3 2120 l. back upon the humble vale beneath
*E3 2289 but, for yourselves, l. you for no remorse
*Sel 1634 ah Bajazet! Aga ls. not for revenge 1T 1022 how can you fancy one that ls. so fierce 1T 1029 as ls. the sun through Nilus' flowing stream
1T 1031 so ls. my lordly love, fair Tamburlaine
1T 2247 Jove, viewing me in arms, ls. pale and wan
1T 2307 so ls. my love, shadowing in her brows triumphs
2T 1296 see, father, how Almeda the jailor ls. upon us!
1F 1102 i' faith he ls. much like a conjuror
2F 1284 he ls. as like a [1616, omits] conjurer as the Pope to a
JM 772 the slave ls. like a hog's cheek new-singed
JM 1875 and ls. like one employ'd in catzery and cross-biting
D 1252 now ls. Aeneas like immortal Jove
Ov 2091 and ls. upon the fruits [ed. C, fruite] he cannot touch
*Epg 237 he slyly ls. [B, C, spies; MS, notes] who first his cap doth move
*1H6 1486 as ls. the mother on her lowly babe, when death
*1H6 1901 and in advantage lingering ls. for rescue
*TT 298 so ls. the pent-up lion on the lamb
*TT 415 ay, now ls. he like a king?
*3H6 378 so ls. the pent-up lion o'er the wretch, that *3H6 515 ay marry sir, now ls. he like a king
*3H6 1541 the widow likes it not, for she ls. very sad
E2 1549 for which thy head shall over*l.* the rest
*TT 499 so York may over*l.* the town of York
*3H6 602 so York may over*l.* the town of York

Looked.

2T 279 that never l. on man but Tamburlaine
2T 663 lamps that gently l. upon this [4to the] loathsome earth
JM 358 'tis necessary that be l. unto
JM 1441 and naught is to be l. for now but wars
JM 1713 at the reading of the letter, he l. like a man of another world
JM 1830 I took him by the beard [Old ed. sterd], and l. upon him thus JM 2170 no, Barabas, this must be l. into E2 2520 tell Isabel the queen, I l. not thus, when HLM 379 she strooken [V. R. stroken], l. so dolefully, as made Love sigh

HLM 503 yet, as she went, full often l. behind
HLM 520 and oft l. out, and mus'd he did not come
*HLC 970 one way l. ill, another graciously
*HLC 1019 she l. out, and all the air she purpled
*HLC 1415 shut them, and inwards for Leander l.
*HLC 1758 so Hymen l., that even the chastest mind he *HLC 1800 poor Hymen l. so ill, that as in merit he increased
*HLC 1958 she l. in her command, as if
*HLC 2135 made them all shriek, it l. so ghastly black Ov 1063 she l. sad ; sad, comely I esteem'd her
Ov 1905 Penelope, though no watch l. unto her, was not defil'd
L 576 by Juno's task he had before l. Pluto in the face
*TT 589 he [Q2 Who] l. full gently on his warlike queen
*TT 1215 for I am not yet l. on in the world
*TT 1217 and all they l. [Q2 Q3 looke] for issue of their loins
*TT 2101 for yet I am not l. on in the world
*3H6 1565 and all the un*l.* for issue of their bodies
*3H6 2503 who should that be ? belike un*l.* for friends
*3H6 2968 for yet I am not l. on the world
*E3 353 if she l. pale, 'twas silly woman's fear
*E3 355 if he l. pale, it was with guilty fear
*E3 2018 l. through his golden coach upon the world
*E3 2413 is this the comfort that I l. to have when Looker-on.

*TT 524 Oh one that was a woeful l. whenas the *3H6 649 ah, one that was a woeful l., when Lookest.

1F 742 O, who art thou that l. so terrible ?
2F 664 O, what art thou that l. so terribly ?
D 1522 why l. thou toward the sea ?
Ov 1776 the more thou l., the more the gown envi'd
*1H6 39 protector, and l. to command the prince and realm
*2H6 1627 how now ? why l. thou pale ? why tremblest thou ?
*TT 523 but what art thou ? that l. so heavily ?
*E3 2213 and l. so merrily upon thy grave as if Looketh.

1T 243 so in his armour l. Tamburlaine

Looking.

JM 1153 zoons, what a l. thou keepest ! thou'lt betray's anon
1T 1747 l. some happy power will pity and enlarge us 2F 905 l. down, the earth appear'd no bigger than my hand
JM 1007 l. out when you should come and JM 1727 conning his neck-verse, I take it, l. of a friar's execution
E2 760 or l. downwards, with your eye-lids close D 427 who, l. on the scars we Trojans gave D 488 and, l. from a turret might behold young infants
HLM 44 and, l. in her face, was strooken blind
HLM 669 and, l. on his face, beat down the bold waves
HLM 674 and, l. back, saw Neptune follow him
*HLC 972 but l. off, vicious and melancholy
Ov 1380 she l. on them did more courage give L 475 that he's much chang'd, l. wild and big
L 480 that Rome, he l. on, by these men should be sack'd
*2H6 1428 l. the way her harmless young one went *3H6 1104 to shepherds, l. on their silly sheep
*E3 738 will lose their eyesight, l. in the sun
*E3 887 who l. wistly on me make me blush

Looking-glass.

D 721 his glistering eyes shall be my l.

Loose.

JM 2320 leave nothing l., all levell'd to my mind
D 1001 why, that was in a net, where we are l.
*HLC 997 but l. and secret all their glories hide
*HLC 1085 till he find oppos'd a l. and rorid vapour
Ov 199 then came Corinna in a long l. gown
Ov 686 then thinkest thou thy l. life is not shown ?
Ov 974 here I display my lewd and l. behaviour
Ov 1031 that seeks the conquest by her l. behaviour
Ov 1451 she dies, and with l. hairs to grave is sent Ov 1536 their reins let l., right soon my house approach
Ov 1728 and slipp'd from bed, cloth'd in a l. night-gown
Ov 1898 and on his l. mane the l. bridle lay'd
Ov 2120 with that, her l. gown on, from me she cast her
*E3 891 away, l. silks of wavering vanity !
2F 991 to bind or l., lock fast, condemn or judge
*2H6 2917 then York un*l.* thy long-imprison'd thoughts

Loosed.

*2H6 1692 gusts, and he that l. them forth their brazen caves
D 454 kiss'd him, embrac'd, and un*l.* his bands

Loosely.

*HLC 1205 we break chaste vows when we live l. ever
*HLC 1206 but bound as we are, we live l. never Ov 1773 but on the ground thy clothes too l. lie

Looseness.

E2 1600 cheer the wrongèd queen, and certify what Edward's l. is E2 1763 whose l. hath betray'd thy land to spoil

Looser.

Ov 840 you are unapt my l. lines to hear

Loose-tressed.

Ov 516 amaz'd, on Priam's l. daughter when he gaz'd

Loosing.

D 1177 to stay my fleet from l. forth the bay

Lop.

*1H6 2234 I'll l. a member off, and give it you
*TT 894 shall l. thy limbs, and slice thy cursed heart

Lopped.

*2H6 1030 his lady banish'd, and a limb l. off
*3H6 1247 not contented that he l. the branch in hewing Rutland
*E3 2216 and l. a true friend from my loving son ?

Lopus.

1F 1252 Mass, Doctor L. was never such a doctor

Lord.

*Sel 1949 good L., sir, you are deceived, my name is
*Sel 1955 my name, sir ? oh L., yes
*Sel 1968 O L. help me, I shall be torn in pieces
*Loc 779 L. have mercy upon us, masters
1F 231 and so, the L. bless you, preserve you, and 1F 448 O L. ! I pray, sir, let Banio and Belcher go sleep 1F 1291 O L., sir, let me go, and I'll give you forty dollars more 2F 218 and so, the L. bless you, preserve you, and 2F 1757 good L., that flesh and blood should be so frail
MP 626 O L., mine ear !
MP 1115 Shed your blood ! O L., no !
*1H6 31 the battles of the L. of Hosts he fought
*1H6 328 answer you so the L.-Protector ? — The L. protect him
*1H6 488 O L. have mercy on us, wretched sinners
*1H6 489 O L. have mercy on me, woeful man
*1H6 1689 good L., what madness rules in brain-sick men
*Con 522 go fetch him hither, that we may glorify the L. with him
*Con 727 the L. shall be my guide both for my land and me

*Con 760 O L. bless me, I pray God, for I am never able to deal with my master
*Con 1710 good L. how pleasant is this country life
*2H6 19 O L., that lends me life, lend me a heart replete with *2H6 371 marry the L. protect him, for he's a good man
*2H6 581 O L. have mercy upon me, I shall never be able to *2H6 582 I shall never be able to fight a blow : O L. my heart
*2H6 752 that we for thee may glorify the L.
*2H6 766 but still remember what the L. hath done
*2H6 1064 O L. bless me, I pray God, for I am never able to deal with my master
*2H6 2762 L., who would live turmoil'd in the court
*E3 1924 to urge the plea of mercy to a man, the L. forbid !
*E3 2137 O, for more arrows ! L. ! that's our want
*Con 472 how wonderful the L.'s works are on earth MP 220 methinks my L. Anjou hath well advis'd
MP 419 my L. of Anjou, there are a hundred Protestants
E2 1201 how now, my L. of Arundel !
E2 1253 that you, my L. of Arundel, will join with me
E2 1398 what, L. Arundel, dost thou come alone ?
E2 1704 my L. of Arundel, you have the note
D 1373 my L. Ascanius, you must go with me
*3H6 1737 the L. Aubrey Vere was done to death ?
*E3 51 a messenger ? — L. Audley, know from whence
*E3 1287 and with him comes L. Audley and the rest
*E3 1515 L. Audley, whiles our son is in the chase, withdraw
E2 2181 the L. of Berkeley is so pitiful
E2 2194 write a letter presently unto the L. of Berkeley
*TT 1447 to have the daughter of the L. Bonfield
*3H6 1968 bestow'd the heir of the L. Bonville on your new wife's son
*TT 1396 and you L. Bourbon our High-Admiral, shall *3H6 1894 and thou L. Bourbon, our High-Admiral shall E2 1361 because we hear L. Bruce doth sell his land
*Con 1019 my L. of Buckingham, let it be your charge to *Con 1027 adieu my L. of Buckingham
*3H6 247 Warwick is chancellor, and the L. of Calais
E2 240 here comes my L. of Canterbury's grace
*TT 7 L. Stafford and L. Clifford all abreast brake in *TT 569 is by the stern L. Clifford, done to death
*3H6 7 L. Clifford and L. Stafford all a-breast charg'd
*3H6 55 he slew thy father, and thine, L. Clifford
*3H6 707 is by the stern L. Clifford done to death
*TT 255 Edward, thou [Q2 Q3 thou] shalt to Edmund Brooke L. Cobham
*3H6 323 you Edward shall unto my L. Cobham
E2 224 « My L. of Cornwall » now at every word
E2 582 such a one as my L. of Cornwall is E2 797 my L. of Cornwall is a-coming over
E2 175 whither goes my L. of Coventry so fast ?
*1H6 2106 L. Cromwell of Wingfield, L. Furnival of Sheffield
*E3 804 what news, my L. of Derby, from the emperor ?
E2 1651 L. Edmund, and L. Mortimer alive !
E2 1731 With them are gone L. Edmund and the L. Mortimer
*1H6 2107 the thrice-victorious L. of Falconbridge
*TT 604 L. George your brother, Norfolk, and myself
*3H6 741 L. George, your brother, Norfolk, and myself
*3H6 1958 for this one speech, L. Hasting well deserves to have E2 1701 my L. of Glocester, do you hear the news ?
E2 1723 to you, my L. of Glocester, from Levune
*Con 1072 where's our uncle ? — Dead in his bed, my L. Gloster is dead
*2H6 135 my L. of Gloster, now ye grow too hot
*2H6 1210 I muse my L. of Gloster is not come *2H6 1352 my L. of Gloster, 'tis my special hope, that MP 521 the late night's-work which my L. of Guise did make MP 758 farewell to my L. of Guise, and Epernoun
MP 833 my L. of Guise, we understand that you
MP 1005 O pardon me, my L. of Guise !
*TT 1442 for this one speech the L. Hastings well deserves to have *TT 1575 L. Hastings, and Sir William Stanley, know that *3H6 1958 for this one speech, L. Hastings well deserves to have *3H6 2104 'tis the L. Hastings, the king's chiefest friend
*3H6 2198 now my L. Hastings, and Sir William Stanley
*3H6 2215 now brother of Gloster, L. Hastings, and the rest
*3H6 2313 convey'd by Richard, Duke of Gloster, and the L. Hastings
*3H6 2334 now brother Richard, L. Hastings, and the rest, yet
*1H6 147 prisoner, and L. Scales with him, and L. Hungerford
*TT 1443 deserves, to have the daughter and heir of the L. Hungerford *3H6 1959 deserves to have the heir of the L. Hungerford
E2 2408 by the grace of God King of England and L. of Ireland !
*TT 1669 by the grace of God, King of England and France, and L. of Ireland
*3H6 2409 King of England and France, and L. of Ireland
MP 759 health and hearty farewell to my L. Joyeux
E2 1825 my L. of Kent, what needs these questions ?
E2 2228 how fares my honourable L. of Kent ?
E2 545 my L. of Lancaster, mark the respect
E2 560 mark you but that, my L. of Lancaster
E2 824 and what is yours, my L. of Lancaster ?
E2 1262 my L. of Lancaster, what say you in this ?
JM 789 L. Lodowick, it sparkles bright and fair 1F 919 my L. of Lorraine, will't please you draw near ?
MP 519 my L. of Lorraine, have you mark'd of late
*E3 187 my L. of Lorraine, to our brother of France commend us
E2 156 Earl of Cornwall, King and L. of Man
E2 221 and Secretary too, and L. of Man
E2 656 and as for you, L. Mortimer of Chirke, whose E2 670 L. Mortimer, we leave you to your charge
E2 1246 my L. Mortimer, and you, my ls., each one
E2 1264 and you, L. Mortimer ?
E2 1651 L. Edmund and L. Mortimer alive !
E2 1659 no, my L. Mortimer, not I, I trow
E2 1732 With them are gone L. Edmund and L. Mortimer
E2 2330 the court is where L. Mortimer remains
E2 2415 L. Mortimer, now take him to your charge
*2H6 2431 Jack Cade proclaims himself L. Mortimer
*2H6 2483 treason for any, that calls me other than L. Mortimer
*2H6 2521 by these presence [presents], even the presence of L. Mortimer
*E3 2068 my L. of Normandy, I have your pass and warrant
*TT 4 whereat the great L. of Northumberland, whose *TT 491 what weeping-ripe, my L. Northumberland ?
*3H6 4 whereat the great L. of Northumberland, whose *3H6 594 what, weeping-ripe, my L. Northumberland?

*3H6 2327 therefore, L. Oxford, to prevent the worst, forthwith
E2 925 meantime my L. of Pembroke and myself will to Newcastle
E2 1272 my L. of Pembroke, we deliver him you
E2 1279 'tis very kindly spoke, my L. of Pembroke
E2 1294 my L. of Pembroke's men, strive you no longer
E2 110 L. Percy of the North, being highly mov'd
*E3 1709 L. Percy! welcome: what's the news in England?
*1H6 446 a prisoner, call'd the brave L. de Santrailles 2F 946 We go, my l. — L. Raymond
2F 1035 and with L. Raymond, King of Hungary, drink
2F 1066 L. Raymond, take your seat
2F 1097 L. Raymond, pray, fall to 2F 1109 L. Raymond, I drink unto your grace
*Con 1278 Oh see my L. of Salisbury how he is troubled
*2H6 668 invite my Ls. of Salisbury and Warwick to sup with me
*2H6 899 now my good Ls. of Salisbury and Warwick, our *2H6 1874 an answer from the king, my L. of Salisbury
*E3 1631 my L. of Salisbury, since by your aid mine enemy
*E3 2352 welcome, L. Salisbury: what news from Britain?
*Con 1529 come on L. Say, go thou along with us
*Con 1584 my l., a prize, a prize, here's the L. Say
*Con 1685 that the L. Say is done to death, and *2H6 2358 that that L. Say hath gelded the commonwealth
*2H6 2420 L. Say, Jack Cade hath sworn to have thy head
*2H6 2446 L. Say, the traitors hateth thee
*2H6 2512 my l., a prize, a prize, here's the L. Say
*Con 1482 and tell him, we'll have the L. Say's head
*2H6 2354 and furthermore, we'll have the L. Say's head
*1H6 147 is took prisoner, and L. Scales with him
*TT 1445 the L. Scales did well deserve at your hands, to have *3H6 1963 to give the heir and daughter of L. Scales unto *1H6 1743 and good my L. of Somerset, unite your troops
*Con 403 then be it so my L. of Somerset
*Con 891 welcome L. Somerset, what news from France?
*Con 895 cold news indeed L. Somerset, but God's will be done
*Con 1000 'twere very [Q3 omits] good that my L. of Somerset that *2H6 533 my L. of Somerset will keep me here
*2H6 1292 welcome L. Somerset: what news from France?
*TT 16 what is your grace dead my L. of Somerset?
*TT 1688 my L. of Somerset, what pretty boy is that you
*3H6 18 but is your grace dead, my L. of Somerset?
*3H6 2147 my L. of Somerset, at my request, see that *3H6 2296 my L. of Somerset, what youth is that, of whom
*TT 7 L. Stafford and L. Clifford all abreast brake in *TT 9 L. Stafford's father Duke of Buckingham is either slain or *3H6 10 L. Stafford's father, Duke of Buckingham, is *1H6 2105 L. Strange of Blackmere, L. Verdun of Alton
*1H6 2675 through force of your report, my noble L. of Suffolk
*Con 259 look on them my L. of Suffolk
*Con 290 my L. of Suffolk, you may see by this, the *Con 881 my L. of Suffolk, Buckingham, and York, disprove my allegations
*Con 1064 my L. of Suffolk go call our uncle Gloster
*Con 1075 what doth my L. of Suffolk bid me comfort?
*Con 1084 why do you rate my L. of Suffolk thus *2H6 407 my L. of Suffolk, say, is this the guise? is this *2H6 1248 my L. of Suffolk, Buckingham, and York, reprove
*2H6 1460 but you my L.-Cardinal, and you my L. of Suffolk, say
*2H6 1487 but I would have him dead, my L. of Suffolk
*2H6 1542 L. Suffolk, you and I must talk of that event
*2H6 1543 my L. of Suffolk, within fourteen days at *2H6 1600 run to my L. of Suffolk: let him know we *2H6 1642 what, doth my L. of Suffolk comfort me?
*2H6 1659 why do you rate my L. of Suffolk thus?
*2H6 1848 unless L. Suffolk straight be done to death
*1H6 107 fight, betwixt the stout L. Talbot, and the French
*1H6 109 O, no: wherein L. Talbot was o'erthrown
*1H6 706 'tis thought L. Talbot, when the fight began, rous'd
*1H6 756 by message crav'd, so is L. Talbot come
*1H6 774 stay my L. Talbot, for my lady craves
*1H6 1392 L. Talbot, do not dishonour me
*1H6 1409 what? will you fly, and leave L. Talbot?
*1H6 1432 what wills L. Talbot, pleaseth Burgundy
*1H6 1545 is this the L. Talbot, uncle Gloster, that *1H6 1646 why then L. Talbot there shall talk with him
*1H6 1895 whither my l., from bought and sold L. Talbot
*1H6 2101 valiant L. Talbot Earl of Shrewsbury?
*1H6 2104 L. Talbot of Goodrig and Urchinfield 1T 740 and now, L. Tamburlaine, my brother's camp I leave
E2 1371 L. Valois our brother, King of France
E2 363 and you, L. Warwick, President of the North E2 1217 why, my L. of Warwick, will E2 1265 how say you, my L. of Warwick?
*1H6 841 judge you, my L. of Warwick, then between us
*1H6 1252 well urg'd, my L. of Warwick
*Con 1112 what instance gives L. Warwick for these words?
*2H6 1762 what instance gives L. Warwick for his vow
*2H6 2985 if you oppose yourself to match L. Warwick
*2H6 3167 what says L. Warwick, shall we after them?
*TT 184 not for myself L. Warwick, but my son
*TT 624 I know it well L. Warwick blame me not
*TT 656 L. Warwick, on thy shoulder will I lean
*TT 872 L. Warwick, I do bend my knees with thine
*3H6 177 my L. of Warwick, hear but one word
*3H6 200 not for myself L. Warwick, but my son *3H6 700 great L. of Warwick, if we should recompt our *3H6 760 I know it well L. Warwick, blame me not *3H6 792 L. Warwick, on thy shoulder will I lean
*Con 1139 say if thou dare, proud L. of Warwickshire, that I am guilty
*2H6 1804 say, if thou dar'st, proud L. of Warwickshire, that *3H6 91 and that the L. of Westmoreland shall maintain E2 1555 away with them, my L. of Winchester!
*1H6 1207 can you, my L. of Winchester, behold my sighs
*1H6 1222 behold my L. of Winchester, the duke hath *1H6 1232 for shame my L. of Winchester relent
*1H6 2164 what, is my L. of Winchester install'd, and *1H6 2175 which by my L. of Winchester we mean shall *Con 959 my L. of Winchester, see him sent away
*2H6 137 my L. of Winchester I know your mind
*1H6 1562 in honour of my noble L. of York
*1H6 1687 your private grudge my L. of York, will out
*1H6 1753 my L. of York, I promise you the king prettily
*Con 52 Uncle of Winchester [Q3 My L. of Yorke], I pray you [Q3 do you] read on *2H6 665 your grace shall give me leave, my L. of York, to *2H6 1525 my L. of York, try what your fortune is *2H6 1537 a charge, L. York, that I will see perform'd

*2H6 1546 I'll see it truly done, my L. of York
*2H6 558 as we were scouring my L. of York's armour
*Sel 138 since you are l. of subjects, prince and peer
*Sel 387 Occhiali ? — My l.
*Sel 397 if I speed. — What then, my l. ?
*Sel 404 my gracious l., give Sinam leave to speak
*Sel 421 Oh, yet, my l., after your highness' death
*Sel 478 he craves, my l., another seignory
*Sel 522 make haste, my l., from Adrianople's walls
*Sel 799 first, let my l. be seated in his throne
*Sel 964 my gracious l., here's an embassador
*Sel 1032 most gracious l., myself will speak for all
*Sel 1142 nay, good my l., never shall it be said that
*Sel 1328 and wound to death so valiant a l. ?
*Sel 1352 my gracious l., here is a messenger
*Sel 1381 O see, my l., how fell ambition deceives
*Sel 1640 ah gracious l. ! the captains of the host
*Sel 1687 shall poison Bajazet and that blind l.
*Sel 1727 my l., I am resolv'd to do the deed
*Sel 1994 to take my l., prince Corcut, prisoner
*Sel 2099 herein, my l., I like his enterprise
*Sel 2114 my gracious l., we here present to you your brother
*Sel 2249 'tis true, my l., and if you love your lives
*Sel 2263 certain, my l. ; I met the messenger
*Loc 52 alas ! my l., we sorrow at your case
*Loc 62 then, worthy l., since there's no way but one
*Loc 91 most noble l., if aught your loyal peers
*Loc 219 Camber. — My l.
*Loc 376 right noble l., your subjects every one must
*Loc 433 the plains, my l., garnish'd with Flora's wealth
*Loc 463 my l., the youngest of all Brutus' sons
*Loc 1012 to arms, my l., to honourable arms
*Loc 1018 why this, my l., experience teacheth us
*Loc 1020 and this, my l., our honour teacheth us
*Loc 1023 be resolute, my l., for victory
*Loc 1103 my l., within yon foul accursed grove
*Loc 1106 march on, my l., because I long to see the *Loc 1331 my l., in ransacking the Scythian tents, I
*Loc 1335 he lies, my l. ; I found the lady first
*Loc 1666 alas, my l., you should have call'd to mind the *Loc 1763 So close unto our mansion ? — They are, my l.
*Loc 1767 alas, my l., the horse will run amain, when 1T 25 not for so small a fault, my sovereign l.
1T 49 full true thou speak'st, and like thyself, my l.
1T 70 doubt not, my l. and gracious sovereign
1T 81 then now, my l., I humbly take my leave 1T 107 how now, my l. ! what, mated and amaz'd to 1T 134 behold, my l., Ortygius and the rest
1T 163 great l. of Media and Armenia
1T 167 chief l. of all the wide Euxine Sea
1T 179 we knew [4to knowe], my l., before we brought the crown 1T 187 I know it well, my l., and thank you all 1T 222 is your grace betroth'd ? — I am, my l.
1T 223 I am a l., for so my deeds shall prove 1T 267 where her betrothèd l., Alcidamas, expects 1T 570 so poets say, my l.
1T 574 go on, my l., and give your charge, I say 1T 598 and so mistake you not a whit, my l.
1T 617 you see, my l., what working words he hath 1T 622 and those his two renowmed [4to renowned] friends, my l.
1T 641 my l., we have discoverèd the enemy
1T 748 farewell, l., regent and his happy friends
1T 757 O, my l., it is sweet and full of pomp !
1T 770 I, if I could, with all my heart, my l.
1T 773 what then, my l. ?
1T 937 tell him thy l., the Turkish emperor
1T 938 dread l. of Afric, Europe, and Asia
1T 1090 the man hath hit the meaning of my l. the king !
1T 1096 basso, by this thy l. and master knows
1T 1108 my l., the great commander of the world
1T 1122 but will those kings accompany your l. ?
1T 1157 attend upon the person of your l.
1T 1162 he calls me Bajazeth, whom you call l. !
1T 1297 and Tamburlaine is l. of Africa
1T 1304 my royal l. is slain or conquerèd
1T 1313 now let me offer to my gracious l. his royal crown
1T 1318 thou shalt not yet be l. of Africa 1T 1340 and write myself great l. of Africa 1T 1389 mighty l., three hundred thousand men in armour clad 1T 1507 you must devise some torment worse, my l.
1T 1578 my l., it is the bloody Tamburlaine 1T 1596 but, noble l. of great Arabia, be 1T 1663 my l., how can you suffer these outrageous curses 1T 1683 he stamps it under his feet, my l.
1T 1705 yes, my l.
1T 1712 my l., to see my father's town besieg'd, the 1T 1715 if any love remain in you, my l.
1T 1733 yet give me leave to plead for him, my l.
1T 1754 so it would, my l.
1T 1758 ay, my l.
1T 1852 leave us, my l., and loving countrymen 1T 1875 pity the marriage-bed, where many a l., in 1T 1901 nothing but fear and fatal steel, my l.
1T 1922 shown the virgins Death ? — They have, my l.
1T 1985 Hath Bajazeth been fed to-day ? — Ay, my l.
1T 1988 the town is ours, my l.
1T 1995 we know the victory is ours, my l.
1T 2099 the brains of Bajazeth, my l. and sovereign !
1T 2100 O Bajazeth, my husband and my l. !
1T 2177 ready for battle 'gainst my l. the king
1T 2207 too dear a witness for such love, my l. !
1T 2240 'twas I, my l., that gat the victory
1T 2263 and see, my l., a sight of strange import 1T 2295 else [8vo Then] should I much forget myself, my l.
1T 2300 and here's the crown, my l.
2T 3 and sacred l., the mighty Callapine
2T 19 'gainst him, my l., you must address your power
2T 171 my l., I pity it, and with my heart wish
2T 173 my sovereign l., renowmed Tamburlaine
2T 227 tell me, my l., if I should let you go
2T 243 when you will, my l. : I am ready 2T 280 my gracious l., they have their mother's looks 2T 306 why may not I, my l., as well as he, be 2T 310 while my brothers follow arms, my l., let me
2T 330 my l., such speeches to our princely sons dismay
2T 358 my l., the great and mighty Tamburlaine 2T 368 meet for your service on the sea, my l.
2T 419 my l., our men of Barbary have march'd 2T 429 and therefore let them rest a while, my l.
2T 492 now, then, my l., advantage take thereof [4to heereof]
2T 503 no whit, my l. ; for with such infidels
2T 596 to arms, my ls. [4to l.] ! on Christ still let us cry 2T 628 'tis but the fortune of the wars, my l.
2T 638 I will, my l.
2T 683 my l., your majesty shall soon perceive
2T 686 I fare, my l., as other empresses

2T 701 live still, my l.; O, let my sovereign live!
2T 713 yet let me kiss my l. before I die
2T 714 and let me die with kissing of my l.
2T 721 some music, and my fit will cease, my l.
2T 763 ah, good my l., be patient! she is dead 2T 768 nothing prevails, for she is dead, my l.
2T 800 Bajazeth, my royal l. and father
2T 960 my l., but this is dangerous to be done 2T 1000 Give me a wound, father. — And me another, my l.
2T 1036 yes, my l., yes; come, let's about it
2T 1072 we will, my l.
2T 1090 come, good my l., and let us haste from hence 2T 1131 my l. deceas'd was dearer unto me than 2T 1240 my l., your presence makes them pale and wan
2T 1314 good my l., let me take it
2T 1336 ay, my l.; he was Callapine's keeper 2T 1414 Perdicas! — Here, my l.
2T 1417 content, my l.: but what shall we play for?
2T 1428 such a fear, my l., would never make ye retire
2T 1441 shall we let go these kings again, my l.
2T 1460 good my l., let him be forgiven for once [8vo one]
2T 1527 take him in. — We will, my l.
2T 1588 my l. and husband's death, with my sweet son's
2T 1599 ah, pity me, my l., and draw your sword 2T 1621 stay now, my l.; and, will you [4to good my l., if you will] 2T 1639 my purpose was, my l., to spend it so
2T 1645 now stab, my l., and mark your weapon's point 2T 1691 let me have coach [4to have a coach], my l.
2T 1733 here, my l.
2T 1747 O, pity us, my l., and save our honours!
2T 1752 it seems they meant to conquer us, my l.
2T 1759 let us not be idle, then, my l.
2T 1799 my l., the breach the enemy hath made
2T 1803 then hang out [Old eds. our] flags, my l., of humble truce 2T 1821 my l., if ever you did deed of ruth 2T 1835 my l., if ever you will win our hearts
2T 1932 see them despatch'd. — I will, my l.
2T 1943 they will talk still, my l., if you do not bridle them
2T 1946 see, now, my l., how brave the captain hangs!
2T 1948 shoot first, my l., and then the rest shall follow
2T 1966 with their wives and children, my l.?
2T 1974 here they are, my l.
2T 2000 I have fulfill'd your highness' will, my l.
2T 2011 ay, good my l., let us in [4to omits] haste to Persia
2T 2031 doubt not, my l., but we shall conquer him
2T 2050 fear not, my l.: I see great Mahomet
2T 2132 ah, good my l., leave these impatient words
2T 2142 sit still, my gracious l.; this grief will cease [4to case] 2T 2169 besides, my l., this day is critical
2T 2180 my l., young Callapine that lately fled
2T 2189 I joy, my l., your highness is so strong 2T 2240 alas, my l., how should our bleeding hearts
2T 2260 a woful change, my l., that daunts our thoughts
2T 2283 my l., you must obey his majesty
1F 104 l. and commander of these elements
1F 307 tell me what is that Lucifer thy l.?
1F 485 now tell me [added by Dyce] what says Lucifer, thy l.?
1F 511 chief l. and regent of perpetual night!
1F 925 my l., here is a dainty dish was sent me from 1F 929 my l., this dish was sent me from the 1F 936 my l., it may be some ghost, newly crept out of Purgatory
1F 933 my l., I'll drink to your grace 1F 940 once again, my l., fall to 1F 1134 my gracious l., I am ready to accomplish your request 1F 1164 here they are, my gracious l.
1F 1190 my gracious l., not so much for the injury
1F 1198 now, my good l., having done my duty, I 1F 1310 my gracious l., I am glad it contents you so well 1F 1347 and so I will, my l.
1F 1420 I arrest thy soul for disobedience to my sovereign l.
2F 101 l. and commander of these elements
2F 291 tell me what is that Lucifer thy l.?
2F 433 now tell me what saith Lucifer, thy l.?
2F 442 what good will my soul do thy l.?
2F 459 chief l. and regent of perpetual night!
2F 945 we go, my l.
2F 1001 behold, my l., the Cardinals are return'd
2F 1305 my l., I must forewarn your majesty
2F 1317 my gracious l., you do forget yourself
2F 1333 see, see, my gracious l.! what strange beast is yon 2F 1339 he sleeps, my l.; but dreams not of his horns
2F 1361 my l., so please your majesty, I'll raise a kennel 2F 1367 good my l., entreat for me
2F 1373 my gracious l., not so much for injury done to me
2F 1665 I do think myself, my good l., highly recompensed 2F 1741 my l., beseech you give me leave a while 2F 1802 my l., we are much beholding [1631, beholden] to this learned man 2F 1878 for disobedience to my sovereign l.
2F 1881 entreat thy l. to pardon my unjust presumption
JM 203 alas, my l., the sum is over-great!
JM 232 they were, my l.; and here they come
JM 239 then, good my l., to keep your quiet still, your JM 246 alas, my l., we are no soldiers!
JM 251 'tis thy money, Barabas, we seek. — How, my l.! my money!
JM 254 alas, my l., the most of us are poor!
JM 278 O, my l., we will give half!
JM 333 Now, officers, have you done? — Ay, my l.
JM 338 well, then, my l., say, are you satisfied?
JM 681 'tis true, my l.; therefore entreat him well
JM 703 my l., remember that, to Europe's shame, the JM 710 my l. and king hath title to this isle
JM 798 O, my l., we will not jar about the price
JM 812 ay, but my l., the harvest is far off
JM 843 at two hundred plates? — No more, my l.
JM 875 My l., farewell. — Come, sirrah; you are mine
JM 2053 Had we but proof of this — Strong proof, my l.
JM 2062 nay, stay, my l.; 't may be he will confess
JM 2065 guilty, my l., I confess
JM 2087 my l., the courtezan and her man are dead
JM 2090 dead, my l., and here they bring his body
JM 2107 Whom have we there? a spy? — Yes, my good l.
JM 2112 sold for tribute-money? — The very same, my l.
JM 2124 fear not, my l.; for here, against the trench [Old ed. Truce]
JM 2147 Use them at thy discretion. — Thanks, my l.
JM 2184 Within here! — My l.?
JM 2185 My l.? — Ay, l.; thus slaves will learn
JM 2302 feast with him. — I shall, my l.
JM 2325 taste of all my wines. — We shall, my l.
E2 45 and yet I have not view'd my l. the king

E2 72 here comes my l. the king [Old eds. My L., here comes the king]
E2 75 Lancaster ! — My l. ?
E2 80 if you love us, my l., hate Gaveston
E2 85 and know, my l., ere I will break my oath
E2 99 my l., why do you thus incense your peers
E2 130 adieu, my l. ; and either change your mind, or E2 139 I can no longer keep me from my l.
E2 157 my l., these titles far exceed my worth
E2 246 my l., will you take arms against the king ?
E2 256 for now my l. the king regards me not E2 271 for, rather than my l. shall be oppress'd with E2 281 but say, my l., where shall this meeting be ?
E2 299 quick, quick, my l. ; I long to write my name
E2 321 no, threaten not, my l., but pay them home
E2 327 my l., you may not thus disparage us
E2 338 why are you mov'd ? be patient, my l.
E2 353 then linger not, my l., but do it straight
E2 360 my l., you shall be Chancellor of the realm
E2 378 let the lown depart. — Urge him, my l.
E2 402 my l., I hear it whisper'd every where, that E2 432 for every look, my love [Old eds. l.] drops down a tear
E2 440 Whither goes my l. ? — Fawn not on me
E2 444 I say no more — judge you the rest, my l.
E2 456 villain, 'tis thou that robb'st me of my l.
E2 457 madam, 'tis you that rob me of my l.
E2 459 wherein, my l., have I deserv'd these words ?
E2 462 how dear my l. is to poor Isabel
E2 473 to see the king my l. thus to abandon me !
E2 499 this wills my l., and this must I perform
E2 512 and so am I, my l. : dissuade the queen
E2 547 yet, good my l., hear what he can allege
E2 551 why, then, my l., give me but leave to speak
E2 596 but see, in happy time, my l. the king
E2 617 my gracious l., I come to bring you news
E2 619 that Gaveston, my l., shall be repeal'd E2 628 no other jewels hang about my neck than these, my l.
E2 634 my gentle l., bespeak these nobles fair
E2 646 slay me, my l., when I offend your grace
E2 654 my l., I'll marshal so [1612, 1622, all] your enemies, as E2 669 it shall be done, my gracious l.
E2 677 such news we hear, my l.
E2 723 seeing that our l. the Earl of Glocester's dead
E2 727 a factious l. shall hardly do himself good
E2 767 mine old l., whiles he liv'd, was so precise
E2 784 this argues the entire love of my l.
E2 787 now to the letter of my l. the king
E2 808 My l., — How now ! what news ?
E2 816 a homely one, my l., not worth the telling
E2 825 my l., mine's more obscure than Mortimer's
E2 830 a fowl that seizeth it : this fish, my l., I bear
E2 862 sweet l. and king, your speech preventeth mine
E2 874 my l., I cannot brook these injuries
E2 916 Letters ! from whence ? — From Scotland, my l.
E2 940 You may not in, my l. — May we not ?
E2 944 nay, stay, my l. ; I come to bring you news
E2 953 my l., the family of the Mortimers are not so poor
E2 959 and so will I ; and then, my l., farewell
E2 1011 my l., I see your love to Gaveston will be E2 1028 my l., 'tis thought the earls are up in arms
E2 1032 my l., dissemble with her ; speak her fair
E2 1052 Knowest thou him, Gaveston ? — Ay, my l.
E2 1064 I know, my l., many will stomach me
E2 1100 I fear me he is slain, my gracious l.
E2 1105 O, stay, my l. ! they will not injure you
E2 1107 Farewell, my l. — Lady, farewell
E2 1125 these hands are tir'd with haling of my l. from Gaveston
E2 1150 no, Mortimer ; I'll to my l. the king
E2 1194 Hang him at a bough. — My l.
E2 1227 not so, my l., lest he bestow more cost in burying him
E2 1282 So, my l. — Come hither, James
E2 1274 my l., you shall go with me
E2 1287 my l., we'll quickly be at Cobham
E2 1297 and wrong our l., your honourable friend
E2 1307 we will in haste go certify our l.
E2 1322 my l., pardon my speech
E2 1353 his life, my l., before your princely feet
E2 1366 my l., here comes [1598, come] the queen
E2 1368 news of dishonour, l., and discontent
E2 1385 and fear not, l. and father, — heaven's great beams
E2 1396 my l., I take my leave, to make my preparation for France
E2 1399 yea, my good l., for Gaveston is dead
E2 1403 see my friend to take his death ? — Neither, my l.
E2 1427 their l. rode home, thinking his prisoner safe
E2 1433 my l., refer your vengeance to the sword
E2 1458 my l., here's [1598, heres is] a messenger from the barons
E2 1461 long live King Edward, England's lawful l. !
E2 1499 I doubt it not, my l. ; right will prevail
E2 1606 holla ! who walketh there ? is't you, my l. ?
E2 1609 hath thy potion wrought so happily ? — It hath, my l.
E2 1633 how say you, my l. ? will you go with your friends
E2 1640 well said, my l. !
E2 1652 the news was here, my l., that you were dead
E2 1657 and lives t' advance your standard, good my l.
E2 1674 but by the sword, my l., 't must be deserv'd
E2 1702 What news, my l. ? — Why, man, they say
E2 1706 from the Lieutenant of the Tower, my l.
E2 1714 have you proclaim'd, my l., reward for them
E2 1716 my l., we have ; and, if he be in England
E2 1722 letters, my l., and tidings forth of France
E2 1780 sound trumpets, my l., and forward let us march
E2 1783 fly, fly, my l. ! the queen is over-strong
E2 1790 O, no, my l. ! this princely resolution fits not E2 1831 my l., the Mayor of Bristow knows our mind
E2 1835 a goodly chancellor, is he not, my l. ?
E2 1873 have you no doubt, my l. ; have you no fear
E2 1902 'a gave a long look after us, my l.
E2 1916 Look up, my l. — Baldock, this drowsiness betides no good
E2 1919 my l., I pray, be short
E2 1932 my l., why droop you thus ?
E2 1946 we must, my l. ; so will the angry heavens
E2 1949 my l., it is in vain to grieve or storm
E2 1965 my l., be going : care not for these E1 1992 be patient, good my l., cease to lament
E2 2040 my l., why waste you thus the time away ?
E2 2075 my l., the parliament must have present news
E2 2082 call them again, my l., and speak them fair
E2 2085 my l., the king is willing to resign
E2 2103 My l., — Call me not l. ; away
E2 2122 my l., think not a thought so villanous can E2 2126 my l., the council of [1612, 1622, and] the queen commands that E2 2128 And who must keep me now ? Must you, my l. ?

E2 2129 ay, my most gracious l. ; so 'tis decreed
E2 2138 favour him, my l., as much as lieth in you
E2 2146 Leicester, farewell. — Not yet, my l.
E2 2170 Letters ! from whence ? — From Killingworth, my l.
E2 2171 How fares my l. the king ? — In health, madam
E2 2197 It shall be done, my l. — Gurney, — My l. ?
E2 2199 Gurney, — My l. ?
E2 2204 kind word nor good look. — I warrant you, my l.
E2 2214 fear not, my l. ; we'll do as you command
E2 2216 whither goes this letter ? to my l. the king ?
E2 2230 well, if my l. your brother were enlarg'd
E2 2238 not I, my l. : who should protect the son
E2 2254 my l., he hath betray'd the king his brother
E2 2257 come, son, and go with this gentle l. and me
E2 2270 my l., be not pensive ; we are your friends
E2 2358 Art thou as resolute as thou wast ? — What else, my l. ?
E2 2381 That will I quickly do. Farewell, my l.
E2 2426 my l., he is my uncle, and shall live
E2 2427 my l., he is your enemy, and shall die
E2 2434 my l., if you will let my uncle live, I will E2 2478 do as you are commanded by my l.
E2 2498 to murder you, my most gracious l. !
E2 2523 O, speak no more, my l. ! this breaks my heart
E2 2544 you're over-watch'd, my l. : lie down and rest
E2 2549 if you mistrust me, I'll be gone, my l.
E2 2554 How now, my l. ? — Something still buzzeth in mine ears
E2 2571 and bear the king's to Mortimer our l.
E2 2574 ay, my good l. : I would it were undone
E2 2579 Gurney, my l., is fled, and will, I fear, betray us
E2 2596 fear not, my l. ; know that you are a king
E2 2598 Villain ! — Ho [1612, 1622, How] now, my l. !
E2 2610 why speak you not unto my l. the king ?
E2 2649 my l., I fear me it will prove too true
E2 2659 shall I not mourn for my belovèd l. ?
E2 2665 my l., here is the head of Mortimer
MP 22 bear us company. — I will, my good l.
MP 36 my l., I marvel that th' aspiring Guise dares
MP 39 my l., you need not marvel at the Guise
MP 47 my l., but did you mark the Cardinal
MP 67 Apothecary ! — My l. ?
MP 73 see where they be, my good l.
MP 76 Then thou remain'st resolute ? — I am, my l.
MP 84 Soldier ! — My l. ?
MP 90 I will, my l.
MP 181 too late it is, my l., if that be true
MP 191 let not this heavy chance, my dearest l.
MP 262 ah, my good l., these are the Guisians
MP 296 plac'd by my brother, will betray his l.
MP 299 but look, my l., there's some in the Admiral's house
MP 307 Gonzago, what, is he dead ? — Ay, my l.
MP 333 let's forward to the massacre. — I will, my l.
MP 346 stay. my l., let me begin the psalm
MP 385 O, good my l., wherein hath Ramus been so offensious ?
MP 401 O, good my l., let me but speak a word !
MP 427 in the mean time, my l., could we devise to MP 433 my l., they say that all the Protestants are massacred
MP 437 but yet, my l., the report doth run, that MP 526 ay, but, my l., let me alone for that MP 534 come, my l., let us go
MP 548 comfort yourself, my l., and have no doubt
MP 590 your majesty her rightful l. and sovereign
MP 662 come, my l. [Old ed. Ls.], let us go seek the Guise
MP 666 that I may write unto my dearest l.
MP 680 to such a one, my l., as, when she reads my lines, will MP 683 I pray thee, let me see. — O, no, my l.
MP 687 O, pardon me, my l.
MP 732 my l., as by our scouts we understand, a
MP 740 not yet, my l., for thereon do they stay
MP 765 how now, my l. ! faith, this is more than need
MP 780 my l., 'twere good to make them friends
MP 784 not I, my l. ; what if I had ?
MP 859 my l., to speak more plainly, thus it is MP 878 my l., in token of my true humility, and MP 883 but trust him not, my l.
MP 898 my l., I think, for safety of your royal person, it would be good MP 912 my l., I am advertisèd from France that MP 925 tell him, ere it be long, I'll visit him. — I will, my l.
MP 927 Pleshès ! — My l. ?
MP 932 'tis time that we were there. — I go, my l.
MP 963 are these murderers ready ? — They be, my good l.
MP 966 I warrant ye, my l.
MP 1007 O my l., I am one of them that is set to murder you !
MP 1010 To murder me, villain ? — Ay, my l.
MP 1012 therefore, good my l., go not forth
MP 1038 my l., see where the Guise is slain
MP 1064 my l., here is his son
MP 1081 my l., see, where she comes MP 1144 my l., I come to bring you news that MP 1151 my l., hear me but speak
MP 1156 O, my l., I have been a great sinner in my days !
MP 1159 tush, my l., let me alone for that MP 1184 'twere not amiss, my l., if he were search'd
MP 1189 ay, my good l., and will die therein
MP 1191 my l., the President of Paris greets your grace
MP 1197 O, my l., let him live a while !
MP 1216 the wound, I warrant ye, is deep, my l.
MP 1236 alas, my l., the wound is dangerous
MP 1248 alas, my l., your highness cannot live !
D 87 before he be the l. of Turnus' town
D 249 follow, ye Trojans, follow this brave l.
D 292 thanks, gentle l., for such unlook'd-for grace
D 531 l. of my fortune, but my fortune's turn'd
D 533 and now am neither father, l., nor king
D 732 Achates, how doth Carthage please your l. ?
D 1166 what wills our l., or wherefore did he call ?
D 1276 to wait upon him as their sovereign l.
D 1291 Dido is thine, henceforth I'll call thee l.
Ov 502 and captive horses bade their l. farewell
Ov 1555 a mortal nymph's refusing l. to stay
Ov 1612 with Laodamia, mate to her dead l.
*Epg 80 Faustus, nor [Eds. not] l. nor knight, nor wise nor old
*1H6 111 this dreadful l., retiring from the siege of Orleans
*1H6 297 my l. methinks is very long in talk
*1H6 303 my l., where are you ? what devise you on ?
*1H6 363 thou that contriv'dst to murther our dead l.
*1H6 518 my l., my l., the French have gather'd head
*1H6 641 how now my ls. ? what all unready so ?
*1H6 669 Mine was secure. — And so was mine, my l.
*1H6 724 by me entreats (great l.) thou wouldst vouchsafe to

*1H6 731 you may not (my l.) despise her gentle suit
*1H6 744 I do my l., and mean accordingly
*1H6 780 Prisoner, to whom? — To me, blood-thirsty l.
*1H6 883 if I, my l., for my opinion bleed
*1H6 984 Richard Plantagenet, my l., will come
*1H6 999 my l., your loving nephew now is come *1H6 1059 of which, my l., your honour is the last *1H6 1150 my l., it were your duty to forbear
*1H6 1152 methinks my l. should be religious *1H6 1193 my l., we know your grace to be a man just *1H6 1375 God be wi' you my l., we came but to tell you
*1H6 1389 come my l., we will bestow you in some better place *1H6 1505 who then, but English Henry, will be l.
*1H6 1515 come, come, return; return thou wandering l.
*1H6 1548 welcome brave captain, and victorious l.
*1H6 1566 against my l. the Duke of Somerset
*1H6 1567 sirrah, thy l. I honour as he is *1H6 1643 he doth my l., and is become your foe
*1H6 1645 it is the worst, and all (my l.) he writes
*1H6 1654 I go my l., in heart desiring still you may *1H6 1657 and me (my l.) grant me the combat too
*1H6 1663 or with whom? — With him (my l.)
*1H6 1679 and that is my petition (noble l.)
*1H6 1682 yet know (my l.) I was provok'd by him
*1H6 1700 confirm it so, mine honourable l.
*1H6 1832 they are return'd my l., and give it out, that *1H6 1859 O send some succour to the distress'd l.
*1H6 1895 whither my l., from bought and sold L. Talbot
*1H6 2057 O my dearest l., lo where your son is borne
*1H6 2139 I have my l., and their intent is this *1H6 2144 well (my good l.) and as the only means to *1H6 2151 beside my l., the sooner to effect, and *1H6 2177 and for the proffer of my l. your master
*1H6 2215 now he is gone my l., you need not fear
*1H6 2358 yet there is remedy enough my l.
*1H6 2376 to be the princely bride unto such a l.
*1H6 2397 farewell my l., good wishes, praise, and prayers
*1H6 2407 yes, my good l., a pure unspotted heart
*1H6 2574 my l., you do not well in obstinacy, to *1H6 2605 tush my good l., this superficial tale is but a preface *1H6 2616 to love and honour Henry as her l.
*1H6 2621 you know (my l.) your highness is betroth'd
*1H6 2634 yes my l., her father is a king
*1H6 2682 take therefore shipping, post my l. to France
*Con 50 pardon my L., a sudden qualm came over [Q3 ore] my heart
*Con 88 nay my l. [Q3 Ls.] 'tis not my words that troubles you
*Con 167 why droops my l. like over-ripened corn
*Con 175 to think of treasons 'gainst my sovereign l.
*Con 178 what dreamt my l.?
*Con 186 tush my l., this signifies nought but this, that *Con 189 but now my l., I'll tell you what I dreamt
*Con 200 How now my l. What angry with your Nell
*Con 262 marry my l., he hath stole [Q2 stoln] away my wife
*Con 318 my l., if York have ill demeaned himself, let *Con 328 my l., in mine opinion, it were best that Somerset
*Con 362 alas my l. [Q3 Alas master], hang me if ever I spake the [Q2 these] words
*Con 369 the law my l. is this by case, it rests suspicious
*Con 376 alas my l., I am not able to [Q3 for to] fight
*Con 398 my gracious l., then this is my resolve
*Con 407 make haste my l., 'tis time that you were gone
*Con 457 see here my l. what the devil hath writ
*Con 458 give it me my l., I'll show it to the king
*Con 460 my l., I pray you let me go post unto the king
*Con 463 Away then, about it straight. — Farewell my l.
*Con 465 Who's within there? — My l.
*Con 468 to sup with me to-night. — I will my l.
*Con 469 my l., how did your grace like this last flight?
*Con 479 faith my l., it is but a base mind that
*Con 488 how now my l., why this is more than needs
*Con 491 As how, my l.? — As you, my l.
*Con 579 and things called whips? — Yes my l., if it please your grace
*Con 589 I will my l., come on sirrah, off with your doublet quickly
*Con 595 it shall be done my l.
*Con 603 ill news for some my l., and this it is *Con 631 and for she would betray her sovereign l., I here renounce
*Con 673 saving your tale my l., as I have heard, in the reign
*Con 723 and therefore good my l., let me depart
*Con 742 the combating betweem the armourer and his man, my l.
*Con 784 Sirrah, what's o'clock? — Almost ten my l.
*Con 793 my gracious l., see where my lady comes
*Con 798 come you my l. to see my open shame?
*Con 845 Ay [Q2 Yea] my gracious l., for so it is decreed
*Con 852 what gone my l., and bid not me farewell
*Con 879 my l., if you imagine there is no such thing, then
*Con 892 cold news my l., and this it is *Con 894 is overcome my l., all is lost
*Con 906 'tis thought my l., your grace took bribes from France
*Con 926 tush my l., these things be of no account
*Con 1057 ay [Q2 Yea[my l., he's [Q2 he is] dead I warrant you
*Con 1061 all things is handsome now my l.
*Con 1066 that he do clear himself. — I will my l.
*Con 1075 comfort my l., gracious Henry comfort
*Con 1096 my l., the commons like an angry [Q3 hungry] hive of bees, run
*Con 1102 enter his privy chamber my l., and view the body
*Con 1148 blunt-witted l., ignoble in thy words
*Con 1149 if ever lady wrong'd her l. so much
*Con 1171 my l., the commons sends you word by me
*Con 1181 but you my l. were glad to be employ'd
*Con 1359 good my l., entreat him mildly for thy life
*Con 1384 thou shalt never see a l. wear a leather apron now-a-days
*Con 1520 Oh fly my l., the rebels are entered Southwark
*Con 1525 therefore fly my l., and post to Killingworth
*Con 1531 my innocence my l. shall plead for me
*Con 1533 even as thou wilt my L. Say
*Con 1536 is Jack Cade slain? — No my l., nor likely to be slain
*Con 1548 now is Mortimer l. of this city
*Con 1554 treason for any that calls me any [Q2 omits] otherwise than L. Mortimer
*Con 1557 my l., there's an army gathered together into Smithfield
*Con 1584 my l., a prize, a prize, here's the L. Say
*Con 1586 come hither thou Say, thou George, thou buckram l.
*Con 1637 why my l. he would have 'rested me
*Con 1653 to rise against your sovereign l. and king

*Con 1685 this, my gracious l., that the L. Say is done to death
*Con 1693 lo here my l., these rebels are subdu'd
*Con 1696 no my gracious l., he is fled away
*Con 1715 sounes [Q3 Zounds] here's the l. of the soil
*Con 1782 he is my l., and hath discharg'd his troops
*Con 1790 lo here my l. upon my bended knees
*Con 1828 I arrest thee on high treason, against thy sovereign l.
*Con 1889 proud northern l., Clifford of Cumberland, Warwick is hoarse
*Con 1895 how now my l., what a-foot? who kill'd your horse?
*Con 1897 Who kill'd your horse? — The deadly hand of Clifford. Noble L.
*Con 1904 brave l., 'tis for a crown thou fights [Q2 fightst]
*Con 1937 away my l., and fly to London straight
*Con 1951 my l., I saw him in the thickest throng, charging his lance *2H6 24 great King of England, and our gracious l., the *2H6 52 pardon me gracious l., some sudden qualm hath *2H6 136 it was the pleasure of my l. the king
*2H6 185 as stout and proud as he were l. of all
*2H6 261 why droops my l. like over-ripen'd corn
*2H6 277 O Nell, sweet Nell, if thou dost love thy l.
*2H6 283 what dream'd my l., tell me, and I'll *2H6 311 what, what, my l.? are you so choleric with Eleanor *2H6 320 yes my good l., I'll follow presently *2H6 378 I pray my l. pardon me, I took ye for *2H6 563 alas my l., hang me if ever I spake the words
*2H6 570 this doom, my l., if I may judge
*2H6 579 alas, my l., I cannot fight
*2H6 644 now pray my l., let's see the devil's writ
*2H6 666 at your pleasure, my good l.
*2H6 674 but what a point, my l., your falcon made *2H6 682 my l., 'tis but a base ignoble mind that *2H6 699 As who, my l.? — Why, as you, my l.
*2H6 725 talking of hawking; nothing else, my l.
*2H6 833 and things call'd whips? — Yes, my l.
*2H6 844 whip him till he leap over that same stool. — I will, my l.
*2H6 857 you made in a day, my l., whole towns to fly
*2H6 874 'tis like, my l., you will not keep your hour
*2H6 904 my l., I long to hear it at full
*2H6 908 Edward the Third, my ls., had seven sons
*2H6 980 my l., break we off; we know your mind at full *2H6 1040 ay, good my l.: for purposely therefore left I the court
*2H6 1099 Sir, what's a 'clock? — Ten, my l.
*2H6 1115 come you, my l., to see my open shame?
*2H6 1182 what, gone my l., and bid me not farewell?
*2H6 1243 the reverent care I bear unto my l., made me
*2H6 1289 take heed, my l., the welfare of us all, hangs
*2H6 1304 all happiness unto my l. the king
*2H6 1315 'tis thought my l., that you took bribes of France
*2H6 1332 it serves you well, my l., to say so much
*2H6 1346 my l., these faults are easy, quickly answer'd
*2H6 1355 ah gracious l., these days are dangerous
*2H6 1438 Henry, my l., is cold in great affairs
*2H6 1531 I will, my l., so please his majesty
*2H6 1604 here comes my l.
*2H6 1606 ay, my good l., he's dead
*2H6 1612 according as I gave directions? — 'Tis, my good l.
*2H6 1617 I'll call him presently, my noble l.
*2H6 1629 dead in his bed, my l.: Gloster is dead
*2H6 1633 how fares my l.? help ls., the king is dead
*2H6 1639 how fares my gracious l.?
*2H6 1813 blunt-witted l., ignoble in demeanour
*2H6 1814 if ever lady wrong'd her l. so much
*2H6 1847 dread l., the commons send you word by me
*2H6 1878 but you, my l., were glad to be employ'd
*2H6 2021 how fares my l.? speak Beaufort to thy sovereign
*2H6 2122 Poole, Sir Poole? l., ay kennel, puddle, sink
*2H6 2132 for daring to affy a mighty l. unto the *2H6 2140 Normans thorough thee, disdain to call us l.
*2H6 2172 my gracious l. entreat him, speak him fair *2H6 2272 agree like brothers, and worship me their l.
*2H6 2378 we will not leave one l., one gentleman
*2H6 2430 the rebels are in Southwark: fly my l.
*2H6 2442 my gracious l., retire to Killingworth
*2H6 2457 then linger not my l., away, take horse
*2H6 2460 farewell my l., trust not the Kentish rebels
*2H6 2465 is Jack Cade slain? — No my l., nor likely to be slain
*2H6 2488 my l., there's an army gathered together in Smithfield
*2H6 2512 my l., a prize, a prize, here's the L. Say
*2H6 2517 ah thou Say, thou serge, nay thou buckram l.
*2H6 2615 my l., when shall we go to Cheapside
*2H6 2708 he is fled my l., and all his powers do yield
*2H6 2739 my l., I'll yield myself to prison willingly
*2H6 2744 I will my l., and doubt not so to deal
*2H6 2770 here's the l. of the soil come to seize me
*2H6 2905 so please it you my l., 'twere not amiss he were *2H6 2953 health, and all happiness to my l. the king *2H6 3005 my l., I have consider'd with myself the *2H6 3053 proud northern l., Clifford of Cumberland
*2H6 3055 how now my noble l.? what all a-foot
*2H6 3120 away my l., you are slow, for shame away
*2H6 3139 away my l., away
*TT 59 my gracious l.: here in the parliament let us assail
*TT 140 suppose my l. he did it unconstrain'd
*TT 155 L. Clifford vows to fight in thy defence
*TT 181 they seek revenge, and therefore will not yield my l.
*TT 183 Ah Exeter? — Why should you sigh my l.?
*TT 194 my l. I'll take my leave, for I'll to Wakefield
*TT 199 my l. here comes the queen, I'll steal away
*TT 247 let me hear thy device. — Then thus my l.
*TT 267 my l., the queen with thirty thousand men, accompanied with *TT 277 she shall not need my l., we'll meet her in the field
*TT 286 Oh fly my l., let's leave the castle
*TT 292 Oh Clifford spare this tender l., lest heaven revenge it
*TT 566 ah valiant l. the Duke of York is slain
*TT 672 welcome my l. to this brave town of York
*TT 675 doth not the object please your eye my l.?
*TT 679 my gracious l., this too-much lenity, and *TT 703 for shame my l., make them your precedent
*TT 726 my l., this harmful pity makes your followers faint
*TT 744 do good my l., and leave us to our fortunes
*TT 789 my l. the wound that bred this meeting here cannot *TT 958 away my l. to Berwick presently, the day is lost
*TT 963 away my l. for vengeance comes [Q2 come] along with him
*TT 1057 to effect this marriage if it please my l.
*TT 1133 three my most gracious l.

*TT 1136 be pitiful then dread l. and grant it them
*TT 1147 why stops my l., shall I not know my task?
*TT 1158 to tell you plain my l., I had rather lie in prison
*TT 1164 but mighty l. this merry inclination agrees not with the *TT 1169 then no my l., my suit is at an end
*TT 1176 'tis better said than done, my gracious l.
*TT 1198 if I should marry her. — Marry her my l., to whom?
*TT 1412 my l., we think as Warwick and Lewis that *TT 1421 Richard are you against us too? — Not I my l.
*TT 1429 my l. then this is my [Q3 mine] opinion
*TT 1466 my l., here is a messenger returned from France
*TT 1487 he more incensed than the rest my l.
*TT 1493 ay my good l., they're so link'd in friendship, that
*TT 1500 ay my l., in despite of all that shall withstand you
*TT 1523 are we all friends? — Fear not that my l.
*TT 1584 this way my l. the deer is gone
*TT 1595 marry my l., I think I had as good go with you, as *TT 1631 truth my l., we know you for no less
*TT 1732 how far hence is thy l. my honest fellow?
*TT 1739 at Southam my l., I left him with *TT 1990 whither's [Q3 whether is] Gloster gone? — Marry my l. to London
*TT 1997 Good day my l. What at your book so hard?
*TT 1998 What at your book so hard? — Ay my good l.
*TT 1998 Ay my good l. L. I should say rather *3H6 65 my gracious l., here in the parliament, let us assail
*3H6 199 why should you sigh, my l.?
*3H6 213 farewell my gracious l., I'll to my castle
*3H6 310 your oath, my l., is vain and frivolous *3H6 336 and therefore fortify your hold, my l.
*3H6 367 and I, my l., will bear him company
*3H6 651 your princely father, and my loving l.
*3H6 704 O valiant l., the Duke of York is slain
*3H6 813 welcome my l., to this brave town of York
*3H6 816 doth not the object cheer your heart, my l.?
*3H6 868 my l. cheer up your spirits, our foes are nigh
*3H6 887 ay good my l., and leave us to our fortune
*3H6 998 how now my l., what hap? what hope of good?
*3H6 1300 to effect this marriage, so it please my l.
*3H6 1432 right gracious l., I cannot brook delay
*3H6 1444 three, my most gracious l.
*3H6 1448 be pitiful, dread l., and grant it then
*3H6 1468 no gracious l., except I cannot do it
*3H6 1475 why stops my l.? shall I not hear my task?
*3H6 1502 but mighty l., this merry inclination accords not *3H6 1507 then no my l. : my suit is at an end
*3H6 1518 'tis better said than done, my gracious l.
*3H6 1545 if I should marry her. — To who, my l.?
*3H6 1552 my gracious l., Henry your foe is taken
*3H6 1683 my l. and sovereign, and thy vowed friend
*3H6 2065 trust me, my l., all hitherto goes well
*3H6 2069 are we all friends? — Fear not that, my l.
*3H6 2211 this way my l., for this way lies the game
*3H6 2220 to Lynn my l., and shipp'd from thence to Flanders
*3H6 2320 my l., I like not of this flight of Edward's
*3H6 2357 true, my good l., I know you for no less
*3H6 2453 comfort, my l., and so I take my leave
*3H6 2476 hark, hark, my l., what shouts are these?
*3H6 2491 how far hence is thy l., mine honest fellow?
*3H6 2501 it is not his, my l., here Southam lies
*3H6 2853 good day, my l., what at your book so hard?
*3H6 2854 ay my good l. : my l. I should say rather *3H6 2857 and both preposterous; therefore not good l.
*E3 11 But was my mother sister unto those? — She was, my l.
*E3 72 Lorraine, return this answer to thy l.
*E3 123 crack'd and dissever'd, my renowned l.
*E3 135 it is, my l.
*E3 231 say, good my l., which is he, must have the lady
*E3 236 arm my good l.! O, we are all surpris'd!
*E3 415 to whom, my l., shall I direct my style?
*E3 436 'twere requisite that I should know, my l.
*E3 485 what is the other fault, my sovereign l.?
*E3 527 pardon my boldness, my thrice-gracious l.
*E3 579 if I should lend her house my l., to thee
*E3 587 but that your lips are sacred, my l., you would *E3 592 for Sara owes that duty to her l.
*E3 594 he that doth clip or counterfeit your stamp shall die, my l.
*E3 679 thyself, the l. and master of thy word and oath
*E3 707 my l. and father, I have sought for you
*E3 826 all love and duty to my l. the king!
*E3 881 I have assembled, my dear l. and father, the *E3 1018 'tis bruited for a certainty, my l., that
*E3 1071 near to the coast I have descried, my l., as
*E3 1105 first you, my l., with your Bohemian troops
*E3 1116 I say, my l., claim Edward what he can, and *E3 1150 discourse of this discomfiture. — I will, my l.
*E3 1278 Here, my good l. — How art thou called?
*E3 1286 good news, my l.; the prince is hard at hand
*E3 1309 yes, my good l., and not two hours ago
*E3 1504 the garrison of Genoa's, my l., that came
*E3 1518 let us breathe ourselves. — I will, my l.
*E3 1527 neither, my l.; but narrowly beset with *E3 1533 the prince, my l., the prince! O, succour him
*E3 1555 yet, good my l., 'tis too much wilfulness, to
*E3 1609 here is a note, my gracious l., of those that *E3 1626 What picture's this? — A pelican, my l.
*E3 1664 wilt thou undertake to do it? — I will, my l.
*E3 1670 to that condition I agree, my l.
*E3 1674 since they refuse our proffer'd league, my l., and
*E3 1683 but what are these poor ragged slaves, my l.?
*E3 1688 no ghosts, my l., but men that breathe a
*E3 1710 the queen, my l., commends her to your grace
*E3 1722 a squire, my l.; John Copland is his name
*E3 1730 the queen's, my l., herself by this at sea
*E3 1761 not for his sake, my gracious l., so much
*E3 1768 no, good my l., except the same be just *E3 1776 why, then I know the extremity, my l.
*E3 1784 ah, but it is mine oath, my gracious l.
*E3 1795 to kill, my l., when war is once proclaim'd
*E3 1802 therefore, my l., as willing I return as if *E3 1809 stay, and be still in favour with thy l.
*E3 1821 I have a prophecy, my gracious l.
*E3 1910 the King of France, my sovereign l. and master, greets
*E3 1931 the Duke of Normandy, my l. and master, pitying thy youth
*E3 1952 herald of Philip, greet thy l. from me
*E3 2130 how fares your grace? are you not shot, my l.?
*E3 2182 How fares my l.? — Even as a man may do, that
*E3 2184 I hope, my l., that is no mortal scar
*E3 2263 mercy, King Edward! mercy, gracious l.!
*E3 2282 the sun, dread l., that in the western fall beholds us now
*E3 2319 Copland, my l., and David King of Scots
*E3 2326 no wilful disobedience, mighty l., but my desert

*E3 2334 receive, dread l., the custom of my fraught
*E3 2359 but now, my l., as this is joyful news, so must *E3 2364 is our son beset with too much odds? — He was, my l.
*E3 2386 for there, my l., O, there we did descry
*E3 2431 rejoice, my l. : ascend the imperial throne!
E2 704 he wears a l.'s revenue on his back
E2 1857 I rue my l.'s ill-fortune
*Epg 483 as he may well maintain a l.'s estate
*1H6 1677 and in defence of my l.'s worthiness, I crave
*3H6 1797 thy sly conveyance, and thy l.'s false love
*Sel 8 leave me my Ls. until I call you forth
*Sel 125 that you will not unto your ls. disclose
*Sel 170 said I not, ls., as much to you before
*Sel 441 but go we, ls., and solace in our camp
*Sel 804 then may your ls. more easily provide
*Sel 848 our friends, our ls., our subjects, and our son
*Sel 1072 come, let us go into our Council ls.
*Sel 1339 and we my ls. will in, and mourn a while *Sel 1511 old Aga was a prince among your ls.
*Sel 1823 I have a drink, my ls., of noble worth
*Sel 1836 now know, old ls., that you have drank your last
*Sel 2039 my ls., if I bring you not where Corcut is *Sel 2339 welcome, my ls., into my native soil
*Loc 22 most loyal ls., and faithful followers
*Loc 33 these arms, my ls., these never-daunted arms, that
*Loc 41 this heart, my ls., this ne'er-appalled heart, that
*Loc 163 favour my sons, favour these orphans, ls.
1T 4 good brother, tell the cause unto my ls.
1T 54 how like you this, my honourable ls.?
1T 177 whither we presently will fly, my ls.
1T 182 the ls. [8vo L.] would not be too exasperate
1T 200 travelling with these Median ls. to Memphis
1T 250 these ls. perhaps do scorn our estimates
1T 272 or you, my ls., to be my followers?
1T 302 how now, my ls. of Egypt, and Zenocrate!
1T 308 soft ye, my ls., and sweet Zenocrate!
1T 385 shall vail to us as ls. of all the lake 1T 442 and now, fair madam, and my noble ls., if 1T 506 leading a troop of gentlemen and ls.
1T 728 the ls. and captains of my brother's camp 1T 842 resolve, my ls. and loving soldiers, now to 1T 1257 but come, my ls., to weapons let us fall
1T 1926 but go, my ls., put the rest to the sword 1T 2317 and now, my ls. and loving followers, that 2T 426 and made Canaria call us kings and ls.
2T 471 now say, my ls. of Buda and Bohemia, what 2T 530 then arm, my ls., and issue suddenly
2T 557 arm, dread sovereign, and my noble ls.!
2T 717 take leave of these my loving sons, and of my ls.
2T 856 well, then, my noble ls., for this my friend that 2T 910 and now, my ls., advance your spears again
2T 1797 to Babylon, my ls., to Babylon!
2T 1877 who have ye there, my ls.?
2T 2007 well, then, my friendly ls., what now remains 2T 2259 help me, my ls., to make my last remove 1F 148 as Indian Moors obey their Spanish ls.
2F 140 as Indian Moors obey their Spanish ls.
2F 983 to hold the Emperors their lawful ls.
2F 1115 I pray, my ls., have patience at 2F 1125 O, I am slain! — Help me, my ls.!
2F 1356 no skill, no art, no cunning, to present these ls.
JM 2063 confess! what mean you, ls.? who should confess?
E2 251 banish or behead that Gaveston? — What else, my ls?
E2 275 my ls., to ease all this, but hear me speak
E2 340 my ls., now let us all be resolute
E2 356 or I will presently discharge these ls. [1598, L.]
E2 452 but I would wish thee reconcile the ls.
E2 527 my ls., albeit the queen win Mortimer, will E2 536 my ls., that I abhor base Gaveston I hope
E2 570 because, my ls., it was not thought upon
E2 587 my ls., if to perform this I be slack, think me
E2 1070 my ls., of love to this our native land, I come
E2 1079 if that will not suffice, farewell, my ls.
E2 1084 now, my ls., know this, that Gaveston
E2 1102 fly, fly, my ls.; the earls have got the hold
E2 1169 yet, lusty ls., I have escap'd your hands
E2 1198 I thank you all, my ls.
E2 1202 my ls., King Edward greets you all by me
E2 1219 I know it, ls., it is this life you aim at E2 1229 my ls., it is his majesty's request
E2 1238 my ls., I will be pledge for his return
E2 1246 my L. of Mortimer, and you, my ls., each one
E2 1259 my ls., I will not over-woo your honours
E2 1393 choose of our ls. to bear you company
E2 1419 « My ls., because our sovereign sends for him
E2 1487 now get thee to thy ls., and tell them
E2 1491 my l[s]., perceive you how these rebels swell?
E2 1495 why do we sound retreat? upon them, ls.!
E2 1531 now, lusty ls., now not by chance of war, but E2 1576 bestow that treasure on the ls. of France
E2 1588 have you no doubt, my ls., I'll E2 1589 I'll clap so [Old eds. claps] close among the ls.
E2 1614 the ls. are cruel, and the king unkind
E2 1661 but, gentle ls., friendless we are in France
E2 1676 my ls. of England, sith th' ungentle king of E2 1696 madam, along; and you, my l[s]., with me
E2 1712 the ls. of France love England's gold so well
E2 1728 dealt with the King of France his ls.
E2 1753 now, ls., our loving friends, and countrymen
E2 1769 ls., sith that we are, by sufferance of E2 1814 ere farther we proceed, my noble ls., we here
E2 1819 deal you, my ls., in this, my loving ls., as E2 2333 where ls. keep courts, and kings are lock'd in prison!
E2 2384 the proudest ls. salute me as I pass
E2 2670 here comes the hearse: help me to mourn, my ls.
MP 18 and now, my ls., the marriage-rites perform'd
MP 23 the rest that will not go, my ls., may stay
MP 55 come, my ls., let's go to the church, and pray
MP 195 come, my ls., let us bear her body hence
MP 199 come, my ls., and let us go tell the king of this MP 334 and now, my ls., let's closely to our business
MP 432 how now, my ls.! how fare you?
MP 455 my ls. of Poland, I must needs confess, the MP 485 then, come, my ls., let's go
MP 561 my ls., what resteth there now for to be done, but that MP 568 and now, my ls., after these funerals be done, we will MP 638 let's go, my ls.; our dinner stays for us
MP 662 come, my l. [Old ed. Ls.], let us go seek the Guise
MP 706 my ls., sith in a quarrel just and right we MP 749 but come, my ls., let us away with speed
MP 813 come, my ls.; now that this storm is overpast
MP 997 as ancient Romans o'er their captive ls., so will I triumph
MP 1254 my ls., fight in the quarrel of this valiant prince
MP 1271 come, ls., take up the body of the king

D 335 ls. of this town, or whatsoever style belongs unto your name
D 920 ls., go before ; we two must talk alone
HLM 485 and few great ls. in virtuous deeds shall joy
*HLC 2260 the two hapless ls., Leander's sire, and poor Leander L 111 would not admit two ls.
Dia 11 [f]or were her lovers ls. or kings
*1H6 58 my honourable ls., health to you all
*1H6 90 my ls. view these letters full of bad mischance
*1H6 104 my gracious ls., to add to your laments
*1H6 152 four of their ls. I'll change for one of ours
*1H6 163 remember ls. your oaths to Henry sworn *1H6 205 the other ls., like lions wanting food, do rush
*1H6 249 stand back, you ls., and give us leave a while *1H6 386 fie ls., that you being supreme magistrates, thus *1H6 484 at the north gate, for there stands ls.
*1H6 675 question (my ls.) no further of the case
*1H6 702 but ls., in all our bloody massacre, I muse
*1H6 718 all hail, my ls. : which of this princely train
*1H6 831 great ls. and gentlemen, what means this silence ?
*1H6 870 stay ls. and gentlemen, and pluck no more *1H6 1036 the reason mov'd these warlike ls. to this, was *1H6 1122 ls. vouchsafe to give me hearing
*1H6 1130 no my good ls., it is not that offends
*1H6 1161 must your bold verdict enter talk with ls. ?
*1H6 1169 believe me, ls., my tender years can tell
*1H6 1175 Oh my good ls., and virtuous Henry, pity
*1H6 1245 but join in friendship, as your ls. have done
*1H6 1258 therefore my loving ls., our pleasure is, that *1H6 1312 and we'll be ls. and rulers over Rouen
*1H6 1522 and ls. accept this hearty kind embrace
*1H6 1530 now let us on, my ls., and join our powers
*1H6 1605 then judge (great ls.) if I have done amiss
*1H6 1611 when first this order was ordain'd my ls.
*1H6 1648 how say you (my l.) are you not content ?
*1H6 1660 be patient ls., and give them leave to speak
*1H6 1706 and you my ls., methinks you do not well to *1H6 1712 good my ls., be friends
*1H6 1716 and you my ls. : remember where we are *1H6 2199 these news (my ls.) may cheer our drooping spirits
*1H6 2219 then on my ls., and France be fortunate
*1H6 2429 out, out : my ls., and please you, 'tis not so *1H6 2515 you know my ls., the states of Christendom
*1H6 2535 since ls. of England, it is thus agreed
*1H6 2643 a dower my ls. ? disgrace not so your king *1H6 2654 and therefore ls., since he affects her most *1H6 2672 then yield my ls., and here conclude with me
*Con 79 ah ls., fatal is this marriage-cancelling our states
*Con 91 farewell my ls., and say when I am gone
*Con 93 my ls. you know he is my great enemy
*Con 116 my ls. let us seek for our country's good
*Con 316 my ls. I care not who be regent in France
*Con 497 whet not on these furious ls. to wrath
*Con 512 Here's my hand, I will. — Why how now ls. ?
*Con 518 the wind grows high, so doth your choler [Q2 color] ls.
*Con 572 my ls., Saint Albans here hath done a miracle
*Con 635 come my ls. this night we'll lodge in Saint Albans
*Con 640 my ls. our simple supper ended, thus, let me reveal
*Con 646 Then thus my ls. Edward the Third had seven sons
*Con 689 but ls. I am not your king, until this sword be sheathed even in *Con 968 my ls. what to your wisdoms shall seem best, do and undo
*Con 991 then do it suddenly my ls.
*Con 996 the wild O' Neil my ls. [Q2 l.], is up in arms
*Con 999 what redress shall we have for this my ls. ?
*Con 1067 and good my ls. proceed no further against [Q3 gainst] our uncle
*Con 1073 ay me, the king is dead : help, help, my ls.
*Con 1168 why how now ls. ?
*Con 1391 we must all be [Q3 be all] ls. or squires, as soon as Jack Cade is king
*Con 1964 what say you ls., the king is fled to London ?
*Con 1968 now by my faith ls., 'twas a glorious day
*2H6 36 ls., with one cheerful voice, welcome my love
*2H6 149 consider ls., he is the next of blood
*2H6 154 look to it ls., let not his smoothing words bewitch
*2H6 161 I fear me ls., for all this flattering gloss, he will *2H6 225 still revelling like ls. till all be gone
*2H6 440 not all these ls. do vex me half so much, as *2H6 460 yet must we join with him and with the ls.
*2H6 466 for my part, noble ls., I care not which *2H6 517 now ls., my choler being over-blown, with walking
*2H6 556 by these ten bones, my ls., he did speak them to me
*2H6 656 come, come, my ls., these oracles are hardly attain'd
*2H6 670 believe me ls., for flying at the brook, I saw
*2H6 716 how now, my ls. ?
*2H6 732 the winds grow high, so do your stomachs, ls.
*2H6 735 I pray my ls. let me compound this strife
*2H6 826 my ls., Saint Alban here hath done a miracle
*2H6 966 we thank you ls.
*2H6 1035 ls., let him go
*2H6 1046 the servant of this armourer, my ls.
*2H6 1275 my ls. at once : the care you have of us
*2H6 1408 my ls., what to your wisdoms seemeth best, do, or undo
*2H6 1420 that these great ls., and Margaret our queen, do
*2H6 1436 free ls. : cold snow melts with the sun's hot beams
*2H6 1445 believe me ls., were none more wise than I, and *2H6 1496 great ls., from Ireland have I come amain
*2H6 1499 send succours (ls.) and stop the rage betime
*2H6 1535 I am content : provide me soldiers, ls.
*2H6 1618 ls. take your places
*2H6 1840 why how now ls. ? your wrathful weapons drawn *2H6 3160 well ls., we have not got that which we have *2H6 3169 now by my hand (ls.) 'twas a glorious day
*TT 29 stay my ls. and soldiers stay you here
*TT 126 why faint you ls. ? my title's better far than his *TT 135 in the view of many ls. resign'd the crown
*TT 160 what mutter you ? or what conspire you ls. ?
*TT 215 the northern ls. that have forsworn thy colours
*TT 229 for Clifford and those northern ls. be gone I fear towards Wakefield
*TT 362 why stay you ls. ? what, multitudes and fear ?
*TT 413 a crown for York ? and ls. bow low to him
*TT 561 how now fair ls. : what fare ? what news abroad ?
*TT 632 if for the last, say I, and to it ls.
*TT 635 attend me ls., the proud insulting queen, with *TT 671 Why then it sorts brave ls. Let's march away
*TT 744 good father cheer these noble ls.

*TT 767 for God's sake ls. signal [Q1 Q2 synald] to the fight
*TT 785 have done with words great ls., and hear me speak
*TT 855 how now my ls. : what hap, what hope of good?
*TT 889 away away, once more sweet ls. farewell
*TT 1126 ls. give us leave, we mean to try this widow's wit
*TT 1209 ls. along, and use this lady honourably
*TT 1459 my ls. do me but right and you must confess, before
*TT 1519 trust me my ls. all hitherto goes well
*TT 1522 speak suddenly my ls., are we all friends?
*TT 1625 my ls. we had notice of your coming
*TT 1698 make much of him my ls., for
*TT 1701 what counsel ls., Edward from Belgia, with *TT 1721 fair ls. take leave and stand not to reply
*TT 1724 farewell sweet ls., let's meet at Coventry
*TT 1809 ls. to the field, Saint George and victory
*TT 1846 fly ls. and save yourselves, for Warwick bids you
*TT 1880 yet warlike ls. raise you that sturdy post
*TT 1905 my ls., Duke Edward with a mighty power, is *TT 1912 ls., knights and gentlemen, what I should say, my *TT 1919 then on God's name ls. together cry Saint George *3H6 31 thanks gentle Norfolk, stay by me my ls.
*3H6 43 then leave me not, my ls. be resolute
*3H6 50 my ls., look where the sturdy rebel sits
*3H6 127 Plantagenet shall speak first : hear him ls.
*3H6 135 why faint you ls.? my title's good, and better far than his *3H6 144 Richard in the view of many ls., resign'd the crown
*3H6 149 suppose my ls., he did it unconstrain'd *3H6 155 why whisper you, my ls., and answer not?
*3H6 172 what mutter you, or what conspire you ls.?
*3H6 260 the northern ls., that have forsworn thy colours, will *3H6 280 the loss of those three ls. torments my heart
*3H6 333 the queen, with all the northern earls and ls., intend *3H6 513 a crown for York ; and ls., bow low to him
*3H6 699 how now fair ls.? what fare? what news abroad?
*3H6 768 if for the last, say I, and to it ls.
*3H6 771 attend me ls., the proud insulting queen, with *3H6 890 my royal father, cheer these noble ls.
*3H6 912 for God's sake ls. give signal to the fight
*3H6 930 have done with words (my ls.) and hear me speak
*3H6 1032 now ls., take leave until we meet again
*3H6 1040 away, away ; once more sweet ls. farewell
*3H6 1189 mount you my ls., towards Berwick post amain
*3H6 1230 now breathe we ls., good fortune bids us pause
*3H6 1236 but think you (ls.) that Clifford fled with them?
*3H6 1449 ls. give us leave, I'll try this widow's wit
*3H6 1557 widow go you along : ls. use her honourable *3H6 1913 my ls., forbear this talk : here comes the king *3H6 1979 my ls., before it pleas'd his majesty to *3H6 2068 speak suddenly, my ls., are we all friends?
*3H6 2156 what now remains my ls. for us to do, but *3H6 2306 make much of him, my ls. ; for this is he *3H6 2351 my ls., we were forewarned of your coming *3H6 2426 what counsel, ls? Edward from Belgia, with *3H6 2448 fair ls. take leave, and stand not to reply
*3H6 2457 farewell, sweet ls., let's meet at Coventry
*3H6 2483 and ls., towards Coventry bend we our course
*3H6 2605 ls. to the field : Saint George, and victory
*3H6 2654 fly ls., and save yourselves
*3H6 2663 I mean, my ls., those powers that the queen hath rais'd
*3H6 2681 great ls., wise men ne'er sit and wail their loss
*3H6 2713 this speak I (ls.) to let you understand, if *3H6 2740 prepare you ls., for Edward is at hand
*3H6 2752 give signal to the fight, and to it ls.
*3H6 2753 ls., knights, and gentlemen, what I should say, my tears
*3H6 2761 then in God's name, ls., be valiant, and
*E3 54 admit him, ls., that we may hear the news
*E3 87 in spite of all thy ls., I do pronounce defiance
*E3 92 my gracious father, and these other ls.
*E3 118 now, ls. [A, B, l.], our fleeting bark is under sail
*E3 229 my ls. of Scotland, will ye stay and drink?
*E3 232 I am sure, my ls., ye will not hence, till
*E3 335 come on, my ls., here will I host to-night
*E3 385 and bid the ls. hold on their play at chess
*E3 1112 so, ls., be gone, and look unto your charge
*E3 1413 ls. and my loving subjects, now's the time that *E3 1436 then, Frenchmen, scorn that such should be your ls.
*E3 1442 and English ls., let us resolve to-day either to
*E3 1458 now follow, ls., and do him honour too
*E3 1579 ls., I regreet you all with hearty thanks
*E3 1913 of ls., knights, squires, and English gentlemen
*E3 2197 fie, ls.! is 't not a shame that English boys, whose *E3 2491 here English ls., we do proclaim a rest

Lord-Admiral.

MP 2 Prince Condé, and my good L., I wish
MP 27 Prince Condé, and my good L., now Guise may storm
MP 264 assure yourself, my good L., I deeply sorrow MP 273 and so be patient, good L.

Lord-Ambassador.

*1H6 2563 no L., I'll rather keep that
*Con 1184 that he was the L. sent from a sort of tinkers
*2H6 1881 is, that he was the L., sent from
*TT 1336 my L. this letter is for you
*3H6 1800 my L., these letters are for you

Lord-Archbishop.

2F 1093 L. of Rheims, sit down with us
2F 1102 my good L., here's a most dainty dish

Lord-Bishop.

E2 194 be thou L., and receive his rents
*1H6 1579 L. set the crown upon his head

Lord-Cardinal.

MP 638 my L. of Lorraine, tell me, how MP 1125 yours, my L., you should have said
*Con 482 ay [Q2 Yea] my L., were it not good your *Con 929 and commit thee to my good L., until *Con 974 then sit we down again my L.
*Con 1028 Suffolk remember what you have to do, and you L.
*Con 1279 L., remember Christ must save [Q2 have] thy soul
*Con 1288 L., if thou diest assured of heavenly bliss
*2H6 513 L., I will follow Eleanor
*2H6 685 ay my L., how think you by that?
*2H6 1350 and here commit you to my L. to keep *2H6 1400 L., he is your prisoner
*2H6 1460 but my L., and you my Lord of Suffolk, say
*2H6 2047 L., if thou think'st on heavens bliss, hold up thy hand
*Con 992 let that be my L.'s charge and mine
*2H6 383 against John Goodman, my L.'s man 2F 937 Ls. of France and Padua, go 2F 1028 make haste again, my good Ls.

2F 1065 welcome, Ls.; come, sit down
Lord-Chamberlain.
E2 220 An earl! — Ay, and besides L. of the realm
E2 868 Salute him! yes. — Welcome, L.!
E2 1456 Earl of Glocester and L.
Lord-Chanchellor's.
*Epg 75 yet my L. tomb he hath not seen
Lord-Governor.
*Sel 1124 L., what think you best to do?
E2 870 welcome, L. of the Isle of Man!
Lord-High-Admiral.
MP (Title) played by the right honourable the L. his servants
MP 197 what, are you hurt, my L.?
MP 245 the L., riding the streets, was MP 255 how fares it with my L.?
Lord-High-Chamberlain.
E2 154 I here create thee L.
Lording.
*Sel 199 in love? if he be, l., 'tis not lady's love
*Sel 753 heard you not, ls., how Prince Selimus
*Sel 1832 here's to you, ls., with a full carouse
*Loc 90 and in you, ls., doth the substance lie
*Loc 380 then frolic, ls., to fair Concord's walls
*Loc 602 but trust me, ls., I will never cease to *Loc 677 it grieves me, ls., that my subjects' goods should 1T 305 how say you, ls.? is not this your hope?
*2H6 143 ls. farewell, and say when I am gone, I prophesied
*TT 45 look ls. where the sturdy rebel sits
*2H6 2674 I see them l. it in London streets Lord-Legate.
*1H6 2187 stay my L., you shall first receive the Lordly.
*Sel 2512 and scorn to stoop or bend my l. knee to
*Loc 411 have pitched up l. pavilions, and hope to prosper 1T 1031 so looks my l. love, fair Tamburlaine
1T 1285 and made my l. love her worthy king
E2 18 farewell base stooping to the l. peers!
Ov 1049 my l. hands I'll throw upon my right
*1H6 1139 ay, l. sir: for what are you, I pray, but one
*1H6 1501 a l. nation, that will not trust thee, but for profit's sake?
*1H6 2225 substitutes under the l. monarch of the north
*Con 32 and uncle Gloster, and you l. [Q3 Lorldly] peers, with one voice
*Con 492 and it like your l. Lord's Protectorship
*2H6 11 in sight of England and her l. peers
*2H6 701 an 't like your l. Lord's Protectorship Lord-Marquess.
*Con 57 L. kneel down, we here create thee first Duke of Suffolk
*2H6 61 L. kneel down, we here create thee the first Duke of Suffolk Lord-Marshal.
E2 653 I make thee here L. of the realm
Lord-Mayor.
*Con 1539 the L. craveth aid of your honour from the Tower
*2H6 2468 the L. craves aid of your honour from the Tower
*TT 1629 why my L., if Henry be your king, Edward
*TT 1635 why my L., what stand you upon points?
*TT 1639 so my L., these gates must not be shut
*TT 1673 We thank you all. L. lead on the way
Lord-Protector.
E2 2430 entreat my L. for his life
E2 2465 my L. greets you
*1H6 327 answer you so the L.? — The Lord protect him
*1H6 356 open the gates unto the L.
*1H6 1212 yield my L., yield Winchester
*1H6 1626 and now L., view the letter
*1H6 1748 ourself, my L., and the rest
*1H6 2184 and so my L. see them guarded
*1H6 2618 therefore my L., give consent
*Con 36 my L., so it please your grace, here are *Con 248 until my L. come this way
*Con 596 my L. hath done wonders to-day
*Con 623 how now my L. this news I think hath turn'd your weapon's point *2H6 39 my L., so it please your grace, here are *2H6 663 a sorry breakfast for my L.
*2H6 316 my L., 'tis his highness' pleasure, you do *2H6 368 my L. will come this way by-and-by *2H6 376 this is the Duke of Suffolk, and not my L.
*2H6 379 pardon me, I took ye for my L.
*2H6 380 to my L.? are your supplications to his lordship?
*2H6 632 my L. will, I doubt it not, see
*2H6 871 and so my L., by this means your lady
*TT 107 the L. lost it and not I
*3H6 114 the L. lost it, and not I
*Con 256 if it please your majesty, with my L.'s grace
*Con 477 my L.'s hawk [Q3 hawkes] done [Q2 doe; Q2 do] tower so well
*2H6 441 as that proud dame, the L.'s wife
*2H6 679 my L.'s hawks do tower so well Lord-Regent.
*1H6 608 L., and redoubted Burgundy, by whose *1H6 2513 L., I do greet your excellence with Lords-Ambassadors.
*1H6 2170 my L., your several suits have Lordship.
JM 240 your l. shall do well to let them have it
JM 1037 O, but I know your l. would disdain to marry with E2 228 nay, more, the guard upon his l. waits
E2 297 may it please your l. to subscribe your name
E2 563 suborn'd to greet his l. with a poniard
E2 852 that shall we see: look, where his l. comes!
E2 1296 your l. doth dishonour to yourself
E2 1989 your l. I trust will remember me?
*1H6 1154 methinks his l. should be humbler
*1H6 1364 belike your l. takes us then for fools
*Con 1565 I have a suit unto your l. — Be it a l. Dick, and *2H6 381 are your supplications to his l.?
*2H6 2496 I have a suit unto your l.
*2H6 2497 be it a l., thou shalt have it for that word
*3H6 2459 cousin of Exeter, what thinks your l.?
*1H6 2191 I will attend upon your l.'s leisure
E2 936 Whither will your ls.? — Whither else but to the king
E2 1988 will your ls. away?
Lord's-Protectorship.
*Con 493 and it like your lordly L.
*2H6 701 an 't like your lordly L.
Lord-Vicegerent.
*E3 1711 and from her highness and the L. I bring Lord-Warden.
E2 1817 L. of the realm
Lore.
*Loc 173 for if thou follow sacred virtue's l., thou shalt 1T 665 if nature had not given me wisdoms l.!
Loreine.
MP 341 L., L.! follow L.!

Lorraine.
1F 919 my Lord of L., will 't please you draw near?
MP 519 my Lord of L., have you mark'd of late, how MP 638 my Lord Cardinal of L., tell me, how likes
MP 868 shall feel the house of L. is his foe
MP 1042 Monsieur of L., sink away to hell!
MP 1145 your brother the Cardinal of L.
*E3 52 the Duke of L., having cross'd the seas
*E3 55 say, Duke of L., wherefore art thou come?
*E3 72 L., return this answer to thy lord
*E3 108 L., behold the sharpness of this steel
*E3 187 my Lord of L., to our brother of France commend us
*E3 1013 L., what readiness is Edward in?
*E3 1502 O L., say, what mean our men to fly?

Lose.
*Sel 1633 shall leave that ghost which made thee l. thy sight
*Sel 1998 though by the bargain Corcut l. his head
*Sel 2564 and join it unto ours, or l. our own
*Loc 1129 or l. my life amongst the thickest press 1T 798 and l. more labour than the gain will quite 1T 2001 if I l. the field, you hope of liberty
2T 336 and sail to it, ere I would l. the title of a king
2T 340 with bones of Turks, ere I would l. the title of a king 2T 522 should we l. the opportunity that God hath given 2T 1005 my boy, thou shalt not l. a drop of blood
2T 2106 blush, heaven, to l. the honour of thy name JM 277 he that denies this, shall absolutely l. all he has
JM 921 I am content to l. some of my crowns
JM 2173 at least, unprofitably l. it not
E2 265 that sly inveigling Frenchman we'll exile, or l. our lives
E2 266 the king shall l. his crown
E2 341 and either have our wills, or l. our lives
E2 534 I'll rather l. his friendship, I, than grant
E2 2043 hardly can I brook to l. my crown and kingdom
E2 2083 for, if they go, the prince shall l. his right
E2 2529 then when I shall l. my life, my mind may be D 756 which, if thou l., shall shine above the waves
HLM 176 we wish that one should l., the other win
Ov 560 why should I l., and thou gain, by the pleasure
Ov 2241 nor did thy ashes her last offerings l.
*Epg 291 that he hath livings and fair lands to l.
*1H6 1299 and Henry born at Windsor, l. all
*1H6 1860 he dies, we l.: I break my warlike word
*1H6 1861 we mourn, Fance smiles! we l., they daily get *1H6 1968 thou never hadst renown, nor canst not l. it
*Con 246 for fear you l. your head before you go
*Con 956 far truer spoke than meant, I l. indeed
*2H6 294 shall l. his head for his presumption
*2H6 1396 far truer spoke than meant: I l. indeed
*2H6 1510 no, not to l. it all, as thou hast done
*2H6 2557 yet to recover them would I l. my life
*2H6 3094 ordain'd (dear father) to l. thy youth in peace
*TT 109 you are old enough now and yet methinks you l.
*TT 705 should l. his birth-right through his father's fault?
*TT 876 or let us die before we l. the day
*TT 1111 at the battle of Saint Albans did l. his life
*TT 1135 were it not pity they should l. their father's lands?
*TT 1331 where having nothing, nothing can he l.
*TT 1605 and Warwick may l. though then he got the day
*TT 1664 to claim the crown, and win it too, or else to l. my life
*3H6 117 you are old enough now, and yet methinks you l.
*3H6 228 hath he deserv'd to l. his birth-right thus?
*3H6 847 should l. his birth-right by his father's fault
*3H6 1421 the worthy gentleman did l. his life
*3H6 1446 'twere pity they should l. their father's lands *3H6 1789 where having nothing, nothing can he l.
*3H6 2063 now therefore let us hence, and l. no hour
*3H6 2176 Warwick may l., that now hath won the day
*E3 738 will l. their eyesight, looking in the sun
*E3 741 digest the ill and make it l. his operation?
*E3 2181 if heaven be not oppos'd, we cannot l. the day
*E3 2329 loath to l. the least pre-eminence that I had won
*E3 2346 attempt high deeds and l. the glory that ensues the same?

Losel.
*Loc 1663 then, l. Locrine, look unto thyself

Loser.
*Con 955 ay but [Q2 Yea but; Q3 But] I can give the l. leave to speak
*2H6 1395 but I can give the l. leave to chide
*Sel 2140 nay, we can give such ls. leave to speak
*2H6 1398 and well such ls. may have leave to speak

Loseth.
L 402 and, ere he sees the sea, l. his name

Losing.
*Sel 63 in l. [Old ed. leesing] Alemshae, poor I lost more
*2H6 1716 dusky spectacles, for l. ken of Albion's wished coast

Loss.
*Sel 1314 farewell, dear emperor, and revenge our l.
*Sel 1534 thou for thy eyes and l. of both thy hands
*Sel 1586 and well can Aga bear his grievous l.
*Sel 1764 and threaten still my ruin and my l.
*Loc 971 see how he triumphs at his proper l.
*Loc 1234 with l. of life and ever-during shame
1T 234 of this success, and l. unvaluèd
1T 405 we think it l. to make exchange for that 1T 1731 have me buy thy father's love with such a l.?
1T 2239 though with the l. of Egypt and my crown!
2T 2029 and so revenge our latest grievous l.
JM 398 toil'd to inherit here the months of vanity, and l. of time
JM 428 what, woman! moan not for a little l.
JM 2210 will Barabas recover Malta's l.?
HLM 253 but this fair gem, sweet in the l. alone, when Ov 725 thy [Old eds. They] troubled hairs, alas, endur'd great l.!
Ov 736 why dost thy ill-kemb'd tresses' l. lament?
Ov 756 cheer up thyself; thy l. thou mayst repair
Ov 816 no l. shall come to Sophocles' proud vein
Ov 1332 the l. of such a wench much blame will gather
Ov 1849 for other's faults why do I l. receive?
Ov 2031 perchance these others, me mine own l. moves
Ov 2111 and bide sore l. [ed. A, great hurt] with endless infamy Ov 2170 and to thine own [ed. C, thy one] l. was thy wit swift running Ov 2248 Nemesis answers, « What's my l. to thee?
Ov 2333 and, to my l., god-wronging perjuries?
L 106 his l. made way for Roman outrages
*1H6 60 of l., of slaughter, and discomfiture
*1H6 64 the l. of those great towns will make him burst his lead *1H6 655 that now our l. might be ten times so much?
*1H6 1878 sleeping neglection doth betray to l.: the conquest
*1H6 1882 lives, honours, lands, and all, hurry to l.

*1H6 1950 your l. is great, so your regard should be *1H6 2531 the utter l. of all the realm of France
*Con 1949 I would not for the l. of this right hand, that aught *2H6 1429 and can do naught but wail her darling's l.
*2H6 1987 but wherefore grieve I at an hour's poor l.
*TT 577 was brought me of your l., and his departure
*TT 1161 for by that l. I will not purchase them
*TT 1602 what ? l. of some pitch'd battle against Warwick
*3H6 280 the l. of those three lords torments my heart
*3H6 714 were brought me of your l., and his depart
*3H6 999 our hap is l., our hope but sad despair
*3H6 1180 Men [? E'en] for the l. of thee, having no more
*3H6 1499 for by that l., I will not purchase them
*3H6 2164 what l. of some pitch'd battle against Warwick?
*3H6 2166 no, but the l. of his own royal person
*3H6 2246 they quite forget their l. of liberty
*3H6 2635 we might recover all our l. again
*3H6 2681 great lords, wise men ne'er sit and wail their l.
*E3 661 by the l. and bruising of thine honour
*E3 662 if nothing but that l. may vantage you
*E3 663 I would account that l. my vantage too
*E3 1840 by this revenge that l. will seem the less

Losses.

JM 1197 come, Katherine [Old ed. Katherina]; our l. equal are *3H6 1016 wailing our l., whiles the foe doth rage

Lost.

*Sel 63 in losing [Old ed. leesing] Alemshae, poor I l. more
*Sel 159 wither'd up, have l. their former strength
*Sel 627 and win again the fame that thou hast l.
*Sel 700 yet have we l. more than our enemies
*Sel 1137 like an Armenian tiger that hath l. her lovèd whelps
*Sel 1582 give me thy arm; though thou hast l. thy hands
*Sel 2473 the field is l., and Acomat is taken
*Loc 133 and for your sakes my Turinus there I l.
*Loc 773 the day is l., the Huns are conquerors
*Loc 977 behold the grass hath l. its pleasant green
*Loc 1562 that none may say, when I have l. my breath, the *Loc 1841 O fair Estrilda, we have l. the field 1T 744 mines my witless brother to the Christians l.
1T 1328 ah, fair Zabina ! we have l. the field
1T 1336 though the glory of this day be l.
2T 56 our empery, once l., all Turkey would be overthrown
2T 980 that by the wars l. not a drop [4to dram] of blood
2T 1751 l. long before ye knew what honour meant
1F 1496 for which Faustus hath l. both Germany and the world
1F 1517 for vain pleasure of twenty-four years hath Faustus l. eternal joy 2F 1537 have l. very much of late by horse-flesh
2F 1978 for which Faustus hath l. both Germany and the world
2F 2000 Faustus l. eternal joy and felicity
2F 2051 O, thou hast l. celestial happiness 2F 2058 that thou hast l.; and now, poor soul, must JM 705 Rhodes, from whence you came, was lately l.
JM 1285 false and unkind ! what, hast thou l. thy father?
JM 1555 I am a Jew, and therefore am I l.
JM 1899 I cannot do it; I have l. my keys
E2 113 had not his highness lov'd him well, he should have l. his head
E2 994 For your lemans you have l. at Bannocksbourn
MP 804 how many noblemen have l. their lives
D 235 and for thy ships, which thou supposest l.
D 566 O, there I l. my wife !
D 742 my oars broken, and my tackling l.
HLM 282 things that are not at all, are never l.
HLM 334 beauty alone is l., too warily kept HLM 583 jewels being [V. R. been] l. are found again; this never HLM 584 'tis [V. R. This] l. but once, and once l., l. for ever
*HLC 1213 that's since they have l. the heavenly light
*HLC 1426 what human wits for study l.
*HLC 1606 to answer that upbraid, Hero had l. her answer
*HLC 1806 Hymen soon recovering all he l.
Ov 732 l. are the goodly locks, which from their crown
Ov 1481 and through the gem let thy l. waters pash
Ov 2453 such as confess have l. their good names by it
L 457 and shame to spare life which being l. is won
*Epg 159 but when he l. his hair, where had he been ?
*Epg 221 that [Not in MS.] all is l. and gone
*Epg 222 but that's not true [MS. so]; for he hath l. his hair
*Epg 239 as if for ever they [MS. hee] had l. his love
*1H6 7 England ne'er l. a king of so much worth
*1H6 63 Paris, Guysors, Poictiers, are all quite l.
*1H6 66 is Paris l. ? is Rouen yielded up ?
*1H6 69 how were they l. ? what treachery was us'd ?
*1H6 998 that so he might recover what was l.
*1H6 1020 the cause, my father, Earl of Cambridge, l. his head
*1H6 1047 I l. my liberty, and they their lives
*1H6 1417 l., and recover'd in a day again
*1H6 1602 in which assault, we l. twelve hundred men *1H6 1726 destroy'd themselves, and l. the realm of France?
*1H6 1953 in yours they will, in you all hopes are l.
*1H6 1990 the life thou gav'st me, was l. and done
*1H6 2527 have we not l. most part of all the towns
*Con 92 I prophesied France would be l. ere long
*Con 131 for grief that all is l. that Warwick won
*Con 139 Maine is l., which Warwick by main force did win from France
*Con 908 by [Q3 Through] which his majesty hath l. all France
*Con 1006 he might have l. as much as I
*Con 1009 ay [Q2 Yea], for York would have l. his life before that *Con 1316 I l. mine eye in boarding of the ship
*Con 1615 I sold not France, I l. not [Q3 nor l. I] Normandy
*Con 1658 and win again that thing which now is l.
*Con 1945 and our great honour that so long we l.
*2H6 144 I prophesied France will be l. ere long
*2H6 216 Paris is l., the state of Normandy stands on a *2H6 537 till Paris was besieg'd, famish'd, and l.
*2H6 1318 by means whereof, his highness hath l. France
*2H6 1511 I rather would have l. my life betimes
*2H6 1513 by staying there so long, till all were l.
*2H6 1713 and even with this, I l. fair England's view
*2H6 2074 the lives of those which we have l. in fight
*2H6 2078 I l. mine eye in laying the prize aboard
*2H6 2556 I sold not Maine, I l. not Normandy
*2H6 2678 to France, to France, and get what you have l.
*2H6 2807 give me but the ten meals I have l.
*2H6 2818 tell Kent for me, she hath l. her best man *2H6 3146 nor have we won one foot, if Salisbury be l.
*TT 106 talk not of France since thou hast l. it all
*TT 107 the Lord-Protector l. it, and not I
*TT 336 save thy life, the goal is l.
*TT 959 the day is l., our friends are murder'd

*TT 1284 how Henry the Sixth had l. all that Henry the Fifth had gotten *3H6 114 talk not of France, sith thou hast l. it all
*3H6 114 the Lord-Protector l. it, and not I
*3H6 1319 will scare the herd, and so my shoot is l.
*3H6 1344 poor queen, and son, your labour is but l.
*3H6 1608 and I, like one l. in a thorny wood
*3H6 1724 you told not, how Henry the Sixth hath l. all that *3H6 1833 and to repair my honour l. for him, I here
*3H6 2684 the cable broke, the holding anchor l.
*E3 128 Berwick is won ; Newcastle spoil'd and l.
*E3 336 I might perceive his eye in her eye l.
*E3 726 honour is often l. and got again
*E3 1193 we have untimely l., and they have won
*E3 2442 as things, long l., when they are found again, so doth

Lot.

*Loc 1949 see where he murder'd lies by luckless l.
D 238 and so, I leave thee to thy fortune's l.
Ov 263 ah, how thy l. is above my l. blest !
E2 1951 our ls. are cast ; I fear me, so is thine

Loth : see Loath

Lottery.

*E3 1990 drop we shall, as we do draw the l. of our doom

Loud.

JM 1634 no, none can hear him, cry he ne'er so l.
*Sel 320 nor trumpets the tantara l. did teach HLM 155 and for his love Europa bellowing l.
Ov 2439 when the chief pomp comes, l. the people hollow
*1H6 401 come officer, as l. as e'er thou canst, cry
*1H6 727 whose glory fills the world with l. report
*1H6 834 within the Temple hall we were too l.
*2H6 158 clapping their hands, and crying with l. voice
*2H6 2056 and now l. howling wolves arouse the jades
*E3 1572 methinks I hear the dismal charge of trumpets' l. retreat

Lour.

*Sel 837 and reareth not lest fickle Fortune lower
E2 1935 O my stars, why do you l. unkindly on a king ?
Ov 179 we must part when heaven with black night ls.

Loured.

MP 58 if ever Hymen l. at marriage-rites

Louring.

*2H6 1419 what l. star now envies thy estate ?
*E3 2208 too bright a morning breeds a l. day

Lousy.

2F 365 then, belike, if I serve you, I shall be l.
*Epg 554 since l. Ponticus envies [Ed. A, ensues] my fame

Louted.

*1H6 1842 and I am l. by a traitor villain

Love.

*Sel 196 and fear'd to certify you of his l.
*Sel 198 in l., Mustaffa ? Selimus in l. ?
*Sel 199 'tis not lady's l., but l. of rule
*Sel 302 faith, all the l. 'twixt him and me is done
*Sel 348 strike into our minds a certain kind of l.
*Sel 656 instead of l. to render hate to me ?
*Sel 730 delighting heretofore in foolish l.
*Sel 886 thought his aged father's l. was clean estrang'd
*Sel 939 Bajazet hath honoured Mustaffa with his l.
*Sel 949 the l. which I do bear unto my country's good
*Sel 1004 joined unto your highness' tender l.
*Sel 1016 endures a combat between l. and right
*Sel 1017 the l. I bear to dear Acomat
*Sel 1034 your highness knows the janissaries' l.
*Sel 1066 if all his sons did bear such l. to him
*Sel 1225 or ever thou wast touch'd with woman's l.
*Sel 1359 would thus requite his l. with mortal hate
*Sel 2278 dost thou thus requite our l. with treason ?
*Sel 2515 without regard or care, of l. or duty
*Loc 300 I burn, I burn, and I burn-a ; in l., in l., and in l.-a
*Loc 350 « For your l. doth lie As near and as nigh »
*Loc 366 if any of you be in l., provide ye a cap-case
*Loc 373 my l. and I, within the temple of Concordia, will
*Loc 393 so fares it with young Locrine and his l.
*Loc 833 protect my l. from all false treacheries !
*Loc 1218 falleth in l. with Humber's concubine
*Loc 1330 O l., the extrem'st of all extremities !
*Loc 1349 the chance of war, my l., took him from thee
*Loc 1359 if I forget my l., and cleave to thee ?
*Loc 1364 if thou wilt yield to Locrine's burning l.
*Loc 1371 by thy right hand, and by thy burning l.
*Loc 1433 my wife and I are in great l. and charity now
*Loc 1527 for l. aboundeth still with policy
*Loc 1577 Medea seeing Jason leave her l., and
*Loc 1619 to countercheck brave Locrine in his l.
*Loc 1692 peace to the king of Brittany, my l. !
*Loc 1710 with pleasant joy enjoy your sweetest l.
*Loc 1859 shall Guendolen captivate my l. ?
*Loc 1898 shall l. of life bar her from Locrine's sword ?
*Loc 1918 and with them dies fair Pallas and sweet L.
*Loc 1933 search, soldiers, search ; find Locrine and his l.
*Loc 1937 find me the issue of their cursed l.
1T 50 whom I may term a Damon for thy l.
1T 171 that I may seek to gratify your l.
1T 295 what now ! in l. ?
1T 276 Zenocrate, lovelier than the l. of Jove [T 297 this is she with whom I am in [4to omits] l.
1T 432 by the l. of Pylades and Orestes
1T 765 when looks breed l., with looks to gain the prize
1T 1012 honour'd with your l. but for necessity !
1T 1031 so looks my lordly l., fair Tamburlaine
1T 1038 yet be not so inconstant in your l.
1T 1047 fearing his l. through my unworthiness
1T 1048 betray'd by fortune and suspicious l.
1T 1073 the killing frowns of jealousy and l.
1T 1227 and may my l., the king of Persia, return
1T 1285 and made my lordly l. her worthy king 1T 1439 of my fair daughter and his princely l.
1T 1715 if any l. remain in you, my lord 1T 1730 wouldst thou have me buy thy father's l. with 1T 1916 or for the l. of Venus, would she leave the 1T 1929 in thy passion for thy country's l.
1T 2072 pour forth my soul into thine arms with words of l.
1T 2122 to break his sword and mildly treat of l.
1T 2131 that term'st Zenocrate thy dearest l. ?
1T 2133 her own life, or aught save thine own l.
1T 2150 ah, Tamburlaine my l., sweet Tamburlaine
1T 2159 mighty Jove and holy Mahomet, pardon my l. !
1T 2168 your l. hath Fortune so at his command
1T 2178 now shame and duty, l. and fear present a 1T 2183 my father and my first-betrothed l.
1T 2184 must fight against my life and present l.
1T 2189 and fatally enrich'd Aeneas' l.
1T 2191 to pacify my country and my l.
1T 2207 too dear a witness for such l., my lord !
1T 2222 the state of thy deserv'd contentment and thy l. !
1T 2237 safe from dangerous battle of my conquering l. !
1T 2292 protestations of endless honour to thee for her l.
1T 2325 thy first-betrothed l., Arabia

2T (Title) his impassionate fury, for the death of his lady and l.
2T 691 may never such a change transform my l.
2T 699 live still, my l.; and so conserve my life
2T 710 but let me die, my l.; yes [Old eds. yet], let me die
2T 711 with l. and patience let your true l. die 2T 723 that dares torment the body of my l.
2T 726 wounding the world with wonder and with l.
2T 751 for amorous Jove hath snatch'd my l. from hence 2T 782 because this place bereft me of my l.
2T 1167 I am so far in l. with you, that 2T 1468 embracing thee with deepest of his l.
2T 1592 to entertain a thought that tends to l.
2T 1604 leave this, my l., and listen more to me
2T 1611 spending my life in sweet discourse of l.
2T 1618 such is the sudden fury of my l.
2T 1649 cut off this arm that murderèd my l.
2T 1659 infernal Dis is courting of my l.
2T 1702 for l., for honour, and to make her queen
2T 2088 in defiance of that wonted l.
2T 2278 let not thy l. exceed thine honour, son
1F 3 nor sporting in the dalliance of l.
1F 156 than in their [Dyce Than have the] white breasts of the queen of l.
1F 222 slow to wrath, and prone to lechery (to l., I would say)
1F 467 appetite, wherein is fix'd the l. of Belzebub
1F 508 lo, Mephistopholis, for l. of thee, I cut mine arm
1F 674 sing to me of Alexander's l. and Oenon's death?
1F 1107 yet, for that l. and duty binds me thereunto, I 1F 1450 I will be Paris, and for l. of thee, instead of 2F 3 nor sporting in the dalliance of l.
2F 148 the white breasts of the queen of l.
2F 209 slow to wrath, and prone to lechery (to l., I would say)
2F 414 appetite, wherein is fix'd the l. of Belzebub
2F 456 for l. of thee Faustus hath cut his arm
2F 595 sing to me of Alexander's l. and Oenon's death?
2F 1245 an if he be so far in l. with him, I 2F 1415 who kills him shall have gold and endless l.
2F 1805 with all the l. and kindness that we may 2F 1855 in tender l., and pity of thy future misery
2F 1909 I will be Paris, and for l. of thee, instead of 2F 1946 I do yield my life and lasting service for your l.
JM 578 tut, she were fitter for a tale of l., than JM 912 compassion, l., vain hope, and heartless fear
JM 980 O father, Don Mathias is my l.!
JM 981 I know it; yet, I say, make l. to him
JM 990 and she vows l. to him, and he to her
JM 995 whither, but to my fair l. Abigail?
JM 1060 nothing but death shall part my l. and me
JM 1090 shall Lodowick rob me of so fair a l.?
JM 1092 to cross your l., he's with your mother
JM 1104 I will have Don Mathias; he is my l.
JM 1251 but I perceive there is no l. on earth
JM 1297 O Ithamore, come near; come near, my l.
JM 1469 both, jealous of my l., envied each other
JM 1749 and who would not requite such l.?
JM 1763 I can withhold no longer: welcome, sweet l.
JM 1809 shall Ithamore, my l., go in such rags?
JM 1822 by Dis above, shalt live with me, and be my l.
JM 1833 he hugged and embraced me. — Rather for fear than l.
JM 1860 come, my dear l., let's in and sleep together
JM 1921 O, l. stops my breath!
JM 1936 I'll pledge thee, l., and therefore drink it off
JM 2027 prithee, sweet l., one more, and write it sharp
E2 171 it shall suffice me to enjoy your l.
E2 257 regards me not, but dotes upon the l. of Gaveston
E2 411 I'll come to thee: my l. shall ne'er decline
E2 432 for every look, my lord [Dyce, l.] drops down a tear
E2 664 rich and strong, having the l. of his renowmèd [Old eds. renowned] peers
E2 680 spare for no cost; we will requite your l.
E2 748 our lady's first l. is not wavering
E2 781 what need'st thou, l., thus to excuse thyself?
E2 784 this argues the entire l. of my lord
E2 833 is this the l. you bear your sovereign?
E2 1011 I see your l. to Gaveston will be the ruin of the realm
E2 1065 but I respect neither their l. nor hate
E2 1070 my lords, of l. to this our native land, I come
E2 1075 sent of policy, to undermine us with a show of l.
E2 1160 in vain I look for l. at Edward's hand
E2 1166 how Gaveston hath robb'd me of his l.
E2 1355 Spenser, this l., this kindness to thy king, argues
E2 1360 besides, the more to manifest our l., because E2 1455 and merely of our l. we do create thee Earl of Glocester
E2 1805 and yet she bears a face of l., forsooth
E2 1806 fie on that l. that hatcheth death and hate!
E2 1816 of l. and care unto his royal person
E2 1840 in sign of l. and duty to this presence E2 2220 and bear him this as witness of my l.
MP 6 the native sparks of princely l., that MP 16 difference in religion might be a means to cross you in your l.
MP 69 the l. thou bear'st unto the House of Guise
MP 78 thanks, my good friend: I will requite thy l.
MP 134 and in my l. entombs the hope of France
MP 611 Henry's heart will not both harbour l. and majesty?
MP 677 what, all alone, my l.? and writing too?
MP 690 or hath my l. been so obscur'd in thee
MP 692 is all my l. forgot, which held thee dear
MP 705 shall buy her l. even with his dearest blood
MP 755 although my l. to thee can hardly suffer't [Old ed. suffer]
MP 789 because his wife bears thee such kindly l.
MP 791 I'll make her shake off l. with her heels
MP 916 to show your l. unto the king of France
MP 1167 to recompense your reconcilèd l. with MP 1230 and here protest eternal l. to thee
MP 1261 ah, Epernoun, is this thy l. to me?
D 3 I am much better for your worthless l.
D 42 hold here, my little l.; these linked gems
D 49 and shalt [Old ed. shall] have, Ganymede, if thou wilt be my l.
D 623 that she may dote upon Aeneas' l.
D 643 'tis not enough that thou dost grant me l.
D 645 that l. is childish which consists in words
D 671 ungentle queen, is this thy l. to me?
D 674 why stay'st thou here? thou art no l. of mine
D 677 that I should say thou art no l. of mine?
D 685 I go to feed the humour of my l.
D 693 and in my thoughts is shrin'd another l.
D 694 O Anna, didst thou know how sweet l. were D 696 poor soul, I know too well the sour of l.
D 703 is not Aeneas worthy Dido's l.?
D 705 Aeneas well deserves to be your l.!
D 712 then, sister, you'll abjure Iarbus' l.?
D 729 l., l., give Dido leave to be more modest
D 771 Aeneas, think not Dido is in l.

D 786 have been most urgent suitors for my l.
D 802 I was as far from l. as they from hate
D 805 because, it may be, thou shalt be my l.
D 863 and planted l. where envy erst had sprung
D 864 sister of Jove, if that thy l. be such D 880 which I will make in quittance of thy l.
D 896 fair queen of l., I will divorce these doubts
D 926 but l. and duty led him on perhaps
D 936 women may wrong by privilege of l.
D 977 O l. ! O hate ! O cruel women's hearts
D 986 and make l. drunken with thy sweet desires
D 999 tell me, dear l., how found you out this cave ?
D 1021 not sick, my l. ; but sick I must conceal
D 1053 stout l., in mine arms make thy Italy
D 1126 who seeks to rob me of thy sister's l.
D 1130 be rul'd by me, and seek some other l.
D 1199 were to transgress against all laws of l.
D 1223 is this thy l. to me ?
D 1240 l. made me jealous : but, to make amends
D 1271 and now to make experience of my l.
D 1293 and from a turret I'll behold my l.
D 1304 ay, but it may be, he will leave my l.
D 1347 to measure how I prize Aeneas' l.
D 1353 and shrunk not back, knowing my l. was there ?
D 1398 Foolish is l., a toy. — O sacred l. !
D 1398 O sacred l. ! if there be any heaven in earth, 'tis l.
D 1401 blush, blush for shame ! why shouldst thou think of l. ?
D 1404 fourscore is but a girl's age : l. is sweet
D 1406 why do I think of l., now I should die ?
D 1453 no marvel, Dido, though thou be in l.
D 1499 pardon me, though I ask ; l. makes me ask
D 1501 Aeneas will not feign with his dear l.
D 1507 but yet Aeneas will not leave his l.
D 1514 farewell ! is this the 'mends for Dido's l. ?
D 1521 O, speak like my Aeneas, like my l. !
D 1551 were up in arms, for making thee my l. ?
D 1562 in vain, my l., thou spend'st thy fainting breath
D 1579 I hope that that which l. forbids me do, the rocks
D 1600 returns amain : welcome, welcome, my l. !
D 1659 and ride upon his back unto my l. !
D 1665 save, save Aeneas, Dido's liefest l. !
D 1670 see, where he comes ! welcome, welcome, my l. !
D 1691 and reap no guerdon for my truest l. ?
D 1696 to cure my mind, that melts for unkind l. ?
D 1697 but, afterwards, will Dido grant me l. ?
D 1699 none in the world shall have my l. but thou
D 1730 Iarbas slain, Iarbas my dear l. !
HLM 82 despising many, died ere he could enjoy the l. of any HLM 92 a brow for l. to banquet royally
HLM 95 why art thou not in l., and lov'd of all ?
HLM 134 for faithful l. will never turn to hate
HLM 155 and for his l. Europa bellowing loud
HLM 159 L. kindling fire, to burn such towns as Troy
HLM 181 where both deliberate, the l. is slight
HLM 190 l. deeply grounded [V. R. ground], hardly is dissembled
HLM 192 true l. is mute, and oft amazèd stands
HLM 212 God knows, I cannot force l. as you do
HLM 226 dutiful service may thy l. procure
HLM 380 look'd so dolefully, as made L. sigh to see his tyranny
HLM 389 deaths at every glance, they answer'd L.
HLM 403 her cheeks, that drew the l. of every swain
HLM 431 still vow'd he l. : she, wanting no excuse
HLM 441 and gave it to his simple rustic l.
HLM 451 he wounds with l., and forc'd them equally to dote
HLM 468 did despise the l. of th' everlasting Destinies
HLM 469 they, seeing it, both L. and him abhorr'd
*HLC 491 Hero of l. takes deeper sense
*HLC 492 and doth her l. more recompense
HLM 499 by this, sad Hero, with l. unacquainted
HLM 541 now wax'd she jealous lest his l. abated
HLM 559 albeit Leander, rude in l. and raw
HLM 570 l. always makes those eloquent that have it
HLM 609 which made his l. through Sestos to be known
HLM 629 O, none but gods have power [V. R. O none have power but gods] their l. to hide !
HLM 632 and l. that is conceal'd betrays poor lovers
HLM 637 but l. resisted once, grows passionate HLM 652 and, crying, « L., I come », leap'd lively in HLM 665 the lusty god embrac'd him, call'd him « l. »
HLM 680 and smiling wantonly, his l. bewray'd
HLM 689 close beside him swim, and talk [V. R. talkt] of l.
HLM 694 as for his l. both earth and heaven pin'd
HLM 708 he call'd it in, for l. made him repent
HLM 719 l. is too full of faith, too credulous
HLM 745 if not for l., yet, l., for pity-sake
HLM 774 by which L. sails to regions full of bliss
HLM 797 l. is not full of pity, as men say, but deaf and cruel
*HLC 843 with her l. and woman's [V. R. womens] wit she argues
*HLC 859 and you detested charms constraining l. !
*HLC 886 whose mixture and first fire his l. attains
*HLC 891 who thinks not heaven with such a l. is given ?
*HLC 910 transfer once more this prize of l. home
*HLC 920 streams dead for l., to leave his ivory skin
*HLC 924 for l. is sweet and fair in every thing
*HLC 927 l.-blest Leander was with l. so fill'd
*HLC 928 so fill'd, that l. to all that touch'd him he instill'd
*HLC 942 arms, in whose white circle L. writ all his charms
*HLC 990 did reprove Leander's bluntness in his violent l.
*HLC 1075 l. is a golden bubble, full of dreams
*HLC 1202 such virtue l. hath to make one of two
*HLC 1209 we know not how to vow till l. unblind us
*HLC 1216 as death is foe to life, so l. to error
*HLC 1225 but l., with all joys crown'd, within doth sit
*HLC 1226 O goddess, pity l., and pardon it !
*HLC 1241 thus, her sharp wit, her l., her secrecy, trooping
*HLC 1248 my l. had [V. R. hath] not gone hence
*HLC 1260 rich, fruitful l., that, doubling self estates
*HLC 1303 in her life was dear in Venus' l.
*HLC 1350 the fire of l. is blown [V. R. drawne] by dalliance
*HLC 1444 the flames of l. it quench'd
*HLC 1460 to follow l. with zeal her piety
*HLC 1463 for in her l. these did the gods forego
*HLC 1469 in thought than in her l. and life
*HLC 1476 l. would not leave her conscience perplext
*HLC 1483 O virtuous l., that taught her to do best when
*HLC 1531 l. makes thee cunning ; thou art current now
*HLC 1562 t' exchange with mortals rites for rites in l. !
*HLC 1651 Aurora double grace obtain'd of her l. Phoebus
*HLC 1655 he lov'd her more, to see the l. Leander Hero bore
*HLC 1689 Beauty and L. advanc'd their ensigns
*HLC 1693 welcom'd them kindly, did much l. protest
*HLC 1737 and crowns with honour L. and his delights

*HLC 1770 his l. durst feed on naught but sight and hearing
*HLC 1772 hope of requital, the grand prize of l.
*HLC 1804 if Merit look not well, L. bids stand by *HLC 1808 his l. and he with many virgin dames
*HLC 1851 and now came L. with Proteus, who had long juggled
*HLC 1854 to win L. stay with him, and make him l. him
*HLC 1858 thus came L., with Proteus and his power
*HLC 1887 Coyness and L. striv'd which had greatest grace
*HLC 1892 with L. fought Hyman's beauty and his valure
*HLC 1896 L., once enter'd, wish'd no greater aid than *HLC 1900 and L. was grown so rich with such a gain
*HLC 2052 the saffron mirror by which Phoebus' l., green Tellus, decks her
*HLC 2065 for mere free l., turn'd her [Omitted in some 4tos] into the pied-plum'd Psittacus
*HLC 2080 L. calls to war ; Sighs his alarms
*HLC 2088 L. calls to war ; Sighs his alarms
*HLC 2100 L. calls to war ; Sighs his alarms
*HLC 2106 the evening star helps L. to summon war
*HLC 2113 now L. in Night, and Night in L. exhorts courtship
*HLC 2116 L. paints his longings in sweet virgins' eyes
*HLC 2124 L. paints his longings in sweet virgins' eyes
*HLC 2144 that Hero and her l. may meet
*HLC 2153 grief casts her down upon her l.
*HLC 2169 and guard Leander to his l. in peace
*HLC 2202 and found him tossing of his ravish'd l.
*HLC 2228 state, which without l. is rude, disconsolate
*HLC 2236 for all the parts that did on l. depend
*HLC 2242 her l. and virtues cloth'd him richly naked
*HLC 2262 poorest where the fire of credulous l. made him most rich
*HLC 2290 in his fort of l. that he thought won
*HLC 2310 no one mean there was to get his l. home
*HLC 2416 her mixèd soul could tell her l. was dead
*HLC 2436 the first, in thorns of l. that sorrows past
Ov 9 alike, till L., men say, began to smile
Ov 14 shall Dian fan when l. begins to glow ?
Ov 24 L. [ed. A, I] slack'd my Muse, and made my numbers [ed. A, number] soft
Ov 27 L. unlock'd his quiver, took out the shaft
Ov 32 I burn ; l. in my idle bosom sits
Ov 43 were L. the cause, it's like I should descry him
Ov 46 'tis cruel L. turmoils my captive heart
Ov 55 unwilling lovers L. doth more torment than Ov 80 ride, golden L., in chariots richly builded !
Ov 222 long l. my body to such use make[s] slender
Ov 228 L. hearing it, laugh'd with his tender mother
Ov 230 forthwith l. came : no dark night-flying sprite
Ov 254 so, L. with me, wine moderate in my brain
Ov 276 night, l., and wine to all extremes persuade Ov 277 night, shameless wine, and l. are fearless made
Ov 394 a rich lover plants his l. on thee
Ov 402 to yield their l. to more than one disdain'd
Ov 434 take heed lest he gets that l. for nought
Ov 438 lest his l., oft beaten back, should wane
Ov 458 take strife away, l. doth not well endure
Ov 382 'tis shame for eld [ed. C, old] in war or l. to be Ov 507 doubtful is war and l. : the vanquish'd rise
Ov 509 whoe'er l. slothfulness doth call, let him surcease
Ov 510 l. tries wit best of all
Ov 533 whate'er L. made Jove, should thee inveigle
Ov 534 now all fear with my mind's hot l. abates
Ov 540 L. is a naked boy, his years saunce stain
Ov 544 L., and L.'s son are with fierce arms at [Old eds. to] odds
Ov 581 may [Old eds. Many] bounteous l. Alcinous' fruit resign
Ov 642 to these my l. I foolishly committed
Ov 653 from her old l. comes she that draws the day
Ov 685 say that thy l. with Cephalus were not known
Ov 850 and rude boys, touch'd with unknown l., me read
Ov 882 my verse, which golden L. doth unto me rehearse
Ov 957 if ever wench had made lukewarm thy l.
Ov 977 where L. please am [ed. A, And] driven, like a ship upon rough seas
Ov 1001 to leave myself, that am in l. with all
Ov 1014 my l. alludes to every history
Ov 1020 no l. is so dear, — quiver'd Cupid, fly !
Ov 1028 he's happy, that his l. dares [ed. C, dare] boldly credit
Ov 1111 l. of talk, thy mouth to taste of many meats did balk
Ov 1155 if ill, thou say'st I die for others' l.
Ov 1217 arrows shaked in naked bones? l. hath my bones left naked
Ov 1229 if he but said, « Live without l. » ; so sweet ill is a maid
Ov 1237 and purple L. resumes his darts again
Ov 1254 yet, L., if thou with thy fair mother hear
Ov 1260 I could not be in l. with two at once
Ov 1268 so with this l. and that wavers my mind
Ov 1277 but may soft l. rouse up my drowsy eyes
Ov 1565 nor of our l. to be asham'd we need
Ov 1578 and tender l. hath great things hateful made
Ov 1589 L. laugh'd at my cloak and buskins painted
Ov 1592 and L. triumpheth o'er his buskin'd poet
Ov 1610 is golden L. hid in Mars' mid alarms
Ov 1638 so shall my l. continue many years
Ov 1640 fat l., and too much fulsome, me annoys
Ov 1667 but of my l. it will an end procure
Ov 1692 when will thy l. be spent, O poet careless of thy argument ?
Ov 1697 « This is he whom fierce l. burns, » they cry
Ov 1718 light am I, and with me, my care, light L.
Ov 1742 the other gives my l. a conquering name
Ov 1752 thou mayst know with l. thou mak'st me flame
Ov 1788 is 't women's l. my captive breast doth fry ?
Ov 1794 goddess, come here ; make my l. conquering
Ov 1798 peace pleaseth me, and in mid peace is l.
Ov 1902 an hundred eyes, yet by deceit L. did them all surprise
Ov 1909 nor doth her face please, but her husband's l.
Ov 1954 great floods ought to assist young men in l.
Ov 1961 th' Arcadian virgin's constant l. hath won ?
Ov 2223 the one his first l., th' other his new care
Ov 2280 nor no l. from her warm breast yields
Ov 2290 was divers ways distract with l. and shame
Ov 2291 l. conquer'd shame : the furrows dry were burn'd
Ov 2313 dishonest L., my wearied breast forsake !
Ov 2316 we vanquish, and tread tam'd L. under feet
Ov 2331 my l. was cause that more men's [ed. C, men] l. she seiz'd Ov 2344 now l. and hate my light breast each way move
Ov 2345 but victory, I think, will hap to l.
Ov 2354 her deeds gain hate ; her face entreateth l.
*Ign 42 nor for thy l. will I once gnash a brick
*LD 18 thy l. I will challenge as my peculiar object
L 98 Caesar's and Pompey's jarring l. soon ended
L 133 to gain the light unstable commons' l.

L 355 their household-gods and l. to Rome
L 356 but war's l. and Caesar's awe dash'd all
L 373 l. over-rules my will ; I must obey thee
L 423 the Santons that rejoice in Caesar's l.
PS 1 come [Omitted in P. P.] live with me and be my l.
PS 20 come [P. P. Then] live with me, and be my l.
Dia 2 he hath stoln my l. from me, alas !
Dia 8 that hath stoln my l. away
Dia 14 and with his dances stole her l. from me
Dia 27 thou long time his l. did know
Dia 35 my Nan, whose l. I hold so dear
Dia 48 my l. shall want nor gold nor fee
Dia 50 but one of these my l. must be
Dia 61 gone away to seek her l. upon the green
Dia 65 welcome, my [true] l., now to me
Dia 66 this is my l. [and my darling dear]
*Epg 54 And thought [MS. Thinkinge] with that sweet word to win her l.
*Epg 239 as if for ever they [MS. hee] had lost his l.
*Epg 271 Which [MS. That] term'd his l. « a giant for her wit »
*1H6 292 I must not yield to any rites of l.
*1H6 1166 to join your hearts in l. and amity *1H6 1235 l. for thy l., and hand for hand I give *1H6 1281 the presence of a king engenders l. amongst his subjects *1H6 1290 burns under feign'd ashes of forg'd l.
*1H6 1740 so let us still continue peace, and l.
*1H6 1787 if you forsake the offer of their l.
*1H6 1916 I owe him little duty, and less l.
*1H6 2295 before thou make a trial of her l. ?
*1H6 2342 His l. — I am unworthy to be Henry's wife
*1H6 2407 heart, never yet taint with l., I send the king *1H6 2492 it was Alençon that enjoy'd my l.
*1H6 2604 where I may have fruition of her l.
*1H6 2645 to choose for wealth, and not for perfect l.
*1H6 2671 (as is fair Margaret) he be link'd in l.
*1H6 2677 attaint with any passion of inflaming l. [Fol. Jove]
*1H6 2700 with hope to find the like event in l.
*Con 24 th' excessive l. I bear unto your grace, forbids
*Con 148 and make a show of l. to proud Duke Humphrey
*Con 158 till Henry surfeiting in joys of l. with his new bride
*Con 391 believe me my l., thou wart [Q2 Q3 wert] much to [Q2 Q3 too] blame
*Con 1517 I fear my l., if I had been dead, thou wouldst not
*Con 1519 no my l., I should not mourn, but die for thee
*Con 1753 what comes [Q2 comest] thou in l. or as a messenger ?
*2H6 18 I can express no kinder sign of l. than this kind kiss
*2H6 23 if sympathy of l. unite our thoughts
*2H6 36 lords, with one cheerful voice, welcome my l.
*2H6 242 and make a show of l. to proud Duke Humphrey
*2H6 252 till Henry surfeiting in joys of l., with his new bride *2H6 416 thou rann'st a-tilt in honour of my l.
*2H6 1747 to tell my l. unto his dumb deaf trunk
*2H6 1854 and mere instinct of l. and loyalty
*2H6 2425 I fear me l. if that I had been dead, thou
*2H6 2427 no my l., I should not mourn, but die for thee
*2H6 2878 my sons, as pledges of my fealty and l.
*2H6 3068 with thy brave bearing should I be in l.
*TT 225 poor queen, her l. to me and to the prince her son makes her
*TT 625 'twas l. I bear thy glories made me speak
*TT 971 my l. and fear glued many friends to thee
*TT 1071 from Scotland am I stoln even of pure l.
*TT 1153 what l. dost thou think I sue so much to get ?
*TT 1156 no by my troth, I meant [Q2 meane] no such l.
*TT 1174 and she shall be my l. or else my queen
*TT 1181 and that is to enjoy thee for my l.
*TT 1225 why l. did scorn me in my mother's womb
*TT 1255 I come in kindness and unfeignèd l., first to *TT 1264 I am commanded with your l. and favour, humbly to
*TT 1313 what is his l. to our sister Bona ?
*TT 1317 that this his l. was an eternal plant, the *TT 1349 this proveth Edward's l., and Warwick's honesty
*TT 1393 and give thy hand to Warwick for thy l.
*TT 1426 why the Lady Grey, may not be my l. and England's queen ?
*TT 1463 forbear my l. to fawn upon their frowns
*TT 1527 hath pawn'd an open hand in sign of l.
*TT 2053 I that have neither pity, l. nor fear
*TT 2067 and this word l. which grey-beards term divine, be *3H6 274 poor queen, how l. to me, and to her son, hath *3H6 626 trimm'd like a younker, prancing to his l.
*3H6 761 'tis l. I bear thy glories make me speak
*3H6 1205 my l. and fear ; glued many friends to thee
*3H6 1325 from Scotland am I stoln even of pure l.
*3H6 1483 but stay thee, 'tis the fruits of l. I mean
*3H6 1484 the fruits of l., I mean, my loving liege
*3H6 1486 what l., think'st thou, I sue so much to get ?
*3H6 1487 my l. till death, my humble thanks, my prayers
*3H6 1488 that l. which virtue begs, and virtue grants *3H6 1489 no, by my troth, I did not mean such l.
*3H6 1516 and she shall be my l., or else my queen
*3H6 1523 and that is, to enjoy thee for my l.
*3H6 1587 why l. forswore me in my mother's womb
*3H6 1656 that Henry, sole possessor of my l., is, of *3H6 1684 I come (in kindness and unfeigned l.) first, to *3H6 1701 springs not from Edward's well-meant honest l.
*3H6 1760 that this his l. was an external plant
*3H6 1797 thy sly conveyance, and thy lord's false l.
*3H6 1820 this proveth Edward's l., and Warwick's honesty
*3H6 1840 Warwick, these words have turn'd my hate, to l.
*3H6 1987 my l., forbear to fawn upon their frowns
*3H6 2041 I stay not for the l. of Edward, but the crown
*3H6 2073 hath pawn'd an open hand, in sign of l.
*3H6 2179 for l. of Edward's offspring in my womb
*3H6 2570 more than the nature of a brother's l.
*3H6 2921 I that have neither pity, l., nor fear
*3H6 2934 and this word [L.] which grey-beards call divine
*E3 34 but l. unto my country and the right
*E3 286 lest yielding here I pine in shameful l.
*E3 358 a ling'ring English siege of peevish l.
*E3 410 and to be enriched by thy sovereign's l.
*E3 458 upon this voluntary ground of l. !
*E3 466 her praise is as my l., both infinite
*E3 483 my l. shall brave the eye of heaven at noon
*E3 520 l. cannot sound well, but in lovers' tongues
*E3 556 that power of l., that I have power to give, thou hast
*E3 584 beg I do not, but I rather buy ; that is thy l.
*E3 585 for that l. of thine, in rich exchange, I tender to thee mine
*E3 588 you would profane the holy name of l.

*E3 589 that l. you offer me, you cannot give *E3 591 that l., you beg of me, I cannot give *E3 609 I know, my sovereign — in my husband's l.
*E3 630 I cannot beat, with reason and reproof, fond l. away
*E3 632 to bear my colours in this field of l.
*E3 677 the bonds of l. and duty 'twixt thyself and me
*E3 682 any ways, to be my mistress and my secret l.
*E3 700 but not true l. to be so charitable
*E3 869 but l. hath eyes as judgment to his steps
*E3 920 word of yea to my objection in thy beauteous l.?
*E3 924 that, my dearest l., can be no less than right
*E3 925 no less than right for right and tender l. for l.
*E3 928 my unwillingness, my husband's l.
*E3 935 those lets that stand between your highness' l. and mine
*E3 937 it is their lives, that stand between our l.
*E3 942 who living have that title in our l.
*E3 953 he swum an easy current for his l.
*E3 957 with their heart-bloods that keep our l. asunder
*E3 966 what says my fair l.? is she resolute?
*E3 974 and with this other I'll despatch my l.
*E3 1430 that th' other day was almost dead for l.?
*E3 1946 as full of charity and Christian l., commends
*E3 2313 and if this kindness hath deserv'd your l., learn 1T 1362 the Turkess let my l.'s maid lead away
JM 1818 I'll be Adonis, thou shalt be L.'s Queen
MP 614 shall slack my l.'s affection from his bent
*HLC 1 Hero's description of her l.'s
HLM 167 thence flew L.'s arrow with the golden head
HLM 199 and now begins Leander to display l.'s holy fire
HLM 228 excel all other, as thou in beauty dost exceed L.'s mother
HLM 234 who on L.'s seas more glorious wouldst appear?
HLM 306 the rites in which l.'s beauteous empress most delights
HLM 324 cold virginity, the gentle queen of l.'s sole enemy
HLM 556 mov'd by l.'s force, unto each other lep [V. R. leap]?
*HLC 849 l.'s edge is taken off, and that light flame
*HLC 860 shun l.'s stoln sports by that these lovers prove
*HLC 887 whose both hands limit both l.'s deities
*HLC 902 to L.'s sweet life this is the courtly carving
*HLC 915 he all l.'s goods [V. R. good] did show
*HLC 1182 for her l.'s sake, that with immortal wine should
*HLC 1212 men hate the joys as vain they took in l.'s estate
*HLC 1237 found such imperance in her l.'s beauties
*HLC 1247 that l.'s sweet life [V. R. l.] and sense should do it harm!
*HLC 1250 my l.'s grace parts no where, but it leaves something
*HLC 1292 would as quite fade in her l.'s holy fire
*HLC 1391 to show what death was hid in l.'s disguise
*HLC 1418 her beauties were with l.'s [V. R. l.] joys renew'd
*HLC 1805 l.'s special lession is to please the eye
*HLC 1857 be nimbly turn'd into L.'s self
*HLC 1872 where L.'s form is, L. is; L. is form
*HLC 1874 rose from the hand, L.'s sweetest instrument
*HLC 1945 of purpose made to cleave L.'s heart
*HLC 2072 Come, come, dear Night! L.'s mart of kisses
*HLC 2075 L.'s glory doth in darkness shine
*HLC 2108 L.'s rite claims more than banquets; rise!
*HLC 2117 L.'s rite claims more than banquets; rise!
*HLC 2125 L.'s rite claims more than banquets; rise!
*HLC 2145 Leander, with L.'s complete fleet mann'd
*HLC 2229 wants l.'s fire to make it mild and bright
*HLC 2348 and for his own l.'s sake, on his desires
*HLC 2386 the more he raz'd his l.'s life's fort
*HLC 2427 she fell on her l.'s bosom, hugged it fast
Ov 69 and such as seek l.'s wrack, shall follow thee
Ov 602 and 'tis suppos'd L.'s bow hath wounded thee
Ov 851 that some youth hurt, as I am, with L.'s bow
Ov 897 but furiously he follows [ed. B, follow] his l.'s fire
Ov 1279 let one wench cloy me with sweet l.'s delight
Ov 1287 he's happy who L.'s mutual skirmish slays [eds. B, C, layes]
Ov 1593 what lawful is, or we profess l.'s art Ov 2499 tender L.'s mother, a new poet get
*Epg 519 terms his l.'s beauty « silent eloquence »
*1H6 2599 do breed l.'s settled passions in my heart
HLM 7 on Hellespont, guilty of true-l.'s blood
1T 836 vowing our ls. to equal death and life
1T 1887 for their liberties, their ls., or lives!
MP 607 grant that our deeds may well deserve your ls.!
D 889 betwixt these two, whose ls. are so alike
D 1111 scorning our ls. and royal marriage-rites
D 1297 our kinsmen's ls. [Dyce, lives] and thousand guiltless souls
HLM 76 but my rude pen can hardly blazon forth the ls. of men
HLM 101 to meet their ls. : such as had none
HLM 490 seeing in their ls. the Fates were injurèd HLM 660 sweet-singing mermaids sported with their ls.
*HLC 855 and now, ye wanton Ls., and young Desires
*HLC 1042 willing it should die to ls., to passions, and society
*HLC 1696 their ls. might cover or extenuate it
*HLC 1969 to show the union married ls. should use
*HLC 2014 no bitterness of hate [V. R. no hate of bitternesse] should grow 'twixt married ls.
*HLC 2118 let fair nuptial ls. enfold your fruitless breasts
*HLC 2123 so must ye save your ls. a third
*HLC 2300 usurp, with long lives, ls., and lust the seats of Virtue
Ov 1746 soft ls. in time make hast
Ov 2032 to this I fondly ls. of floods [ed. C, floude] told plainly
Ov 2183 only our ls. let not such rich churls gain
Ov 2513 both Ls., to whom my heart long time did yield
*Con 291 the commons' ls. unto that haughty duke
*2H6 424 his ls. are brazen images of canonized saints
*TT 1591 Hastings, and Stanley, I will requite your ls.
*TT 2115 Having my country's peace, and brothers' ls. [Q3 omits the line] *3H6 2982 having my country's peace, and brothers' ls.
*HLC 1315 all that all-l.-deserving paradise
*2H6 3086 he that is truly dedicate to war, hath no self-l.
*Sel 99 the Janissaries l. him more than me
*Sel 876 and l. our emperor as well as thou
*Sel 910 for, by the heavens, I l. young Selimus
*Sel 913 and l. him much that favours me so much
*Sel 949 I l., I l. them dearly, but the l. which *Sel 1357 your Grace whom he did l. so much
*Sel 2010 that I may be thought to l. him well
*Sel 2122 I l. the fruit that treason brings, but *Sel 2249 if you l. your lives fly from the bounds of
*Loc 192 l. her, and take her, for she is thine own
*Loc 215 cherish and l. thy new-betrothed wife
*Loc 310 hearing the grand verbosity of my scripture, will l. me

*Loc 362 but to speak in plain terms, I l. you, mistress Dorothy
*Loc 831 so perish they that l. not Humber's weal!
*Loc 1354 and would you have me l. his slaughterer?
*Loc 1400 but as thou lov'st thy life, so l. thy wife
*Loc 1670 to l. and favour Lady Guendolen
*Loc 1693 peace to all those that l. and favour him!
*Loc 1708 and learn'd to l. proud Humber's concubine 1T 215 but, since I l. to live at liberty, as 1T 468 thirsting with sovereignty and [8vo with] l. of arms 1T 525 by such scald knaves as l. him not?
1T 829 in l. of honour and defence of right
1T 1042 being a shepherd, seem'd to l. you much 1T 1827 our l. of honour, loath to be enthrall'd to 1T 1972 every warrior that is rapt with l. of fame
2T 292 if thou wilt l. the wars and follow me
2T 1615 I cannot l., to be an emperess
2F 1275 both l. and serve the German Emperor 2F 1393 away! you l. me not to urge me thus 2F 2044 but thou didst l. the world
JMP 6 but such as l. me, guard me from their tongues
JM 515 the better; for we l. not to be seen
JM 598 to l., or, at the least, to pity
JM 760 one that I l. for his good father's sake
JM 972 dissemble, swear, protest, vow to l. [Dyce, vow l. to] him
JM 1014 if you l. me, no quarrels in my house
JM 1346 for thy sake, whom I so dearly l.
JM 1844 Sirrah Jew, as you l. your life, send me five
JM 1909 that he, who knows I l. him as myself, should write
JM 1943 l. thee! fill me three glasses
JM 1967 l. me little, l. me long: let music rumble
E2 12 not that I l. the city or the men, but that E2 16 what need the arctic people l. star-light, to whom E2 80 if you l. us, my lord, hate Gaveston
E2 100 your peers, that naturally would l. and honour you
E2 128 all Warwickshire will l. [Dyce, leave] him for my sake
E2 371 why should you l. him whom the world hates so?
E2 390 how fast they run to banish him I l.!
E2 492 cry quittance, madam, then, and l. not him
E2 494 and yet I l. in vain; he'll ne'er l. me
E2 599 I l. him more than he can Gaveston
E2 621 but will you l. me, if you find it so?
E2 839 sweet husband, be content; they all l. you
E2 840 they l. me not that hate my Gaveston
E2 979 I mean the peers, whom thou shouldst dearly l.
E2 1038 I dare not, for the people l. him well
E2 1061 and, Gaveston, think that I l. thee well
E2 1113 heavens can witness, I l. none but you
E2 1712 the lords of France l. England's gold so well
E2 2162 be thou persuaded that I l. thee well
MP 13 you see we l. you well, that link you in marriage
MP 771 I l. your minions! dote on them yourself
D 2 I l. thee well, say Juno what she will D 716 no; for thy sake I'll l. thy father well
D 801 yet now [Old ed. how] I swear, by heaven and him I l.
D 806 yet boast not, for I l. thee not
D 871 l. my Aeneas, and desire is thine
D 933 and meddle not with any that I l.
D 979 and, like the planets, ever l. to range!
D 993 and then — what then? Iarbas shall but l.
D 1047 never to like or l. any but her!
D 1138 I will not leave Iarbas, whom I l.
D 1389 so you 'll l. me, I care not if I do
HLM 162 a cypress-tree, under whose shade the wood-gods l. to be HLM 173 it lies not in our power to l. or hate
HLM 329 l., Hero, then, and be not tyrannous
HLM 369 she, poor soul, loving, assays, loving, not to l. at all
HLM 577 above our life we l. a steadfast friend
*HLC 922 did leave above, as soul to the dead water that did l.
*HLC 1217 before we l., how range we through this sphere
*HLC 1783 women never l. beauty in their sex, but envy ever
*HLC 1856 move him to make him l. or stay
Ov 93 either l., or cause that I may never [ed. A, omits] hate Ov 94 I crave [eds. B, C, aske] too much: would she but let me l. her!
Ov 97 accept him that will l. with [ed. A, l. thee with] spotless truth Ov 106 I l. but one, and her [ed. A, he] I l. change never Ov 123 while others touch the damsel I l. best?
Ov 325 whom I profess'd to l., I harm'd
Ov 524 he that will not grow slothful, let him l.
Ov 588 to give I l., but to be ask'd disdain
Ov 949 we seek that, through thee, safely l. we may Ov 980 a hundred reasons make me ever l.
Ov 998 who would not l. those hands [ed. A, those nimble hands] for their swift running?
Ov 1006 both short and long please me, for I l. both Ov 1262 for now I l. two women equally
Ov 1527 elms l. the vines; the vines with elms abide Ov 1582 «Ay me!» she cries, «to l. why art asham'd»!
Ov 1623 nothing I l. that at all times avails me
Ov 1908 few l. what others have unguarded left
Ov 2346 I'll hate, if I can; if not, l. 'gainst my will Ov 2349 I loathe her manners, l. her body's feature Ov 2361 wilt have me willing, or to l. by force?
Ov 2363 that I may l. yet, though against my mind
Ov 2486 then thee whom I must l., I hate in vain
*Ign 1 I l. thee not for sacred chastity
*Ign 3 I l. thee not for thy sweet modesty
*Ign 5 I l. thee not for thy enchanting eye
*Ign 7 I l. thee not for unchaste luxury
*Ign 9 I l. thee not for that my soul doth dance and *Ign 13 I l. thee not for voice or slender small
*Ign 31 sweet wench, I l. thee: yet I will not sue
*Ign 32 or show my l. as musky courtiers do
*Ign 39 well-featur'd lass, thou know'st I l. thee dear
Dia 71 no, by my troth, I l. the fool the best
*Epg 5 where all good wits and spirits l. [MS. ls.] to be *Epg 6 fall in between their hands that praise and l. thee [So Dyce]
*Epg 6 fall in between their hands that l. and praise thee [So Eds.]
*Epg 6 fall in between their hands that seem to l. thee [So MS.]
*Epg 116 Gella, if thou dost l. thyself, take heed
*1H6 865 I l. no colours: and without all colour of *1H6 1204 stay, stay, I say: and if you l. me, as you say
*1H6 1714 henceforth I charge you, as you l. our favour *1H6 1734 both are my kinsmen, and I l. them both *1H6 1941 O, if you l. my mother, dishonour not her
*1H6 2616 to l. and honour Henry as her lord
*Con 1177 and therefore if you l. your subjects' weal, they wish

*2H6 277 O Nell, sweet Nell, if thou dost l. thy lord *2H6 402 and as for you that l. to be protected under the *2H6 523 as I in duty l. my king and country
*2H6 2376 and you that l. the commons, follow me
*2H6 2714 and show'd how well you l. your prince and country
*TT 1148 an easy task, 'tis but to l. a king
*TT 1392 l. her son Edward, she is fair and young
*TT 1496 all you that l. me and Warwick follow me
*TT 2105 l. [Q3 Pray l.] my lovely queen, and kiss your
*TT 2110 and that I l. the fruit from whence thou sprang'st, witness
*3H6 647 you l. the breeder better than the male
*3H6 1199 not that I fear to stay, but that I l. to go
*3H6 1274 thou didst l. York, and I am son to York
*3H6 1453 now tell me, madam, do you l. your children?
*3H6 1455 ay, full as dearly as I l. myself
*3H6 1477 an easy task, 'tis but to l. a king
*3H6 1991 nay, whom they shall obey, and l. thee too
*3H6 2038 you that l. me, and Warwick, follow me
*3H6 2052 tell me, if you l. Warwick more than me
*3H6 2472 then why should they l. Edward more than me?
*3H6 2972 Clarence and Gloster, l. my lovely queen
*3H6 2977 and that I l. the tree from whence thou sprang'st
*E3 697 I'll say, it is true charity to l.
*E3 948 I cannot think you l. me as you say unless
*E3 976 when they are gone, then I'll consent to l.
*Sel 91 Acomat ls. to court it with his wife
*Sel 540 no doubt thy father ls. thee, Selimus
*Sel 1030 O how much dearer ls. he me than they!
*Sel 1392 that ls. to be great in his people's grace
*Sel 2271 yet ls. she him better than Selimus
*Sel 2310 he ls. not me that ls. mine enemies
*Loc 929 he ls. not most that doth lament the most 1F 465 to God? he ls. thee not 1F 829 one that ls. an inch of raw mutton better than 2F 412 turn to God again!» Why, he ls. thee not 2F 748 I am one that ls. an inch of raw mutton better 2F 2075 he that ls. pleasure must for pleasure fall
JM 882 he ls. my daughter, and she holds him dear
JM 1028 why, ls. she Don Mathias?
JM 1294 gives great presumption that she ls. me not
JM 1748 that she ls. me ever since she saw me
JM 1771 an ye did but know how she ls. you, sir!
JM 1773 nay, I care not how much she ls. me
E2 372 because he ls. me more than all the world
E2 491 and he confesseth that he ls. me not!
E2 734 no, his companion; for he ls. me well
E2 974 who ls. thee, but a sort of flatterers?
E2 1620 'a ls. me better than a thousand Spensers
MP 261 to hurt the nobleman his [Old ed. their] sovereign ls.
MP 1265 he ls. me not [the most] that sheds most tears, but he that D 658 I shall not be her son, she ls. me not
D 803 O, happy shall he be whom Dido ls.!
D 1028 nay, nothing; but Aeneas ls. me not
D 1594 he ls. me too-too well to serve me so
HLM 642 he that ls., the more he is restrain'd, the worse he fares
*HLC 1512 graceful Aedone that sweet pleasure ls.
*HLC 1890 ls. the high contents desert and virtue moves
Ov 457 beware, lest he, unrivall'd, ls. secure
Ov 831 so shall Lycoris whom he now ls. best
Ov 937 if he ls. not, deaf ears thou dost importune
Ov 938 or if he ls., thy tale breeds his misfortune
Ov 1017 nay, what is she that any Roman ls., but my Ov 1619 cruel is he that ls. whom none protect Ov 1660 to steal sands from the shore he ls. a-life
Ov 1802 champions please [B, pleace; C, place] Pollux, Castor ls. horsemen more
Ov 1858 or, if there be a god, he ls. fine wenches
Ov 2279 nor is she, though she ls. the fertile fields, a clown
*Ign 2 I l. thee not for sacred chastity, — who ls. for that?
*Epg 49 abhor a common seat, that ls. a common whore?
*Con 478 he knows his master ls. to be aloft [Q3 They know their master sores a Faulcons pitch]
*Con 830 with her that ls. him so, and hates us all
*2H6 203 so God help Warwick, as he ls. the land
*2H6 680 they know their master ls. to be aloft
*2H6 2642 who ls. the king, and will embrace his pardon
*2H6 2904 a poor esquire of Kent, that ls. his king *2H6 3086 he that ls. himself, hath not essentially, but by *TT 40 neither the king, nor him that ls. him best, the *3H6 45 neither the king, nor he that ls. him best, the Love-a.

*Loc 300 I burn, I burn, and I burn-a; in love, in love, and in l.

Love-blest.

*HLC 927 l. Leander was with love so fill'd

Loved.

*Sel 1138 an Armenian tiger that hath lost her l. whelps
*HLC 1517 Jove-l. Leucote, that pure brightness is
*E3 870 till too-much-l. glory dazzles them
*Sel 122 l. of your subjects and feared of your foes
*Sel 195 perhaps, my Lord, Selimus l. the dame
*Sel 203 he never would have l. mine enemy
*Sel 1079 to mock thy son that l. thee so dear
*Sel 1186 though Alemshae thy father l. me well
*Sel 1208 well, nephew, for thy father l. me well, I
*Sel 2204 old Bajazet l. Mustaffa dear unto his death
*Sel 2308 but for you l. the sons of Acomat 2T 1638 if you l. him, and it so precious?
1F 310 yes, Faustus, and most dearly l. of God
2F 294 yes, Faustus, and most dearly l. of God
2F 2069 were gluttons, and l. only delicates
JM 1031 Barabas, thou know'st I have l. thy daughter long
JM 1182 My son l. thine. — And so did Lodowick him
JM 1465 first to Don Lodowick: him I never l.
JM 1835 and told me he l. me for your sake
JM 1922 ne'er l. man servant as I do Ithamore
JM 2030 by the same token that the nuns l. rice
E2 112 for which, had not his highness l. him well, he E2 168 wouldst thou be l. and fear'd? receive my seal
E2 600 would he l. me but half so much!
E2 689 great Alexander l. Hephaestion
E2 693 the Roman Tully l. Octavius
E2 2386 fear'd am I more than l.; — let me be fear'd
E2 2607 and, had you l. him half so well as I, you could not HLM 95 why art thou not in love, and l. of all?
HLM 182 who ever l., that l. not at first sight?
HLM 626 burns where it cherish'd, murders where it l.
*HLC 1238 she had confidence Jove l. him too
*HLC 1654 he l. her more, to see the love Leander Hero bore
*HLC 1762 and as he was so l., he l. so too
*HLC 1766 Hymen l. with such transmission, that
*HLC 1939 and l. her tongue, only for quickness' sake
*HLC 2042 the maids that heard, so l. and did adore her
*HLC 2211 she l. it so, she griev'd to see it burn
*HLC 2217 thou wert l. for good, held high, given show
Ov 433 dissemble so, as l. he may be thought

Ov 538 while thou wert plain, I l. thy mind and face
Ov 788 so shall Lycon's whom he l. best
Ov 1186 great Agamemnon l. his servant Chrysëis
Ov 1600 doth say with her that l. th' Aonian harp
Ov 1964 what should I name Asop [Old eds. Aesope], that Thebe l.
Ov 1993 there shalt be l. : Ilia, lay fear aside
Ov 2097 with sweet words caus['d] deaf rocks to have l. [ed. B, moned; ed. C, moved]
Ov 2246 Delia, departing, « Happier l. », she saith, « Was I Ov 2370 who mine was call'd, whom I l. more than any *Con 1900 but I did kill the horse he l. so well
*2H6 884 how I have l. my king, and commonweal
*2H6 2621 for they l. well when they were alive
*2H6 3059 even of the bonny beast he l. so well
*3H6 229 hadst thou but l. him half so well as I
*E3 1337 thy labour rather to be fear'd than l.
*E3 1807 and, wheretofore I l. thee as Villiers, hereafter I'll Love-death.

*HLC 2447 and this [V. R. thus] true honour from their l. sprung

Love-deserving.

*HLC 1315 all that all-l. paradise

Lovedst.

JM 1244 admit thou l. not Lodowick for his sire [Old ed. sinne]
Ov 1108 vain-babbling speech and pleasant peace thou l.
*2H6 788 mass, thou l. plums well that wouldst venture so

Love-god.

*HLC 872 the treasure which the l. let him joy

Love-joys.

*HLC 1418 her beauties were with all love's [V. R. love] joys renew'd

Love-lays.

*E3 433 or who, but women, do our l. greet?

Lovelier.

1T 276 Zenocrate, l. than the l. of Jove

Loveliest.

1T 1212 Zenocrate, the l. maid alive
HLM 109 but, far above the l., Hero shin'd
Ov 1264 which is the l., it is hard to say

Loveliness.

HLM 428 was glad that she such l. and beauty had Lovely.

*Sel 980 and thou shalt have it, l. Acomat
*Sel 1671 and had fair Hebe for his l. bride
*Sel 1870 and beg a boon of l. Proserpine
*Sel 2218 but wherefore comes my l. Solyma?
*Loc 412 and hope to prosper in this l. isle
*Loc 501 and l. Estrild, fair and gracious
*Loc 503 thou shalt be queen of l. Albion
*Loc 505 and make thee queen of l. Albion
*Loc 621 Hector and Troilus, Priamus' l. sons
*Loc 834 thanks, l. Estrild, solace to my soul
*Loc 1621 down the Ley, unto the arch where l. Estrild lies
*Loc 1852 O l. Estrild, now the chase begins
*Loc 1946 nor doth thy husband, l. Guendolen
*Loc 1950 and by him lies his l. paramour 1T 1826 well, l. virgins, think our country's care, our 1T 1978 to feel the l. warmth of shepherds' flames
2T 205 Pygmalion's ivory girl, or l. Iö metamorphosèd
2T 261 sit up, and rest thee like a l. queen
2T 282 this l. boy, the youngest of the three 2T 341 well, l. boys, ye shall be emperors both 2T 897 whose l. faces never any view'd that 2T 1140 like l. Thetis, in a crystal robe
2T 2238 here, l. boys; what death forbids my life, that 1F 1460 more l. than the monarch of the sky
2F 1919 more l. than the monarch of the sky
JM 427 O, what has made my l. daughter sad?
JM 1813 and sail from hence to Greece, to l. Greece
E2 61 sometime a l. boy in Dian's shape
E2 1315 I shall never see my l. Pierce of Gaveston again
E2 1318 Edward, England's sovereign, son to the l. Eleanor of Spain
MP 761 you and your wife do both salute our l. minions
D 358 l. Aeneas, these are Carthage-walls
D 389 here let him sit. — Be merry, l. child
D 664 how l. is Ascanius when he smiles!
D 706 so l. is he, that, where'er he goes, the people swarm
D 834 to harm my sweet Ascanius' l. life
D 1256 and fan it in Aeneas' l. face!
D 1383 white swans, and many l. water-fowls
D 1660 look, sister, look! l. Aeneas' ships!
HLM 160 Sylvanus weeping for the l. boy that
*HLC 1417 bosom, and from thence she pluck'd his l. picture
*HLC 1491 O l. Hero, nothing is thy sin
*HLC 1680 for l. Mya was her consort vow'd
*HLC 1946 well were this l. beauty rid of her
*HLC 1963 before her went five l. children
*HLC 2320 see, l. sister! see, now Hero shines
Ov 342 my nails to scratch her l. cheeks I bent
*1H6 2607 the chief perfections of that l. dame
*Con 31 l. Queen Margaret sit down by my side
*Con 174 my l. Nell, far be it from my heart, to *Con 822 my l. Nell, what wouldst thou have me do?
*2H6 660 with him, the husband of this l. lady
*2H6 2416 this l. face, rul'd like a wandering planet over me
*TT 2105 love [Q3 Pray love] my l. queen, and kiss your *3H6 1102 ah! what a life were this? how sweet? how l.?
*3H6 2972 Clarence and Gloster, love my l. queen

Lovely-fair.

HLM 51 so l. was Hero, Venus' nun
HLM 693 play'd with a boy so l. [V. R. so faire] and kind

Love-pistle.

*Loc 309 I will 'dite an aliquant l. to her

Lover.

E2 743 it is about her l. Gaveston
D 594 and Helena betray'd Deiphobus, her l.
D 1272 fair sister Anna, lead my l. forth
D 1395 I'll have a husband, or else a l.
D 1402 a grave, and not a l. fits thy age
HLM 415 like an insolent commanding l., boasting his parentage
HLM 435 impos'd upon her l. such a task
*HLC 1800 to see 'gainst what an extreme stream a l. strives
*HLC 2360 and the poor l. took a little breath
Ov 248 exclud'st a l., how wouldst use a foe?
Ov 393 a rich l. plants his love on thee
Ov 428 poor l., with thy grandsires I exile thee
Ov 450 to teach thy l. what thy thoughts desire
Ov 488 her valiant l. follows without end
Ov 1648 her l. let her mock, that long will reign
Ov 1872 but when her l. came, had she turn'd back, the Ov 1953 if I a l. be by thee held back
Ov 2324 I saw when forth a tirèd l. went Dia 25 fie, Nan, why use thy old l. so
Dia 44 for she hath ls. two or three

*Epg 117 lest thou my rhymes [MS. lines] unto thy l. read
*Epg 118 thy l. seeth thy canker-eaten gums and rotten teeth
*E3 444 to music every summer-leaping swain compares his sun-burnt l.
*E3 504 « More fair and chaste than is the l. [Capell, queen] of shades
*E3 1007 my folly's siege against a faithful l.
JM 581 embracèd in a friendly l.'s arms
E2 1112 yes, yes, for Mortimer your l.'s sake
D 709 lest their gross eye-beams taint my l.'s cheeks
D 1057 hold, take these jewels at thy l.'s hand
HLM 585 now had the Morn espied her l.'s steeds
Ov 493 who but a soldier or a l.'s bold
Ov 506 the soldier's and poor l.'s work e'er was Ov 1886 a decent form, thin robe, a l.'s look E2 856 as the ls. of fair Danaë, when she was lock'd up in D 1515 do Trojans use to quit their ls. thus?
D 1540 O, no! the gods weigh not what ls. do
HLM 22 many a stain, made with the blood of wretched ls. slain
HLM 102 came ls. home from this great festival
HLM 191 these ls. parled by the touch of hands
HLM 522 the greeting these greedy ls. had at their first meeting?
HLM 567 which taught him all that elder ls. know
HLM 592 and kiss'd again, as ls. use [V. R. usde] to do
HLM 598 as pitying these ls., downward [V. R. downewards] creeps HLM 632 and love that is conceal'd betrays poor ls.
HLM 638 and nothing more than counsel ls. hate
*HLC 860 shun love's stoln sports by that these ls. prove *HLC 1207 two constant ls. being join'd in one
*HLC 1634 Night, incens'd by Fate, should wreck our ls.
*HLC 1637 she sends for two betrothèd ls.
*HLC 1678 two ls. that had long crav'd marriage-dues
*HLC 1750 intermix'd affections [V. R. affection] should invade two perfect ls.
*HLC 1754 that ls. were esteem'd in their full grace
*HLC 2001 then took he the disparent silks, and tied the ls.
Ov 55 unwilling ls. Love doth more torment than Ov 440 let him within hear barr'd-out ls. prate
Ov 479 all ls. war, and Cupid hath his tent
Ov 480 Attic, all ls. are to war far sent Ov 484 those in their ls. pretty maids desire
Ov 503 sooth [ed. C, Such], ls. watch till sleep the husband charms
Ov 839 and of sad ls. I'll be often read
Ov 1038 I knew your speech (what do not ls. see?)
Ov 1045 but such kind wenches let their ls. have Ov 1620 let us, both ls., hope and fear alike
Ov 2189 if of scorn'd ls. god be venger just Ov 2367 white birds to ls. did not always sing?
Ov 2376 the bawd I play; ls. to her I guide
EPF 17 as oft we see turtle-taught ls. either other close
Dia 11 [f]or were her ls. lords or kings
*HLC 863 together from their ls.' arms arose
*HLC 1271 Cyprides descends, presaging both the ls.' ends
*HLC 1668 to stay the frame of the true ls.' deaths
Ov 796 and in sad ls.' heads let me be found
Ov 2277 who thinks her to be glad at ls.' smart
*E3 520 love cannot sound well, but in ls.' tongues

Love-sick.

*Loc 1321 have so entrapp'd poor Locrine's l. heart
E2 382 the king is l. for his minion
*E3 1617 thou know'st King Edward for no wantonness, no l. cockney

Love-snared.

Ov 1554 l. Calypso is suppos'd to pray

Lovest.

*Sel 1025 ah Corcut! thou I see l. me indeed
*Sel 1436 here take thy hands, I know thou l. them well
*Loc 1400 but as thou l. thy life, so love thy wife 1F 617 if thou l. me, think no [added by Dyce] more of it 2F 555 and, if thou l. me, think no more of it
JM 697 Del Bosco, as thou l. and honour'st us, persuade JM 1020 Mathias, as thou l. me, not a word
JM 1942 there, if thou l. me, do not leave a drop
E2 508 as thou l. and tender'st me, be thou my advocate
E2 624 for thee, fair queen, if thou l. Gaveston
L 46 shall heaven (whom thou l.) receive with shouts
*1H6 42 name not religion, for thou l. the flesh
*TT 112 good brother as thou l. and honour'st arms, let's
*3H6 121 as thou l. and honourest arms, let's fight it out
*3H6 2641 thou l. me not: for, brother, if thou didst
*E3 2245 and, as thou l. me, lay thy consent to this

Love-suit.

*HLC 3 where he moves his worthy l.
*HLC 1056 for soft ls., with iron thunders chid

Loveth.

D 1034 I follow one that l. fame 'fore [Old ed. for] me

Loving.

*Sel 792 we thank thee, Vizier, for thy l. care
*Sel 861 rise up in arms against their l. father?
*Sel 968 embassador, how fares our l. son?
*Sel 1022 but gentle Corcut, like a l. son desires me live
*Sel 1616 how dutiful and l. he will be to Bajazet
*Sel 2156 to hearken to our l. Father's voice
*Sel 2228 thy neck so often folded in my l. arms
*Sel 2374 hast foully slain thy l. father, noble Bajazet?
*Loc 654 « And that which grieves me most, my l. wife »
*Loc 949 thanks, l. uncle, and good brother too
*Loc 1077 my first wife was a l. quiet wench
*Loc 1934 clasping each other in their feebled arms, with l. zeal
*Loc 1983 ah! l. parents, little do you know what sorrow 1T 842 resolve, my lords and l. soldiers, now to 1T 1542 Techelles, and my l. followers, now
1T 1815 and use us like a l. conqueror
1T 1852 leave us, my lord, and l. countrymen
1T 1876 in prime and glory of his l. joy 1T 2317 and now, my lords and l. followers, that 2T 396 your presence, l. friends and fellow-kings, makes 2T 716 let me take leave of these my l. sons
2T 1112 therefore die by thy l. mother's hand 2T 1343 but now, my followers and my l. friends, the 2T 1602 and meet my husband and my l. son
2T 1825 and use us like a l. conqueror
E2 1753 now lords, our l. friends and countrymen, welcome
E2 1819 deal you, my lords, in this, my l. lords, as E2 1846 your l. care in this deserveth princely favours
E2 1998 for kind and l. hast thou always been E2 2613 traitor, in me my l. father speaks
MP 550 O, no, my l. brother of Navarre!
MP 601 a l. mother to preserve thy state
MP 980 good morrow to my l. cousin of Guise
D 1147 Iarbas, stay, l. Iarbas, stay!
Ov 1138 and l. doves kiss eagerly together
Ov 1459 wherein is seen the giver's l. mind
*1H6 714 like to a pair of l. turtle-doves, that *1H6 999 my lord, your l. nephew now is come

*1H6 1237 see here my friends and l. countrymen, this token *1H6 1242 Oh l. uncle, kind Duke of Gloster, how *1H6 1258 therefore my l. lords, our pleasure is, that *1H6 2405 no l. token to his majesty?
*Con 1187 tell them we thank them all for [Q2 for all] their l. care
*2H6 1872 your l. uncle, twenty times his worth
*2H6 1886 I thank them for their tender l. care
*TT 648 among the l. Welshmen canst procure
*TT 692 and raise his issue like a l. sire
*TT 1719 my sovereign with his l. citizens, shall rest in London
*TT 1737 say Summerfield where is my l. son?
*TT 1867 we are advertised by our l. friends, that
*TT 1875 welcome to England my l. friends of France
*TT 2111 witness the l. kiss I give the child
*3H6 651 your princely father, and my l. lord *3H6 783 amongst the l. Welshmen canst procure
*3H6 834 and raise his issue like a l. sire
*3H6 1484 the fruits of love, I mean, my l. liege
*3H6 1964 unto the brother of your l. bride
*3H6 2444 my sovereign, with the l. citizens, like to *3H6 2455 sweet Oxford, and my l. Montague, and all
*3H6 2496 say Somerville, what says my l. son?
*3H6 2674 we are advertis'd by our l. friends, that *3H6 2978 witness the l. kiss I give the fruit
*E3 1229 like unnatural sons forsake your l. parents in distress
*E3 1413 lords and my l. subjects, now's the time that
*E3 2216 and lopp'd a true friend from my l. son?
*HLC 1518 the other bounty-l. Dapsilis
*HLC 1379 snares for the stubble-l. grasshopper
*E3 940 my thrice-l. liege, your queen, and Salisbury
JM 1295 or l., doth dislike of something done
JM 2248 thus, l. neither, will I live with both
E2 2646 for l. thee, is this report rais'd on poor Isabel
HLM 369 she, poor soul, assays, l., not to love at all
Ov 1433 myself, that better die with l. may

Lovingly.

E2 1476 and l. advise your grace to cherish virtue and nobility
*E3 502 as l. as on the fragrant rose

Low.

*Sel 505 when his pittering streams are l. and thin
1T 1454 fall prostrate on the l. disdainful earth 1T 1517 ambitious pride shall make thee fall as l.
2T 112 and tell me whether I should stoop so l., or 2T 1070 which, till it may defend you, labour l.
*JMS 16 thus l. dejected, we your pardon crave
JM 754 and duck as l. as any bare-foot friar
E2 759 or making l. legs to a nobleman, or looking downward
E2 880 whose mounting thoughts did never creep so l.
D 1037 if that your majesty can look so l. as my despisèd worths
HLM 659 in l. coral groves sweet-singing mermaids sported
*HLC 2218 poor virtue loath'd for good, obscur'd, held l.
*HLC 2399 she bow'd herself so l. out of her tower, that Ov 814 Callimachus, though in invention l., shall still be sung
Ov 1000 with a majesty folds up her arms, and makes l. courtesy
L 660 kind Jupiter hath l. declin'd himself
*Epg 334 when Priscus, rais'd from l. to high estate, rode *2H6 275 and never more abase our sights so l., as to *TT 413 a crown for York? and lords bow l. to him
*3H6 513 a crown for York? and lords, bow l. to him
*3H6 2251 by living l., where Fortune cannot hurt me
*3H6 2542 than bear so l. a sail, to strike to thee
*3H6 2620 and kept l. shrubs from winter's powerful wind
*E3 2283 beholds us now l. brought through misery

Low-Countries.

*HLC 2270 hath seen the hot L., not their heat

Lower.

*HLC 1890 female pride loathing the l. place, more than
*E3 276 in duty l. than the ground I kneel
*E3 1106 shall pitch your battles on the l. hand

Lower : see Lour

Lowest.

*Sel 135 the l. land [Grosart, bank] and damnèd spirits' holt
*Sel 2559 or he himself will sink to l. hell
2T 1706 haling him headlong to the l. hell!
2F 1475 thence pitch them headlong to the l. hell

Lowing.

*2H6 1427 and as the dam runs l. up and down, looking Lowliness.

*1H6 2613 but with as humble l. of mind

Lowly.

*Loc 1696 arise, fair lady, leave this l. cheer
E2 397 and enforce the papal towers to kiss the l. ground
E2 2004 [and] highly scorning that the l. earth should drink his blood, mounts
E2 2383 with a l. congè to the ground the proudest lords salute me
MP 1226 and enforce [Old ed. incense] the papal towers to kiss the holy [Dyce, l.] earth
Ov 1361 no little ditchèd towns, no l. walls, but to my *1H6 1486 as looks the mother on her l. babe, when death
*Con 1332 blood of Lancaster, cannot be shed by such a l. swain
*2H6 1340 and l. words were ransom for the fault
*2H6 2102 obscure and l. swain, King Henry's blood, the *2H6 2163 it is impossible that I should die by such a l. vassal
*E3 60 thou do him l. homage for the same
*E3 2332 with a l. mind doth vail the bonnet of his victory
*E3 2436 and l. at his stirrup, comes afoot King John of France

Lown.

E2 377 for shame, subscribe, and let the l. depart

Loyal.

*Sel 126 fear that we your l. peers would prove dis*l.*
*Sel 644 as thou dost fly from l. Selimus
*Sel 646 as thou dost injure l. Selimus
*Sel 946 Mustaffa is a l. friend unto prince Selimus
*Sel 1065 O how thou speakest ever like thyself, l. Mustaffa!
*Sel 2419 as well as thou hast took his l. queen
*Loc 22 most l. lords, and faithful followers, that
*Loc 91 if aught your l. peers accomplish may, to
*Loc 161 then, l. peers, since you are all agreed
*1H6 1282 engenders love amongst his subjects, and his l. friends
*Con 901 unless thou prove more l. than thou art
*2H6 1307 unless thou wert more l. than thou art
*TT 1648 as every l. subject ought to do
*3H6 2379 as every l. subject ought to do
*E3 610 who now doth l. service in his wars
*E3 1027 that they are now so l. in themselves?

*E3 2231 till I did see my liege, thy royal [A, B, l.] father Loyalty.
*1H6 1542 and with submissive l. of heart, ascribes the glory
*2H6 1416 in thy face I see the map of honour, truth, and l.
*2H6 1854 and mere instinct of love and l.
*2H6 2996 Oh where is faith? Oh, where is l.?
*TT 1387 this shall assure my constant l.
*TT 1386 what assurance I shall have of thy true l.?
*3H6 1881 what pledge have we of thy firm l.?
*3H6 1882 this shall assure my constant l.
Lubbers.
2F 1112 My wine gone too! — Ye l., look about Lubeck.
JM 1570 Frankfort, L., Moscow, and where not Luca.
L 585 the gravest, Arruns, dwelt in forsaken L. [Old ed. Leuca] Lucan.
HL (Title) Whereunto is added the First Book of L. translated line for line
*LD 5 a familiar of your own, L.'s First Book translated Luce.
L (Title) at the sign of the Flower de L. in Paul's Churchyard
*2H6 2840 on which I'll toss the flower-de-l. of France
*E3 1088 dare he already crop the flower-de-l.?
*E3 1241 shall carry hence the flower-de-l. of France
*1H6 81 cropp'd are the flower-de-ls. in your arms *1H6 278 sword, deck'd with the flower-de-ls. on each side Lucifer.
*Loc 481 and L., mounted upon his steed, brings in the chariot
L 233 when L. did shine alone, and some dim stars
1F 284 I am a servant to great L.
1F 307 tell me what is that L. thy lord?
1F 309 was not that L. an angel once?
1F 315 and what are you that live with L.?
1F 315 unhappy spirits that fell with L.
1F 316 conspir'd against our God with L.
1F 317 and are for ever damn'd with L.
1F 332 go bear those [Dyce, these] tidings to great L.
1F 343 go and return to mighty L.
1F 482 and bring glad tidings from great L.
1F 485 now tell me [added by Dyce] what says L., thy lord?
1F 491 blood; for that security craves great L.
1F 506 great L. may claim it as his own
1F 507 and then be thou as great as L.
1F 530 and Faustus hath bequeath'd his soul to L.
1F 548 Faustus, I swear by hell and L. to 1F 561 do give both body and soul to L.
1F 591 the scroll wherein thou hast given thy soul to L.
1F 623 as beautiful as was bright L. before his fall
1F 744 I am L., and this is my companion-prince in hell
1F 843 great thanks, mighty L.! this will I keep 1F 846 farewell, great L.
1F 1429 that durst dissuade me from thy L.
1F 1440 and keep mine oath I made to L.
1F 1511 Who, Faustus? L. and Mephistophilis
1F 1563 yet will I call on him: O, spare me, L.!
1F 1595 no, Faustus, curse thyself, curse L.
1F 1598 or L. will bear thee quick to hell!
1F 1603 ugly hell, gape not! come not, L.!
2F 268 I am a servant to great L.
2F 291 tell me what is that L. thy lord?
2F 293 was not that L. an angel once?
2F 298 and what are you that live with L.?
2F 299 unhappy spirits, that live [Dyce, fell] with L.
2F 300 conspir'd against our God with L.
2F 301 and are for ever damn'd with L.
2F 316 go bear these tidings to great L.
2F 327 go, and return to mighty L.
2F 430 and bring glad tidings from great L.
2F 433 now tell me what saith L., thy lord?
2F 439 blood; for that security craves L.
2F 454 great L. may claim it as his own
2F 455 and [1624, 1631, omit] then be thou as great as L.
2F 478 and Faustus hath bequeath'd his soul to L.
2F 495 Faustus, I swear by hell and L. to
2F 508 do give both body and soul to L.
2F 537 the scroll in which thou hast given thy soul to L.
2F 561 as beautiful as was bright L. before his fall
2F 665 I am L., and this is my companion-prince in hell
2F 760 thanks mighty L.! this will I keep 2F 762 Now, Faustus, farewell. — Farewell, great L.
2F 927 proud L., that state belongs to me
2F 1884 I will confirm the former vow I made to L.
2F 1888 that durst dissuade me from thy L.
2F 1899 and keep my vow [Dyce, oath] I made to L.
2F 1994 Who, Faustus? — Why, L. and Mephistophilis
2F 2094 O, spare me, L.!
2F 2124 no, Faustus, curse thyself, curse L.
2F 2127 or L. will bear thee quick to hell!
2F 2132 ugly hell, gape not! come not, L.!
1F 510 with my proper blood assure my soul to be great L.'s 2F 458 with his proper blood assures his soul to be great L.'s Lucina.
Ov 1404 my wench, L., I entreat thee favour
*Sel 2224 when fair L.'s shining wain was past the chair of bright Cassiopey Luck.
*Loc 359 alas, mistress Dorothy, this is my l., that
*Loc 1077 masters, I think it be my l.
D 239 wishing good l. unto thy wandering steps Ov 2178 soldiers by blood to be enrich'd have l.
Luckless.
*Sel 172 and see, here comes a l. messenger
*Sel 701 ah l. fault of my Cherseoli!
*Sel 1273 his sister, poor Zonara [l. maid]
*Loc 107 the unhappy slaughter of my l. sire
*Loc 1726 for he rejecteth l. Guendolen
*Loc 1752 makes me to lament my l. father's froward lechery
*Loc 1949 he murder'd lies by l. lot and froward frowning fate
JM 463 what, will you thus oppose me, l. stars
Ov 628 hence, l. tables! funeral wood, be flying!
*TT 2030 the night-crow cried, aboding l. tune
*3H6 1217 I, and ten thousand in this l. realm, had *3H6 2897 the night-crow cried, aboding l. time
*E3 1381 or, l. curst, receive eternal shame!
Lucky.
MP 300 in l. time: come, let us keep this lane
*2H6 1505 'tis meet that l. ruler be employ'd Lucos.
*Loc 796 Qui regitis rigido Stygios moderamine l.
Lucre.
*1H6 2560 shall I for l. of the rest unvanquish'd, detract
JM 1551 that would for l.'s sake have sold my soul
Lucrecia-Walls.
MP 1174 then here we'll lie before L. [Dyce, Lutetia-Walls]

Lucretius.
Ov 781 lofty L. shall live that hour that Ov 824 then shall L.' lofty numbers die when earth
Luctificâ.
Ept 4 Insons, l. sparsis cervice capillis
Lucy.
*1H6 1892 here is Sir William L., who with me set from Luffed.
JM 687 then we l. and tack'd [Old ed. left, and tooke], and fought at ease
Luke-warm.
*Sel 2379 go, wash thy guilty hands in l. blood
*Loc 593 were bathed in our enemies' l. blood
*Loc 1939 that I may glut my mind with l. blood 1F 469 and offer l. blood of new-born babes
2F 416 and offer l. blood of new-born babes
HLM 752 and in her l. place Leander lay
Ov 957 if ever wench had made l. thy love
*Con 1921 all smear'd and welter'd in his l. blood
*3H6 317 dy'd even in the l. blood of Henry's heart Lull.
*TT 1222 and l. myself within a lady's lap
Lullaby.
*Loc 1438 leaning her back against the bed, singing l.
Lulled.
D 1457 who ever since hath l. me in her arms
Lumen.
Ept 5 Plange ! fori l., venerandae gloria legis
Lump.
JM 418 think me to be a senseless l. of clay
*1H6 980 (unable to support this l. of clay)
*2H6 2986 hence heap of wrath, foul indigested l.
*TT 2036 an undigest-created l., not like the fruit of such a goodly tree *3H6 2903 to wit, an indigested and deformed l.
Lunacy.
1F 473 rather illusions, fruits of l.
2F 421 rather illusions, fruits of l.
2F 1933 how should he but in desperate l. ?
D 1682 found a mean to rid me from these thoughts of l.
Lunae.
L 585 dwelt in forsaken Luca [Old ed. Leuca, with a marginal note, — or L.]
Lunatic.
E2 2105 ah, pardon me ! grief makes me l.
Lure.
1T 1253 strokes to wound the senseless l. [Dyce, light]
*Loc 204 I will not stand aloof from off the l.
Lurk.
MP 745 but he doth l. within his drowsy couch
MP 1267 fire Paris, where these treacherous rebels l.
Ov 166 I and my wench oft under clothes did l.
*1H6 2413 there Minotaurs and ugly treasons l.
Ov 466 under sweet honey deadly poison ls.
*3H6 2346 threshold, are well fore-told, that danger ls. within Lurked.
*HLC 1383 reeds about her sprung, where l. two foxes
*E3 271 what strange enchantment l. in those her eyes Lurketh.
*Sel 37 for hidden mischief l. in the dark
Lurking.
*TT 685 whose [Q2 Q3 Who] scapes the l. serpents mortal sting ?
*3H6 827 who scapes the l. serpent's mortal sting ?
*2H6 2975 they may astonish these fell-l. curs
*Sel 747 we like earth-worms l. in the weeds do live inglorious
*TT 1533 his soldiers l. in the town about
*3H6 2079 his soldiers l. in the town about Lust.
*Sel 2391 fleshing themselves in murder, l., and rape 1T 1609 as concubine, I fear, to feed his l.
2T 1744 the violence of thy common soldiers' l. ?
MP 689 am I grown old, or is thy l. grown young ?
HLM 463 murder, rape, war, and [omitted in several 4tos] l.
*HLC 2300 usurp, with long lives, loves, and l. the seats of Virtue
Ov 1171 to take repulse, and cause her show my l. ?
Ov 2348 I fly her l., but follow beauty's creature
L 8 huge l. of war, hath made barbarians drunk with Latin blood ?
*AT 65 his l. was lawless as his life, and brought about his death
*Epg 352 for his l. sleeps, and will not rise before *3H6 1851 for matching more for wanton l., than honour
*E3 767 consent to be an actor in his graceless l.
*E3 889 l. is a fire ; and men, like lanthorns, show
*E3 890 men, like lanthorns, show light l. within themselves
*E3 1338 to satisfy thy l. in either part, here am I come
*HLC 878 for lust's plague, doth perish with possessing
*Loc 1819 with filthy crimes, or with lascivious ls. ?
*Loc 1821 thy filthy mind, o'ercome with filthy ls.
*1H6 2462 but you that are polluted with your ls.
Lustful.
*Sel 780 that prince that follows l. game, and MP 695 a cloudy mist, in sight and judgment of thy l. eye ?
D 829 but l. Jove and his adulterous child shall find
HLM 684 and, as he turn'd, cast many a l. glance
Ov 1283 pleasure adds fuel to my l. fire
*1H6 1355 encompass'd with thy l. paramours
*3H6 1563 the l. Edward's title buried Lustily.
*Loc 1447 and taking her l. by the middle, I [Hazlitt omits]
*Con 1581 marry he that will l. stand to it, shall Lustless.
1T 1172 he shall be made a chaste and l. eunuch
Ov 1604 the step-dame read Hippolytus' l. line Lustration.
L 593 priests that with divine l. purg'd the walls
Lusty.
*Loc 38 even as the l. cedar worn with years
*Loc 507 and furnish up our l. soldiers
1T 1111 janizaries, mounted on l. Mauritanian steeds
1T 1571 or Cephalus, with l. [4to omits] Theban youths
2T 1276 methinks the slave should make a l. thief
2T 1547 as when an herd of l. Cimbrian bulls run
1F 178 that I may conjure in some l. grove
E2 1169 yet, l. lords, I have escap'd your hands
E2 1531 now, l. lords, now not by chance of war, but justice
E2 1556 these l. leaders, Warwick and Lancaster
MP 500 now, madam, how like you our l. Admiral ?
HLM 665 the l. god embrac'd him, call'd him « love »
Ov 212 how large a leg, and what a l. thigh !
Ov 2058 being youthful, hot, and l., I prove neither youth nor man
Dia 17 fie, l. younker, what do you here
*TT 395 the wanton Edward, and the l. George ?
*3H6 493 the wanton Edward, and the l. George ?

*E3 143 let them be soldiers of a l. spirit
*E3 389 is well read in poetry and hath a l. and persuasive spirit
*E3 872 the drum that struck the l. march stands with *E3 1494 to dignify whose l. spirit the more, we
*E3 2243 with l. and dear hazard of their lives Lute.
*Loc 261 play'dst thou as sweet on the sweet-sounding l.
*Loc 1926 my fingers, used to tune the amorous l.
2T 274 their fingers made to quaver on a l.
JM 1970 must tuna my l. for sound, twang, twang, first
*HLC 1644 the wild nymph Teras, that still bears an ivory l.
*HLC 1712 and fingering of a silver l.
*HLC 2070 strange Teras touch'd her l., and sung this ditty
Ov 997 or if one touch the l. with art and cunning
*1H6 514 like thee, play on the l., beholding the towns burn
*E3 855 go, bid the drummer learn to touch the l.
Lutetia-Walls.
MP 1174 then here we'll lie before L. [Old ed. Lucrecia-Walls]
Lutherans.
MP 287 chief standard-bearer to the L.
MP 315 chief standard-bearer to the L.
Luxury.
*Ign 7 I love thee not for unchaste l.
Lycoris.
Ov 788 so shall L. whom he lovèd best
Ov 831 so shall L. whom he now loves best Lycum.
*Epg 486 In L. XLII
Lycurgus.
L 573 fiend which made the stern L. wound his thigh Lycus.
*Epg 487 L., which lately is [MS. that is of late] to Venice gone Lydian.
Ov 1691 the L. buskin in fit paces [Old eds. buskin fit places] kept her Lying.
Ov 1877 with l. lips my godhead to deceive
*Sel 1980 keeping your hands from l. and slandering
JM 1572 great sums of money l. in the banco
Ov 124 wilt, l. under him, his bosom clip?
Ov 994 she would be nimbler, l. with a man
Ov 1626 ah, often, that her hale [Old ed. haole] head ach'd, she l.
Ov 2278 and worshipp'd by their pain and l. apart?
Lyingest.
*Con 568 then Sander sit there, the l. knave in Christendom
*2H6 819 then Saunder, sit there, the l. knave in Christendom Lynn.
*TT 1589 come, to L., and so take shipping into Flanders
*3H6 2220 to L. my l., and shipp'd from thence to Flanders Lynxe's.
*Loc 1510 his wrathful eyes, piercing like l.' eyes Lysander's.
*Sel 1733 I like L. counsel passing well

M

Macareus.
Ov 1597 what thankless Jason, M., and Paris
Maccabees.
JM 894 as for the comment on M., I have it, sir
Mace.
*Sel 1391 he knows not how to sway the kingly m.
D 411 like pale Death's stony m., beats forth my senses
HLM 670 beat down the bold waves with his triple m.
HLM 707 he flung at him his m.; but, as it went, he call'd it in HLM 709 the m., returning back, his own hand hit
*HLC 2380 he hurl'd his marble m. at the stern Fates
*Con 1646 and to conclude, brave him with his own m.
*2H6 2626 with these borne before us, instead of ms.
Macedon.
*Epg 111 for what said Philip King of M.? « There is no castle Macedonia.
*Sel 2035 and cast him forth of M.
*Sel 2096 our brother Acomat is fled away from M.
Macedonian.
*Con 1348 threatens more plagues than Abradas, the great M. pirate 1T 153 the Ms. at the spoil of great Darius Macer.
Ov 1577 we, M., sit in Venus' slothful shade
Ov 1609 nor of thee, M., that resound'st forth arms, is *Epg 150 thou canst not speak yet [MS. of], M.; for to speak is Macerate.
*Loc 1625 I mean not so to m. my mind
Machda.
2T 432 and I have march'd along the river Nile to M.
Machiavel.
*JMS 8 you shall find him still, in all his projects, a sound M.
JMP 1 albeit the world think M. is dead, yet
JMP 7 and let them know that I am M.
*1H6 2493 Alençon that notorious M.?
*3H6 1627 and set the murtherous M. to school Macrum.
Ov 1574 Ad M., quod de amoribus scribat
*Epg 149 In M. XV.
Mad.
1T 949 so m. to manage arms with me
2T 756 raving, impatient, desperate, and m.
JM 466 think me so m. as I will hang myself
JM 938 and every moon made some or other m.
JM 1024 my death! what, is the base-born peasant m.?
HLM 644 what is it now but m. Leander dares?
*HLC 1448 it would bring asleep such as were m.
Ov 296 my mistress weeps whom my m. hand did harm
Ov 311 that I was m. and barbarous all men cried
Ov 2018 m. stream, why dost our mutual joys defer?
Ov 2312 long have I borne much; m. thy faults me [ed. C, we] make Ov 2387 and Scylla's womb m. raging dogs conceals
L 574 or fierce Agave m.; or like Megaera that scar'd Alcides
*Epg 145 and, m. with shame, did eke [Eds. B, C, then] her glove forget
*Epg 364 this old m. colt deserves a martyr's praise
*1H6 1857 m. ire, and wrathful fury makes me weep
*1H6 2304 he talks at randon: sure the man is m.
*1H6 2416 m. natural graces that extinguish art
*Con 1240 sometimes he raves and cries as he were m.
*Con 1258 where from thy [Q3 my] sight I should be raging m.
*Con 1840 what is he m.? to Bedlam with him

*2H6 2000 where from thy sight, I should be raging m.
*2H6 2960 to Bedlam with him, is the man grown m.
*2H6 2993 thou m. misleader of thy brain-sick son
*3H6 508 why art thou patient, man? thou shouldst be m.
*3H6 509 and I to make thee m., do mock thee thus *1H6 1823 but rather moody-m. : and desperate stags, turn on Madam.

JM 1742 he gave me a letter from one M. Bellamira
*Loc 451 m., where resolution leads the way, and
*Loc 1686 do not feign. — No, trust me, m.
*Loc 1736 m., if not your proper injuries, nor
*Loc 1755 see, m., see! the desire of revenge is 1T 221 but, tell me, m., is your grace betroth'd?
1T 233 m., whatsoever you esteem of this success 1T 442 and now, fair m., and my noble lords, if 1T 447 for you, then, m., I am out of doubt
1T 983 M. Zenocrate, may I presume to know
1T 1274 m., she thinks perhaps she is too fine
1T 1322 here, m., you are empress; she is none 1T 1669 I pray you, give them leave, m.
1T 2140 ah, m., this their slavery hath enforc'd
1T 2167 m., content yourself, and be resolv'd
1T 2173 m., your father, and the Arabian king
2T 333 no, m., these are speeches fit for us
2T 1123 how now, m.! what are you doing?
2T 1162 m., sooner shall fire consume us both 2T 1167 m., I am so far in love with you, that 2T 1172 no, m., but the beginning of your joy
2T 1633 why, m., think you to mock me thus palpably?
1F 1311 but it may be, m., you take no delight in this 1F 1314 what is it, m.? tell me, and you shall have it 1F 1326 here they be, m. : wilt please you taste on them?
1F 1338 how do you like them, m.? be they good?
1F 1343 I am glad they content you so, m.
1F 1344 come, m., let us in, where you must well reward this 2F 1681 m., I will do more than this for your content
2F 1804 so are we, m.; which we will recompense
JM 518 but, m., this house and waters of this JM 896 yes, m., and my talk with him was about
JM 1186 nay, m., stay; that weapon was my son's
JM 2001 in Malta long? — Two, three, four month, m.
JM 2083 be patient, gentle m. : it was he E2 253 m., whither walks your majesty so fast?
E2 263 m., return unto the court again
E2 287 M., farewell. — Farewell, sweet Mortimer
E2 457 m., 'tis you that rob me of my lord
E2 489 m., how fares your grace?
E2 492 cry quittance, m., then, and love not him
E2 495 he'll ne'er love me. — Fear ye not m.
E2 501 for his repeal, m.! he comes not back
E2 505 but, m., would you have us call him home?
E2 793 it shall be done, m.
E2 1131 is 't him you seek? — No, m.
E2 1149 m., stay you within this castle here
E2 1156 m., I cannot stay to answer you
E2 1367 M., what news? — News of dishonour
E2 1378 m., in this matter we will employ you
E2 1390 m., we will that you with speed be shipp'd
E2 1616 m., return to England, and please my father well
E2 1626 M., what cheer? — Ah, good Sir John
E2 1630 but droop not, m.; noble minds contemn despair
E2 1649 m., long may you live much happier than E2 1665 but, m., right makes room where weapons want
E2 1696 m., along; and you, my lord[s], with me
E2 1741 welcome, o' God's name, m., and your son!
E2 1767 nay, m., if you be a warrior, you must E2 1821 m., without offence if I may ask, how E2 1830 m., 'tis good to look to him betimes
E2 1832 yea, m.; and they scape [1612, scapt] not easily
E2 1839 m., the mayor and citizens of Bristow in E2 1856 m., what resteth? why stand you in a muse!
E2 1859 m., have done with care and sad complaint
E2 1870 we in mean while, m., must take advice
E2 2156 think therefore, m., that imports us [1598, as] much
E2 2172 How fares my lord the king? — In health, m.
E2 2221 bear him this as witness of my love. — I will, m.
E2 2628 m., entreat not: I will rather die than E2 2645 I spill his blood! no [1612, 1621 omit]. — Ay, m., you
E2 2661 thus, m., 'tis the king's will you shall hence
E2 2663 that boots not; therefore, gentle m., go
MP 17 well, m., let that rest
MP 166 m., I beseech your grace to accept this simple gift
MP 208 m., it will be noted through the world an action bloody MP 226 well, m., I refer it to your majesty MP 231 Thus, m. They shall be actors in MP 500 now, m., how like you our lusty Admiral?
MP 505 no, by my faith, m.
MP 507 and now, as I understand, there are a hundred MP 517 m., I go as whirlwinds rage before a storm
MP 523 m., I have heard him solemnly vow, with MP 567 come without delay to us. — M., I will MP 648 m., as in secrecy I was told, my MP 652 now, m., must you insinuate with the king MP 665 Go fetch me pen and ink. — I will, m.
MP 685 but, m., I must see
D 392 m., you shall be my mother
D 784 no, m.; but it seems that these are kings
*1H6 747 bring the keys to me. — M., I will *1H6 755 m., according as your ladyship desir'd *1H6 758 what? is this the man? — M., it is *1H6 769 m., I have been bold to trouble you
*1H6 802 I tell you m., were the whole frame here, it is of *1H6 809 how say you m.? are you now persuaded
*1H6 2319 m., I have a secret to reveal
*1H6 2325 sweet m., give me hearing in a cause *1H6 2344 no gentle m., I unworthy am to *1H6 2347 how say you m., are ye so content?
*1H6 2350 and m., at your father's castle-walls, we'll *1H6 2399 farewell sweet m. : but hark you Margaret
*1H6 2404 but m., I must trouble you again
*Con 308 m. content yourself a little while
*Con 222 I have m., and they have promis'd me to *Con 315 but stay m., here comes the king
*Con 330 m. our king is old enough himself, to give his answer
*Con 334 m. I am but protector over [Q3 ore] the land
*Con 380 I cry you mercy m., I did mistake
*Con 413 m. your hawk they say, is swift of flight
*Con 453 what m. are you there? this will be great credit for your husband
*Con 858 m. let's go unto some house hereby *Con 979 and so think I m., for as you know, if *Con 995 m. I bring you news from Ireland
*Con 1016 well m. sith your grace is so content, let me
*Con 1022 m. I will, and leave such a band
*Con 1145 m. be still, with reverence may I say it, that *Con 1516 how now m., still lamenting and mourning for *Con 1528 come m., let us haste to Killingworth

*Con 1534 come m., let us go
*2H6 430 m. be patient : as I was the cause your *2H6 453 m., myself have lim'd a bush for her
*2H6 457 m. list to me, for I am bold to counsel you in this *2H6 481 m., the king is old enough himself to give his censure
*2H6 485 m., I am protector of the realm
*2H6 534 I cry you mercy, m. : was it you ?
*2H6 606 m., sit you, and fear not *2H6 630 what m., are you there ? the king and *2H6 636 true m., none at all : what call you this ?
*2H6 638 you m. shall with us. Stafford take her to thee
*2H6 883 m., for myself, to heaven I do appeal
*2H6 996 you m., for you are more nobly born, despoiled
*2H6 1192 why, m., that is to the Isle of Man
*2H6 1200 it is my office, and m. pardon me
*2H6 1203 m., your penance done, throw off this sheet
*2H6 1637 he doth revive again, m. be patient
*2H6 1810 m. be still : with reverence may I say, for *2H6 2423 how now m. ? still lamenting and
*TT 1263 and gracious m., in our king's behalf, I
*TT 1339 and these to you m., from whom I know not
*TT 1598 tell me good m., why is your grace so passionate of late ?
*3H6 1453 now tell me, m., do you love your children ?
*3H6 1692 and gracious m., in our king's behalf, I am *3H6 1804 and m., these for you : from whom I know not *3H6 2161 m., what makes you in this sudden change ?
*3H6 2175 yet gracious m., bear it as you may *3H6 2186 but m., where is Warwick then become ?

Madame.

JM 1979 A votre commandement, m.

Madan.

*Loc 1703 Enter Guendolen, Thrasimachus, M.
*Loc 1805 Thrasimachus, Guendolen, M., and their followers
*Loc 1933 Enter Guendolen, Thrasimachus, M.

Mad-brained.

*1H6 193 remaineth none but m. Salisbury

Mad-bred.

*2H6 1570 do calm the fury of this m. flaw

Madding.

L 69 and what made m. people shake off peace
*2H6 1720 when he to m. Dido would unfold his father's acts

Made.

*Sel 2005 they will not dream [that] I m. him away
E2 1039 why, then, we'll have him privily m. away
E2 1539 ah, rebels, recreants, you m. him away !
E2 1667 though a many friends are m. away, as Warwick
MP 900 it would be good the Guise were m. away
*Con 1053 and then Duke Humphrey, he well m. away, none then *2H6 1670 it may be judg'd I m. the duke away 1F 1028 did not I tell thee, we were for ever m. by this Doctor Faustus' book ?
1F 1235 now am I m. man for ever
2F 1554 O, joyful day ! now am I a m. man for ever
*Sel 755 the janissaries m. him flee to Ramir
*Sel 942 he m. me captain of the janissaries
*Sel 1158 till it a world of bleeding souls hath m.
*Sel 1633 that ghost which m. thee lose thy sight
*Sel 1805 first m. by Jove, for rest and quiet sleep
*Sel 2149 'tis He that m. this pure chrystaline vault
*Sel 2295 and m. a way for you to 'scape by flight
*Sel 2323 ah Selimus ! he m. thee emperor
*Sel 2346 by poison m. good Bajazet to die
*Loc 264 and m. stones, birds, and beasts, to lead a dance
*Loc 630 what mean you by these clamours made
*Loc 864 which m. him swell, that there his bowels burst
*Loc 872 with that his army m. of mongrel curs
*Loc 897 m. havoc of the faint-heart fugitives
*Loc 968 which shall be m. upon the virent plains
*Loc 1291 for cruel Death m. havoc of them all
*Loc 1448 and delighted her so with the sport I m.
1T 122 and m. their spoils from all our provinces
1T 143 whose ransom m. them march in coats of gold 1T 284 thy garments shall be m. of Median silk
1T 483 his merits show him to be m. his fortune's master 1T 490 though strait the passage and the port be m.
1T 803 that only m. him king to make us sport
1T 825 or of what mould or mettle he be m.
1T 857 entering at the breach thy sword hath m.
1T 878 and that m. me to join with Tamburlaine 1T 882 and that m. us, the friends of Tamburlaine, to 1T 888 the strangest men that ever nature m. !
1T 1127 that m. me emperor of Asia
1T 1172 he shall be m. a chaste and lustless eunuch
1T 1201 whose hands are m. to gripe a warlike lance
1T 1230 which lately m. all Europe quake for fear
1T 1285 and m. my lordly love her worthy king
1T 1495 it shall be said I m. it red myself
1T 1819 some m. your wives, and some your children
1T 1868 for whom the powers divine have m. the world
1T 1961 if these had m. one poem's period
1T 2004 till we have m. us ready for the field
1T 2274 mighty hath God and Mahomet m. thy hand 2TP 3 have m. our poet pen his Second Part 2T 60 but Fortune that hath m. him great 2T 88 and m. it dance upon the continent
2T 133 by Him that made the world and sav'd my soul
2T 229 shall I be m. a king for my labour ?
2T 274 their fingers m. to quaver on a lute
2T 286 and m. him so curvet as I cried out
2T 293 thou shalt be m. a king and reign with me
2T 426 and m. Canaria call us kings and lords
2T 435 and m. him swear obedience to my crown
2T 447 and, conquering that, m. haste to Nubia 2T 453 and m. a voyage into Europe
2T 476 m. betwixt the city Zula and Danubius
2T 498 the league we lately m. with King Orcanes 2T 554 methinks I see how glad the Christian king is m.
2T 936 the walls m. high and broad 2T 1051 volleys of ordnance, till the breach be m.
2T 1400 m. a victor in these haughty arms 2T 1474 m. of the mould whereof thyself consists 2T 1501 meteors of blood and fire thy tyrannies have m.
2T 1509 now am I m. arch-monarch of the world
2T 1570 stain'd thy cheeks, and m. thee look like death
2T 1678 and m. so wanton that they knew their strengths 2T 1799 the breach the enemy hath m.
2T 1879 that m. us all the labour for the town
2T 1897 could not enter till the breach was m.
2T 2002 have m. the water swell above the banks
2T 2045 kingdoms m. waste, brave cities sack'd
2T 2090 and m. his state an honour to the heavens
1F 141 and m. the flowering pride of Wertenberg
1F 145 whose shadow m. all Europe honour him
1F 549 to effect all promises between us m.
1F 655 'twas m. for man, therefore is man more excellent 1F 656 if it were m. for man, 'twas m. for me
1F 673 have not I m. blind Homer sing to me of 1F 677 m. music with my Mephistophilis?

1F 720 Tell me who m. the the world? — I will not 1F 729 think, Faustus, upon God that m. the world
1F 992 he would have his things rubbed and m. clean 1F 1124 when I hear but motion m. of him, it
1F 1425 I will confirm my former vow I m. to Lucifer
1F 1440 and keep mine oath I m. to Lucifer
2F 133 and m. the flowering pride of Wittenberg
2F 137 whose shadow m. all Europe honour him
2F 579 'twas m. for man; then he's more excellent 2F 580 if heaven was m. for man, 'twas m. for me
2F 594 have not I m. blind Homer sing to me of 2F 598 with ravishing sound of his melodious harp, m. music 2F 642 now tell me who m. the world?
2F 650 think, Faustus, upon God that m. the world
2F 1440 m. the grim monarch of infernal spirits tremble
2F 1470 and I had breath'd a man, m. free from harm
2F 1792 do you remember how you m. me wear an ape's 2F 1808 he has m. his will, and given me his wealth
2F 1835 m. Greece with ten years' war [Old eds. warres] afflict poor Troy?
2F 1884 I will confirm the former vow I m. to Lucifer
2F 1899 and keep my vow [Dyce, oath] I m. to Lucifer
*FB 10 and m. me Doctor in Divinity
*FB 25 for four-and-twenty years this bond was m.
*FB 29 would I had first been m. a beast by kind!
*JMS 21 in that age the Malta-Jew had being and was m.
JMP 20 might first m. kings, and laws were then
JM 1 so that of thus much that return was m.
JM 305 how can I multiply? of naught is nothing m.
JM 427 O, what has m. my lovely daughter sad?
JM 810 and m. my house a place for nuns most chaste
JM 902 come, I have m. a reasonable market; let's away
JM 938 and every moon m. some or other mad
JM 979 so cast about, that ye be both m. sure
JM 985 the account is m., for Lodovico [Old ed. Lodowicke] dies
JM 1078 it is enough that I have m. thee sure to Abigail
JM 1085 if any hurt be done, be m. an accessary of your deeds
JM 1180 Who m. them enemies? — I know not
JM 1266 he m. me see the difference of things
JM 1307 why, m. mine Abigail a nun
JM 1736 he m. such haste to his prayers
JM 2059 one dram of powder more had m. all sure
JM 2084 he forg'd the daring challenge m. them fight
JM 2155 walk about the ruin'd town, and see the wreck we m.
JM 2350 here have I m. a dainty gallery
JM 2432 till thy father hath m. good the ruins done
E2 107 barons and earls, your pride hath m. me mute
E2 218 that villain Gaveston is m. an earl
E2 675 for wot [1622, wrote] you not that I have m. him sure
E2 770 which m. me curate-like in mine attire
E2 855 thy absence m. me droop and pine away
E2 962 drawn thy treasury [1598, treasure] dry, and m. thee weak
E2 969 unto the walls of York the Scots m. [Dyce, make] road
E2 981 ballads and rhymes m. of thy overthrow
E2 992 m. this jig; Maids of England, sore may you mourn
E2 1764 who m. the channel overflow with blood
E2 1818 the Fates have m. his father so infortunate [1622, unfortunate]
E2 1887 have not in life or death m. miserable?
E2 1987 such as you are, have m. wise work in England
E2 2652 till further trial be m. thereof
MP 61 and m. it look with terror on the world
MP 63 and night m. semblance of the hue of hell
MP 126 sound, of so great matter should be m. the ground!
MP 438 that you were one that m. this massacre
MP 742 hath m. great suit unto the king therefore MP 1055 hath he not m. me, in the Pope's defence, to D 56 m. Hebe to direct her airy wheels into the D 221 and m. that way my mother Venus led D 8 as m. the blood run down about mine ears
D 273 thither m. we; when, suddenly, gloomy Orion rose
D 441 whose ticing tongue was m. of Hermes' pipe
D 443 Epeus having m. the horse, with sacrificing wreaths
D 500 and, that which m. me weep, thongs at his heels
D 514 which m. the funeral flame that burnt fair Troy
D 597 Trojan, thy ruthful tale hath m. me sad
D 731 lest I be m. a wonder to the world
D 751 I'll give thee tackling m. of rivell'd gold
D 827 tut, I am simple, without mind [Old ed. m.] to hurt
D 887 whom casualty of sea hath m. such friends?
D 1052 as m. disdain to fly to fancy's lap!
D 1240 love m. me jealous
D 1303 O happy sand that m. him run aground!
D 1452 and m. me take my brother for my son
D 1572 repair'd not I thy ships, m. thee a king
D 1639 m. me suppose he would have heard me speak
HLM 22 many a stain, m. with the blood of wretched lovers slain
HLM 85 his presence m. the rudest peasant melt
HLM 94 « Leander, thou art m. for amorous play
HLM 229 nor heaven nor thou were m. to gaze upon
HLM 304 pearl, which down her face m. milk-white paths
HLM 337 Hero's looks yielded, but her words m. war
HLM 372 might have m. Heaven stoop to have a touch
HLM 380 look'd so dolefully, as m. Love sigh to see his tyranny
HLM 385 to those stern nymphs humbly m. request
HLM 405 did charm her nimble feet, and m. her stay
HLM 542 fearing her own thoughts m. her to be hated
HLM 609 which m. his love through Sestos to be known
HLM 654 and m. his capering Triton sound aloud
HLM 689 Leander m. reply, « You are deceiv'd
HLM 708 he call'd it in, for love m. him repent
HLM 762 with both her hands she m. the bed a tent
HLM 780 this strife of hers, like that which m. the world
*HLC 866 whose delight m. him disdain each other epithite
*HLC 943 and m. his characters sweet Hero's limbs
*HLC 966 all which her sight m. live, her absence die
*HLC 1055 our Leander, that m. Mars his Cupid
*HLC 1058 and m. Confusion run through her streets amaz'd
*HLC 1137 exceeding large, and of black cypres m.
*HLC 1140 her left hand m. it at her bosom meet
*HLC 1147 like a scorchèd statue m. a coal
*HLC 1157 which m. her strew the floor with her torn hair
*HLC 1161 her shriek m. with another shriek ascend the frighted matron
*HLC 1165 she rose, and to her bed m. forcèd way
*HLC 1210 and vows m. ignorantly never bind us
*HLC 1242 m. her wonder why she should not leave her bed
*HLC 1390 and every finger m. a prophetess
*HLC 1394 were they m. seen and forced through their blood
*HLC 1412 that m. such moving beauties motionless
*HLC 1553 gave bright Leucote voice, and m. her speak

*HLC 1593 she m. her architect of all dissimulation
*HLC 1618 like to a fiery bullet m. descent
*HLC 1622 scalding tempests m. the earth to shrink
*HLC 1659 humours that their eyes did steep m. them fear mischiefs
*HLC 1692 for all these Hero m. a friendly feast
*HLC 1795 sight m. him sick, and want of sight did kill him
*HLC 1812 were m. a prey to barbarous rovers
*HLC 1933 m. all of voice and fire, that upwards fly
*HLC 1945 of purpose m. to cleave Love's heart
*HLC 2063 m. the well-spoken nymph take such a toy
*HLC 2135 the turning of her back m. them all shriek
*HLC 2214 what m. it nothing, gave it all the prize
*HLC 2223 wax, Nature doth not intend it should [V. R. shal] be m. a torch
*HLC 2225 and, when 'tis m., we light it
*HLC 2258 the noise m. in the general marriage-violence
*HLC 2262 where the fire of credulous love m. him most rich surmis'd
*HLC 2334 and m. them battle fight upon the Hellespont Ov 277 night, shameless wine, and love are fearless m.
Ov 460 and thy neck with lascivious marks m. blue
Ov 597 never to harm me m. thy faith evasion
Ov 698 m. two nights one to finish up his pleasure
Ov 957 if ever wench had m. lukewarm thy love
Ov 1167 or any back, m. rough with stripes, embrace?
Ov 1578 and tender love hath great things hateful m.
Ov 1629 and, doing wrong, m. show of innocence!
Ov 1820 let with strong hand the rein to bend be m.
Ov 2088 why was I blest? why m. king, to refuse [ed. A, and refusde] it?
Ov 2420 an altar m. after the ancient fashion
Ov 2479 this [ed. C, And this] bed and that by tumbling m. uneven?
Ov 2504 not only by war's rage m. gentleman
*Ign 12 to some (by thee m. happy)
L 9 m. barbarians drunk with Latin blood?
L 45 these civil arms m. thee emperor
L 69 and what m. madding people shake off peace
L 109 Fortune, that m. Rome govern the earth, the sea
L 118 m. all shake hands, as once the Sabines did
L 151 and glad when blood and ruin m. him way
L 161 when Fortune m. us lords of all, wealth flow'd
L 180 sale m. of offices, and people's voices bought
L 205 he, he afflicts Rome that m. me Rome's foe
L 299 appeas'd the wrestling tumult, and right hand m. silence
L 354 a murmuring buzz th' unstable people m.
L 462 these being come, their huge power m. him bold
L 468 bringing news of present war, m. many lies and tales
L 573 fiend which m. the stern Lycurgus wound his thigh
L 615 these direful signs m. Arruns stand amaz'd
PS 13 a gown m. of the finest wool [Not in P. P.]
EPF 10 enamelling the bank, m. them more dear
*AT 79 this exit he had never m., nor play'd a part so ill
*Epg 233 this new-fangled youth, m. for these [MS. this] times, doth *Epg 266 audacious painters have Nine Worthies m.
*Epg 472 names of all the widows which [MS. that] the plague hath m.
*1H6 32 the church's prayers m. him so prosperous
*1H6 51 our isle be m. a nourish of salt tears
*1H6 465 my grisly countenance m. others fly
*1H6 677 but weakly guarded, where the breach was m.
*1H6 920 by him that m. me, I'll maintain my words
*1H6 1243 how joyful am I m. by this contract
*1H6 1520 and m. me almost yield upon my knees
*1H6 1837 join'd with him, and m. their march for Bordeaux
*1H6 2025 the sword of Orleans hath not m. me smart
*1H6 2052 suddenly m. him from my side to start
*1H6 2084 doubtless he would have m. a noble knight
*1H6 2330 your bondage happy, to be m. a queen?
*1H6 2373 fit to be m. companion with a king
*Con 321 and there be m. the regent over the French
*Con 402 till trial's m., and York may clear himself
*Con 597 he hath m. the blind to see, and halt [Q2 and the halt] to go
*Con 598 greater wonders, when you m. whole dukedoms fly in a day
*Con 732 as erst [Q3 ere] thy noble father m. it mine
*Con 820 and m. a laughing-stock, to every idle rascald [Q2 rascall] follower
*Con 937 but I am m. the prologue to their play
*Con 1117 his well-proportion'd beard m. rough and stern
*Con 1128 but will suspect 'twas he that m. the slaughter?
*Con 1883 Somerset hath m. the wizard famous by his death
*2H6 196 have m. thee fear'd and honour'd of the people
*2H6 414 and must be m. a subject to a duke?
*2H6 674 but what a point, my lord, your falcon m.
*2H6 791 and m. me climb, with danger of my life
*2H6 849 it m. me laugh, to see the villain run
*2H6 855 true: m. the lame to leap and fly away
*2H6 857 you m. in a day, my lord, whole towns to fly
*2H6 1022 as ere thy father Henry m. it mine
*2H6 1142 was m. a wonder, and a pointing-stock to every *2H6 1244 m. me collect these dangers in the duke
*2H6 1364 but mine is m. the prologue to their play
*2H6 1753 that is to see how deep my grave is m.
*2H6 1778 his well-proportion'd beard, m. rough and rugged
*2H6 1793 but will suspect, 'twas he that m. the slaughter?
*2H6 2201 get thee a sword, though m. of a lath
*2H6 2276 that of the skin of an innocent lamb should be m. parchment *2H6 2342 he m. a chimney in my father's house, and the bricks
*2H6 2359 gelded the commonwealth, and m. it an eunuch
*2H6 2513 he that m. us pay one-and-twenty fifteens
*2H6 2579 hath m. me full of sickness and diseases
*2H6 2645 Henry the Fifth, that m. all France to quake
*2H6 2702 but I was m. a king, at nine months old
*2H6 2836 this hand was m. to handle nought but gold
*2H6 2926 thy hand is m. to grasp a palmer's staff
*2H6 3058 and m. a prey for carrion kites and crows
*2H6 3117 Somerset hath m. the wizard famous in his death
*2H6 3123 what are you m. of? you 'll nor fight nor fly
*2H6 3131 this breach now in our fortunes may readily be stopp'd
*TT 37 whose cowardice hath m. us by-words to our enemies
*TT 72 for shame come down, he m. thee Duke of York
*TT 104 Henry the Fifth who tam'd the French, and m. the Dauphin stoop
*TT 139 and m. him resign the crown perforce
*TT 209 the duke is m. protector of the land
*TT 357 and m. an evening at the noon-tide prick
*TT 393 and m. a preachment of your high descent?
*TT 402 m. issue from the bosom of thy boy

*TT 436 m. impudent by use of evil deeds
*TT 625 'twas love I bear thy glories m. me speak
*TT 792 by him that m. us all I am resolv'd, that
*TT 815 and tam'd the French, and m. the dauphin stoop
*TT 860 and many wounds m. in his aged breast
*TT 895 for to revenge the murders thou hast m.
*TT 1152 the match is m., she seals it with a curtsy [Q1 cursie; Q2 curtesie; Q3 curtsie]
*TT 1194 when he was m. a shriver 'twas for shift
*TT 1502 for why hath Nature m. me halt downright, but that
*TT 1696 thy head is m. to wear a princely crown
*TT 2033 then since heaven hath m. my body so, let hell
*TT 2091 and m. the forest tremble when they roar'd
*TT 2093 and m. our footstool of security
*3H6 42 whose cowardice hath m. us by-words to our enemies
*3H6 80 for shame come down, he m. thee Duke of York
*3H6 111 who m. the dauphin and the French to stoop
*3H6 148 and m. him to resign his crown perforce
*3H6 233 rather than have m. that savage duke thine heir
*3H6 249 the duke is m. protector of the realm
*3H6 275 hath m. her break out into terms of rage
*3H6 309 then seeing 'twas he that m. you to depose
*3H6 453 and m. an evening at the noon-tide prick
*3H6 467 whose frown hath m. thee faint and fly ere this *3H6 491 and m. a preachment of your high descent?
*3H6 500 m. issue from the bosom of the boy
*3H6 537 m. impudent with use of evil deeds
*3H6 618 who having pinch'd a few, and m. them cry
*3H6 937 by him that m. us all, I am resolv'd, that *3H6 964 and tam'd the king, and m. the dauphin stoop
*3H6 976 but when we saw, our sun-shine m. thy spring
*3H6 1482 the match is m., she seals it with a curtsy [Fol. Cursie]
*3H6 1538 when he was m. a shriver, 'twas for shift
*3H6 1910 hath not our brother m. a worthy choice?
*3H6 1912 how could he stay till Warwick m. return?
*3H6 2097 why no: for he hath m. a solemn vow, never to *3H6 2242 for that it m. my imprisonment, a pleasure
*3H6 2311 unsavoury news: but how m. he escape?
*3H6 2343 the gates m. fast? brother, I like not this *3H6 2583 I am so sorry for my trespass m.
*3H6 2771 is proclamation m., that who finds Edward *3H6 2958 and m. the forest tremble when they roar'd
*3H6 2960 and m. our footstool of security
*E3 127 he m. invasion on the bordering towns
*E3 608 to infringe the holy act m. by the mouth of God
*E3 688 to break a vow m. by the name of God
*E3 731 great Achilles' spear could heal the wound it m.
*E3 778 deep are the blows m. with a mighty axe
*E3 1011 have m. a breakfast to our foe by sea
*E3 1097 their sails with wind, m. forth
*E3 1332 broke league and solemn covenant m. with me
*E3 1523 and m. the wicked stumble at themselves!
*E3 1598 and then new courage m. me fresh again
*E3 1680 the promis'd aid that m. them stand aloof
*E3 1708 such as wilful stubbornness hath m. perverse
*E3 1854 head, that they have m., fair prince, is wonderful
*E3 1884 the parcelling of this power hath m. it more
*E3 1925 return and tell the king, my tongue is m. of steel
*E3 1993 ah, what an idiot hast thou m. of life
*E3 2015 a tongue-tied fear hath m. a midnight hour
*E3 2037 and m. at noon a night unnatural
*E3 2121 humble of late, but now m. proud with arms
*E3 2269 we claim the promise that your highness m.
JM 514 we now are almost at the new-m. nunnery
JM 519 and waters of this new-m. nunnery will much delight you
JM 1229 go to the new-m. nunnery, and inquire for Ov 67 I, lately caught, will have a new-m. wound
*Con 76 Suffolk he, the new-m. Duke that rules the roast
*Con 829 for Suffolk he, the new-m. duke, that may do all in all
*2H6 107 Suffolk, the new-m. duke that rules the roast
*2H6 355 and from the great and new-m. Duke of Suffolk
*TT 1372 'tis not his new-m. bride shall succour him
*3H6 1848 'tis not his new-m. bride shall succour him

Madest.

MP 978 and perish in the pit thou m. for me
D 564 when thou, Achates, with thy sword m. way
D 1081 Nature, why m. me not some poisonous beast
HLM 300 to whom m. thou [V. R. thou m.] that heedless oath?
Ov 745 thou m. thy head with compound poison flow

Madman's.

*Sel 488 when burning brands, are vainly given into a m. hands
*2H6 1563 you put sharp weapons in a m. hands

Madness.

1T 2021 and m. send his damnèd soul to hell!
Ov 2454 what m. is 't to tell night-pranks [A, night-sports; B, C, night's pranckes]
L 8 Romans, what m., what huge lust of war, hath *1H6 1689 good Lord, what m. rules in brain-sick men
*2H6 1466 were 't not m. then, to make the fox surveyor of the fold?
*TT 1449 but in your m., you bury brotherhood

Madrigals.

PS 8 rivers, to whose falls melodious birds sing [E. H. sings] madrigals

Maenas.

L 674 as M. [Old ed. Maenus] full of wine on Pindus raves

Maggot.

JM 1048 this gentle m., Lodowick, I mean, must be deluded

Magic.

2T 1630 and spells of m. from the mouths [8vo mother] of spirits
1F 26 nothing so sweet as m. is to him
1F 129 to practise m. and concealèd arts
1F 137 'tis m., m., that hath ravish'd me
1F 163 the miracles that m. will perform
1F 167 hath all the principles m. doth require
1F 257 and try the uttermost m. can perform
1F 275 such is the force of m. and my spells
1F 463 « Abjure this m., turn to God again! »
1F 540 and to show thee what m. can perform
1F 657 I will renounce m. and repent
1F 1093 compare with thee for the rare effects of m.
2F 25 nothing so sweet as m. is to him
2F 126 to practise m. and concealèd arts
2F 129 'tis m., m. that hath ravish'd me
2F 155 the miracles that m. will perform
2F 159 hath all the principles m. doth require 2F 244 and try the utmost m. can perform
2F 262 such is the force of m. and my spells
2F 411 « Abjure this m., turn to God again! »
2F 488 and let thee see what m. can perform
2F 581 I will renounce this m. and repent
2F 1843 this m., that will charm thy soul to hell
Ov 1467 into my gift I could myself by secret m. shift!
*Loc 1582 framed a garland by her m. skill

2F 1052 and charm thee with this m. wand 2F 1058 with m. spells so compass thee, that 2F 1220 the wonder of the world for m. art
2F 1279 stands prepar'd by power of art to cast his m. charms
*FB 39 I wrought such wonders by my m. skill
Ov 367 the m. arts and Thessal charms doth know
*1H6 27 by m. verses have contriv'd his end

Magical.
1F 177 come, show me some demonstrations m.
2F 169 come, show me some demonstrations m.

Magician.
1F 89 a sound m. is a mighty god
2F 86 a sound m. is a demigod
2F 1260 wonder of men, renowm'd [Old eds. renown'd] m.
2F 1517 what devil attends this damn'd m.
1F 76 these metaphysics of ms., and
2F 74 these metaphysics of ms., and

Magistrate.
*TT 248 an oath is of no moment being not sworn before a lawful m.
*3H6 306 being not took before a true and lawful m.
JM 1682 no ; let us bear him to the ms.
*1H6 386 ms., thus contumeliously should break the peace
*2H6 2217 which is as much to say, let the ms. be labouring-men *2H6 2218 and therefore should we be ms.

Magnanimity.
*Sel 1474 pillars that support the image of true m. ?
*Loc 1912 Locrine, the map of m., lies slaughter'd 1T 1778 titles I endow you with by valour [Old eds. value] and by m.
2T 1444 but matchless strength and m. ?
2T 2279 that m. that nobly must admit necessity
E2 1323 did you retain your father's m.
*3H6 2721 infuse his breast with m.

Magnanimous.
*Loc 924 for her seven sons m. in field

Magnesia.
*Sel 89 Corcut in fair M. leads his life
*Sel 992 Corcut, the Solan of M., hearing of *Sel 1700 your brother presently shall with an army to M.
*Sel 1923 to take me prisoner in M.
*Sel 2060 Hali, the governor of M.
*Sel 2145 since my vain flight from fair M.

Magnetes.
1T 190 Agydas, M., Lords, and Soldiers [Stage]

Magnific.
*Sel 2030 and diedst wrappèd in the sweet perfumes of thy m. deeds

Magnifical.
Ov 66 so will thy triumph [ed. A, triumphes] seem m.

Magnificence.
1T 963 all flesh quakes at your m.

Magnificent.
1T 136 m. and mighty prince Cosroe
2T 374 m. and peerless Tamburlaine

Magnifiest.
*1H6 2115 him that thou m. with all these titles

Magnus'.
*2H6 2629 up Fish-street, down Saint M. corner

Magog : see Gogmagog

Mahomet.
*Sel 538 from whence our mighty Emperor M., was driven
*Sel 1117 my nephew M., son to Alemshae
*Sel 1143 that M., the son of Alemshae, fled
*Sel 1159 poor M., thou thoughtst thyself too sure
*Sel 1187 yet M., his son, shall down to hell
*Sel 1196 beshrew me but you be the wiser, M.
*Sel 1230 why wouldst thou live, when M. is dead ?
*Sel 1231 ah ! who slew M. ?
*Sel 1270 from an airy tower, they hurld the body of young M.
*Sel 1288 hapless Zonara ! hapless M. !
*Sel 1515 shall M. and poor Zonara's ghosts and *Sel 1092 now, by the holy prophet M.
*Sel 1170 or by the holy rites of M. his wondrous tomb
*Sel 2286 so help me God, and holy M.
*Sel 2306 so help me God, and holy M. !
1T 969 all this is true as holy M.
1T 1170 by M. my kinsman's sepulchre
1T 1290 now, M., solicit God himself
1T 1303 if M. should come from heaven and swear
1T 1364 O M. ! O sleepy M. !
1T 1365 O cursed M., that mak'st us thus the 1T 1443 ye holy priests of heavenly M.
1T 1695 dost thou think that M. will suffer this ?
1T 2031 then is there left no M., no God
1T 2158 ah, mighty Jove and holy M., pardon my love !
1T 2274 mighty hath God and M. made thy hand
2T 137 by sacred M., the friend of God
2T 232 and by the hand of M. I swear 2T 354 for I have sworn by sacred M.
2T 565 he by his Christ, and I by M. ?
2T 577 as is our holy prophet M.
2T 608 and Christ or M. hath been my friend
2T 631 not doing M. an [4to any] injury
2T 790 by the aid of God and his friend M.
2T 1062 brothers of [4to to] holy M. himself
2T 1120 ah, sacred M., if this be sin
2T 1135 thou shalt see a man greater than M.
2T 1197 by M., not one of them shall live !
2T 1235 sacrifice mountains of breathless men to M.
2T 1272 by M., he shall be tied in chains
2T 1480 by M., thy mighty friend, I swear 2T 1556 as if they were the tears of M.
2T 1972 books found in the temples of that M.
2T 1976 in vain, I see, men worship M.
2T 1979 and yet I live untouch'd by M.
2T 1984 now, M., if thou have any power, come
2T 1995 well, soldiers, M. remains in hell
2T 2030 if God or M. send any aid
2T 2043 ah, sacred M., thou that hast seen
2T 2050 I see great M., clothèd in purple clouds
2T 2056 though God himself and holy M. should come
*1H6 319 was M. inspired with a dove ?
*Sel 1693 a grave philosopher, given to read M.'s dread laws

Mahound.
*Sel 685 Mars, or Minerva, M., Termagaunt, or *Sel 90 in learning Arts, and M.'s dreaded laws
*Sel 246 let M.'s laws be locked up in their case

Maid.
*Sel 1273 his sister, poor Zonara [luckless m.]
*Loc 2016 who would have thought so young a m. as *Loc 2041 so let us pray for that renowned m.
1T 199 by lawless rapine from a silly m.
1T 1212 Zenocrate, the loveliest m. alive
1T 1362 the Turkess let my love's m. lead away 2T 134 the Son of God and issue of a m.
1F 602 let me have a wife, the fairest m. in Germany
2F 547 let me have a wife, the fairest m. in Germany

JM 523 pity the state of a distressèd m. !
JM 588 a fair young m., scarce fourteen years of age
D 1456 eating sweet comfits with Queen Dido's m.
HLM 89 some swore he was a m. in man's attire
HLM 344 who taught thee rhetoric to deceive a m. ?
HLM 394 a country m., whose careless hair, instead of *HLC 1536 and still a m. wilt [V. R. will] seem in cozen'd eyes
*HLC 1558 why may not amorous Hero seem a m.
*HLC 1570 the bright flame became a m. most fair
*HLC 1604 one that was her servant vow'd, and liv'd a m.
*HLC 1681 Mya was her consort vow'd in her m. [V. R. ms.] state
*HLC 1765 fairest, and the richest m. of all th' Athenian damsels
*HLC 1797 for so did Hymen term himself, a m.
*HLC 1847 slew every thief, and rescu'd every m.
*HLC 1908 to the sad parents of each savèd m.
*HLC 2016 too plain for the most silken mildness of a m.
*HLC 2034 every m. did wear, during her maidenhead, a silken sphere
*HLC 2054 the noble m. sharp-visag'd Adolesche, that Ov 717 the m. that kemb'd them ever safely left them
Ov 1169 and, for her skill, to thee a grateful m.
Ov 1229 if he but said, « Live without love » ; so sweet ill is a m.
Ov 1656 whither [Old eds. Whether] the subtle m. lines brings and carries Ov 1733 the m. to hide me in her bosom let not Ov 1904 Danäe shut, came forth a mother, though a m. there put Ov 2005 tomb deep laid my bones had been, while yet I was a m. !
Ov 2092 hath any rose so from a fresh young m.
Ov 2154 to win the m. came in a golden shower
Ov 2433 each youth and pretty m. show large ways
Dia 59 my mother's m. have you not seen ?
*Epg 99 swiv'd, a m., a wife [MS. A wife, a made], a widow, and a whore
*1H6 230 a holy m. hither with me I bring *1H6 243 fair m., is 't thou wilt do these wondrous feats ?
*1H6 621 A m., they say. — A m. ? and be so martial ?
*1H6 2078 thou maiden youth, be vanquish'd by a m.
*1H6 2401 such commendations as becomes a m.
*1H6 2474 because she is a m., spare for no faggots
*1H6 2484 now heaven forfend, the holy m. with child ?
*Con 1626 there shall not a m. be married, but he shall fee to me
*2H6 2611 there shall not a m. be married, but she shall pay *3H6 225 ah wretched man, would I had died a m. ?
*E3 1974 but danger woos me as a blushing m.
Ov 521 a fair m.'s care expell'd this sluggishness 1T 2120 sun-bright troops of heavenly virgins and unspotted ms.
1F 154 sometimes like women, or unwedded ms.
2F 146 sometimes like women, or unwedded ms.
2F 1204 let the ms. look well to their porridge-pots, for JM 1807 where are my ms. ? provide a cunning banquet
E2 993 Ms. of England, sore may you mourn, For your lemans
D 204 it is the use for Tyrian [Old ed. Turen] ms. to wear their bow and HLM 261 ms. are nothing, then, without the sweet society of men
HLM 425 ms. are not won by brutish force and might HLM 736 such sights to tender ms. are rare
*HLC 1363 ms. take more delight [V. R. delights] when they prepare, and *HLC 1595 since then never was any trust in ms. or [V. R. nor] men
*HLC 1691 the downless rosy faces of youths and ms.
*HLC 1775 beauty's music would [V. R. will] agree with ms. in consort
*HLC 1807 deceiving still these ms., but himself most *HLC 1922 this told to all the ms., the [V. R, they] most agree
*HLC 2042 the ms. that heard, so lov'd and did adore her
*HLC 2226 nor did Nature propose one life to ms.
*HLC 2230 till when, ms. are but torches wanting light
Ov 484 those in their lovers pretty ms. desire
Ov 849 let ms. whom hot desire to husbands lead
Ov 1055 or ms. that their betrothèd husbands spy
Ov 1312 ms. on the shore, with marble-white feet tread
*Con 301 the other day she vaunted to her ms., that
*HLC 851 high unexperienc'd blood, and ms.' sharp plights
Ov 1531 ms.' words, more vain and light than falling leaves
Ov 1844 in sooth, th' eternal powers grant ms.' society falsely to swear 1T 1283 to do the work my chamber*m.* disdains
Dia 51 I'm but a homely country m.
*Loc 72 where 'er Aurora, hand*m.* of the son
HLM 41 those with sweet water oft her hand*m.* fills
*1H6 1481 stay, let thy humble hand*m.* speak to thee
*E3 1083 and likewise all the hand*ms.* of his train 1F 1016 if thou hast any mind to Nan Spit, our kitchen-m.
1T 1272 thou shalt be laundress to my waiting-m.
D 600 fair child, stay thou with Dido's waiting-m.

Maiden.

HLM 746 for pity-sake, me in thy bed and m. bosom take Ov 1576 and new-sworn soldiers' m. arms retain'st
*1H6 878 I pluck this pale and m. blossom here
*1H6 907 now by this m. blossom in my hand, I scorn
*1H6 2078 thou m. youth, be vanquish'd by a maid
*1H6 2471 whose m. blood thus rigorously effus'd, will cry HLM 796 she, alas, poor silly m., at his mercy was !
*Loc 200 and far be it from any m.'s thoughts to JM 1069 that ms. new-betroth'd should weep a while Ov 197 such light to shamefac'd ms. must be shown
Ov 1503 or else will ms. young men's mates to go

Maidenhead.

JM 970 provided that you keep your m. !
HLM 574 and, seeming lavish, sav'd her m.
*HLC 1044 her m., her vows, Leander gone
*HLC 1203 if, then, Leander did my m. git
*Con 1627 he shall fee to me for her. m. or else, I'll have it myself *2H6 2611 she shall pay to me her m.
*HLC 2119 the ms. ye [V. R. you] hold are not your own alone

Maidenhood.

*1H6 2000 and had the m. of thy first fight

Maidenly.

*Loc 1216 he took the wheel, and m. 'gan spin

Maidstone.

*Con 1390 a great sort more is come from Rochester, and from M.

Mail.

*E3 198 nor lay aside their jacks of gymold m.
1T 327 open the ms., yet guard the treasure sure

Mailed.
*Con 814 m. up in shame with papers on my back
*2H6 1127 m. up in shame, with papers on my back Maim.
JM 617 like a soldier's scar, that has no further comfort for his m.
*2H6 1029 that bears so shrewd a m. : two pulls at once Maimed.
*E3 1171 streaming gore that from the m. fell 1T 126 a conqueror, by curing of this m. empery
E2 1562 groan for this grief ! behold how thou art m. !
D 744 nor stern nor anchor have our m. fleet
*Con 1485 by which means England hath been m. ever since *2H6 2356 thereby is England main'd [= m.] and fain to go with a staff Main.
1T 102 fled to the Caspian or the Ocean m. ?
1T 1064 all-fearful folds his sail, and sounds the m.
2T 37 the Terrene m., where Danubius falls
JM 78 where Nilus pays his tribute to the m.
D 112 refrains to taint his tresses in the Tyrrhene m. ?
HLM 619 he would have chas'd away the swelling m.
L 415 or that the wandering m. follow the moon
EPF 24 prided the running m., as it had been Ov 1347 how, almost wreck'd, thy ship in m. seas fell
*Con 138 look unto the m. — Unto the Maine, oh father Maine is lost *2H6 208 then let's haste away, and look unto the m.
*2H6 209 look unto the m. — Unto the m. ? Oh father, Maine is lost
D 492 and with m. force flung on a ring of pikes
*Con 140 Maine is lost, which Warwick by m. force did win from France
*Con 141 m. chance father you meant [Q2 meane], but I mean Maine
*2H6 211 that Maine which by m. force Warwick did win
*2H6 213 m.-chance father you meant, but I meant Maine
*TT 6 charg'd our m. battle's front, and therewith him
*3H6 8 charg'd our m. battle's front; and breaking in, were *E3 1498 for the m. battles, I will guide myself Maine.
1F 864 we saw the river M. fall into Rhine
2F 840 we saw the river M. fall into Rhine [1616, Rhines]
*1H6 1874 M., Blois, Poictiers, and Tours, are won away
*1H6 2314 though her father be the king of Naples, Duke of Anjou and M.
*1H6 2378 the country M. and Anjou, free from oppression
*Con 47 the duchies of Anjou and of M., shall be released
*Con 54 that the duchies of Anjou and of M., shall be released
*Con 78 the duchies of Anjou and M. unto her father
*Con 132 Anjou and M., both given away at once
*Con 138 look unto the main. — Unto the M., oh father M. is lost
*Con 139 M. is lost, which Warwick by main force did win from France
*Con 141 main chance father you meant [Q2 meane], but I mean M.
*Con 143 Anjou and M., both given unto the French
*Con 1484 for delivering up the dukedoms of Anjou and M.
*2H6 49 that the duchy of Anjou, and the county of M., shall *2H6 57 that the duchies of Anjou and M., shall be released
*2H6 108 hath given the duchy of Anjou and M., unto *2H6 117 Anjou and M. ? myself did win them both *2H6 210 look unto the main. — Unto the main ? Oh father, M. is lost
*2H6 211 that M. which by main force Warwick did win
*2H6 213 main-chance father you meant, but I meant M.
*2H6 215 Anjou and M. are given to the French
*2H6 237 Anjou and M. both given unto the French ?
*2H6 2138 by thee Anjou and M. were sold to France
*2H6 2355 we'll have the Lord Say's head, for selling the dukedom of M.
*2H6 2556 I sold not M., I lost not Normandy Mained.
*2H6 2356 selling the dukedom of Maine — And good reason : for thereby is England m.
Mainly.
1T 458 shoulders as might m. bear old Atlas' burden
L 365 and strong arms can m. throw the dart
Main-mast.
*TT 1879 and Warwick as our m. overthrown
Main-sail.
L 498 makes the m. fall with hideous sound
Maintain.
*Sel 329 to m. peace, and govern bloody fights
*Sel 1742 and one of these shall still m. my cause
*Loc 224 that shall m. the honour of this land
1T 220 and must m. my life exempt from servitude
1T 1522 that will m. it 'gainst a world of kings
JM 11 tell that which may m. him all his life
JM 864 'tis not a stone of beef a-day will m. you in these chops
JM 2172 m. it bravely by firm policy
E2 335 what we have done, our heart-blood shall m.
MP 481 m. the wealth and safety of your kingdom's right
MP 599 a warlike people to m. thy right
MP 809 which I'll m. so long as life doth last MP 853 thou able to m. an host in pay, that liv'st by Ov 2282 Crete proud that Jove her nursery m.
*Epg 483 as he may well m. a lord's estate
*Epg 536 nor whether the Empire can itself m.
*1H6 72 this is mutter'd, that here you m. several factions
*1H6 863 but dare m. the party of the truth
*1H6 902 ay, sharp and piercing to m. his truth
*1H6 905 that shall m. what I have said is true
*1H6 920 by him that made me, I'll m. my words
*1H6 1229 and will not you m. the the thing you teach ?
*1H6 1563 dar'st thou m. the former words thou spak'st ?
*Con 1807 a thousand marks a-year to m. thee
*2H6 159 crying with loud voice, Jesu m. your royal excellence
*2H6 2561 Kent to m., the king, the realm and you
*TT 84 and that the Earl of Westmoreland shall m.
*TT 1333 you have a father able to m. your state
*3H6 91 and that the Lord of Westmoreland shall m.
*3H6 1791 you have a father able to m. you
*E3 2350 and, to m. thy state, I freely give five hundred marks
1T 420 as long as life ms. Theridamas
*2H6 2768 sufficeth, that I have ms. my state Maintained.
*1H6 836 then say at once, if I m. the truth
*TT 1319 the leaves and fruit m. with beauty's sun
*3H6 1762 the leaves and fruit m. with beauty's sun Maintenance.
*Con 1806 and for thy m., I freely give a thousand marks Majestas.
*Con 1749 ah sancta m. [Quartos Majesta], who would not buy thee dear ?

*2H6 2834 ah Sancta m. ! who would not buy thee dear ?
Majestical.
*Loc 318 m., in 'parel comely, in gait portly 2F 1289 in their true shapes and state m.
HLM 232 ship, well-rigg'd and tall, the ocean maketh more m.
*1H6 2079 but with a proud m. high scorn he answer'd thus *E3 1080 m. the order of their course Majesty.
*Sel 2159 Selim, before His dreadful M. there lies a book
*2H6 1891 by His M. I swear, whose far unworthy deputy I am 1T 1472 and let the M. of Heaven behold their scourge
1T 1840 before the M. of Heaven and holy patrons of Aegyptia
2T 400 to see the state and M. of Heaven
2T 1357 suns that half dismay the M. of Heaven
2T 1517 the power of Heaven's eternal M.
*Sel 457 and not a step but treads to m.
*Sel 2452 or lift thy hand against our m. ?
*Loc 210 and think upon the state of m.
*Loc 462 novelties bring'st thou unto our royal m. ?
1T 354 with what a m. he rears his looks !
1T 398 and sit with Tamburlaine in all his m.
1T 474 making it dance with wanton m.
1T 1043 now, in his m. he leaves those looks
1T 1586 a blemish to the m. and high estate of mighty emperors 1T 1871 the sum of Nature's skill and heavenly m.
2T 262 so ; now she sits in pomp and m.
2T 676 holds out his hand in highest m. to 2T 704 this base earth should shroud your m.
2T 985 as great a grace and m. to me as 2T 1136 in whose high looks is much more m.
2T 1449 not my son, but traitor to my name and m. ?
2T 1690 by which I hold my name and m. !
2T 1993 that shakes his sword against thy m.
2T 2102 his birth, life, health, and m.
2T 2105 his birth, his life, his health, and m. !
2T 2116 Tamburlaine (the instrument and note of m.) 2T 2263 how well thou wilt become thy father's m.
1F 1367 whom all the world admires for m.
1F 1374 no otherways for pomp and m. than when Sir Paris
1F 1379 whom all the world admires for m.
2F 1823 whom all the world admires for m.
2F 1830 no otherwise for pomp and m. than when 2F 1837 whom all the world admires for m.
E2 1382 and do your message with a m.
MP 611 think they Henry's heart will not both harbour love and m. ?
D 976 preferr'd before a man of m.
HLM 116 where, crown'd with blazing light and m., she proudly sits
Ov 999 and her [ed. A, she] I like that with a m. folds up her arms *1H6 258 in a vision full of m., will'd me to leave my base vocation
*1H6 2289 ay : beauty's princely m. is such, confounds the tongue *2H6 33 her words y-clad with wisdom's m.
*2H6 296 methought I sat in seat of m., in the *2H6 1215 with what a m. he bears himself
*2H6 1653 upon thy eye-balls, murderous tyranny sits in grim m.
*TT 1172 her looks are all replete with m.
*TT 1697 thy looks are all replete with m.
*3H6 2302 his looks are full of peaceful m.
*E3 274 hath power to draw my subject eyes from piercing m.
*Sel 127 your loyal peers would prove disloyal to your m.
*Sel 137 your m. then needs not much to fear
*Sel 180 your m. misconstrues Selimus
*Sel 883 to crave access unto his m. ?
*Sel 917 myself was never false unto his m.
*Sel 995 young Acomat doth certify your m. by me, how *Sel 1593 sword, which he advanc'd against your m.
*Loc 1334 I here present her to your m.
*Loc 1336 and here present her to your m.
*Loc 1764 mean incontinent to bid defiance to your m.
1T 35 oft have I heard your m. complain of Tamburlaine 1T 718 I vow my service to your m.
1T 750 your m. shall shortly have your wish
1T 1321 how dare you thus abuse my m. ?
1T 1384 it might amaze your royal m.
1T 1555 will yield, offering Damascus to your m.
1T 1716 if my love unto your m. may merit favour 2T 474 your m. remembers, I am sure
2T 481 that your m. take all advantages of time
2T 683 my lord, your m. shall soon perceive
2T 863 your m. may choose some 'pointed time
2T 865 'tis naught for your m. to give a kingdom 2T 867 why, I thank your m.
2T 1214 since last we show'd your [4to shewed to your] m.
2T 1219 since last we number'd to your m.
2T 1225 since last we number'd to your m.
2T 1229 since last we number'd to your m.
2T 1374 you do dishonour to his m.
2T 1456 yet pardon him, I pray your m.
2T 1707 your m. must get some bits for these 2T 1714 your m. already hath devis'd a mean 2T 1738 we thank your m.
2T 1880 us'd such slender reckoning of [4to for] your m.
2T 2156 pleaseth your m. to drink this potion
2T 2176 if your m. may escape this day
2T 2181 young Callapine, that lately fled from your m.
2T 2283 my lord, you must obey his m.
2T 2292 then feels your m. no sovereign ease
1F 1106 answerable to the honour of your imperial m.
1F 1108 to do whatsoever your m. shall command me 1F 1150 shall sufficiently content your imperial m.
2F 1213 his m. is coming to the hall
2F 1223 bring in presence of his m. the royal shapes 2F 1291 your m. shall see them presently 2F 1305 my lord, I forewarn your m., that 2F 1328 your m. may boldly go and see
2F 1361 my lord, so please your m., I'll raise a kennel 2F 1374 to delight your m. with some mirth
JM 713 I'll write unto his m. for aid
JM 2277 he humbly would entreat your m. to come
E2 71 such things as these best please his m.
E2 253 madam, whither walks your m. so fast ?
E2 636 and on their knees salute your m.
E2 866 than I do to behold your m.
E2 1050 I humbly thank your m.
E2 1059 than to be favour'd of your m. !
E2 1204 his m., hearing that you had taken Gaveston
E2 1249 his m. so earnestly desires to see the man
E2 1325 would not suffer thus your m. be counterbuff'd
E2 1335 this haught resolve becomes your m.
E2 1346 I come in person to your m.

E2 1459 desires access unto your m.
E2 1867 shall do good service to her m.
E2 1877 of such as have your m. in chase
E2 1954 your m. must go to Killingworth
E2 2217 commend me humbly to his m.
MP 169 I humbly thank your m.
MP 226 well, madam, I refer it to your m.
MP 247 entreats your m. to visit him, sick in his bed
MP 251 your m. were best go visit him
MP 275 I humbly thank your royal m.
MP 590 your m. her rightful lord and sovereign MP 623 then may it please your m. to give me leave to MP 757 thanks to your m. : and so I take my leave
MP 879 my true humility, and simple meaning to your m.
MP 979 good morrow to your m.
MP 982 I heard your m. was scarcely pleas'd, that MP 1178 that craves access unto your m.
D 730 that will Aeneas show your m.
D 1037 if that your m. can look so low
*1H6 1195 inferior to none, but to his m.
*1H6 1251 of Richard Plantagenet, we do exhibit to your m.
*1H6 1256 at Eltham-Place I told your m.
*1H6 1276 perish they, that grudge one thought against your m.
*1H6 1279 now will it best avail your m., to *1H6 1547 yes, if it please your m., my liege
*1H6 1574 but I'll unto his m., and crave, I may have *1H6 2405 no loving token to his m.?
*1H6 2589 then swear allegiance to his m.
*Con 215 Jesu preserve your m. — My m. Why man I am but grace
*Con 256 if it please your m., with my Lord Protector's grace
*Con 358 an 't shall please your m., I never said any such matter
*Con 366 I beseech your m. [Q3 worship] do not cast away an honest man for *Con 374 combating in Smithfield, before your royal m.
*Con 409 I humbly thank your royal m.
*Con 628 for here I swear unto your m., that I am guiltless
*Con 740 please it your m., this is the day that was appointed
*Con 908 by [Q3 Through] which his m. hath lost all France
*Con 1147 every word you speak in his defence, is slander to your royal m.
*Con 1238 to signify unto his m., that Cardinal Beaufort is *Con 1418 if I be king [Q2 the king], as king I will be. — God save your m.
*Con 1501 shall have free pardon from his m.
*Con 1698 but may it please your m. to pardon these their faults
*2H6 1 as by your high imperial m., I had in charge
*2H6 330 Jesu preserve your royal m. — What say'st thou? m. : I am but grace *2H6 547 please it your m., this is the man that *2H6 551 and that your m. was an usurper
*2H6 553 and 't shall please your m., I never said nor *2H6 561 I do beseech your royal m., let him have *2H6 567 I do beseech your m., do not cast away an honest man *2H6 577 I humbly thank your royal m.
*2H6 678 no marvel, and it like your m., my *2H6 1007 I beseech your m. give me leave to go *2H6 1035 please it your m., this is the day appointed for *2H6 1531 I will, my lord, so please his m.
*2H6 1864 that slily glided towards your m.
*2H6 1974 to signify unto his m., that Cardinal Beaufort
*2H6 1983 and I am sent to tell his m., that *2H6 2268 when I am king, as king I will be. — God save your m.
*2H6 2519 what canst thou answer to my m.
*2H6 2643 fling up his cap, and say, God save his m.
*2H6 2705 health and glad tiding to your m.
*2H6 2901 I was, an 't like your m.
*TT 1247 I humbly thank you royal m.
*TT 1338 this from our king unto your m.
*TT 2107 the duty that I owe unto your m., I seal upon
*3H6 1462 therefore I came unto your m.
*3H6 1803 these from our king unto your m.
*3H6 1819 I told your m. as much before
*3H6 1979 before it pleas'd his m. to raise my state *3H6 2021 he, more incens'd against your m., than *3H6 2239 I then crave pardon of your m.
*3H6 2973 the duty that I owe unto your m., I seal
*E3 257 how may I entertain his m., to show my duty
*E3 636 it shall not cumber long your m.
*E3 658 though your m. did bid me run upon your sword
*E3 709 importune you to keep in presence of his m.
*E3 803 and bring them hither in fair array before his m.
*E3 843 ere night she will resolve your m.
*E3 884 we come, to take direction from your m.
*E3 901 desires access unto your m.
*E3 927 but, — sith I see your m. so bent, that
*E3 1636 to swear allegiance to his m.
*E3 1723 who since, entreated by her m., denies to *E3 2063 dispose of him as please your m.
*Sel (Title) As it was playd by the Queen's m.'s players
JM (Title) played before the King and Queen, in his M.'s theatre
JM (Title) by her m.'s servants at the Cock-pit
E2 (Title) as it was publicly acted by the late Queen's M.'s servants
E2 1229 my lords, it is his m.'s request
D (Title) Played by the children of her m.'s Chapel
*Con 1 as by your high imperial m.'s command
*2H6 1166 I summon your grace to his m.'s parliament
*E3 747 thus have I, in his m.'s behalf, apparell'd sin

Major.

2T 2021 now our mighty host marcheth in Asia M.
2T 839 all bordering on the Mare-M.-sea
E2 2403 M. sum quam cui possit fortuna nocere

Majore.

2T 460 gulf call'd by the name Mare M. of the inhabitants

Make.

D 835 Juno, my mortal foe, what m. you here?
E2 1242 to m. away a true man for a thief
E2 2472 this villain's sent to m. away the king
*Sel 21 though on all the world we m. extent
*Sel 48 would m. a heart of adamant aghast
*Sel 174 does Selim m. so small account of us
*Sel 253 m. thou a passage for thy gushing flood
*Sel 269 I'll m. it shorter, or I will destroy it
*Sel 341 and m. men quietly a yoke to bear
*Sel 343 was only found to m. us peaceable
*Sel 356 why should we seek to m. that soul a slave
*Sel 480 that he may m. them know, that
*Sel 522 m. haste, my lord, from Adrianople's walls
*Sel 541 to m. thee regent of so great a land
*Sel 649 will m. his fortunes by the sword (and shield)
*Sel 672 shall m. thy carcase as the outcast dung
*Sel 774 to m. good laws, ill customs to expell

*Sel 786 perhaps you may m. him your enemy
*Sel 962 unsheath'd their swords to m. more war on us?
*Sel 979 and m. it sure to him in thy life-time
*Sel 1062 may m. us strong, to fortify the man
*Sel 1116 begin and m. a preface to our massacres
*Sel 1136 and we will m. resistance as we can *Sel 1465 or m. that old false traitor bleed his last
*Sel 1526 and m. him captain of th' imperial host
*Sel 1564 he'll m. me sure for putting him in fear
*Sel 1680 to m. that sure I have a platform laid
*Sel 1705 whose death will m. me certain of the crown
*Sel 1730 those that m. a conscience for to kill a man
*Sel 1757 ah! where shall I begin to m. my moan?
*Sel 1944 well, I'll m. myself a good deal valianter
*Sel 1976 would not m. your worship acquainted with it
*Sel 1989 I shall m. you as eloquent as our parson himself
*Sel 2129 to seek my death, and m. a jest of me
*Sel 2335 much less m. strong resistance in hard fight
*Sel 2485 the great occision which the victors m.?
*Loc 449 and all the power their petty kings can m.
*Loc 449 do m. me think these are the happy isles
*Loc 505 and m. thee queen of lovely Albion
*Loc 635 tell me, you villains, why m. you this noise
*Loc 1011 m. you to leave the warding of the camp?
*Loc 1086 and m. her tremble at their puissance
*Loc 1772 and m. her know, Locrine can brook no braves
*Loc 1828 and well would seem to m. a vestal nun 1T 43 to m. himself the monarch of the East
1T 135 bringing the crown to m. you emperor!
1T 238 their weight shall m. the mountains quake 1T 405 loss to m. exchange for that we are assur'd of 1T 436 m. much of them, gentle Theridamas
1T 478 m. the world subdu'd [4to subdue] to Tamburlaine
1T 482 to m. him famous in accomplish'd worth
1T 544 m. him false his faith unto his [4to the] king 1T 559 which m. report it far exceeds the king's 1T 567 and m. us triumph in their overthrow
1T 575 thy wit will m. us conquerors to-day
1T 601 m. them blest that share in his attempts 1T 631 shall m. me solely emperor of Asia
1T 650 these are the wings shall m. it fly as swift as 1T 658 and more than needs to m. an emperor
1T 710 thee do I m. my regent of Persia
1T 800 m. but a jest to win the Persian crown
1T 803 only made him king to m. us sport
1T 844 the stars that m. the loathsome circle of my dated life
1T 920 shall m. me leave so rich a prize as this 1T 999 m. me the ghastly counterfeit of death
1T 1069 and m. my soul divine her overthrow 1T 1153 that m. quick havoc of the Christian blood
1T 1178 thy fall shall m. me famous through the world!
1T 1253 m. your [Old eds. our] strokes to wound the 1T 1276 and m. her dainty fingers fall to work
1T 1291 and m. him rain down murdering shot 1T 1335 m. me bonfires with their filthy bones
1T 1338 to m. me sovereign of the earth again
1T 1446 m. heaven to frown
1T 1470 m. it swallow both of us at once!
1T 1496 m. me think of naught but blood and war
1T 1508 m. these captives rein their lavish tongues
1T 1517 ambitious pride shall m. thee fall as low 1T 1603 a sacred vow to heaven and him I m.
1T 1643 and m. Damascus' spoils as rich to you as 1T 1702 fast, and welcome, sir, while hunger m. you eat
1T 1704 the Turk and his wife m. a goodly show at a banquet?
1T 1721 with my sword m. Jove to stoop
1T 1723 m. a triple region in the world
1T 1728 here at Damascus will I m. the point
1T 1737 or may be forc'd to m. me emperor
1T 1753 too much eating will m. you surfeit
1T 1785 take them away again [4to omits], and m. us slaves
1T 1798 and m. us desperate of our threaten'd lives
1T 2064 and m. our souls resolve in ceaseless tears
1T 2096 and m. a passage for my loathèd life!
1T 2112 m. ready my coach, my chair, my jewels
1T 2121 m. the angry god of arms to break his sword
1T 2246 meaning to m. me general of the world
1T 2257 m. it quake at every drop it drinks
1T 2322 there m. laws to rule your provinces
2T 32 and m. this champion mead a bloody fen 2T 42 and m. fair Europa, mounted on 2T 49 meaning to m. a conquest of our land
2T 277 would m. me think them bastards, not my sons
2T 338 m. a bridge of murder'd carcasses [4to carkasse]
2T 355 to m. it parcel of my empery
2T 384 whose looks m. this inferior world to quake
2T 387 whose coal-black faces m. their foes retire
2T 410 such lavish will I m. of Turkish blood 2T 461 yet shall my soldiers m. no period until 2T 542 now come we to m. his sinews shake
2T 581 and m. a passage from th' empyreal heaven
2T 592 and m. the power I have left behind
2T 703 and m. your kingdom in the sky
2T 752 meaning to m. her stately queen of heaven
2T 764 and all this raging cannot m. her live
2T 859 to keep my promise and to m. him king
2T 878 and m. them as black as is the island
2T 928 and m. whole cities caper in the air
2T 952 I'll teach you how to m. the water mount
2T 955 and m. a fortress in the raging waves
2T 964 to hew thy flesh, and m. a gaping wound?
2T 1243 yet I'll save their lives, and m. them slaves
2T 1263 and never meant to m. a conqueror
2T 1276 methinks the slave should m. a lusty thief
2T 1299 I'll m. thee wish the earth had swallow'd thee!
2T 1317 take your crown, and m. up the half dozen
2T 1332 bugs will m. the hair stand upright on your heads
2T 1346 m. fair Victory, hovering betwixt our armies, light on me
2T 1428 such a fear, my lord, would never m. ye retire
2T 1545 I'll m. ye roar, that earth may echo
2T 1555 incense the heavens, and m. the stars to melt
2T 1617 I'll use some other means to m. you yield
2T 1681 to m. you fierce, and fit my appetite
2T 1702 for love, for honour, and to m. her queen
2T 1753 and m. us jesting pageants for their trulls
2T 1754 and now themselves shall m. our pageant
2T 1758 Babylon, whither we next m. expedition
2T 1865 and m. a bridge unto the batter'd walls
2T 1900 'tis not thy bloody tents can m. me yield
2T 1904 well, now I'll m. it quake
2T 1923 I think I m. your courage something quail
2T 1925 and m. our greatest haste to Persia 2T 2048 and m. him, after all these overthrows, to 2T 2115 yet m. them feel the strength of Tamburlaine 2T 2161 thick and obscure, doth m. your danger great 2T 2186 my looks shall m. them fly
2T 2259 help me, my lords, to m. my last remove 1F 106 shall I m. spirits fetch me what I please

1F 116 and m. swift Rhine circle fair Wertenberg
1F 124 I'll m. my servile spirits to invent
1F 126 and m. me blest with your sage conference
1F 147 shall m. all nations to canonize us
1F 164 will m. thee vow to study nothing else
1F 195 was wont to m. our schools ring with sic probo
1F 282 be it to m. the moon drop from her sphere
1F 350 and m. a bridge through [Dyce, thorough] the moving air 1F 353 and m. that land [Dyce, country] continent to Spain 1F 378 I'll m. thee go like Qui mihi discipulus?
1F 474 that m. men foolish that do trust them most 1F 527 now will I m. an end immediately
1F 754 and m. my spirits pull his churches down
1F 893 that m. safe passage to each part of Rome
1F 912 and by their folly m. us merriment
1F 986 m. all the maidens in our parish dance 1F 1011 first, I can m. thee drunk with ippocras
1F 1024 m. clean our boots, which lie foul upon our hands
1F 1207 let us m. haste to Wertenberg
1F 1238 I'd m. a brave living on him
1F 1265 have my forty dollars again, or I'll m. it the dearest horse!
1F 1285 I'll m. you wake ere I go
1F 1445 sweet Helen, m. me immortal with a kiss
1F 1552 fair Nature's eye, rise, rise again, and m. perpetual day 2F 49 couldst thou m. men to live eternally
2F 103 shall I m. spirits fetch me what I please
2F 113 m. [1624, 1631, with] swift Rhine circle fair [1624, 1631, all] Wittenberg
2F 121 I'll m. my servile spirits to invent
2F 123 m. me blest [1624, 1631, wise] with your sage conference 2F 139 shall m. all nations to [1624, 1631 omit] canonize us
2F 156 will m. thee vow to study nothing else
2F 187 was wont to m. our schools ring with sic probo
2F 225 the danger of his soul would m. me mourn
2F 266 be it to m. the moon drop from her sphere
2F 334 and m. a bridge thorough [1616, 1624, through] the moving air 2F 337 and m. that country continent to Spain
2F 360 I will m. thee go like Qui mihi discipulus?
2F 370 and m. them tear thee in pieces
2F 422 m. men [1616, them] foolish that do use them most 2F 475 now will I m. an [1624, omits] end immediately
2F 871-that m. safe passage to each part of Rome
2F 916 to m. his monks and abbots stand like apes
2F 922 this day shall m. thee be admir'd in Rome 2F 951 and m. them sleep so sound, that 2F 1028 m. haste again, my good Lord Cardinals
2F 1046 and by their folly m. some merriment
2F 1063 lest Faustus m. your shaven crowns to bleed 2F 1180 Dick, m. me a circle, and stand close 2F 1274 shall m. poor Faustus, to his utmost power, both love
2F 1303 I'll m. you feel something anon
2F 1491 m. haste to help these noble gentlemen
2F 1522 and m. us laughing-stocks to all the world
2F 1566 and m. him give me my forty dollars again 2F 1604 methinks you m. no haste to wipe it out 2F 1675 I will m. known unto you what my heart desires 2F 1776 wouldst thou m. a Colossus of me, that 2F 1904 sweet Helen, m. me immortal with a kiss
2F 2083 fair Nature's eye, rise, rise again, and m. perpetual day
*FB 21 twice did I m. my tender flesh to bleed
*FB 54 the dread [V. R. deed] whereof doth m. my heart to bleed
JM 13 would m. a miracle of thus much coin
JM 138 give us peaceful rule; m. Christians kings
JM 171 howe'er the world go, I'll m. sure for one
JM 215 we may have time to m. collection
JM 309 and m. thee poor and scorn'd of all the world
JM 459 of thy house they mean to m. a nunnery
JM 464 to m. me desperate in my poverty?
JM 476 in extremity we ought to m. bar of no policy
JM 534 to m. atonement for my labouring soul
JM 691 of whom we would m. sale in Malta here
JM 807 to m. me mindful of my mortal sins
JM 825 come home, and there's no price shall m. us part
JM 879 what m. the Jew and Lodowick so private?
JM 956 why, this is something: m. account of me
JM 981 I know it: yet, I say, m. love to him
JM 1101 I'll m. 'em friends again
JM 1102 you 'll m. 'em friends! are there not Jews enow
JM 1242 to m. me show them favour severally
JM 1367 nor m. inquiry who hath sent it them
JM 1485 exclaim on him, and m. him stand in fear of me
JM 1593 I will not go for thee. — Not! then I'll m. thee go
JM 1640 off with your girdle; m. a handsome noose
JM 1743 as if he had meant to m. clean my boots with his lips
JM 1768 I'll go steal some money from my master to m. me handsome JM 1787 I'll m. him send me half he has
JM 1851 I scorn to write a line under a hundred crowns. — You'd m. a rich poet, sir
JM 1895 I must m. this villain away
JM 2061 m. fires, heat irons, let the rack be fetch'd
JM 2123 canst thou, as thou report'st, m. Malta ours?
JM 2126 to m. a passage for the running streams
JM 2133 if this be true, I'll m. thee governor
JM 2145 for thy desert we m. thee governor
JM 2230 and let me see what money thou canst m.
JM 2256 and then to m. provision for the feast
JM 2401 I fram'd the challenge that did m. them meet
E2 3 ah, words that m. me surfeit with delight!
E2 43 I'll flatter these, and m. them live in hope
E2 91 well, Mortimer, I'll m. thee rue these words
E2 195 and m. him serve thee as thy chaplain
E2 326 I'll m. the proudest of you stoop to him
E2 365 m. several kingdoms of this monarchy
E2 398 with slaughter'd priests m. [Old eds. may] Tiber's channel swell
E2 532 and see how coldly his looks m. denial!
E2 537 I hope your honours m. no question
E2 544 such reasons m. white black, and dark night day
E2 573 'twill m. him vail the top-flag of his pride
E2 658 I m. thee here Lord Marshal of the realm
E2 707 whose proud fantastic liveries m. such show
E2 835 can you in words m. show of amity, and E2 906 he means to m. us stoop by force of arms
E2 914 and m. the people swear to put him down
E2 969 unto the walls of York the Scots made [Dyce, m.] road
E2 978 that m. a king seem glorious to the world
E2 1300 soldiers, come away; we'll m. quick work
E2 1397 I take my leave, to m. my preparation for France
E2 1493 for, now, even now, we march to m. them stoop
E2 1525 m. England's civil towns huge heaps of stones
E2 1590 that Isabel shall m. her plaints in vain

E2 1592 then m. for France amain ; Levuné, away !
E2 1750 come, friends, to Bristow, there to m. us strong
E2 1758 in civil broils m. kin and countrymen slaughter themselves
E2 1889 m. trial now of that [1612, omits ; 1622, thy] philosophy
E2 1976 gone, gone, alas, never to m. return !
E2 1979 m. for a new life, man
E2 2028 to m. usurping Mortimer a king ?
E2 2069 but seek to m. a new-elected king
E2 2088 heavens and earth conspire to m. me miserable
E2 2099 sweet God of heaven, m. me despise this transitory pomp
E2 2202 seek all the means thou canst to m. him droop
E2 2210 to m. him fret the more, speak curstly to him
E2 2251 the more cause have I now to m. amends
E2 2284 your passions m. your dolours to [1622, omits] increase
E2 2387 and, when I frown, m. all the court look pale
MP 57 and m. his Gospel flourish in this land
MP 171 the scent whereof doth m. my head to ache
MP 252 and m. a show as if all were well
MP 540 to m. the justice of my heart relent
MP 738 to levy arms, and m. these civil broils
MP 751 I m. thee general of all my army
MP 780 my lord, 'twere good to m. them friends
MP 791 I'll m. her shake off love with her heels
MP 792 I'll go take [Old ed. m.] a walk
MP 795 let us go seek the duke, and m. them friends
MP 799 to make his glory great upon the earth
MP 801 will m. the king surcease his hate
MP 815 sir, to you, sir, that dares m. the duke a cuckold
MP 872 and, as dictator, m. or peace or war
MP 894 m. a discharge of all my council straight
MP 1058 tush, to be short, he meant to m. me monk
MP 1090 and m. the Guisians stoop that are alive
MPF 1 now, sir, to you that dares m. a duke a cuckold
D 32 Vulcan shall dance to m. thee laughing-sport
D 35 to m. thee fans wherewith to cool thy face
D 82 whose weary limbs shall shortly m. repose
D 102 shall m. the Morning haste her grey uprise
D 124 whose beauteous burden well might m. you proud
D 160 to make us live unto our former heat
D 167 that we may m. a fire to warm us with D 201 and this right hand shall m. thy altars crack with D 311 O, yet this stone doth m. Aeneas weep !
D 399 lies it in Dido's hands to m. thee blest ?
D 627 or else in Carthage m. his kingly throne
D 720 I'll m. me bracelets for his golden hair
D 880 which I will m. in quittance of thy love
D 901 I'll m. the clouds dissolve their watery works
D 986 and m. love drunken with thy sweet desire
D 1053 stout love, in mine arms m. thy Italy
D 1104 whose hideous echoes m. the welkin howl
D 1240 to m. amends, wear the imperial crown of Libya
D 1271 and now to m. experience of my love
D 1330 and he'll m. me immortal with a kiss
D 1655 or else I'll m. a prayer unto the waves
D 1675 must I m. ships for him to sail away
D 1693 lay to thy hands, and help me make a fire
D 1702 and m. Aeneas famous through the world for perjury
*HLD 6 whatsoever we judge shall m. to his living credit HLM 60 for whom succeeding times m. [V. R. may] greater moan
*HLC 984 and would m. proud ascent to seats of gods
*HLC 1037 confer with it, and m. my pledge as deep
*HLC 1100 a very silly sleight, to m. a perfect metal counterfeit
*HLC 1193 m. me, for forging a fantastic vow, presume
*HLC 1202 such virtue love hath to m. one of two
*HLC 1388 fare she suffer'd spoil'd, to m. a childish snare
*HLC 1392 and m. her judgment conquer Destinies
*HLC 1424 Nature had plac'd in it to m. it known
*HLC 1428 Hero could not but m. a history
*HLC 1440 and m. the rankest miser bountiful
*HLC 1467 that she did m. her god
*HLC 1538 thy smooth looks m. men digest thy sin
*HLC 1546 turtles did with moans [V. R. moane] m. swell their shining gorges
*HLC 1697 and high in her worst state m. pity sit
*HLC 1781 he wanted virtue to m. his own desires implanted
*HLC 1849 whose worth did m. his hope of
*HLC 1854 to win Love stay with him, and m. him love him
*HLC 1856 move him to m. him love or stay
*HLC 1910 to m. the flame of their delight round as the moon
*HLC 2222 when bees m. [V. R. ms.] wax, Nature doth
*HLC 2224 we, that know the proper virtue of it, m. it so
*HLC 2229 wants love's fire to m. it mild and bright
*HLC 2277 such a face as he saw brave men m.
*HLC 2398 a storm in Hero's heart, greater than they could m.
Ov 220 little I ask : a little entrance m.
Ov 431 m. a small price, while thou thy nets dost lay
Ov 436 and Isis now will show what 'scuse to m.
Ov 456 by keeping of thy birth m. but a shift
Ov 562 knights of the post of perjuries m. sale
Ov 612 let her m. verses, and some blotted letter
Ov 666 and soldiers m. them ready to the fight [ed. A, omits this line]
Ov 693 dost punish [ed. A, Punish ye] me, because years m. him wane ?
Ov 727 in crooked trannels crispy curls to m. !
Ov 901 wilt thou her fault learn ? she may m. thee tremble
Ov 936 nor m. they any man that hear[s] them glad Ov 980 a hundred reasons m. me ever love
Ov 1002 some one of these might m. the chastest fall
Ov 1070 might m. wrath-kindled Jove away his thunder shake
Ov 1103 thou with thy quills mightst m. green emeralds dark
Ov 1306 for thee the east and west winds m. me pale
Ov 1461 her small joints encircling, round hoop m. thee
Ov 1550 though thy face in all things m. thee reign
Ov 1746 soft loves, in time m. hast
Ov 1794 goddess, come here ; m. my love conquering
Ov 2009 shame, that should m. me blush, I have no more
Ov 2070 charms change corn to grass, and m. it die
Ov 2080 yet might her touch m. youthful Pylius fire
Ov 2312 long have I borne much ; mad thy faults me [ed. C, we] m.
Ov 2392 we m. Enceladus use a thousand arms
Ov 2396 Niobe flint, Callist we m. a bear
Ov 2458 will you m. shipwreck of your honest name
*LD 17 I m. no question but they will not become you
L 296 souse down the walls, and m. a passage forth
L 315 needs m. him king ? and shall he triumph long
L 385 these hands shall thrust the ram, and m. them fly
L 516 would m. them sleep securely in their tents

L 671 stretch out the date of slaughter! only civil broils m. peace
PS 9 There will I m. thee a bed of roses [So in P. P.]
PS 9 and I will m. thee beds of roses [So in E. H. and C. A.]
*AT 81 take warning ye that plays do m., and ye that do them act
*Epg 3_0 yet could he never [MS. never could hee] m. an English rhyme
*Epg 355 to m. myself his wench but one half-hour
*Epg 388 which doth of physic m. a mockery
*Epg 556 to m. me so well known for my [A, omits] ill rhyme
*1H6 56 a far more glorious star thy soul will m., than *1H6 154 bonfires in France forthwith I am to m.
*1H6 157 whose bloody deeds shall m. all Europe quake
*1H6 195 nor men nor money hath he to m. war
*1H6 273 only this proof I'll of thy valour m.
*1H6 400 in this tumultuous strife, but to m. open proclamation
*1H6 483 where is the best place to m. our batt'ry next?
*1H6 527 and m. a quagmire of your mingled brains
*1H6 546 help Salisbury to m. his testament
*1H6 568 the shame hereof, will m. me hide my head
*1H6 581 dauphin command the citizens m. bonfires
*1H6 631 that we do m. our entrance several ways
*1H6 636 and here will Talbot mount, or m. his grave
*1H6 640 arm, arm, the enemy doth m. assault
*1H6 654 m. us partakers of a little gain
*1H6 1095 or m. my will th' advantage of my good
*1H6 1303 through which our policy must m. a breach
*1H6 1348 and m. thee curse the harvest of that corn
*1H6 1452 and we will m. thee famous through the world
*1H6 1825 and m. the cowards stand aloof at bay
*1H6 1943 to m. a bastard, and a slave of me
*1H6 2133 a phoenix that shall m. all France afeard
*1H6 2169 he'll m. his cap co-equal with the crown
*1H6 2197 I'll either m. thee stoop, and bend thy knee, or *1H6 2295 before thou m. a trial of her love?
*1H6 2337 I'll undertake to m. thee Henry's queen
*1H6 2392 and m. this marriage to be solemniz'd
*1H6 2507 upon the country where you m. abode
*1H6 2609 would m. a volume of enticing lines
*1H6 2647 and not to seek a queen to m. him rich
*Con 28 and nothing can m. poor Margaret miserable
*Con 148 and m. a show of love to proud Duke Humphrey
*Con 165 and force perforce, I'll m. him yield the crown
*Con 188 shall for th' offence, m. forfeit of his head
*Con 211 I'd reach to the crown, or m. some hop headless [Q1 Q2 omit the line]
*Con 237 these gifts ere long will m. me mighty rich
*Con 345 should m. him worthy to be honoured here
*Con 404 we m. your grace regent over the French
*Con 407 m. haste my lord, 'tis time that you were gone
*Con 499 let me be blessed for the peace I m.
*Con 509 m. up no factious numbers, but even in thine own person meet me
*Con 611 and here's the answer the devil did m. to them
*Con 1159 m. thee crave pardon for thy passèd speech
*Con 1199 there's two of you, the devil m. the third
*Con 1217 and boding scrike-owls [Q3 scritch-owles] m. the concert [All quartos consort] full *Con 1282 can I m. men live whether they will or no?
*Con 1289 hold up thy hand and m. some sign to us
*Con 1309 yet let not that m. thee bloody-minded
*Con 1448 why then to equal him, I'll m myself knight
*Con 1587 what answer canst thou m. unto my mightiness
*Con 1619 but I'll m. thee sure enough, now I have thee
*Con 1666 and m. them yield their livings to your hands
*Con 1678 my staff shall m. way through the midst of you
*Con 1680 go some and m. after him, and proclaim
*Con 1716 I'll m. thee eat iron like an astridge [Q2 Q3 estridge]
*Con 1938 m. haste, for vengeance comes along with them
*2H6 207 then let's m. haste away, and look unto the main *2H6 223 pirates may m. cheap pennyworths of their pillage
*2H6 242 and m. a show of love to proud Duke Humphrey
*2H6 259 and force perforce I'll m. him yield the crown
*2H6 282 my troublous dreams this night, doth m. me sad
*2H6 340 that shall m. answer to such questions, as *2H6 343 when from Saint Albans we do m. return
*2H6 345 here Hume, take this reward, m. merry man
*2H6 347 Hume must m. merry with the duchess' gold
*2H6 463 this late complaint will m. but little for his benefit
*2H6 502 would m. thee quickly hop without thy head
*2H6 527 before we m. election, give me leave to show
*2H6 607 whom we raise, we will m. fast within a hallow'd verge *2H6 707 let me be blessed for the peace I m.
*2H6 711 m. up no factious numbers for the matter
*2H6 983 Warwick shall one day m. the Duke of York a king *2H6 985 Richard shall live to m. the Earl of Warwick the *2H6 1238 and when he please to m. commotion, 'tis *2H6 1361 and if my death might m. this island happy, and *2H6 1380 and all to m. away my guiltless life
*2H6 1390 'twill m. them cool in zeal unto your grace
*2H6 1467 were 't not madness then, to m. the fox surveyor of the fold?
*2H6 1574 to m. commotion, as full well he can *2H6 1594 will m. him say, I mov'd him to those arms
*2H6 1684 and m. my image but an ale-house sign
*2H6 1751 what were it but to m. my sorrow greater?
*2H6 1824 m. thee beg pardon for thy passèd speech
*2H6 1867 the mortal worm might m. the sleep eternal
*2H6 1909 there's two of you, the devil m. a third
*2H6 1923 and boding screech-owls m. the consort [? concert] full *2H6 2030 can I m. men live where [? whether] they will or no?
*2H6 2044 see how the pangs of death do m. him grin
*2H6 2048 hold up thy hand, m. signal of thy hope
*2H6 2063 here shall they m. their ransom on the sand
*2H6 2066 and thou that art his mate, m. boot of this *2H6 2089 yet let not this m. thee be bloody-minded
*2H6 2111 remember it, and let it m. thee crest-fall'n
*2H6 2158 small things m. base men proud
*2H6 2224 the skins of our enemies, to m. dog's leather of *2H6 2264 I will m. it felony to drink small beer
*2H6 2288 nay, he can m. obligations, and write court-hand
*2H6 2314 to equal him I will m. myself a knight presently
*2H6 2576 a box o' th' ear, and that will m. 'em red again
*2H6 2604 if when you m. your prayers, God should be *2H6 2659 for me, I will m. shift for one
*2H6 2666 and m. the meanest of you earls and dukes?
*2H6 2672 should m. a start o'er seas, and vanquish you?
*2H6 2688 my sword m. way for me, for
*2H6 2707 or is he but retir'd to m. him strong?
*2H6 2773 I'll m. thee eat iron like an ostrich [Fol. Ostridge]

*2H6 2859 but I must m. fair weather yet a while *2H6 2951 see where they come, I'll warrant they 'll m. it good *2H6 3082 whom angry heavens do m. their minister
*TT 66 to m. a shambles of the parliament-house
*TT 193 accurst be he that seeks to m. them foes
*TT 334 till thy blood congeal'd with his, do m. me wipe off both
*TT 389 come m. him stand upon this molehill here
*TT 407 I prithee grieve to m. me merry York?
*TT 411 thou wouldst be fee'd I see to m. me sport
*TT 437 I would assay, proud queen, to m. thee blush
*TT 450 the contrary doth m. thee wonder'd at *TT 586 short tale to m., we at Saint Albans met
*TT 643 what besides may m. against the House of Lancaster
*TT 664 shall for the offence m. forfeit of his head
*TT 701 m. war with him, that climbs unto their nest
*TT 703 for shame my lord, m. them your precedent
*TT 775 no, nor your manhood Warwick, that could m. you [Q3 yee] stay
*TT 784 but ere sun-set I'll m. thee curse the deed
*TT 813 to m. that shameless callat know herself
*TT 869 and here to God of heaven I m. a vow, never to *TT 964 nay stand not to expostulate, m. haste
*TT 993 and much effuse of blood doth m. me faint
*TT 1118 ay, so I will, but yet I'll m. a pause
*TT 1231 to m. my legs of an unequal size
*TT 1289 a silly time, to m. prescription for a kingdom's worth
*TT 1404 had he none else to m. a stale but me?
*TT 1454 you shall give me leave to m. my choice as I think good
*TT 1634 he'll quickly m. the body follow after *TT 1698 m. much of him my lords, for this is he shall *TT 1753 or did he m. the jest against his will *TT 1927 now Edward what satisfaction canst thou m., for *TT 1955 what doth she swound? m. means for her recovery
*TT 1991 to m. a bloody supper in the Tower
*TT 2057 and had I not reason think you to m. haste
*3H6 73 to m. a shambles of the parliament-house
*3H6 212 accurst be he that seeks to m. them foes
*3H6 245 what is it, but to m. thy sepulchre, and *3H6 419 blood congeal'd with this, do m. me wipe off both *3H6 428 three times did Richard m. a lane to me
*3H6 486 come m. him stand upon this molehill here
*3H6 505 I prithee grieve, to m. me merry, York
*3H6 509 and I, to m. thee mad, do mock thee thus *3H6 511 thou wouldst be fee'd, I see, to m. me sport
*3H6 538 I would assay, proud queen, to m. thee blush
*3H6 549 'tis beauty that doth oft m. women proud
*3H6 551 'tis virtue, that doth m. them most admir'd *3H6 552 the contrary, doth m. thee wonder'd at *3H6 689 to weep, is to m. less the depth of grief
*3H6 723 short tale to m., we at Saint Albans met
*3H6 761 'tis love I bear thy glories m. me speak
*3H6 779 may m. against the House of Lancaster
*3H6 800 shall for the fault m. forfeit of his head
*3H6 843 m. war with him that climb'd unto their nest
*3H6 845 for shame, my liege, m. them your precedent
*3H6 921 no, nor your manhood that durst m. you stay
*3H6 929 but ere sun-set, I'll m. thee curse the deed
*3H6 958 to m. this shameful callat know herself
*3H6 1048 forslow no longer, m. we hence amain
*3H6 1197 nay, stay not to expostulate, m. speed
*3H6 1227 and much effuse of blood, doth m. me faint
*3H6 1315 and in this covert will we m. our stand
*3H6 1349 her sighs will m. a battery in his breast
*3H6 1402 my mild entreaty shall not m. you guilty
*3H6 1423 it were no less, but yet I'll m. a pause
*3H6 1582 I'll m. my heaven in a lady's lap
*3H6 1591 to m. an envious mountain on my back
*3H6 1602 I'll m. my heaven, to dream upon the crown
*3H6 1729 a silly time to m. prescription for a kingdom's worth *3H6 1773 touching the jointure that your king must m.
*3H6 1779 by this alliance to m. void my suit
*3H6 1796 m. King Lewis behold thy sly conveyance
*3H6 1902 had he none else to m. a stale but me?
*3H6 2046 go levy men, and m. prepare for war
*3H6 2207 that if about this hour he m. this way
*3H6 2272 I m. you both protectors of this land *3H6 2306 m. much of him, my lords; for this is he *3H6 2361 he'll soon find means to m. the body follow
*3H6 2396 when we grow stronger, then we'll m. our claim
*3H6 2407 come, fellow-soldier, m. thou proclamation
*3H6 2519 or did he m. a jest against his will?
*3H6 2591 pardon me Edward, I will m. amends
*3H6 2722 and m. him, naked, foil a man-at-arms
*3H6 2727 and m. him of like spirit to himself
*3H6 2777 Edward, what satisfaction canst thou m., for *3H6 2847 as I guess, to m. a bloody supper in the Tower
*3H6 2925 had I not reason (think ye) to m. haste
*3H6 2932 let hell m. crook'd my mind to answer it
*E3 75 but like a conqueror, to m. him bow
*E3 138 but I will m. you shrink your snaily horns
*E3 149 m. him acquainted with our enterprise
*E3 192 nor never m. fair weather or take truce
*E3 212 nay, soft ye, sir, first I must m. my choice
*E3 307 what might I speak, to m. my sovereign stay?
*E3 325 but, to m. up my all too long compare
*E3 403 talking of grief, to m. thee ready groan
*E3 407 and m. a flint-heart Scythian pitiful
*E3 451 doth m. more fair the yellow amber
*E3 552 within thy power [it] doth lie to m. him happy
*E3 683 I will not stand to hear thee m. reply
*E3 693 and to my daughter m. a recantation of
*E3 710 and do your best to m. his highness merry
*E3 741 digest the ill and m. it lose his operation?
*E3 821 ah, that thou wert a witch, to m. it so!
*E3 887 who looking wistly on me m. me blush
*E3 949 unless you do m. good what you have sworn
*E3 956 nay, you 'll do more; you 'll m. the river, too
*E3 1001 Warwick, I m. thee Warden of the North
*E3 1115 touching the challenge that the English m.?
*E3 1121 I'll m. a conduit of my dearest blood
*E3 1250 and, unrestrain'd, m. havoc as they pass
*E3 1422 enthrone himself in tyranny, m. slaves of you
*E3 1510 in which, for haste to m. a safe escape, more
*E3 1552 will m. him savour still of this exploit
*E3 1724 denies to m. surrender of his prize to any
*E3 1826 when feather'd fowl shall m. thine army tremble
*E3 1835 or airy fowl m. men in arms to quake
*E3 1891 and m. a thousand millions of a task which
*E3 1902 the drops are infinite that m. a flood
*E3 2062 and m. their way to the encompass'd prince
*E3 2177 m. up once more with me
*E3 2262 put all to sword, and m. the spoil your own
*Sel 655 ms. my unbridled son instead of love to *Sel 841 what hath rule that ms. it acceptable?

*Sel 951 ms. me a friend to noble Selimus
*Loc 89 and ms. me tremble at the thought of it
*Loc 534 « This ms. us work for company »
*Loc 1501 that ms. my life equal to dreadful death ?
*Loc 1751 though nature ms. me to lament
*Loc 1765 it ms. mè laugh, to think that Guendolen 1T 80 besmear'd with blood that ms. a dainty show
1T 630 and ms. a passage for all prosperous arms
1T 1486 fighting for passage, m[s]. the welkin crack
1T 2186 ms. my deeds infamous through the world
2T 397 ms. me to surfeit in conceiving joy
2T 541 ms. earthquakes in the hearts of men and heaven
2T 695 whose absence ms. [8vo m.] the sun and moon as dark 2T 1142 and ms. the mighty god of arms his slave
2T 1240 my lord, your presence ms. them pale and wan 2T 1475 which ms. me valiant, proud, ambitious
2T 1895 and ms. [8vo wake] black Jove to crouch and kneel to me
2T 2006 ms. them fleet aloft and gape [4to gaspe] for air
2T 2114 ms. them manage arms against thy state
1F 1178 not only gives thee horns, but ms. thee wear them 2F 1686 this ms. me wonder more than all the rest 2F 1928 the time is come which ms. it forfeit
JM 1477 the priest that ms. it known, being degraded
JM 1490 a thing that ms. me tremble to unfold
E2 124 and strike off his that ms. you threaten us
E2 429 kind words and mutual talk ms. our grief greater
E2 612 and ms. me frantic for my Gaveston
E2 716 uncle, 'tis this that ms. me impatient
E2 742 which ms. me think it is about her lover Gaveston
E2 1388 ah, boy, this towardness ms. thy mother fear
E2 1581 ms. friends to cross the seas with her young son
E2 1665 right ms. room where weapons want
E2 2105 ah, pardon me ! grief ms. me lunatic
E2 2201 who now ms. Fortune's wheel to turn as he please
E2 2285 this usage ms. my misery increase
E2 2557 this fear is that which ms. me tremble thus MP 81 that ms. these upstart heresies in France
MP 183 only some natural passion ms. her sick
MP 718 Spain is the place where he ms. peace and war
MP 746 and ms. his footstool on security
MP 1266 he that ms. most lavish of his blood
D 11 that, shaken thrice, ms. nature's buildings quake
D 413 and ms. Aeneas sink at Dido's feet
D 924 what ms. Iarbas here of all the rest ?
D 1499 pardon me, though I ask ; love ms. me ask
HLM 66 grief ms. her pale, because she moves not there
HLM 224 whch ms. me hope, although I am but base
HLM 299 perhaps thy priesthood ms. thee loath
HLM 319 which ms. him quickly reinforce his speech
HLM 570 love always ms. those eloquent that have it
*HLC 895 clothes but our nakedness, and ms. us live
*HLC 907 and every birth of men and actions ms. legitimate
*HLC 912 that false wealth that ms. few rich
*HLC 1102 an art that ms. the face a pandar to the heart
*HLC 1194 presume to bear what ms. grave matrons bow ?
*HLC 1642 she ms. a feast, at which appears the wild nymph
*HLC 2227 ms. by her soul the best of her true state
Ov 39 what ms. my bed seem hard, seeing it is soft [ed. A, is so soft] ?
Ov 222 long love my body to such use m[s]. slender
Ov 368 and ms. large streams back to their fountains flow
Ov 962 please her ; her hate ms. others thee abhor
Ov 1000 folds up her arms, and ms. low courtesy
Ov 1907 what's kept, we covet more ; the care ms. theft
*Ign 4 modesty, which ms. thee in perfection's throne to sit
L 417 pulls them aloft , and ms. the surge kiss heaven
L 456 this ms. them run on the sword's point, and desire to die
L 498 ms. the main-sail fall with hideous sound
L 681 why grapples Rome, and ms. war, having no foes ?
*1H6 814 and in a moment ms. them desolate
*1H6 1135 and ms. him roar these accusations forth
*1H6 1473 fortune in favour ms. him lag behind
*1H6 1498 or nature ms. me suddenly relent
*1H6 1526 welcome brave duke, thy friendship ms. us fresh
*1H6 1661 say gentlemen, what ms. you thus exclaim
*1H6 1857 mad ire, and wrathful fury ms. me weep
*1H6 2044 young Talbot's valour ms. me smile at thee
*1H6 2290 confounds the tongue, and ms. the senses rough *1H6 2374 what answer ms. your grace unto my suit ?
*Con 395 what answer ms. your grace concerning our regent for *Con 722 and ms. the fountains of mine eyes to swell
*Con 1157 and that my sovereign's presence ms. me mute
*Con 1290 Oh see he dies, and ms. no sign at all
*Con 1617 it is the palsy and not fear that ms. me
*2H6 29 ms. me the bolder to salute my king
*2H6 34 ms. me from wond'ring, fall to weeping joys
*2H6 1822 and that my sovereign's presence ms. me mild
*2H6 1857 ms. them thus forward in his banishment
*2H6 1977 that ms. him gasp, and stare, and catch the air
*2H6 2049 he dies and ms. no sign : Oh God forgive him
*2H6 2403 and ms. it fearful and degenerate
*2H6 2408 what answer ms. your grace to the rebels' supplications ?
*2H6 2555 which ms. me hope you are not void of pity
*2H6 2686 and ms. them leave me desolate
*2H6 2692 ms. me betake me to my heels
*2H6 2962 ms. him oppose himself against his king
*TT 53 the hope thereof, ms. Clifford mourn in steel
*TT 152 that ms. thee thus presumptuous and proud
*TT 226 ms. her in fury thus forget [Q3 to forget] herself
*TT 297 dead already ? or is it fear that ms. him close his eyes ?
*TT 375 wrath ms. him deaf [Q1 death], speak thou Northumberland
*TT 429 yet stay : and let's hear the orisons he ms.
*TT 447 'tis beauty, that oft ms. women proud
*TT 449 'tis government, that ms. them most admir'd
*TT 451 'tis virtue that [Q2 omits] ms. them seem divine
*TT 452 the want thereof ms. thee abominable
*TT 726 my lord, this harmful pity ms. your followers faint
*TT 987 and what ms. robbers bold but lenity ?
*TT 1918 and yonder stands the wolf that ms. all this *3H6 58 the hope thereof, ms. Clifford mourn in steel
*3H6 164 which ms. thee thus presumptuous and proud
*3H6 376 or is it fear, that ms. him close his eyes ?
*3H6 444 the sands are number'd, that ms. up my life
*3H6 472 wrath ms. him deaf ; speak thou Northumberland *3H6 529 nay stay, let's hear the orisons he ms.
*3H6 553 'tis government that ms. them seem divine
*3H6 554 the want thereof, ms. thee abominable
*3H6 869 and this soft courage ms. your followers faint
*3H6 1221 and what ms. robbers bold, but too much lenity ?

*3H6 2003 what answer ms. King Lewis unto our letters?
*3H6 2161 madam, what ms. you in this sudden change?
*3H6 2180 this is it that ms. me bridle passion
*3H6 2479 you are the fount that ms. small brooks to flow
*3H6 2760 and yonder is the wolf, that ms. this spoil
*E3 275 and now that comfort ms. her scorn at us
*E3 430 how full of languishment, her beauty ms. me
*E3 457 ah, what a world of descant ms. my soul upon this
*E3 807 and ms. our king lieutenant-general
*E3 959 thy beauty ms. them guilty of their death
*E3 1872 fruits, ms. it the orchard of the Hesperides
*E3 1966 how confident their strength and number ms. them!
*E3 2471 now, father, this petiton Edward ms.
D 1658 and all the sailors merry-m. for joy

Makers.

2F 1382 an scholars be such cuckold-m., to *Con 497 for blessed are the peace-m. on earth
*2H6 706 for blessed are the peace-m. on earth

Makest.

JM 547 what m. thou 'mongst these hateful Christians?
1T 1365 Mahomet, that m. us thus the slaves to Scythians
D 154 and m. our hopes survive to coming [Old ed. cunning] joys
Ov 671 thou m. the surety to the lawyer run
Ov 1752 thou mayst know with love thou m. me flame

Maketh.

HLM 232 ship, well-rigg'd and tall, the ocean m. more majestical
*3H6 2335 yet thus far fortune m. us amends

Making.

*Sel 1897 this morning while I was m. me ready, she
*Loc 1514 m. a breach into the grassy downs
1T 247 and m. thee and me, Techelles, kings
1T 474 m. it dance with wanton majesty
1T 1333 and m. bonfires for my overthrow
1T 1941 m. the mantle of the richest night
1T 2016 m. thee mount as high as eagles soar!
1T 2223 m. now a virtue of thy sight
2T 1521 m. them bury this effeminate brat
2T 1561 m. the meteors (that, like armèd men
2T 1600 m. a passage for my troubled soul
2T 1673 m. their fiery gait above the clouds
*JMD 7 m. choice of you unto whom to devote it
JM 114 m. the sea[s] their servants, and the winds to drive
JM 2249 live with both, m. a profit of my policy
E2 759 or m. low legs to a nobleman
MP 1048 in m. foreign wars and civil broils
D 1551 were up in arms, for m. thee my love?
Ov 557 m. her joy according to her hire
L 148 at all times charging home, and m. havoc
L 540 m. men despair of day
*Epg 268 m. his mistress march with men of war
*TT 607 you were, m. another head to fight again
*3H6 744 m. another head, to fight again

Mala.

*2H6 2547 nothing but this: 'tis bona terra, m. gens

Maladies.

1F 50 and thousand desperate m. been eas'd?
2F 47 and thousand [1624, 1631, divers] desperate m. been cur'd?

Malady.

*Loc 239 my m. increaseth more and more
2T 2133 words, which add much danger to your m.!
*1H6 1488 see, see the pining m. of France

Malapert.

*TT 753 becomes it thee to be thus m., before thy king *3H6 2794 untutor'd lad, thou art too m.

Malcontent.

*E3 1022 England was wont to harbour ms.
*TT 1451 alas poor Clarence, is it for a wife, that thou art m.
*3H6 1918 that you stand pensive, as half m.?
*3H6 1971 alas, poor Clarence: is it for a wife that thou art m.?
*E3 812 the king is in his closet, m.

Male.

E2 308 Quam m. conveniunt!
*TT 2004 and I the hapless m. to one poor bird, have *3H6 647 you love the breeder better than the m.
*3H6 2867 and I the hapless m. to one sweet bird
*E3 25 except he be descended of the m.

Malea.

Ov 1510 nor thy gulfs, crook'd M., would I fear

Maledicat.

1F 957 stole away his Holiness' meat from the table! m. Dominus!
1F 959 a blow on the face! m. Dominus!
1F 961 a blow on the pate! m. Dominus!
1F 963 disturbeth our holy dirge! m. Dominus!
1F 965 took away his Holiness' wine! m. Dominus!
2F 1136 stole his Holiness' meat from the table! m. Dominus!
2F 1138 a blow on [1616, omits] the face! m. Dominus!
2F 1140 a blow on the pate! m. Dominus!
2F 1142 disturbeth our holy dirge! m. Dominus!
2F 1144 took away his Holiness' wine! m. Dominus!

Malgrado.

E2 1173 m. all your beards, that muster rebels thus Malice.

1T 1835 endure as we the m. of our stars
2T 655 now by the m. of the angry skies
JM 121 I see no fruits in all their faith, but m., falsehood
E2 1312 I know the m. of the younger Mortimer
MP 30 to stop the m. of his envious heart
HLM 706 and in his heart revenging m. bare
*1H6 1121 exempt from envious m. of thy swelling heart
*1H6 1174 begun through m. of the bishop's men
*1H6 1228 preach, that m. was a great and grievous sin
*1H6 1686 will not this m. Somerset be left?
*Con 940 Suffolk's hateful tongue blabs his heart's m.
*2H6 575 for he hath witness of his servant's m.
*2H6 695 good uncle hide such m.
*2H6 697 no m. sir, no more than well becomes so
*2H6 1367 Beaufort's red sparkling eyes blab his heart's m.
*2H6 1622 God forbid any m. should prevail
*3H6 2142 though Fortune's m. overthrow my state, my *3H6 2259 by spying and avoiding Fortune's m.
1T 159 in spite of them shall m. my estate

Malicious.

*1H6 1585 such as shall pretend m. practices against his state

Malignant.

*1H6 1934 O m. and ill-boding stars, now thou art come
*TT 849 what fatal star m. frowns from heaven upon

Maligned.

JM 1602 he m. the order of the Jacobins

Malmsey.

2F 803 claret-wine, sack, muscadine, m., and whippincrust

Malorum.

*Loc 1531 Eheu m. fames extremum malum!

Malta.
JM (Title) The famous Tragedy of the rich Jew of M.
*JMS 7 of a rich and famous Jew who liv'd in M.
JM 47 smoothly gliding down by Candy-shore to M.
JM 68 go tell 'em the Jew of M. sent thee, man
JM 130 Nones in Portugal, myself in M., some in Italy
JM 164 the Turks and those of M. are in league
JM 173 and all the Jews in M. must be there
JM 174 Hum, — all the Jews in M. must be there!
JM 185 long to the Turk did M. contribute
JM 188 such a sum as all the wealth of M. cannot pay
JM 197 know, knights of M., that we come from Rhodes
JM 201 what's Cyprus, Candy, and those other isles to us or M.?
JM 216 make collection amongst the inhabitants of M. for 't
JM 228 farewell, great governor, and brave knights of M.
JM 230 go one and call those Jews of M. hither
JM 302 here in M., where thou gott'st thy wealth, live still JM 335 being valu'd, amount to more than all the wealth in M.
JM 526 the hopeless daughter of a hapless Jew, the Jew of M.
JM 677 Governor of M., hither am I bound
JM 691 slaves, of whom we would make sale in M. here
JM 693 welcome to M., and to all of us!
JM 701 will knights of M. be in league with Turks
JM 744 and there, in spite of M., will I dwell
JM 1013 I'll rouse him thence. — Not for all M.
JM 1102 are there not Jews enow in M., but thou must dote upon
JM 1361 this even they use in M. here
JM 1412 in M. are no golden minerals
JM 1413 to you of M. thus saith Calymath
JM 1431 and turn proud M. to a wilderness
JM 1435 and now, you men of M., look about
JM 1554 for store of wealth may I compare with all the Jews of M.
JM 2000 musician, hast been in M. long?
JM 2038 and see that M. be well fortified
JM 2073 his sight is death to me. — For what, you men of M.?
JM 2123 canst thou, as thou report'st, make M. ours?
JM 2165 I now am governor of M.; true
JM 2166 but M. hates me, and, in hating me, my life's in danger
JM 2204 in M. here, that I have got my goods
JM 2209 in distress, I'll rear up M., now remediless
JM 2231 here is my hand that I'll set M. free
JM 2237 and I will warrant M. free for ever
JM 2433 the ruins done to M. and to us
JM 2434 M. shall be freed, or Selim ne'er return to Ottoman
JM 2440 here thou must stay, and live in M. prisoner
JM 2443 sooner shall they drink the ocean dry, than conquer M.
JM 717 Bosco, thou shalt be M.'s general
JM 2188 thy life and M.'s happiness are at my arbitrement
JM 2194 I see no reason but of M.'s wreck, nor JM 2200 as for M.'s ruin, think you not 'twere slender policy
JM 2210 will Barabas recover M.'s loss?
JM 2273 from Barabas, M.'s governor, I bring a message

Malta-Jew.
*JMS 21 by the best of poets in that age the M. had being Malta-Road.

JM 51 Barabas, thy ships are safe, riding in M.
JM 89 thine argosy from Alexandria, know, Barabas, doth ride in M.
JM 1407 what wind drives you thus into M.?

Malta-Streets.
JM 2332 to come ashore, and march through M.

Malta-Walls.
JM 2294 I cannot feast my men in M.

Malum.
*Loc 1531 Eheu malorum fames extremum m.!

Mamelukes.
*Sel 1850 and sent me with his valiant M.

Man.
E2 156 Earl of Cornwall, King and Lord of M.
E2 221 and Secretary too, and Lord of M.
E2 870 welcome, Lord Governor of the Isle of M.!
*Con 711 thou shalt be banished for ever into the Isle of M.
*Con 843 to be conducted into the Isle of M.
*2H6 1000 in banishment, with Sir John Stanley, in the Isle of M.
*2H6 1174 to take her with him to the Isle of M.
*2H6 1192 why, madam, that is to the Isle of M.
D 937 but, should that m. of men, Dido except, have *Sel 255 and scorn religion; it disgraces m.
*Sel 277 some m. will say I am too impious
*Sel 312 then every m. of his own dition was *Sel 315 and no m. said, this, or this, is mine own
*Sel 330 some sage m., above the vulgar wise, knowing that *Sel 368 where nothing doth the wicked m. affright
*Sel 399 I will endeavour to persuade him, man
*Sel 476 young m., would Selim come and speak with us?
*Sel 625 as easy as a m. would kill a gnat
*Sel 709 what art thou, warlike m. of Tartary
*Sel 925 nor Corcut, though he be a m. of worth
*Sel 1062 may make us strong, to fortify the m.
*Sel 1335 Aga, thou art a m. of peirsant wit
*Sel 1379 then tear the old m. piecemeal with my teeth
*Sel 1384 so foul a deed as kill the m. that first gave life to you?
*Sel 1401 are ornaments fit for a private m.
*Sel 1449 even the last refuge of a wretched m. is took from me
*Sel 1620 the good old m. thinks Selim's thoughts are *Sel 1684 withal, a m. so stout and resolute, that
*Sel 1730 those that make a conscience for to kill a m.
*Sel 1940 and in good time, see yonder sits a m.
*Sel 1972 Oh, these are as a m. should say beggars
*Sel 2265 Mustaffa was the m. that certified the princes
*Sel 2290 Mustaffa was the m. that sav'd you
*Sel 2301 showèd himself a better m. than they
*Sel 2325 thou art a cruel tiger and no m.
*Sel 2327 so brave a m. as my Mustaffa was
*Sel 2423 thou art a m. as those whom thou hast slain
*Loc 269 and every m. must tread the way of death
*Loc 320 to despise a proper tall young m.
*Loc 343 I received your letters by your m. here
*Loc 559 to take a m. against his will?
*Loc 780 every m. lies sleeping in the fields
*Loc 1033 Ich zee dat you are a m. of small zideration 1T 12 now to be rul'd and govern'd by a m.
1T 197 if, as thou seem'st, thou art so mean a m.
1T 211 are countermanded by a greater m.
1T 352 if outward habit judge the inward m.
1T 355 in thee, thou valiant m. of Persia, I see 1T 377 if thou wilt stay with me, renowmed [4to renowned] m.

1T 450 and valiant Tamburlaine, the m. of fame
1T 451 the m. that in the forehead of his fortunes bears 1T 477 in every part proportion'd like the m.
1T 480 the face and personage of a wondrous m.
1T 500 the m. ordain'd by heaven to further every action
1T 595 what think'st thou, m., shall come of our attempts?
1T 666 for kings are clouts that every m. shoots at 1T 670 and far from any m. that is a fool
1T 1008 let not a m. so vile and barbarous, that 1T 1089 see how right the m. hath hit the meaning
1T 1311 each m. a crown! why, kingly fought, i' faith
1T 1404 not a m. should [8vo shal] live to rue their fall
1T 1411 nay, were he devil [4to he the devill], as he is no m., yet 1T 1793 still doth this m., or rather god of war, batter
1T 1894 whereto each m. of rule hath given his hand
1T 1971 with whose instinct the soul of m. is touch'd
2T 279 that never look'd on m. but Tamburlaine
2T 347 if any m. will hold him, I will strike
2T 442 but neither m. nor child in all the land 2T 570 or treason in the fleshly heart of m.
2T 1135 and thou shalt see a m. greater than Mahomet 2T 1313 what! take it m.
2T 1381 I know, sir, what it is to kill a m.
2T 1740 for every m. that so offends shall die
2T 1827 wherein he spareth neither m. nor child
2T 1967 Techelles, drown them all, m., woman, and child 2T 2122 shall sickness prove me now to be a m.
1F 28 and this the m. that in his study sits
1F 51 yet art thou still but Faustus, and a m.
1F 88 stretcheth as far as doth the mind of m.
1F 389 if I were your m., I should be full of vermin
1F 405 a m. were as good have as many English counters
1F 653 fair as thou, or any m. that breathes on earth
1F 655 'twas made for m., therefore is m. more excellent 1F 656 if it was made for m., 'twas made for me 1F 884 tut, 'tis no matter, m.; we'll be bold with 1F 1125 it grieves my soul I never saw the m.
1F 1127 canst raise this m. from hollow vaults below
1F 1235 now am I made m. for ever
1F 1245 what art thou, Faustus, but a m. condemn'd to die?
1F 1463 accursed Faustus, miserable m., that 1F 1482 'tis but a surfeit; never fear, m.
2F 27 and this the m. that in his study sits
2F 48 yet art thou still but Faustus, and a m.
2F 85 stretcheth as far as doth the mind of m.
2F 359 sirrah, wilt thou be my m., and wait on me 2F 577 not half so fair as thou, or any m. that 2F 579 'twas made for m.; then he's more excellent 2F 580 if heaven was made for m., 'twas made for me 2F 893 cloy'd with all things that delight the heart of m.
2F 1113 and find the m. that doth this villany 2F 1255 they say, if a m. be drunk over night, the devil cannot hurt him 2F 1470 and I had breath'd a m., made free from harm 2F 1510 nay, fear not, m.; we have no power to kill 2F 1516 nay, chafe not, m.; we all are [1624, 1631, are all] sped 2F 1537 I am a very poor m., and have lost very much 2F 1554 O, joyful day! now am I a made m. for ever
2F 1555 what art thou, Faustus, but a m. condemn'd to die?
2F 1624 as I am a cursen m., he never left eating till 2F 1803 we are much beholding [1631, beholden] to this learned m.
2F 1845 though thou hast now offended like a m.
2F 1887 torment, sweet friend, that base and aged m.
2F 2155 that sometime grew within this learnèd m.
*JMS 26 being a m. whom we may rank with (doing
JM 10 gold, whereof a m. may easily in a day tell that which JM 68 go tell 'em the Jew of Malta sent thee, m.
JM 111 what more may heaven do for earthly m. than JM 123 haply some hapless m. hath conscience, and JM 175 let every m. provide him, and be there
JM 249 thou art a merchant and a money'd m.
JM 300 than many perish for a private m.
JM 317 the m. that dealeth righteously shall live
JM 413 'tis a misery to see a m. in such affliction
JM 548 hinder her not, thou m. of little faith
JM 723 they fought it out, and not a m. surviv'd
JM 815 are wondrous; — and indeed do no m. good
JM 892 tush, m.! we talk'd of diamonds, not of Abigail
JM 1150 But here's the Jew's m. — Hide the bag
JM 1466 Mathias was the m. that I held dear
JM 1601 I never heard of any m. but he malign'd the order
JM 1680 so might my m. and I hang with you for company
JM 1713 at the reading of the letter, he looked like a m. of another world
JM 1717 that such a base slave as he should be saluted by such a tall m.
JM 1732 I never knew a m. take his death so patiently as this friar
JM 1922 ne'er lov'd m. servant as I do Ithamore
JM 1953 I had not thought he had been so brave a m.
JM 2004 you no be his m.? — His m.! — I scorn the peasant
JM 2087 my lord, the courtezan and her m. are dead
JM 2113 since that time they have hir'd a slave, my m.
JM 2307 have special care that no m. sally forth
E2 225 and happy is the m. whom he vouchsafes, for E2 232 doth no m. take exceptions at the slave?
E2 307 what m. of noble birth can brook this sight?
E2 731 the liberal Earl of Cornwall is the m.
E2 919 we'll have him ransom'd, m.: be of good cheer
E2 1055 scarce shall you find a m. of more desert
E2 1242 wrong thee so, to make away a true m. for a thief
E2 1250 earnestly desires to see the m. before his death
E2 1341 welcome, old m.: com'st thou in Edward's aid?
E2 1354 welcome, ten thonsand times, old m., again!
E2 1503 and this retire refresheth horse and m.
E2 1703 why, m., they say there is a great execution done
E2 1911 who wounds me with the name of Mortimer, that bloody m.?
E2 1938 here, m., rip up this panting breast of mine
E2 1979 make for a new life, m.; throw up thy eyes and E2 2123 a thought so villanous can harbour in a m. of noble birth
E2 2212 in any case, let no m. comfort him
E2 2365 'tis not the first time I have kill'd a m.
E2 2455 that were enough to poison any m.
E2 2612 who is the man dares say I murder'd him?
E2 2621 what murderer? bring forth the m. I sent MP 172 doth not your grace know the m. that gave them you?
MP 173 not well; but do remember such a m.
MP 258 to find and to repay the m. with death
MP 291 beset his house, that not a m. may live
MP 393 is in your judgment thought a learnèd m.
MP 453 now every m. put off his burgonet

MP 645 as not a m. may live without our leaves
MP 655 tush, m., let me alone with him
MP 686 are these your secrets that no m. must know?
D 393 be merry, m. : here's to thy better fortune and good stars
D 440 a m. compact of craft and perjury
D 453 as therewithal the old m. overcome, kiss'd him
D 772 if that any m. could conquer me, I had been wedded
D 776 I saw this m. at Troy, ere Troy was sack'd
D 778 this m. and I were at Olympia's [Old ed. Olympus] games
D 928 why, m. of Troy, do I offend thine eyes?
D 946 ay, mother; I shall one day be a m.
D 976 preferr'd before a m. of majesty
D 982 fond m, that were to war 'gainst heaven
D 1014 the m. that I do eye where'er I am
D 1390 that I might live to see this boy a m.!
D 1443 vain m., what monarchy expect'st thou here?
D 1565 thy mother was no goddess, perjur'd m.
*HLD 4 the impression of the m. that hath been dear unto us
HLM 26 whose workmanship both m. and beast deceives
HLM 93 and such as knew he was a m., would say
HLM 179 the reason no m. knows; let it suffice, what HLM 249 less sins the poor rich m., that starves himself
HLM 735 where seeing a naked m., she screech'd for fear
*HLC 881 what m. is he, that [V. R. who] with a wealthy eye enjoys
*HLC 1443 discords that conceit [V. R. conceits] engendereth 'twixt m. and wife
*HLC 1631 dumb, deaf, and blind, and comes when no m. knows
*HLC 1999 shame, in coupling with a m., should grace a a dame
*HLC 2008 m. and wife for human race must join in nuptial life
*HLC 2018 audience hear it said, she boldly took the m.
*HLC 2216 what m. does good, but he consumes thereby?
*HLC 2259 and no m. knew the cause of this [V. R. his] expense
Ov 330 « Iö, a strong m. conquer'd this wench », hollow
Ov 446 that this or that m. may thy cheeks moist keep Ov 554 only a woman gets spoils from a m.
Ov 561 pleasure which m. and woman reap in equal measure?
Ov 934 the m. did grieve, the woman was defam'd
Ov 936 nor make they any m. that hear[s] them glad Ov 994 she would be nimbler, lying with a m.
Ov 1183 what, if a m. with bondwomen offend
Ov 1883 rude m., 'tis vain thy damsel to commend to keeper's trust
Ov 2059 I prove neither youth nor m., but old and rusty
Ov 2099 but neither was I m. nor [ed. A, ne] lived then Ov 2125 what m. will now take liberal arts in hand
Ov 2145 perhaps he'll tell how oft he slew a m.
Ov 2165 with strong ploughshares no m. the earth did cleave
*LD 10 assign me a time by your m. to come again
L 481 thus in his fright did each m. strengthen fame
*AT 7 'tis of a m. in crime grown old
*AT 9 this m. did his own God deny
*AT 55 and no m. ever did lament for him, to die unfit
*Epg 130 that thing defiles a m., that doth proceed from out the mouth
*Epg 245 I am as good a m., and better too by many a quality
*Epg 323 the m. that keeps the elephant hath one
*Epg 406 hurtful unto none but to himself; for no m. counts him wise
*Epg 508 « A coward cannot be an honest m. »
*1H6 64 what say'st thou m., before dead Henry's corse?
*1H6 282 and whilst I live, I'll ne'er fly from a m.
*1H6 489 O Lord have mercy on me, woeful m.
*1H6 726 that she may boast she hath beheld the m.
*1H6 757 what? is this the m.? — Madam, it is *1H6 795 Why? art not thou the m.? — I am indeed
*1H6 833 dare no m. answer in a case of truth?
*1H6 969 even like a m. new-haled from the rack
*1H6 1115 more than well beseems a m. of thy profession
*1H6 1193 we know your grace to be a m. just, and upright
*1H6 1357 and twit with cowardice a m. half-dead?
*1H6 1415 what is the trust or strength of foolish m.?
*1H6 1568 why, what is he? as good a m. as York
*1H6 1609 infamous, and ill-beseeming any common m.
*1H6 1766 no simple m. that sees this jarring discord
*1H6 1804 lo, there thou stand'st a breathing valiant m.
*1H6 1826 sell every m. his life as dear as mine
*1H6 1873 but curse the cause I cannot aid the m.
*1H6 1880 that ever-living m. of memory, Henry the Fifth *1H6 2256 Oh, Charles the dauphin is a proper m.
*1H6 2300 fond m., remember that thou hast a wife
*1H6 2304 he talks at randon : sure the m. is mad *1H6 2440 you have suborn'd this m. of purpose, to *1H6 2555 retain but privilege of a private m.?
*Con 119 more like a ruffian than a m. of church [Q3 of the church]
*Con 211 were I a m., and protector as he is [Q1 Q2 omit line]
*Con 215 Jesu preserve your majesty. — My majesty. Why m. I am but grace
*Con 260 a complaint against the cardinal's m.
*Con 348 because here is a m. accus'd of treason
*Con 350 ho, bring hither the armourer and his m.
*Con 366 do not cast away an honest m. for a villain's accusation
*Con 513 had not your m. cast off so soon we had had more sport
*Con 520 there is a m. that came blind to Saint Albans
*Con 524 thou happy m., give God eternal praise
*Con 703 live, to be the greatest m. in England, but the king
*Con 742 the combating between the armourer and his m.
*Con 749 drink and be merry, and fear not your m.
*Con 771 to prove myself an honest m., and Peter a knave
*Con 876 Gloster is no little m. in England
*Con 889 Gloster is a m. unsounded yet, and full of deep deceit
*Con 1200 fie womanish m., canst thou not curse thine enemies?
*Con 1301 and Walter [Q1 Q2 Water] Whickmore thou shalt have this m.
*Con 1313 I am the m. must bring thee to thy death
*Con 1399 he was an honest m. and a good bricklayer
*Con 1575 with a little blotting over with ink, a m. should undo himself
*Con 1578 never sealed to anything but once, and I was never mine own m. since
*Con 1603 when an honester m. than thyself, goes in his hose and doublet
*Con 1641 you'll, take any m. by the throat for twelve pence
*Con 1642 and 'rest a m. when he's [Q3 he is] at dinner
*Con 1729 took odds to combat with a famished m.

*Con 1950 that aught but well betide that good old m.
*Con 1956 the boldest sprited [Q3 spirited] m. that e'er mine eyes beheld *2H6 323 were I a m., a duke, and next of blood, I would *2H6 328 nay fear not m., we are alone
*2H6 334 what say'st thou m.? hast thou yet conferr'd with *2H6 345 here Hume, take this reward, make merry m.
*2H6 372 the Lord protect him, for he's a good m., Jesu bless him
*2H6 383 against John Goodman, my Lord-Cardinal's m.
*2H6 525 I say, my sovereign, that York is meetest m. to be *2H6 529 that York is most unmeet of any m.
*2H6 542 because here is a m. accus'd of treason
*2H6 547 the m. that doth accuse his master of high treason
*2H6 552 say m., were these thy words?
*2H6 568 do not cast away an honest m. for a villain's accusation *2H6 580 the spite of m. prevaileth against me
*2H6 677 yea m. and birds are fain of climbing high
*2H6 718 had not your m. put up the fowl so suddenly, we *2H6 740 forsooth, a blind m. at Saint Albans shrine, within *2H6 742 a m. that ne'er saw in his life before *2H6 746 to present your highness with the m.
*2H6 986 Warwick the greatest m. in England, but the king
*2H6 1038 the armourer and his m., to enter the lists *2H6 1053 drink, and fear not your m.
*2H6 1076 to prove him a knave, and myself an honest m.
*2H6 1211 'tis not his wont to be the hindmost m.
*2H6 1229 and Humphrey is no little m. in England
*2H6 1265 Gloster is a m. unsounded yet, and full of deep deceit
*2H6 1290 hangs on the cutting short that fraudful m.
*2H6 1422 thou never didst them wrong, nor no m. wrong
*2H6 1458 ah York, no m. alive, so fain as I
*2H6 1551 let pale-fac'd fear keep with the mean-born m.
*2H6 1623 that faultless may condemn a noble m.
*2H6 1675 ah woe is me for Gloster, wretched m.
*2H6 1773 staring full ghastly, like a strangled m.
*2H6 1860 and charge, that no m. should disturb your rest *2H6 2087 a cunning m. did calculate my birth, and *2H6 2239 he was an honest m., and a good bricklayer
*2H6 2277 that parchment being scribbled o'er, should undo a m.
*2H6 2279 I did but seal once to a thing, and I was never mine own m. since *2H6 2290 the m. is a proper m. of mine honour
*2H6 2299 hast thou a mark to thyself, like a honest plain-dealing m.?
*2H6 2311 he shall be encountered with a m. as good as himself
*2H6 2582 why dost thou quiver m.?
*2H6 2789 took odds to combat with a poor famish'd m.
*2H6 2818 tell Kent for me, she hath lost her best m.
*2H6 2900 tell me my friend, art thou the m. that slew him?
*2H6 2939 if they can brook I bow a knee to m.
*2H6 2960 to Bedlam with him, is the m. grown mad
*2H6 3015 to do a murderous deed, to rob a m.
*TT 203 ah timorous m., thou hast undone thyself, thy son, and me
*TT 308 he is a m., and Clifford cope with him
*TT 917 this m. that I have slain in fight to-day, may be
*TT 956 weep wretched m., I'll lay thee tear for tear
*TT 1070 but, stay, here comes a m., let's listen him a while *TT 1093 a m. at least, and more I cannot be
*TT 1146 marry God's forbod m., for he'll take vantage then
*TT 1208 and let us [Q2 Q3 lets] go question with the m. about his *TT 1224 Oh monstrous m., to harbour such a thought!
*TT 1232 and am I then a m. to be belov'd?
*TT 1452 why m. be of good cheer, I will [Q3 Ile] provide thee one
*TT 1641 what, fear not m. for Edward will defend the town and you
*TT 1887 amongst us a timorous or fearful m., let him depart
*TT 1960 the Tower m., the Tower, I'll root them out
*TT 1965 for he was a m., this in respect a child
*3H6 225 ah wretched m., would I had died a maid?
*3H6 370 lest thou be hated both of God and m.
*3H6 391 he is a m., and Clifford cope with him
*3H6 508 why art thou patient, m.? thou shouldst be mad
*3H6 1090 how many years, a mortal m. may live
*3H6 1117 this m. whom hand to hand I slew in fight
*3H6 1120 to some m. else, as this dead m. doth me *3H6 1126 my father being the Earl of Warwick's m.
*3H6 1137 weep wretched m.: I'll aid thee tear for tear
*3H6 1324 here comes a m., let's stay till he be past
*3H6 1332 no, not a m. comes for redress of thee
*3H6 1369 a m. at least, for less I should not be *3H6 1393 why? am I dead? do I not breathe a m.?
*3H6 1555 and go we brothers to the m. that took him
*3H6 1597 and am I then a m. to be belov'd?
*3H6 1657 is, of a king, become a banish'd m.
*3H6 2094 come on my masters, each m. take his stand
*3H6 2213 nay this way m., see where the huntsmen stand
*3H6 2347 tush m., abodements must not now affright us
*3H6 2367 the good old m. would fain that all were well
*3H6 2372 what, fear not m., but yield me up the keys
*3H6 2724 for did I but suspect a fearful m., he should *3H6 2818 he was a m.; this (in respect) a child
*3H6 2891 and many an old m.'s sigh, and many a widow's
*E3 188 as the m. in Christendom whom we most reverence
*E3 226 Jemmy my m., saddle my bonny black
*E3 516 the sick m. best sets down the pangs of death
*E3 517 the m. that starves, the sweetness of a feast
*E3 603 by God was honour'd for a married m.
*E3 643 O, that a m. might hold the heart's close book
*E3 670 that he hath broke his faith with God and m.
*E3 672 to suggest a m. to break a lawful and religious vow?
*E3 674 an office for the devil, not for m.
*E3 772 the greater m., the greater is the thing, be it good or
*E3 1211 content thee, m.; they are far enough from hence
*E3 1532 and he is labouring for a knighthood, m.
*E3 1547 I will not have a m., on pain of death, sent forth to
*E3 1757 but now 'tis past that no m. can recall
*E3 1764 thy ransom, m.! why need'st thou talk of that?
*E3 1793 why, is it lawful for a m. to kill, and
*E3 1895 when we name a m., his hand, his foot, his head
*E3 1923 to urge the plea of mercy to a m., the Lord forbid!
*E3 1973 thou art a married m. in this distress
*E3 1991 ah, good old m., a thousand thousand armours these words

*E3 2088 nor that same m. doth never break his word that
*E3 2182 as a m. may do, that dines at such a bloody feast
*E3 2186 and, in the worst, ends but a mortal m.
*E3 2235 cheerly, bold m. ! thy soul is all too proud to *E3 2344 this m. doth please me and I like his words
*E3 2469 accursed m. ! of this I was foretold
*E3 2473 chose me for the m. to be the instrument to *Sel 897 much less is 't lawful for a m.'s own son
*Sel 1422 Anthropophagi, that fill their hungry stomachs with m.'s flesh
JM 608 the sad-presaging raven, that tolls the sick m.'s passport
JM 1946 hey, Rico Castiliano ! a m.'s a m.
JM 2053 his m.'s now at my lodging, that was his agent
HLM 89 some swore he was a maid in m.'s attire
*HLC 1904 he Hymen crowns king of his thoughts, m.'s greatest empery
*HLC 2275 and been a great m.'s mate in travelling
Ov 546 the whore stands to be bought for each m.'s money
Ov 1119 dead is that speaking image of m.'s voice
Ov 1483 and even the ring perform a m.'s part well
Ov 1731 from no m.'s reading fearing to be sav'd !
Ov 2169 against thyself, m.'s nature, thou wert cunning
Ov 2268 nor less at m.'s prosperity any grudge
*Epg 412 a dead m.'s skull at Canterbury digg'd out of the ground
*1H6 855 so evident, that it will glimmer through a blind m.'s eye
*Con 770 I am come hither as it were at my m.'s [Q2 at m.'s] instigation
*2H6 1075 I am come hither as it were upon my m.'s instigation
*2H6 2756 which is not amiss to cool a m.'s stomach
*TT 697 and though m.'s face be fearful to their eyes, yet
*3H6 839 and though m.'s face be fearful to their eyes, yet
*E3 1899 and we can call it all but one m.'s strength
*E3 2087 thy word, nor no m.'s, may exceed his power
*Con 1155 and I should rob the deaths*m.* of his fee
*2H6 1820 and I should rob the deaths*m.* of his fee
*3H6 2225 hunts*m.*, what say'st thou? wilt thou go along ?
*E3 64 thou may'st be sworn true liege*m.* to our king
*Sel 2313 every merchant-m. will praise his own ware
*TT 488 had he been slaughter*m.* of all my kin
*3H6 591 had he been slaughter*m.* to all my kin, I
Ov 1322 the careful ship*m.* now fears angry gusts
*E3 36 you are the lineal watch*m.* [A, B, watchmen] of our peace
*Epg 308 dares m. a whore at noon-day through the street
*TT 1742 see brother, where the surly Warwick ms. the wall
*3H6 2506 see how the surly Warwick ms. the wall

Man : see Goodman

Manacle.

*2H6 2978 and m. the bear-ward in their chains 1T 337 his chain shall serve for ms.

Manacled.

Ov 68 and captive-like be m. and bound

Manage.

MP 463 to please himself with m. of the wars
*E3 1497 your m. may be second unto none
*Sel 1101 will fear to m. arms against his sire
*Sel 2481 for never yet, since I could m. arms, could 1T 864 mov'd me to m. arms against thy state
1T 949 so mad to m. arms with me
1T 1226 and m. words with her, as we will arms 1T 1293 that dare to m. arms with him that 1T 1426 not sparing any that can m. arms
1T 2273 when men presume to m. arms with him
2T 128 never to draw it out, or [4to and] m. arms
2T 304 when I am old and cannot m. arms
2T 2114 makes them m. arms against thy state
MP 707 we undertake to m. these our wars
MP 802 and either never m. army more, or Ov 2182 they m. peace, and raw war's bloody jaws
L 131 and by long rest forgot to m. arms
L 426 and Sequana that well could m. steeds
L 463 made him bold to m. greater deeds

Managed.

Ov 54 but m. horses' heads are lightly borne
*1H6 1760 other affairs must now be m.

Managing.

D 92 in m. those fierce barbarian minds

Man-at-arms.

1T 367 draw forth thy sword, thou mighty m.
1T 708 thrice-renowmed m. [4to thrice renowned men]
*3H6 2722 and make him, naked, foil a m.

Mandata.

*Loc 1207 Quem non Argolici m. severa tyranni

Mandrake.

JM 2118 I drank of poppy and cold m. juice
*Con 1202 could curses kill as do the m.'s groans *2H6 1916 would curses kill, as doth the m.'s groan, I would Manfully.

*Sel 1284 for thou didst set upon me m.
D 567 had not we fought m., I had not told this tale
*E3 1344 how thou canst win this pillage m.

Mangle.

1T 17 meaning to m. all thy provinces
2T 1195 whet all your [4to our] swords to m. Tamburlaine

Mangled.

2T 1097 m. and torn, and all my entrails bath'd in blood
2T 2152 load thy back with souls of thousand m. carcasses 2F 2150 we'll give his m. limbs due burial
D 511 on his spear the m. head of Priam's youngest son
*TT 1812 my m. body shows, that I must yield my body to the earth
*3H6 2612 why ask I that ? my m. body shows
*E3 1175 there m. arms and legs were toss'd aloft
*E3 2233 my soul should yield this castle of my flesh, this m. tribute
*Sel 1309 be*m.* and dismembred as you see

Manhood.

*Loc 1434 in great love and charity now, I thank my m.
2T 1386 thou dost dishonour m. and thy house
D 568 yet m. would not serve ; of force we fled *2H6 3124 now is it m., wisdom, and defence, to *TT 775 no, nor your m. Warwick, that could make you [Q3 yee] stay
*TT 793 that Clifford's m. hangs upon his tongue
*3H6 921 no, nor your m. that durst make you stay
*3H6 938 that Clifford's m., lies upon his tongue
*3H6 2084 with sleight and m. stole to Rhesus' tents

Manico.

2T 443 therefore I took my course to M.

Manifest.

Ov 939 nor is it easily prov'd, though m.
*1H6 362 stand back thou m. conspirator
*1H6 1116 and for thy treachery, what's more m. ?
*Sel 238 and m. the heat of thy desire
*Loc 594 now is the time to m. our wills
*Loc 1332 to m. that earnest zeal I bear unto your grace

E2 1360 beside, the more to m. our love, because Manifestly.

JM 478 to injure them that have so m. wrongèd us

Manifold.

*FB 48 of earth and sea, with wonders m.

Manly.

*Sel 600 when courage first crept in thy m. breast
*Sel 745 through his m. deeds hath lifted up his fame
*Sel 1518 good emperor stir up thy m. heart
*Sel 2221 found grace and favour in thy m. heart
*Loc 106 cover'd my m. cheeks with youthful down
*Loc 150 I show'd the courage of my m. mind
*Loc 945 in m. manner most invincible
*Loc 1214 a fearful woman, void of m. strength 1T 459 'twixt his m. pitch, a pearl
1T 824 or monster turnèd to a m. shape
1T 1091 faith, and, Techelles, it was m. done
1T 1206 will batter turrets with their m. fists
2T 1523 defile his m. fingers with so faint a boy
1F 330 learn thou of Faustus m. fortitude
2F 314 learn thou of Faustus m. fortitude
Ov 960 spear. Men handle those : all m. hopes resign
*Con 1929 as old Anchises' son did bear his aged father on his m. back *2H6 2680 Henry hath money, you are strong and m.
*2H6 3111 so bear I thee upon my m. shoulders
*TT 709 look on the boy and let his m. face, which *3H6 852 his m. face, which promiseth successful fortune
*E3 1466 receive this lance into thy m. hand
*Sel 1512 and shall he thus un*m.* be misus'd
*Sel 2333 Acomat's wife, and her un*m.* host
*3H6 193 and die in bands, for this un*m.* deed

Manly-wise.

2T 1371 more childish-valourous than m.

Manna.

JM 991 as sure as heaven rain'd m. for the Jews

Manned.

2T 198 a thousand galleys, m. with Christian slaves
*HLC 1011 throughly rigg'd and m., to waft her
*HLC 2146 Leander, with Love's complete fleet m. in himself

Manner.

*Loc 945 in manly m. most invincible
2T (Title) and the m. of his own death
2T 851 our battle, then, in martial m. pitch'd
1F 515 thou must write it in m. of a deed of gift 1F 836 tut, Faustus, in hell is all m. of delight
1F 855 to see the Pope and m. of his court 1F 1147 in that m. that they best [Dyce, both] lived in 2F 463 but, Faustus, write it in m. of a deed of gift 2F 571 to see the Pope and m. of his Court [Dyce, omits]
2F 754 but [Dyce, Tut], Faustus, in hell is all m. of delight
2F 831 to see the Pope and m. of his court
HLM 320 and her in humble m. thus beseech
L 596 in tuck'd-up vestures, after the Gabine m.
*1H6 402 all m. of men, assembled here in arms
*1H6 700 the treacherous m. of his mournful death
*1H6 1106 the m. of thy vile outrageous crimes
*3H6 1818 dare he presume to scorn us in this m. ?
*E3 1102 and let us hear the m. of the fight
*E3 1323 and in this m. following upbraids thee
*E3 1449 in solemn m. we will give thee arms
Ov 2349 I loathe her ms., love her body's feature *1H6 738 no, truly, 'tis more than ms. will *2H6 2987 as crooked in thy ms., as thy shape
*E3 315 whose habit rude and ms. blunt and plain

Mannerly.

*1H6 850 tut, tut, here is a m. forbearance

Man-of-arms.

*1H6 448 ransom'd, but with a baser m. by far

Manors.

E2 1443 as many as I have m., castles, towns, and towers !
*TT 1824 my parks, my walks, my m. that I had, even now forsake me *3H6 2629 my parks, my walks, my m. that I had Mansion.

*Loc 756 the place where I may find her hateful m.
*Loc 1762 their petty host so close unto our royal m. ?
2F 2032 think only upon hell, for that must be thy m.
JM 330 convert his m. to a nunnery
*HLC 1820 a horrid cave, the thieves' black m.
*E3 894 shall I not master this little m. of myself ?
*HLC 1063 and all her peaceful ms. possess'd

Mansion-Cottage.

*Loc 647 had our m. in the suburbs of this city

Mantle.

*Sel 26 embroidereth her m. gorgeously with fragrant herbs
*Sel 1807 henceforth thy m. in black Lethe steep
1T 1941 making the m. of the richest night
*HLC 1158 and spread her m. piece-meal in the air
Ov 168 do not thou so ; but throw thy m. hence
*1H6 686 night is fled, whose pitchy m. over-veil'd the earth
*3H6 2086 so we, well cover'd with night's black m., at *Loc 1785 with sable ms. covering all the earth)

Mantled.

1T 968 the ground is m. with such multitudes

Mantua.

Ov 2505 in Virgil M. joys ; in Catull Verone

Manured.

*Sel 381 it argueth an un*m.* wit, when
*Sel 1365 I am not like the un*m.* land, which Manwood.

Ept (Title) In Obitum Honoratissimi Viri, Rogeri M.

Many.

*2H6 808 but cloaks and gowns, before this day, a m.
*E3 1435 as resty-stiff as 'twere a m. over-ridden jades
*E3 1898 why, all this m., Audley, is but one
*Sel 182 in whose high thoughts a map of m. valours is *Sel 836 ruling the reins of m. nations
*Sel 1672 as m. labours Selimus hath had
*Sel 1830 and have not m. months to live on earth
*Sel 1883 « For she hath given me m. a blow »
*Sel 2524 hath his steps guided through m. lands
*Loc 64 your highness knows how m. victories
*Loc 65 how m. trophies I erected have
*Loc 684 as m. lanciers, and light-armed knights
*Loc 905 with m. wounds was brought unto the death
*Loc 1211 after so m. conquests won in field
*Loc 1212 after so m. monsters quell'd by force
*Loc 1431 I have scaped m. a scouring this year
*Loc 1871 my sword, that in so m. fights hast 1T 173 to triumph over m. provinces !
1T 706 as m. kings as could encompass thee 1T 923 as m. circumcisèd Turks we have 1T 1025 will tell how m. thousand men he slew
1T 1117 withdraw as m. more to follow him
1T 1239 so m. blows as I have heads for them [Old eds. thee] 1T 1875 pity the marriage-bed, where m. a lord, in 1T 2008 and gore thy body with as m. wounds !

2TP 7 and with how m. cities' sacrifice he 2T 196 amongst so m. crowns of burnish'd gold
2T 300 have under me as m. kings as you
2T 779 epitaph writ in as m. several languages
2T 832 and I as m. from Jerusalem
2T 837 and I as m. bring from Trebizon
2T 1356 like so m. suns that half dismay the 2T 1651 might find as m. wondrous miracles as 2T 1956 having as m. bullets in his flesh as 1F 347 had I as m. souls as there be stars, I'd give 1F 362 I hope you have seen m. boys with such pickadevaunts 1F 405 a man were as good have as m. English counters
1F 682 tell me, are there m. heavens above the moon?
1F 710 how m. heavens or spheres are there?
1F 1115 got such riches, subdu'd so m. kingdoms
2F 331 had I as m. souls as there be stars
2F 346 you have seen m. boys with beards, I am sure 2F 603 speak, are there m. spheres above the moon?
2F 630 how m. heavens or spheres are there?
*FB 38 'mongst princes, peers, and m. a worthy knight
*JMS 3 to present this, writ m. years agone
*JMS 10 he that hath past so m. censures
*JMS 25 in Tamburlaine, this Jew, with others m.
JMP 18 m. will talk of title to a crown
JM 66 more than m. merchants of the town are worth
JM 131 some in Italy, m. in France, and wealthy every one
JM 140 I have no charge, nor m. children
JM 169 with whom they have attempted m. times
JM 300 than m. perish for a private man
JM 331 his house will harbour m. holy nuns
JM 488 religion hides m. mischiefs from suspicion
JM 1039 and yet I'll give her m. a golden cross
JM 1913 here's m. words, but no crowns : the crowns!
E2 129 and northward Lancaster [Old eds. Gaveston] hath m. friends
E2 1064 I know, my lord, m. will stomach me
E2 1185 train'd to arms and bloody wars so m. valiant knights
E2 1389 thou art not mark'd to m. days on earth!
E2 1442 I will have heads and lives for him as m. as I have manors
E2 1666 though a m. friends are made away, as Warwick
E2 1698 thus after m. threats of wrathful war
E2 2293 and so must die, though pitièd by m.
MP 9 the m. favours which your grace hath shown
MP 111 fully executes, matters of import aimed at by m.
MP 328 but slay as m. as we can come near MP 585 religion cannot but march, with m. graces more
MP 804 how m. noblemen have lost their lives
MP 1121 yet lives my brother Duke Dumaine, and m. more [Old ed. moe]
D 145 how m. dangers have we overpass'd!
D 404 m. tales go of that city's fall
D 508 sent m. of their savage ghosts to hell
D 647 and yet have I had m. mightier kings
D 723 I'll offer up as m. kisses as the sea hath sands
D 861 fate that hath so m. unresisted friends
D 1269 Aeneas may command as m. Moors as D 1383 white swans, and m. lovely water-fowls
D 1550 hast thou forgot how m. neighbour kings were
*HLD 9 in his lifetime you bestowed m. kind favours
HLM 21 her kirtle blue, whereon was m. a stain
HLM 27 m. would praise the sweet smell as she past
HLM 81 despising m., died ere he could enjoy the love of any HLM 100 thither resorted m. a wandering [V. R. wandered] guest
HLM 135 and m., seeing great princes were denied, pin'd
HLM 335 these arguments he us'd, and m. more
HLM 504 and m. poor excuses did she find to linger
HLM 684 and, as he turn'd, cast m. a lustful glance
HLM 749 this head was beat with m. a churlish billow
*HLC 1064 and m. a foreign guest from every corner
*HLC 1449 and m. more effects this picture wrought
*HLC 1739 m. thought him of the female race
*HLC 1790 m. a dart, and m. an amorous [V. R. enamorous] thought
*HLC 1808 his love and he with m. virgin dames
*HLC 2039 with m. ceremonies of delight
*HLC 2246 heard but bleating flocks, and m. a bellowing herd
*HLC 2318 oft have you view'd in one heaven m. stars
*HLC 2319 but never yet in one star m. heavens
Ov 81 unless I err, full m. shalt thou burn
Ov 417 m. to rob is more sure, and less hateful
Ov 420 and thereof m. thousand he rehearses
Ov 451 m. asking little, within a while great heaps grow of a tittle Ov 454 by m. hands great wealth is quickly got Ov 581 May [Old eds. M.] bounteous love Alcinous' fruit resign
Ov 898 and thinks her chaste whom m. do desire
Ov 972 or justify my vices, being m.
Ov 1040 now m. guests were gone, the feast being done
Ov 1112 talk, thy mouth to taste of m. meats did balk Ov 1149 one among m. is, to grieve thee, took Ov 1218 so m. men and maidens without love
Ov 1346 there, wine being fill'd, thou m. things shalt tell
Ov 1364 with the Atrides m. gain'd renown
Ov 1381 and me with m., but me [ed. B, but yet me; ed. C, but yet] without murther
Ov 1567 and m. by me to get glory crave
Ov 1633 great gods, what kisses and how m. ga' she [Old eds. gave she]!
Ov 1638 so shall my love continue m. years
Ov 1870 poor Semele, among so m., burn'd
Ov 1927 honour what friends thy wife gives, — she'll give m.
Ov 2186 one her [Old eds. she] commands, who m. things can give Ov 2371 I fear with me is common now to m.
*LD 19 in this, and, I hope, m. more succeeding offices
L 327 tigers, having lapp'd the blood of m. a herd
L 400 and m. came from shallow Isara
L 468 bring news of present war, made m. lies and tales
L 649 the death of m. men meets in one period
L 667 m. a year these furious broils let last Dia 7 and m. other goodly things
Dia 62 [I cannot see her among so m.]
*AT 18 a poet was he of repute, and wrote full m. a play
*Epg 245 I am as good a man, and better too by m. a quality
*Epg 322 spoken m. an hundred [Ed. A, m. a hundred; m. thousand] time *1H6 547 this day is ours, as m. more shall be *1H6 683 for I have loaden me with m. spoils
*1H6 786 these m. years wasted our country
*1H6 1076 which giveth m. wounds, when one will kill
*1H6 1182 that m. have their giddy brains knock'd out
*1H6 2500 I think she knows not well (there were so m.)
*1H6 2522 after the slaughter of so m. peers, so m. captains

*Con 101 and m. things besides that are not known
*Con 251 for but for him a m. were undone
*Con 557 but cloaks and gowns ere this day m. a one
*Con 915 m. a pound of mine own proper cost have I sent
*Con 1203 I would invent as m. bitter terms
*Con 1205 with twice so m. signs of deadly hate
*2H6 776 and m. a time and oft myself have heard a voice
*2H6 1156 and had I twenty times so m. foes, and *2H6 1328 no : m. a pound of mine own proper store
*2H6 1920 with full as m. signs of deadly hate
*2H6 2243 a pedlar's daughter, and sold m. laces
*2H6 2411 God forbid, so m. simple souls should perish
*2H6 2757 m. a time but for a sallet, my brain-pan had *2H6 2759 and m. a time when I have been dry, and *TT 135 in the view of m. lords resign'd the crown
*TT 281 indeed, m. brave battles have I won in Normandy
*TT 530 by Clifford and the queen, and m. soldiers mo
*TT 637 and of their feather m. mo proud birds
*TT 740 proclaims him king, and m. flies to him
*TT 844 for strokes receiv'd, and m. blows repaid, hath
*TT 860 and m. wounds made in his aged breast
*TT 971 my love and fear glued m. friends to thee
*TT 1130 come hither widow, how m. children hast thou?
*TT 1151 I take my leave with m. thousand thanks
*TT 1191 why 'tis a happy thing to be the father of m. children
*TT 1705 and m. giddy [Q3 giddy headed] people follow him
*TT 1834 for m. wounds receiv'd, and m. mo repaid, hath
*TT 2025 that m. a widow for her husband's death
*TT 2026 and m. an infants water-standing eye
*3H6 144 Richard in the view of m. lords, resign'd the crown
*3H6 359 m. a battle have I won in France, whenas
*3H6 654 environ'd he was with m. foes
*3H6 658 and m. strokes, though with a little axe, hews
*3H6 660 by m. hands your father was subdu'd
*3H6 668 and after m. scorns, m. foule taunts, they *3H6 773 and of their feather, m. mo proud birds
*3H6 883 proclaims him king, and m. fly to him
*3H6 993 for strokes receiv'd, and m. blows repaid, have *3H6 1087 how m. makes the hour full complete
*3H6 1088 how m. hours brings about the day
*3H6 1089 how m. days will finish up the year
*3H6 1090 how m. years, a mortal man may live
*3H6 1092 so m. hours, must I tend my flock
*3H6 1093 so m. hours, must I take my rest
*3H6 1094 so m. hours, must I contemplate
*3H6 1095 so m. hours, must I sport myself
*3H6 1096 so m. days, my ewes have been with young
*3H6 1097 so m. weeks, ere the poor fools will ean
*3H6 1098 so m. years, ere I shall shear the fleece
*3H6 1205 my love and fear glued m. friends to thee
*3H6 1440 how m. children hast thou, widow ? tell me
*3H6 1481 I take my leave with m. thousand thanks
*3H6 1535 'tis a happy thing, to be the father unto m. sons
*3H6 1607 for m. lives stand between me and home
*3H6 2182 ay, ay, for this I draw in m. a tear *3H6 2244 when after m. moody thoughts, at last, by *3H6 2345 for m. men that stumble at the threshold, are well fore-told *3H6 2401 the bruit whereof will bring you m. friends
*3H6 2430 and m. giddy people flock to him
*3H6 2889 m. a thousand, which now mistrust no
*3H6 2891 and m. an old man's sigh, and m. a widow's *3H6 2892 and m. an orphan's water-standing eye
*E3 279 with m. millions of a subject's thanks
*E3 995 hath task'd the vain endeavour of so m. pens
*E3 1158 our admiral encounter'd m. shot
*E3 1163 sent m. grim ambassadors of death
*E3 1231 are m. millions in respect of that small handful
*E3 1238 whose oracles have m. times prov'd true
*E3 1243 strike m. Frenchmen cold unto the heart
*E3 1885 as m. sands as these my hands can hold are
*E3 1886 are but my handful of so m. sands
*E3 1970 thyself art bruis'd and bit with m. broils
*E3 2046 so m. fair against a famished few
*E3 2392 here twice as m. pikes, in quadrant-wise
*E3 2458 how m. civil towns had stood untouch'd
*E3 2460 how m. people's lives might'st thou have sav'd
*E3 2475 so thou wilt grant, that m. princes more, bred and Map.

*Sel 182 in whose high thoughts a m. of many valours is enshrin'd
*Loc 1912 Locrine, the m. of magnanimity 1T 1725 and with this pen reduce them to a m.
2T 2202 give me a m. ; then let me see how much is left for D 158 now in extreme misery, and rest the m. of weather-beaten woe
*2H6 1416 in thy face I see the m. of honour, truth, and loyalty
*E3 1490 that, like a sapless tree, I may remain the m. of infamy

Maple.

Ov 619 my faithful tables, being vile m. late

Mar.

*TT 1874 sharp winter's showers will m. our hope for hay
*3H6 2486 cold-biting winter ms. our hoped-for hay

Marble.

*Sel 862 their heart is all of hardest m. wrought
*Loc 1112 I'll build a temple to thy deity, of perfect m.
*Loc 1515 a curious arch, of costly m. wrought
Ov 344 like m. from the Parian mountains hew'd
Ov 1148 if on the m. theatre I look
*3H6 1473 he plies her hard, and much rain wears the m.
*Loc 404 continual drops doth penetrate the hardest m. stone 2T 1607 upon the m. turrets of my court sit like to Venus
*HLC 2380 he hurl'd his m. mace at the stern Fates
2T 1628 the essential form of m. stone temper'd by science
JM 952 I strew'd powder on the m. stones
*3H6 1350 her tears will pierce into a m. heart
*E3 1592 yet m. courage still did underprop

Marble-white.

Ov 1312 maids on the shore, with m. feet tread

Marcellus.

L 313 babbling [Old ed. Brabbling] M., Cato, whom fools reverence !

March.

*Con 650[a] Philippe, who was married to Edmund Mortimer Earl of M. and Ulster [So in Q3]
*Con 655 the fifth was Roger Mortimer, Earl of M. [So in Q1 Q2]
*Con 1464 Roger Mortimer the Earl of M., married the Duke of Clarence' daughter *2H6 935 who married Edmund Mortimer, Earl of M.
*2H6 936 Edmund had issue, Roger, Earl of M.
*2H6 949 she was heir to Roger, Earl of M.
*2H6 2330 Edmund Mortimer Earl of M., married the Duke of Clarence' daughter

*TT 102 thy grandfather Roger Mortimer Earl of M.
*TT 647 with all the friends that thou brave Earl of M., among
*TT 659 no longer Earl of M., but Duke of York
*3H6 109 thy grandfather Roger Mortimer, Earl of M.
*3H6 782 with all the friends that thou brave Earl of M., amongst *3H6 795 no longer Earl of M., but Duke of York
2T 1757 till we prepare our m. to Babylon
*1H6 1837 join'd with him, and made their m. for Bordeaux
*TT 1046 and now to London with triumphant m.
*3H6 1289 and now to London with triumphant m.
*E3 223 an easy m. within four hours will bring the
*E3 845 what drum is this, that thunders forth this m.
*E3 862 meet my foe in a deep m. of penetrable groans
*E3 872 the drum that struck the lusty m. stands with *E3 1261 do tread the measures of their tragic m.
*E3 1505 weary with their m., grudging to be [so] suddenly employ'd
*Sel 568 m., Sinam, m., in order after him
*Sel 1115 m. to Natolia, there we will begin and *Sel 2187 now, Sinam, m. to fair Amasia's walls
*Sel 2332 and now to fair Amasia let us m.
*Sel 2426 now let us m. to meet with Acomat
*Loc 285 sound drums and trumpets; m. to Troynovant
*Loc 848 now let us m. to Abus' silver streams
*Loc 957 for we will straight m. to Albania
*Loc 1106 m. on, my lord, because I long to see the
*Loc 1773 m. on, Assaracus; thou must lead the way 1T 44 ere he m. in Asia, or display his vagrant ensign
1T 143 whose ransom made them m. in coats of gold 1T 325 come, let us m.
1T 586 and you m. on their slaughter'd carcasses
1T 589 strike up the [4to omits] drum, and m. courageously 1T 614 with our sun-bright armour, as we m.
1T 743 then will we [4to I] m. to all those Indian mines
1T 1222 see me m. victoriously with all my men 1T 1242 that leave no ground for thee to m. upon 1T 1244 the way we use to m. upon the slaughter'd foe 1T 1488 but, ere I m. to wealthy Persia, or 1T 1560 when they see me m. in black array 1T 1568 methinks we m. as Meleager did
1T 1992 m. on us with [8vo Martcht on with us with] such eager violence 1T 1979 and m. [Dyce, mask] in cottages [4to coatches] of strowed weeds [Dyce, reeds]
2T 258 the ground, whereon my soldiers m., shall rise aloft
2T 301 and m. with such a multitude of men
2T 350 for we will m. against them presently
2T 363 under my colours m. ten thousand Greeks
2T 403 and after m. to Turkey with our camp
2T 439 and with my power did m. to Zanzibar
2T 535 now will we m. from proud Orminius' mount 2T 760 to m. with me under this bloody flag!
2T 785 and m. about it with my mourning camp
2T 848 I m. to meet and aid my neighbour kings
2T 923 m. in your armour thorough watery fens
2T 953 that you may dry-foot m. through lakes and pools
2T 978 with his [4to this] host, march'd [8vo martch] round about the earth
2T 1013 let us m. towards Techelles and Theridamas
2T 1562 men, are seen to m. upon the towers of heaven
2T 1725 raise me, to match [4to m.] the fair Aldeboran 2T 1872 trod the measures, do my soldiers m.
2T 1924 when this is done, we'll m. from Babylon
2T 2126 come, let us m. against the powers of heaven 2T 2154 Techelles, let us m., and weary Death with 2T 2205 here I began to m. towards Persia
JM 2332 to come ashore, and m. through Malta-streets
JM 2444 so, m. away; and let due praise be given E2 88 and underneath thy banners m. who will E2 227 thus arm in arm, the king and he doth m.
E2 1139 forslow no time, sweet Lancaster; let's m.
E2 1437 and m. to fire them from their starting-holes
E2 1493 for, now, even now, we m. to make them stoop
E2 1571 sound, drums and trumpets! M. with me, my friends
E2 1780 sound trumpets, my lord, and forward let us m.
MP 585 our true religion cannot but m., with many graces more
MP 753 to m. 'gainst the rebellious King Navarre
MP 929 and let them m. away to France amain
D 485 and through the breach did m. into the streets
Ov 273 night's dewy host m. fast away
L 281 now, while their part is weak and fears, m. hence
L 459 you likewise that repuls'd the Caÿc foe, m. towards Rome
*Epg 268 making his mistress m. with men of war
*1H6 1287 ay, we may m. in England, or in France
*1H6 1651 then gather strength, and m. unto him straight
*1H6 2202 then m. to Paris royal Charles of France
*Con 1507 drum strike up, for now we'll m. to London
*Con 1510 and the rebels m. amain to London
*Con 1683 come m. away
*2H6 2382 they are all in order, and m. towards us
*2H6 2384 come, m. forward
*2H6 2400 come, let's m. towards London
*TT 285 let's m. away, I hear their drums
*TT 649 why via, to London will we m. amain
*TT 671 Why then it sorts brave lords. Let's m. away
*TT 1508 I'll m. to meet proud Warwick ere he land
*TT 1518 it shall suffice, come then let's m. away
*TT 1653 drum strike up and let us m. away
*TT 1677 we'll m. to London, to meet with Warwick
*TT 1704 and with his troops do m. amain towards London
*3H6 785 why via, to London will we m.
*3H6 882 in the towns as they do m. along, proclaims him king *3H6 2157 but m. to London with our soldiers?
*3H6 2386 drummer strike up, and let us m. away
*3H6 2429 and with his troops doth m. amain to London
*3H6 2489 brave warriors, m. amain towards Coventry
*3H6 2665 and, as we hear, m. on to fight with us
*3H6 2678 and as we m., our strength will be augmented
*3H6 2849 now m. we hence, discharge the common sort with pay
*E3 155 m. and once more repulse the trait'rous Scot
*E3 1499 and, Derby, in the rearward m. behind
*E3 2252 then we'll m. proudly toward Calice

March-beer.

1F 813 her name was Mistress Margery M.
2F 737 an ancient gentlewoman; her name was Margery M.

Marched.

*Sel 236 long hast thou m. in disguis'd attire
1T 1773 you that have m. with happy Tamburlaine
1T 1992 march on us with [8vo Martcht on with us with] such eager violence
2T 6 now have we m. from fair Natolia
2T 419 our men of Barbary have m. four hundred miles
2T 431 and I have m. along the river Nile to Machda

2T 978 with his [4to this] host, m. [8vo martch] round about the earth
2T 1027 thus have we m. northward from Tamburlaine
2T 2209 then m. I into Egypt and Arabia
E2 986 and then thy soldiers m. like players, with garish robes
E2 1430 strake [1612, 1622, Stroke] off his head, and m. unto the camp
D 431 and so in troops all m. to Tenedos
L 232 [Swifter than] darts which Parthians backward shoot, m. on L 474 the rest m. not entirely, and yet hid [Old ed. hide] the ground
*1H6 1833 that he is m. to Bordeaux with his power
*1H6 1834 to fight with Talbot as he m. along
*TT 88 m. through the city to the palace-gates
*TT 580 m. to Saint Albans to intercept the queen
*TT 1622 and m. from Ravenspurgh [Q1 Q3 Raunspur; Q2 Rounspur] haven
*TT 2097 m. all a-foot in summer's scalding heat
*3H6 95 m. through the city to the palace-gates
*3H6 717 m. towards Saint Albans, to intercept the queen

Marches.
*TT 606 for in the m. here we heard you were *3H6 743 for in the m. here we heard you were Marcheth.

2T 2021 now our mighty host m. in Asia Major
*2H6 2886 that thus he m. with thee arm in arm?
*3H6 2502 the drum your honour hears, m. from Warwick

Marching.
*Loc 1441 and came furiously m. towards me
1T 513 king, that now is m. near to Parthia
2T 47 his men, m. from Cairo [Old eds. Cairon]
2T 489 and sent them m. up to Belgasar
2T 560 taking advantage of your slender power, comes m. on 2T 2053 m. about the air with armèd men
1F 1 not m. now in fields of Thrasymene
2F 1 not m. in the fields of Thrasymene
*1H6 1469 their powers are m. unto Paris-ward
*1H6 1478 what say'st thou Charles? for I am m. hence
*2H6 2725 is m. hitherward in proud array
*2H6 2759 when I have been dry, and bravely m.
*TT 270 others of the House of Lancaster, are m. towards Wakefield
*TT 1733 by this at Daintry m. hitherward
*TT 1906 is m. hitherwards to fight with you
*3H6 2492 by this at Dunsmore, m. hitherward
*E3 218 m. hitherward we might descry a mighty host
*E3 1046 and, as I think, are m. hither apace

Marcum.
*Epg 219 In M. XXI
*Epg 522 In M. XLVI [Not in MS]

Marcus.
*Epg 219 when M. comes from Mins' [Eds. B, C, Minnes], he still doth swear
*Epg 523 why dost thou, M., in thy misery rail

Mare.
Ov 552 the m. asks not the horse, the cow the bull
JM 1400 here's a drench to poison a whole stable of Flanders mares
Ov 370 and what with ms.' rank humour may be done
2T 460 the gulf call'd by the name M. Majore
2T 1312 Ariadan, bordering on M. Roso, near to Mecca

Mare-Major-Sea.
2T 839 all bordering on the M.

Mareshal: see Marshal

Margaret.
MP 184 O, no, sweet M.! the fatal poison works
*1H6 2270 M. my name, and daughter to a king
*1H6 2301 then how can M. be thy paramour?
*1H6 2307 I'll win this Lady M. For whom?
*1H6 2365 fair M. knows, that Suffolk doth not flatter
*1H6 2398 praise, and prayers, shall Suffolk ever have of M.
*1H6 2399 farewell sweet madam: but hark you M.
*1H6 2597 your wondrous rare description (noble earl) of beauteous M.
*1H6 2619 consent, that M. may be England's royal queen
*1H6 2631 why what (I pray) is M. more than that?
*1H6 2662 M., that is daughter to a king
*1H6 2671 with a lady of so high resolve (as is fair M.) *1H6 2673 that M. shall be queen, and none but she *1H6 2684 procure that Lady M. do vouchsafe to come
*1H6 2702 M. shall now be queen, and rule the king
*Con 4 to marry Princess M. for your grace
*Con 18 welcome Queen M. to English Henry's court
*Con 28 and nothing can make poor M. miserable
*Con 31 lovely Queen M. sit down by my side
*Con 34 long live Queen M., England's happiness
*Con 43 the said Henry shall wed and espouse the Lady M.
*Con 193 and at my feet Henry and M. with a crown of gold stood
*Con 971 What will your highness leave the parliament? — Ay [Q2 Yea] M.
*Con 1352 waited at my trencher, when we have feasted with Queen M.?
*2H6 4 to marry Princess M. for your grace
*2H6 17 welcome Queen M., I can express no kinder sign of love
*2H6 37 long live Queen M., England's happiness
*2H6 46 that the said Henry shall espouse the Lady M.
*2H6 299 where Henry and Dame M. kneel'd to me
*2H6 1027 why now is Henry king, and M. queen
*2H6 1420 that these great lords, and M. our queen, do
*2H6 2110 when I have feasted with Queen M.?
*2H6 2458 come M., God our hope will succour us
*2H6 3121 can we outrun the heavens? good M. stay
*TT 219 stay gentle M., and hear me speak
*TT 911 M. and Clifford, chide me from the field
*TT 1034 where's Captain M. to fence you now?
*TT 1241 welcome Queen M. to the court of France
*TT 1272 Injurious M. — And why not queen?
*TT 1304 Queen M., Prince Edward and Oxford, vouchsafe
*TT 1327 then draw near Queen M. and be a witness
*TT 1343 now M. and Warwick, what are your news?
*TT 1492 but what is Warwick friends with M.?
*TT 2116 what will your grace have done with M.
*3H6 237 pardon me M., pardon me sweet son
*3H6 266 stay gentle M., and hear me speak
*3H6 1077 for M. my queen, and Clifford too have chid me
*3H6 1276 where's Captain M., to fence you now?
*3H6 1347 by this account then, M. may win him
*3H6 1365 O M., thus 'twill be, and thou (poor soul) art
*3H6 1630 fair Queen of England, worthy M., sit down
*3H6 1633 now M. must strike her sail, and *3H6 1650 be plain, Queen M., and tell thy grief
*3H6 1662 this is the cause that I, poor M., with *3H6 1712 Injurious M. — And why not queen?
*3H6 1744 Queen M., Prince Edward, and Oxford, vouchsafe
*3H6 1775 draw near Queen M., and be a witness
*3H6 1781 and still is friend to him, and M.

*3H6 2028 but say, is Warwick friends with M.?
*3H6 2291 that M. your queen, and my son Edward, be sent for *3H6 2983 what will your grace have done with M.
*3H6 1859 and mine, with her's and thine, and M.'s Margery.
*Loc 1048 Enter M.
1F 813 her name was Mistress M. March-beer
2F 736 an ancient gentlewoman; her name was M. March-beer
*Con 219 what hast thou conferr'd with M. Jourdain
*2H6 335 hast thou yet conferr'd with M. Jourdain the cunning witch Maria.
JM 1447 and so did fair M. send for me
Maries.
*2H6 421 to number Ave-M. on his beads
*TT 629 numbering our Ave-M. with our beads?
*3H6 765 numb'ring our Ave-M. with our beads?
Marigolds.
*HLC 2109 the bright m., that deck [V. R. deckt] the skies Mariners.
L 500 and m., albeit the keel be sound, shipwreck themselves
Marish.
*1H6 51 our isle be made a nourish [Pope, m.] of salt tears Marius'.
L 581 and M. head above cold Tav'ron peering
Mark.
*Con 1807 a thousand ms. a-year to maintain thee
*2H6 2908 we give thee for reward a thousand ms.
*E3 1283 thou shalt receive five hundred ms. in gold
*E3 2240 I give to thee three thousand ms. a-year
*E3 2351 to maintain thy state, I freely give five hundred ms. a-year E2 2281 it is the chiefest m. they level at Ov 334 and on her neck a wanton's [ed. C, wanton] m. not missing
Ov 1104 and pass our scarlet of red saffron's m.
*2H6 2298 or hast thou a m. to thyself, like a honest plain-dealing man?
*Con 108 and put them from the m. they fain would hit
*Con 150 the crown, for that's the golden m. I seek to hit
*Con 1656 if honour be the m. whereat you aim
*2H6 244 the crown, for that's the golden m. I seek to hit Ov 460 and thy neck with lascivious ms. made blue
Ov 1039 and words that seem'd for certain ms. to be Ov 1151 thou argu'st she doth secret ms. unfold
Ov 2166 the ditcher no ms. on the ground did leave
*3H6 1132 my tears shall wipe away these bloody ms.
*Sel 316 the ploughman with a furrow did not m. how far
*Sel 1987 a society of puddings? did you m. that well-used metaphor?
*Sel 2142 hear thy brother's dying words, and m. them well
*Loc 868 m. what ensues, and you may easily see that
*Loc 2008 the fiends of hell will m. these injuries
2T 1645 now stab my lord, and m. your weapon's point 1F 763 talk not of Paradise nor creation; but m. this show
1F 1110 then, Doctor Faustus, m. what I shall say 2F 684 talk not of Paradise or creation; but m. the show 2F 1932 to m. him how he doth demean himself
JM 872 then m. him, sir, and take him hence
JM 873 ay, m. him, you were best
JM 942 but m. how I am blest for plaguing them
E2 531 no? do but m. how earnestly she pleads!
E2 545 my Lord of Lancaster, m. the respect
E2 560 m. you but that, my Lord of Lancaster
E2 737 ay, for a while; but, Baldock, m. the end
MP 47 my lord, did you but m. the Cardinal, the Ov 608 I charge thee, m. her eyes and front in reading
*Epg 438 heed [A, m.; MS. markes] not each other *1H6 1045 but m.: as in this haughty great attempt, they *1H6 1253 if your grace m. every circumstance, you have *1H6 1507 call we to mind, and m. but this for proof
*TT 1342 and m. how Lewis stamps as he were nettled
*3H6 1808 nay m. how Lewis stamps as he were nettled
*E3 769 and m. how I unsay my words again Marked.
JM 559 the board is m. thus that covers it
JM 565 the board is m. thus that covers it
E2 1311 not the riches of my realm can ransom him! ah, he is m. to die!
E2 1389 thou art not m. to many days on earth!
MP 519 my Lord of Lorraine, have you m. of late, how
*HLC 1171 with those severe conceits she too much m.
Ov 103 and Cupid who hath m. me for thy prey
*2H6 2317 the filth and scum of Kent, m. for the gallows
*TT 805 a foul mis-shapen stigmatic, m. by the Destinies to be avoided
*TT 1003 your brother Richard m. him for the grave
*3H6 950 m. by the Destines to be avoided
*3H6 1239 your brother Richard m. him for the grave
*E3 2053 of those poor English that are m. to die Market.
JM 903 come, I have made a reasonable m.; let's away
MP 819 put in that which displeaseth him, and so forestall his m.
MPF 6 herein, sir, you forestall the m.
Market-bell.
*1H6 1318 enter, go in, the m. is rung
Market-days.
*Con 1409 I have seen him whipp'd two m. together
*2H6 2255 I have seen him whipped three m. together Market-folks.
*1H6 1317 poor m. that come to sell their corn Market-men.
*1H6 1305 talk like the vulgar sort of m.
*1H6 2649 peasants bargain for their wives, as m. for oxen Market-place.
JM 730 this is the m.; here let 'em stand
JM 830 come, then; here's the m.
L 238 the soldiers having won the m.
*1H6 458 in open m. produc'd they me
*1H6 689 and here advance it in the m.
Market-town.
*Con 593 let him be taken again and whipped through every m. till *2H6 852 let them be whipp'd through every m., till Marking.
*LD 12 with some little, or not at all, m. of your friends
Marlowe.
1F (Title) Written by Ch[ristopher] M.
2F (Title) Written by Ch[ristopher] M.
JM (Title) Written by Christopher M.
*JMD 3 This play, composed by so worthy an author as Master M.
E2 (Title) Written by Chri[stopher] M. Gent
MP (Title) Written by Christopher M.
D (Title) Written by Christopher M., and Thomas Nash[e] Gent
HL (Title) By Christopher M.

HL (Title) Begun by Christopher M.
HL (Title) Begun by Christopher M., and finished by George Chapman
Ov (Title) All Ovid's Elegies : Three Books. By Ch[ristopher] M.
Ov (Title) Certain of Ovid's Elegies. By C[hristopher] M.
Ov (Title) Epigrams and Elegies. By J[ohn] D[avies] and C[hristopher] M.
L (Title) Translated line for line, by Chr[istopher] M.
*LD 2 a Dedication in the memory of that pure elemental wit Chr. M.

Marmorei.

Ept 12 Famaque m. superet monumenta sepulcri

Maro's.

1F 870 there saw we learnèd M. golden tomb
2F 846 there saw we learnèd M. golden tomb

Marquess.

*TT 1337 sent from your brother M. Montague
*3H6 1802 sent from your brother M. Montague
*Con 41 and William de la Poole, M. of Suffolk
*2H6 44 and William de la Poole, M. of Suffolk
E2 1646 the m. is a noble gentleman
E2 1730 with Sir John of Hainault, brother to the m.
*Con 15 the happiest gift that ever m. gave *2H6 15 the happiest gift, that ever m. gave
*Con 57 they please us well, Lord-M. kneel down
*2H6 61 Lord-M. kneel down, we here create thee the Marred.

*1H6 2303 there all is m. : there lies a cooling card

Marriage.

*Sel 204 his m. with the Tartar's daughter
*Loc 339 nay, masters, you shall see a m. by-and-by
*Loc 375 will solemnize our royal m.
*Loc 394 he thinks this m. tendeth to his weal 1T 2329 we will our celebrated [Dyce, omits] rites of m. solemnize 1F 616 tut, Faustus, m. is but a ceremonial toy 2F 554 m. is but a ceremonial toy
E2 632 let this be a second m. 'twixt thyself and me
E2 674 and then his m. shall be solemniz'd
E2 1068 when the m. ends, have at the rebels and their complices !
MP 14 that link you in m. with our daughter here
MP 203 O, fatal was this m. to us all !
D 885 why should not they, then, join in m.
HLM 269 compar'd with m., had you tried them both, differs
*Epg 24 and is for m. known a common wooer
*1H6 2156 proffers his only daughter to your grace, in m.
*1H6 2157 m. uncle ? alas my years are young
*1H6 2392 and make this m. to be solemniz'd
*1H6 2650 m. is a matter of more worth
*2H6 97 shameful is this league, fatal this m., cancelling your fame *2H6 151 had Henry got an empire by his m., and *TT 1057 to effect this m. if it please my lord
*TT 1082 to entreat a m. with the Lady Bona
*TT 1261 to England's king in lawful m.
*TT 1399 for mocking m. with the name of France
*TT 1401 matter of m. was the charge he gave me
*TT 1411 what think you of our m. with the Lady Grey ?
*TT 1414 that they 'll [Q3 they will] take no offence at this sudden m.
*TT 1439 'gainst foreign storms, than any home-bred m.
*3H6 1300 to effect this m., so it please my lord
*3H6 1690 to England's king, in lawful m.
*3H6 1708 that by this league and m. thou draw not on thy danger
*3H6 1897 for mocking m. with a dame of France
*3H6 1909 what think you of this new m. with the Lady Grey ?
*3H6 1927 yet hasty m. seldom proveth well
*3H6 1941 for mocking him about the m. of the Lady Bona *3H6 1944 is now dishonour'd by this new m.
*3H6 1949 'gainst foreign storms, than any home-bred m.
*3H6 2009 but what said Lady Bona to my m. ?
*3H6 2036 yet in m. I may not prove inferior to yourself
*E3 598 in violating m.' sacred law
*TT 1419 yet such sudden ms. seldom proveth well

Marriage-bed.

*Loc 1818 have I dishonoured thy m. with 1T 1875 pity the m., where many a lord, in Marriage-bond.

*Loc 1353 but he was link'd to me in m.
*Loc 1362 is it a shame to live in ms. ?

Marriage-day.

E2 469 or at [1612, 1622, that] the m. the cup of Hymen had been
E2 790 seeing that he talks thus of my m. ?
D 43 these linkèd gems, my Juno ware upon her m.

Marriage-dues.

*HLC 1678 two lovers that had long crav'd m.

Marriage-feast.

E2 1060 cousin, this day shall be your m.

Marriage-night.

*HLC 2038 freed by the fair bridegroom on the m.

Marriage-rites.

MP 18 and now, my lords, the m. perform'd, we think MP 58 if ever Hymen lour'd at m.
D 1111 scorning our loves and royal m.

Marriage-room.

*HLC 1993 her grave priest stood in the m.

Marriage-time.

1T 2299 now her m. shall work us rest

Marriage-violence.

*HLC 2258 the noise made in the general m.

Married.

*HLC 1004 all rites pertaining to his m. state
*HLC 1969 to show the union m. loves should use
*HLC 2014 no bitterness of hate [V. R. hate of bitterness] should grow 'twixt m. loves
*1H6 2498 a m. man, that's most intolerable
*Con 1628 I will that m. men shall hold of me in capite *2H6 1124 for whilst I think I am thy m. wife, and
*E3 603 by God was honour'd for a m. man
*E3 1973 thou art a m. man in this distress
*Sel 1874 ha ! ha ! ha ! m., quoth you ?
*Loc 385 when Persues m. fair Andromeda
*HLC 1698 she m. them ; and in the banquet came *Con 650[a] Philippe, who was m. to Edmund Mortimer [So in Q3]
*Con 664 Eleanor, that was after m. to my father [So in Q1 Q2]
*Con 1465 Roger Mortimer the Earl of March, m. the Duke of Clarence' daughter
*Con 1626 nor there shall not a maid be m., but he shall fee to me
*2H6 935 who m. Edmund Mortimer, Earl of March
*2H6 945 m. Richard, Earl of Cambridge
*2H6 951 who m. Philippe, sole daughter unto Lionel
*2H6 2331 Edmund Mortimer Earl of March, m. the Duke of Clarence' daughter

*2H6 2611 there shall not a maid be m., but she shall *TT 1346 what hath your king m. the Lady Grey
*3H6 1814 what? has your king m. the Lady Grey?
*E3 601 to be a king, is of a younger house than to be m.
Marries.
*HLC 1638 sends for two betrothèd lovers, and m. them
*TT 1494 that young Prince Edward m. Warwick's daughter
*3H6 2031 that young Prince Edward m. Warwick's daughter Marrow.
Ov 2289 as her m. took the flame, was divers ways distract with love
*TT 1212 would he were wasted m., bones and all
*3H6 1559 would he were wasted, m., bones, and all Marry.
*Sel 1874 m. and Bullithrumble were to begin the *Sel 1961 a christian, yes, m. am I, sir, yes verily
*Sel 2089 m. that had been the way to preferment
*Loc 1040 m., sir, what reason had you, when 1T 682 Are you the witty king of Persia? — Ay, m., am I 1F 1142 ay, m., Master Doctor, now there's a sign of grace 2F 376 yes, m., sir; and I thank you too
2F 1610 m., sir, I'll tell you the bravest tale how a 2F 1733 ay, m., can I; we are under heaven
2F 1747 ay, m., there spake [1624, spoke] a doctor, indeed!
JM 901 remember the book. — M., will I, sir
JM 1609 m., the Turk shall be one of my godfathers
JM 2070 who writ it? m., even he that strangled Barnardine
E2 934 ay, m., such a guard as this doth well
MP 387 m., sir, in having a smack in all
MP 785 m., if thou hadst, thou mightst have had the stab
*1H6 776 m., for that she is in a wrong belief *1H6 1460 ay m. sweeting, if we could do that *1H6 2147 ay m. uncle, for I always thought it was *Con 262 m. my lord, he hath stole [Q2 stoln] away my wife
*Con 266 m. sir I come to tell you that my master said that *Con 275 I [Q2 Yea] m. this is something like
*Con 1382 ay [Q2 Yea] m. he had need so, for 'tis grown thread-bare
*Con 1480 m. always provided, I'll be protector over him
*Con 1581 m. he that will lustily stand to it, shall *Con 1602 m. I say, thou oughtest not to let thy horse wear a cloak
*Con 1628 m. I will that married men shall hold of me in capite
*2H6 348 Hume must make merry with the duchess' gold: m. and shall *2H6 371 m. the Lord protect him, for he's a good man
*2H6 710 would it were come to that. — M., when thou dar'st
*2H6 1630 Gloster is dead. — M., God forfend
*2H6 2330 m., this Edmund Mortimer Earl of March, married
*2H6 2347 ay, m. will we: therefore get ye gone
*2H6 2540 m., thou ought'st not to let thy horse wear a cloak
*2H6 2618 take up commodities upon our bills? — M. presently
*TT 1077 ay m. sir, here is [Q2 heere's] a deer, his skin is *TT 1146 m. God's forbod man, for he'll take vantage then
*TT 1595 m. my lord, I think I had as good go with you, as *TT 1952 Oh kill me too. — M. and shall
*TT 1990 whither's [Q3 whether is] Gloster gone? — M. my lord to London
*3H6 515 ay m. sir, now looks he like a king
*3H6 2803 Oh, kill me too. — M., and shall
*Sel 175 that he dare m. without our consent
*Sel 1882 « What hap had I to m. a shrow »
*Loc 1043 but would you have me m. her therefore?
JM 854 I'll buy you, and m. you to Lady Vanity, if you do well
JM 1038 would disdain to m. with the daughter of a Jew
JM 1811 I have no husband; sweet, I'll m. thee
*HLC 1684 vow, since hers was broken, and to m. her
*Con 4 to m. Princess Margaret for your grace
*2H6 4 to m. Princess Margaret for your grace
*TT 1197 you would think it strange if I should m. her
*TT 1198 m. her my lord, to whom?
*3H6 1543 you'd think it strange, if I should m. her Marrying.
*1H6 1052 m. my sister, that thy mother was Mars.
*Sel 685 M., or Minerva, Mahound, Termagaunt, or *Sel 743 I'll follow M., and war another while *Sel 1508 a mighty host of janissaries, stern-born sons of M.
*Sel 2498 or M. arm'd in his adamantine coat, mounted upon
*Loc 275 the thundering trumpets of blood-thirsty M.
*Loc 824 thus from the dreadful shocks of furious M.
*Loc 952 and by the sword of bloody M. I swear
*Loc 1506 M., with thy target all beset with flames
*Loc 1849 like to grim M., cover'd with his targe, he fought 1T 906 though M. himself, the angry god of arms, and 2T 1389 for person like to prove a second M.
1F 2 where M. did mate the Carthaginians
2F 2 where M. did mate the warlike Carthagens [1631, Carthagen]
D 106 a princess-priest, conceiv'd by M., shall D 1000 by chance, sweet queen, as M. and Venus met
HLM 157 blood-quaffing M. heaving the iron net
*HLC 1055 our Leander, that made M. his Cupid
Ov 18 while M. doth take th' Aonian harp to play?
Ov 403 now M. doth rage abroad without all pity
Ov 481 what age fits M., with Venus doth agree
Ov 517 M. in the deed the blacksmith's net did stable
Ov 1047 but Venus often to her M. such brought Ov 1250 Cupid, by thee, M. in great doubt doth trample
Ov 1797 soldier, applaud thy M.: no wars we move
Ov 1860 M. girts his deadly sword on for my harm
Ov 1921 where M. his sons not without fault did breed
L 182 frauds and corruption in the Field of M.
*E3 2433 Prince of Wales, great servitor to bloody M. in arms
*Sel 2437 hurled mount Olympus at great M. his targe
*Loc 719 hurl'd mount Olympus at great M.'s targe
Ov 1610 is golden Love hid in M.' mid alarms
Ov 1980 she, wailing M.' sin and her uncle's crime
1F 690 nor are the names of Saturn, M., or Jupiter feign'd
1F 704 M. in four; the Sun, Venus, and Mercury in a year
2F 611 nor are the names of Saturn, M., or Jupiter feign'd
2F 624 M. in four: the Sun, Venus, and Mercury in a year
Ov 391 th' opposèd star of M. hath done thee harm
Ov 392 now M. is gone, Venus thy side doth warm
L 657 M., 'tis thou inflam'st the threatening Scorpion
L 662 swift Hermes retrograde; M. only rules the heaven
*1H6 179 M. his true moving, even as in the heavens, so in the earth, to this day is not known Mars-carousing.
HLM 756 than dreary-M. nectar bowls

Marshal.
E2 653 I make thee here Lord M. of the realm
*1H6 2110 great m. to Henry the Sixth
1T 1243 our conquering swords shall m. us the way
E2 654 my lord, I'll m. so [1612, 1622, all] your enemies as Marshalling.
*Loc 611 what order keep they in their m. ?
Mart.
*HLC 2072 Come, come, dear Night ! Love's m. of kisses
*Epg 480 by lawful m., and by unlawful stealth Martial.
*Sel 601 and thou began'st to rule the m. sword
*Loc 115 though brave Antigonus, with m. band, in
*Loc 232 as correspondent to thy m. thoughts
*Loc 256 the m. Brutus is bereft of life
*Loc 890 enter'd the field with m. equipage
*Loc 904 amongst the which old Debon, m. knight
*Loc 940 and in the fields of m. Cambria
*Loc 1008 right m. be thy thoughts, my noble son
*Loc 1217 so m. Locrine, cheer'd with victory, falleth
*Loc 1896 since m. Locrine is bereft of life
*Loc 1981 come wail with me the m. Locrine's death
1T 147 wanting both pay and m. discipline
1T 291 my m. prizes, with five hundred men
1T 359 and by thy m. face and stout aspèct
1T 380 those thousand horse shall sweat with m. spoil
1T 561 being void of m. discipline
1T 604 sway to some [8vo scorne] direction in your m. deeds
1T 1023 fierce, only dispos'd to m. stratagems ?
1T 1138 give him assurèd hope of m. triumph
1T 1368 triumph, and solemnize a m. [4to materiall] feast
1T 1398 exceed the forces of their m. men
1T 1434 ignorant of lawful arms or m. discipline !
1T 1914 nor change my m. observations
1T 2318 that purchas'd kingdoms by your m. deeds
2T 35 as m. presents to our friends at home
2T 267 amorous, not m. as the sons of Tamburlaine
2T 540 with the thunder of his m. [8vo materiall] tools makes earthquakes 2T 816 follow'd long the m. sword of mighty Tamburlaine
2T 851 our battle, then, in m. manner pitch'd 2T 1455 hold my striving hands from m. justice on 2T 1465 and joy'd the fire of this m. [4to materiall] flesh
2T 1769 shall all [4to omits] be loaden with the m. spoils 2T 2198 but I perceive my m. strength is spent
E2 2424 strike off his head : he shall have m. law
MP 459 a m. people, worthy such a king
*1H6 492 how far'st thou, mirror of m. men ?
*1H6 622 a maid ? and be so m. ?
*1H6 1420 warlike and m. Talbot, Burgundy enshrines thee
*E3 1009 we'll wake him with our m. harmony
*E3 1015 provided is of m. furniture for this exploit ?
Martialists.
*E3 1447 as ancient custom is of M., to dub thee Martin.
1F 810 Peter Pickle-herring and M. Martlemas-beef
2F 734 Peter Pickled-herring and M. Martlemas-beef
JM 692 M. del Bosco, I have heard of thee
*1H6 310 expect Saint M.'s, halcyon's days Martino.
2F 1503 O, help me, gentle friend ! — Where is M. ?
2F 1507 M., see, Benvolio's horns again !
Martlemas-beef.
1F 810 Peter Pickle-herring and Martin M.
2F 735 Peter Pickled-herring, and Martin M.
Martyred.
1T 2179 present a thousand sorrows to my m. soul
E2 2071 which thoughts are m. with endless torments Martyr's.
*Epg 364 this old mad colt deserves a m. praise
Marvel.
1F 1380 no m. though the angry Greeks pursu'd with E2 1020 no m. though thou scorn thy noble peers
D 1453 no m., Dido, though thou be in love
HLM 581 no m., then, though Hero would not yield
*Con 476 no m. if it please your majesty, my Lord Protector's hawk [Q3 hawkes] *2H6 678 no m., and it like your majesty, my
*E3 756 no m., though the branches be then infected
*E3 758 no m., though the leprous infant die, when 1T 702 I m. much he stole it not away
MP 36 I m. that th' aspiring Guise dares once adventure
MP 39 my lord, you need not m. at the Guise
D 180 I m. that I cannot find no steps of men imprinted
Ov 126 m. not though the fair bride did incite the *1H6 650 here cometh Charles, I m. how he sped ?
Mary's.
*Epg 365 for he was burnèd in Queen M. days Masculine.
*1H6 623 pray God she prove not m. ere long Mask.
*Loc 382 the night in dancing and in figured ms.
2T 1660 inventing ms. and stately shows for her
E2 55 therefore I'll have Italian ms. by night
E2 960 the idle triumphs, ms., lascivious shows
HLM 308 plays, ms., and all that stern age counteth evil
*HLC 2022 to feasts, ms., and triumphant shows, the shining troops return'd
*Sel 2062 thou thoughtest in these disguisèd weeds, to m. unseen 1T 1549 the townsmen m. in silk and cloth of gold 1T 1654 ye Furies, that can m. [4to walke] invisible
1T 1979 and march [Dyce, m.] in cottages [4to coatches] of strowed weeds [Dyce, reeds] 2T 879 black as is the island where the Furies m.
D 1066 whenas she means to m. the world with clouds
*Con 429 night, wherein the Furies m. in hellish troops
*Sel 237 but now un*m.* thyself, and play thy part Masked.
1T 388 Jove sometime m. in a shepherd's weed
*E3 484 and, being un*m.*, outshine the golden sun Maskers.
*TT 1376 is sending over m. to revel it with him
*TT 1474 Lewis is sending over m., to revel it with him
*3H6 1865 that Lewis of France, is sending over m.
*3H6 2006 that Lewis of France is sending over m.
Masketh.
*Sel 2446 to see how courage m. in our looks Masking.
*E3 1850 millions hide, m. as 'twere, the beauteous-burning sun Masque : see Mask.
Mass.
*Sel 1959 m., I think he be some Justice of peace
*Loc 1042 m., thou say'st true 1F 404 M., but for the name of French crowns, a man were 1F 1212 seeking one Master Fustian : m., see where he is !
1F 1252 m., Doctor Lopus was never such a doctor
*2H6 788 m., thou lov'dst plums well, that wouldst venture so

*2H6 2501 m. 'twill be sore law then, for he was JM 582 than rise at midnight to a solemn m.
MP 20 and consummate the rest with hearing of a holy m.
*2H6 3156 well hast thou fought to-day : by th' m. so did we all
*Sel 310 some God took out of the confusèd m.
HLM 250 starves himself in heaping up a m. of drossy pelf
Ov 2162 and brass, in hell were harbour'd ; here was found no m.
*2H6 496 thy wife's attire have cost a m. of public treasury

Massacre.

*Loc 903 and murther'd all with fatal m.
*Loc 967 the fatal m. which shall be made
*Loc 1591 the chances of this dismal m. that MP (Title) The M. at Paris : With the Death of the Duke of Guise
MP 230 what order will you set down for the m. ?
MP 232 they that shall be actors in this m., shall MP 288 shall in the entrance of this m. be murder'd in his bed
MP 332 then toll the bell, and so let's forward to the m.
MP 438 that you were one that made this m.
MP 447 yet will we not that the m. shall end
*1H6 136 hence grew the general wrack and m.
*1H6 702 but lords, in all our bloody m., I muse
*1H6 2579 to save your subjects from such m.
*Sel 1116 begin and make a preface to our ms.
*Sel 2167 what strange ms. and cruel murders thou hast caus'd
*Sel 2378 must yet seek for more ms. ?
*Loc 1781 a mighty noise, presaging bloody ms. at hand
MP 1041 surcharg'd with guilt of thousand ms.
D 420 daily inur'd to broils and ms.
*Sel 1361 and m. his subjects in such sort
*Loc 471 and m. their bodies with our blades
1T 584 shall m. those greedy-minded slaves
1T 2020 that lingering pains may m. his heart
MP 263 the Guisians, that seek to m. our guiltless lives

Massacred.

*Loc 1917 both m., are dead within this cave 2T 480 they have, not long since, m. our camp
JM 2427 the house was fir'd, blown up, and all thy soldiers m.
MP 192 for whose effects my soul is m.

Massy.

*Loc 714 moving [? mowing] the m. squadrons off the ground !
1T 315 about their necks hang m. chains of gold
1T 879 he is gross and like the m. earth that moves not upwards
2T 89 as when the m. substance of the earth quiver[s]
2T 990 cloth'd with a m. robe that late adorn'd the Afric potentate
2T 1482 a soul, created of the m. dregs of earth
2T 1606 and, cloth'd in costly cloth of m. gold
2T 2096 and guide this m. substance of the earth
1F 174 hid within the m. entrails of the earth
2F 166 hid within the m. entrails of the earth
D 748 oars of m. ivory, full of holes
*E3 472 drop the m. earth by sands, and, sand by sand

Mast.

Ov 2072 by charms m. drops from oaks, from vines grapes fall
Ov 2271 on m. of oaks, first oracles, men fed
2T 225 the sails wrapt up, the m. and tacklings down
*3H6 2683 what though the m. be now blown over-board
*3H6 2697 and Somerset, another goodly m. ?
D 745 our ms. the furious wind struck overboard
D 757 the ms., whereon thy swelling sails shall hang, hollow pyramides
D 1366 now, let him hang my favours on his ms.
D 1469 yet hath she ta'en away my oars and ms.
*TT 1879 and Warwick as our main-m. overthrown
*3H6 2694 and Montague our top-m. : what of him ?

Master.

*JMD 4 the Jew presented by so unimitable an actor as M. Alleyn
JM 1792 M. Barabas, — Write not so submissively
*Sel 1950 you are deceived, my name is M. Bullithrumble
*Sel 1981 you shall be M. Bullithrumble's servitors
*Loc 565 but you, sir, M. Capontail, draw your pasteboard
*Loc 550 by your leave, m. cobbler
*Loc 554 O m. cobbler, you are far deceived in me 1F 13 M. Doctor Faustus, since our conference about 1F 1089 M. Doctor Faustus, I have heard strange report 1F 1142 ay, marry, M. Doctor, now there's a sign of 1F 1151 go to, M. Doctor ; let me see them presently 1F 1153 do you hear, M. Doctor ? you bring Alexander 1F 1188 good M. Doctor, at my entreaty, release him 1F 1200 farewell, M. Doctor : yet ere you go, expect 1F 1213 God save you, M. Doctor !
1F 1280 God save you, M. Doctor, M. Doctor Fustian !
2F 1297 well, M. Doctor, an your devils come not 1F 1308 believe me, M. Doctor, this merriment hath 1F 1315 thanks, good M. Doctor : and, for I see your courteous intent 1F 1328 believe me, M. Doctor, this makes me wonder above the rest 1F 1340 believe me, M. Doctor, they be the best grapes that e'er I tasted 1F 1350 come, M. Doctor, follow us, and receive your reward 1F 1365 therefore, M. Doctor, if you will do us that favour, as 2F 1370 then, good M. Doctor, let me entreat you to 2F 1433 O ! — Groan you, M. Doctor ?
2F 1568 M. Doctor, awake, and rise, and give me
2F 1570 your horse is turned to a bottle of hay, M. Doctor !
2F 1659 thanks, M. Doctor, for these pleasant sights
2F 1674 true, M. Doctor ; and, since I find you so kind 2F 1799 who pays for the ale ? hear you, M. Doctor
2F 1816 M. Doctor, since our conference about fair ladies 2F 1820 M. Doctor, if you will do us so much favour as *Loc 583 truly, m. gentleman, I lack no money
*JMD 1 To my worthy friend, M. Thomas Hammon
*2H6 589 M. Hume, we are therefore provided
*2H6 593 it shall be convenient, M. Hume, that you be
*Loc 669 do you hear, m. king ?
*3H6 2232 M. Lieutenant, now that God and friends have
*JMD 3 This play, composed by so worthy an author as M. Marlowe *3H6 2355 but, M. Mayor, if Henry be your king, yet Edward *3H6 2362 why, M. Mayor, why stand you in a doubt ?
*3H6 2370 so, M. Mayor : these gates must not be shut 1F 1014 our M. Parson says that's nothing
*Sel 1973 as stately to them as if I were M. Pigwiggen
*Loc 1050 you, m. saucebox, lobcock, cockscomb
E2 871 welcome, M. Secretary !
*2H6 1170 M. Sheriff, let not her penance exceed the king's commission
*Loc 356 truly, M. Strumbo, you speak too learnedly for me
*Loc 1064 nay, M. Strumbo, ere you go from hence

*Loc 1069 how now, M. Strumbo?
*1H6 874 good M. Vernon, it is well objected
*1H6 960 good M. Vernon, I am bound to you 2F 399 villain, call me M. Wagner. and see that 1F 450 villain, call me M. Wagner, and let *Sel 2043 page, if thou show us where thy m. is
*Loc 308 now, pate, for thy m.!
*Loc 327 why, sirrah, come when your m. calls you
*Loc 791 this sword shall reave his m. of his life
*Loc 802 look where my m. lies. M., m.
*Loc 804 yet one word, good m.
*Loc 806 « And is my m. dead? O sticks and stones »
*Loc 808 « And is my m. dead? O you cockatrices »
*Loc 821 O m., thieves, thieves, thieves!
*Loc 1080 O Codpiece, thou hast 'done thy m.
1T 484 his merits show him to be made his fortune's m.
1T 1096 basso, by this thy lord and m. knows
1F 228 my m. is within at dinner, with Valdes and Cornelius 1F 1001 yes, my m. and mistress shall find that I can read 1F 1267 do you hear? you, hey-pass, where's your m.?
1F 1352 I think my m. means to die shortly
2F 192 how now, sirrah! where's thy m.?
2F 215 truly, my dear brethren, my m. is within at dinner
2F 392 I will, sir: but hark you, m.; will you 2F 783 an my m. come, he'll conjure you, faith 2F 785 my m. conjure me! I'll tell thee what 2F 786 an my m. come here, I'll clap
2F 1807 I think my m. means to die shortly
JM 63 but art thou m. in a ship of mine
JM 72 sirrah, which of my ships art thou m. of?
JM 915 O, brave m.! I worship your nose for this
JM 945 faith, m., in setting Christian villages on fire
JM 1108 faith, m., I think by this you purchase both JM 1111 O m., that I might have a hand in this!
JM 1205 Why, what ail'st thou? — O, my m.!
JM 1211 O, my m. has the bravest policy!
JM 1219 the devil invented the challenge, my m. writ it
JM 1317 O m. — Ithamore, entreat not for her
JM 1322 thou hat'st my life. — Who, I, m.?
JM 1339 Here 'tis, m. — Well said, Ithamore!
JM 1349 why, m., will you poison her with a mess of rice-porridge?
JM 1359 How, m.? — Thus, Ithamore
JM 1372 pray, do, and let me help you, m.
JM 1376 troth, m., I'm loath such a pot of pottage should be spoiled
JM 1381 Well, m., I go. — Stay
JM 1502 that's brave, m.: but think you it will not be known?
JM 1509 good m., let me poison all the monks
JM 1516 look, look, m.; here come two religious caterpillars
JM 1523 they know we sent the poison'd broth. — And so do I, m.
JM 1595 part 'em, m., part 'em
JM 1637 you loiter, m.; wherefore stay we thus?
JM 1651 nay, m., be ruled by me a little
JM 1676 now, out, alas, he is slain! — Ay, m., he's slain
JM 1692 fie upon 'em! m., will you turn Christian
JM 1767 I'll go steal some money from my m.
E2 1300 commend me to your m., my friend, and tell him
D 1099 eternal Jove, great m. of the clouds
Ov 299 Ajax, m. of the seven-fold shield, butcher'd the flocks
Ov 1081 I know no m. of so great hire sped
L 326 to exceed his m., that arch-traitor Sylla
L 636 be augury vain, and Tages, th' art's m., false!
*1H6 2177 and for the proffer of my lord your m.
*Con 266 my m. said, that the Duke of York was true heir unto [Q3 to] the crown
*Con 272 no forsooth, I said my m. said so
*Con 278 and send out a pursuivant for his m. straight
*Con 352 this fellow here, hath accused his m. of high treason
*Con 478 he knows his m. loves to be aloft [Q3 They know their m. sores a Faulcons pitch]
*Con 546 I think thou canst not see yet. — Yes truly m., as clear as day
*Con 548 What colour's his cloak? — Why red m., as red as blood
*Con 552 And what colour's his hose? — Yellow m., yellow as gold
*Con 559 what's my name? — Alas m. I know not *Con 565 Nor his name? — No indeed m.
*Con 567 What's thine own name? — Sander, and it please you m.
*Con 575 restore this cripple to his legs again. — Oh m. I would you could
*Con 585 alas m. I am not able to stand alone
*Con 591 alas m. what shall I do, I am not able to stand
*Con 755 and fear not thy m., fight for credit of the prentices
*Con 761 for I am never able to deal with my m.
*Con 767 Thumpe, then see that thou thump thy m.
*Con 862 but come let us go, m. sheriff farewell
*Con 1299 here m., this prisoner I give to you
*2H6 391 against my m. Thomas Horner, for saying, that *2H6 396 no forsooth: my m. said, that he was, and that *2H6 399 take this fellow in, and send for his m.
*2H6 511 though in this place most m. wear no breeches
*2H6 548 the man doth accuse his m. of high treason
*2H6 680 they know their m. loves to be aloft
*2H6 782 A fall off a tree. — A plum-tree, m.
*2H6 784 How long hast thou been blind?— Oh born so, m.
*2H6 790 alas, good m., my wife desired some damsons
*2H6 796 In my opinion, yet thou seest not well. — Yes m., clear as day
*2H6 800 what colour is this cloak of? — Red m., red as blood
*2H6 811 Tell me sirrah, what's my name? — Alas m., I know not *2H6 815 Nor his? — No indeed, m.
*2H6 817 Saunder Simpcox, and if it please you, m.
*2H6 829 restore this cripple to his legs again. — Oh m., that you could?
*2H6 839 alas m., I am not able to stand alone
*2H6 846 alas m., what shall I do? I am not able to stand *2H6 1058 be merry Peter, and fear not thy m.
*2H6 1065 for I am never able to deal with my m., he hath *2H6 1072 Thumpe? then see thou thump thy m. well
*2H6 2065 m., this prisoner freely give I thee
*2H6 2068 what is my ransom m., let me know
*2H6 2816 to emblaze the honour that thy m. got *TT 2112 to say the truth so Judas kiss'd his m.
*3H6 1127 came on the part of York, press'd by his m.
*3H6 2979 to say the truth, so Judas kiss'd his m.
*E3 679 thyself, the lord and m. of thy word and oath
*E3 1910 the King of France, my sovereign lord and m., greets
*E3 1931 the Duke of Normandy, my lord and m., pitying thy youth

*Sel 674 strong Alemshae, thy m.'s eldest son
*Loc 792 that oft hath sav'd his m.'s doubtful life
*Loc 1550 these arms that have sustain'd their m.'s life 1F 345 and then resolve me of thy m.'s mind
JM 1297 come near, my love ; come near, thy m.'s life
JM 1334 I hold my head, my m.'s hungry
JM 1774 sweet Bellamira, would I had my m.'s wealth for thy sake !
*1H6 1670 the leaves did represent my m.'s blushing cheeks
*1H6 1685 this flower, bewray'd the faintness of my m.'s heart
*Con 1300 this other the m.'s mate shall have *2H6 1085 fellow thank God, and the good wine in thy m.'s way
*E3 90 even to the bottom of thy m.'s throat
*Sel 699 and though we are ms. of the field, yet
*Loc 291 ay, ms., ay, you may laugh, but I must weep
*Loc 339 nay, ms., you shall see a marriage by-and-by
*Loc 779 Lord have mercy upon us, ms.
*Loc 1076 ms., I think it be my luck
*Loc 1430 how do you, ms., how do you ?
*Loc 1435 for I will tell you, ms.
*Loc 1452 well, ms., what's o'clock ?
1T 591 he tells you true, my ms.
1T 772 so would you, my ms., would you not ?
1T 2003 here let him stay, my ms.
2T 1041 what require you, my ms. ?
*1H6 153 farewell my ms., to my task will I *1H6 1244 away my ms., trouble us no more
*Con 576 my ms. of Saint Albans, have you not beadles in your town
*2H6 368 my ms., let's stand close, my Lord-Protector will come *2H6 587 come my ms., the duchess I tell you expects *2H6 598 well said my ms., and welcome all
*2H6 749 stand by, my ms., bring him near the king
*2H6 830 my ms. of Saint Albans, have you not beadles
*2H6 1074 ms., I am come hither as it were upon my man's instigation
*3H6 2094 come on my ms., each man take his stand *3H6 2117 courage my ms. : honour now, or never
*E3 1199 well met, my ms. : how now ? what's the news ?
1T 1954 had fed the feeling of their ms.' thoughts
1T 1268 when thy great basso-m. and thyself must plead
E2 1719 our port-ms. are not so careless of their king's command
*Epg 426 the school-m., the midwife [MS. widdow], and the bawd
*E3 305 desire to be in contemplation, that may m. thee !
*E3 894 and shall I not m. this little mansion of myself ?
*E3 2306 we as well can m. our affections as conquer other by Mastered.

1T 2209 whose fortunes never m. her griefs
L 177 force m. right, the strongest govern'd all

Master-gunner.
*1H6 424 chief m. am I of this town

Masterships.
*E3 1752 and so you may inform their m.

Mastiff.
*Loc 2009 never shall these blood-sucking m. curs bring Mastives.

L 547 Fierce m. howl'd. The vestal fires went out

Mastless.
*TT 905 how like a m. ship upon the seas, this woeful battle

Masty.
JM 2021 a nasty [Old ed. m.] slave he is
*Epg 181 for still thou grumblest like a m. dog

Match.
1T 700 thou art no m. for mighty Tamburlaine
JM 888 lest she mistrust the m. that is in hand
E2 746 but I had thought the m. had been broke off
E2 1682 what think you [1612 omits] of the m. ?
D 888 and, Venus, let there be a m. confirm'd
*1H6 2315 yet is he poor, and our nobility will scorn the m.
*2H6 3057 but m. to m. I have encounter'd him
*TT 1152 the m. is made, she seals it with a curtsy [Q1 cursie ; Q2 curtesie ; Q3 curtsie]
*TT 1391 withall [Q2 Q3 With all] my heart, that m. I like full well
*3H6 1482 the m. is made, she seals it with a curtsy [Fol. Cursie]
*E3 469 her beauty hath no m. but my affection
*E3 842 what says the more than Cleopatra's m. to Caesar now ?
*Sel 194 but m. himself where I least thought on it ?
*Sel 2482 could any m. with mighty Tonombey
*Loc 1602 none but death can m. our matchless power 2T 1130 will m. thee with a viceroy or a king
2T 1725 raise me, to m. [4to march] the fair Aldeboran
1F 898 as m. the days within one complete year 2F 876 do m. [1616, watch] the number of the days
*1H6 2661 whom should we m. with Henry being a king, but *2H6 129 to m. with her that brings no vantages
*2H6 2985 if you oppose yourselves to m. Lord Warwick 2T 1256 thou wouldst with over*m.* of person fight

Matchable.
*Sel 1864 Aga, thy grief is m. to his

Matched.
*Sel 673 nay, I have m. a braver knight than you
*Loc 187 who shall be m. with our royal son 1T 1037 if I were m. with mighty Tamburlaine
*TT 816 and had he m. according to his state, he *3H6 965 and had he m. according to his state
*3H6 2561 the harder m., the greater victory
*Loc 1511 well have I over*m.* his subtilty
*1H6 1893 set from our o'er-m. forces forth for aid
*TT 386 so true men yield by robbers over*m.*
*3H6 483 so true men yield with robbers, so o'er-m.

Matching.
*3H6 1851 for m. more for wanton lust, than honour
1T 487 a thousand sworn and over*m.* foes
*3H6 440 and spend her strength with over-m. waves

Matchless.
*Sel 778 thus shall the glory of your m. name be register'd
*Sel 2476 a m. knight is warlike Selimus
*Loc 1602 none but death can match our m. power 2T 1444 but m. strength and magnanimity ?
JM 595 Is she so fair ? — And m. beautiful
*E3 1455 heart wall'd in with m. fortitude

Matchlessly.
*HLC 1753 and that, in Hymen, pleas'd so m.

Mate.
2T 233 thou shalt be crown'd a king, and be my m. !
2T 656 whose jealousy admits no second m.
*HLC 2275 and been a great man's m. in travelling, even to Rhene Ov 1552 thou ought'st therefore to scorn me for thy m.
Ov 1612 with Laodamia, m. to her dead lord

*1H6 271 if thou receive me for thy warlike m.
*1H6 1198 to be disgraced by an ink-horn m.
*Con 1300 this other the master's m. shall have *2H6 2066 and thou that art his m., make boot of this
*E3 1326 a thievish pirate, and a needy m.
*Loc 892 led forth his army 'gainst the straggling ms.
*Loc 1809 accompanied with these thy straggling ms.?
E2 1245 question with thy companions and ms.
D 869 Fancy and modesty shall live as ms.
D 1167 the dream [Old ed. dreames], brave ms., that did beset my bed
D 1410 triumph, my ms.! our travels are at end
*HLC 2069 prates naught but news common to the common'st ms.
Ov 1503 or else will maidens young men's ms. to go *3H6 2419 we'll forward towards Warwick, and his ms.
*Sel 2549 have rid that monster, and his fellow-ms.
2F 2 where Mars did m. the warlike Carthagens [1631, Carthagen]
*2H6 1479 that is good deceit, which ms. him first, that first intends deceit

Mated.

1T 107 how now, my lord! what, m. and amaz'd to hear

Material.

1T 1368 triumph, and solemnize a martial [4to m.] feast 2T 540 with the thunder of his martial [8vo m.] tools makes 2T 1465 and joy'd the fire of this martial [4to m.] flesh

Mathematic.

*HLC 975 one hand a m. crystal sways

Mathias.

JM 583 why, how now, Don M.! in a dump?
JM 605 Farewell, M. — Farewell, Lodowick
JM 764 for Don M. tells me she is fair
JM 881 yonder comes Don M.; let us stay
JM 893 tell me, M., is not that the Jew?
JM 980 O father, Don M. is my love!
JM 992 so sure shall he and Don M. die
JM 994 whither goes Don M.? stay a while
JM 1004 Does she receive them? — No, M., no
JM 1020 M., as thou lov'st me, not a word
JM 1028 why, she loves Don M.?
JM 1050 but keep thy heart till Don M. comes JM 1089 what greater gift can poor M. have?
JM 1104 I will have Don M.; he is my love
JM 1113 take this, and bear it to M. straight
JM 1162 Abigail shall see whether M. holds her dear or no
JM 1166 now Lodovico [Old ed. Lodowicke]! now, M.! — So
JM 1172 who is this? my son M. slain!
JM 1220 I carried it, first to Lodowick, and imprimis to M.
JM 1245 yet Don M. ne'er offended thee
JM 1250 nor on M. but by murdering me
JM 1462 you knew M. and Don Lodowick?
JM 1466 M. was the man that I held dear
JM 1540 Barabas, remember M. and Don Lodowick
JM 1954 you knew M. and the governor's son
JM 2047 M. did it not; it was the Jew
JM 2066 your son and M. were both contracted unto Abigail
JM 2081 was my M. murder'd by the Jew?
JM 1215 know you not of M.' and Don Lodowick['s] disaster?
JM 1249 nor on his son but by M.' means
JM 1291 of my device in Don M.' and Lodovico's deaths

Matins.

MP 452 stay that bell, that to the devil's m. rings

Matrevis.

E2 2185 call hither Gurney and M.
E2 2193 M., write a letter presently unto the Lord of Berkeley
E2 2351 M. and the rest may bear the blame
E2 2376 deliver this to Gurney and M.
E2 2457 and so do I, M.
E2 2559 To rid thee of thy life. — M., come!
E2 2573 is 't done, M., and the murderer dead?
E2 2575 M., if thou now [1612, 1622, omit] grow'st penitent, I'll E2 2506 thy heart, were it as Gurney's is, or as M.'

Matron.

*HLC 1162 the frighted m. that on her did tend *HLC 1986 next did go a noble m.
*HLC 2030 at which door a m. and a torch-bearer did stand
*HLC 2032 a painted box of confits in her hand the m. held L 597 then, the nuns and their veil'd m.
L 675 so runs a m. through th' amazèd streets
*HLC 1194 to bear what makes grave ms. bow?
*HLC 2044 so had the ms., that with confits stood

Matter.

*Loc 585 resign it to one of these poor fellows. — No such m.
1T 299 how now! what's the m.?
2T 861 that's no m., sir, for being a
2T 1472 essence whose m. is the flesh of Tamburlaine
2T 2244 subjects, whose m. is incorporate in your flesh 1F 884 tut, 'tis no m., man; we'll be bold with 1F 1047 ashamed to burden honest men with a m. of truth 2F 1149 'tis no m.; let him come 2F 1173 never out-face me for the m.; for 2F 1348 nay, an thy horns hold, 'tis no m. for thy head 2F 1680 this is but a small m.
JM 165 tut, tut, there is some other m. in 't
JM 184 these silly men mistake the m. clean
E2 1378 madam, in this m. we will employ you
MP 126 a simple sound, of so great m. should be made the ground!
*HLC 1685 the rites would pleasing m. to her conceits
Ov 26 being fittest m. for a wanton wit
Ov 611 I hate fair paper should writ m. lack Ov 1350 I'll think all true, though it be feignèd m.
Ov 1573 thou dost alone give m. to my wit
L 624 from the gaping liver squeez'd m. through the caul
*1H6 1467 to bring this m. to the wished end
*1H6 2520 approacheth, to confer about some m.
*1H6 2568 and now the m. grows to compromise
*Con 49 how now uncle, what's the m. that you stay so suddenly
*Con 359 I never said any such m., God is my witness
*Con 360 'tis no m. for that, you did say so
*Con 1379 but sirrah George what's the m.?
*2H6 400 we'll hear more of your m. before the king
*2H6 524 but to the m. that we have in hand
*2H6 554 I never said nor thought of any such m.
*2H6 711 make up no factious numbers for the m.
*2H6 1477 sleeping, or waking, 'tis no m. how, so he be dead
*2H6 1628 where is our uncle? what's the m., Suffolk?
*TT 1401 m. of marriage was the charge he gave me
*TT 1957 I must to London on a serious m.
*3H6 1900 m. of marriage was the charge he gave me
*3H6 2040 not I: my thoughts aim at a further m.
*3H6 2809 I'll hence to London on a serious m.

*E3 2031 What is the m.? — A flight of ugly ravens do croak
*E3 2185 no m. if it be; the count is cast
*Loc 1404 Troynovant, where all these ms. shall be settled 1F 19 disputes in heavenly ms. of theology
2F 18 sweetly can dispute in th' heavenly ms. of theology
2F 771 I have other ms. in hand
2F 792 have waded as deep into ms. as other men
E2 811 you have ms. of more weight to think upon
E2 1215 we will gratify the king in other ms.
MP 111 ms. of import aimèd at by many
*Con 927 but greater ms. are laid unto your charge
*Con 1197 for I have great ms. to impart to thee
*2H6 482 these are no women's ms.
*2H6 1905 I have great ms. to impart to thee
*2H6 2534 about ms. they were not able to answer

Matthew.

*Con 1545 and thither I will [Q3 will I] send you M. Goffe
*2H6 2475 and thither I will send you M. Goffe

Mattocks.

Ov 2293 when well-toss'd m. did the ground prepare

Maugre.

*Loc 418 which I will have, m. their treble hosts
*Con 698 m. the proudest lord [Q2 lords] of Henry's blood Mauritanian.

1T 1111 mounted on lusty M. steeds
D 1275 and will my guard, with M. darts to wait upon him

Mausolus'.

2T 777 in as rich a tomb as M. we both will rest

Mavortial.

*Loc 1274 once was I guarded with M. bands

Maw.

*E3 1098 eagle flies to satisfy his hungry griping m.

Maxim.

JMP 24 which m. had Phalaris observ'd, h'ad never bellow'd

Maximus.

2T 1798 what saith M.?

May.

PS 25 dance and sing for thy delight each M. morning [Not in P. P.]
*2H6 48 ere the thirtieth of M. next ensuing
*E3 265 whose beauty tyrant's fear, as a M. blossom

Mayor.

E2 1831 my lord, the M. of Bristow knows our mind
E2 1839 the M. and citizens of Bristow, in sign of love
*1H6 413 m. farewell: thou dost but what thou mayst
*1H6 388 peace m., thou know'st little of my wrongs
*2H6 2397 we will have the m.'s sword borne before us
*3H6 2355 but, Master M., if Henry be your king, yet Edward *3H6 2362 why, Master M., why stand you in a doubt?
*3H6 2370 so, Master M.: these gates must not be shut
*2H6 2468 the Lord-M. craves aid of your honour from the Tower
*TT 1629 why my Lord-M., if Henry be your king, Edward *TT 1635 what my Lord-M., what stand you upon points?
*TT 1639 so my Lord-M., these gates must not be shut
*TT 1673 We thank you all. Lord-M. lead on the way

Mazed.

*1H6 1820 deer, m. with a yelping kennel of French curs

Mead.

2T 32 and make this champion m. a bloody fen
E2 1901 but shrewdly I suspect a gloomy fellow in a m. below
*Sel 2562 shall gently creep over the flowery ms.
*Loc 850 and moist the grassy ms. with humid drops
JM 1815 where painted carpets o'er the ms. are hurl'd
JM 1819 the ms., the orchards, and the primrose-lanes

Meadow.

*E3 1078 like to a m. full of sundry flowers
*Sel 1517 wander in Stygian ms. unreveng'd?

Meagre.

*2H6 1765 of ashy semblance, m., pale, and bloodless
*E3 1475 to senseless images of m. death

Meal.

1F 805 a bare pension, and that is thirty ms. a-day and 2F 730 a small pension, and that buys me thirty ms. a-day and *Con 1738 give me but the ten ms. that I wanted this five days, and *2H6 2807 give me but the ten ms. I have lost
1F 1421 revolt, or I'll in piece-m. tear thy flesh
2F 1879 revolt, or I'll in piece-m. tear thy flesh
*HLC 1158 and spread her mantle piece-m. in the air
*E3 100 he chance to tear him piece*m.* for his pride

Mean.

1T 197 if, as thou seem'st, thou art so m. a man
1T 252 since they measure our deserts so m., that 1T 391 join with me now in this my m. estate
1T 392 I call it m., because, being yet obscure
JM 906 faith, sir, my birth is but m.; my name's Ithamore
E2 658 deserve no common place nor m. reward
MP 1014 let m. conceits and baser men fear death: tut, they are peasants
D 384 for though my birth be great, my fortune's m.
D 385 my fortune's m., too m. to be companion to a queen
*1H6 2006 m. and right poor, for that pure blood of mine
*2H6 1749 but all in vain are these m. obsequies
*2H6 2893 if one so rude, and of so m. condition may *TT 303 I am too m. a subject for thy wrath
*3H6 385 I am too m. a subject for thy wrath
*3H6 1525 I know, I am too m. to be your queen, and yet
*Sel 2273 soon would she work a m. to work revenge 2T 1715 devis'd a m., as fit as may be, to D 1681 found a m. to rid me from these thoughts of lunacy
*HLC 2309 no one m. there was to get his love home
*1H6 300 shall we disturb him, since he keeps no m.?
*1H6 1311 our sacks shall be a m. to sack the city
*2H6 2697 we'll devise a m. to reconcile you all unto the king
*Sel 1001 and that by indirect sinister ms.
1T 1355 and by this ms. I'll win the world at last 1T 1837 or be the ms. the overweighing heavens have kept 1T 1895 happy ms. to be investers of thy royal brows
1T 2080 since other ms. are all forbidden me
1T 189 hoping by some ms. I shall be releas'd 2T 822 by this my friendly keeper's happy ms.
2T 1571 devise some ms. to rid thee of thy life
2T 1617 I'll use some other ms. to make you yield
1F 294 unless he use such ms. whereby he is in danger
1F 472 O, they are ms. to bring thee unto heaven!
1F 988 by that ms. I shall see more than e'er I felt or saw yet 1F 1336 by ms. of a swift spirit that I have 2F 278 unless he use such ms. whereby he is in danger
2F 420 O, they are ms. to bring thee unto heaven!
2F 1631 he would by no ms. sell him under forty dollars 2F 1696 by ms. of a swift spirit that I have

JMP 32 which money was not got without my ms.
JM 406 disarm'd, and knows no ms. of his recovery
JM 1249 nor on his son but by Mathias' ms.
JM 1781 And is't not possible to find it out? — By no ms. possible
JM 1930 I must seek a ms. to rid 'em all, and presently JM 2100 for by my ms. Calymath shall enter in JM 2132 and by this ms. the city is your own
E2 270 and war must be the ms., or he'll stay still E2 451 and by thy ms. is Gaveston exil'd
E2 480 and be a ms. to call home Gaveston
E2 750 then hope I by her ms. to be preferr'd
E2 2192 I would he were, so 'twere not by my ms.!
E2 2202 seek all the ms. thou canst to make him droop
E2 2603 by thy ms. his kingly body was too soon interr'd
MP 16 might be a ms. to cross you in your love
MP 669 fain would I find some ms. to speak with him
D 624 and by that ms. repair his broken ships
D 892 well could I like this reconcilement's ms.
D 1475 nor I devise by what ms. to contrive
*HLC 1694 winning their hearts with all the ms. she might
*HLC 1785 nor, past due ms., presume of due success
Ov 675 by thy ms. women of their rest are barr'd
Ov 853 by what ms. learn'd hath this same poet my sad chance
Ov 1202 how oft, and by what ms., we did agree
Ov 1625 and craftily knows by what ms. to win me
Ov 1886 who, because ms. want, doeth not, she doth
Ov 1924 never can these by any ms. agree
Ov 1943 by no ms. get my foot upon the further bank
Ov 2114 when she saw it would by no ms. stand
Ov 2266 why are our pleasures by thy ms. forborne?
L 34 the Fates would find no other ms.
*1H6 242 by this ms. shall we sound what skill she hath *1H6 413 or by what ms. gott'st thou to be releas'd?
*1H6 2144 as the only ms. to stop effusion of our Christian blood *1H6 2566 hast thou by secret ms. us'd intercession to *Con 243 that by my ms. must work the duchesse' fall
*Con 607 who by such ms. did raise a spirit up
*Con 676 it fortuned then, by ms. of that monstrous rebel Glendower
*Con 919 by which ms. England hath been defam'd by tyranny
*Con 1040 to raise commotion, and by that ms. I shall perceive
*Con 1188 and had I not [Q2 not I] been cited thus by their ms.
*Con 1484 by which ms. England hath been maimed ever since
*Con 1699 that by that [Q3 these] traitor's ms. were thus misled
*2H6 871 by this ms. your lady is forthcoming
*2H6 1261 by wicked ms. to frame our sovereign's fall
*2H6 1272 by ms. whereof, the towns each day revolted
*2H6 1318 by ms. whereof, his highness hath lost France
*2H6 1727 is murder'd by Suffolk, and the Cardinal Beaufort's ms.
*2H6 1890 prophesy, mischance unto my state by Suffolk's ms.
*TT 1435 appeas'd, by such ms. as I can best devise
*TT 1955 what doth she swound? make ms. for her recovery
*3H6 1575 and so I chide the ms. that keeps me from it
*3H6 1672 while we bethink a ms. to break it off
*3H6 2206 I have advertis'd him by secret ms., that *3H6 2348 by fair or foul ms. we must enter in *3H6 2361 he'll soon find ms. to make the body fellow
*3H6 2388 by what safe ms. the crown may be recover'd
*3H6 2807 what? doth she swown? use ms. for her recovery
*E3 753 hath he no ms. to stain my honest blood but to *Sel 273 but m. to take my fortune as I find
*Sel 305 I m. to stand on a sententious guard
*Sel 410 I m. to see him dead, or myself king
*Sel 634 and m. t' invest Acomat with your crown
*Sel 831 and thus resolv'd, I m. to try my chance
*Sel 1035 how firm they m. to cleave to your behest
*Sel 1094 I m. to challenge now my right by arms
*Sel 1375 he should have done as I do m. to do
*Sel 1464 either I m. to die the death myself, or *Sel 1976 if we did m. so, sir, we would not
*Sel 2034 and then we m. to rouse false Acomat
*Sel 2207 bid them as they m. to save their lives, to fly
*Loc 582 take it at my command, unless you m. to be stretch'd
*Loc 630 what, sirs, what m. you by these clamours
*Loc 670 if you m. to gratify such poor men as we be
*Loc 993 let come what will, I m. to bear it out
*Loc 1024 and resolute, Segar, I m. to be
*Loc 1625 I m. not so to macerate my mind
*Loc 1763 and m. incontinent to bid defiance to your majesty
*Loc 2012 m. to abridge my former destinies 1T 26 I m. it not, but yet I know I might 1T 33 and, as I hear, doth m. to pull my plumes
1T 695 no; I m. I let you keep it
1T 696 well, I m. you shall have it again
1T 881 doth m. to soar above the highest sort
1T 953 we m. to take his morning's next arise
1T 955 and m. to fetch thee in despite of him 1T 1097 I m. to meet him in Bithynia
1T 1099 and menace [4to meane] more than they can well perform
1T 1120 we m. to set [4to seate] our footmen on their steeds
1T 1160 I m. t' encounter with that Bajazeth
1T 1724 excluding regions which I m. to trace
1T 1788 we m. to travel to th' antarctic pole
2T 343 and, sirrah, if you m. to wear a crown
2T 921 that m. to teach you rudiments of war 2T 1223 that, fighting, know not what retreat doth m.
2T 1735 I m. such queens as were kings' concubines
2T 2200 powers that m. t' invest me in a higher throne
1F 970 I m. his friends and near'st companions
1F 985 I m. to search some circles for my own use 1F 1041 I m. so, sir, with your favour 1F 1056 What m. you, sirrah? — I'll tell you what I m.
2F 1514 it is your own you m.; feel on your head 2F 1750 my wooden leg? what dost thou m. by that?
JM 270 how! half his estate! — I hope you m. not mine
JM 458 of thy house they m. to make a nunnery
JM 498 as first m. truth and then dissemble it
JM 782 I have one left that will serve your turn. — I m. my daughter
JM 1048 this gentle maggot, Lodowick, I m., must be deluded
JM 1134 rare-witted gentlemen, scholars I m., learnèd and liberal
JM 1642 what, do you m. to strangle me?
JM 2063 confess! what m. you, lords? who should confess?

E2 449 I m. not so ; your grace must pardon me
E2 520 I m. that vile torpedo, Gaveston
E2 724 which of the nobles dost thou m. to serve ?
E2 733 what, m. you, then, to be his follower ?
E2 979 I m. the peers, whom thou shouldst dearly love
E2 1658 how m. you, and the king my father lives ?
E2 1823 tell me, good uncle, what Edward do you m. ?
E2 2064 my diadem, I m., and guiltless life
E2 2239 she that gave him life ? I m. the queen
MP 281 and therefore m. to murder all I meet
MP 366 and m. once more to menace me
MP 370 are hard at the door, and m. to murder us
MP 465 I m. our wars against the Muscovites
MP 709 I m. the Guise, the Pope, and king of Spain
MP 735 and m. to meet your highness in the field
MP 826 I m. to keep you out ; which I will, if this gear hold MP 861 I m. to muster all the power I can MP 903 and then I'll tell thee what I m. to do
MP 910 unless he m. to be betray'd and die
D 832 what should this m. ? my doves are back return'd
D 1397 O, what m. I to have such foolish thoughts ?
D 1471 how now, Aeneas ! sad ? what m. these dumps ?
D 1631 I know not what you m. by treason, I
HLM 450 I m. the adamantine Destinies
*HLC 2183 and naught doth m. of all his antic shows
Ov 7 with Muse prepar'd, I meant [ed. A, upreard, I meane] to sing of arms Ov 971 I m. not to defend the scapes of any Ov 1502 that m. to travel some long irksome way
L 649 with what plague m. ye to rage ?
Dia 77 that a fool come not near you when you m. to speed
*Epg 13 and knows not what an epigram doth [Eds. does] m.
*1H6 301 he may m. more than we poor men do know
*1H6 377 priest, beware your beard, I m. to tug it
*1H6 742 I m. to prove this lady's courtesy
*1H6 744 I do my lord, and m. accordingly
*1H6 1213 except you m. with obstinate repulse to slay
*1H6 2175 by my Lord of Winchester we m. shall be *1H6 2615 command I m., of virtuous chaste intents
*Con 141 main chance father you meant [Q2 meane], but I m. Maine
*Con 583 if you m. to save yourself from whipping leap
*Con 1445 coming with the king's power, and m. to kill us all
*Con 1457 what m. you thus in troops, to follow this
*Con 1508 I m. to sit in the king's seat at Westminster
*Con 1751 York, if thou m. well, I greet thee so
*2H6 318 unto Saint Albans, whereas the king and queen do m. to hawk
*2H6 837 if you m. to save yourself from whipping, leap
*2H6 2274 let's kill all the lawyers. — Nay, that I m. to do
*2H6 2398 if we m. to thrive, and do good, break
*TT 38 for now I m. to take possession of my right
*TT 1126 lords, give us leave, we m. to try this widow's wit
*TT 1156 no by my troth, I meant [Q2 meane] no such love
*TT 1185 you cavil widow, I did m. my queen
*TT 1456 and to that intent, I shortly m. to leave you
*TT 1507 for in the field this night I m. to rest
*TT 1862 I m. those powers which the queen hath got in France
*TT 1863 are landed and m. once more to menace us
*3H6 44 I m. to take possession of my right
*3H6 349 the army of the queen m. to besiege us
*3H6 1251 I m. our princely father, Duke of York
*3H6 1323 in this self-place, where now we m. to stand
*3H6 1469 ay, but thou canst do what I m. to ask
*3H6 1483 but stay thee, 'tis the fruits of love I m.
*3H6 1484 the fruits of love, I m., my loving liege
*3H6 1489 no, by my troth, I did not m. such love
*3H6 1490 why then you m. not, as I thought you did
*3H6 1527 you cavill, widow, I did m. my queen
*3H6 2282 I m. in bearing weight of government
*3H6 2663 I m., my lords, those powers that the queen hath rais'd
*E3 73 I m. to visit him, as he requests
*E3 834 I m. the emperor : leave me alone
*E3 990 I never m. to part my lips again in any words that
*E3 1502 O Lorraine, say, what m. our men to fly ?
*E3 1673 this [A, B, thus] once I m. to try a Frenchman's faith
*Sel 259 he ms. to his dear Acomat to give
*Sel 1107 Acomat ms. to move him ten times more
*Sel 2247 and ms. he to disjoin the hapless sons from
*Loc 1528 and thither still ms. Locrine to repair
1T 133 but, Menaphon, what ms. this trumpet's sound ?
1T 227 and ms. to be a terror to the world
1T 809 what ms. this devilish shepherd, to aspire with 1T 1182 what ms. the [4to this] mighty Turkish emperor, to 1T 1642 that ms. to fill your helmets full of gold
2T 18 and ms. to fire Turkey as he goes
2T 328 and he that ms. to place himself therein
2T 1188 who ms. to girt Natolia's walls with siege
1F 538 speak, Mephistophilis, what ms. this show ?
1F 1352 I think my master ms. to die shortly
1F 1478 Look, comes he not ? comes he not ? — What ms. Faustus ?
2F 486 what ms. this show ? speak, Mephistophilis
2F 1807 I think my master ms. to die shortly
2F 1811 I wonder what he ms. if death were nigh, he JM 711 and he ms. quickly to expel you hence
JM 2382 how now ! what ms. this ?
E2 810 nothing but Gaveston ! what ms. your grace ?
E2 906 he ms. to make us stoop by force of arms
E2 2531 what ms. your highness to mistrust me thus ?
MP 651 but 'tis the house of Bourbon that he ms.
MP 892 then ms. he present treason to our state
D 319 pursue the hateful Greeks. — What ms. Aeneas ?
D 1027 what ms. fair Dido by this doubtful speech ?
D 1066 whenas she ms. to mask the world with clouds
D 1231 get you aboard ; Aeneas ms. to stay
D 1494 if it be so, his father ms. to fly
D 1602 what ms. my sister, thus to rave and cry ?
HLM 798 but deaf and cruel where he ms. to prey
Ov 1305 country gods and known [Old eds. know] beds to forsake Corinna ms.
*1H6 772 what ms. he now ? go ask him
*1H6 832 great lords and gentlemen, what ms. this silence ?
*1H6 1374 for Talbot ms. no goodness by his looks
*1H6 2095 we English warriors wot not what it ms.
*1H6 2211 and ms. to give you battle presently
*Con 1381 he ms. to turn this land, and set a new nap on it [Q3 on 't]
*Con 1650 what ms. this [Q3 these] mutinous rebellions [Q2 rebellion]
*2H6 102 nephew, what ms. this passionate discourse ?
*2H6 736 what ms. this noise ? fellow, what miracle dost thou proclaim ?

*2H6 1288 who cannot steal a shape, that ms. deceit?
*2H6 2204 ms. to dress the commonwealth, and turnit
*TT 46 belike he ms. back'd by the power of Warwick
*TT 68 and threats, shall be the wars that Henry ms. to use
*TT 276 the army of the queen ms. to besiege us
*TT 1131 I think he ms. to beg a child on her
*TT 1485 then belike she ms. to play the Amazon
*TT 1786 father of Warwick, know you what this ms.?
*3H6 51 belike he ms., back'd by the power of Warwick, that *3H6 75 words, and threats, shall be the war that Henry ms. to use
*3H6 1442 I think he ms. to beg a child of her
*3H6 2572 father of Warwick, know you what this ms.?
*E3 1317 he ms. to bid us battle presently

Mean-born.

*2H6 1551 let pale-fac'd fear keep with the m. man

Meander.

1T 24 M., might I not? — Not for so small a fault
1T 28 M., thou, my faithful counsellor, declare the cause
1T 94 these are his words; M., set them down 1T 106 M., come: I am abus'd, M.
1T 518 come, my M., let us to this gear
1T 530 tell you the rest, M., I have said 1T 568 was there such brethren, sweet M., say, that 1T 572 well, well, M., thou art deeply read 1T 592 drums, why sound ye not when M. speaks?
1T 712 M., you, that were our brother's guide
1T 720 thanks, good M.
1T 729 with little slaughter take M.'s course

Meaner.

*Sel 247 and m. men and of a baser spirit
*1H6 1089 chok'd with ambition of the m. sort
*3H6 1983 and m. than myself have had like fortune

Meanest.

*Loc 1526 without suspicion of the m. eye
1T 275 shall buy the m. soldier in my train
E2 574 and fear to offend the m. nobleman
*2H6 878 I yield to thee, or to the m. groom
*2H6 2666 and make the m. of you earls and dukes?
*Loc 1653 unless thou m. to leave thy wretched life 1F 1063 what m. thou, Robin? thou hast no goblet
JM 497 as good dissemble that thou never m., as E2 1243 how m. thou, Mortimer? that is over-base
E2 2532 what m. thou to dissemble with me thus?
E2 2550 if thou m. to murder me, thou wilt return again
MP 625 how m. thou that?
L 192 what m. thou, Caesar? whither goes my standard?
*2H6 545 what m. thou, Suffolk? tell me, what are these?
*2H6 2843 York if thou m. well, I greet thee well
*E3 227 M. thou to fight? Douglas, we are too weak

Meaneth.

*Loc 465 m. ere the morn to try your force

Meaning.

Ov 69 good m. shame, and such as seek love's wrack
*Sel 465 his m. with his words but weakly stands
*Sel 554 his m. is to rid me of my life
1T 18 brother, I see your m. well enough 1T 1090 how right the man hath hit the m.
JM 1902 or climb up to my counting-house window: you know my m.
JM 2034 let me alone to urge it, now I know the m.
JM 2035 the m. has a m.
E2 2469 Edwardum occidere nolite timere, that's his m.
MP 879 my true humility, and simple m. to your majesty
*1H6 1325 which once discern'd, shows that her m. is *3H6 2222 well guess'd believe me, for that was my m.
*3H6 2397 till then 'tis wisdom to conceal our m.
JM 1633 yet, if he knew our ms., could he scape?
1T 17 m. to mangle all thy provinces
1T 2246 m. to make me general of the world
2T 49 m. to make a conquest of our land
2T 389 m. to aid thee [Old eds. them] in these [8vo this] Turkish arms 2T 752 m. to make her stately queen of heaven
JM 1664 stands here o' purpose, m. me some wrong
HLM 710 as m. to be veng'd for darting it
*2H6 1279 innocent, from m. treason to our royal person

Meanly.

D 763 Achates, thou shalt be so m. [Dyce, seemly] clad, as Meanness.

*HLC 1479 M. must pander be to Excellence [V. R. Excellencie]

Meanspace.

*E3 1103 m., my lords, 'tis best we be dispers'd

Meant.

*Sel 484 unless he m. my State to undermine 1T 349 or m. to pierce Avernus' darksome vaults [8vo vauts]
1T 372 as if he m. to give my soldiers pay!
1T 1105 as if they m. to conquer Africa?
2T 1263 and never m. to make a conqueror 2T 1751 lost long before ye knew what honour m.
2T 1752 it seems they m. to conquer us, my lord 2T 2213 I m. to cut a channel to them both
JM 1743 as if he had m. to make clean my boots with his lips
MP 1058 tush, to be short, he m. to make me monk
D 1235 thou and Achates m. to sail away
D 1349 and told me that Aeneas m. to go!
HLM 511 he, being a novice, knew not what she m.
*HLC 1009 he m. to Sestos' forked [V. R. forged] bay to bring her
*HLC 1293 as they should in the flames she m. t' inspire
Ov 7 with Muse prepar'd, I m. [ed. A, upreard, I meane] to sing of arms Ov 2045 yet could I not cast anchor where I m.
*Con 141 main chance father you m. [Q2 meane], but I mean Maine
*Con 956 far truer spoke than m., I lose indeed
*2H6 213 main-chance father you m., but I m. Maine
*2H6 1077 I never m. him any ill, nor the king
*2H6 1396 far truer spoke than m.: I lose indeed
*2H6 1482 for things are often spoke, and seldom m.
*TT 1156 no by my troth, I m. [Q2 meane] no such love
*TT 2113 and so he cried all hail, and m. all harm
*3H6 2980 and cried all hail, whenas he m. all harm
*3H6 1701 springs not from Edward's well-m. honest love

Meantest.

*Con 1160 and say it was thy mother that thou m. [Q1 meants]
*2H6 1825 and say, it was thy mother that thou m.

Meantime.

*Sel 1061 m., we that your Grace's subjects are may 1F 841 in m. take this book; peruse it throughly 2F 1250 ay, an I fell not asleep i' the m.
E2 202 but in the m. Gaveston, away
E2 284 in the m., I'll entreat you all to cross to Lambeth
E2 925 m. my Lord of Pembroke and myself will to Newcastle MP 427 and in the m., my lord, could we devise to

D 908 m. Ascanius shall be my charge
D 948 m. these wanton weapons serve my war
Ov 1785 yet in the m. wilt small winds bestow
*LD 11 in the m. sleep little, and sweat with the invention of *1H6 296 m. look gracious on thy prostrate thrall
*1H6 893 m. your cheeks do counterfeit our roses
*1H6 953 m., in signal of my love to thee, against Meanwhile.
2T 1526 m., take him in 2F 758 m. peruse this book and view it throughly
E2 1862 m. have hence this rebel to the block
E2 1870 we in m., madam, must take advice
Measure.
*Epg 52 his feet in m. and in rule to move 2T 1872 courted by kings and peers of Asia, hath trod the ms.
D 1050 to move unto the ms. of delight?
*E3 1261 do tread the ms. of their tragic march 2T 688 hath suck'd the m. of that vital air
Ov 165 and with mistrust of the like m. vex'd
Ov 561 pleasure which man and woman reap in equal m.?
*TT 571 and now to add more m. to your woes, I come to tell
*TT 1015 m. for m. must be answered
*3H6 709 and now to add more m. to your woes
*3H6 1022 or fortune given me m. of revenge
*3H6 1255 m. for m., must be answered
*3H6 1755 tell me for truth, the m. of his love unto 1T 252 but, since they m. our deserts so mean
1T 871 and m. every wandering planet's course
2T 1076 and with the Jacob's staff m. the height
JM 422 common men, that m. naught but by the present time
D 1347 to m. how I prize Aenas' love
*LD 20 m. my thoughts to thee by a scale of this nature 2F 829 that ms. coasts and kingdoms of the earth
*Epg 214 by these events, notorious to the people, he ms. time Measured.
1T 951 before the sun have m. the [8vo and Dyce omit] heaven
Measureth.
2T 1154 line which m. the glorious frame of heaven
Measuring.
1T 228 m. the limits of his empery by east and west Meat.
*Sel 851 in wine, in m. we fear pernicious poison
*Sel 1906 here now I'll sit down and eat my m.
*Sel 1971 give some m. to poor hunger-starvèd men
*Loc 530 « This is our m., this is our food »
*Loc 1413 where not a root is left for Humber's m.?
*Loc 1424 my bowels cry, Humber, give us some m.
*Loc 1425 but wretched Humber can give you no m.
*Loc 1426 these foul accursed groves afford no m.
*Loc 1427 this fruitless soil, this ground, brings forth no m.
*Loc 1425 the gods, hard-hearted gods, yield me no m.
*Loc 1429 then how can Humber give you any m.?
*Loc 1453 you shall see what m. I have here for my breakfast
*Loc 1478 some m., some m., some m.
*Loc 1481 give me some m., villain, give me some m.
*Loc 1484 give me some m., villain; give me some m.
1T 1280 to dress the common soldiers' m. and drink
1T 1653 fall to, and never may your m. digest!
1T 1699 go to; fall to your m.
1T 1751 wilt thou have a clean trencher? — Ay, tyrant, and more m.
1T 2110 fling the m. in his face
1F 190 after m., we'll canvass every quiddity thereof
1F 399 as bold with my flesh as if they had paid for my [Dyce, their] m. and drink 1F 929 who's that which snatched the m. from me?
1F 956 Cursed be he that stole away his Holiness' m.
1F 1320 I would desire no better m. than a dish of ripe grapes
2F 182 dine with me, and, after m., we'll canvass every quiddity
2F 373 as familiar with me as if they paid for their m. and drink 2F 1100 how now! who snatch'd the m. from me?
2F 1135 Cursed be he that stole his Holiness' m.
2F 1678 I would request no better m. than a dish of ripe grapes
E2 2458 I open'd but the door to throw him m.
D 163 father, I faint; good father, give me m.
D 165 till we have fire to dress the m. we kill'd!
D 173 boughs enow, near to these woods, to roast your m. withal
HLM 69 even as delicious m. is to the tast [V. R. taste], so was his neck in touching
*HLC 993 like m. unseason'd; like rank corn that grows on cottages
*HLC 1192 and spits it slavering forth for dog-fees m.
Ov 1641 even as sweet m. a glutted stomach cloys
Ov 2272 this was their m.; the soft grass was their bed
PS 21 Thy silver dishes for thy m., [Only in C. A. 1655]
*Con 1643 have him to prison ere the m. be out of his [Q3 on's] mouth
*Con 1724 look on me well, I have eat no m. these five days
*2H6 2784 I have eat no m. these five days
*E3 2055 'tis but for m. that we must kill for them
Ov 1112 talk, thy mouth to taste of many ms. did balk Mecca.
2T 1312 Ariadan, bordering on Mare Roso, near to M.
2T 141 and hung on stately M.'s temple-roof Mechanical.
*2H6 559 base dunghill villain, and m., I'll have thy head Meddle.
MP 38 to m. or attempt such dangerous things
MP 180 how you did m. with such dangerous gifts
D 933 and m. not with any that I love
Meddling.
*Loc 1081 this it is to be m. with warm plackets *2H6 2041 Oh beat away the busy-m. fiend, that Medea.
*Loc 1577 M. seeing Jason leave her love, and *2H6 3107 into as many gobbets will I cut it as wild M. young Absyrtus did Media.
1T 163 great lord of M. and Armenia
1T 201 to Memphis, from my uncle's country of M.
1T 550 shall have a government in M.
1T 785 thou for Parthia; they for Scythia and M.
Median.
1T 111 captains of the M. garrisons to crown me
1T 200 travelling with these M. lords to Memphis
1T 284 thy garments shall be made of M. silk Mediate.
JM 2437 in person there to m. [Old ed. meditate] your peace

Medice.
*2H6 729 M. teipsum, protector see to 't well Medicinable.
*E3 660 say, that my grief is no way m.
Medicinae.
1F 44 Summum bonum m. sanitas
2F 42 Summum bonum m. sanitas
Medicine.
2T 2185 a present m. to recure my pain!
*Epg 392 yet that vile [Spelt vild in MS.; Eds. omit] m. it doth far excel Medicus.
1F 41 Ubi desinit philosophus, ibi incipit m.
Meditate.
2T 1592 m. on death, a fitter subject for a pensive soul
JM 2304 and m. how we may grace us best, to JM 2437 in person there to m. [Dyce mediate] your peace
MP 1100 Away! leave me alone to m.
*E3 386 for we will walk and m. alone
*E3 1949 entreats thee that thou m. therein
*Epg 548 or how to steal a dog he ms.
Meditated.
*Sel 207 which, though he act with m. bravery, the *1H6 1096 com'st thou with deep prem. lines
*1H6 267 and I will answer unprem.
Meditating.
*1H6 891 m. that shall dye your white rose in a bloody red Meditation.
*Sel 1741 with these I take his m. short
*2H6 2053 draw the curtain close, and let us all to m.
*HLD 7 by these ms. (as by an intellectual will) I suppose myself
*Epg 529 Ms. of a Gull. XLVII [Not in MS.]
Mediterranean.
JM 47 by Candy-shore to Malta, through our M. sea
JM 199 those other isles that lie betwixt the M. seas
JM 2267 this conquer'd island stands, environ'd with the M. sea Medon.
*Epg 103 great Captain M. wears a chain of gold
*Epg 107 and wear it, M., for it may ensue, that Medontem.
*Epg 102 In M. X.
Meed.
*TT 519 already each one shining by his m.
*3H6 2463 that's not my fear, my m. hath got me fame
1T 632 then shall your ms. [4to deeds] and valours be advanc'd 1T 1783 if we deserve them not with higher ms.
*3H6 639 each one already blazing by our ms.
Meek.
*TT 824 hadst thou been m., our title yet had slept?
*3H6 973 hadst thou been m., our title still had slept Meet.
1T 34 therefore 'tis good and m. for to be wise
1T 827 let us put on our m. encountering minds
2T 368 under sail, m. for your service on the sea 2T 931 for which [Old eds. with] the quinque-angle form is m.
2T 1471 a form not m. to give that subject essence
E2 2252 'tis not m. that one so false should come about the person of a prince
Ov 15 in woody groves is 't m. that Ceres reign
Ov 34 farewell, stern war, for blunter poets m.!
Ov 281 the careful prison is more m. for thee
Ov 2310 these gifts are m. to please the powers divine
Ov 2464 the bed is for lascivious toyings m.
*2H6 1451 'tis m. he be condemn'd by course of law
*2H6 1505 'tis m. that lucky ruler be employ'd
*3H6 2686 is 't m., that he should leave the helm
Ov 965 un*m.* is beauty without use to wither
Ov 2003 her trembling mouth these un*m.* sounds expresses
*Epg 310 dares say and do [MS. doe and say] whatever is un*m.*
*2H6 529 that York is most un*m.* of any man
*2H6 530 I'll tell thee, Suffolk, why I am un*m.*
*Sel 1858 till we shall m. in the Elysian fields
*Sel 2426 now let us march to m. with Acomat
*Sel 2540 those Ibises m. them less in set array
*Loc 483 I'll m. young Albanact in the open field
*Loc 1879 when we m. in the Elysian fields
1T 322 let us m. them at the mountain-top [8vo mountain foot]
1T 512 and all-conjoin'd to m. the witless king 1T 638 m. with the fool, and rid your shoulders of 1T 1097 I mean to m. him in Bithynia
1T 1100 he m. me in the field, and fetch [4to fetcht] thee hence!
1T 1138 hope of martial triumph ere he m. his foes
1T 1241 what 'tis to m. me in the open field
1T 1352 where they shall m. and join their force in one 2T 10 should m. our person to conclude a truce
2T 12 or cross the stream, and m. him in the field?
2T 40 sailors of proud Italy shall m. those Christians 2T 344 when we [4to yon (you)] shall m. the Turkish deputy 2T 352 promis'd to m. me on Larissa-plains
2T 639 and now, Gazellus, let us haste and m. our army
2T 707 and hope to m. your highness in the heavens
2T 848 I march to m. and aid my neighbour kings
2T 905 when I m. an army in the field
2T 1006 before we m. the army of the Turk
2T 1119 sweet mother, strike, that I may m. my father
2T 1174 soldiers, now let us m. the general
2T 1277 nay, when the battle ends, all we will m.
2T 1354 no; we will m. thee, slavish Tamburlaine
2T 1602 and m. my husband and my loving son!
2T 1745 and m. not me with troops of harlots
2T 1796 shall mount the milk-white way, and m. him there 2T 2211 whereas the Terrene and the Red Sea m.
2T 2328 m. heaven and earth, and here let all things end
1F 344 and m. me in my study at midnight
1F 1163 I'll m. with you anon for interrupting me so
2F 328 and m. me in my study at midnight
JM 1086 revenge it on him when you m. him next
JM 1160 is such sort, as m. they will, and fighting die
JM 1706 Pilia-Borza, didst thou m. with Ithamore?
JM 1724 and where didst m. him?
JM 2401 I fram'd the challenge that did make them m.
E2 277 we and the rest, that are his counsellors, will m.
E2 342 m. you for this, proud over-daring peers?
E2 789 he wills me to repair unto the court, and m. my Gaveston
E2 794 and m. me at the park-pale presently
E2 1109 farewell, sweet uncle, till we m. again
E2 1747 when we may m. these traitors in the field!
E2 1952 in heaven we may, in earth ne'er shall we m.
MP 281 and therefore mean to murder all I m.
MP 510 and daily m. about this time of day
MP 671 that he may come and m. me in some place
MP 720 to send his power to m. us in the field
MP 735 and mean to m. your highness in the field

MP 790 if that be all, the next time that I m. her, I'll MP 793 on purpose from the court to m. with him
D 903 then in one cave the queen and he shall m.
HLM 101 to m. their loves : such as had none
HLM 528 when like desires and like [Omitted in several 4tos] affections m.
*HLC 1140 her left hand made it at her bosom m.
*HLC 1744 white and crimson, m. in beauty's mixture
*HLC 2144 that Hero and her love may m.
*HLC 2307 at Sestos' bay, that should Leander m.
Ov 256 who fears these arms ? who will not go to m. them ?
Ov 576 the son slew her that forth to m. him went Ov 947 to m. for poison or vile [Old eds. vild] facts we crave not Ov 2252 their youthful brows with ivy girt, to m. him
L 75 confusèd stars shall m., celestial fire fleet on the floods
*AT 86 blaspheming Tambolin must die, and Faustus m. his end
*1H6 408 but we shall m., and break our minds at large
*1H6 409 Gloster, we'll m. to thy cost, be sure
*1H6 945 and so farewell, until I m. thee next
*1H6 1576 when thou shalt see, I'll m. thee to thy cost
*1H6 1363 dare ye come forth, and m. us in the field ?
*1H6 1578 and after m. you, sooner than you would *1H6 1592 I vow'd (base knight) when I did m. thee next, to *1H6 1867 and now they m. where both their lives are done
*Con 510 m. me at the east end of the grove
*Con 869 but now let one m. him even in the morn, when *Con 1527 gather an army up, and m. with the rebels
*Con 1761 but York dissemble, till thou m. thy sons
*Con 1776 sirs, m. me to-morrow in Saint George's fields
*Con 1779 but see, his grace is coming to m. with us
*2H6 1222 but m. him now, and be it in the morn, when *2H6 2675 crying Villiago unto all they m.
*2H6 2734 I pray thee Buckingham go and m. him
*2H6 2875 m. me to-morrow in Saint George's field
*2H6 3100 m. I an infant of the House of York, into *TT 263 and with his men-of-war to m. me at Saint Albans
*TT 277 she shall not need my lord, we'll m. her in the field
*TT 497 my soul flies forth to m. with thee
*TT 884 and take our leaves until we m. again
*TT 1508 I'll march to m. proud Warwick ere he land
*TT 1677 we'll march to London, to m. with Warwick
*TT 1724 farewell sweet lords, let's m. at Coventry
*TT 1730 bend our course to m. with Warwick and his confederates
*TT 1765 and ten to one you'll m. him in the Tower
*TT 1847 for Warwick bids you all farewell to m. in heaven
*3H6 350 she shall not need, we'll m. her in the field
*3H6 1032 now lords, take leave until we m. again
*3H6 2423 yet as we may, we'll m. both thee and Warwick
*3H6 2457 farewell, sweet lords, let's m. at Coventry
*3H6 2535 and ten to one you'll m. him in the Tower
*3H6 2586 with resolution, wheresoe'er I m. thee
*3H6 2587 (as I will m. thee if thou stir abroad)
*3H6 2655 Warwick bids you all farewell, to m. in heaven
*3H6 2770 to m. with joy in sweet Jerusalem
*E3 861 shall m. my foe in a deep march of penetrable groans
*E3 1156 hasting to m. each other in the face
*E3 1288 whom since our landing we could never m.
*E3 1379 so end the battle when we m. to-day
*E3 1441 we presently will m. thee, John of France
*E3 1644 I would to Calice gladly m. his grace
*E3 2414 when I should m. with my beloved son ?
L 650 the death of many men ms. in one period
*1H6 1800 and pale destruction ms. thee in the face

Meeter.

Ov 333 m. it were her lips were blue with kissing

Meetest.

*Con 397 whom thinks your grace is m. for to send *2H6 525 I say, my sovereign, York is m. man to be Meeting.

L 536 Phoebe having fill'd her m. horns to match her brother's light
JM 172 but there's a m. in the senate-house
E2 281 but say, my lord, where shall this m. be ?
*HLC 493 their first night's m., where sweet kisses are HLM 522 the greeting these greedy lovers had at their first m. ?
*TT 787 the wound that bred this m. here cannot be cur'd with words
*3H6 934 the wound that bred this m. here cannot be cur'd by words
D 486 where, m. with the rest, « Kill, kill ! » they cried
*E3 1162 and, likewise m., from their smoky wombs sent

Meg.

*2H6 1625 I thank thee Nell [? M.], these words content me much

Megaera.

L 574 or like M. that scar'd Alcides, when D 526 and with M.'s eyes, star'd in their face

Melancholy.

*Sel 2242 and banish hence these m. thoughts 2F 1958 is all our pleasure turn'd to m. ?
E2 273 I will endure a m. life, and let him frolic
D 599 pleasing sport, to rid me from these m. thoughts
HLM 105 stars, who, were they went, frighted the m. earth
*HLC 972 but looking off, vicious and m.
*Epg 185 as dull and m. as a dog
*Epg 530 see yonder m. gentleman, which *2H6 2057 the jades that drag the tragic m. night
*2H6 2863 my mind was troubled with great m.
*E3 534 to drive from thee thy gloomy consort, sullen m. ?

Meleager.

1T 1568 methinks we march as M. did
D 798 this, M.'s son, a warlike prince

Melford.

*Con 283 for enclosing the commons of Long M.
*2H6 387 for enclosing the commons of M.

Mellowed.

1T 495 and fall, like m. fruit, with shakes of death
*TT 1299 even in the downfall of his m. years, when *3H6 1739 even in the downfall of his m. years

Melodious.

1F 676 with ravishing sound of his m. harp
2F 597 with ravishing sound of his m. harp
D 873 more than m. are these words to me
PS 8 rivers, to whose falls m. birds sing [E. H. sings] madrigals

Melody.

*Loc 438 the birds resounding heavenly m.
*Loc 1224 with sound of drum, and trumpets' m.

Melt.

1T 1814 moans, will m. his fury into some remorse
2T 1555 incense the heavens, and make the stars to m.
E2 1975 earth, m. to air ! gone is my sovereign
E2 2507 yet will it m. ere I have done my tale

D 711 lest with these thoughts I m. clean áway
D 1654 that they may m., and I fall in his arms
HLM 85 his presence made the rudest peasant m.
*HLC 1176 she felt his heart in hers, with her contentions m.
*HLC 1297 icicles, that sun nor fire could ever m.
*2H6 1339 for I should m. at an offender's tears
*TT 886 now I that never wept, now m. in woe
*3H6 1037 I that did never weep, now m. with woe
*3H6 1474 as red as fire? nay then, her wax must m.
D 1696 to cure my mind, that ms. for unkind love?
*2H6 1437 free lords: cold snow ms. with the sun's hot beams
*TT 972 and now I die, that tough commixture ms.
*3H6 1206 thy tough commixture ms., impairing Henry

Melted.

*HLC 1152 how fast her clear tears m. on her knee
*HLC 1621 m. like pitch, as blue as any vein
Ov 2024 thy springs are naught but rain and m. snow

Melting.

1F 22 his waxen wings did mount above his reach, and, m.
2F 21 his waxen wings did mount above his reach, and, m.
D 585 I die with m. ruth; Aeneas, leave
*TT 493 and that will quickly dry thy m. tears
*TT 711 steel thy m. thoughts, to keep thine own
*3H6 596 and that will quickly dry thy m. tears
*3H6 853 steel thy m. heart, to hold thine own
*TT 638 have wrought the easy-m. king like wax
*3H6 774 have wrought the easy-m. king, like wax

Member.

*1H6 2234 I'll lop a m. off, and give it you
MP 298 the head being off, the ms. cannot stand
Ov 223 and to get out doth like apt ms. render Ov 1480 wear me, when warmest showers thy [ed. C, my] ms. wash
*1H6 1292 as festered ms. rot but by degrees

Memnon.

Ov 656 and birds for [Old eds. from] M. yearly shall be slain
Ov 683 M. the elf receiv'd his coal-black colour from thyself

Memorable.

2T 145 a scroll, as m. witness of our league

Memorial.

*Loc 960 which, in m. of our victory, shall be agnominated by our name

Memory.

*LD 2 a Dedication in the m. of that pure elemental wit, Chr. Marlowe
*Sel 751 eternal glory, that may be talk'd of in all m.?
*Loc 119 sought to deface our glorious m.
*Loc 325 O wit! O pate! O m.!
2T 497 but calls not, then, your grace to m. the league
2T 718 whose true nobility have merited my latest m.
2T 813 in grievous m. of his father's shame
2T 882 this pillar, plac'd in m. of her
2T 1200 in m. of this our victory
*JMS 24 in Hero and Leander one did gain a lasting m.
JM 468 and leave no m. that e'er I was?
D 411 whose m., like pale Death's stony mace, beats forth my senses
*HLD 4 living an after-life in our m.
*HLC 965 Society, M.; all which her sight made live
*HLC 1036 inscribing it to deathless m.
*LD 2 a Dedication in the m. of that pure elemental wit, Chr. Marlowe
*Epg 199 Geron his [ed. A, Geron; B, C, Gerons] mouldy m. corrects old Holinshed
*Epg 217 that is to him the dearest m.
*1H6 592 in m. of her, when she is dead, her ashes
*1H6 933 I'll note you in my book of m.
*1H6 1880 that ever-living man of m., Henry the Fifth *2H6 98 blotting your names from books of m.
*E3 473 and, sand by sand, print them in m.
*E3 1890 the number would confound my m.

Memphian.

1T 1545 Pyramides that with their beauties grace [Old eds. grac'd] the Memphian fields

Memphis.

1T 201 to M., from my uncle's country of Media
1T 1369 awake, ye men of M.! hear the clang of Scythian trumpets
Ov 1391 M. and Pharos that sweet date-trees yields
L 639 whose like Aegyptian M. never had for skill in stars
*1H6 591 I'll rear, than Rhodope's [Fol. Rhodophe's] or M.' ever was Men.

*Sel 219 deep in the hearts of honourable m.?
*Sel 241 when m. for fear thy tyranny endure
*Sel 247 and meaner m. and of a baser spirit, in *Sel 251 leave to old m. and babes that kind of folly
*Sel 335 pains for those m. which did neglect the law
*Sel 341 and make m. quietly a yoke to bear
*Sel 358 amongst us m., there is some difference of actions
*Sel 777 t' excel your m. in handling spear and shield
*Sel 1010 Who hath the spirits of all m. in His hands
*Sel 1318 creep back to the world, to punish wicked m.
*Sel 1463 heaven, whither the souls of dying m. do flee
*Sel 1791 my parents were but m. of poor estate
*Sel 1910 that feedest on the soul of noblest m.
*Sel 1971 give some meat to poor hunger-starvèd m.
*Sel 2045 and high exalted above other m.
*Sel 2545 whose only sight kills millions of m.
*Loc 389 but lo! proud Phineus with a band of m.
*Loc 464 stout Albanact, with millions of m. approacheth
*Loc 524 « Most happy m. we cobblers be »
*Loc 615 replete with m., stored with munition
*Loc 640 such poor honest m. as we be
*Loc 670 if you mean to gratify such poor m. as we be
*Loc 752 charms, that do delude the wayward hearts of m.
*Loc 753 of m. that trust unto her fickle wheel
*Loc 836 thy chivalry declared against the m. of Albany
*Loc 1082 now am I guarded with an host of m.
*Loc 1451 now become one of the richest m. in our parish
*Loc 1846 prevail against an hundred thousand m.
1T 78 all loaden with the heads of killèd m.
1T 84 when other m. press [4ts prease] forward for renown?
1T 119 m. from the farthest equinoctial line
1T 219 till m. and kingdoms help to strengthen it 1T 291 my martial prizes, with five hundred m.
1T 412 these are the m. that all the world admires
1T 418 I yield myself, my m., and horse to thee
1T 484 his merits show him to be made his fortune's master and the king of m.
1T 539 this country swarms with vile outragious m.
1T 635 with these my friends and all my m. may triumph
1T 660 they knew not, ah, they knew not, simple m.
1T 698 till I may see thee hemm'd with armèd m.
1T 793 a jest to charge on twenty thousand m.!
1T 888 the strangest m. that ever nature made!
1T 1025 will tell how many thousand m. he slew

1T 1106 your m. are valiant, but their number few 1T 1112 steeds, brought to the war by m. of Tripoly 1T 1128 let him bring millions infinite of m.
1T 1184 ye Moors and valiant m. of Barbary
1T 1222 see me march victoriously with all my m.
1T 1369 awake ye m. of Memphis ! hear the clang of 1T 1390 three hundred thousand m. in armour clad 1T 1398 exceed the forces of their martial m.
1T 1406 had you time to sort your fighting m.
1T 1551 the m., the treasure, and the town are [Old eds. is] ours
1T 1576 the scum of m., the hate and scourge of God
1T 1627 doth foresee the utter ruin of thy m. and thee 1T 2007 millions of m. encompass thee about 1T 2117 streets strow'd with dissever'd joints of m.
1T 2260 hell and Elysium [Old eds. Elisian] swarm with ghosts of m.
1T 2273 when m. presume to manage arms with him
1T 2312 Egyptians, Moors, and m. of Asia
2T 46 since Tamburlaine hath muster'd all his m.
2T 120 our tents are pitch'd, our m. stand [4to are] in array 2T 237 although he sent a thousand armèd m.
2T 301 and march with such a multitude of m.
2T 326 sprinkled with the brains of slaughter'd m.
2T 380 and all the m. in armour under me
2T 409 the stones, as at Deucalion's flood, were turn'd to m.
2T 419 our m. of Barbary have march'd four hundred miles
2T 541 makes earthquakes in the hearts of m. and heaven 2T 551 and numbers, more than infinite, of m.
2T 826 I have a hundred thousand m. in arms
2T 929 then next, the way to fortify your m.
2T 939 and room within to lodge six thousand m.
2T 1056 that bring fresh water to thy m. and thee
2T 1075 both we, Theridamas, will intrench our m.
2T 1089 and, soldiers, play the m.; the hold [8vo holds] is yours !
2T 1147 and strows the way with brains of slaughter'd m.
2T 1183 here at Aleppo, with an host of m., lies Tamburlaine 2T 1194 viceroys and peers of Turkey, play the m.
2T 1210 tell me, viceroys, the number of your m.
2T 1213 of Hebrews three score thousand fighting m.
2T 1231 six hundred thousand valiant fighting m.
2T 1235 and sacrifice mountains of breathless m. to Mahomet
2T 1350 our m. shall sweat with carrying pearl 2T 1407 and, should I [4to I should] go, and kill a thousand m.
2T 1561 meteors (that, like armèd m., are seen to march 2T 1976 in vain, I see, m. worship Mahomet
2T 1991 where m. report thou sitt'st [4to sits] by God
2T 2001 thousands of m., drown'd in Asphaltis' lake 2T 2053 marching about the air with armèd m.
2T 2067 for we have here the chief selected m.
2T 2214 that m. might quickly sail to India
1F 52 wouldst [Dyce, Couldst] thou make man [Dyce, m.] to live eternally 1F 351 to pass the ocean with a band of m.
1F 474 that make m. foolish that do trust them most 1F 499 as great as have the human souls of m.
1F 574 tell me, where is the place m. call hell ?
1F 629 and m. in armour shall appear to thee
1F 1047 ashamed to burden honest m. with a matter of truth 1F 1053 I'll teach you to impeach honest m.
1F 1104 inferior to the report m. have published 2F 49 couldst thou make m. to live eternally
2F 335 to pass the ocean with a band of m.
2F 422 that make m. [1616, them] foolish that do use them most 2F 447 as great as have the souls of m.
2F 522 tell me, where is the [1624, 1631, that] place that m. call hell ?
2F 567 and m. in harness shall appear to thee 2F 792 have waded as deep into matters as other m.
2F 934 long ere with iron hands they punish m.
2F 966 interdict from church's privilege and all society of m.
2F 1260 wonder of m., renowm'd [Old eds. renown'd] magician
2F 1584 hath sent some of his m. to attend you [1624, 1631, omit]
*FB 1 all Christian m., give ear a while to me
*FB 63 and call'd in learned m. to comfort me
JM 8 I am Machiavel, and weigh not m., and therefore not men's words
JM 4 Samnites [Old ed. Samintes], and the m. of Uz, that bought my JM 34 and thus methinks should m. of judgment frame their JM 104 and bid the merchants and my m. despatch
JM 162 fond m., what dream you of their multitudes ?
JM 184 these silly m. mistake the matter clean
JM 348 the injury far less, to take the lives of miserable m.
JM 421 and fram'd of finer mould than common m.
JM 460 none but their own sect must enter in ; m. generally bàrr'd
JM 1435 and now, you m. of Malta, look about
JM 1620 but are not both these wise m. to suppose that JM 2073 for what, you m. of Malta ? hear me speak
JM 2216 if I render you the life of Calymath, surprise his m.
JM 2294 I cannot feast my m. in Malta-walls
JM 2331 and has commanded all his m. to come ashore
JM 2420 without fresh m. to rig and furnish them
JM 2422 my m. are all aboard, and do attend my coming
E2 12 not that I love the city or the m., but that E2 42 but yet it is no pain to speak m. fair
E2 50 these are not the m. for me
E2 59 my m., like satyrs grazing on the lawns
E2 65 to hide those parts which m. delight to see
E2 127 Wiltshire hath m. enough to save our heads
E2 223 why post we not from hence to levy m. ?
E2 293 and both the Mortimers, two goodly m.
E2 373 none but rude and savage-minded m. would seek the ruin of E2 692 and not kings only, but the wisest m.
E2 762 can get you favour with great m.
E2 901 come, Edmund, let's away, and levy m.
E2 955 'twould [1598, Would] levy m. enough to anger you
E2 1183 monster of m., that like the Greekish strumpet, train'd
E2 1276 but our m. shall go along
E2 1292 an ye be m., speed to the king
E2 1294 my Lord of Pembroke's m., strive you no longer
E2 1426 being deliver'd unto Pembroke's m.
E2 1434 upon these barons ; hearten up your m.
E2 1501 our m., with sweat and dust all chok'd well near E2 1680 we will find comfort, money, m., and friends
E2 1918 upon my life, these be the m. ye seek E2 1999 the griefs of private m. are soon allay'd ; but not of kings

E2 2118 to wretched m. death is felicity
E2 2271 m. are ordain'd to live in misery
E2 2308 O, level all your looks upon these daring m.
E2 2632 there is a point, to which when m. aspire, they tumble headlong down
MP 139 and halls, wherein are thirty thousand able m.
MP 163 become as m. that stand and gaze against the sun
MP 423 go place some m. upon the bridge
MP 649 my brother Guise hath gather'd a power of m.
MP 834 we understand that you have gather'd a power of m.
MP 928 Pleshè, go muster up our m. with speed
MP 1014 let mean conceits and baser m. fear death
MP 1148 O words of power to kill a thousand m.!
MP 1149 come, let us away, and levy m.
MP 1185 sweet Epernoun, our friars are holy m.
D 177 or whether m. or beasts inhabit it
D 181 I cannot find no steps of m. imprinted in the earth
D 183 Ho, young m.! saw you, as you came any of D 287 your m. and you shall banquet in our court
D 428 seeing the number of their m. decreas'd
D 493 old m. with swords thrust through their agèd sides
D 558 through which he could not pass for slaughter'd m.
D 937 but, should that man of m., Dido except, have D 1061 did ever m. see such a sudden storm
D 1209 they say Aeneas' m. are going aboard
D 1479 and also furniture for these my m.
D 1496 Aeneas, wherefore go thy m. aboard?
D 1736 that gods and m. may pity this my death
HLM 14 throne, where she should sit, for m. to gaze upon HLM 76 but my rude pen can hardly blazon forth the loves of m.
HLM 90 for in his looks were all that m. desire HLM 97 the m. of wealthy Sestos every year, for HLM 262 maids are nothing, then, without the sweet society of m.
HLM 283 m. foolishly do call it virtuous
HLM 321 though neither gods nor m. may thee deserve, yet
HLM 438 nectar, wherewith the king of gods and m. is feasted
HLM 797 love is not full of pity, as m. say
*HLC 907 and every birth of m. and actions makes legitimate
*HLC 971 while m. view'd, they cheerful were and holy *HLC 978 and all estates of m. distinguisheth [V. R. extinguisheth]
*HLC 1108 that which m. think the height of human reach
*HLC 1211 m. hate the joys as vain they took in love's estate
*HLC 1477 great m. that will have less do for them
*HLC 1482 that was best, now she [V. R. she now] must live with m.
*HLC 1538 thy smooth looks make m. digest thy sin
*HLC 1595 since then never was any trust in maids or [V. R. nor] m.
*HLC 1658 day was so long, m. walking fell asleep
*HLC 1664 m. grovell'd so upon the smother'd ground
*HLC 1671 pierc'd with our human miseries more than m.
*HLC 1757 worthy then of torches, music, feasts, and greatest m.
*HLC 1764 by all m. said the noblest, fairest, and the richest maid
*HLC 1803 women are most won, when m. [Omitted in some 4tos] merit least *HLC 1962 how beauty overcame the thoughts of all m.
*HLC 1972 m. therefore deem that equal number gods do not esteem
*HLC 2220 unless we feed on m., we let them fast
*HLC 2243 m. kiss but fire that only shows pursue
*HLC 2277 such a face as he saw brave m. make Ov 60 with arms to conquer armless m. is base
Ov 65 young m. and women shalt thou lead as thrall
Ov 75 thou with these soldiers conquer'st gods and m.
Ov 107 if m. have faith, I'll live with thee for ever
Ov 250 with arms or armèd m. I come not guarded
Ov 311 that I was mad and barbarous all m. cried
Ov 416 nor one or two m. are sufficient
Ov 448 Venus to mock'd m. lends a senseless ear
Ov 515 great Agamemnon was, m. say, amaz'd, on Priam's
Ov 582 let poor m. show their service, faith, and care
Ov 661 whither runn'st thou, that m. and women love not?
Ov 770 or m. with crookèd sickless corn down fell
Ov 798 for after death all m. receive their right
Ov 841 for after death all m. receive their right
Ov 960 spear. M. handle those: all manly hopes resign
Ov 1441 at Colchis, stain'd with children's blood, m. rail
Ov 1791 now comes the pomp; themselves let all m. cheer
Ov 1867 tut, m. should not their courage so consume
Ov 1875 the gods have eyes and breasts as well as m.
Ov 1910 I know not what m. think should thee so move
Ov 1954 great floods ought to assist young m. in love
Ov 2008 why stay I? m. point at me for a whore
Ov 2098 worthy she was to move both gods and m.
Ov 2149 not what we slothful know [Old eds. knew], let wise m. learn
Ov 2168 m. kept the shore and sail'd not into deep
Ov 2204 so at Aeneas' burial, m. report
Ov 2208 the gods' care we are call'd, and m. of piety
Ov 2226 when bad Fates take good m., I am forbod by Ov 2271 on mast of oaks, first oracles, m. fed
Ov 2393 and m. enthrall'd by mermaid's singing charms
L 60 that m. from war shall bide in league and ease
L 82 m. so strong by land and sea, no foreign force could ruin
L 155 affrights poor m., and blasts their eyes
L 164 m. took delight in jewels, houses, plate
L 184 and hence came war, to most m. welcome
L 241 young m. left their beds, and snatch'd arms
L 282 where m. are ready, lingering ever hurts
L 318 what should I talk of m.'s corn reap'd by force
L 341 yet, for long service done, reward these m.
L 396 and in all quarters musters m. for Rome
L 454 doubtless these northern m. are blest by such sweet error
L 460 you, fierce m. of Rhene, leaving your country open to the spoil
L 480 that Rome, he looking on, by these m. should be sack'd L 508 O gods, that easy grant m. great estates, but L 540 making m. despair of day
L 568 shrill voices schright; and ghosts encounter m.
L 649 the death of many m. meets in one period
*AT 28 consorting with the Christians' foes and m. of ill aspect
*Epg 42 and such a place where all may [MS. m.] have resort
*Epg 63 wenches with wenches, m. with m. fell [MS. falle] out
*Epg 64 m. with their wenches, wenches with their m. [So in Eds.]
*Epg 64 m. with wenches, wenches with m. [So in MS.]

*Epg 110 if wise m.'s saws be not reputed [MS. accounted] vain
*Epg 188 is that for which all m. despise a dog?
*Epg 248 you keep a whore at your own charge, m. tell me
*1H6 10 his brandish'd sword did blind m. with his beams
*1H6 70 no treachery, but want of m. and money
*1H6 116 no leisure had he to enrank his m.
*1H6 161 and hardly keeps his m. from mutiny
*1H6 195 nor m. nor money hath he to make war
*1H6 200 whoever saw the like? what m. have I?
*1H6 301 he may mean more than we poor m. do know
*1H6 375 draw m., for all this privileg'd place
*1H6 492 how far'st thou, mirror of martial m.?
*1H6 545 go, go, cheer up thy hungry-starved m.
*1H6 585 when they shall hear how we have play'd the m.
*1H6 708 amongst the troops of armed m., leap o'er the walls
*1H6 732 when a world of m. could not prevail
*1H6 930 and that I'll prove on better m. than Somerset
*1H6 1177 the bishop, and the Duke of Gloster's m., forbidden
*1H6 1523 my forces and my power of m. are yours
*1H6 1602 in which assault, we lost twelve hundred m.
*1H6 1689 good Lord, what madness rules in brain-sick m.
*Con 1014 cross the seas with troops of armed m. to quell the pride of *Con 1135 I wear no knife to slaughter sleeping m.
*Con 1164 pernicious blood-sucker of sleeping m.
*Con 1169 the trait'rous Warwick with the m. of Bury, set all upon me
*Con 1247 Oh what is pomp, all m. must die
*Con 1282 can I make m. live whether they will or no?
*Con 1593 m. in the house that daily reads books with red letters
*Con 1597 to hang honest m. that steal for their living
*Con 1605 You m. of Kent. — Kent, what of Kent?
*Con 1688 to stop the pride of these rebellious m.
*Con 1700 stand up you simple m., and give God praise
*Con 1725 leave thee and thy five m. as dead as a door-nail
*2H6 1228 but great m. tremble when the lion roars
*2H6 1528 to Ireland will you lead a band of m.
*2H6 1558 to send me packing with an host of m.
*2H6 1561 'twas m. I lack'd, and you will give them me
*2H6 1800 I wear no knife, to slaughter sleeping m.
*2H6 1829 pernicious blood-sucker of sleeping m.
*2H6 1844 the trait'rous Warwick, with the m. of Bury, set
*2H6 1978 blaspheming God, and cursing m. on earth
*2H6 2030 can I make m. live, where [? whether] they will or no?
*2H6 2158 small things make base m. proud
*2H6 2186 great m. oft die by vild Bezonians
*2H6 2377 now show yourselves m., 'tis for liberty
*2H6 2380 go in clouted shoon, for they are thrifty honest m.
*2H6 2440 Oh graceless m.: they know not what they do
*2H6 2530 thou hast m. about thee, that usually talk of a noun
*2H6 2533 justices of peace, to call poor m. before them
*2H6 2541 when honester m. than thou go in their hose and doublets *2H6 2545 You m. of Kent. — What say you of Kent?
*2H6 2571 great m. have reaching hands
*2H6 2612 m. shall hold of me in capite
*2H6 2732 now is Cade driven back, his m. dispers'd *2H6 2785 yet come thou and thy five m., and *2H6 3099 York not our old m. spares
*TT 3 he shly stole away and left his m.
*TT 162 or I will fill the house with armèd m.
*TT 265 will provide both m. and money to furder our attempts
*TT 267 my lord, the queen with thirty thousand m., accompanied with *TT 304 be thou reveng'd on m., and let me live
*TT 341 demean'd themselves, like m. born to renown by life or death
*TT 386 so true m. yield by robbers overmatch'd
*TT 737 for with a band of fifty thousand m., comes Warwick
*TT 795 a thousand m. have broke their fast to-day, that
*TT 961 Oh father fly, our m. have left the field
*TT 1094 and m. may talk of kings, and why not I?
*TT 1716 m. well inclin'd to do what thou commands
*TT 1941 ay, thou wast born to be a plague to m.
*TT 1966 and m. ne'er spend their fury on a child
*TT 2068 be resident in m. like one another, and not in me
*TT 2087 two braver m. ne'er spurr'd their coursers at the trumpet's sound *3H6 3 he shly stole away, and left his m.
*3H6 174 or I will fill the house with armed m.
*3H6 335 she is hard by, with twenty thousand m.
*3H6 351 What, with five thousand m.? — Ay, with five hundred
*3H6 357 five m. to twenty; though the odds be great, I
*3H6 386 be thou reveng'd on m., and let me live
*3H6 427 like m. born to renown, by life or death
*3H6 483 so true m. yield with robbers, so o'er-match'd
*3H6 880 for with a band of thirty thousand m. comes Warwick
*3H6 940 a thousand m. have broke their fasts to-day, that *3H6 1180 M. [? E'en] for the loss of thee, having no more
*3H6 1184 sad-hearted m., much overgone with care
*3H6 1337 for wise m. say, it is the wisest course
*3H6 1370 and m. may talk of kings, and why not I?
*3H6 1394 ah simple m., you know not what you swear
*3H6 1400 such is the lightness of you, common m.
*3H6 1876 thou and Oxford, with five thousand m. shall cross the seas
*3H6 2046 go levy m., and make prepare for war
*3H6 2101 if Warwick be so near as m. report
*3H6 2154 what Fates impose, that m. must needs abide *3H6 2209 he shall here find his friends with horse and m.
*3H6 2260 for few m. rightly temper with the stars
*3H6 2345 for many m. that stumble at the threshold, are well fore-told *3H6 2431 let's levy m., and beat him back again
*3H6 2441 m. well inclin'd to hear what thou command'st
*3H6 2681 great lords, wise m. ne'er sit and wail their loss *3H6 2790 ay, thou wast born to be a plague to m.
*3H6 2819 and m., ne'er spend their fury on a child
*3H6 2893 m. for their sons, wives for their husbands
*3H6 2935 be resident in m. like one another, and not in me
*3H6 2954 two braver m., ne'er spurr'd their coursers at the trumpet's sound
*E3 219 we might descry a mighty host of m.
*E3 652 these are the vulgar tenders of false m.
*E3 732 what mighty m. misdo, they can amend
*E3 801 what time he sent me forth to muster m.
*E3 889 m., like lanthorns, show light lust within themselves
*E3 911 the sin is more to hack and hew poor m., than

*E3 1053 and lofty Poland, nurse of hardy m.
*E3 1145 our m. may vanquish and the other fly !
*E3 1502 O Lorraine, say, what mean our m. to fly ?
*E3 1614 and, of our m., a thousand
*E3 1677 that neither victuals nor supply of m. may come
*E3 1686 what are you ? living m., or gliding ghosts, crept
*E3 1688 m. that breathe a life far worse than is the *E3 1702 poor silly m., much wrong'd and more distress'd !
*E3 1835 or airy fowl make m. in arms to quake
*E3 1912 if thou call forth a hundred m. of name
*E3 1928 my m. as bold, our English arms as strong
*E3 2012 our m. with open mouths and staring eyes look on each other
*E3 2167 have driven back a puissant host of m.
*E3 2178 are m. enough to quail the feeble handful
*E3 2210 alas, what a thousand armed m. of France have
*E3 2276 the chiefest citizens, and m. of most account
*E3 2294 ah, be more mild unto these yielding m. !
*E3 2297 nearest unto God by giving life and safety unto m.
*E3 2309 these m. shall live to boast of clemency
*E3 2317 dispose our m. in garrison a while
*E3 2362 what have our m. the overthrow at Poictiers ?
*E3 2427 his knell, the groaning cries of dying m.
*Sel 748 do live inglorious in all m.'s eyes
*Sel 1279 delight to see sad pageants of m.'s miseries ?
*Loc 497 expels the liquid sleep from out m.'s eyes
1F 306 but, leaving these vain trifles of m.'s souls, tell
2F 290 but, leaving these vain trifles of m.'s souls, tell
JMP 8 and weigh not m., and therefore not m.'s words
JM 364 earth's barrenness, and all m.'s hatred
JM 928 digging graves and ringing dead m.'s knells
JM 1873 whose face has been a grind-stone for m.'s swords
HLM 272 even so for m.'s impression [V. R. impressions] do we you
*HLC 2159 m.'s rests fell like the mists of death upon their eyes
Ov 459 on all the bed m.'s [Old eds. beds m.] tumbling let him view
Ov 639 there sat the hangman for m.'s necks to angle
Ov 1503 or else will maidens young m.'s mates to go
Ov 1702 the subject hides thy wit : m.'s acts resound
Ov 2419 an altar takes m.'s incense and oblation
L 85 thyself thus shiver'd out to three m.'s shares !
*Epg 206 which in m.'s general notice doth remain
*Epg 462 to rich m.'s tables he doth ever [Eds. often] bear
*1H6 995 just Death, kind umpire of m.'s miseries
*Con 1887 and dead m.'s cries do fill the empty air
*2H6 1515 m.'s flesh preserv'd so whole, do seldom win
*2H6 2059 clip dead m.'s graves, and from their misty jaws breathe
*2H6 2578 long sitting to determine poor m.'s causes
*2H6 3051 and dead m.'s cries do fill the empty air
*E3 640 why dost thou tip m.'s tongues with golden words
*2H6 492 have been as bond*m.* to thy sovereignty
E2 1343 lo, with a band of bow-m. and of pikes
*3H6 2829 cut off. As deaths*m.* you have rid this sweet young prince
*E3 1310 with full a hundred thousand fighting-m.
*2H6 2211 virtue is not regarded in handycrafts-m.
*2H6 2218 which is as much to say, let the magistrates be labouring-m.
*1H6 1305 talk like the vulgar sort of market-m.
*Epg 169 porters, and serving-m., together throng
*1H6 1514 and join'st with them will be thy slaughter-m.
*E3 36 you are the lineal watchman [A, B, watchm.] of our peace
*1H6 1164 the special watch*m.* of our English weal

Menace.

E2 134 I cannot brook these haughty ms.
E2 1551 tyrant, I scorn thy threats and ms.
*HLC 1489 and need not fear those ms. of errror
*E3 2481 the fearful ms. were proffer'd me
*Loc 693 so bold, as once to m. warlike Albanact
1T 346 his looks do m. heaven and dare the gods
1T 1099 and m. [4to meane] more than they can well perform
1T 1430 plumes, and jetty feathers, m. death and hell
MP 366 and mean once more to m. us
MP 1053 to threaten England, and to m. me ?
*TT 1863 are landed and mean once more to m. us

Menacest.

*Loc 1648 m. thou thy royal sovereign ?

Menaceth.

*Sel 292 when angry Fortune m. decay
1T 1278 and how my slave, her mistress, m. ?

Menacing.

1T 1056 that shone [Old eds. shine] as comets, m. revenge

Menalip.

*Sel 2406 like to that Amazonian M., leaving the Menander.

Ov 776 and strumpets flatter, shall M. flourish
Ov 819 whilst harlots flatter, shall M. flourish

Menaphon.

1T 83 ah, M., why stay'st thou thus behind
1T 85 go, M., go into Scythia, and 1T 88 a greater [task] fits M. than 1T 109 ah, M., I pass not for his threats !
1T 133 but, M., what means this trumpet's sound ?
1T 453 but tell me, that hast seen him, M., what 1T 516 to whom, sweet M., direct me straight
1T 731 Ortygius and M., my trusty friends

Men-at-arms.

*Sel 722 Mustaffa, and you worthy m., that
*Loc 134 Turinus, that slew six hundred m.
*Loc 936 even just ten thousand valiant m.
1T 332 we'll fight, five hundred m. to one 1T 605 strive with hosts of m. to 1T 1621 two hundred thousand foot, brave m.
2T 365 twice twenty thousand valiant m.
D 280 brave m., abandon fruitless fears
D 1184 this is no life for m. to live
*E3 141 and, Ned, take muster of our m.

Mend.

E2 554 to m. the king and do our country good
*AT 93 our lives, then, let us m. with speed, or we shall surely rue

'Mends.

D 1514 farewell ! is the m. for Dido's love ?

'Mends : see Amends

Menelaus.

1F 1452 and I will combat with weak M.
2F 1911 and I will combat with weak M.
D 595 and so was reconcil'd to M.
*3H6 960 although thy husband may be M.

Men-of-war.

*Sel 2403 now, sturdy dame, where are your m.
1T 1347 until the Persian fleet and m., sailing
D 65 and Neptune's waves be envious of m.
*Epg 268 making his mistress march with m.
*TT 262 and with his m. to meet me at Saint Albans

Mentem.
D 1547 Oro, si quis adhuc [Old ed. ad haec] precibus locus, exue m.
Mentions.
Ov 1949 ne'er was, nor [e'er] shall be, what my verse m.
Mephistophile.
1F 484 Veni, veni, M. !
2F 432 Veni, veni, M. [1624, 1631, Mephistophilis] !
Mephistophilis.
1F 262 ut appareat et surgat M.
1F 273 how pliant is this M.
1F 277 thou canst command great M.
1F 278 Quin regis M. fratris imagine
1F 328 what, is great M. so passionate for 1F 348 I'd give them all for M.
1F 359 till M. return again
1F 479 when M. shall stand by me
1F 481 come, M., and bring glad tidings from great Lucifer
1F 483 is 't not midnight? — come, M.
1F 493 stay, M., and tell me, what good will 1F 503 ay, M., I give it thee
1F 516 but, M., my blood congeals, and 1F 538 speak, M., what means this show?
1F 544 here, M., receive this scroll
1F 553 secondly, that M. shall be his servant
1F 554 thirdly, that M. shall do for him, and bring 1F 562 Lucifer prince of the east, and his minister M.
1F 607 nay, sweet M., fetch me one
1F 631 thanks, M. : yet fain would I 1F 648 I repent, and curse thee, wicked M.
1F 677 harp, made music with my M.
1F 680 come, M., let us dispute again
1F 700 hath M. no greater skill?
1F 722 Sweet M. tell me. — Move me not 1F 846 Farewell, great Lucifer. Come, M.
1F 858 having now, my good M., pass'd
1F 946 come on, M. ; what shall we do?
1F 1061 pacostiphos tostu, M., &c.
1F 1160 M., be gone
1F 1196 M., transform him straight
1F 1202 now, M., the restless course that time
1F 1206 therefore, sweet M., let us make haste
1F 1288 help, M. ! call the officers. — My leg, my leg !
1F 1306 come, M., let's away to him
1F 1322 Alas, madam, that's nothing ! — M., begone
1F 1422 sweet M., entreat thy lord to pardon
1F 1511 Who, Faustus? — Lucifer and M.
1F 1604 I'll burn my books ! — ah, M. !
2F 249 ut appareat et surgat M. Dragon
2F 253 ipse nunc surgat nobis dicatus [1616, dicatis] M !
2F 260 how pliant is this M.
2F 312 what, is great M. so passionate
2F 332 I'd give them all for M.
2F 343 till M. return again
2F 427 when M. shall stand by me
2F 429 M., come, and bring glad tidings
2F 431 is 't not midnight? — come M.
2F 441 stay, M., and tell me, what good
2F 456 lo, M., for love of thee, Faustus hath cut his arm
2F 464 but, M., my blood congeals, and 2F 486 what means this show? speak, M.
2F 491 then, M., receive this scroll [1624, 1631, omit this scroll] 2F 497 then hear me read it, M.
2F 500 secondly, that M. shall be his servant
2F 501 thirdly, that M. shall do for him, and 2F 509 Lucifer prince of the east, and his minister M.
2F 569 thanks, M., for this sweet book 2F 572 and curse thee, wicked M.
2F 598 made music with my M. ?
2F 601 come, M., let us dispute again
2F 620 hath M. no greater skill?
2F 644 Sweet M., tell me. — Move me not, Faustus 2F 686 go, M., and [1616, 1624, omit] fetch them in 2F 834 having now, my good M., pass'd
2F 891 sweet M., thou pleasest me
2F 900 nay, stay, my gentle M., and 2F 947 go, haste thee, gentle M., follow
2F 1031 away, sweet M., be gone
2F 1047 sweet M., so charm me here, that 2F 1062 Thanks, M. — Now, friars, take heed
2F 1184 Demogorgon ; Belcher, and M. !
2F 1292 M., away, and with a solemn 2F 1377 M., transform him
2F 1472 Asteroth, Belimoth, M. ?
2F 1482 whilst, with my gentle M., this traitor
2F 1680 go, M. ; away !
2F 1881 sweet M., entreat thy lord to pardon
2F 1994 Who, Faustus? — Why, Lucifer and M.
2F 2133 I'll burn my books ! — O M. !
Mercenary.
1F 62 His [Dyce, This] study fits a m. drudge 2F 59 this study fits a m. drudge
Merchandize.
JM 52 the merchants with other m. are safe arriv'd
JM 1566 at Alexandria m. untold [Old ed. unsold]
Ov 565 'tis shame to grow rich by bed-m. [ed. C, bad m.]
Merchant.
2T 2069 nor ploughman, priest, nor m., stays at home
JM 249 thou art a m. and a money'd man
JM 1808 send to the m., bid him bring me silks
*1H6 805 this is a riddling m. for the nonce
JM 986 my factor sends me word a m.'s fled
1T 37 thief, that robs your ms. of Persepolis
1T 383 and Christian ms., that with Russian stems plough
JM 19 give me the ms. of the Indian mines, that JM 51 the ms. with other merchandize are safe arriv'd
JM 66 more than many ms. of the town are worth
JM 104 and bid the ms. and my men despatch
JM 1132 from Venice ms., and from Padua were Ov 1291 let ms. seek wealth with perjurèd lips
*E3 1747 that are the wealthiest ms. in the town
*HLC 1332 like simple ms.' goods, Leander was Merchant-like.
*Con 1317 ere I m. sell blood for gold, then cast me headlong down
*2H6 2094 when m. I sell revenge, broke be my sword Merchant-man.
*Sel 2313 every m. will praise his own ware
Mercia.
*Loc 1590 nigh to the river of great M.
*Loc 1757 forward, brave soldiers, into M.
*Loc 1760 in such great number come to M. ?
Mercies.
1F 1486 look up to heaven ; remember God's m. are infinite
*TT 353 yield to our m. proud Plantagenet
*TT 1680 to this princely seat, by God's great m. am I brought again Merciful.
*Con 1670 the king is m., then yield to him
*2H6 2319 the king is m., if you revolt

Merciless.
1T 1433 m. villain, peasant, ignorant of 2T 1749 O, m., infernal cruelty !
*2H6 2436 a ragged multitude of hinds and peasants, rude and m.
*TT 990 the foe is m. and will not pity me
*3H6 1224 the foe is m., and will not pity Mercury.
*Loc 648 in the suburbs of this city, hard by the temple of M.
*Loc 1476 O Jupiter, hast thou sent M. in clownish shape
*Loc 1479 I am not M. ; I am Strumbo
E2 668 Beaumont, fly as fast as Iris or Jove's M.
D 1254 and M., to fly for what he calls ?
D 1502 I must from hence : this day, swift M., when
*HLC 5 the wrath of Fates restrains for Cupid's grace to M.
HLM 392 heaven's wingèd herald, Jove-born M.
HLM 423 away she ran ; after went M.
HLM 452 forc'd them equally to dote upon deceitful M.
L 440 to Hesus and fell M. [Old ed. M. (Jove)] they offer human flesh 1T 14 and Jove, the Sun, and M. denied to 1F 705 Mars in four ; the Sun, Venus, and M. in a year
2F 625 Mars in four : the Sun, Venus, and M. in a year
Mercy.
*Sel 2205 I will show m. unto his family
*Loc 564 King Nactaball ! I cry God m.
*Loc 639 Place ! I cry God m.
*Loc 669 Gate ! I cry God m.
*Loc 779 Lord have m. upon us, masters
*Loc 1945 [banish] all m. from mine adamantine breasts
1T 73 or plead for m. at your highness' feet
1T 680 and cry me « m. », noble king !
1T 1269 must plead for m. at his kingly feet
1T 1846 convey events of m. to his heart
1T 1885 hath [8vo Have] thus refus'd the m. of thy hand
1T 1861 flags, through which sweet M. threw her gentle beams
2T 606 conceive a second life in endless m. !
2T 2060 to sue for m. at your highness' feet 1F 1398 but m., Faustus, of thy Saviour sweet, whose 1F 1409 then call for m., and avoid despair
1F 1415 accursèd Faustus, where is m. now ?
1F 1542 we will pray that God may have m. upon thee
1F 1580 O God, if thou wilt not have m. on my soul, yet
2F 1867 then call for m., and avoid despair
2F 1968 look up to heaven, and remember m. is infinite
2F 2025 we will pray that God may have m. upon thee
2F 2130 O, m., heaven ! look not so fierce on me !
JM 1729 and so I left him to the m. of the hangman
JM 2137 and kneel for m. to your conquering foe
E2 2305 vainly do I strive to seek for m. at a tyrant's hand
MP 583 will show his m., and preserve us still MP 1196 Sancte Jacobe [Old ed. Jacobus], now have m. upon me !
D 494 kneeling for m. to a Greekish lad
HLM 796 she, alas, poor silly maiden, at his m. was !
Ov 1405 worthy she is, thou shouldst in m. save her
*1H6 488 O Lord have m. on us, wretched sinners
*1H6 489 O Lord have m. on me, woeful man
*1H6 504 if Salisbury wants m. at thy hands
*1H6 1863 then God take m. on brave Talbot's soul
*1H6 2328 I cry you m., 'tis but quid for quo
*Con 380 I cry you m. madam, I did mistake
*Con 1494 wilt thou yield thyself unto the king's m.
*2H6 499 and left thee to the m. of the law
*2H6 504 I cry you m., madam : was it you ?
*2H6 522 but God in m. so deal with my soul, as I *2H6 581 O Lord have m. upon me, I shall never be able to *2H6 2640 and yield to m., whilst 'tis offer'd you
*2H6 2677 should stoop unto a Frenchman's m.
*TT 354 ay, to such m. as his ruthful arm with downright payment lent
*TT 496 open thy gates of m. gracious God
*TT 751 and kneel for m. at thy sovereign's feet ?
*TT 1009 reverse that doom of m., for 'tis Clifford
*TT 1028 Clifford, ask m. and obtain no grace
*3H6 77 and kneel for grace and m. at my feet
*3H6 449 yield to our m., proud Plantagenet
*3H6 450 ay, to such m. as his ruthless arm with *3H6 599 open thy gates of m., gracious God
*3H6 1246 revoke that doom of m., for 'tis Clifford
*3H6 1270 Clifford, ask m., and obtain no grace
*3H6 2468 my m. dried their water-flowing tears
*3H6 2512 call Edward king, and at his hands beg m.
*3H6 2715 that there's no hop'd-for m. with the brothers
*E3 1919 what is the answer to his proffer'd m. ?
*E3 1920 this heaven that covers France contains the m. that
*E3 1923 to urge the plea of m. to a man, the Lord forbid !
*E3 1926 and it shall beg my m. on his coward burgonet
*E3 2263 m., King Edward ! m., gracious lord !
JM 1519 God-a-m., nose ! Come, let's begone
JM 1898 you shall be most heartily poisoned. — No, God-a-m.
Mere.
*Sel 337 whereas indeed, they were m. fictions 1F 595 tush, these are trifles, and m. old wives' tales
2F 533 I think hell's a [1624, 1631, hell's a meere] fable 2F 541 no, these are trifles and m. old wives' tales
JM 804 who, of m. charity and Christian ruth, to JM 1596 this is m. frailty : brethren, be content
E2 766 and use them but of m. hypocrisy
MPF 14 therefore your entry is m. intrusion
*HLC 934 it fir'd with sense things m. insensual
*HLC 1374 not wrought by m. instinct of her intent
*HLC 2065 for m. free love, turn'd her [Omitted in some 4tos] into the pied-plum'd Psittacus
*2H6 1854 and m. instinct of love and loyalty Merely.
E2 1455 and m. of our love we do create thee Earl of Glocester
Meretricis.
Ov 361 Execratur lenam quae puellam suam m. arte instituebat
Meridian.
1T 1479 but fixèd now in the m. line
Merit.
*Sel 248 in virtuous actions seek for glorious m.
*JMD 9 to tax ignorance, or attribute right to m.
*JMS 30 nor is it hate to m. in him who doth
*HLC 1801 in m. he increasèd still by suffering much
*HLC 1804 if M. look not well, Love bids stand by
*LD 9 be proud, and think you have m. enough in you
*Sel 632 yet are my ms. better than both theirs
1T 483 his ms. show him to be made his fortune's master 1T 2220 of some sweet accidents have chanc'd thy ms.
1T 444 you shall have honours as your ms. be Ov 2036 but for thy ms. I wish thee, white stream, dry winters
*Sel 642 disclaim the title which thou dost not m.
*Sel 1600 may m. pardon at your princely hands

*Loc 606 so shall your highness m. great renown
1T 1717 may m. favour at your highness' hands
*HLC 1803 women are most won, when men [Omitted in some 4tos] m. least
*HLC 2298 the hell of thy decease, that heaven did m.
Ov 973 for I confess, if that might m. favour Ov 1359 that victory doth chiefly triumph m., which L 340 say I m. naught, yet, for long service done
*2H6 2910 may Iden live to m. such a bounty
*Epg 15 a general vice which ms. public blame

Merited.
2T 718 whose true nobility have m. my latest memory

Meritorious.
MP 1157 I have been a great sinner in my days ! and the deed is m.
*2H6 1484 seeing the deed is m., and to preserve my sovereign

Mermaid.
*3H6 1620 I'll drown more sailors than the m. shall D 1610 and look upon him with a m.'s eye
Ov 2393 and men enthrall'd by m.'s singing charms
D 765 and wanton ms. court thee with sweet songs
HLM 660 sweet-singing ms. sported with their loves

Mermaid-like.
HLM 813 that m., unto the floor she slid

Meroe.
*Loc 757 I'll pass the Alps to wat'ry M.

Merriest.
*1H6 846 between two girls, which hath the m. eye

Merrily.
*Loc 547 how m. he sitteth on his stool !
*E3 2213 and look'st so m. upon thy grave as if Merriment.

1F 912 and by their folly make us m.
1F 1309 this m. hath much pleased me
2F 1046 and by their folly make some m.
2F 1721 they are good subject for [1624, 1631, to] a m.
HLM 362 in vain discourse and apish m.
*HLC 1676 Hero, to shorten time with [V. R. for] m., for Merry.

*Loc 510 « We cobblers lead a m. life »
*Loc 522 « For m. pastime and joyful glee »
*Loc 532 « This brings us to as m. mood »
*Loc 817 « For Strumbo, the cobbler, the fine m. cobbler »
*Loc 1832 but, for you are so m. in your frumps, unsheath
D 393 be m., man : heres to thy better fortune and good stars
D 389 here let him sit. — Be m., lovely child
*HLC 1702 ill may a sad mind forge a m. face
*Epg 2 fly, m. Muse [MS. newes], unto that m. town
*Con 749 drinke and be m., and fear not your man !
*Con 754 and here's a quart for me, and be m. Peter
*Con 1383 'twas never m. world with us, since these gentlemen came up
*2H6 345 here Hume, take this reward, make m. man
*2H6 347 Hume must make m. with the duchess' gold
*2H6 1058 be m. Peter, and fear not thy master
*2H6 2208 it was never m. world in England, since gentlemen came up
*TT 407 I prithee grieve to make me m. York ?
*TT 1164 this m. inclination agrees not with the sadness of my suit
*3H6 505 I prithee grieve, to make me m., York *3H6 1502 this m. inclination accords not with the *E3 710 and do your best to make his highness m.
*E3 1086 thus tightly carried with a m. gale they plough the ocean

Merry-make.
D 1668 and all the sailors m. for joy

Merui.
D 1545 Si bene quid de te m.

Meseemeth.
*2H6 1232 m. then, it is no policy, respecting Mesopotamia.

1T 165 Albania, M. and of Parthia

Mess.
*TT 394 where are your m. of sons to back you now ?
*3H6 492 where are your m. of sons, to back you now ?
JM 1350 will you poison her with a m. of rice-porridge ?

Message.
*Sel 477 what is his m. to us, canst thou tell ?
JM 2274 I bring a m. unto mighty Calymath
E2 1203 Arundel, say your m.
E2 1382 and do your m. with a majesty
E2 1405 I did your highness' m. to them all
E2 1465 well, say your m.
E2 2121 come, and tell thy m. to my naked breast
D 1442 to sound this angry m. in thine ears
*HLC 2165 and m. brings from Venus to the Fates
*1H6 756 as your ladyship desir'd, by m. crav'd
*1H6 2093 on what submissive m. art thou sent ?
*Con 1180 would send such m. to their sovereign
*2H6 1877 could send such m. to their sovereign
*2H6 1985 go tell this heavy m. to the king
*2H6 2164 I go of m. from the queen to France
*E3 93 I hold thy m. but as scurrilous
*E3 721 to do a m. to thee from the king

Messe.
MP 1033 Vive la m. ! perish Huguenots !

Messenger.
*Sel 163 but stay, here comes a m. to us
*Sel 172 and see, here comes a luckless m.
*Sel 462 he sends his m. to crave access
*Sel 510 m., go and tell young Selimus, we *Sel 517 and tell him, m., another time he shall *Sel 882 did he not humbly send his m. to *Sel 971 greeteth your Grace by me his m.
*Sel 1310 to be the m. of these sad news
*Sel 1352 here is a m. sent from your father
*Sel 2245 m., is it true that Selimus is not far
*Sel 2252 here, m., take this for thy reward
*Sel 2263 I met the m. as he returnèd
*Loc 496 and bashful Eos, m. of light, expels the liquid sleep
*Loc 1839 with my sword, the m. of death
1T 954 for m. he will not be reclaim'd 2T 411 that Jove shall send his wingèd m. to 2T 1104 well, this must be the m. for thee
2T 1889 myself, the wrathful m. of mighty Jove
JM 227 and for the money send our m.
JM 1366 they must neither see the m. nor make inquiry
JM 2281 I fear me, m., to feast my train within a
E2 1374 these be the letters, this the m.
E2 1458 my lord, here's [1598, heres is] a m. from the barons
E2 1544 when we had sent our m. [1612, 1622, ms.] to request
E2 2353 within this room is lock'd the m.
JM 249 m., tell him I will see him straight
JM 545 a sudden pang, the m. of death
D 1434 whom do I see ? Jove's wingèd m. !
HLM 580 and stay the m. that would be gone

*Con 286 I am but a m. for the whole township
*Con 1080 thou baleful m. out of my sight
*Con 1753 what comes [Q2 comest] thou in love or as a m.?
*Con 1754 I come as a m. from our dread lord and sovereign
*2H6 1651 thou baleful m., out of my sight
*2H6 2845 art thou a m. from Henry, our dread liege
*TT 95 a m. as shall revenge his death before I stir
*TT 1466 my lord, here is a m. return'd from France
*3H6 102 such a m., as shall revenge his death
*3H6 282 come cousin, you shall be the m.
*3H6 1863 then England's m., return in post
*3H6 1996 now m., what letters, or what news from France?
*E3 51 a m.? — Lord Audley, know from whence
*E3 274 she heard the m. and heard our talk
*E3 1909 what tidings, m.? be plain, and brief
*TT 1374 and English ms. return in post, and tell
*E3 1968 and let those milk-white ms. of time show

Messias.

JM 1047 nor our M. that is yet to come

Met.

*Sel 630 you would have m. him half the way yourself
*Sel 2263 I m. the messenger as he returnèd
*Loc 342 Signior Strumbo, well m.
1T 511 have m. us by the river Araris
1T 1500 before thou m. my husband in the field
1T 2238 well m., my only dear Zenocrate
2T 437 where Amazonians m. me in the field
2T 1580 well m., Olympia : I sought thee in my tent
1F 1187 I think I have m. with you for it 1F 1214 what, horse-courser! you are well m.
2F 1618 he m. me, and asked me what he should give JM 961 O, Barabas, well m.
JM 1221 and then they m., [and], as the story says, in JM 1543 that by a forged challenge they m.
JM 1740 a fellow m. me with muschatoes like a raven's wing
D 965 and here we m. fair Venus, virgin-like D 1000 by chance, sweet queen, as Mars and Venus m.
D 1088 Achates and Ascanius, well m.
*HLC 945 and as those arms, held up in circle m.
*HLC 2319 in one star many heaven till now were m.
*1H6 703 I muse we m. not with the dauphin's grace
*1H6 1600 before we m., or that a stroke was given
*1H6 1865 I m. in travel toward his warlike father
*Con 394 but see where he comes, I am glad he m. her not *2H6 3151 but still where danger was, still there I m. him
*TT 586 short tale to make, we at Saint Albans m.
*TT 770 when you and I m. at Saint Albans last, your legs
*3H6 723 short tale to make, we at Saint Albans m.
*3H6 916 when you and I, m. at Saint Albans last, your legs
*E3 1212 and will be m., I warrant ye, to their cost
*E3 1284 I know not how, we should have m. our son
*E3 2368 a troop of lances m. us on the way

Metal.

JM 20 that trade in m. of the purest mould
*HLC 1100 a very silly sleight, to make a perfect m. counterfeit
*E3 596 to stamp his image in forbidden m.

Metamorphosed.

2T 205 Pygmalion's ivory girl, or lovely Iö m.
JM 591 and strangely m. [to a] nun
*E3 2040 let fall their arms and stand like m. images

Metaphor.

*Sel 1987 a society of puddings? did you mark that well-used m.?

Metaphysical.

2T 1629 marble stone, temper'd by science m.

Metaphysics.

1F 76 these m. of magicians, and
2F 74 these m. of magicians, and

Metempsychosis.

1F 1588 ah, Pythagoras' m., were that true
2F 2117 O, Pythagoras' m., were that true

Meteor.

1T 2256 a m. that might terrify the earth
PMF 23 a fiery m. in the firmament
*Loc 1263 that guides the concourse of the ms.
1T 11 scarce appear for freezing ms. and congealèd cold 1T 1493 our shot fill all the air with fiery ms.
1T 1942 the moon, the planets, and the ms., light
2T 871 exhalations, that, being fiery ms., may presage death
2T 1500 heaven, fill'd with the ms. of blood and fire 2T 1561 making the ms. (that, like armèd men, are seen to march
L 529 and sundry fiery ms. blaz'd in heaven

Meteor-like.

D 13 to hang her, m., twixt heaven and earth

Methinks.

*Sel 1251 m. I feel a cold run through my bones
*Sel 1253 m. some voice still whispereth in my ears
*Loc 973 m. I see both armies in the field
*Loc 1266 but stay ; m. I hear some shrieking noise
*Loc 1968 but stay ; m. I hear some fainting voice 1T 244 m. I see kings kneeling at his feet
1T 777 rest attemptless, faint, and destitute? m. we should not 1T 1568 m. we march as Meleager did
1T 1706 m. 'tis a great deal better than 2T 266 but yet m. their looks are amorous
2T 553 m. I see how glad the Christian king is made 2T 998 m. 'tis a pitiful sight
2T 1276 m. the slave should make a lusty thief
2T 2041 m. I could sustain a thousand deaths 1F 1354 and yet, m., if that death were near, he would 2F 1603 m. you make no haste to wipe it out 2F 1783 m. you should have a wooden bed-fellow 2F 1948 now, worthy Faustus, m. your looks are chang'd
JM 34 and thus m. should men of judgment frame
JM 122 which m. fits not their profession
JM 634 and now m. that I am one of those
JM 1983 foh! m. they stink like a hollyhock
JM 1995 m. he fingers very well
E2 1533 vail'd is your pride : m. you hang your heads
E2 2015 m. I should revenge me of my wrongs
E2 2432 and yet m. I should command
MP 170 m. the gloves have a very strong perfume
MP 220 m. my Lord of Anjou hath well advis'd
D 302 m., that town there should be Troy
Ov 984 m. she would be nimble [ed. A, should be quick] when she's down
*LD 3 m. you should presently look wild now
*Epg 270 m. that gull did use his terms as fit
*1H6 227 m. your looks are sad, your cheer appall'd
*1H6 297 my lord m. is very long in talk
*1H6 1065 but yet m., my father's execution was *1H6 1152 m. my lord should be religious
*1H6 1154 m. his lordship should be humbler
*1H6 1399 m. I should revive the soldiers' hearts

*1H6 1706 m. you do not well to bear with their *1H6 2067 poor boy, he smiles, m., as who should say *1H6 2389 and yet m. I could be well content to be *Con 1211 and now m. my burthen'd heart would break
*Con 1412 but m. he should fear the fire, being *2H6 233 m. the realms of England, France, and Ireland, bear
*2H6 373 here a' comes m., and the queen with him
*2H6 642 Lord Buckingham, m. you watch'd her well
*2H6 1126 m. I should not thus be led along
*2H6 2259 but m. he should stand in fear of fire
*2H6 2673 m. already in this civil broil, I see
*TT 109 you are old enough now and yet m. you lose
*TT 507 m. 'tis pride enough to be his son
*TT 653 ay, now m. I hear great Warwick speak
*TT 920 But stay. M. it is my father's face
*TT 929 but stay, m. this is no famous face
*TT 1286 m. these peers of France should smile at that *3H6 117 you are old enough now, and yet m. you lose
*3H6 608 m. we should have heard the happy tidings
*3H6 622 m. 'tis prize enough to be his son
*3H6 789 ay, now m. I hear great Warwick speak
*3H6 1082 Oh God m. it were a happy life, to be *3H6 1161 the other his pale cheeks m. presenteth *3H6 1726 m. these peers of France should smile at that *3H6 1962 and yet m.. your grace hath not done well *3H6 2460 m., the power that Edward hath in field, should *3H6 2719 m. a woman of this valiant spirit, should
*E3 371 m., her tongue commanded war to prison
*E3 1272 away, away ! m. I hear their drums
*E3 1571 m. I hear the dismal charge of trumpets' loud retreat

Method.

*1H6 1108 verbatim to rehearse the m. of my pen

Methought.

*Sel 2227 m., Mustaffa, I beheld thy neck
*Loc 1537 for still, m., at every boisterous blast, now Locrine comes 2F 2142 m., I heard him shriek and call aloud
*1H6 1754 the king prettily (m.) did play the orator
*Con 190 m. I was in the cathedral-church at Westminster
*2H6 285 m. this staff mine office-badge in court was broke *2H6 296 m. I sat in seat of majesty, in the *3H6 615 m. he bore him in the thickest troop, as doth

Metropolis.

2T 1216 whose brave m. re-edified the fair Semiramis
*HLC 2267 most brought up in our m., and hath his cup brought Mettest.

MP 782 m. thou not the Guise at the door?

Mettle.

1T 825 or of what mould or m. he be made

Mettled.

JM 279 O earth-m. villains, and no Hebrews born !

Meum.

D 1546 fuit aut tibi quidquam Dulce m.

Mevania's.

L 470 his troops of daring horsemen fought upon M. plain

Mewed.

E2 2009 false Isabel, that thus hath pent and m. me in a prison

Mexico.

1T 1350 even from Persepolis to M.

Mice.

*1H6 190 or piteous they will look, like drowned m.

Michael.

*1H6 2109 Knight of the noble order of Saint George, worthy Saint M.

Mickle.

E2 1912 on thy lap lay I this head, laden with m. care
D 852 and wrought him m. woe on sea and land
*1H6 2018 to-morrow I shall die with m. age
*2H6 3004 that bows unto the grave with m. age
*E3 2449 got with m. peril of our lives

Mid.

Ov 1563 lay in the m. bed, there be my lawgiver
Ov 1610 is golden Love hid in Mars' m. alarms
Ov 1798 peace pleaseth me, and in m. peace is love
Ov 1956 in m. Bithynia, 'tis said, Inachus grew pale
Ov 1983 and from the m. ford his hoarse voice upheav'd

Midas-like.

E2 705 and, M., he jets it in the court

Midas'.

HLM 481 that M. brood shall sit in Honour's chair

Mid-day.

L 16 ay, to the torrid zone, where m. burns
*1H6 14 more dazzled and drove back his enemies than m. sun *3H6 2622 have been as piercing as the m.'s sun

Middest.

*2H6 2690 have through the very m. of you, and Middle.

*Loc 1447 and taking her lustily by the m., I [Hazlitt omits]
1F 1261 I was no sooner in the m. of the pond, but my horse
JM 2130 and rise with them i' the m. of the town
*HLC 1978 naught in m. left to reunite each part Ov 175 have care to walk in m. of the throng
*E3 1110 here in the m. coast, betwixt you both
*E3 1177 and scatters it in m. of the air

Middleborough.

Ov (Title) Certain of Ovid's Elegies. By C. Marlowe. At M.
Ov (Title) Epigrams and Elegies. By J. D. and C. M. at M.

Middle-centre.

*1H6 691 in the market-place, the m. of this cursed town

Midnight.

1F 344 and meet me in my study at m.
1F 483 is 't not m. ? — come, Mephistophilis
1F 840 I will send for thee at m.
1F 1018 as often as thou wilt, and at m.
1F 1551 that time may cease, and m. never come
2F 328 and meet me in my study at m.
2F 431 is 't not m. ? — come Mephistophilis
2F 757 Faustus, thou shalt ; at m. I will send for thee
2F 2082 that time may cease, and m. never come
JM 582 than rise at m. to a solemn mass
JM 664 father, it draweth towards m. now
HLM 307 banquets, Doric music, m. revel
Ov 261 watching till after m. did not tire thee
*E3 2015 a tongue-tied fear hath made a m. hour

Mids.

Ov 1276 and in the midst [ed. A, m.] their bodies largely spread
Ov 1294 and, in the midst thereof, set [ed. A, m. thereof let] my soul going Midst.

*Loc 1110 in the m. of stately Troynovant I'll build a temple
*Loc 1992 in the m. of fortune's good success uncalled com'st
1T 31 like a fox in m. of harvest-time
2T 73 even from the m. of fiery Cancer's tropic

2T 478 through the m. of Varna and Bulgaria
2T 618 that in the m. of fire is ingraff'd
2T 1397 that fill the m. of farthest Tartary
2T 2225 lies westward from the m. of Cancer's line
1F 890 Just through the m. runs flowing Tiber's stream [Line added by Dyce] 2F 868 just through [1631, thorow] the m. runs flowing Tiber's stream 2F 1641 when I came just in the m., my horse vanished
D 900 when, in the m. of all their gamesome sports
D 1381 and in the m. doth run a silver stream
HLM 163 and in the m. a silver altar stood
*HLC 1319 in m. whereof she wrought a virgin's face
*HLC 1971 in the m. holds one to rejoin it ever Ov 247 in m. of peace why art of arms afraid?
Ov 617 and in the m. of Venus' temple place them
Ov 1276 and in the m. [ed. A, mids] their bodies largely spread
Ov 1294 and, in the m. thereof, set [ed. A, mids thereof let] my soul going Ov 1680 in m. thereof a stone-pav'd sacred spring
L 58 the m. is best; that place is pure and bright
L 538 Titan himself, thron'd in the m. of heaven
*1H6 202 but that they left me m. my enemies
*Con 1678 my staff shall make way through the m. of you
*TT 505 bear himself, as doth a lion m. a herd of neat
*3H6 2659 but in the m. of this bright-shining day, I spy
*E3 1264 and in the m. our nation's glittering host
*E3 2394 and in the m., like to a slender point

Mid-time.

Ov 191 in summer's heat, and m. of the day

Mid-waters.

Ov 2395 and blabbing Tantalus in m. put Midwife.

*Epg 426 the school-master, the m. [MS. widdow], and the bawd
*2H6 2241 I knew her well, she was a m.
*TT 2059 the women wept [Q3 weeping] and the m. cried [Q3 crying]
*3H6 2927 the m. wonder'd, and the women cried, O Jesus

Mid-winter.

Ov 2026 either thou'rt muddy in m. tide, or

Might.

JMP 20 m. first made kings, and laws were then most sure HLM 9 sea-borderers [V. R. Seaborders], disjoin'd by Neptune's m.
HLM 425 maids are not won by brutish force and m.
Ov 47 yielding, or struggling [ed. A, striving], do we give him m.?

Mightier.

D 647 and yet have I had many m. kings
*1H6 1836 two m. troops than that the dauphin led *2H6 1347 but m. crimes are laid unto your charge
*E3 1040 the m. that their number is, the greater glory reaps the victory

Mightiest.

E2 557 as he will front the m. of us all?
E2 688 the m. kings have had their minions
*1H6 1438 but kings and m. potentates must die
*1H6 2600 provokes the m. hulk against the tide

Mightily.

*TT 1162 herein thou wrong'st thy children m.
*3H6 1500 therein thou wrong'st thy children m.

Mightiness.

1T 213 letters of conduct from my m.
1T 2045 the former triumphs of our m. in *Con 1587 what answer canst thou make unto my m.
*E3 440 judge what her condition is, by the proportion of her m.
*E3 930 your m. will overbear and awe these dear regards

Mighty.

*Sel 49 the Persian Sophi, m. Ismael, took the Levant
*Sel 129 but m. prince, the heavens can testify how
*Sel 226 the m. Empire of great Trebizond
*Sel 538 from whence our m. Emperor Mahomet was driven
*Sel 550 Bassilius the m. Emperor of Russia
*Sel 637 we that have fought with m. Prester John
*Sel 712 chief captain of the Tartar's m. host
*Sel 835 what prince soe'er trusts to his m. power
*Sel 906 the m. empire of great Trebizond?
*Sel 938 you know how m. Bajazet hath honourèd Mustaffa
*Sel 969 m. commander of the warlike Turks
*Sel 991 long live the m. emperor Bajazet!
*Sel 1044 and rend the bowels of this m. realm
*Sel 1266 these are thy nephews, m. Bajazet
*Sel 1356 great princes, thy father, m. Bajazet, wonders
*Sel 1507 we'll load the earth with such a m. host
*Sel 1523 sprung from the loins of m. Ottoman
*Sel 2104 you know they are two m. potentates
*Sel 2315 for Solyma's sake, m. Selimus, spare my *Sel 2351 rightful heir unto the m. Turkish diadem
*Sel 2356 Usan-Cassano's ghost, companion unto m. Tamburlaine
*Sel 2431 were they as m. and as fell of force as *Sel 2469 that Selim's m. arm is able to overthrow poor Tonombey
*Loc 2 a m. lion, ruler of the woods
*Loc 80 the throne of m. Jove, commander of the world
*Loc 259 wert thou as strong as m. Hercules, that
*Loc 473 the m. Babylonian queen, Semiramis
*Loc 832 and, m. Jove, commander of the world, protect my love
*Loc 1087 now sit I like the m. god of war
*Loc 1089 mounted in 's chariot drawn of m. bulls
*Loc 1116 stout Hercules, Alcmena's m. son
*Loc 1244 so Locrine, with his m. curtle-axe, hath
*Loc 1262 m. Jove, the supreme king of heaven
*Loc 1636 dost thou not quake, when m. Locrine frowns?
*Loc 1675 a m. elephant slain by the biting of a silly mouse?
*Loc 1780 the triple world, trembleth and quaketh with a m. noise
*Loc 1803 throw forth thy lightning, m. Jupiter
*Loc 1889 for m. Locrine is bereft of life!
*Loc 1895 since m. kings are subject to mishap
*Loc 1901 strengthen these hands, O m. Jupiter
*Loc 2022 because he was the son of m. Brute
1T 7 hast been the seat of m. conquerors
1T 129 with a m. host, pass [4to Hast] into Graecia
1T 136 magnificent and m. prince Cosroe
1T 138 and commons of this m. monarchy
1T 169 long live Cosroe, m. emperor!
1T 195 the m. Soldan of Aegyptia
1T 203 have pass'd the army of the m. Turk
1T 262 eternizèd by living Asia's m. emperor
1T 367 draw forth thy sword, thou m. man-at-arms
1T 387 and m. kings shall be our senators
1T 608 is said to drink the m. Parthian Araris
1T 643 ready to charge you with a m. army
1T 700 thou art no match for m. Tamburlaine

1T 705 even by the m. hand of Tamburlaine
1T 865 what better precedent than m. Jove?
1T 931 renowmèd [4to renowned] emperor and m. general
1T 935 as from the mouth of m. Bajazeth?
1T 1013 so, now the m. Soldan hears of you
1T 1037 if I were match'd with m. Tamburlaine
1T 1107 and cannot terrify his m. host
1T 1132 more m. than the Turkish emperor 1T 1182 what means the [4to this] m. Turkish emperor to 1T 1191 puissant, renowm'd [4to renowned], and m. Tamburlaine
1T 1236 subdu'd, shall stand as m. as before 1T 1262 me that am the empress of the m. Turk?
1T 1265 betroth'd unto the great and m. Tamburlaine?
1T 1380 nay, m. Soldan, did your greatness see the 1T 1389 m. lord, three hundred thousand men in 1T 1519 Bajazeth, that should be horsèd on four m. kings 1T 1524 is this a place for m. Bajazeth?
1T 1587 the majesty and high estate of m. emperors
1T 1591 the overthrow of m. Bajazeth
1T 1630 now, Tamburlaine, the m. Soldan comes 1T 2158 ah, m. Jove and holy Mahomet, pardon
1T 2170 as long as life maintains his m. arm
1T 2274 m. hath God and Mahomet made thy hand 1T 2316 to the banks of Ganges shall his m. arm extend 2T (Title) The Second Part of the bloody conquests of m. Tamburlaine 2T 3 and sacred lord, the m. Callapine
2T 358 my lord, the great and m. Tamburlaine
2T 383 and, m. Tamburlaine, our earthly god
2T 432 where the m. Christian priest, call'd John the Great, sits 2T 539 that nigh Larissa sways a m. host
2T 788 heir to the late m. emperor Bajazeth
2T 793 kingdoms late contributory to his m. father 2T 810 that, since the heir of m. Bajazeth (an 2T 816 follow'd long the martial sword of m. Tamburlaine 2T 828 being a handful to a m. host
2T 1040 stand at the walls with such a m. power
2T 1142 and makes the m. god of arms his slave
2T 1155 the name of m. Tamburlaine is spread
2T 1181 renowmed [4to Renowned] emperor, m. [4to and mightie] Callapine 2T 1264 so famous as is [4to the] m. Tamburlaine
2T 1290 the common soldiers of our m. host
2T 1480 by Mahomet, thy m. friend, I swear
2T 1488 shaking the burden m. Atlas bears
2T 1675 as you, ye slaves, in m. Tamburlaine
2T 1889 myself, the wrathful messenger of m. Jove
2T 2020 now our m. host marcheth in Asia Major
2T 2055 renowmed [4to Renowned] general, m. Callapine
2T 2058 yet might your m. host encounter all
2T 2121 and seeks to conquer m. Tamburlaine?
1F 89 a sound magician is a m. god
1F 343 go and return to m. Lucifer
2F 327 go, and return to m. Lucifer
2F 760 thanks, m. Lucifer! this will I keep 2F 1358 the m. monarch, warlike Alexander
2F 1390 and live belov'd of m. Carolus
JM 2274 I bring a message unto m. Calymath
JM 2374 will 't please thee, m. Selim Calymath, to ascend
E2 (Title) and m. favourite of King Edward the second
E2 291 Edmund, the m. prince of Lancaster
MP 467 rich princes both, and m. emperors
MP 733 a m. army comes from France with speed
D 371 sometime I was a Trojan, m. queen
D 886 and bring forth m. kings to Carthage-town
HLM 618 Alcides-like, by m. violence, he would have chas'd
L 198 thou thunderer that guard'st Rome's m. walls
*1H6 1831 that dogg'd the m. army of the dauphin?
*Con 29 unless the frown of m. England's king
*Con 237 these gifts ere long will make me m. rich
*Con 241 and that is the m. Duke of Suffolk
*Con 1170 Warwick with the men of Bury, set all upon me m. sovereign
*Con 1347 threatens more plagues than m. Abradas
*2H6 1433 cannot do him good, so m. are his vowed enemies
*2H6 1564 whiles I in Ireland nourish a m. band
*2H6 1725 it is reported, m. sovereign, that good Duke Humphrey
*2H6 1845 with the men of Bury, set all upon me m. sovereign
*2H6 2723 with a puissant and a m. power of Gallow-glasses
*TT 714 play'd the orator, inferring arguments of m. force
*TT 1164 but m. lord this merry inclination agrees not with the sadness of my suit
*TT 1905 Duke Edward with a m. power, is marching hitherwards
*3H6 856 inferring arguments of m. force
*3H6 1066 like a m. sea, forc'd by the tide, to combat with *3H6 1361 inferreth arguments of m. strength
*3H6 1502 but m. lord, this merry inclination accords not *3H6 1633 no, m. King of France: now Margaret must
*E3 146 a famous war and with so m. a nation
*E3 219 we might descry a m. host of men
*E3 289 and let the power of a m. king honour our roof
*E3 356 to dote amiss, being a m. king
*E3 722 the m. King of England dotes on thee
*E3 732 what m. men misdo, they can amend
*E3 778 deep are the blows made with a m. axe
*E3 854 counsel-bearer betwixt a goddess and a m. king
*E3 1735 the burgesses of Calice, m. king, have
*E3 1853 this sudden, m., and expedient head, that
*E3 1883 Death's name is much more m. than his deeds
*E3 1944 son to the most m. Christian King of France
*E3 2268 take pity on this town, and hear us, m. king!
*E3 2326 no wilful disobedience, m. lord, but my desert
*E3 2353 what news from Britain? — This, m. king: the *E3 2432 the m. and redoubted Prince of Wales

Mihi.

*Sel 660 mortis m. displicet author
1F 258 Sint m. dei Acherontis propitii!
1F 378 I'll make thee go like Qui m. discipulus?
2F 245 Sint m. dii Acherontis propitii!
2F 360 I'll make thee go like Qui m. discipulus?
JM 1729 an old hempen proverb, Hodie tibi, cras m.

Mihimet.

JM 194 Ego m. sum semper proximus

Milan.

1F 926 here is a dainty dish was sent me from the Bishop of M.
2F 1098 I am beholding [1624, 1631, beholden] to the Bishop of M. for Mild.

*Sel 1228 soft-hearted, m., and gentle as a lamb 1T 351 noble and m. this Persian seems to be 1T 1478 first rising in the east with m. aspect
E2 685 thou seest by nature he is m. and calm

MP 905 ah, Epernoun, though I seem m. and calm, think not Ov 553 nor the m. ewe gifts from the ram doth pull
Ov 1338 request m. Zephyr's help for thy avail
Ov 1704 thy Muse hath play'd what may m. girls content
L 404 m. Atax glad it bears not Roman boats [Old ed. bloats]
*Con 826 be thou m., and stir not at my disgrace
*Con 1256 as m. and gentle as the new-born babe
*2H6 1144 but be thou m., and blush not at my shame
*2H6 1218 we know the time since he was m. and affable *2H6 1281 the duke is virtuous, m., and too well given, to *2H6 1822 and that my sovereign's presence makes me m.
*2H6 1998 as m. and gentle as the cradle-babe, dying with *TT 460 women are m., pitiful, and flexible
*3H6 562 women are soft, m., pitiful, and flexible
*3H6 1351 the tiger will be m. whiles she doth mourn
*3H6 1402 my m. entreaty shall not make you guilty
*3H6 2010 these were her words, utter'd with m. disdain
*E3 734 and grace his foragement, by being m.
*E3 1419 and reins you with a m. and gentle bit
*E3 2294 ah, be more m. unto these yielding men !

Milder.

*Loc 1725 ay, they are m. than the Britain king 2T 2158 and cause some m. spirits govern you

Mildly.

*Sel 873 more m. do th' unreasonablest beasts deal
1T 2122 to break his sword and m. treat of love
E2 1418 the Earl of Pembroke m. thus bespake
HLM 635 and for the same m. rebuk'd his son
*Con 1359 good my lord, entreat him m. for your life
*Con 1654 who m. hath his pardon sent to you

Mildness.

1T 1421 to signify the m. of his mind
*HLC 2016 too plain for the most silken m. of a maid
*TT 623 as he is fam'd for m., peace and prayer
*3H6 759 as he is fam'd for m., peace and prayer
*3H6 2181 and bear with m. my misfortune's cross
*3H6 2467 my m. hath allay'd their swelling griefs

Mile.

1F 871 the way he cut, an English m. in length
2F 847 the way he cut, an English m. in length 2T 420 our men of Barbary have march'd four hundred ms.
2T 1666 what, can ye draw but twenty ms. a-day
*Epg 408 he swears that Gaunt [Ed. A, Caunt] is three-score ms. about
*TT 611 some five ms. off the duke is with his power
*3H6 747 some six ms. off the duke is with the soldiers
*E3 1900 he, that hath far to go, tells it by ms.
E2 2377 at every ten m. [1622, ten ms.] end thou hast a horse

Mile-end.

*Con 1621 then go to M. Green, to Sir James Cromer his son-in-law

Militem.

Ov 478 sicuti nec m.

Militis.

Ept (Title) In Obitum Honoratissimi Viri, Rogeri Manwood, M.

Milk.

1T 2102 bring m. and fire
2T 270 their hair as white as m., and soft as down
JM 1827 came it freely ? did the cow give down her m. freely ?
E2 2062 inhuman creatures, nurs'd with tiger's m.
*HLC 1860 like the flower that Juno's m. did spring, the silver lily *1H6 2446 I would the m. thy mother gave thee when Milk-white.

1T 77 may view these m. steeds of mine all loaden
1T 287 with m. harts upon an ivory sled
1T 1256 resting herself upon my m. tent
1T 1860 sent ye out when first my m. flags
2T 433 John the Great, sits in a m. robe
2T 1796 shall mount the m. way, and meet him there
D 202 with mountain-heaps of m. sacrifice
D 616 these m. doves shall be his centronels
HLM 304 pearl, which down her face made m. paths
*Con 161 then will I raise aloft the m. rose
*Con 694 and in the same advance the m. rose
*2H6 255 then will I raise aloft the m. rose
*E3 1968 and let those m. messengers of time show

Mill.

*Epg 446 he's like a horse which, turning [MS. that turneth] round a m.
*Con 1592 thou hast built up a paper-m.
*2H6 2529 thou hast built a paper-m.

Millia.

Ept 9 cujus tot m. cultus Mortalium attonuit

Millington.

*Con (Title) Printed by Thomas Creed, for Thomas M.
*TT (Title) Printed by P. S. for Thomas M.

Millions.

*Sel 1619 offers me m. of diadems
*Sel 2545 whose only sight kills m. of men
*Loc 464 stout Albanact, with m. of men approacheth
*Loc 467 tut, let him come with m. of hosts
*Loc 712 beating down m. with his furious mood
*Loc 1405 m. of devils wait upon thy soul !
1T 1128 let him bring m. infinite of men
1T 2007 m. of men encompass thee about 1T 2258 m. [4to Million] of souls sit on the banks of Styx
2T 29 m. of soldiers cut the [4to soldiers out of] arctic line
2T 392 and m. of his strong tormenting spirits
2T 1977 my sword hath sent m. of Turks to hell
2T 2044 m. of Turks perish by Tamburlaine
*Con 339 and m. of treasure hath been spent
*E3 279 with many m. of a subject's thanks
*E3 1231 are many m. in respect of that small handful
*E3 1849 m. hide, masking as 'twere, the beauteous-burning su
*E3 1891 and make a thousand m. of a task which —

Milo.

L 323 'twas his troop hemm'd in M. being accus'd

Mind.

*Sel 173 to prove that true, which my m. did foretell
*Sel 193 could he not let his father know his m.
*Sel 229 thou wouldst have blushed at thy brother s m.
*Sel 271 shall here object against my forward m.
*Sel 353 whose m. in heavenly thoughts is clad
*Sel 444 Selim, thy m. in kingly thoughts attire
*Sel 595 would have increas'd the valour of thy m.
*Sel 758 for I shall sooner win my father's m.
*Sel 781 and to fond toys his captive m. inclines
*Sel 849 thus is our m. in sundry pieces torn
*Sel 885 to kiss his hands, and speak his m. to him
*Sel 1002 but Corcut's m., free from ambitious thoughts
*Sel 1248 Mustaffa, if my m. deceive me not
*Sel 1255 'tis but your highness' overchargèd m.
*Sel 1261 my m. presages me some future harm
*Sel 1366 land, which answers not his honours' [? owners'] greedy m.

*Sel 1460 as willingly, and with as good a m.
*Sel 1915 Selimus, could thou not content thy m.
*Sel 2138 then let me freely speak my m. this once
*Sel 2173 and if thou wilt not change thy greedy m.
*Sel 2343 you know contrary to my father's m.
*Lec 84 nay, Corineus, you mistake my m.
*Loc 104 unfold our royal m. and resolute intent
*Loc 150 I show'd the courage of my manly m.
*Loc 227 youngest in years, but not the young'st in m.
*Loc 357 to understand the drift of your m.
*Loc 435 do yield sweet contentation to my m.
*Loc 838 as a reward for this thy forward m.
*Loc 1000 for nothing can dismay my regal m.
*Loc 1376 are my deserts so quickly out of m.?
*Loc 1397 let not this fault so much incense your m.
*Loc 1539 Humber's m. can never rest
*Loc 1625 I mean not so to macerate my m.
*Loc 1638 to vex his m. with such a heartless child
*Loc 1666 you should have call'd to m. the *Loc 1672 do move her m., as certainly it will
*Loc 1821 thy filthy m., o'ercome with filthy lusts
*Loc 1939 glut my m. with lukewarm blood 1T 947 because I hear he bears a valiant m.
1T 1421 to signify the mildness of his m.
1T 1532 this is my m., and I will have it so
1T 1625 my m. presageth fortunate success
1T 2310 adding more courage to my conquering m.
2T 318 unless thou bear a m. courageous and invincible
2T 772 and feed my m. that dies for want of her 2T 918 my mother's death hath mortified my m.
2T 1390 't will please my m. as well to hear
2T 1591 forbids my m. to entertain a thought that tends to love 2T 1910 nor Tamburlaine, torture, or pain, can daunt my dreadless m.
2T 2279 nor bar thy m. that magnanimity that 1F 88 stretcheth as far as doth the m. of man
1F 345 and then resolve me of my master's m.
1F 537 I'll fetch him somewhat to delight his m.
1F 539 nothing, Faustus, but to delight thy m. withal
1F 587 ay, think so still, till experience change thy m.
1F 1016 if thou hast any m. to Nan Spit, our Kitchen-maid
2F 85 stretcheth as far as doth the m. of man 2F 329 and then resolve me of thy master's m.
2F 485 I'll fetch him somewhat to delight his m.
2F 487 nothing, Faustus, but to delight thy m.
2F 534 ay, think so still, till experience change thy m.
2F 913 and then devise what best contents thy m.
2F 1045 but now, that Faustus may delight his m.
2F 1535 take him, because I see thou hast a good m. to him
*FB 30 then had not I so vainly set my m.
*FB 45 what pleasure I did wish to please my m.
*JMS 43 all the ambition that his m. doth swell, is but to JM 1033 and now I can no longer hold my m.
JM 1598 you know my m.; let me alone with him
JM 2320 leave nothing loose, all levell'd to my m.
E2 130 either change your m., or look to see the throne
E2 170 command what so thy m. affects, or fancy likes
E2 235 were all the earls and barons of my m.
E2 525 it is impossible : but speak your m.
E2 533 she smiles; now, for my life, his m. is chang'd
E2 686 and, seeing his m. so dotes on Gaveston
E2 721 you know my m. : come, uncle, let's away
E2 747 that his banishment had chang'd her m.
E2 807 and still his m. runs on his minion!
E2 958 nay, now you are here alone, I'll speak my m.
E2 1356 argues thy noble m. and disposition
E2 1831 my lord, the Mayor of Bristow knows our m.
E2 2006 whose dauntless m. th' ambitious Mortimer
E2 2014 but when I call to m. I am a king
E2 2046 in which extreme my m. here murder'd is!
E2 2070 fills my m. with strange despairing thoughts
E2 2132 this poor revenge hath something eas'd my m.
E2 2277 when will the fury of his m. assuage?
E2 2462 let us assail his m. another while
E2 2530 my m. may be more steadfast on my God
E2 2540 let this gift change thy m., and save thy soul!
MP 640 his m., you see, runs on his minions
MP 806 is ruth, and almost death to call to m.
MP 1164 the sweet and princely m. your bear
MP 1234 to see your highness in this virtuous m.
D 321 yet thinks my m. that this is Priamus
D 327 thy m., Aeneas, that would have it so, deludes thy eye-sight
D 827 but, I am simple, without m. [Old ed. made] to hurt
D 990 and mould her m. unto new fancy's shapes
D 1093 I see Aenas sticketh in your m.
D 1438 while Italy is clean out of thy m.?
D 1696 to cure my m., that melts for unkind love
*HLD 5 putteth us in m. of farther obsequies due unto HLM 34 but, to her m., or warm or cool them
HLM 110 and stole away th' enchanted gazer's m.
HLM 398 her m. pure, and her tongue untaught to glose
HLM 628 so to his m. was young Leander's look
HLM 763 and in her own m. thought herself secure
*HLC 890 directed with an earth-exempted m.
*HLC 939 put him in m. of Hero or her bliss
*HLC 1323 which figur'd the division of her m.
*HLC 1373 and this by Fate into her m. was sent *HLC 1499 now, as with settled m. she [V. R. they] did repair
*HLC 1598 and one she choos'd, for temper [V. R. tempter] of her m.
*HLC 1702 ill may a sad m. forge a merry face
*HLC 1758 even the chastest m. he mov'd
*HLC 2003 bind in one self-sacred knot each other's [V. R. other] m.
Ov 140 when our lascivious toys come in thy m.
Ov 270 if, Boreas, bear'st [Old eds. beares] Orithyia's rape in m.
Ov 465 let thy tongue flatter, while thy m. harm works
Ov 520 pleasure and ease had mollified my m.
Ov 538 while thou wert plain, I lov'd thy m. and face
Ov 739 to please thyself, thyself put out of m.
Ov 880 your favour naught my m. inflames
Ov 1018 but my ambitious ranging m. approves?
Ov 1268 so with this love and that wavers my m.
Ov 1459 wherein is seen the giver's loving m.
Ov 1736 first of thy m. the happy seeds I knew
Ov 1787 or is my heat of m., not of the sky?
Ov 1887 though thou her body guard, her m. is stain'd
Ov 1889 nor canst by watching keep her m. from sin
Ov 2363 that I may love yet, though against my m.
L 186 his m. was troubled, and he aim'd at war
L 264 and Caesar's m. unsettled musing stood
L 273 whose tongue could tune the people to the nobles' m.
PS 27 if these delights thy m. may move [Not in P. P.]
*AT 63 the tree she in his m. had set brought poison forth
*Epg 171 and borrowing money, ranging [Eds. raging] in his m.
*Epg 526 thou hast the heavens so little in thy m.
*1H6 743 come hither captain, you perceive my m.

*1H6 822 nor misconster the m. of Talbot
*1H6 1285 I'll call for pen and ink, and write my m.
*1H6 1507 call we to m., and mark but this for proof
*1H6 2613 but with as humble lowliness of m.
*Con 173 then what shouldst thou lack that might content thy m.
*Con 211-212 as long as Gloster bears this base and humble m. [Q1 Q2 omit]
*Con 304 can any grief of m. be like to this
*Con 479 faith my lord, it is but a base m. that *Con 639 my m. doth tell me thou art innocent
*Con 700 for why my m. presageth I shall live to see
*Con 769 look you, I will tell you my m.
*Con 788 sweet Nell, ill can thy noble m. abrook, the *Con 941 Beaufort's fiery eyes shows his envious m.
*Con 1712 with my contented m. serves me as well, as *Con 1765 that I answered not at first, my m. was troubled
*2H6 25 the mutual conference that my m. hath had *2H6 137 my Lord of Winchester I know your m.
*2H6 322 while Gloster bears this base and humble m.
*2H6 420 but all his m. is bent to holiness
*2H6 682 'tis but a base ignoble m., that mounts no higher
*2H6 980 break we off ; we know your m. at full
*2H6 1104 ill can thy noble m. abrook the abject people, gazing
*2H6 1233 respecting what a rancorous m. he bears
*2H6 1252 and had I first been put to speak my m.
*2H6 1452 but in my m., that were no policy
*2H6 1590 by this, I shall perceive the commons' m.
*2H6 1846 sirs stand apart, the king shall know your m.
*2H6 2220 there's no better sign of a brave m., than a hard hand *2H6 2402 oft have I heard that grief softens the m.
*2H6 2715 continue still in this so good a m.
*2H6 2863 my m. was troubled with deep melancholy
*TT 368 and in thy m. over-run my former time
*TT 1096 why so I am in m. though not in show
*TT 1123 widow come some other time to know our m.
*TT 1558 Edward in m. will bear himself a king
*TT 1559 then for his m. be Edward England's king
*TT 1604 King Edward's noble m. his honours doth display
*TT 2002 suspicion always haunts a guilty m.
*TT 2064 let hell make crook'd my m. to answer it
*3H6 1372 why so I am (in m.) and that's enough
*3H6 1431 and come some other time to know our m.
*3H6 1491 but now you partly may perceive my m.
*3H6 1492 my m. will never grant what I perceive your *3H6 1648 but let thy dauntless m. still ride in triumph, over *3H6 2143 my m. exceeds the compass of her wheel
*3H6 2144 then for his m., be Edward England's king
*3H6 2562 my m. presageth happy gain, and conquest
*3H6 2863 suspicion always haunts the guilty m.
*3H6 2932 let hell make crook'd my m. to answer it
*E3 489 to ransack so the treasure [Old eds. treason] of her m.
*E3 796 and, when my m. turns so, my body sink
*E3 832 Derby, I'll look upon the Countess' m. anon
*E3 833 The countess' m., my liege? — I mean, the emperor
*E3 835 what's in his m.?
*E3 907 dost put into my m. how foul she is
*E3 1803 thine honourable m. deserves to be eternally admir'd
*E3 2042 ay, now I call to m. the prophecy
*E3 2332 with a lowly m. doth vail the bonnet
E2 2516 my m.'s distemper'd, and my body's numb'd
Ov 534 now all fear with my m.'s hot love abates
Ov 1231 I know not whither my m.'s whirlwind drives me
*Sel 348 to strike into our ms. a certain kind of love
*Sel 1089 that for to gratify their stubborn ms.
*Loc 56 and he that would annihilate their ms.
*Loc 61 no mortal force can countermand their ms.
*Loc 595 your haughty ms. and resolutions
*Loc 893 whose multitude did daunt our soldiers' ms.
1T 546 therefore cheer up your ms. ; prepare to fight 1T 827 let us put on our meet encountering ms.
1T 868 doth teach us all to have aspiring ms.
1T 1021 and might in noble ms. be counted princely
1T 1902 your fearful ms. are thick and misty 1T 1956 inspir'd their hearts, their ms.
2T 331 such speeches to our princely sons dismay their ms.
2T 1011 teach you, my boys, to bear courageous ms.
2T 1937 abject our princely ms. to vile and ignominous servitude
E2 836 and in your shields display your rancorous ms.?
E2 1630 droop not, madam ; noble ms. contemn despair
MP 216 though gentle ms. should pity others' pains MP 617 noble ms. change not their thoughts for MP 715 we must with resolute ms. resolve to fight
D 92 in managing these fierce barbarian ms.
D 1187 effeminate our ms., inur'd to war
HLM 715 and who have hard hearts and obdurate ms.
*HLC 1396 would set forth their ms. with virtues drawn
L 275 and draw the commons' ms. to favour thee
L 356 (though slaughter steel'd their hearts, and ms. were prone)
L 466 increas'd true fear, and did invade the people's ms.
L 521 lest some one might ease the commons' jangling ms.
*1H6 45 cease, cease these jars, and rest your ms. in peace
*1H6 408 but we shall meet, and break our ms. at large
*Con 1948 with bloody ms. did buckle with the foe
*TT 948 Oh would my death their ms. could satisfy
*TT 1537 then cry King Henry with resolved ms.
*TT 1883 for once with careful ms. guide on the stern
*3H6 2399 and fearless ms. climb soonest unto crowns
*E3 17 but not the rancour of rebellious ms.
*E3 414 beguile, and ravish, soft and human ms.?
*3H6 1915 I m. to tell him plainly what I think
*3H6 1976 and to that end, I shortly m. to leave you *3H6 2055 but if you m. to hold your true obedience, give *3H6 2019 belike she ms. to play the Amazon

Minded.

*Sel 1033 for all I know are m. as I am
*E3 68 no sooner m. to prepare for France
*3H6 1232 some troops pursue the bloody-m. queen
*Con 1309 yet let not that make thee bloody-m.
*2H6 2089 yet let not this make thee be bloody-m.
*TT 998 some troops pursue the bloody-m. queen
1T 584 shall massacre those greedy-m. slaves
E2 150 and that high-m. Earl of Lancaster
*1H6 541 but I will chastise this high-m. strumpet
*Con 298 and his proud wife, high-m. Eleanor
*Loc 914 when he beheld his noble-m. son slain
*1H6 1919 hath now entrapp'd the noble-m. Talbot
E2 373 ah, none but rude and savage-m. men
*Loc 616 there might we see the valiant-m. knights
*3H6 2452 well-m. Clarence, be thou fortunate

Mindful.

JM 807 to make me m. of my mortal sins
E2 1209 he will be m. of the courtesy

Minding.
Ov 1022 m. thy fault, with death I wish to revel
Ov 1334 go, m. to return with prosperous wind
Mine.
HLM 238 what difference betwixt [V. R. between] the richest m. and EPF 5 no molten crystal, but a richer m.
*Sel 783 whose worth is greater than the Indian ms.
*Loc 189 the wealthy ms. found in the bowels of America 1T 743 then will we [4to I] march to all those Indian ms.
1T 1359 offer their ms., to sue for peace, to me
2T 2230 lo, here, my sons, are all the golden ms.
JM 19 give me the merchants of the Indian ms.
2T 940 privy ditches, counter*ms.*, and secret issuings Mine : see Undermine Mined.
JM 598 mov'd your heart, though counter*m.* with brass
JM 2268 strong-counter*m.* with other petty isles
Minerals.
2T 1627 and simplest extracts of all m.
1F 166 well seen in [added by Dyce] m.
2F 158 enrich'd with tongues, well seen in m.
JM 1412 in Malta are no golden m.
Minerva.
*Sel 685 Mars, or M., Mahound, Termagaunt
1T 1034 or when M. did with Neptune strive
Ov 309 so, chaste M., did Cassandra fall
Ov 1800 to thee, M., turn the craftmen's hands
*Sel 2438 and darted cedars at M.'s shield
*Loc 720 and shot huge cedars at M.'s shield
D 459 a sacrifice t' appease M.'s wrath !
*HLC 2037 knit with M.'s knot
L 470 upon M.'s plain, where bulls are graz'd
L 598 matron, who alone might view M.'s statue Mingle.
1F 1392 break heart, drop blood, and m. it with tears
Ov 162 m. not thighs, nor to his leg join thine
Ov 2388 we cause feet fly ; we m. hairs with snakes
Ov 2469 and m. thighs, yours ever mine [ed. A, mine ever yours] to bear Mingled.
2T 92 darts m. with powder'd shot
2T 469 m. with coral and with oriental [Dyce orient] pearl
2T 966 a ring of pikes, m. with shot and horse
Ov 1369 nor in my act hath fortune m. chance
*1H6 527 and make a quagmire of your m. brains Minikin.
Ign 18 sing, nor run upon a high-stretch'd m.
Minion.
*Sel 561 no, let his m., his philosopher Corcut
*Sel 1223 no, m., you are too near akin to me
E2 133 the glozing head of thy base m. thrown E2 325 were he a peasant, being my m.
E2 382 the king is love-sick for his m.
E2 608 hark, how he harps upon his m. !
E2 807 and still his mind runs on his m. !
E2 952 your m. Gaveston hath taught you this E2 1128 he turns away, and smiles upon his m.
MP 764 which your wife writ to my dear m.
*HLC 1528 and said, « Now, m., to thy fate be true
*Con 379 Give me my glove. Why m. can you not see ?
*2H6 503 give me my fan : what m., can ye not ?
*2H6 449 she vaunted 'mongst her ms. t' other day
E2 495 fear ye not, madam, now his m.'s gone
2T 1032 ms., falc' nets, sakers [= ordnance]
E2 274 and let him frolic with his ms.
E2 688 the mightiest kings have had their ms.
MP 610 what say our ms. ? think they MP 640 his mind, you see, runs on his ms.
MP 761 do both salute our lovely ms.
MP 771 I love your ms. ! dote on them yourself
MP 994 and all his ms. stoop when I command
*TT 752 go rate thy ms. proud insulting boy
*3H6 896 go rate your ms., proud insulting boy Minister.
1F 561 Lucifer prince of the east, and his m. Mephistophilis
2F 507 Lucifer prince of the east, and his m. Mephistophilis
*1H6 2512 thou foul accursed m. of hell
*2H6 1571 and for a m. of my intent, I have *2H6 3082 whom angry heavens do make their m.
1T 2081 that may be ms. of my decay
1F 753 to burn his Scriptures, slay his ms.
*E3 1260 three ways these dreadful ms. of wrath do tread the *Loc 1477 in clownish shape to m. some food ?
*HLC 897 what doth plenitifully m. beauteous apparel
*HLC 1685 would pleasing matter m. to her conceits *2H6 31 and over-joy of heart doth m.
Minor.
2T 158 all Asia M., Africa, and Greece
2T 2021 our mighty host marcheth in Asia M.
Minos.
*Loc 273 and eke grim M., whom just Jupiter deign'd
Ov 2303 law-giving M. did such years desire
*TT 2012 thy father M. that denied our course
*3H6 2874 thy father M., that denied our course Minotaurs.
*1H6 2413 there M. and ugly treasons lurk
Mins'.
*Epg 220 when Marcus comes from M. [B, C, Minnes ; MS. for newes]
Mint.
*HLC 856 pied Vanity, the m. of strange attires Minute.
2T 1102 one m. and our days, and one sepulchre contain our bodies !
2F 1469 yet in a m. had my spirit return'd
D 1195 we will not stay a m. longer here
*HLC 2332 to Hero's tower, had that kind m. lasted
*Con 1225 and think it but a m. spent in sport
*2H6 1944 and think it but a m. spent in sport
*3H6 1086 thereby to see the ms. how they run
*3H6 1099 so ms., hours, days, months, and years, pass'd Minute-while.
*1H6 472 that walk'd about me every m.
Minx.
1F 827 what are you, Mistress M., the seventh and last ?
2F 746 and what are you, Mistress M., the seventh and last ?
Miracle.
1T 452 bears figures of renown and m.
2T 629 whose power is often prov'd a m.
2T 1985 come down thyself and work a m.
1F 37 affords this art no greater m. ?
2F 36 affords this art no greater m. ?
JM 13 would make a m. of thus much coin
*1H6 2273 be not offended Nature's m.
*1H6 2485 the greatest m. that e'er ye wrought
*Con 519 how now, now sirrha, what m. is it ?
*Con 573 my lords, Saint Albans here hath done a m.

*Con 592 a m., a m., let him be taken again, and whipp'd
*2H6 737 fellow, what m. dost thou proclaim?
*2H6 738 a m., a m.
*2H6 739 come to the king, and tell him what m.
*2H6 826 my lords, Saint Alban here hath done a m.
*2H6 854 Duke Humphrey has done a m. to-day 2T 1651 find as many wondrous ms. as in the theoria of 1F 163 the ms. that magic will perform 2F 155 the ms. that magic will perform will make *1H6 2460 to work exceeding ms. on earth
*2H6 856 but you have done more ms. than I

Mire.

*Sel 581 can thy soul wallowing in ambitious m. seek E2 2511 and there, in m. and puddle, have I stood
D 446 who, grovelling in the m. of Xanthus' banks
*Epg 126 which leaves his head, to travel in the m.
*1H6 527 and make a quag*m.* of your mingled brains

Mirror.

*Loc 1209 stout Hercules, the m. of the world 1T 1959 wherein, as in a m., we perceive the 1T 2271 wherein, as in a m., may be seen his honour
*HLC 2052 the saffron m. by which Phoebus' love
*1H6 492 how far'st thou, m. of all martial men?
*TT 1279 whose wisdom was a m. to the world
*3H6 1719 whose wisdom was a m. to the wisest
*E3 1146 say, m. of pale death, to whom belongs the Mirth.

1F 1192 as to delight you with some m.
2F 1037 now, Faustus, come, prepare thyself for m.
2F 1375 to delight your majesty with some m.
*HLC 1700 Hero striv'd to frame her thoughts to m.
*Epg 61 but for their m. and for their lechery
*1H6 584 all France will be replete with m. and joy
*1H6 791 thy m. shall turn to moan

Mirthful.

HLM 537 the m. god of amorous pleasure smil'd
*Con 669 he claimed the crown, deposed the m. king
*TT 2122 with stately triumphs and m. comic shows
*3H6 2989 with stately triumphs, m. comic shows
*E3 1215 doth spend the time in m. jollity

Misbegotten.

*1H6 2005 contaminated, base, and m. blood, I spill

Misbelief.

JM 561 Barabas, although thou art in m., and Misbelieving.

JM 719 against these barbarous m. Turks

Miscarry.

*1H6 1845 if he m., farewell wars in France
*2H6 2676 better ten thousand base-born Cades m.

Mischance.

*Sel 78 and overwhelmèd me in sad m.
*Sel 1781 then O thou blind procurer of m.
*1H6 90 lords view these letters, full of bad m.
*1H6 2032 to be shame's scorn, and subject of m.
*2H6 1890 m. unto my state by Suffolk's means
*2H6 1906 m. and sorrow go along with you
*3H6 1637 but now m. hath trod my title down
*3H6 1649 still ride in triumph, over all m.
*3H6 1896 I long till Edward fall by war's m.
*3H6 2139 yet Warwick, in despite of all m.

Mischief.

*Sel 37 for hidden m. lurketh in the dark
*Sel 2542 preventing such a m. from the land
*Loc 2015 one m. follows on another's neck
JM 1268 pac'd too long the fatal labyrinth of m.
JM 2051 and I know not what m. beside
JM 2415 let's hence, lest further m. be pretended
MP 41 ratify, in murder, m., or in tyranny
*HLC 1342 would staring haste, as with some m. cited
*HLC 1660 humours that their eyes did steep made them fear m.
*HLC 1672 ah, nothing doth the world with m. fill Ov 239 (O m. !) now for me obtain small grace
L 334 what end of m.?
L 644 what m. shall ensue?
L 670 O, Rome, continue the course of m.
*1H6 661 this sudden m. never could have fall 'n
*1H6 1215 you see what m., and what murther too
*1H6 1340 hath wrought this hellish m. unawares
*1H6 2258 a plaguing m. light on Charles, and thee
*1H6 2509 till m. and despair drive you to break your *2H6 3133 but that my heart's on future m. set
*E3 103 a voluntary m. hath less scorn, than
*E3 1249 slaughter and m. walk within your streets
Ov 319 slaughter and m.'s instruments, no better
JM 488 for religion hides many ms. from suspicion
*HLC 1447 it would ease [V. R. end] all doubt of threaten'd ms.
L 629 by these he seeing what ms. might ensue
*2H6 879 O God, what ms. work the wicked ones?
*2H6 2686 the name of Henry the Fifth, hales them to an hundred ms.

Mischievous.

*Sel 585 with that m. traitor Ramirchan?

Misconceived.

*1H6 2468 no m., Joan of Arc hath been a virgin

Misconster.

*1H6 821 nor m. the mind of Talbot
*E3 2470 but did m. what the prophet told
*Sel 180 your majesty ms. Selimus [Grosart misconstrues]

Misconstrues.

*Sel 180 your majesty m. Selimus [So Grosart : Qq misconsters]

Miscreant.

2T 633 this m. hath disgrac'd his faith
MP 1094 I curse thee, and exclaim thee m.
*1H6 1577 well m., I'll be there as soon as you
*1H6 2263 curse m., when thou com'st to the stake 1T 1331 now will the Christian ms. be glad

Misdeed.

*TT 1352 that I am clear from this m. of Edward's
*3H6 1823 that I am clear from this m. of Edward's
*E3 742 the king's great name will temper thy [Old eds. their] ms.

Misdeem.

*TT 947 how will the people now m. their king

Misdo.

MP 553 to m. the welfare of their king
*E3 732 what mighty men m., they can amend

Misdoubt.

*2H6 1548 and change m. to resolution

Misdoubteth.

*3H6 2866 with trembling wings m. every bush

Miser.

*HLC 1440 and make the rankest m. bountiful
*1H6 2426 decrepit m., base ignoble wretch
*HLC 2256 no m.'s nuptial joys
HLM 241 then treasure is abus'd, when ms. keep it

Miserable.

*Sel 1790 portending m. chance to me
*Loc 1533 with eating haws and m. roots
1T 1181 shall smile to see thy m. state

1F 1463 accursed Faustus, m. man
JM 348 to take the lives of m. men
E2 425 happy were I ! but now most m.
E2 466 O m. and distressèd queen !
E2 482 and so am I for ever m.
E2 1122 ay, Mortimer, the m. queen
E2 1887 have not in life or death made m. ?
E2 2088 heavens and earth conspire to make me m.
E2 2332 O, m. is that common-weal, where D 398 and who so m. as Aeneas is ?
D 400 then be assur'd thou art not m.
D 804 then never say that thou art m.
Ov 1160 lo, how the m. great-ear'd ass, dull'd
*Con 28 and nothing can make poor Margaret m., unless *Con 1573 why is 't not a m. thing, that of the skin of *2H6 1414 for what's more m. than discontent ?
*2H6 2210 O m. age : virtue is not regarded in handy-crafts-men
*2H6 2362 O gross and m. ignorance
*TT 406 I should lament thy m. state ?
*3H6 504 I should lament thy m. state ?
*3H6 1149 O pity God, this m. age !
*3H6 1585 Oh m. thought !

Miserably.

*TT 326 he be as m. slain as I
*3H6 410 he be as m. slain as I

Miserat.

Ov 620 Tebellas quas m. execratur

Miserere.

D 1546 m. domus labentis, et istam

Misericordia.

1F 1067 M. pro nobis ! what shall I do ?

Miseries.

*Sel 1279 to see sad pageants of men's m. ?
*Loc 247 and all my m. do end with life
*Loc 396 is the beginning of all his m.
*Loc 1189 to bring a corsive to our m. ?
*Loc 1279 O death, the haven of all m. !
*Loc 1329 O kingdom, object to all m. !
*Loc 1877 framed in the front of forlorn m. !
*HLC 1671 pierc'd with our human m. more than men
*1H6 89 to weep their intermissive m.
*1H6 995 just Death, kind umpire of men's m.
*Con 935 and would my death might end these m.
*2H6 1110 I'll prepare my tear-stain'd eyes, to see her m.

Miseris.

1F 497 Solamen m. socios habuisse doloris
2F 445 Solamen m. socios habuisse doloris

Misero.

*Loc 1530 O vita, m. longa, felici brevis !

Misery.

*Sel 1503 how shall he live, that full of m.
*Sel 1530 ['tis] that would end my woeful m.
*Sel 1911 damnèd Ambition, cause of all m. !
*Loc 1296 O soldiers, is there any m. to
*Loc 1787 foretelling some unwonted m.
*Loc 1902 that I may end my woeful m. !
1T 2061 and villainess to shame, disdain, and m.
1T 2165 to see them live so long in m. !
2F 1090 curs'd be your souls to hellish m. !
2F 1476 yet stay : the world shall see their m.
2F 1508 O, m. ! How now, Benvolio !
2F 1856 and pity of thy future m.
JM 349 than to be the causers of their m.
JM 412 'tis a m. to see a man in such affliction
JM 2150 what greater m. could heaven inflict ?
E2 2271 men are ordain'd to live in m.
E2 2285 this usage makes my m. increase
E2 2501 for she relents at this your m.
MP 194 to aggravate our sudden m.
D 157 though we be now in extreme m.
D 254 as poor distressèd m. may plead
*Epg 523 why dost thou, Marcus, in thy m. rail
*1H6 1439 for that's the end of human m.
*2H6 1413 my body round engirt with m.
*TT 1408 not that I pity Henry's m., but *3H6 1906 not that I pity Henry's m., but
*E3 2283 beholds us now brought low with m.

Misfortune.

*Sel 1249 some strange m. is not far from me
D 143 Priam's m. follows us by sea
Ov 938 or if he loves, thy tale breeds his m.
*3H6 2163 what late m. is befall'n King Edward ?
*3H6 2181 and bear with mildness my m.'s cross ?
E2 1934 centre of all ms. ! O my stars

Misgive.

*3H6 2325 so doth my heart m. me, in these conflicts
JM 1092 my heart ms. me, that, to cross your love
*E3 1146 my heart ms. : — say, mirror of pale death, to whom Misgoverned.

E2 1761 m. kings are cause of all this wreck

Mishap.

*Sel 681 then, Oh thou blindful mistress of m.
*Loc 1892 but a confused chaos of m.
*Loc 1895 since mighty kings are subject to m.
*Loc 1895[a] (ay, mighty kings are subject to m.)
*Loc 1965 doth feed the substance of his own m.
MP 177 the heavens forbid your highness such m. !
*HLC 2387 anger doth still his own m. increase
*1H6 23 what ? shall we curse the planets of m. ?
*TT 887 to see these dire ms. continue so

Misleader.

*2H6 2993 thou mad m. of thy brain-sick son

Misleading.

*3H6 2588 to plague thee, for thy foul m. me

Misled.

1T 41 hoping (m. by dreaming prophecies) to reign in E2 1749 is thus m. to countenance their ills !
*Con 1699 that by that [Q3 these] traitor's means were thus m.
*2H6 2636 the commons, whom thou hast m.
*3H6 1667 our people, and our peers, are both m.

Mislike.

*3H6 1934 setting your scorns, and your m. aside, tell me *2H6 138 'tis not my speeches that you do m.
*Epg 122 ms. the place, and fled into his feet

Misproud.

*TT 973 impairing Henry strengthened m. York
*3H6 1207 impairing Henry, strength'ning m. York

Miss.

2T 1548 run mourning round about the females' m.
*Sel 95 but he shall m. of that he aimeth at 2T 1362 if my father m. him in the field
E2 887 villain, thy life ! unless I m. mine aim
*HLC 2382 and could not m. the thread itself Ov 171 and, while he drinks, to add more do not m.

Missed.

MP 313 he m. him near, but we have struck him now
HLM 589 and now Leander, fearing to be m.
HLM 672 and fell in drops like tears because they m. him
*1H6 422 howe'er unfortunate, I m. my aim

Misses.
Ov 1596 or Phillis' tears that her Demophoon m.
Ov 2245 nor this last fire their presence m.
Mis-shaped.
*3H6 1604 until my m. trunk, that bears this head
Mis-shapen.
HLM 209 m. stuff are of behaviour boisterous and rough
*TT 804 but like a foul m. stigmatic
*TT 1948 thou perjur'd George, and thou m. Dick
*3H6 949 but like a foul m. stigmatic
*3H6 2797 and thou m. Dick, I tell ye all, I am Missing.
Ov 334 and on her neck a wanton's [ed. C, wanton] mark not m.
Missive : see Intermissive
Mist.
1F 1573 now draw up Faustus, like a foggy m.
2F 2104 now draw up Faustus, like a foggy m.
MP 694 is Guise's glory but a cloudy m. ?
*Loc 1784 casteth her ms. on shady Tellus' face 1T 612 enroll'd in flames and fiery smouldering ms.
1T 2088 smother the earth with never-fading ms.
2T 658 dazzled with the hellish ms. of death
*HLC 2160 men's rests fell like the ms. of death upon their eyes
*Epg 384 the cloudy ms. [MS. m.] before dim eyes appearing Mistake.
*Sel 1566 read it again, perchance thou dost m.
*Loc 85 nay, Corineus, you m. my mind
1T 598 and so m. you not a whit, my lord
JM 184 these silly men m. the matter clean
*LD 6 if I m. not, you are to accommodate yourself with *Epg 513 thou then art chang'd, and say'st thou didst m.
*1H6 822 did m. the outward composition of his body
*Con 380 I cry you mercy madam, I did m.
*Con 1838 if thou didst m., we pardon thee, kneel again
*Con 1839 why, I did no way m., this is my king
*2H6 2958 this is my king York, I do not m.
2F 1080 your grace ms. ; you gave us no such charge
E2 2029 your grace ms. ; it is for England's good
*2H6 2959 but thou ms. me much to think I do Mistaking.
*2H6 2951 for thy m. so, we pardon thee
Misthink.
*3H6 1169 m. the king, and not be satisfied ?
Mistress.
*Sel 681 then, Oh thou blindful m. of mishap
*Sel 941 to be the sovereign m. of my thoughts
*Loc 313 so it is, M. Dorothy, and the
*Loc 338 and carry this letter to M. Dorothy
*Loc 359 alas, M. Dorothy, this is my luck
*Loc 362 in plain terms, I love you, M. Dorothy
*Loc 366 farewell, m.
*Loc 1055 no, by my troth, M. Nicebice
*Loc 1062 if you be plain, M. Driggle-draggle
*Loc 1613 but where's my lady m., Guendolen ?
*Loc 1747 for Nemesis, the m. of revenge, sits 1T 1278 and how my slave, her m., menaceth ?
1F 813 her name was M. Margery March-beer
1F 827 what are you, M. Minx, the seventh and last ?
1F 993 he keeps such a chafing with my m. about it
1F 1001 my master and m. shall find that I can read 2F 746 and what are you, M. Minx, the seventh and last ?
2F 790 thou need'st [1631, needs] not do that, for my m. hath done it
JM 1203 O m. ! ha, ha, ha !
JM 1207 O m., I have the bravest, gravest, secret
JM 1232 I pray, m., will you answer me to one question ?
JM 1239 I will, forsooth, m.
JM 1916 and unto your good m. as unknown
JM 1977 sirrah, you must give my m. your posy
MP 1218 send thy m. word what this
D 1345 to rob their m. of her Trojan guest ?
HLM 328 but Pallas and your m. are at strife
Ov 25 I have no m. nor no favourite
Ov 237 for thee I did thy m. fair entreat
Ov 286 that when my m. there beholds thee cast
Ov 296 my m. weeps whom my mad hand did harm
Ov 322 over my m. is my power more great ?
Ov 385 « M., thou know'st thou hast a blest youth pleas'd
Ov 583 all for their m., what they have, prepare Ov 598 receive these lines ; them to thy m. carry Ov 643 and then with sweet words to my m. fitted
Ov 885 Bagous, whose care doth thy [ed. C, my] m. bridle
Ov 892 because thy [ed. B they] care too much thy m. troubled
Ov 952 ay me, an eunuch keeps my m. chaste
Ov 1143 This tomb approves I pleas'd my m. well
Ov 1198 well mayst thou one thing for thy m. use
Ov 1178 apt to thy m., but more apt to me
Ov 1201 telling thy m., where I was with thee
Ov 1399 thou giv'st my m. life, she mine again
Ov 1506 my hard way with my m. would seem soft
Ov 1528 why doth my m. from me oft divide ?
Ov 1805 let my new m. grant to be belov'd !
Ov 1810 for evermore thou shalt my m. be !
Ov 1829 my m. hath her wish ; my wish with me remain
Ov 1925 kindly thy m. use, if thou be wise
Ov 1933 thy waters stay ; I to my m. hast [= haste]
Ov 2129 when our books did my m. fair content
Ov 2264 in empty bed alone my m. lies
*Epg 53 yet on a time he call'd his m. whore
*Epg 268 making his m. march with men of war
*Epg 549 or what he shall unto his m. say
*Con 946 and you my gracious lady and sovereign m.
*2H6 396 that my m. was ? no forsooth : my *2H6 2196 until the queen his m. bury it
*TT 1340 I like it well that our fair queen and m., smiles
*3H6 1806 I like it well that our fair queen and m. smiles
*E3 461 write but in letters capital my m.' name
*E3 682 to be my m., and my secret love
Ov 486 his m.' doors this, that his captain's keeps Ov 498 this breaks town-gates, but he his m.' door
Ov 943 spying his m.' tears, he will lament
Ov 961 thy m.' ensigns must be likewise thine
Ov 1163 is charg'd to violate her m.' bed !
Ov 1278 and from my m.' bosom let me rise
Ov 1464 blest ring, thou in my m.' hand shall lie !
Ov 1468 then would I wish thee touch my m.' pap
Ov 1544 would I had been my m.' gentle prey
Ov 1591 my m.' deity also drew me fro it
Ov 1766 let us all conquer by our m.' favour
Ov 1828 my m.' wish confirm with my request
Mistrust.
JM 888 lest she m. the match that is in hand
E2 2531 what means your highness to m. me thus ?
E2 2549 if you m. me, I'll be gone, my lord
Ov 165 and with m. of the like measure vex'd
*Epg 440 doth no more m. him than [MS. omits] his brother
*2H6 1456 more than m., that shows him worthy death
*3H6 1115 when care, m., and treason waits on him

*3H6 2890 which now m. no parcel of my fear
JM 1631 I fear me he ms. what we intend Mistrustful.
*TT 1526 I hold it cowardice, to rest m. where a *3H6 2072 to rest m., where a noble heart hath Misty.
1T 1902 your fearful minds are thick and m.
HLM 195 and Night, deep-drench'd in m. Acheron
L 263 now light had quite dissolv'd the m. night
*2H6 2059 from their m. jaws, breathe foul contagious darkness Misused.
*Sel 1513 and shall he thus unmanly be m.
*Loc 1584 so Guendolen, seeing herself m.
Ov 297 I might have then my parents dear m.
Mithridate.
1T 1925 as are Thessalian drugs or m.
Mitigate.
*1H6 1187 pray uncle Gloster m. this strife
Mitre.
2T 434 whose triple m. I did take by force
E2 187 throw off his golden m., rend his stole
Mix.
D 1735 honour thee in death, and m. her blood with thine
*HLC 1836 and then m. mournful tales of others' deaths
*HLC 1866 as two clear tapers m. in one their light
*HLC 2008 moisture and heat must m.; so man and wife Mixed.
*Loc 1314 these roseal cheeks m. with snowy white
1T 818 m. their angry seeds at his conception
*HLC 1755 like form and colour m. in Hymen's face
*HLC 1865 m. so you [V. R. she] could not know it
*HLC 2249 the guilty Hellespont was m. and stain'd
*HLC 2337 and forth they brake, the seas m. with the sky
*HLC 2415 her m. soul could tell her love was dead
*HLC 2442 their wings, blue, red, and yellow, m. appear
Ov 632 yet, as if m. with red lead, thou wert ruddy
Ov 711 yet, although neither [Old eds. either], m. of eithers hue
Ov 1056 such as a rose m. with a lily breeds
*1H6 1457 by fair persuasions, m. with sugar'd words
*HLC 1749 such interm. affections [V. R. affection] should invade Ov 494 to suffer storm-m. snows with night's sharp cold?
Mixture.
*HLC 886 whose m. and first fire his love attains
*HLC 1745 white and crimson, meet in beauty's m.
Mixtured.
*1TA 11 to be m. in print with such matter of worth Mo.
MP 1121 and many m. to revenge our death [Dyce more]
HLM 318 as put [V. R. but] thereby, yet might he hope for m.
*AT 71 he groan'd, and word spoke never m.
*Epg 417 and five thousand m. so oft he hath recited [MS. reported] to *TT 530 and many soldiers m., who all at once let drive
*TT 637 and of their feather many m. proud birds
*TT 1834 for many wounds receiv'd, and many m. [Q3 more] repaid
*3H6 773 and of their feather, many m. proud birds
*E3 2059 this knight, and forty m., — of whom the Moan.
*Sel 427 and poor Ixion's lamentable m.?
*Sel 1506 and cowards spend the time in bootless m.
*Sel 1757 ah! where shall I begin to make my m.?
*Loc 63 cease your laments, and leave your grievous m.
D 248 to dull the air with my discoursive m.
HLM 60 none for whom succeeding times make [V. R. may] greater m.
*1H6 791 thy mirth shall turn to m.
*Con 972 where I may sit and sigh in endless m.
*3H6 2690 whiles in his m. the ship splits on the rock 1T 1813 their blubber'd cheeks, and hearty humble ms.
*HLC 1186 sing ms. to such delightsome [V. R. delightfull] harmony?
*HLC 1546 with ms. [V. R. moane] make swell their shining gorges
JM 428 what, woman! m. not for a little loss
JM 914 but to thyself smile when the Christians m.
E2 1641 O my sweet heart, how do I m. thy wrongs
*Loc 1911 would not bem. this mournful tragedy?
Moaned.
Ov 2097 caus'[d] deaf rocks to have lov'd [ed. B moned; C, moved]
*3H6 1171 was ever father so bem. his son?
Moaning.
1T 2072 whose m. intercourse hath hitherto been stay'd
*E3 2217 thy sweet becoming [Ed. B, bem.] speech to me Moat.
2T 744 throw them in the triple m. of hell
E2 2570 come, let us cast the body in the m.
Mobile.
1F 219 for is he not corpus naturale? and is not that m.?
2F 206 for is he not corpus naturale? and is not that m.?
2F 818 even to the height of Primum M.
Mock.
MP 770 know how I scorn'd them and their ms.
*Sel 1079 to m. thy son that lovèd thee so dear 1T 105 that dar'st to presume thy sovereign for to m.!
2T 1633 think you to m. me thus palpably?
Ov 1648 her lover let her m., that long will reign
*TT 1035 they m. thee Clifford, swear as thou wast wont
*TT 1229 on my back, where sits deformity to m. my body
*3H6 509 and I to make thee mad, do m. thee thus *3H6 1277 they m. thee Clifford, swear as thou wast wont
*3H6 1592 my back, where sits deformity to m. my body
*E3 230 she ms. at us; Douglas, I can't endure it Mocked.
HLM 830 and with his flaring beams m. ugly Night
Ov 448 Venus to m. men lends a senseless ear
Ov 1853 and, unreveng'd, m. gods with me doth scoff
Ov 2053 it m. me, hung down the head, and sunk
*3H6 2737 like the owl by day, if he arise, be m. and wonder'd at Mockery.
*Epg 388 which doth of physic make a m.
*TT 1409 but seek revenge on Edward's m.
*3H6 1907 but seek revenge on Edward's m.
Mockest.
Ov 2116 « why m. thou me? » she cried, « or, being ill, who Mocking.
*TT 1399 for m. marriage with the name of France
*3H6 1897 for m. marriage with a dame of France
*3H6 1941 for m. him about the marriage of the Lady Bona Modeiled.
*E3 875 O, how his mother's face, moulded [Dent m.] in his Moderamine.
*Loc 796 Qui regitis rigido Stygios m. lucos
Moderate.
Ov 254 see, Love with me, wine m. in my brain

Moderately.
Ov 1880 but yet their gift more m. use
Modest.
*Loc 445 the gentle blasts of Eurus' m. wind
*Loc 1703 you gentle winds, that with your m. blasts
JM 33 being of condition more m.
D 205 to wear their bow and quiver in this m. sort
D 730 to be more m. than her thoughts admit
*HLC 1560 suppress in m. cheeks your inward wantonness?
*HLC 1998 to show the m. shame, in coupling with a man
Ov 105 naked simplicity, and m. grace
Ov 981 if any eye me with a m. look
Ov 1998 she her m. eyes held down
L 266 infringing all excuse of m. shame
*3H6 2446 or m. Dian, circled with he nymphs
*E3 349 if she did blush, 'twas tender m. shame Modest: see Immodest
Modestly.
HLM 166 and m. they open'd as she rose
*1H6 2403 words sweetly plac'd, and m. directed Modesty.
JM 1762 though woman's m. should hale me back
D 869 fancy and m. shall live as mates
*Ign 3 I love thee not for thy sweet m.
*1H6 723 with m. admiring thy renown
*3H6 1512 her looks doth argue her replete with m.
Moist.
*HLC 901 the palm of Bounty ever m. preserving Ov 446 that this or that man may thy cheeks m. keep Ov 1474 would first my beauteous wench's m. lips touch
Ov 2321 to lay my body on the hard m. floor
Ov 735 all naked, holding in her wave-m. hands
*Loc 850 and m. the grassy meads with humid drops
*HLC 1885 then m. it freshly with another gale Moistened.
Ov 1496 a grassy turf the m. earth doth hide
*1H6 50 when at their mothers' m. eyes, babes shall suck Moist-lipped.
*HLC 1943 m., long-fac'd, thin like an iron wedge Moisture.
*Loc 442 and from the m. of the mountain tops
*Loc 988 and with his m. serveth all thy camp
*Loc 1522 the m. is derived into this arch
1T 894 the heat and m., which did feed each other
2T 1539 wanting m. and remorseful blood, dry up with anger
2T 2163 heat, whereby the m. of your blood is dried
*HLC 2008 m. and heat must mix; so man and wife Ov 1114 pure water's m. thirst away did keep
*TT 549 I cannot weep, for all my breast's m.
*3H6 683 all my body's m. scarce serves to quench my *E3 1172 as did her gushing m. break into the Mole.
1F 1166 had a wart or m. in her neck
2F 1326 had on her neck a little wart or m.
Molehill.
*TT 389 come make him stand upon this m. here
*TT 532 and then they set him on a m. there
*3H6 486 come make him stand upon this m. here
*3H6 1075 here on this m. will I sit me down Molest.
Ov 2260 and may th' earth's weight thy ashes naught m.!
Mollified.
Ov 520 pleasure and ease had m. my mind
Mollify.
E2 1118 had power to m. his stony heart
D 1644 my tears nor plaints could m. a whit Molossia.
*Loc 114 though Graecia frown'd, and all M. storm'd Molossians.
*Loc 68 and all the crew of the M.
Molten.
EPF 5 no m. crystal, but a richer mine
Moly.
*Epg 367 Homer of M. and Nepenthe [MS. Nepenthen] sings
*Epg 368 M., the gods' most sovereign herb divine
*Epg 373 M. is not so sovereign for a wound Moment.
*Sel 2234 and in a m. rent me all to nought
*Loc 1094 shall in a m. yield to Locrine's sword
E2 2033 which in a m. will abridge his life
HLM 806 in a m. took that which so long, so
*1H6 183 what towns of any m., but we have?
*1H6 814 and in a m. makes them desolate
*1H6 1785 who in a m., even with the earth, shall lay
*TT 247 an oath is of no m. being not sworn before a
*3H6 305 an oath is of no m., being not took before a Momentary.
*Sel 798 lest that our kingdom be too m.
Monarch.
*Loc 67 the Grecian m., warlike Pandrasus
*Loc 111 to Graecia's m., noble Pandrasus 1T (Title) became a most puissant and mighty m.
*1TA 5 that became so great a conqueror and so mighty a m.
1T 43 to make himself the m. of the East
1T 161 we here do crown thee m. of the East
1T 374 that I shall be the m. of the East
1T 941 the high and highest m. of the world
1T 956 most great and puissant m. of the earth
2T 169 born to be m. of the western world
2T 889 and wife unto the m. of the East
2T 2295 the m. of the earth, and eyeless monster that torments
2T 359 Tamburlaine, arch-m. of the world
2T 1509 made arch-m. of the world
1F 1070 m. of hell, under whose black survey great
1F 1460 more lovely than the m. of the sky
2F 1358 the mighty m., warlike Alexander
2F 1440 made the grim m. of infernal spirits tremble
2F 1919 more lovely than the m. of the sky
MP 811 to beat the papal m. from our lands
MP 1221 if I do, the papal m. goes to wreck
*1H6 2225 under the lordly m. of the north
*TT 443 hath that poor m. taught thee to insult?
*TT 1315 as may become a m. like himself
*3H6 545 hath that poor m. taught thee to insult?
*3H6 1758 as may beseem a m. like himself
1T 116 to quake and tremble at the Persian m.'s name
D 1030 Dido's heart, which ms. might not scale
Monarcha.
1F 261 Orientis princeps Belzebub, inferni ardentis m.
2F 248 Orientis princeps Belzebub, inferni ardentis m.
Monarchy.
1T 138 states and commons of this mighty m.
1T 504 defend his freedom 'gainst a m.
2F 1331 than if I gain'd [1624, I had gain'd] another m.
2F 1923 to view the subjects of our m.
E2 365 make several kingdoms of this m.
D 1443 vain man, what m. expect'st thou here?
*HLC 2336 for either's right pretended to the windy m.

L 335 at last learn, wretch, to leave thy m. !
*2H6 2765 contenteth me, and worth a m.
Monasteries.
MP 138 m., priories, abbeys, and halls
Monastery.
JM 1508 but here's a royal m. hard by
JM 2296 a m. which standeth as an out-house to the town
JM 2343 they are sent before, enter'd the m.
Moneth : see Month
Money.
*Loc 583 truly, master gentleman, I lack no m.
1F 1224 well, come, give me your m.; my boy will deliver him to you 2F 1541 well, I will not stand with thee : give me the m.
2F 1569 and give me my m. again
2F 1623 gave me my [Not in 1624, 1631] m. and fell to eating 2F 1634 I gave him his m.
2F 1728 we will be welcome for our m., and we will pay for what we take JMP 32 which m. was not got without my means
JM 227 and for the m. send our messenger
JM 250 and 'tis thy m., Barabas, we seek JM 251 how, my lord, my m. !
JM 339 you have my goods, my m., and my wealth
JM 357 the m. for this tribute of the Turk
JM 735 he'd give us present m. for them all
JM 814 having m. for their pains, are wondrous
JM 1147 counting-house, where I saw some bags of m.
JM 1526 true, I have m. ; what though I have ?
JM 1572 great sums of m. lying in the banco
JM 1767 I'll go steal some m. from my master
JM 1789 I'll write unto him ; we'll have m. straight
JM 1853 take thou the m. ; spend it for my sake
JM 1854 'tis not thy m., but thyself I weigh JM 1948 and send me m. you [Dyce, he] were best
JM 2224 great sums of m. for thy recompense
JM 2230 and let me see what m. thou canst make E2 921 who should defray the m. but the king ?
E2 1680 we will find comfort, m., men, and friends
MP 956 you will give us our m. ?
Ov 546 the whore stands to be bought for each man's m.
*Epg 171 and borrowing m., ranging [Eds raging] in his mind
*Epg 211 the fall of m., and burning of Paul's steeple
*Epg 461 which, when he hath no m. in his purse
*1H6 70 no treachery, but want of men and m.
*1H6 195 nor men nor m. hath he to make war
*1H6 1306 that come to gather m. for their corn
*1H6 2188 the sum of m. which I promis'd
*Con 759 and here Tom, take all the [Q2 my] m. that I have *2H6 534 without discharge, m., or furniture
*2H6 1064 and here Tom, take all the m. that I have *2H6 1270 levy great sums of m. through the realm
*2H6 2271 there shall be no m., all shall eat and drink on my score
*2H6 2680 Henry hath m., you are strong and manly
*TT 265 provide both men and m. to further our attempts
*Loc 580 he will not take press-m.
JM 266 first, the tribute-m. of the Turks shall all be levied
JM 1416 and for the tribute-m. I am sent JM 2111 whose goods we heard were sold for tribute-m. ?
Moneyed.
JM 249 thou art a merchant and a m. man
Moneyless.
*Epg 158 who from a [MS. which from the] dicing-house comes m.
'Mong : see Among Mongrel.
*Loc 872 with that his army made of m. curs
'Mongst : see Amongst
Monk.
MP 1058 tush, to be short, he meant to make me m.
2F 916 make his ms. and abbots stand like apes
JM 1509 good master, let me poison all the ms.
E2 1896 yet, gentle ms., for treasure, gold, nor fee
Monmouth.
*1H6 989 since Henry M. first began to reign
*1H6 1298 that Henry born at M. should win all Monsieur.
JM 1974 gramercy, m.
JM 2003 very mush : m., you be no his man ?
JM 2023 pardonnez moi, m. ; me be no well
E2 1662 M. Le Grand, a noble friend of yours, told MP 536 O M. de Guise, hear me but speak !
MP 659 and then shall M. wear the diadem
MP 1042 M. of Lorraine, sink away to hell !
MP 1054 did he not injure M. that's deceas'd ?
*Con 1588 delivering up the towns in France to M. Busmine-cue
*2H6 2520 giving up of Normandy unto M. Basimecu Monster.
*Sel 474 a favouring m. is false Selimus
*Sel 1239 knowing thou wert a m. like themselves
*Sel 2505 now Acomat, thou m. of the world
*Sel 2549 have rid that m., and his fellow-mates
*Loc 1502 Venus, convey this m. from the earth
*Loc 1504 Cupid, convey this m. to dark hell
1T 104 m. of nature, shame into thy stock
1T 824 or m. turnèd to a manly shape
1T 1574 a m. of five hundred thousand heads
2T 1528 O damned m. ! nay, a fiend of hell
2T 1907 vile m., born of some infernal hag
2T 2032 the m. that hath drunk a sea of blood
2T 2145 my slave, the ugly m. Death
2T 2296 the monarch of the earth, and eyeless m.
E2 848 'tis not the hugest m. of the sea, nor E2 1183 m. of men, that, like the Greekish strumpet
*HLC 1277 creates the m. Eronusis [V. R. Eronosus]
*Sel 1322 and all the damned ms. of black hell
*Sel 1669 when, after he had all his ms. quell'd
*Loc 260 Hercules, that tamed the hugy ms. of the world
*Loc 1117 that tamed the ms. of the threefold world
*Loc 1212 after so many ms. quell'd by force
E2 2065 see, ms., see ! I'll wear my crown again
L 588 such ms. Nature hatch'd against her kind
*Sel 2530 garden-m. paths that lead to crowns [Grosart m.-guarded]
Monster-guarded.
*Sel 2530 garden-monster paths that lead to crowns [Grosart m.]
Monstrous.
*Sel 1154 would put up such a m. injury ?
*Sel 1173 death, but even as m. as I can devise
*Sel 1216 but, as thou giv'st me such a m. death
*Sel 2436 and when the m. giant Monychus
*Loc 718 as when the m. giant Monychus
*Loc 764 rolleth hot flames from out her m. paunch
*Loc 1655 with ugly spots of m. infamy
*Loc 1960 would God she had the m. Hydra's lives
1T 815 so will I send this m. slave to hell
1T 1386 as m. as Gorgon prince of hell

1T 2033 hope of end to our infamous, m. slaveries
2T 956 fenc'd with the concave of a m. rock
2T 1208 stretching their m. jaws, grin with [8vo omits] their teeth 1F 1181 dog, bred in the concave of some m. rock 2F 1626 O, m. ! eat a whole load of hay !
JM 325 and covetousness, O, 'tis a m. sin !
JM 1472 O, m. villany !
JM 2428 O, m. treason !
E2 2669 thou hadst not hatch'd this m. treachery !
L 497 from the breach of Libyan Syrtes rolls a m. wave
*1H6 1639 O m. treachery
*Con 676 by means of that m. rebel Glendower
*Con 1481 O m. simplicity
*Con 1523 and that m. rebel Cade, hath sworn to *Con 1655 if you forsake this m. rebel here ?
*Con 1741 Jack Cade, and was it [Q3 this] that m. rebel
*Con 1766 I came to remove that m. rebel Cade
*2H6 2050 so bad a death, argues a m. life
*2H6 2283 he can write and read, and cast accompt. — O m.
*2H6 2573 O m. coward ! What, to come behind folks ?
*2H6 2811 is 't Cade that I have slain, that m. traitor ?
*2H6 2891 and fight against that m. rebel Cade
*2H6 2935 O m. traitor !
*TT 931 O m. times begetting such events
*TT 1224 O m. man, to harbour such a thought !
*3H6 1598 Oh m. fault, to harbour such a thought
*E3 508 O m. line ! put in the next a sword

Montague.

*TT 231 brother, and cousin M., give me leave to speak
*TT 257 thou cousin M., shalt to Norfolk straight
*TT 272 cousin M. post you hence
*TT 634 and therefore comes my brother M.
*TT 665 King Edward, valiant Richard, M.
*TT 1337 sent from your brother Marquis M.
*TT 1428 speak freely Clarence, Gloster, M. and Hastings
*TT 1510 but ere I go M. and Hastings
*TT 1516 so God help M. as he proves true
*TT 1714 and thou brother M., in Leicestershire
*TT 1734 where is our brother M. ?
*TT 1735 where is the post that came from M. ?
*TT 1777 M., M., for Lancaster
*TT 1778 traitorous M., thou and thy brother shall *TT 1837 thy brother M. hath breath'd his last
*TT 1843 and so the valiant M. gave up the ghost
*TT 2089 with them the two rough bears, Warwick and M.
*3H6 340 my brother M. shall post to London
*3H6 770 and therefore comes my brother M.
*3H6 801 King Edward, valiant Richard M.
*3H6 1802 sent from your brother Marquis M.
*3H6 1937 and you too, Somerset and M., speak freely
*3H6 1950 why, knows not M., that of itself, England is *3H6 2049 but ere I go, Hastings and M. resolve my doubt
*3H6 2058 so God help M. as he proves true
*3H6 2439 thou brother M., in Buckingham
*3H6 2455 sweet Oxford, and my loving M.
*3H6 2493 how far off is our brother M. ?
*3H6 2494 where is the post that came from M. ?
*3H6 2558 M., M., for Lancaster
*3H6 2608 now M. sit fast, I seek for thee
*3H6 2638 ah M., if thou be there, sweet brother, take my hand
*3H6 2644 come quickly M., or I am dead
*3H6 2645 ah Warwick, M. hath breath'd his last
*3H6 2694 and M. our top-mast : what of him ?
*3H6 2956 with them, the two brave bears, Warwick and M.

Montfort.

*E3 134 about the planting of Lord M. there ?

Montgomery.

*TT 1644 brother, this is Sir John M.
*TT 1649 thanks brave M.
*3H6 2375 brother, this is Sir John M.
*3H6 2380 thanks good M.
*3H6 2413 thanks brave M., and thanks unto you all

Month.

*Loc 638 laugh a m. and a day at him
1F 1330 in the dead time of winter and in the m. of January
1F 1554 a year, a m., a week, a natural day
2F 2085 a year, a m., a week, a natural day
JM 223 What respite ask you, governor ? — But a m.
JM 224 we grant a m. ; but see you keep your promise
JM 2001 two, three, four m., madam
JM 2291 to entertain Selim and all his soldiers for a m.
E2 1709 why, so : they bark'd apace a m. [1612, 1622, not long] ago *1H6 186 faintly besiege us one hour in a m.
*Con 45 ere the 30 [Q3 thirty day] of the next m. [Q2 moneth]
*Con 371 which shall be on the thirtieth of this m. [Q3 omits]
*Con 835 at Saint Edmond's-bury, the first of the next m.
*2H6 585 shall be the last of the next m.
*2H6 1167 holden at Bury, the first of this next m.
1T 1690 provided for a m.'s victual before-hand
*Sel 1830 and have not many ms. to live on earth
*Sel 1868 these twice six ms. never did behold 2T 421 in leaguer fifteen ms.
JM 398 toil'd to inherit here the ms. of vanity, and *Con 39 till term of eighteen ms. be full expir'd
*Con 60 till term of 18 ms. be full expired
*2H6 42 for eighteen ms. concluded by consent
*2H6 65 till term of eighteen ms. be full expir'd
*2H6 2702 but I was made a king at nine ms. old
*TT 108 when I was crown'd I was but nine ms. old
*3H6 115 when I was crown'd, I was but nine ms. old
*3H6 1099 so minutes, hours, days, ms., and years, pass'd
*3H6 1388 I was anointed king at nine ms. old

Monumenta.

Ept 12 Famaque marmorei superet m. sepulcri

Monument.

*Sel 2024 thy body — in this ancient m.
JM 1191 interr'd within one sacred m. of stone
*Con 1743 in my chamber shalt thou hang as a m.
*2H6 2394 this m. of victory will I bear
1F 48 are not thy bills hung up as ms.
1F 904 that I do long to see the ms. and 2F 45 are not thy bills hung up as ms.
2F 883 I do long to see the [1624, 1631, those] ms.
L 138 bearing old spoils and conquerors' ms.
*Epg 327 taught him that keeps the ms. at Westminster *1H6 1422 erects thy noble deeds as valour's ms.
*Con 80 reversing ms. of conquer'd France
*2H6 100 defacing ms. of conquer'd France
*2H6 1948 to wash away my woeful ms.

Monychus.

*Sel 2436 the monstrous giant M. hurl'd mount
*Loc 718 as when the monstrous giant M.

Mood.

*Loc 532 this brings us to a merry m. — Song
*Loc 712 beating down millions with his furious m.

*Loc 1277 and with my death must pacify their m.
1T 1135 well said, Theridamas ! speak in that m.
JM 410 in his ireful m. our words will but increase his E2 1829 I like not this relenting m. in Edmund
*Con 936 and stay their ms. for good King Henry's sake

Moody.

*1H6 1223 hath banish'd m. discontented fury
*3H6 2244 when after many m. thoughts, at last, by notes

Moody-mad.

*1H6 1823 but rather m. : And desperate stags

Moon.

*Loc 289 or else I was begotten and born in the wane of the m.
1T 69 before the m. renew her borrow'd light
1T 926 when the m. begins to join in one her semicircled horns
1T 1942 the m., the planets, and the meteors, light 2T 259 shall rise aloft and touch the horned m.
2T 695 makes the sun and m. as dark as when 2T 852 bear the figure of the semicircled m.
1F 282 be it to make the m. drop from her sphere
1F 682 tell me, are there many heavens above the m. ?
1F 705 the M. in twenty-eight days
2F 266 be it to make the m. drop from her sphere
2F 603 speak, are there many spheres above the m. ?
2F 607 even from the m. unto th' empyreal orb
2F 625 the M. in twenty-eight days
2F 817 from the bright circle of the horned m. even to the *FB 57 I then did wish both sun and m. to stay
JM 938 and every m. made some or other mad
D 978 women's hearts, that imitate the m. in every change
*HLC 1358 she wrought beside a m. in change
*HLC 1602 in [V. R. for] strife for chasteness with the M.
*HLC 1911 round as the m. at full, and full as bright
Ov 374 the purple m. with sanguine visage stood
Ov 695 the m. sleeps with [ed. A, and] Endymion every day
Ov 774 with sun and m. Aratus shall remain
Ov 817 with sun and m. Aratus shall remain
Ov 867 verses reduce the hornèd bloody m.
Ov 1057 or when the m. travails with charmèd steeds
L 219 the winter's wrath, and watery m. being three days old
L 415 or that the wandering main follow the m.
*Con 943 and dogged York that levels at the m.
*2H6 1371 and dogged York, that reaches at the m.
*E3 1081 figuring the horned circle of the m.
*HLC 1103 painted ms., whose lights profane Beauty's true heaven
*E3 1874 for, like a half-m., op'ning but one way, it rounds us in Moon-light.

*E3 503 let's see what follows that same m. line

Moon-line.

*E3 491 out with the m., I will none of it

Moor.

JM 21 the wealthy M., that in the eastern rocks
JM 841 rat'st thou this M. but at two hundred plates ?
JM 845 why should this Turk be dearer than that M. ?
JM 885 this M. is comeliest, is he not ?
L 213 albeit the M.'s light javelin or his spear sticks in 1T 1184 ye Ms. and valiant men of Barbary
1T 1231 I have of Turks, Arabians, Ms., and Jews, enough 1T 1539 these Ms., that drew him from Bithynia to 1T 2312 Egyptians, Ms., and men of Asia
2T 62 Jews, Arabians, Turks, and Ms.
2T 386 an host of Ms., train'd to the war
2T 1055 these Ms. shall cut the leaden pipes
2T 1109 Ms., in whom was never pity found
1F 148 as Indian Ms. obey their Spanish lords
2F 140 as Indian Ms. obey their Spanish lords
JM 682 our fraught is Grecians, Turks, and Afric Ms.
D 1269 as many Ms. as in the sea are little water-drops
L 257 and furious Cimbrians, and of Carthage Ms.

Moorish.

1T 1447 to suck up poison from the m. fens
*HLC 1107 base fool ! when every m. fool can teach that Moral.

*Epg 201 corrects old Holinshed our famous chronicler with m. rules
*E3 731 the m. is, what mighty men misdo, they can amend

Morality.

*HLC 979 by it M. and Comeliness themselves

Mordieu.

*E3 2169 m., they quoit at us and kill us up

More.

*Sel 62 was slain, the m. to augment my sad distress
*Sel 63 lost m. than ever I had gained theretofore
*Sel 83 but I shall have m. home-borne outrages
*Sel 99 the janissaries love him m. than me
*Sel 209 what, yet m. news ?
*Sel 297 I owe no m. to him than he to me
*Sel 369 no m. than him that dies in doing right
*Sel 694 he'll turn m. fiercely than before he came
*Sel 700 yet have we lost m. than our enemies
*Sel 720 shall now no m. wander on Stygian banks
*Sel 804 then may your lords m. easily provide
*Sel 822 it would the m. increase their insolentness
*Sel 847 then do we fear, m. than the child new-born
*Sel 900 then Selimus' cause had been m. tolerable
*Sel 908 Selim had m. than ever he deserv'd
*Sel 962 unsheath'd their swords to make m. war on us ?
*Sel 990 yet m. news ?
*Sel 1069 once m. will Bajazet be emperor
*Sel 1107 Acomat means to move him ten times m.
*Sel 1190 when I am dead, m. hind'rers shalt thou find
*Sel 1287 is ten times m. unnatural to me
*Sel 1421 m. bloody than the Anthropophagi
*Sel 1604 but m., to hear thou art so well reclaim'd
*Sel 1731 for nothing is m. hurtful to a prince
*Sel 1786 rest thou a while and gather up m. tears
*Sel 1794 poor Aga, had it not been much m. fair
*Sel 2092 I'll have no m. servants
*Sel 2183 and hath no m. co-rivals in the crown
*Sel 2378 but thou must yet seek for m. massacres ?
*Sel 2425 strangle her, Hali, let her scold no m.
*Sel 2510 I would have said as much and m. to thee
*Loc 189 a gift m. rich than are the wealthy mines
*Loc 239 my malady increasth m. and m.
*Loc 312 I think the m. haste the worse speed
*Loc 473 in number infinite m. than the
*Loc 732 the Britons' force is m. than all the
*Loc 916 lamented m. than I for Albanact
*Loc 938-947 and these and m., if need shall m. require
*Loc 1065 ere you go from hence, we must have m. words
*Loc 1422 what would you m., you fiends of Erebus ?
*Loc 1460 brings forth m. fruit than this accursed grove
*Loc 1496 and seven years m. he hopeth yet to live
*Loc 1608 none may m. bewail his mournful hearse
*Loc 1732 O no ; his death will m. augment my woes
*Loc 1734 m. dear to me than the apple of mine eye
*1TA 9 might seem m. tedious unto the wise

1T 152 whereat the soldiers will conceive m. joy than 1T 232 are adjuncts m. beseeming Tamburlaine
1T 273 think you I weigh this treasure m. than you?
1T 279 thy person is m. worth to Tamburlaine than 1T 286 m. rich and valurous than Zenocrate's
1T 400 could use persuasions m. pathetical
1T 401 nor are Apollo's oracles m. true
1T 430 in whom I m. rejoice than doth the king of Persia
1T 460 a pearl m. worth than all the world is plac'd
1T 563 and m. regarding gain than victory
1T 583 fighting m. for honour than for gold
1T 613 shall threat the gods m. than Cyclopian wars
1T 658 and m. than needs to make an emperor
1T 794 I judge the purchase m. important far 1T 798 and lose m. labour than the gain will quite 1T 805 but give him warning and [4to with] m. warriors 1T 913 so; now it is m. surer on my head than 1T 962 'twere requisite he should be ten times m.
1T 986 'tis m. than pity such a heavenly face should 1T 1032 his talk much [4to m.] sweeter than the Muses' song
1T 1045 and gives no m. than common courtesies
1T 1079 m. honour and less pain it may procure
1T 1099 and menace [4to meane] m. than they can well perform
1T 1117 withdraw as many m. to follow him
1T 1118 the m. he brags, the greater is the spoil
1T 1132 kings, m. mighty than the Turkish emperor 1T 1203 their limbs m. large and of a bigger size than 1T 1216 and speech m. pleasant than sweet harmony
1T 1598 is no m. dismay'd with tidings of his fall, than 1T 1672 let them be fed, it would do m. good 1T 1751 ay, tyrant, and m. meat
1T 1823 these m. than dangerous warrants of our death 1T 1947 whose sorrows lay m. siege unto my soul than 1T 1994 no m. there is not, I warrant thee, Techelles
1T 2026 m. than Cimmerian Styx or Destiny
1T 2047 O life, m. loathsome to my vexed thoughts [4to thought] 1T 2137 and tell my soul m. tales of bleeding ruth!
1T 2169 that she shall stay, and turn her wheel no m.
1T 2243 and add m. strength to your dominions
1T 2310 adding m. courage to my conquering mind
2T 21 m. than his camp of stout Hungarians
2T 194 a hundred kings and m., upon their knees
2T 219 and m. than this, for all I cannot tell 2T 263 m. precious in mine eyes than all the wealthy kingdoms 2T 296 shine in complete virtue m. than they 2T 401 it could not m. delight me than your sight
2T 404 in number m. than are the drops that fall when Boreas 2T 421 and lain in leaguer fifteen months and m.
2T 551 numbers, m. than infinite, of men
2T 664 shine downwards now no m.
2T 770 ah, sweet Theridamas, say so no m.!
2T 911 sorrow no m.; my sweet Casane
2T 932 the comers there may fall m. flat
2T 1136 in whose high looks is much m. majesty 2T 1164 Nature shew'd m. skill than when 2T 1185 (in number m. than are the [8vo this] quivering leaves 2T 1222 full fifty thousand m.
2T 1371 m. childish-valourous than manly-wise
2T 1595 m. force than Cynthia's in the watery wilderness
2T 1604 and listen m. to me
2T 1679 were not subdu'd with valour m. divine
2T 1786 m. white than Erycina's [Old eds. Hericinas] brows [8vo bowes] 2T 1807 respect'st thou m. thy slavish life than 2T 1817 m. strong than are the gates of death or hell
2T 1850 pains m. exquisite than ever traitor felt 2T 1854 we offer m. than ever yet we did
2T 1859 shall bide no m. regard of parle [Old eds. parlie]
2T 1884 which threaten'd m. than if the region
2T 1913 lake there lies m. gold than Babylon is worth 2T 1922 hence, let him speak no m.
2T 1942 m. than the thought of this doth
2T 2033 gapes still for m. to quench his thirst 2T 2166 but of a substance m. divine and pure 2T 2232 m. worth than Asia and the world beside 2T 2234 eastward behold as much m. land
2T 2261 m. than the ruin of our proper souls!
2T 2320 rocks m. steep and sharp than Caspian clifts [Dyce cliffs]
2T 2323 [any] m. than heaven's coach the pride of Phaeton 2T 2332 both their worths will equal him no m.!
1F 24 glutted m. [Dyce, now] with learning's golden gifts
1F 38 then read no m.; thou hast attain'd that end 1F 155 shadowing m. beauty in their airy brows than 1F 169 and m. frequented for this mystery than 1F 286 no m. than he commands must we perform
1F 481 thou art safe: cast no m. doubts
1F 502 and give thee m. than thou hast wit to ask
1F 517 my blood congeals, and I can write no m.
1F 617 if thou lovest me, think no [Not in 1604] m. of it
1F 641 nay, let me have one book m., — and then I have done
1F 656 'twas made for man, therefore is man m. excellent 1F 717 but in some years we have m., in some less?
1F 943 well, use that trick no m., I would advise you 1F 988 and so by that means I shall see m. than e'er
1F 1015 true, Ralph: and m., Ralph, if thou hast 1F 1023 no m., sweet Ralph: lets go and make clean 1F 1069 forgive me now, and I'll never rob thy library m.
1F 1219 alas, sir, I have no m.! — I pray you, speak for me 1F 1254 purged me of forty dollars: I shall never see them m.
1F 1292 let me go, and I'll give you forty dollars m.
1F 1300 well, this trick shall cost him forty dollars m.
1F 1460 m. lovely than the monarch of the sky
1F 1612 to practise m. than heavenly power permits
2F 37 then read no m.; thou hast attained that end 2F 147 shadowing m. beauty in their airy brows than 2F 161 and m. frequented for this mystery than 2F 270 no m. than he commands must we perform
2F 429 Faustus, thou art safe: cast no m. doubts
2F 450 and give thee m. than thou hast wit to ask
2F 465 my blood congeals, and I can write no m.
2F 555 and, if thou lov'st me, think no m. of it 2F 579 'twas made for man; then he's m. excellent 2F 639 in some years we have m., in some less?
2F 699 I'll not speak a word m. for a king's ransom
2F 745 I'll not speak a word m. for a king's ransom
2F 1064 Faustus, no m.: see where the Cardinals come!
2F 1264 shall add m. excellence unto thine art 2F 1384 I'll ne'er trust smooth faces and small ruffs m.
2F 1417 yet my heart [1624, 1631, heart's] m. ponderous than my head 2F 1446 devise how we may add m. shame to 2F 1534 but, if thou likest him for ten dollars m.
2F 1655 some m. drink, hostess!

2F 1664 as nothing in the world could please me m.
2F 1682 I will do m. than this for your content
2F 1686 this makes me wonder m. than all the rest 2F 1709 we have wit enough to be m. bold than welcome
2F 1919 m. lovely than the monarch of the sky
2F 2049 nothing, but vex thee m.
2F 2072 ten thousand tortures that m. horrid be 2F 2160 to practise m. than heavenly power permits
*FB 80 embrace true faith that never m. decays
*JMD 8 there is none m. able to tax ignorance
*JMD 11 over whom none can claim m. power
JMP 23 citadel commands much m. than letters can import
JM 33 being of condition m. modest
JM 65 m. than many merchants of the town are worth
JM 111 what m. may heaven do for earthly man
JM 127 but we have scambled up m. wealth by far
JM 217 that's m. than is in our commission
JM 219 'tis m. kingly to obtain by peace than to enforce
JM 241 soft, Barabas ! there's m. 'longs to 't than so
JM 303 live still ; and, if thou canst, get m.
JM 307 from little unto m., from m. to most JM 328 I must be forc'd to steal, to compass m.
JM 335 amount to m. than all the wealth in Malta
JM 341 and, having all, you can request no m.
JM 454 but they will give me leave once m., I trow, to JM 615 rests no m. but bare remembrance
JM 655 there's m., and m., and m.
JM 765 to have m. of the serpent than the dove
JM 766 that is, m. knave than fool
JM 843 no m., my lord
JM 846 because he is young, and has m. qualities
JM 977 daughter, a word m. : kiss him, speak him fair
JM 1066 stay her, but let her not speak one word m.
JM 1275 Abigail, I will : but see thou change no m.
JM 1312 ne'er shall she grieve me m. with her disgrace
JM 1351 and batten m. than you are aware
JM 1442 and naught to us m. welcome is than wars
JM 1461 and one offence torments me m. than all
JM 1626 no m., but so : it must and shall be done
JM 1698 why, a Turk could ha' done no m.
JM 1746 she sees m. in me than I can find in myself
JM 1786 ay, and such as — go to, no m. !
JM 1800 « if you do not — no m., but so »
JM 1837 the m. villain he to keep me thus JM 1882 Jew, I must ha' m. gold
JM 1887 and therefore I must have five hundred m.
JM 1965 but first let's ha' m. gold
JM 1991 give him a crown, and fill me out m. wine
JM 2026 one letter m. to the Jew
JM 2027 prithee, sweet love, one m., and write it sharp
JM 2059 one dram of powder m. had made all sure !
JM 2077 once m., away with him !
JM 2162 away ! no m. ; let him not trouble me
JM 2179 but Barabas will be m. circumspect
JM 2225 nay, m., do this, and live thou governor still JM 2338 well, since 'tis no m., I'll satisfy myself with that E2 144 not Hylas was m. mourn'd for of [1598 omits] Hercules
E2 147 no soul in hell hath felt m. torment
E2 164 I'll give thee m. ; for, but to honour thee, is E2 182 I did no m. than I was bound to do
E2 228 nay, m., the guard upon his lordship waits
E2 292 hath m. earldoms than an ass can bear
E2 300 but I long m. to see him banish'd hence
E2 372 because he loves me m. than all the world
E2 428 I shall be found, and then 't will grieve me m.
E2 444 I say no m. — judge you the rest, my lord
E2 478 but that will m. exasperate his wrath
E2 571 nay, m., when he shall know it lies in us to E2 599 I love him m. than he can Gaveston
E2 628 nor let me have m. wealth than I may E2 631 once m. receive my hand ; and let this be E2 633 and may it prove m. happy than the first !
E2 643 these silver hairs will m. adorn my court
E2 712 a jewel of m. value than the crown
E2 811 you have matters of m. weight to think upon
E2 825 my lord, mine's m. obscure than Mortimer's
E2 858 desir'd her m., and wax'd outrageous
E2 865 frolics not m. to see the painted spring
E2 889 no m. than I would answer, were he slain
E2 890 yes, m. than thou canst answer, though he live
E2 1000 and, when 'tis gone, our swords shall purchase m.
E2 1019 out of my sight, and trouble me no m. !
E2 1031 sweet uncle, speak m. kindly to the queen
E2 1055 scarce shall you find a man of m. desert
E2 1162 yet once m. I'll importune him with prayer
E2 1227 lest he bestow m. cost in burying him
E2 1256 cause yet m. bloodshed ? is it not enough
E2 1360 beside, the m. to manifest our love
E2 1383 commit not to my youth things of m. weight than E2 1386 on Atlas' shoulder shall not lie m. safe
E2 1782 I would he never had been flatter'd m. !
E2 1915 O, never m. lift up this dying heart !
E2 1973 parted from hence, never to see us m. ?
E2 2107 m. safety there is in a tiger's jaws
E2 2181 to set his brother free ; no m. but so
E2 2210 and by the way, to make him fret the m.
E2 2232 the m. my grief
E2 2251 the m. cause have I now to make amends
E2 2358 what else, my lord ? and far m. resolute
E2 2378 take this : away, and never see me m. !
E2 2386 fear'd am I m. than lov'd ; — let me be fear'd
E2 2439 at our command. — Once m., away with him !
E2 2456 much m. a king, brought up so tenderly
E2 2461 able to endure m. than we can inflict
E2 2523 O, speak no m., my lord ! this breaks my heart
E2 2530 my mind may be m. steadfast on my God
MP 141 and m., — of my knowledge, in MP 143 all this, and m., if m. may be compris'd
MP 266 and that I am not m. secure myself
MP 366 and mean once m. to menace us
MP 378 m. gold, or thou shalt have the stab
MP 483 all this, and m., your highness shall command
MP 508 there are a hundred Huguenots and m.
MP 585 cannot but march, with many graces m.
MP 603 all this and m., hath Henry with his crown
MP 604 and long may Henry enjoy all this, and m. !
MP 630 go, sirrah, work no m. till
MP 712 our quarrel is no m. but to MP 765 faith, this is m. than need
MP 767 'tis m. than kingly or emperious
MP 802 either never manage army m., or else
MP 859 my lord, to speak m. plainly, thus it is MP 1161 we will go talk m. of this within MP 1121 and many m. to revenge our death [Old ed. moe]
MPF 31 shall aim m. at thy end than extirpation
D 12 I vow, if she but once frown on thee m.
D 38 Hermes no m. shall show the world his wings
D 207 that they may trip m. lightly o'er the lawnds
D 246 and tell our griefs in m. familiar terms ?
D 293 might we but once m. see Aeneas' face, then
D 481 and, after him, a thousand Grecians m.

D 539 O, end, Aeneas ! I can hear no m.
D 661 no m., my child ; now talk another while
D 727 m. wealth than twenty thousand Indias can afford
D 730 to be m. modest than her thoughts admit
D 739 as, without blushing, I can ask no m.
D 766 flinging in favours of m. sovereign worth than D 819 Troy shall no m. call him her second hope
D 873 m. than melodious are these words to me
D 877 but, that thou mayst m. easily perceive how D 1048 what m. than Delian music do I hear
D 1131 whose yielding heart may yield thee m. relief
D 1141 Anna, that doth admire thee m. than heaven
D 1365 ye shall no m. offend the Carthage queen
D 1394 I'll be no m. a widow ; I am young
D 1413 Carthage shall vaunt her petty walls no m.
D 1448 and young Julus' m. than thousand years
*HLD 12 m. agreeable and thriving to his right children
HLM 53 because she took m. from her than she left
HLM 64 to hazard m. than for the golden fleece HLM 117 m. over-rules the flood than she HLM 188 wherewith Leander much m. was inflam'd
HLM 223 receives no blemish, but ofttimes m. grace
HLM 232 the ocean maketh m. majestical
HLM 234 who on Love's seas m. glorious wouldst appear?
HLM 335 these arguments he us'd and many m.
HLM 340 the m. she striv'd, the deeper was she strook
HLM 443 he inly storm'd, and wax'd m. furious
*HLC 492 and doth her love m. recompense
HLM 557 much m. in subjects having intellect
HLM 561 nothing saw that might delight him m.
HLM 565 the m. she striv'd, the m. a gentle
HLM 575 ne'er king m. sought to keep his diadem
HLM 638 and nothing m. than counsel lovers hate
HLM 643 the m. he is restrain'd, the worse he fares
HLM 730 the longing heart of Hero much m. joys, than HLM 741 the nearer that he came, the m. she fled
HLM 823 whence his admiring eyes m. pleasure took than
*HLC 847 m. harsh, at least m. hard, m. grave and high
*HLC 909 yet did the gentle flood transfer once m. this
*HLC 1125 these and m. grave conceits toil'd Hero's spirits
*HLC 1183 be embath'd, and swim in m. heart's-ease than *HLC 1229 hath heaven's strait fingers no m. graces for *HLC 1308 limbs sustain'd no m. but a most [V. R. m.] subtle veil
*HLC 1348 but, as she prick'd, it grew m. perfect still *HLC 1363 for maids take m. delight [V. R. delights], when *HLC 1449 and many m. effects this picture wrought
*HLC 1473 yet singularity she would use no m.
*HLC 1510 be never virgin's vow worth [V. R. vow with, and now with] trusting m. ! »
*HLC 1585 m. hold in base dissemblers is there not
*HLC 1629 the m. ill threats us, we suspect the less
*HLC 1654 he lov'd her m., to see the love
*HLC 1671 pierc'd with our human miseries m. than men
*HLC 1850 make his hope of bounteous Eucharis m. strong
*HLC 1877 it rag'd the m., because the [V. R. their] tide
*HLC 1890 loathing the lower place, m. than it loves the
*HLC 2108 Love's rite claims m. than banquets ; rise !
*HLC 2117 Love's rite claims m. than banquets ; rise !
*HLC 2125 Love's rite claims m. than banquets ; rise !
*HLC 2185 but doth repair m. tender fawns
*HLC 2253 m. blood was spilt, m. honours were addrest
*HLC 2284 keeping m. coil than if she danc'd upon *HLC 2385 the m. kind Neptune rag'd, the m. he *HLC 2423 m. than might have serv'd to kill her Ov 21 young oxen newly-yok'd are beaten m. than Ov 55 unwilling lovers Love doth m. torment than such as Ov 171 and, while he drinks, to add m. do not miss
Ov 216 Jove send me m. such afternoons as this !
Ov 274 or I m. stern than fire or sword will turn
Ov 281 the careful prison is m. meet for thee
Ov 322 over my mistress is my power m. great?
Ov 402 to yield their love to m. than one disdain'd
Ov 417 many to rob is m. sure, and less hateful Ov 463 when thou hast so much as he gives no m.
Ov 518 in heaven was never m. notorious fable
Ov 535 no m. this beauty mine eyes captivates
Ov 551 'tis shame their wits should be m. excellent
Ov 626 going out again, pass forth the door m. wisely
Ov 644 m. fitly had they [Old eds. thy] wrangling bonds contain'd Ov 688 not one in heaven should be m. base and vile?
Ov 699 I chid [Old eds. chide] no m. : she blush'd
Ov 704 but what had been m. fair, had they been kept?
Ov 846 born at Peligny, to write m. address
Ov 907 if long she stays, to think the time m. short
Ov 933 m. he deserv'd ; to both great harm he fram'd Ov 956 to kind requests thou wouldst m. gentle prove Ov 1178 apt to thy mistress, but m. apt to me
Ov 1209 m. glory by thy vanquish'd foes ascends
Ov 1252 light art thou, and m. windy than thy wings
Ov 1328 it is m. safe to sleep, to read a book
Ov 1380 she looking on them did m. courage give Ov 1493 with corn the earth abounds, with vines much m.
Ov 1531 maids' words, m. vain and light than falling leaves
Ov 1613 unless I err, to these thou m. incline than wars
Ov 1617 keep her for me, my m. desire to breed
Ov 1776 the m. thou look'st, the m. the gown envi'd
Ov 1724 and I deserve m. than thou canst in verity
Ov 1802 Castor loves horsemen m.
Ov 1880 but yet their gift m. moderately use
Ov 1907 what's kept we covet m. ; the care makes theft
Ov 1912 thy fear is than her body valu'd m.
Ov 1969 one Deïanira was m. worth than these Ov 1994 thou o'er a hundred nymphs or m. shalt reign
Ov 1995 for five-score nymphs or m. our floods contain Ov 2009 shame, that should make me blush, I have no m.
Ov 2016 while thus I speak, the waters m. abounded
Ov 2078 delighted her no m. than did the robe
Ov 2079 than did the robe or garment which she wore [ed. B, m.]
Ov 2083 what might I crave m., if I ask again
Ov 2105 drooping m. than a rose pull'd yesterday
Ov 2108 lie down with shame, and see thou stir no m.
Ov 2112 nay, m., the wench did not disdain a whit
Ov 2127 wit was sometimes m. precious than gold
Ov 2331 my love was cause that m. men's [ed. C, men] love she seiz'd Ov 2355 ah, she doth m. worth than her vices prove !
Ov 2370 who mine was call'd, whom I lov'd m. than any Ov 2460 be m. advis'd, walk as a puritan
Ov 2493 and I will trust your words m. than mine eyes
*LD 19 and, I hope, many m. succeeding offices
L 107 Parthians, y' afflict us m. than ye suppose
L 284 won with far less toil, and yet the honour's m.
L 476 and far m. barbarous than the French, his vassals
L 560 with m. and ugly joints than nature gives
L 578 such and m. strange black night brought forth
L 634 yet m. will happen than I can unfold
L 638 but Figulus, m. seen in heavenly mysteries
*Epg 94 nor hath m. scrapings nor m. dressings borne

*Epg 97 since he hath been in town, seven years and m. [So ed. A]
*Epg 97 since he hath been seven years in town, and m. [So eds. B, C]
*Epg 97 since he hath known this town, seven years and m. [So in MS.]
*Epg 134 but he devours m. capons in a [B, C, one] year than *Epg 148 « my fart », quod she ; which did m. laughter move
*Epg 162 Cosmus hath m. discoursing in his head than *Epg 176 the m. fool I [MS. I was a foole] to bribe so false a knave
*Epg 177 but he gave back my [MS. the] bribe ; the m. fool he *Epg 225 the fine youth Cyprius is m. terse and neat than the *Epg 232 he wastes m. time in dressing than a wench
*Epg 244 why expect [MS. respect] you m. of me than I of you ?
*Epg 267 but poet Decius m. audacious far
*Epg 285 no m. than a sweet, filthy, fine, ill-flavour'd whore
*Epg 296 when I dare swear [MS. say] he dares adventure m.
*Epg 297 m. than the brave, most all-daring wight [So ed. A]
*Epg 297 m. than the most brave and all-daring wight [So eds. B, C]
*Epg 401 this [MS. It] were enough, without discoursing m.
*Epg 440 doth no m. mistrust him than [MS. omits] his brother
*Epg 478 and he eats m. than would five-score suffice
*Epg 520 for she doth lay m. colour on her face than *Epg 543 whether of the gull'd people he be m. esteem'd for EPF 7 diamonds resolv'd, and substance m. divine
EPF 10 made them m. dear than ever was that *1H6 13 m. dazzled and drove back his enemies, than *1H6 41 m. than God or religious churchmen may *1H6 56 a far m. glorious star thy soul will make *1H6 68 these news would cause him once m. yield the ghost
*1H6 110 the circumstance I'll tell you m. at large
*1H6 121 m. than three hours the fight continued
*1H6 210 m. truly now may this be verified
*1H6 217 and hunger will enforce them to be m. eager
*1H6 301 he may mean m. than we poor men do know
*1H6 412 this cardinal's m. haughty than the devil
*1H6 547 this day is ours, as many m. shall be *1H6 578 m. blessed hap did ne'er befall our state
*1H6 593 her ashes, in an urn m. precious than the *1H6 647 ne'er heard I of a warlike enterprise m. venturous *1H6 738 no, truly, 'tis m. than manners will *1H6 817 and m. than may be gather'd by thy shape
*1H6 835 the garden here is m. convenient *1H6 870 stay lords and gentlemen, and pluck no m.
*1H6 1025 discover m. at large what cause that was *1H6 1114 lascivious wanton, m. than well beseems a
*1H6 1116 and for thy treachery, what's m. manifest ?
*1H6 1129 who preferreth peace m. than I do ?
*1H6 1244 away my masters, trouble us no m.
*1H6 1403 but now no m. ado, brave Burgundy, but gather
*1H6 1494 should grieve thee m. than streams of foreign gore
*1H6 1610 much m. a knight, a captain, and a leader
*1H6 1629 no m. but plain and bluntly ? (To the King)
*1H6 1733 suspicious I m. incline to Somerset, than York
*1H6 1764 m. rancorous spite, m. furious raging broils
*1H6 1772 but m., when envy breeds unkind division
*1H6 1872 Lucy farewell, no m. my fortune can *1H6 1976 no m. can I be sever'd from your side, than *1H6 2023 all these, and m., we hazard by thy stay
*1H6 2035 then talk no m. of flight, it is no boot
*1H6 2331 to be a queen in bondage, is m. vile, than is *1H6 2558 possess'd with m. than half the Gallian territories *1H6 2564 coveting for m., be cast from possibility of all *1H6 2611 and which is m., she is not so divine, so full *1H6 2631 why what (I pray) is Margaret m. than that ?
*1H6 2650 marriage is a matter of m. worth
*1H6 2666 (m. than in women commonly is seen)
*1H6 2669 is likely to beget m. conquerors
*Con 26 lest I should speak m. than becomes a woman
*Con 51 which dims mine eyes that I can read [Q3 see] no m.
*Con 119 m. like a ruffian than a man of church [Q3 the church]
*Con 199 away I say, and let me hear no m.
*Con 245 but whist Sir John, no m. of that I trow
*Con 279 we'll hear m. of this [Q3 this thing] before the king
*Con 292 that seeks to him m. than to King Henry
*Con 303 was worth m. wealth than all my father's lands
*Con 341 I say Somerset is m. worthy than York
*Con 444 now question me no m., for I must hence again
*Con 488 how now my lord, why this is m. than needs
*Con 514 had not your man cast off so soon, we had had m. sport to-day
*Con 601 have done I say, and let me hear no m. of that *Con 681 what plain [Q3 omits] proceedings can be m. plain
*Con 726 for Henry will be no m. protected
*Con 756 I thank you all, but I'll drink no m.
*Con 765 Peter, what m. ? — Thumpe
*Con 938 and thousands m. must follow after me
*Con 988 lest that in living he offend us m.
*Con 1089 be woe for me m. wretched than he was *Con 1191 where I have rule, but three days m., he dies
*Con 1226 No m. Sweet Suffolk hie thee hence to France
*Con 1264 from thee to die, were torment m. than death
*Con 1347 threatens m. plagues than mighty Abradas
*Con 1378 then they had m. need to go to bed now
*Con 1386 but sirrah, who comes m. [Q3 else] beside Jack Cade ?
*Con 1390 and a great sort m. is come from Rochester
*Con 1451 is there any m. of them that be knights ?
*Con 1590 and m. than so, thou hast most traitorously
*Con 1726 I pray God I may never eat grass m.
*Con 1972 and m. such days as these to us befall
*2H6 147 nay m., an enemy unto you all
*2H6 173 his insolence is m. intolerable than all the *2H6 184 m. like a soldier than a man o' th' church
*2H6 275 and never m. abase our sight so low
*2H6 310 away from me, and let me hear no m.
*2H6 400 we'll hear m. of your master before the king
*2H6 436 but can do m. in England than the king
*2H6 438 cannot do m. in England than the Nevils
*2H6 443 m. like an empress, than Duke Humphrey's wife
*2H6 625 have done, for m. I hardly can endure
*2H6 697 no m. than becomes so good a quarrel

*2H6 719 we had had m. sport
*2H6 856 but you have done m. miracles than I
*2H6 870 as m. at large your grace shall understand
*2H6 996 you madam, for you are m. nobly born
*2H6 1045 or m. afraid to fight, than is the appellant
*2H6 1070 Peter? what m.? — Thump. — Thump?
*2H6 1283 ah what's m. dangerous, than this fond affiance?
*2H6 1307 unless thou wert m. loyal than thou art
*2H6 1333 I say no m. than truth so help me God
*2H6 1365 for thousands m., that yet suspect no peril
*2H6 1414 for what's m. miserable than discontent?
*2H6 1445 believe me lords, were none m. wise than I
*2H6 1456 m. than mistrust, that shows him worthy death
*2H6 1459 'tis York that hath m. reason for his death
*2H6 1518 no m., good York; sweet Somerset be still *2H6 1539 no m. of him: for I will deal with him
*2H6 1540 that henceforth he shall trouble us no m.
*2H6 1555 my brain, m. busy than the labouring spider
*2H6 1676 be woe for me, m. wretched than he is *2H6 1702 because thy flinty heart m. hard than they, might *2H6 1897 no m. I say: if thou dost plead for him
*2H6 1971 I can no m.: live thou to joy thy life
*2H6 2007 from thee to die, were torture m. than death
*2H6 2031 Oh torture me no m., I will confess
*2H6 2159 threatens m. than Bargulus, the strong Illyrian pirate
*2H6 2182 m. can I bear, than you dare execute
*2H6 2183 hale him away, and let him talk no m.
*2H6 2203 they have the m. need to sleep now then
*2H6 2214 nay m., the king's council are no good workman
*2H6 2360 and m. than that, he can speak French
*2H6 2392 I desire no m.
*2H6 2487 he'll never call ye Jack Cade m.
*2H6 2624 the giving up of some m. towns in France
*2H6 2700 and could command no m. content than I?
*2H6 2786 I pray God I may never eat grass m.
*2H6 2858 m. like a king, m. kingly in my thoughts
*2H6 2860 till Henry be m. weak, and I m. strong
*2H6 2933 give place: by heaven thou shalt rule no m. o'er him
*2H6 3045 that's m. than thou canst tell
*2H6 3100 York not our old men spares: no m. will I their babes
*2H6 3126 secure us by what we can, which can no m. but fly
*2H6 3173 and m. such days as these, to us befall
*TT 92 I'll have m. lives, than drops of blood were in my *TT 94 urge it no m., lest in revenge thereof, I send *TT 252 and once m. claim the crown
*TT 351 I dare your quenchless fury to m. blood
*TT 431 whose tongue [Q3 tongue's] m. poison'd than the adder's tooth
*TT 473 but you are m. inhuman, m. inexorable
*TT 474 O ten times m. than tigers of Arcadia
*TT 526 O speak no m., for I can hear no m.
*TT 548 for never shall I have m. joy
*TT 565 the words would add m. anguish than the wounds
*TT 571 and now to add m. measure to your woes
*TT 592 or m. than common fear of Clifford's rigour
*TT 720 and would my father had left me no m.
*TT 722 as asks a thousand times m. care to keep
*TT 889 away, away, once m. sweet lords farewell
*TT 936 woe above woe, grief m. than common grief
*TT 970 m. than my body's parting from my soul
*TT 1018 now his evil-boding [Q2 yll boding] tongue no m. shall speak
*TT 1092 m. than I seem, for less I should not be
*TT 1093 a man at least, and m. I cannot be
*TT 1180 I speak no m. than what my heart intends
*TT 1182 and that is m. than I will yield unto *TT 1187 no m. than when my daughters call thee mother
*TT 1192 argue no m., for thou shalt be my queen
*TT 1202 and so much m. are the wonders in extremes
*TT 1275 and thou no m. art prince than she is queen
*TT 1298 and m. than so, my father even in the *TT 1312 the m., that Henry is unfortunate
*TT 1353 no m. my king, for he dishonours me
*TT 1437 would m. have strengthen'd this our commonwealth
*TT 1487 he m. incensed than the rest my lord
*TT 1513 tell me, if you favour him m. than me or not
*TT 1613 yet comfort yourself, for Edward hath m. friends
*TT 1663 I am resolv'd once m. to claim the crown
*TT 1699 he shall help you m., than you art hurt by me
*TT 1761 alas that Warwick had no m. foresight
*TT 1797 for henceforth I will prove no m. unconstant
*TT 1798 welcome Clarence, and ten times m. welcome than *TT 1834 for many wounds receiv'd, and many mo [Q3 m.] repaid
*TT 1840 and m. he would have spoke [Q2 saide] and m. he said
*TT 1853 and once m. try our fortune in the field
*TT 1863 and mean once m. to menace us
*TT 1877 once m. have we spread our sails abroad
*TT 1914 then no m. but this
*TT 1958 ere you come there, you shall hear m. news
*TT 2034 thy mother felt m. than a mother's pain
*TT 2043 die prophet in thy speech, I'll hear no m.
*TT 2044 ay and for much m. slaughter after this
*TT 2080 once m. we sit in England's royal [Q3 omits] throne
*3H6 99 I'll have m. lives than drops of blood were in my *3H6 101 urge it no m., lest that instead of words, I send *3H6 327 what resteth m.? but that I seek occasion how to *3H6 447 I dare your quenchless fury to m. rage
*3H6 532 whose tongue m. poisons than the adder's tooth
*3H6 576 but you are m. inhuman, m. inexorable
*3H6 577 Oh, ten times m. than tigers of Hyrcania
*3H6 652 Oh speak no m., for I have heard too much
*3H6 682 never, oh never shall I see m. joy
*3H6 703 the words would add m. anguish than the wounds
*3H6 709 and now to add m. measure to your woes
*3H6 729 or m. than common fear of Clifford's rigour
*3H6 862 and would my father had left me no m.
*3H6 864 as brings a thousand-fold m. care to keep *3H6 1040 away, away: once m. sweet lords farewell
*3H6 1133 and no m. words, till they have flow'd their fill *3H6 1155 woe above woe: grief, m. than common grief
*3H6 1180 for the loss of thee, having no m.
*3H6 1185 here sits a king, m. woeful than you are *3H6 1204 m. than my body's parting with my soul
*3H6 1259 and his ill-boding tongue, no m. shall speak *3H6 1339 forbear awhile, we'll hear a little m.
*3H6 1359 that she (poor wretch) for grief can speak no m.
*3H6 1368 m. than I seem, and less than I was born to *3H6 1522 I speak no m. than what my soul intends *3H6 1524 and that is m. than I will yield unto *3H6 1530 no m., than when my daughters call thee mother
*3H6 1536 answer no m., for thou shalt be my queen

*3H6 1585 and m. unlikely than to accomplish twenty *3H6 1620 I'll drown m. sailors than the mermaid shall *3H6 1621 I'll slay m. gazers than the basilisk
*3H6 1623 deceive m. slily than Ulysses could *3H6 1673 the m. we stay, the stronger grows our foe
*3H6 1674 the m. I stay, the m. I'll succour thee
*3H6 1715 and thou no m. art prince, than she is queen
*3H6 1738 was done to death? and m. than so, my father
*3H6 1753 the m., that Henry was unfortunate
*3H6 1824 no m. my king, for he dishonours me
*3H6 1851 for matching m. for wanton lust, than honour
*3H6 1948 would m. have strengthen'd this our commonwealth *3H6 1995 I hear, yet say not much, but think the m.
*3H6 2021 he, m. incens'd against your majesty, than all the rest
*3H6 2052 tell me, if you love Warwick m. than me
*3H6 2108 'tis the m. honour, because m. dangerous
*3H6 2189 to set the crown once m. on Henry's head
*3H6 2228 come then away, let's have no m. ado
*3H6 2284 it is m. than needful forthwith that *3H6 2290 let me entreat (for I command no m.) that *3H6 2307 he must help you m., than you are hurt by me
*3H6 2322 and we shall have m. wars before 't be long *3H6 2336 once m. I shall interchange my waned state
*3H6 2350 my liege, I'll knock once m. to summon them
*3H6 2456 and all at once, once m. a happy farewell
*3H6 2472 they why should they love Edward m. than me?
*3H6 2531 alas, that Warwick had no m. forecast
*3H6 2548 wind-changing Warwick now can change no m.
*3H6 2570 prevails m. than the nature of a brother's love
*3H6 2581 to keep that oath, were m. impiety, than *3H6 2593 for I will henceforth be no m. unconstant
*3H6 2594 now welcome m., and ten times m. belov'd
*3H6 2648 and m. he would have said, and m. he spoke *3H6 2689 and give m. strength to that which hath too much *3H6 2716 m. than with ruthless waves, with sands and rocks
*3H6 2750 I need not add m. fuel to your fire *3H6 2756 therefore no m. but this: Henry your *3H6 2901 thy mother felt m. than a mother's pain
*3H6 2909 I'll hear no m.: die prophet in thy speech
*3H6 2912 ay, and for much m. slaughter after this *3H6 2947 once m. we sit in England's royal throne
*E3 39 ah, wherein may our duty m. be seen
*E3 110 is far m. thorny-pricking than this blade
*E3 155 march, and once m. repulse the trait'rous Scots
*E3 211 my liege, I crave the lady, and no m.
*E3 303 m. than the sun, steal mine own light from me
*E3 309 eye, that m. persuades than winning oratory?
*E3 312 m. happy do not make our outward wall, than
*E3 329 m. gracious than my terms can let thee be
*E3 346 but no m. like her oriental red, than brick to coral
*E3 360 she is grown m. fairer far since I came hither
*E3 361 her voice m. silver every word than other
*E3 362 her wit m. fluent
*E3 413 how much m. shall the strain [Q A strains] of poet's wit
*E3 424 for, were thy admiration ten times m.
*E3 425 ten times ten thousand m. the worth exceeds
*E3 451 glass, doth make m. fair the yellow amber
*E3 470 hers m. than most, mine most, and m. than m.
*E3 471 hers m. to praise, than tell the sea by drops
*E3 472 nay, m., than drop the massy earth by sands
*E3 477 « m. fair, and chaste, than is the queen of shades »
*E3 487 « m. fair, and chaste »
*E3 493 say, she hath thrice m. splendour than the sun
*E3 504 « m. fair, and chaste, than is the queen [Old eds. lover] of shades »
*E3 505 « m. bold in constancy »
*E3 583 I wish no m. of thee, than thou may'st give
*E3 607 how much m., to infringe the holy act made
*E3 770 an honourable gave is m. esteem'd than
*E3 842 what says the m. than Cleopatra's match to Caesar now?
*E3 911 the sin is m., to hack and hew poor men, than to
*E3 919 to speak the m. than heavenly word, of yea, to *E3 950 no m.; thy husband and the queen shall die
*E3 956 nay, you 'll do m.; you 'll make the river too
*E3 962 O perjur'd beauty! m. corrupted judge!
*E3 978 my resolution is m. nimbler far, than thy
*E3 1125 to look our foes m. sternly in the face
*E3 1139 affrights not m., than kings, when they
*E3 1180 until their lofty tops were seen no m.
*E3 1410 father, range your battles, prate no m.
*E3 1494 to dignify whose lusty spirit the m.
*E3 1511 m. in the clust'ring throng are press'd to death
*E3 1537 we have m. sons than one, to
*E3 1557 exclaim no m.
*E3 1566 and ever after dread their force no m.
*E3 1702 poor silly men, much wrong'd and m. distress'd!
*E3 1883 Death's name is much m. mighty than his deeds
*E3 1884 thy parcelling this power hath made it m.
*E3 1892 which, briefly, is no m., indeed, than one
*E3 1905 that France hath no m. kings
*E3 1917 if not, this day shall drink m. English blood
*E3 2137 O, for m. arrows!
*E3 2177 make up once m. with me
*E3 2256 no m., Queen Philippe, pacify yourself
*E3 2294 ah, be m. mild unto these yielding men!
*E3 2340 his name I reverence, but his person m.
*E3 2373 the duke, m. full of honour than his angry sire
*E3 2405 and when we could no m. discern the difference
*E3 2475 so Thou wilt grant, that many princes m., bred
*Sel 2088 the m.'s the pity

More : see Mo and Evermore

*Epg 393 which by Sir Thomas M. hath been propounded

More-better.

*Con 1116 m. colour'd than when he liv'd

Moreover.

*2H6 2534 m., thou hast put them in prison

Morisco.

*2H6 1581 I have seen him caper upright, like a wild M.

Morn.

*Sel 1885 « from m. to even, her tongue ne'er lies »
*Sel 2256 that, ere the windows of the M. be ope
*Loc 272 and old Tithonus, husband to the m.
*Loc 465 meaneth ere the m. to try your force 2T 836 that shew fair weather to the neighbour m.
JM 640 he said he would attend me in the m.
HLM 585 now had the M. espied her lover's steeds
HLM 819 and round about the chamber this false m.
*HLC 1022 which ever since a red m. doth foretell
Ov 366 sees not the M. on rosy horses rise
Ov 720 oft in the m., her hairs not yet digested
Ov 1013 amber-tress'd [ed. A, yellow trest] is she? then on the M. think I
Ov 1286 and in the m. been lively ne'ertheless
Ov 2192 if Thetis and the M. their sons did wail
*1H6 2443 the m. that I was wedded to her mother
*Con 869 but now let one meet him even in the m.

*2H6 1222 but meet him now, and be it in the m., when
*TT 1507 and on the morrow m., I'll march to meet
*E3 2284 did in the orient purple of the m. salute our coming forth Morning.
*Sel 1897 this m. while I was making me ready
*Loc 480 whenas the m. shews his cheerful face
*Loc 738 thus in the m. of my victories!
1T 852 even at the m. of my happy state
1T 1030 or when the M. holds him in her arms
2T 1672 and blow the m. from their nostrils [4to nosterils]
1F 619 and bring them every m. to thy bed
1F 1544 if I live till m., I'll visit you
2F 557 and bring them every m. to thy bed
2F 1257 if a man be drunk over night, the devil cannot hurt him in the m.
2F 2027 if I live till m., I'll visit you
JM 573 farewell; remember to-morrow m.
JM 670 and, for the raven, wake the m. lark
E2 1284 in the m. we will discharge thee of thy charge
MP 981 how fares it this m. with your excellence?
D 102 shall make the M. haste her grey uprise
D 1623 and in the m. he was stoln from me
HLM 397 her breath as fragrant as the m. rose
HLM 600 though it was m., did he take his flight
*HLC 1907 with news as wholesome as the m. air
*HLC 2416 and when the M. fell prostrate upon the Ov 285 on this hard threshold till the m. lay
Ov 680 nor m. stars shun thy uprising face!
Ov 700 yet linger'd not the day, but m. scar'd me
PS 26 sing for thy delight each May m. [Not in P. P.]
*Epg 236 when Cineas comes amongst his friends in m.
*Con 206 the king and queen to-morrow m. will ride
*TT 508 lo how the m. opes her golden gates
*TT 1675 as early as the m. sun, lifts up his beams
*3H6 623 see how the m. opes her golden gates
*3H6 2417 and when the m. sun shall raise his car
*E3 2208 too bright a m. breeds a louring day
1T 953 we mean to take his m.'s next arise
1T 1775 unto the watery m.'s ruddy bower
1T 1932 and, like to Flora in her m.'s pride, rain'st
*2H6 284 with sweet rehearsal of my m.'s dream?
*3H6 1062 this battle fares like to the m.'s war Morocco.
1T 1161 kings of Fez, M. [Old eds. Moroccus], and Argier
1T 1767 and Usumcasane, king of M. [Old eds. Moroccus] 1T 1772 kings of Argier, M. [Old eds. Moroccus], and of Fez
2T 373 Kings of M. [Old eds. Morocus] and of Fez, welcome 2T 382 thanks, king of M. [Old eds. Morocus] Moroccus.
1T 1161 kings of Fez, Morocco [Old eds. M.], and Argier
1T 1767 and Usumcasane, king of Morocco [Old eds. M.] 1T 1772 kings of Argier, Morocco [Old eds. M.], and of Fez
2T 373 Kings of Morocco [Old eds. Morocus] and of Fez, welcome 2T 382 thanks, king of Morocco [Old eds. Morocus]
Morpheus.
JM 642 give charge to M. that ne may dream a golden dream
HLM 355 whose sound allures the golden M.
*HLC 1823 dull M. enter'd, laden with silken [V. R. silke] chains
*HLC 1846 but Hymen now us'd M.' friendly aid Morphew.
*Epg 275 an [C, and] ill-shap'd face, with m. overspread Morrow.
MP 979 good-m. to your majesty
MP 980 good-m. to my loving cousin of Guise
*TT 1507 and on the m. morn, I'll march to meet
*1H6 1342 God-m. gallants, want ye corn for bread?
Mors.
*Loc 268 for fatal M. expecteth all the world
*Loc 787 that tremble at the name of fatal M.
1F 67 Stipendium peccati m. est
2F 64 Stipendium peccati m. est
E2 831 the motto this, Undique m. est
Mort.
E2 90 M. dieu!
MP 696 M. Dieu! were not the fruit
MP 778 par la m. de Dieu [Old ed. mor du] *2H6 121 deliver'd up again with peaceful words. M. Dieu
Mortal.
2F 1851 no m. can express the pains of hell
*HLC 1562 t' exchange with ms. rites for rites in love!
*Sel 1359 would thus requite his love with m. hate
*Loc 16 for the sharp shaft gave him a m. wound
*Loc 61 no m. force can countermand their minds
*Loc 1472 that guid'st the life of every m. wight
*Loc 1561 take it, and keep it from all m. eyes
*Loc 1883 and welcome, death, the end of m. smart!
*Loc 1907 my mother murder'd by a m. wound!
*Loc 1932 ill may they fare that wrought your m. ends
2T 603 my m. well-deserved wound
2T 1951 the m. fury of great Tamburlaine
*FB 78 where you shall never féar such m. pain
JM 807 to make me mindful of my m. sins
D 189 whose looks set forth no m. form to view
D 835 Juno, my m. foe, what make you here?
*HLC 1842 so cast these virgins' beauties mutual [V. R. m.] rays
Ov 765 thy scope is m.; mine, eternal fame
Ov 808 thy scope is m.; mine, eternal fame
Ov 1555 to pray a m. nymph's refusing lord to stay
*AT 67 for, in a deadly m. strife
*2H6 281 be my last breathing in this m. world
*2H6 1867 the m. worm might make the sleep eternal
*TT 685 who 'scapes the lurking serpent's m. sting?
*TT 1401 but I return his sworn and m. foe
*3H6 827 who 'scapes the lurking serpent's m. sting?
*3H6 895 or bide the m. fortune of the field
*3H6 1090 how many years, a m. man may live
*3H6 1899 but I return his sworn and m. foe
*3H6 2585 I here proclaim myself thy m. foe
*E3 301 with light to take light from a m. eye
*E3 2184 I hope, my lord, that is no m. scar
*E3 2186 the count is cast, and, in the worst, ends but a m. man
*E3 2416 had been prevented of this m. grief!
Mortal : see Immortal
Mortality.
*1H6 1960 here on my knee I beg m.
*1H6 2062 in thy despite shall 'scape m.
Mortality : see Immortality.
Mortalium.
Ept 10 cujus tot millia vultus m. attonuit
Mortalized : see Immortalized
Mortally : see Immortally
Mortem.
*Sel 660 Non timeo m. : mortis mihi displicet author
Ov 1082 In m. psittaci
Ov 2191 Tibulli m. deflet

Mortified.
2T 918 my mother's death hath m. my mind
2T 2267 my body's m. lineaments [4to laments]
JM 549 for she has m. herself
JM 550 How! m.! — And is admitted to the sisterhood Mortimer.
E2 (Title) with the tragical fall of proud M.
E2 81 that villain, M., I'll be his death
E2 89 for M. will hang his armour up
E2 91 well, M., I'll make thee rue these words
E2 121 bridle thy anger, gentle M.
E2 254 unto the forest, gentle M.
E2 288 farewell, sweet M.; and for my sake
E2 301 the name of M. shall fright the king
E2 315 lay hands on that traitor M.!
E2 331 here, M., sit thou in Edward's throne
E2 362 young M. and his uncle shall be earls
E2 443 on M.: with whom, ungentle queen
E2 450 thou art too familiar with that M.
E2 490 ah, M., now breaks the king's hate forth
E2 506 ay, M.; for, till he be restor'd
E2 522 sweet M., sit down by me a while E2 527 my lords, albeit the queen win M.
E2 541 fie, M., dishonour not thyself!
E2 593 and M. will rest at your command
E2 618 that you have parled with your M.?
E2 650 but wherefore walks young M. aside?
E2 725 not M., nor any of his side
E2 814 but tell me, M., what's thy device
E2 832 proud M.! ungentle Lancaster!
E2 888 ah, furious M., what hast thou done?
E2 947 what, M., you will not threaten him?
E2 1017 traitor be gone! whine thou with M.
E2 1035 the younger M. is grown so brave, that E2 1112 yes, yes, for M. your lover's sake
E2 1122 ay, M., the miserable queen
E2 1150 no, M.; I'll to my lord the king
E2 1155 and therefore, gentle M., be gone
E2 1157 but think of M. as he deserves
E2 1158 so well hast thou deserv'd, sweet M.
E2 1243 how mean'st thou, M.? that is over-base
E2 1312 I know the malice of the younger M.
E2 1415 would not bide the hearing, M. hardly E2 1444 treacherous Warwick! traitorous M.!
E2 1463 thou com'st from M. and his complices
E2 1560 sweet M., farewell!
E2 1563 go, take that haughty M. to the Tower
E2 1567 what, M., can ragged stony walls immure
E2 1602 M., I stay thy sweet escape
E2 1607 M., 't is I
E2 1655 M., reserv'd for better hap, hath
E2 1715 reward for them can bring in M.?
E2 1738 ah, villains, hath that M. escap'd?
E2 1794 proud M., why dost thou chase thy E2 1801 Edward, this M. aims at thy life
E2 1803 M. and Isabel do kiss, while they conspire
E2 1809 proud M. pries near into thy walks
E2 1908 in fear of M. and his confederates
E2 1909 M.! who talks of M.?
E2 1910 who wounds me with the name of M.?
E2 1921 the queen's commission, urg'd by M.
E2 1922 what cannot gallant [1612, 1622, omit] M. do [Dyce, 1598 and 1612 omit] with the queen?
E2 1947 nay, so will hell and cruel M.
E2 2007 mind th' ambitious M. would seek to curb
E2 2016 wrongs, that M. and Isabel have done
E2 2021 by M., and my unconstant queen
E2 2028 to make usurping M. a king?
E2 2031 no, 'tis for M., not Edward's head
E2 2034 but, if proud M. do wear the crown
E2 2044 to give ambitious M. my right
E2 2078 traitors, be gone, and join you with M.
E2 2094 then send for unrelenting M.
E2 2106 let not that M. protect my son
E2 2130 by M., whose name is written here!
E2 2161 sweet M., the life of Isabel
E2 2189 but, M., as long as he survives
E2 2200 as thou intend'st to rise by M.
E2 2229 in health, sweet M. — How fares your grace?
E2 2258 with you I will, but not with M.
E2 2259 why, youngling, 'sdain'st thou so of M.?
E2 2261 help, uncle Kent! M. will wrong me
E2 2266 M. shall know that he hath wronged me
E2 2269 to be reveng'd on M. and thee
E2 2274 will hateful M. appoint no rest?
E2 2337 the king must die, or M. goes down
E2 2399 the queen and M. shall rule the realm
E2 2422 M., I did: he is our king
E2 2571 and bear the king's to M. our lord
E2 2578 or else die by the hand of M.
E2 2587 ah, M., the king my son hath news
E2 2595 now, M., begins our tragedy
E2 2609 but you, I fear, conspir'd with M.
E2 2616 yes, if this be the hand of M.
E2 2622 ah, M., thou know'st that he is slain!
E2 2627 for my sake, sweet son, pity M.!
E2 2636 farewell, fair queen: weep not for M.
E2 2641 spill not the blood of gentle M.!
E2 2643 else would you not entreat for M.
E2 2665 my lord, here is the head of M.
E2 656 and as for you, Lord M. of Chirke
E2 670 Lord M., we leave you to your charge
E2 1246 my Lord M., and you, my lords, each one
E2 1264 and you, Lord M.?
E2 1651 Lord Edmund, and Lord M. alive!
E2 1659 no, my Lord M., not I, I trow
E2 1732 « Lord Edmund and the Lord M. »
E2 2330 the court is where Lord M. remains
E2 2415 Lord M., now take him to your charge
E2 1093 whereof we got the name of M.
*1H6 968 let dying M. here rest himself
*1H6 973 argue the end of Edmund M.
*1H6 1088 here dies the dusky torch of M.
*Con 650a was married to Edmund M. Earl of March and Ulster [So in Q3]
*Con 655 the fifth was Roger M., Earl of March [So in Q1 Q2]
*Con 1039 under the title of John M. [Q2 Sir John M.]
*Con 1398 my father was a M.
*Con 1449 kneel down John M., rise up Sir John M.
*Con 1464 for look you, Roger M. the Earl of March
*Con 1548 now is M. lord of this city
*Con 1554 that calls me any [Q2 omits] otherwise than Lord M.
*2H6 935 who married Edmund M., Earl of March
*2H6 950 who was the son of Edmund M.
*2H6 1575 under the title of John M.
*2H6 1588 for that John M., which now is dead
*2H6 2238 my father was a M.
*2H6 2315 rise up Sir John M.
*2H6 2329 Edmund M. Earl of March married
*2H6 2431 Jack Cade proclaims himself Lord M.

*2H6 2477 now is M. lord of this city
*2H6 2483 treason for any, that calls me other than Lord M.
*2H6 2522 by these presence, even the presence of Lord M.
*TT 102 thy grandfather Roger M., Earl of March
*3H6 109 thy grandfather Roger M., Earl of March
*3H6 347 Sir John, and Sir Hugh M., mine uncles E2 825 my lord, mine's more obscure than M.'s
E2 1570 M.'s hope surmounts his fortune far
E2 78 those two Ms., that cross me thus
E2 149 now let the treacherous Ms. conspire
E2 293 and both the Ms., two goodly men
E2 1362 and that the Ms. are in hand withal
E2 953 the family of the Ms. are not so poor, but E2 1787 and leave the Ms. conquerors behind?
*1H6 1057 thus the Ms., in whom the title rested
*Con 1461 but I come of the Ms.
*TT 274 Sir John and Sir Hugh Ms. [Q3 M.] mine uncles

Mortis.

*Sel 660 Non timeo mortem: m. mihi displicet author

Mortuary.

*Sel 2007 to celebrate his tomb-black m.

Moscow.

JM 1570 Frankfort, Lubeck, M., and where not
*E3 1052 and from great M., fearful to the Turk

Moss.

Ov 724 when they were slender, and like downy m.

Most.

*SP 3 but a m. lamental history
*Sel 2 of the m. tyrannical Tragedy and Reign of Selimus
*Sel 240 and think that then thy empire is m. sure
*Sel 475 whose fairest words are m. pernicious
*Sel 1032 m. gracious lord, myself will speak for all
*Sel 1113 not like a son, but a m. cruel foe
*Sel 1256 which feareth m. the things it least desires
*Sel 1290 which of you both shall Bajazet m. wail?
*Sel 1552 why, that's the thing that I requested m.
*Sel 1804 Night! thou m. ancient grand-mother of all
*Sel 2053 but a sweet calm of a m. quiet state
*Sel 2251 for he, you know, is m. unmerciful
*Loc 22 m. loyal lords, and faithful followers
*Loc 91 m. noble lord, if aught your loyal peers
*Loc 205 m. of all deny that which they m. desire
*Loc 293 my m. dainty-fair eyes
*Loc 360 that when I m. would, I cannot be understood
*Loc 450 m. fortunate, if Humber may them win
*Loc 524 m. happy men we coblers be. — Song
*Loc 653 « and that which grieves me m. »
*Loc 749 must now depart, m. lamentably slain
*Loc 895 he with a courage m. heroical
*Loc 929 he loves not m. that doth lament the m.
*Loc 945 in manly manner m. invincible
1T (Title) became a m. puissant and mighty monarch
1T (Title) as they were sundry times m. stately showed upon stages
*1TA 15 unto your m. courteous and favourable protection
*1TA 18 Yours, m. humble at commandment, R[ichard] J[ones], printer 1T 717 m. happy [4to happiest] emperor, in humble terms I vow
1T 956 m. great and puissant monarch of the earth 1T 989 (which of your whole displeasures should be m.
1T 1051 but m. astonied to see his choler
1T 2119 but m. accurs'd, to see the sun-bright troop
2T 320 whose head hath deepest scars, whose breast n. wounds
2T 1279 that m. may vex his body and his soul
1F 79 ay, these are those that Faustus m. desires
1F 310 yes, Faustus, and m. dearly lov'd of God 1F 474 that make men foolish that do trust them m.
1F 1006 why, the m. intolerable book for conjuring that e'er
1F 1148 that manner that they both lived in, in their m. flourishing state 1F 1394 of thy m. vild [Dyce, vile] and loathsome filthiness
2F 77 ay, these are those that Faustus m. desires
2F 294 yes, Faustus, and m. dearly loved of God
2F 417 go forward, Faustus, in that m. [m. in 1624, 1631; not in 1616 nor Dyce] famous art 2F 422 that make them [1624, 1631, and Dyce, men, not them] foolish that do use them m.
2F 1007 m. sacred patron of the church of Rome 2F 1102 here's a m. dainty dish was sent me from 2F 1273 these [1624, 1631, those] gracious words, m. royal Carolus 2F 1336 two spreading horns m. strangely fastenèd upon 2F 1351 what, hanged by the horns! this is [Not in 1616] m. horrible 2F 1670 what is the thing you m. desire to have JMP 9 admir'd I am of those that hate me m.
JMP 20 and laws were then m. sure when, like the Draco's
JM 254 alas, my lord, the m. of us are poor!
JM 307 from little unto more, from more to m.
JM 810 and made my house a place for nuns m. chaste
JM 1181 I know not; and that grieves me m. of all
JM 1276 for that will be m. heavy to thy soul
JM 1483 ay, and a virgin too; that grieves me m.
JM 1571 and in m. of these, great sums of money
JM 1897 and you shall be m. heartily poisoned
JM 1915 commend me to him, sir, m. humbly
JM 2250 and he from whom my m. advantage comes E2 425 happy were I! but now m. miserable
E2 1746 that I may see that m. desirèd day
E2 2091 he of you all that m. desires my blood
E2 2115 and thus, m. humbly do we take our leave
E2 2129 ay, my m. gracious lord; so 'tis decreed
E2 2498 to murder you, my m. gracious lord!
E2 2503 to see a king in this m. piteous state?
MP 247 m. humbly [Old ed. humble] entreats your majesty to visit him
MP 1266 but he that makes m. lavish of his blood
MPF 33 and that thou m. reposest in my faith
MP 1265 he loves me not [the m.] that sheds m. tears — Dyce
D 178 the soil m. fit for cities and society's supports
D 786 have been m. urgent suitors for my love
D 1426 not past four thousand paces at the m.
*HLD 15 I present the same to your m. favourable allowance
HLM 306 rites in which love's beauteous empress m. delights
HLM 325 then shall you m. resemble Venus' nun
HLM 572 and ever, as he thought himself m. nigh it
*HLC 917 his m. kind sister all his secrets knew
*HLC 1014 whose m. wished view I thus long have forborne
*HLC 1027 then, ho [Old eds. how], m. strangely-intellectual fire
*HLC 1093 at the eye, as the m. pregnant place
*HLC 1113 this she thought m. hard to bring to pass
*HLC 1308 limbs sustain'd no more but a m. [V. R. more] subtle veil

*HLC 1313 but adumbrate only her m. heart-piercing parts
*HLC 1316 it was as blue as the m. freezing skies
*HLC 1449 it would enforce to weep m. barbarous eyes
*HLC 1470 m. of her duties and their dignities
*HLC 1570 a maid m. fair for her aspect
*HLC 1597 to see her m. delighted, and one she choos'd
*HLC 1612 and so m. ugly-clouded was the light, that *HLC 1803 women are m. won, when men merit least
*HLC 1807 deceiving still these maids, but himself m.
*HLC 1922 this told to all the maids, the [V. R. they] m. agree
*HLC 1953 fresh in their joys, might do them m. renown
*HLC 1980 and five they hold in m. especial prize [V. R. price]
*HLC 2016 plain for the m. silken mildness of a maid
*HLC 2136 O hapless Hero ! that m. hapless cloud
*HLC 2262 credulous love made him m. rich surmis'd
*HLC 2266 m. brought up in our metropolis
*HLC 2403 hung on her turret's top, so m. downright, as *HLC 2437 and so m. beautiful their colours show
Ov 372 when she will, day shines every where m. pure
Ov 418 from dog-kept flocks come preys to wolves m. grateful
Ov 917 when m. her husband bends the brows and frowns
Ov 1094 but m., thou friendly turtle-dove, deplore
Ov 1266 and [not in ed. A] this doth please me m., and so doth she Ov 1284 I pay them home with that they m. desire
Ov 1551 (O face, m. cunning mine eyes to detain !)
Ov 1631 and was again m. apt to my desire
Ov 1681 where round about small birds m. sweetly sing
Ov 1755 what horse-driver thou favour'st m., is best
Ov 1840 her foot was small ; her foot's form is m. fit
Ov 2239 had thee unknown interr'd in ground m. vile
L 184 and hence came war, to m. men welcome
L 279 m. willingly suffer'd exile
*Ign 28 swearing by Jove, « thou art m. debonair ! »
*AT 31 and led a life m. foul and free
*Epg 37 leaving the best and m. conspicuous place
*Epg 215 but m. of all, he chiefly reckons by a
*Epg 297 more than the brave, m. all-daring wight [So ed. A]
*Epg 297 more than the m. brave and all-daring wight [So eds. B, C]
*Epg 297 more than the m. valiant and all-daring knight [So MS.]
*Epg 299 he that dares [A dare] touch the m. unwholesome whore
*Epg 368 Moly, the gods' m. sovereign herb divine
*Epg 369 drink, which [A, with ; B, C, m. ; MS. m.] gladness brings
*Epg 550 m. fit to be counsel with a king for wit
*1H6 148 m. of the rest slaughter'd, or took likewise
*1H6 360 I do, thou m. usurping proditor
*1H6 430 how with m. advantage they may vex us
*1H6 670 and for myself, m. part of all this night
*1H6 1034 finding his usurpation m. unjust
*1H6 1112 thou art a m. pernicious usurer
*1H6 1249 accept this scroll, m. gracious sovereign
*1H6 1489 behold the wounds, the m. unnatural wounds
*1H6 1616 but always resolute, in m. extremes
*1H6 1619 profaning this m. honourable order
*1H6 2086 in the arms of the m. bloody nurser of his harms
*1H6 2216 of all base passions, fear is m. accurs'd
*1H6 2498 a married man, that's m. intolerable
*1H6 2527 have we not lost m. part of all the towns
*1H6 2654 and therefore lords, since he affects her m.
*1H6 2655 m. of all these reasons bindeth us
*Con 10 and now, m. humbly on my bended knees
*Con 1503 thou hast fought to-day m. valiantly
*Con 1590 thou hast m. traitorously erected a grammar-school
*Con 1599 only for which cause they were m. worthy to live
*2H6 13 to your m. gracious hands, that *2H6 437 and he of these, that can do m. of all
*2H6 511 though in this place m. master wear no breeches
*2H6 529 that York is m. unmeet of any man
*2H6 775 m. true, forsooth
*2H6 1661 yet he m. Christian-like laments his death
*2H6 1858 they say, in care of your m. royal person
*2H6 2383 but then are we in order, when we are m. out of order
*2H6 2524 m. traitorously corrupted the youth of the realm
*2H6 2537 for that cause they have been m. worthy to live
*2H6 2587 tell me : wherein have I offended m. ?
*2H6 2800 the m. complete champion that ever I heard
*2H6 2827 and there cut off thy m. ungracious head
*2H6 3006 the title of this m. renowned duke
*TT 449 'tis government, that makes them m. admir'd
*TT 695 which argu'd thee a m. unnatural father
*TT 1133 three my m. [Q2 omits] gracious lord
*TT 1235 I cry content to that that [Q3 to that which] grieves me m.
*TT 1354 dishonours me, and m. himself, if he could see his shame
*TT 1360 and m. ungrateful doth he use me thus ?
*3H6 346 and thus m. humbly I do take my leave
*3H6 551 'tis virtue, that doth make them m. admir'd
*3H6 837 which argu'd thee a m. unloving father
*3H6 1444 three, my m. gracious lord
*3H6 1825 dishonours me, but m. himself, if he could see his shame
*E3 56 the m. renownèd prince, King John of France
*E3 117 that is m. false, should m. of all be true
*E3 189 as the man in Christendom whom we m. reverence
*E3 470 hers more than m., mine m., and more than more
*E3 744 a sugar'd-sweet and m. delicious taste
*E3 793 which then convert to a m. heavy curse
*E3 982 either swear to leave thy m. unholy suit
*E3 1348 so is the other m. satirical
*E3 1377 is scandalous and m. notorious lies
*E3 1944 son to the m. mighty Christian King of France
*E3 2276 the chiefest citizens, and men of m. account
*E3 2303 that peaceful quietness brings m. delight
*E3 2304 when m. of all abuses are controll'd
*E3 2411 told the m. untimely tale of Edward's fall

Most : see Foremost and Inmost

Most-most.

*HLC 2395 how m. wretched is our human birth !

Mote.

*E3 774 an unreputed m., flying in the sun 2T 968 hang in the air as thick as sunny ms.

Mother.

*Sel 345 the foolish names of father, m., brother
*Sel 1788 when first my m. brought me to the world
*Loc 221 and darling of thy m. Innogen
*Loc 1751 m., though nature makes me to lament
*Loc 1753 Yet, for he wrongs my lady m. thus
*Loc 1907 my m. murder'd by a mortal wound !
1T 1198 m. of three braver [4to brave] boys than Hercules
1T 1936 in thy face, where Beauty, m. to the Muses, sits

2T 311 let me accompany my gracious m.
2T 1115 m., despatch me, or I'll kill myself 2T 1117 give me your knife, good m., or strike home [4to have] 2T 1119 sweet m., strike, that I may meet my father
2T 1630 and spells of magic from the mouths [8vo m.] of spirits
1F 785 I am Wrath. I had neither father nor m.
2F 720 I am Wrath. I had neither father nor m.
2F 732 and my m. was a Hogshead of Claret-wine
JM 886 no, this is the better, m., view this well
JM 887 seem not to know me here before your m.
JM 1093 that, to cross your love, he's with your m.
JM 1094 what, is he gone unto my m.?
JM 1096 I cannot stay; for, if my m. come
E2 1388 ah, boy, this towardness makes thy m. fear
E2 1438 by earth, the common m. of us all
E2 1635 so pleaseth the queen my m., me it likes
E2 2240 m., persuade me not to wear the crown
E2 2429 sweet m., if I cannot pardon him
E2 2650 M., you are suspected for his death
E2 2662 he hath forgotten me! stay; I am his m.
MP 24 come, m., let us go
MP 187 my m. poison'd here before my eyes!
MP 558 dead, sweet son? speak to thy m.!
MP 601 a loving m. to preserve thy state
MP 1084 m., how like you this device of mine?
MP 12 in what Queen-M. or your grace commands
MP 29 having the king, Queen-M. on our sides
D 221 and made that way my m. Venus led D 240 Achates, 'tis my m. that is fled
D 392 madam you shall be my m.
D 517 my m. Venus, jealous of my health, convey'd me
D 605 ay; and my m. gave me this fine bow
D 628 I will, fair m., and so play my part as D 673 an if my m. go, I'll follow her
D 682 m., look here
D 946 ay, m.: I shall one day be a man
D 1043 whence my radiant m. did descend
D 1156 Jove wills it so; my m. wills it so
D 1374 whither must I go? I'll stay with my m.
D 1388 ay, so you'll dwell with me, and call me m.
D 1451 this was my m. that beguil'd the queen
D 1565 thy m. was no goddess, perjur'd man
HLM 56 as he imagin'd Hero was his m.
HLM 228 as thou in duty dost exceed Love's m.
*HLC 1071 she was a m. straight, and bore with pain thoughts
*HLC 1072 thoughts that spake straight, and wish'd their m. slain
Ov 13 what [A that] if thy m. take Diana's bow
Ov 77 thy m. shall from heaven applaud this show
Ov 228 Love, hearing it, laugh'd with his tender m.
Ov 301 and he, who on his m. veng'd his sire
Ov 453 and sister, nurse, and m. spare him not Ov 903 think, when she reads, her m. letters sent her
Ov 1254 yet, Love, if thou with thy fair m. hear
Ov 1432 if such a work thy m. had assay'd
Ov 1434 had seen, my m. killing me, no [Old eds. to] day
Ov 1851 for her ill-beauteous m. judg'd to slaughter
Ov 1904 came forth a m., though a maid there put Ov 1965 Thebe who m. of five daughters prov'd?
Ov 2240 thy dying eyes here did thy m. close
Ov 2499 tender Love's m., a new poet get L 561 than nature gives, whose sight appals the m.
*Epg 378 the m. and the nurse of each disease
*1H6 258 God's m. deign'd to appear to me
*1H6 285 Christ's m. helps me, else I were too weak
*1H6 321 Helen, the m. of great Constantine
*1H6 1040 for by my m., I derived am from Lionel *1H6 1052 marrying my sister, that thy m. was *1H6 1486 as looks the m. on her lowly babe
*1H6 1941 O, if you love my m., dishonour not her
*1H6 2021 in thee thy m. dies, our household's name *1H6 2431 her m. liveth yet, can testify she was *1H6 2443 the morn that I was wedded to her m.
*1H6 2446 the milk thy m. gave thee when thou suck'st [? suck'dst]
*Con 516 faith [Q3 Gods m.] priest, I'll shave your crown
*Con 541 What art thou his m. — His wife sir
*Con 543 hadst thou been his m., thou couldst have better told
*Con 1150 thy m. took unto her blameful bed, some
*Con 1160 and say it was thy m. that thou meant'st
*Con 1400 my m. came of the Brases [Q3 Lacies]
*2H6 596 M. Jordan, be you prostrate, and grovel on *2H6 726 now by God's m., priest, I'll shave your crown for this *2H6 758 hadst thou been his m., thou couldst have better told *2H6 944 Anne, my m., being heir unto the crown *2H6 1815 thy m. took into her blameful bed some *2H6 1825 and say, it was thy m. that thou meant'st
*2H6 2240 my m. was a Plantagenet
*TT 801 whosoever got thee, there thy m. stands
*TT 943 how will my m. for my father's death, take on with *TT 1188 no more than when my daughters call thee m.
*TT 1189 and by God's m. I being but a bachelor have *TT 1961 ah Ned, speak to thy m. boy?
*TT 2055 for I have often heard my m. say
*3H6 946 whoever got thee, there thy m. stands
*3H6 1164 how will my m., for a father's death take on *3H6 1531 no more, than when my daughters call thee m.
*3H6 1533 and by God's m., I being but a bachelor, have *3H6 2813 Oh Ned, sweet Ned, speak to thy m. boy
*3H6 2901 thy m. felt more than a m.'s pain
*3H6 2923 for I have often heard my m. say
*E3 10 but was my m. sister unto those?
*E3 708 my m. and the peers importune you, to
*E3 906 thy m. is but black; and thou, like her, dost
*E3 2415 sweet Ned, I would thy m. in the sea had *Sel 2248 from helping our distressèd m.'s town?
*Loc 1505 that disannuls thy m.'s sugar'd laws!
2T 265 look on their m.'s face
2T 280 they have their m.'s looks
2T 298 thy seed shall issue crown'd from their m.'s womb
2T 913 burnt to cinders for your m.'s death
2T 917 with grief and sorrow for my m.'s death
2T 918 my m.'s death hath mortified my mind
2T 1112 die by thy loving m.'s hand
E2 1637 shall have me from my gracious m.'s side
MP 530 if he grudge or cross his m.'s will MP 546 O, say not so! thou kill'st thy m.'s heart
MP 1080 especially with our old m.'s help
Dia 59 my m.'s maid have you not seen?
Ov 1643 a m.'s joy by Jove she had not felt
*1H6 50 when at their ms.' moisten'd eyes, babes shall suck
*1H6 1962 shall all thy ms.' hopes lie in one tomb?
*1H6 1963 ay, rather than I'll shame my m.'s womb
*Con 1257 babe, that dies with m.'s dug between his lips

*2H6 1999 dying with m.'s dug between its lips
*TT 802 for well I wot thou hast thy m.'s tongue
*TT 1225 why love did scorn me in my m.'s womb
*TT 2034 thy m. felt more than a m.'s pain
*TT 2035 and yet brought forth less than a m.'s hope
*3H6 947 for well I wot, thou hast thy m.'s tongue
*3H6 1587 why love forswore me in my m.'s womb
*3H6 2901 thy m. felt more than a m.'s pain
*3H6 2902 and yet brought forth less than a m.'s hope
*E3 19 the French obscured your m.'s privilege
*E3 874 O, how his m.'s face, moulded [Dent modell'd] in his
*E3 886 still do I see in him delineate his m.'s visage
*E3 1406 Edward's great lineage, by the m.'s side
Ov 1421 had ancient ms. this vile custom cherish'd
*1H6 761 that with his name the ms. still their babes?

Mother : see Godmother and Grandmother

Mother-bleeding.
*2H6 2137 over-gorg'd, with gobbets of thy m. heart

Mother-murdered.
Ov 1442 and, m. Itys, thee bewail

Mother-Queen.
MP 133 the M. works wonders for my sake

Mother-wits.
1TP 1 from jigging veins of rhyming m.

Motion.
*Loc 1264 and rules the m. of the azure sky
1T 2139 no breath, nor sense, nor m., in them both 1F 692 but, tell me, have they all one m.
1F 696 but differ in their m. upon the poles of the zodiac
1F 701 who knows not the double m. of the planets?
2F 613 but have they all one m., both situ et tempore?
2F 621 who knows not the double m. [1624, ms.] of the planets?
D 1073 the m. was so over-violent
*HLC 1032 (as swift as Time doth follow M.)
*HLC 1090 star, (that ever is in m. circular)
*HLC 1124 rules both our m. and our utterance
*HLC 1253 his m. is, like heaven's orbicular
1F 638 that I might know their ms. and dispositions 2F 617 but differ in their ms. upon the poles of the zodiac
D 1186 and wanton ms. of alluring eyes
2T 472 what m. is it that inflames your thoughts?
1F 1124 as when I hear but m. made of him, it grieves
E2 1690 the God of heaven prosper your happy m.
MP 7 kindled first this m. in our hearts
D 879 hark to a m. of eternal league
*1H6 2143 how doth your grace affect their m.?
*3H6 1886 yes, I agree, and thank you for your m.
2T 2268 should exercise the ms. of my heart
HLM 370 strove to resist the ms. of her heart
*1H6 392 one that still ms. war, and never peace

Motionless.
*HLC 1412 that made those moving beauties m.

Motto.
E2 823 the m., Aeque tandem
E2 831 the m. this, Undique mors est
*E3 1630 the m., Sic et vos, « And so should'you »

Motor.
JM 365 inflict upon them, thou great Primus M.!

Motum.
1F 718 Per inaequalem m. respectu totius
2F 640 Per inaequalem m. respectu totius

Mought.
D 953 and m. I live to see him sack rich Thebes
*3H6 2650 like a cannon in a vault, that m. not be distinguish'd

Mould.
*Sel 282 and frame myself by it in ancient m.
*Sel 2008 and though my heart, cast in an iron m.
*Loc 60 to separate us from this mortal m.
1T 825 or of what m. or metal he be made 2T 1474 made of the m. whereof thyself consists JM 20 that trade in metal of the purest m.
JM 421 and fram'd of finer m. than common men
HLM 239 the richest mine and basest m., but use?
HLM 279 nor is 't of earth or m. celestial
*E3 1303 and set our foot upon thy tender m.
*E3 2426 the m. that covers him, their cities' ashes
Ov 651 and sluttish white-m. overgrow the wax!
D 990 and m. her mind unto new fancy's shapes
*LD 16 these things, if you can m. yourself to them

Moulded.
*E3 875 O, how his mother's face, m. [Dent modell'd] in his Mouldy.

*Epg 199 Geron his m. memory corrects old Holinshed

Mount.
*Sel 2437 hurled m. Olympus at great Mars his targe
*Loc 719 hurl'd m. Olympus at great Mars his targe 2T 488 betwixt Cutheia and Orminius' m.
2T 535 from proud Orminius' m. to fair Natolia
2T 834 on m. Sinai, with their ensigns spread
2T 1785 the lofty and celestial m. of every greene [Dyce ever-green] Selinus
MP 321 unto M. Faucon will we drag his corse
HLM 115 from Latmus' m. up to the gloomy sky
HLM 771 for though the rising ivory m. he scal'd
Ov 858 Olympus' top high Ossa bore, m. Pelion up to prop
Ov 1298 the lofty pine from high m. Pelion raught
L 679 and under Haemus' m., Philippi plains
2T 1064 raise ms., batter, intrench
2T 1396 were all the lofty ms. of Zona Mundi
Ov 489 ms., and rain-doubled floods he passeth over
Ov 1537 but when she comes, you [Old eds. your] swelling ms., sink down
L 688 thence [Old ed. hence] to the ms. Pyrene 1T 2016 making thee m. as high as eagles soar!
1T 2320 m. up your royal places of estate
2T 952 I'll teach you how to make the water m.
2T 1796 shall m. the milk-white way, and meet him there
2T 2110 to see the devils m. in angels' thrones
2T 2257 and m. my royal chariot of estate
1F 21 his waxen wings did m. above his reach
1F 850 did m. himself to scale Olympus' top
2F 20 his waxen wings did m. above his reach
2F 571 did m. himself to scale Olympus' top [Dyce omits]
2F 812 did m. him [Not in 1631] up to scale Olympus' top 2F 1474 and m. aloft with them as high as heaven 2F 2108 but let my soul m. and ascend to heaven!
E2 2634 and, seeing there was no place to m. up higher
MP 103 or m. the top with my aspiring wings
HLM 472 Learning, in despite of Fate, will m. aloft
HLM 540 kept it down, that it might m. the higher
Ov 800 I'll live, and, as he pulls me down, m. higher
L 48 or m. the Sun's flame-bearing chariot
*1H6 636 and here will Talbot m., or make his grave
*1H6 1937 therefore dear boy, m. on my swiftest horse
*2H6 456 and never m. to trouble you again
*2H6 1231 and should you fail, he is the next will m.
*3H6 1189 m. you my lord, towards Berwick post amain
*E3 47 but now doth m. with golden wings of fame
1T 1423 but, when Aurora ms. the second time

E2 2005 earth should drink his blood, ms. up to the air
*2H6 683 that ms. no higher than a bird can soar 2T 948 dis*m.* the cannon of the adverse part
*Loc 1114 which with their tops sur*m.* the firmament
*AT 35 his wicked deeds sur*m.* all precedent of crime
*1H6 2415 bethink thee on her virtues that sur*m.*
E2 1570 Mortimer's hope sur*ms.* his fortune far

Mountague.

*E3 121 but wherefore comes Sir William M.?
*E3 172 ah, cousin M., I fear, thou want'st the Mountain.

*Loc 725 in a great m. heap'd, with hideous noise
*Loc 762 I'll overturn the m. Caucasus
*Loc 1970 you m. nymphs which in these deserts reign 1T 975 runs to the city from the m. Carnon
E2 2045 that, like a m., overwhelms my bliss
PS 4 woods or steepy m. yields [So E. H.]
PS 4 and the craggy m. yields [So P. P.]
*1H6 1069 and like a m., not to be remov'd
*TT 1228 and plac'd an envious m. on my back
*3H6 1591 to make an envious m. on my back
*E3 1252 beheld, now, upon this fair m., whence I came
*E3 1859 hath trimm'd the m. on our right hand up
*E3 2403 noise, did shake the very m. where they stood
*Sel 1765 like hugy ms. do your waters rear
*Sel 2435 flung forth a hundreth ms. at great Jove
*Loc 717 flung forth an hundred ms. at great Jove
*Loc 768 lie, like ms., in the congeal'd sea
1T 238 as with their weight shall make the ms. quake
1T 2306 that darted ms. at her brother Jove
2T 1235 sacrifice ms. of breathless men to Mahomet
2T 1487 he that darted ms. at thy head
1F 1566 ms. and hills, come, come, and fall on me
2F 2097 ms. and hills, come, come, and fall on me
MP 726 encamps itself upon the haughty ms. of my breast
D 972 some unto the ms., some unto the soil
HLM 122 from steep pine-bearing ms. to the plain
*HLC 2054 held above the cloudy ms.
Ov 344 like marble from the Parian ms. hew'd
Ov 869 snakes leap by verse from caves of broken ms.
Ov 2022 thou hast no name, but com'st from snowy ms.
PS 4 or woods and steepy ms. yields [So C. A.]
*TT 390 that aim'd at ms. with outstretched arm
*3H6 487 that raught at ms. with outstretched arms
1T 289 and scale the icy ms.' lofty tops

Mountain-foot.

1T 322 come, let us meet them at the mountain-top [8vo m.]

Mountain-heaps.

D 202 crack with m. of milk-white sacrifice

Mountain-top.

1T 322 come, let us meet them at the m. [8vo mountain foot]
*Con 1223 and standing naked on a m.
*Con 1864 as on a m. the cedar shows
*2H6 1942 though standing naked on a m.
*2H6 3035 as on a m., the cedar shows
*Loc 442 and from the moisture of the ms.
1F 860 environ'd round with airy ms.
2F 836 environ'd round [Not in 1624, 1631] with airy ms.

Mountebanks.

*Epg 395 O, that [MS. if] I were one of these [MS. the] m.

Mounted.

*Sel 2499 m. upon his fiery-shining wain
*Loc 481 and Lucifer, m. upon his steed
*Loc 619 m. upon their coursers white as snow
*Loc 1089 m. in 's chariot drawn with mighty bulls
*Loc 1854 m. on coursers garnish'd all with pearls
1T 283 m. on steeds swifter than Pegasus
1T 1111 janizaries, m. on lusty Mauritanian steeds
2T 42 fair Europe, m. on her bull
2T 140 clos'd in a coffin m. up the air
2T 697 their spheres are m. on the serpent's back
2T 989 m. here under a canopy
2T 1145 before whom, m. on a lion's back
2T 1790 m. his shining chariot gilt with fire 2F 826 and, m. then upon a dragon's back
MP 972 m. his royal cabinet
HLM 671 which m. up, intending to have kiss'd him
Ov 1758 run, on swift steeds m., till the race were done
*Con 443 upon the sandy plains, than [Q2 omits] where castles m. stand
*Con 622 upon the sandy plains, than were castles m. stand
*2H6 624 than where castles m. stand
*2H6 655 Than were castles m. stand
*TT 446 that beggars m., run their horse to death
*TT 2047 sink into the ground, I had thought it would have m.
*3H6 548 that beggars m., run their horse to death
*3H6 2915 sink in the ground? I thought it would have m.
2T 1783 like to an almond-tree y-m. high

Mountest.

Ov 690 and early m. thy hateful carriage

Mounteth.

*Sel 2031 praise m. to highest heaven with golden wings

Mountford.

*E3 1640 I take it, M.
*E3 2354 and John [Old eds. Charles] de M. regent of that place

Mounting.

E2 880 whose m. thoughts did never creep so low as *1H6 2055 my boy did drench his over-m. spirit

Mountsorrell.

MP 329 M., go shoot the ordinance off
MP 349 M., from the Duke of Guise
MP 449 Retes to Dieppe, M. unto Rouen

Mourn.

*Sel 1324 how shall I m., or which way shall I turn?
*Sel 1339 and we my lords will in, and m. a while
*Sel 1502 how can he m., that cannot shed a tear?
*Sel 1747 come, Aga, let us sit and m. a while *Sel 2011 I'll m. in show, though I rejoice in deed
*Sel 2302 and yet the janissaries m. for me
*Loc 279 then, noble cousin, cease to m. his chance
*Loc 1165 you ugly spirits that in Cocytus m.
*Loc 1617 and m. for ever her own widowhood
*Loc 1887 help me to m. for warlike Locrine's death!
*Loc 1923 may m. our case with mournful plaudits
*Loc 1982 come m. with me for beauteous Estrild's death!
2T 912 boys, leave to m.; this town shall ever m.
2F 225 the danger of his soul would make me m.
JM 403 but give him liberty at least to m.
E2 602 he's gone, and for his absence thus I m.
E2 993 « Maids of England, sore may you m. »
E2 2659 shall I not m. for my belovèd lord?
E2 2670 here comes the hearse; help me to m., my lords
D 1688 how long will Dido m. a stranger's flight
Ov 1089 why, Philomel, dost Tereus' lewdness m.?
*1H6 17 we m. in black, why m. we not in blood?
*1H6 1077 m. not, except thou sorrow for my good *1H6 1861 we m., France smiles: we lose, they daily get
*Con 1249 and why m. I for him, whilst thou art here?
*Con 1519 no my love, I should not m., but die for thee

*2H6 1989 why only Suffolk m. I not for thee?
*2H6 2427 no my love, I should not m., but die for thee
*TT 53 the hope thereof, makes Clifford m. in steel
*3H6 58 the hope thereof, makes Clifford m. in steel
*3H6 1351 the tiger will be mild, whiles she doth m.
Mourned.
2T 783 the houses, burnt, will look as if they m.
*FB 55 all dies and hours I m. wondrous sore
E2 144 not Hylas was more m. for of [1598 omits] Hercules HLM 382 wound them on his arm, and for her m.
*HLC 1827 how they m., and wrung their hands
*HLC 2322 are clad in clouds, as if they m.
*Con 1518 thou wouldst not have m. so much for me
*2H6 2426 thou wouldst not have m. so much for me Mourners.
*E3 2423 but all the peers in France shall m. be Mournful.
*Sel 1579 come, m. Aga, come and sit by me
*Sel 1859 what greater grief had m. Priamus
*Sel 1871 that he and I may in the m. fields still
*Loc 1547 you m. souls, vex'd in Abyssus' vaults
*Loc 1608 none may more bewail his m. hearse
*Loc 1911 would not bemoan this m. tragedy?
*Loc 1922 may mourn our case with m. plaudits
*Loc 1973 address your ears to hear a m. style
1T 1561 with m. streamers hanging down their heads
2T 886 and here this m. streamer shall be plac'd
E2 2601 on his m. hearse thy hateful and accursed head
HLM 446 in m. terms, with sad and heavy cheer
*HLC 1836 and then mix m. tales of others' deaths
*1H6 700 the treacherous manner of his m. death
*2H6 1440 beguiles him, as the m. crocodile with *2H6 1946 that I may dew it with my m. tears Mournfully.
*Loc 1969 m. weeping for their luckless death
Mourning.
*Sel 2033 till the days of m. be over-past
*Loc 1616 and let her there provide her m. weeds
2T 44 alight, and wear a woful m. weed
2T 785 march about it with my m. camp
2T 1548 run m. round about the females' miss 2F 2151 and all the students, cloth'd in m. black
E2 1124 and body with continual m. wasted
*HLC 1154 and turn'd as black as it, m. to be her tears
*HLC 1670 all the celestials parted m. then
*HLC 1906 home to the m. city they repair
L 189 in dreadful vision fearful Rome m. appear'd
*Con 1516 still lamenting and m. for Suffolk's death
*2H6 2424 still lamenting and m. for Suffolk's death?
*TT 628 and clad our bodies in black m. gowns
*TT 984 had left no m. widows for our deaths
*TT 1380 tell him my m. weeds be laid aside
*TT 1483 tell him quoth she my m. weeds be done
*3H6 764 and wrap our bodies in black m. gowns
*3H6 1218 had left no m. widows for our death
*3H6 1870 tell him, my m. weeds are laid aside
*3H6 2017 tell him (quoth she) my m. weeds are done
*E3 2218 is as a m. knell to one dead-sick
*E3 2440 away with m., Philippe, wipe thine eyes Mourra.
MP 778 Par la mort de Dieu, il m. !
Mouse.
*Loc 1676 slain by the biting of a silly m.?
1F 487 turn thyself to any thing, to a dog, or cat, or a m.
1F 440 how, a Christian fellow to a dog, or a cat, a m., or a rat!
2F 395 turn thyself to a dog, or a cat, or a m.
2F 397 a dog, or a cat, or a m., or a rat!
Mouth.
*Sel 559 thinks he to stop my m. with gold or pearl?
1T 935 as from the m. of mighty Bajazeth?
2T 1864 fill the m. of Limnasphaltis' lake
1F 785 I leapt out of a lion's m. when I was scarce half 2F 720 I leapt out of a lion's m. when I was scarce an hour old
JM 1600 I'll give him something, and so stop his m.
JM 2028 no, I'll send by word of m. now
E2 2371 or open his m., and pour quick-silver down
D 838 should e'er defile so fair a m. as thine!
D 1182 banish that ticing dame from forth your m.
*HLC 1924 to be the first m. of a news so far deriv'd
Ov 1112 thy m. to taste of many meats did balk
Ov 1144 My m. in speaking did all birds excel
Ov 1896 like lightning go, his struggling m. being check'd Ov 2003 her trembling m. these unmeet sounds expresses Ov 2203 and shaking sobs his m. for speeches bears
L 20 and they of Nilus' m., if there live any *Epg 131 that doth proceed from out the m.
*1H6 843 between two dogs, which hath the deeper m.
*1H6 1297 was in the m. of every sucking babe
*Con 1341 I'll stop that yawning m. of thine
*Con 1422 no laws but such as comes [Q3 come] from my m.
*Con 1424 for he was thrust into the m. the other day
*Con 1643 to prison ere the meat be out of his [Q3 on's] m.
*2H6 2002 to have thee with thy lips to stop my m.
*2H6 2125 now will I dam up this thy yawning m.
*2H6 2500 only that the laws of England may come out of your m.
*2H6 2502 sore law then, for he was thrust in the m. with *2H6 2506 my m. shall be the parliament of England
*TT 1930 suppose that I am now my father's m.
*3H6 2780 suppose that I am now my father's m.
*E3 608 act, made by the m. of God, seal'd with his hand?
*Sel 829 to fear our ms. in honey to embay
2T 1630 and spells of magic from the ms. [8vo mother] of spirits 2T 1710 break through the hedges of their hateful ms.
2T 1712 nay, we will break the hedges of their ms.
1F 1576 my limbs may issue from your smoky ms.
2F 2107 my limbs may issue from your smoky ms.
*HLC 2272 for your sweet discourse with ms., is Ov 53 and rough jades' ms. with stubborn bits are torn Ov 1393 by seven huge ms. into the sea is skipping [Old eds. slipping]
Ov 1970 rich Nile, by seven ms. to the vast sea flowing
Ov 2400 oxen in whose ms. burning flames did breed?
*Epg 477 for Fame is said an hundred ms. to have *1H6 189 and have their provender tied to their ms.
*1H6 1708 much less to take occasion from their ms., to *E3 1848 chok'd up their French ms. and dissever'd them
*E3 2012 our men with open ms. and staring eyes look
*Loc 1572 back will I post to hell-m. Taenarus
*Epg 475 the wide-m. slave will eat as fast as he will utter lies Mouthed.
1T 980 their cannons, m. like Orcus' gulf, batter the walls
*Sel 2454 your squared words and broad-m. terms Movable: see Immovable and Unmovable
Move.
*Sel 452 and m. him to advance his footing near *Sel 1107 Acomat means to m. him ten times more

*Loc 257 no sad complaints may m. just Aeacus
*Loc 266 thou couldst not m. the judge of Erebus
*Loc 267 nor m. compassion in grim Pluto's heart
*Loc 1306 Locrine may m. his own peculiar woe
*Loc 1672 do m. her mind, as certainly it will
*Loc 1737 nor my exile, can m. you to revenge
1T 1427 but, if these threats m. not submission
2T 178 not for all Afric : therefore m. me not 2T 257 when heaven shall cease to m. on both the poles
2T 1477 I might m. the turning spheres of heaven
1F 83 all things that m. between the quiet poles
1F 688 all jointly m. upon one axletree
1F 694 all jointly m. from east to west
1F 723 m. me not, for I will not tell thee
1F 1557 the stars m. still, time runs, the clock will strike
2F 81 all things that m. between the quiet poles
2F 609 and jointly m. upon one axletree
2F 615 all m. from east to west in four-and-twenty hours
2F 645 tell me. — M. me not, Faustus
2F 2088 the stars m. still, time runs, the clock will strike
JM 344 and now shall m. you to bereave my life
E2 39 these words of his m. me as much as if MP 1154 what doth m. thee, above the rest, to do the deed ?
D 1050 to m. unto the measures of delight ?
D 1135 and I will either m. the thoughtless flint, or D 1563 if words might m. me, I were overcome
D 1647 they gan to m. him to redress my ruth
*HLC 1855 when he saw no strength of sleight could m. him
Ov 95 Jove knows with such-like prayers I daily m. her
Ov 278 all have I spent : no threats or prayers m. me
Ov 326 a foe did Diomede's anger m.
Ov 523 since mayst thou see me watch, and night-wars m.
Ov 662 hold in thy rosy horses, that they m. not Ov 968 our prayers m. thee to assist our drift
Ov 979 no one face likes me best ; all faces m.
Ov 1154 if I look well, thou think'st thou dost not m.
Ov 1219 hence with great laud thou mayst a triumph m.
Ov 1382 Cupid commands to m. his ensigns further
Ov 1683 to find what work my Muse might m., I strove
Ov 1700 'tis time to m. grave things in lofty style
Ov 1719 not stronger am I than the king I m.
Ov 1729 to m. her feet unheard in setting down [Old eds. sitting down]
Ov 1797 soldier, applaud thy Mars : no wars me m.
Ov 1910 I know not what men think should thee so m.
Ov 2098 worthy she was to m. both gods and men
Ov 2344 now love and hate my light breast each way m.
Ov 2404 and sweet-touch'd harp that to m. stones was able ?
PS 19 an if these pleasures may thee m.
PS 27 if these delights thy mind may m. [Not in P. P.]
*Epg 52 his feet in measure and in rule to m.
*Epg 148 « My fart », quod she ; which did more laughter m.
*Epg 237 he slyly looks [B, C, spies ; MS. notes] who first his cap doth m.
*Epg 242 catch at my cap, and m. it not [MS. never] a whit
*Con 297 that scarce will m. his cap nor [Q3 to] speak to us
*Con 871 and [Q3 yet] he will neither m. nor speak to us
*2H6 2164 thy words m. rage, and not remorse in me
*TT 469 beshrew me but his passions m. me so
*TT 749 pitch we our battle here, for hence we will not m.
*E3 409 then, if thou be a poet, m. thou so
*E3 2006 the leaves m. not, the world is hush'd and still 1T 880 ms. not upwards, nor by princely deeds doth 2T 1473 wherein an incorporeal [4to incorporall] spirit ms.
2T 2174 the soul, wanting those organons by which it ms.
*HLC 2 where he ms. his worthy love-suit
HLM 66 grief makes her pale, because she ms. not there
*HLC 1891 the high contents desert and virtue ms.
Ov 1498 my heat is here, what ms. my heat is gone
Ov 2031 perchance these others, me mine own loss ms.
Ov 2381 alone Corinna ms. my wanton wit
L 563 whom fierce Bellona's fury ms. to wound their arms
*3H6 571 beshrew me, but his passion ms. me so, that *3H6 1681 for this is he that ms. both wind and tide

Moved.

*Sel 471 which, who so m. with foolish pity hears
*Sel 881 why, he was m. by just occasion
*Sel 1100 that Acomat, by his example m.
*Sel 1106 if ever Selim m. him heretofore
*Sel 1285 and m. by an occasion, though unjust
*Sel 2237 m. by a vain and a fantastic dream?
*Sel 2262 and that Mustaffa m. them to fly ?
*Sel 2464 hath m. thee t' undertake an empery
*Loc 1660 that thou mayst know thy prince is m.
*Loc 1661 yea, greatly m. at this thy swelling pride 1T 777 I am strongly m., that if I should desire the 1T 864 m. me to manage arms against thy state 1T 2164 and pardon me that was not m. with ruth
JM 597 as, had you seen her, 'twould have m. your heart
JM 913 be m. at nothing, see thou pity none
JM 1318 entreat not for her ; I am m.
JM 1908 I am not m. at that : this angers me
E2 110 being highly m.; brav'd Mowbray
E2 303 what, are you m. that Gaveston sits here ?
E2 338 why are you m. ? be patient, my lord
E2 903 let's to our castles, for the king is m.
E2 904 m. may he be, and perish in his wrath !
E2 1001 if you be m., revenge it as [1622, if] you can
E2 2093 what, are you m. ? pity you me ?
E2 2110 if with the sight she be not m.
MP 179 might well have m. your highness to beware
MP 844 thou shouldst perceive the Duke of Guise is m.
MP 846 lest thou perceive the king of France be m.
D 421 lest you be m. too much with my sad tale
D 536 not m. at all, but smiling at his tears
D 579 m. with her voice, I leap'd into the sea
D 934 Aeneas, be not m. at what he says
D 1564 and wilt thou not be m. with Dido's words ?
HLM 88 soldier, m. with nought, was m. with him
HLM 556 m. by love's force, unto each other lep [V. R. leap] ?
HLM 717 the god, seeing him with pity to be m.
*HLC 1759 even the chastest mind he m. to join
Ov 167 when pleasure m. us to our sweetest work
Ov 219 on m. hooks set ope the churlish door
Ov 295 for rage against my wench m. my rash arm
Ov 1708 this said, she m. her buskins gaily varnish'd
Ov 1786 that from thy fan, m. by my hand, may blow ?
Ov 1806 she beck'd, and prosperous signs gave as she m.
Ov 2043 and, like a burden, griev'd the bed that m. not Ov 2096 huge oaks, hard adamants might she have m.
Ov 2097 caus'[d] deaf rocks to have lov'd [ed. B, moned ; C, m.] *1H6 1036 the reason m. these warlike lords to this *1H6 1634 m. with compassion of my country's wrack
*1H6 3516 m. with remorse of these outrageous broils
*2H6 1594 will make him say, I m. him to those arms
*2H6 2559 prayers and tears have m. me, gifts could never

*TT 823 for what hath m. these tumults but thy pride?
*E3 2324 what m. thee then to be so obstinate to JM 372 why stand you thus un*m.* with my laments?
Moved'st.
Ov 1107 envy hath rapt thee: no fierce wars thou m.
Mover.
*Sel 1441 First M. of these tenfold crystal orbs
1T 1449 the chiefest god, First M. of that sphere
*2H6 2039 Oh Thou eternal M. of the heavens Moving.
*1H6 179 Mars his true m., even as in the heavens, so
*E3 408 for so much m. hath a poet's pen
D 241 I know her by the ms. of her feet
*Sel 1442 where all those m. and un*m.* eyes behold 1F 350 a bridge through [Dyce, thorough] the m. air 2F 334 and make a bridge through [So 1616 and 1624. — 1631 and Dyce, thorough] the m. air
JM 536 this proceedeth of the spirit. — Ay, and of a m. spirit too
E2 1439 by heaven, and all the m. orbs thereof
*HLC 1412 that made those m. beauties motionless
*3H6 1346 and Lewis a prince soon won with m. words
1F 1550 stand still, you ever-m. spheres of heaven
2F 2081 stand still, you ever-m. spheres of heaven
*Loc 446 m. the pittering leaves of Sylvan's woods
*Loc 714 m. the massy squadrons off the ground!
1T 873 and always m. as the restless spheres
HLM 367 a planet m. several ways at one self instant
Mow.
*Sel 420 and m. their heartless squadrons to the ground
*Loc 1240 do m. the wither'd grass from off the earth
*2H6 1276 to m. down thorns that would annoy our foot Mowbray.
E2 111 brav'd M. in the presence of the king
E2 115 and M. and he were reconcil'd Mowed.
*TT 2083 have we m. down in tops of all their pride?
*3H6 2950 like to autumn's corn, have we m. down Mowing.
*Loc 714 m. the massy squadrons off the ground!
Much.
*Sel 124 we wonder m. what doth your highness grieve
*Sel 137 Your majesty then needs not m. to fear
*Sel 170 said I not, lords, as m. to you before
*Sel 215 I thought so m. of wicked Selimus
*Sel 257 and hath not m. above two years to live
*Sel 787 you know how m. your father doth detest
*Sel 897 m. less is 't lawful for a man's own son
*Sel 913 and love him m. that favours me so m.
*Sel 1030 O how much dearer loves he me than they!
*Sel 1087 doth he esteem so m. the bashaws' words
*Sel 1162 weaken'd so m. before by Selim's sword
*Sel 1232 he that's prepar'd to do as m. for you
*Sel 1260 ah sweet Mustaffa, thou art m. deceiv'd
*Sel 1357 wonders your grace whom he did love so m.
*Sel 1631 and thou shalt shortly joy as m. with me
*Sel 1794 poor Aga, had it not been m. more fair
*Sel 1831 I care not m. to end my life with him
*Sel 1852 it never would have griev'd me half so m.
*Sel 2335 m. less make strong resistance in hard fight
*Sel 2416 Fortune may chance to frown as m. on thee
*Sel 2417 and Acomat whom thou dost scorn so m.
*Sel 2510 I would have said as m. and more to thee
*Loc 196 careful parents glory not so m. at *Loc 379 that m. concerns your highness' great content
*Loc 516 and yet our gains be m. withal. — Song
*Loc 865 that did so m. in his own greatness trust
*Loc 1397 let not this fault so m. incense your mind
1T 422 which is as m. as if I swore by heaven
1T 436 make m. of them, gentle Theridamas
1T 702 I marvel m. he stole it not away
1T 1032 his talk m. [4to more] sweeter than the Muses song 1T 1042 being a shepherd, seem'd to love you m.
1T 1753 too m. eating will make you surfeit
1T 1829 would not with too m. cowardice or [4to for] fear 1T 1951 so m. by m. as doth Zenocrate
1T 2211 as m. as thy fair body is for me!
1T 2295 else [8vo then] should I m. forget myself
2T 1136 in whose high looks is m. more majesty
2T 1179 shall have twice so m. again
2T 1356 m. like so many suns that half dismay the 2T 1365 given so m. to sleep, you cannot [4to can you not] leave it 2T 2133 add m. danger to your malady
2T 2201 as m. too high for this disdainful earth
2T 2202 let me see how m. is left for me to conquer
2T 2234 eastward behold as m. more land
1F 1102 i' faith, he looks m. like a conjurer 1F 1190 not so m. for the injury he offered me here in 1F 1309 this merriment hath m. pleased me
1F 1368 we should think ourselves m. beholding unto you 2F 15 so m. he profits in divinity, that 2F 1343 I blame thee not to sleep m., having such a head of 2F 1373 not so m. for injury done to me, as to delight your 2F 1537 and have lost very m. of late by horse-flesh
2F 1565 and had m. ado to escape [1624, 'scape] drowning
2F 1619 for as m. hay as he could eat
2F 1621 bad him take as m. as he would for three farthings 2F 1754 ay, ay, he does not stand m. on that 2F 1756 no, faith; not m. upon a wooden leg
2F 1771 'tis not so m. worth
2F 1803 we are m. beholding [1631, beholden] to this 2F 1821 if you will do us so m. favour as to let us see
2F 1824 we should think ourselves m. beholding unto you
*FB 37 the time I past away, with m. delight
JMP 23 citadel commands m. more than letters can import
JM 1 so that of thus m. that return was made
JM 13 would make a miracle of thus m. coin
JM 82 durst with so m. wealth trust such a crazed vessel
JM 139 that thirst so m. for principality
JM 390 as m. as would have bought his beasts and him
JM 444 as negligently to forgo so m.
JM 495 thus, father, shall I m. dissemble
JM 520 of this new-made nunnery will m. delight you
JM 543 and mine own industry, but to profit m.
JM 544 as m., I hope, as all I hid is worth
JM 733 and so m. must they yield, or not be sold
JM 792 I like it m. the better. — So do I too
JM 832 two hundred crowns! do the Turks weigh so m.?
JM 834 what, can he steal, that you demand so m.?
JM 862 Ay, passing well. — So m. the worse
JM 870 so m. the better; thou art for my turn
JM 874 by my help shall do m. villany
JM 943 I have as m. coin as will buy the town
JM 988 I weigh it thus m. [Snapping his fingers]!
JM 998 ay, Barabas, or else thou wrong'st me m.
JM 1456 chaste, and devout, m. sorrowing for my sins
JM 1564 besides, I know not how m. weight in pearl
JM 1773 nay, I care not how m. she loves me

JM 1848 and if he ask why I demand so m., tell him
JM 1919 O, that I should part with so m. gold !
JM 2139 had it not been m. better to kept thy promise
JM 2182 too late thou seek'st for m. but canst not compass it
E2 39 move me as m. as if a goose should E2 477 so m. as he on cursèd Gaveston
E2 564 and none so m. as blame the murderer [1612, 1622, murther]
E2 598 this news will glad him m.
E2 599 glad him m. : yet not so m. as me
E2 601 would he lov'd me but half so m. !
E2 696 and promiseth as m. as we can wish
E2 728 shall hardly do himself good, m. less us
E2 778 the grief for his exile was not so m. as is E2 841 I am that cedar ; shake me not too m.
E2 1197 thou shalt have so m. honour at our hands
E2 1329 as by their preachments they will profit m.
E2 1550 as m. as thou in rage outwent'st the rest
E2 1650 m. happier than your friends in England do !
E2 2114 unless it be with too m. clemency ?
E2 2138 favour him, my lord, as m. as lieth in you
E2 2156 think therefore, madam, that imports us m.
E2 2362 relent ! ha, ha ! I use m. to relent
E2 2456 m. more a king, brought up tenderly
E2 2473 I thought as m.
E2 2618 I fear'd as m. : murder can not be hid
MP 414 attribute as m. unto their [own] works
MP 933 I fear me m., will be the ruin of MP 1162 I sorrow m. that ever I was prov'd your enemy
D 3 I am m. better for your worthless love
D 180 yet m. I marvel that I cannot find no steps
D 421 lest you be mov'd too m. with my sad tale
D 738 so m. have I receiv'd at Dido's hands, as D 810 but not so m. for thee, — thou art but one
D 893 but m. I fear, my son will ne'er consent
D 1358 there's not so m. as this base tackling too, but HLM 77 loves of men, m. less of powerful gods
HLM 188 wherewith Leander m. more was inflam'd
HLM 220 her you surpass as m. as sparkling diamonds flaring glass
HLM 270 differs as m. as wine and water doth
HLM 286 m. less can honour be ascrib'd thereto
HLM 389 nor would vouchsafe so m. as one poor word
HLM 557 m. more in subjects having intellect
HLM 723 'tis wisdom to give m.
HLM 730 the longing heart of Hero m. more joys, than HLM 773 m. like a globe, (a globe may I term this HLM 801 for m. it griev'd her that the bright day-light should
*HLC 1039 tell it how m. his late desires I tender
*HLC 1047 m. like th' Iberian city that War's hand did
*HLC 1171 those severe conceits she too m. mark'd
*HLC 1177 and chide [V. R. chid] her soul that it could so m. err
*HLC 1474 for singular she was too m. before
*HLC 1495 with as m. countenance fill their holy chairs
*HLC 1556 touch Hero so near for that she us'd so m.
*HLC 1592 disgrac'd her rites so m.
*HLC 1656 examples profit m.
*HLC 1693 welcom'd them kindly, did m. love protest
*HLC 1802 as in merit he increased still by suffering m.
*HLC 1893 scarce could so m. favour [V. R. valure] yet allure to *HLC 1917 praise Hymen's valour m., nothing bestown
*HLC 1938 in spirit and quickness she m. joy did take
*HLC 2268 m. palm bears for his rare judgment
*HLC 2355 m. greater powers [V.R. power] than Neptune's gave *HLC 2423 was m. more than might have serv'd to Ov 94 I crave [B, C, aske] too m. : would she but let me love her !
Ov 232 thee fear I too m. ; only thee I flatter
Ov 463 when thou hast so m. as he gives no more
Ov 472 with m. ado my hands I scarcely stay'd
Ov 610 straight being read, will her to write m. back
Ov 892 because thy [ed. B, they] care too m. thy mistress troubled Ov 929 while Juno's watchman Iö too m. ey'd
Ov 1030 he's cruel, and too m. his grief doth favour [ed. B, savour]
Ov 1034 I saw your nodding eyebrows m. to speak
Ov 1074 also m. better were they than I tell
Ov 1076 'tis ill they pleas'd so m. ; for in my lips lay
Ov 1161 dull'd with m. beating, slowly forth doth pass !
Ov 1243 and slumbering, thinks himself m. blessèd by it
Ov 1332 the loss of such a wench m. blame will gather
Ov 1389 I oft have done what might as m. procure
Ov 1475 only I'll sign naught that may grievè me m.
Ov 1493 with corn the earth abounds, with vines m. more
Ov 1628 ah, oft, how m. she might, she feign'd offence
Ov 1637 suffering m. cold by hoary night's frost bred
Ov 1640 fat love, and too m. fulsome, me annoys
Ov 1664 long have I borne m., hoping time would beat thee
Ov 1695 each cross-way's corner doth as m. express
Ov 1725 by suffering m. not borne by thy severity
Ov 1859 and all things too m. in their sole power drenches
Ov 1930 and see at home m. that thou ne'er brought'st thither
Ov 1996 nor, Roman stock, scorn me so m., I crave
Ov 2090 so in a spring thrives he that told so m.
Ov 2121 in skipping out her naked feet m. grac'd her
Ov 2312 long have I borne m. ; mad thy faults me [C, we] make Ov 2488 I'll not sift m., but hold thee soon excus'd
L 44 yet Rome is m. bound to these civil arms
L 130 both differ'd m.
L 249 and muttering m., thus to themselves complain'd
L 475 and that he's m. chang'd, looking wild and big L 572 m. like that hellish fiend which made the *Epg 155 m. like the burden of a northern song
*Epg 223 only for that he came too m. at [Dyce on] one. — So eds.
*Epg 223 only for that he comes too m. one [= on] one. — So MS.
*Epg 360 opinion of m. wit, and gold obtain
*Epg 482 derives out of the ocean [A, oceans] so [MS. omits] m. wealth
*Epg 555 and swears the better sort are m. to blame
*1H6 7 England ne'er lost a king of so m. worth
*1H6 480 let us look in, the sight will m. delight thee
*1H6 616 how m. he wrongs his fame
*1H6 639 how m. in duty, I am bound to both
*1H6 655 that now our loss might be ten times so m. ?
*1H6 720 so m. applauded through the realm of France ?
*1H6 760 is this the Talbot, so m. fear'd abroad ?
*1H6 1555 or been reguerdon'd with so m. as thanks
*1H6 1610 m. more a knight, a captain, and a leader
*1H6 1708 m. less to take occasion from their mouths, to *1H6 1771 'tis m., when sceptres are in children's hands
*1H6 2015 Oh, too m. folly is it, well I wot, to hazard

*1H6 2317 it shall be so, disdain they ne'er so m.
*1H6 2561 detract so m. from that prerogative
*Con 391 thou wart [Q2 Q3 wert] m. to [Q2 Q3 too] blame
*Con 761 for he hath learnt [Q2 Q3 learned] so m. fence already *Con 1004 he did so m. good when he was in France
*Con 1006 he might have lost as m. as I
*Con 1149 if ever lady wrong'd her lord so m.
*Con 1277 I'll give thee as m. gold as will purchase
*Con 1407 I am able to endure m.
*Con 1518 thou wouldst not have mourned so m. for me
*2H6 440 not all these lords do vex me half so m., as *2H6 684 I thought as m., he would be above the clouds
*2H6 1066 he hath learnt so m. fence already *2H6 1332 it serves you well, my lord, to say so m.
*2H6 1481 not resolute, except so m. were done
*2H6 1626 I thank thee, Nell, these words content me m.
*2H6 1814 if ever lady wrong'd her lord so m., thy mother
*2H6 2070 and so m. shall you give, or off goes yours
*2H6 2071 what think you m. to pay two thousand crowns
*2H6 2217 which is as m. to say, as let the magistrates be *2H6 2253 I am able to endure m.
*2H6 2426 thou wouldst not have mourn'd so m. for me
*2H6 2821 how m. thou wrong'st me, heaven be my judge
*2H6 2867 that is too m. presumption on thy part *2H6 2959 but thou mistakes me m. to think I do
*TT 220 thou hast spoke too m. already
*TT 376 hold Clifford, do not honour him so m.
*TT 405 alas poor York? but that I hate thee m.
*TT 679 my gracious lord, this too m. lenity
*TT 773 you said so [Q3 as] m. before, and yet you fled
*TT 993 and m. effuse of blood doth make me faint
*TT 1154 what love dost thou think I sue so m. to get
*TT 1202 and so m. more are the wonders in extremes
*TT 1367 so m. his friend, ay his unfeigned friend, that *TT 1579 the Bishop of York befriends him m.
*TT 1698 make m. of him my lords
*TT 1953 hold Richard hold, for we have done too m. already
*TT 1978 by heaven I would not do thee so m. ease
*TT 2044 ay and for m. more slaughter after this *3H6 267 thou hast spoke too m. already : get thee gone *3H6 473 hold Clifford, do not honour him so m.
*3H6 652 Oh speak no m., for I have heard too m.
*3H6 821 my gracious liege, this too m. lenity and *3H6 919 you said so m. before, and yet you fled
*3H6 1173 m. is your sorrow; mine, ten times so m.
*3H6 1184 sad-hearted men, m. overgone with care
*3H6 1221 and what makes robbers bold, but too m. lenity?
*3H6 1227 and m. effuse of blood, doth make me faint
*3H6 1438 for she's a woman to be pitied m.
*3H6 1456 and would you not do m. to do them good?
*3H6 1472 he plies her hard, and m. rain wears the marble
*3H6 1486 what love, think'st thou, I sue so m. to get?
*3H6 1549 by so m. is the wonder in extremes
*3H6 1578 my eyes too quick, my heart o'erweens too m.
*3H6 1819 I told your majesty as m. before
*3H6 1843 so m. his friend, ay, his unfeigned friend, that *3H6 1995 I hear, yet say not m., but think the more *3H6 2306 make m. of him, my lords; for this is he must *3H6 2470 nor m. oppress'd them with great subsidies
*3H6 2471 nor forward of revenge, though they m. err'd
*3H6 2481 and swell so m. the higher, by their ebb
*3H6 2689 and give more strength to that which hath too m.
*3H6 2805 hold, Richard, hold, for we have done too m.
*3H6 2834 by heaven, I will not do thee so m. ease
*3H6 2912 ay, and for m. more slaughter after this
*E3 58 that, for so m. as his liberal gift the *E3 170 alas, how m. in vain my poor eyes gaze for
*E3 180 how m. they will deride us in the worth
*E3 408 for so m. moving hath a poet's pen
*E3 413 how m. more shall the strain [Q° A strains] of poet's wit
*E3 607 how m. more, to infringe the holy act made
*E3 1186 m. did the Nonpareille, that brave ship
*E3 1335 to cope with one so m. inferior to myself
*E3 1375 yet thus m., briefly, by my father's leave
*E3 1555 'tis too m. wilfulness, to let his blood be spilt
*E3 1702 poor silly men, m. wrong'd and more distress'd!
*E3 1761 not for his sake, my gracious lord, so m. am I
*E3 1774 Salisbury shall not have his will so m.
*E3 1883 Death's name is m. more mighty than his deeds
*E3 2274 my promise? well, I do confess as m.
*E3 2363 or is our son beset with too m. odds?
*E3 2383 although our grief were m. before
*E3 2385 did thrice so m. increase our heaviness
*E3 2444 for whom, even now, my soul was m. perplex'd!
2F 1179 come, give it me again. — Ay, m.! when, can you tell?
JM 2003 Dost not know a Jew, one Barabas? — Very mush

Much-loved.

*E3 870 till too-m. glory dazzled them

Much-wrong.

*HLC 2138 m. Hero [Old eds. much-rong, much-rongd, and much-wrong'd]

Much-wronged.

*HLC 2138 much-wrung Hero [Old eds. much-rong, much-rongd, and m.]

Much-wrung.

*HLC 2138 m. Hero [Old eds. much-rong, much-rongd, and much-wrong'd]

Mud.

*Sel 252 count it of equal value with the m.
2F 1479 and hurl him in some lake of m. and dirt
2F 1505 half smother'd in a lake of m. and dirt
*2H6 1312 the purest spring is not so free from m., as Muddy.

Ov 2026 either thou'rt m. in mid-winter tide

Muffle.

2T 2084 m. your beauties with eternal clouds

Muffled.

*HLC 1149 m. with endless darkness, she did sit *2H6 2099 the Duke of Suffolk, m. up in rags?

Muffs.

2T 22 Sclavonians, Almains, Rutters, M., and Danes
2T 58 Sclavonians, Almains, Rutters, M., and Danes

Mugeroun.

MP 621 I tell thee, M., we will be friends
MP 667 sweet M., 't is he that hath my heart
MP 782 how now, M.! mett'st thou not

Mulciber.

L 543 fierce M. unbarrèd Aetna's gate

Mule.

*Con 1354 and bare-head plodded by my foot-cloth m.
*2H6 2106 bare-headed plodded by my foot-cloth m.
L 589 the barren m.'s loath'd issue, to be cut forth
1T 265 return our ms. and empty camels back
JM 61 go send 'em threescore camels, thirty ms.
*1H6 188 either they must be dieted like ms.

Muleteers.
*1H6 1370 base m. of France, like peasant foot-boys Mulieres.
Ov 970 Quod amet m., cujuscunque formae sint
Mulieris.
*Loc 1576 Læsae furtivo quam cor m. amore
Multa.
Ept 7 heu, secum effoetas Acherontis ad oras m. abiit virtus
Multiplied.
*2H6 333 your grace's title shall be m.
*2H6 748 although by his sight his sin be m.
Multiply.
JM 304 Christians, what or how can I m.
JM 822 for, though they do a while increase and m.
E2 1784 her friends do m., and yours do fail
Multitude.
*Loc 893 whose m. did daunt our soldiers' minds
*Loc 906 and Albanact, oppress'd with m.
*Loc 1014 with greater m. than erst the Greeks
*Loc 1227 do equalize the grass in m.
2T 301 and march with such a m. of men
JM 298 to save the ruin of a m.
JM 379 you were a m., and I but one
JM 517 did stray so far amongst the m.
E2 20 as for the m., that are but sparks
*HLC 1188 the drunken bastard of the m.
L 492 so rush'd the inconsiderate m. thorough the city
*Epg 570 is my gross-headed judge, the m.
*1H6 162 since they so few, watch such a m.
*Con 1103 good father stay you with the rude m., till I return
*2H6 1117 see how the giddy m. do point
*2H6 1738 stay Salisbury with the rude m., till I return
*2H6 2435 his army is a ragged m. of hinds and peasants
*2H6 2685 was ever feather so lightly blown to and fro, as this m.?
*E3 1600 and put the m. to speedy flight
*E3 2273 so that the trembling m. be sav'd 1T 968 the ground is mantled with such ms.
JM 149 why flock you thus to me in ms.?
JM 162 fond men, what dream you of their ms.?
D 284 in ms. they swarm unto the shore
*2H6 2923 not fit to govern and rule ms.
*TT 362 why stay you lords? what, ms. and fear?
*3H6 458 why come you not? what, ms., and fear?
*E3 1312 with his ms. I fear'd he would have cropp'd
*E3 1849 their ms. of millions hide, masking as 'twere, the *E3 2147 our ms. are in themselves confounded Multos.
Ov 2365 ut rivales m. sibi pararit
Mum.
*Con 234 now Sir John Hume, no words but m.
*2H6 349 seal up your lips, and give no words but m.
Munda.
L 40 at M. let the dreadful battles join Mundi.
2T 1396 were all the lofty mounts of Zona M. that Munition.
*Loc 615 replete with men, stored with m.
*1H6 169 to view the artillery and m.
1T 1397 their warlike engines and ms. exceed the *Sel 816 change into hatred by such prem.
Murder.
*Sel 192 seditious complots, m., fraud and hate
*Sel 2391 fleshing themselves in m., lust, and rape
*Loc 1200 rather than that this m. were undone 1T 1435 pillage and m. are his usual trades
1T 1580 by m. raised to the Persian crown 2F 1575 m. or not m., now he has [1631, hath] but one leg
E2 564 and none so much as blame the murderer [1612, 1622, murther]
E2 1536 and for the m. of my dearest friend
E2 2539 O, if thou harbour'st m. in thy heart
E2 2618 I fear'd as much : m. can not be hid MP 41 ratify, in m., mischief, or in tyranny
MP 46 and brought by m. to their timeless ends
HLM 463 m., rape, war, and lust, and treachery
Ov 1381 but me [ed. B, but yet me; C. but yet without] without murther *1H6 1215 you see what mischief, and what murther too
*Con 1081 for even in thine [Q2 thy] eye-balls murther sits
*Con 1154 but that the guilt of murther bucklers thee
*2H6 1344 murther indeed, that bloody sin, I tortur'd *2H6 1819 but that the guilt of murther bucklers thee, and *TT 1985 m. is his alms-deed, petitioners for blood
*3H6 2841 thou art not here; murther is thy alms-deed E2 2474 and when the m.'s done, see how
*Con 1138 that slanders me with murther's crimson badge
*2H6 1803 that slanders me with murther's crimson badge
*Sel 2167 strange massacres and cruel ms. thou hast
*Sel 2572 the second part shall greater ms. tell
JMP 16 birds of the air will tell of ms. past?
*TT 895 for to revenge the ms. thou hast made
*Sel 1430 yet are my hands left on to m. thee 2T 949 m. the foe, and save their [Dyce the] walls from breach 2T 1578 nor thy close cave a sword to m. thee
JM 1185 that did kill my son, and it shall m. me
JM 1694 when holy friars turn devils and m. one another?
E2 885 convey hence Gaveston; they 'll m. him
E2 1435 let them not unreveng'd m. your friends
E2 2298 traitors, away! what, will you m. me?
E2 2497 villain, I know thou com'st to m. me
E2 2498 to m. you, my most gracious lord!
E2 2550 no, no; for if thou mean'st to m. me
MP 31 that seeks to m. all the protestants
MP 281 and therefore mean to m. all I meet
MP 339 let none escape! m. the Huguenots!
MP 370 are hard at thy door, and mean to m. us
MP 440 m. the Huguenots! take those pedants hence!
MP 535 down with the Huguenots! m. them!
MP 951 when will he come, that we may m. him?
MP 1008 I am one of them that is set to m. you!
MP 1009 to m. me, villain!
MP 1059 or else to m. me, and so be king
MP 1110 m. me not : I am a cardinal
MP 1143 that durst attempt to m. noble Guise
D 821 for here, in spite of heaven, I'll m. him
*1H6 363 thou that contriv'dst to murther our dead lord
*1H6 2482 murther not then the fruit within my womb
*Con 1087 and you had [Q3 y' had] best say that I did murther him
*2H6 2147 by shameful m. of a guiltless king
*2H6 2567 you cannot but forbear to murther me
*TT 1234 tut I can smile, and m. when I smile
*3H6 369 ah Clifford, murther not this innocent child
*3H6 1616 why I can smile, and murther whiles I smile
HLM 626 burns where it cherish'd, ms. where it lov'd
*Con 924 thief, that robs and murthers silly passengers

Murdered.
*Sel 1268 whom cruel Acomat hath m. thus
*Loc 903 and murther'd all with fatal massacre
*Loc 921 murther'd by wicked Pyrrhus' bloody sword
*Loc 1907 my mother m. by a mortal wound !
*Loc 1948 see where he m. lies by luckless lot
*Loc 1952 and, as it seems, both m. by themselves
2T 338 or make a bridge of m. carcasses
2T 767 our m. hearts have strain'd forth blood
2T 1649 cut off this arm that m. my love
2F 1574 O, help, help ! the villain hath m. me
JM 1614 what, if I m. him ere Jacomo comes ?
JM 2081 was my Mathias m. by the Jew ?
JM 2082 Ferneze, 'twas thy son that m. him
E2 2046 in which extreme my mind here m. is !
E2 2356 shall he be m. when the deed is done
E2 2445 if that my uncle shall be m. thus ?
E2 2588 news his father's dead, and we have m. him !
E2 2600 my father's m. through thy treachery
E2 2612 who is the man dares say I m. him ?
E2 2671 here unto thy m. ghost I offer up
MP 35 should have been m. the other night ?
MP 289 shall be m. in his bed
MP 1092 wast born, I would that I had m. thee, my son !
MP 1129 my noble brother m. by the king !
MPF 19 traiterous Guise, ah, thou hast m. me !
*Con 671 in Pomfret Castle harmless Richard was shamefully murthered
*Con 781 which he had thought to have murthered wrongfully
*Con 1099 whom they report to be murthered by Suffolk
*Con 1120 it cannot choose but he was murthered
*Con 1368 a sworder and banditto slave murthered sweet Tully
*Con 1923 sweet father, to thy murthered ghost I swear
*2H6 925 harmless Richard was murthered traitorously
*2H6 1092 which he had thought to have m. wrongfully *2H6 1726 that good Duke Humphrey traitorously is m.
*2H6 1780 it cannot be but he was m. here
*2H6 2188 a Roman sworder, and banditto slave m. sweet Tully
*TT 222 ay, to be m. by his enemies
*TT 955 for I have m. where I should not kill
*TT 959 the day is lost, our friends are m.
*3H6 269 ay, to be m. by his enemies
*3H6 1183 for I have m. where I should not kill Ov 1442 and, mother-m. Itys, thee bewail

Murderedst.
E2 2614 and plainly saith, 'twas thou that m. him

Murderer.
JM 1696 heaven bless me ! what, a friar a m. !
JM 1952 but I know what I know ; he's a m.
JM 2085 where is the Jew ? where is that m. ?
E2 564 and none so much as blame the m. [1612, 1622, murther]
E2 2092 be call'd the m. of a king, take it
E2 2573 is 't done, Matrevis, and the m. dead ?
E2 2620 that thither thou didst send a m.
E2 2621 what m. ? bring forth the man I sent
E2 2630 hence with the traitor, with the m. !
D 1679 ay, I must be m. of myself
*Con 923 a murtherer or foul felonious thief
*2H6 1341 unless it were a bloody murtherer
*2H6 1468 who being accus'd a crafty murtherer
*2H6 1695 yet Aeolus would not be a murtherer
*3H6 2820 what's worse than murtherer, that I may name it
MP 962 now, captain of my guard, are these ms. ready ?
*Con 1122 and they I trust sir, are no murtherers
*2H6 1784 and we I hope sir, are no ms.
*3H6 2814 canst thou not speak ? O traitors, murtherers !

Murdering.
*Sel (Title) also with the murthering of his two brethen
*Loc 1507 with murthering blade bereave him of his life
1T 1291 rain down m. shot from heaven
1T 2198 what cursed power guides the m. hands of 2T 23 the halberd, lance, and m. axe
2T 2147 aiming at me with his m. dart
D 513 with balls of wild-fire in their m. paws
*Con 1892 the way that Clifford hews with his murthering curtle-axe
*2H6 1930 their chiefest prospect, m. basilisks
*3H6 1249 but set his murthering knife unto the root
*E3 1995 disgrac'd the imperial victory of m. Death !
*Sel 1348 in shedding blood, and m. innocents
*Loc 1249 and die for m. valiant Albanact
JM 1250 nor on Mathias but by m. me
E2 1489 I will come to chastise them for m. Gaveston
*TT 2019 and if m. innocents be executions, then
*3H6 2884 if murthering innocents be executing

Murderous.
2TP 5 m. Fates throw all his triumphs down
2T 1383 I take no pleasure to be m.
MP 1138 whose m. thoughts will be his overthrow
L 332 jaws flesh'd [Old ed. flesh] with blood continue m.
*Con 1158 I would false murtherous coward on thy knees make *2H6 1652 upon thy eyeballs, m. tyranny sits in grim majesty
*2H6 1823 I would, false m. coward, on thy knee make thee beg
*2H6 3015 to do a m. deed, to rob a man
*3H6 1627 and set the murtherous Machiavel to school

Mure : see Immure

Murmur.
D 631 free from the m. of these running streams
HLM 354 sends forth a rattling m. to the land
E2 475 ghastly ms. of my sighs and cries
L 606 takes, and it inters with ms. dolorous
*E3 2008 brooks m. no wonted greeting to their shores 2T 614 tree, ms. and hisses for his heinous sin

Murmuring.
*Loc 443 the silent springs dance down with m. streams
*Loc 613 where m. rivers slide with silent streams
E2 963 the m. commons, overstretched, break [Old eds. hath]
L 353 but a m. buzz th' unstable people made

Murther : see Murder

Musaean.
*HLC 1035 and drunk to me half this M. story

Musaeus.
1F 143 as the infernal spirits [swarmed] on sweet M. when he came to hell 2F 135 swarm to my problems as th' infernal spirits on sweet M.
HLM 58 (whose tragedy divine M. sung)

Musam.
*Epg 1 Ad M.
*Epg 552 Ad M. XLVIII

Muscadel.
2T 1683 and drink in pails the strongest m.

Muscadine.
2F 803 m., malmsey, and whippincrust

JM 2323 go, swill in bowls of sack and m.
Muschatoes.
JM 1740 a fellow met me with a m. like a raven's wing
Muscovites.
*Sel 551 sends in his troops of slave-born M.
MP 465 I mean our wars against the M.
*E3 1108 together with this aid of M., shall Muse.
1F 6 intends our M. to vaunt her heavenly verse
2F 6 intends our M. to vaunt his [Dyce her] heavenly verse
HLM 78 my slack M. sings [V. R. must sing] of Leander's eyes
*HLC 848 high our subject runs, and our stern M. must fly
Ov 7 with M. prepar'd, I meant [A, upreard, I mean] to sing of arms
Ov 24 Love [A, I] slack'd my M., and made my numbers [A, number] soft Ov 35 Elegian M., that warblest amorous lays Ov 1683 to find what work my M. might move, I strove
Ov 1704 thy M. hath play'd what may mild girls content
Ov 2382 with M. oppos'd, would I my lines had done
Ov 2517 weak Elegies, delightful M., farewell
L 66 thy power inspires the M. that sings this war
*Epg 2 fly, merry M. [MS. newes], unto that merry town
*Epg 315 is now put down since my light M. arose
*Epg 553 peace, idle M., have done! for it is time
*Epg 561 this M. of mine and the black grew both together
*E3 400 now, Lodowick, invocate some golden M., to 1T 1936 in thy face, where Beauty, mother to the Ms., sits
*HLC 1666 the Gods, the Graces, and the Ms. came down Ov 102 Apollo, Bacchus, and the Ms. may Ov 2147 I, the pure priest of Phoebus and the Ms.
1T 1032 his talk much [4to more] sweeter than the Ms.' song
HLM 482 to which the Ms.' sons are only heir
*HLC 2028 whose graces sprung out of the Ms.' well
Ov 12 we are the Ms.' prophets, none of thine
Ov 21 are all things thine? the Ms.' Tempe [B, C, Temple] thine?
Ov 794 fair Phoebus lead me to the Ms.' springs
Ov 837 with cups full-flowing from the Ms.' well
E2 1856 madam, what resteth? why stand you in a m.?
1T 1956 inspir'd their hearts, their minds, and ms. on admirèd themes 1T 616 that stand and m. at our admirèd arms
JM 1068 O m. not at it; 'tis the Hebrews' guise
HLM 489 then m. not Cupid's suit no better sped
*1H6 703 I m. we met not with the dauphin's grace
*2H6 1210 I m. my Lord of Gloster is not come
*TT 1195 brothers, you m. what talk the widow and I have had *3H6 1539 brothers, you m. what chat we two have had Mused.
HLM 520 and oft look'd out. and m. he did not come
*HLC 1077 she m. how she could look upon her sire Mush.
JM 2003 Dost not know a Jew, one Barabas? — Very m.
Mushroom.
E2 581 but cannot brook a night-grown m. [Old ed. mushrump]
*Sel 2369 whether these ms. here will yield or no
JM 2009 pickled grasshoppers and sauced ms. [Old ed. Mushrumbs]
Music.
*Sel 869 eunuchs, play me some m. while I sleep
*Sel 1456 why so, this m. pleases Acomat 1T 1707 'tis a great deal better than a consort of m.
1T 1708 yet m. would do well to cheer up Zenocrate
2T 203 skilful in m. and in amorous lays 2T 675 that tunes this m. to our souls
2T 721 some m., and my fit will cease, my lord
1F 677 made m. with my Mephistophilis?
2F 598 made m. with my Mephistophilis?
JM 1495 there is no m. to a Christian's knell
JM 1967 let m. rumble, whilst I in thy incony lap do tumble
E2 54 m. and poetry is his delight
D 724 Instead of m. I will hear him speak
D 1048 what more than Delian m. do I hear
HLM 200 which, like sweet m., enter'd Hero's ears
HLM 307 are banquets, Doric m., midnight revel
HLM 826 began to sound forth m. to the ocean
*HLC 951 a m. so divine did pierce his ear
*HLC 1687 they came; sweet M. usher'd th' odorous way
*HLC 1757 of torches, m., feasts, and greatest men
*HLC 1774 how his rare beauty's m. would [V. R. will] agree with *HLC 1950 chariots and m. went; and home they came
*Epg 441 this [Eds. thus] Orpheus to such hearers [MS. eares] giveth m.
*1H6 1813 sings heavy m. to thy timorous soul
*Con 1216 their m. frightful, like the serpent's hiss
*2H6 733 how irksome is this m. to my heart?
*2H6 1932 their m., frightful as the serpents' hiss
*E3 442 her voice to m., or the nightingale
*E3 443 to m. ever summer-leaping swain compares his *E3 1047 but, soft, I hear the m. of their drums
*Loc 441 delight themselves with m.'s harmony
*HLC 858 relentful Ms., and attractive Dances Musical.
*Ign 11 those lips of thine give m. and graceful utterance Musician.
JM 1969 A French m.! — Come, let's hear your skill
JM 2000 m., hast been in Malta long?
D 794 this was Alcion, a m.
E2 52 ms.. that with touching of a string may Musing.
L 264 and Caesar's mind unsettled m. stood
*E3 1320 m. thou shouldst encroach upon his land Musket.
MP 88 discharge thy m., and perform his death
Musketeers.
2T 944 parapets to hide the m.
Musket-shot.
2T 1083 to save our cannoneers from m.
Musk-roses.
D 1380 m., and a thousand sort of flowers
Musky.
*Ign 32 sue, or show my love as m. courtiers do Must.
2T 1619 I m. and will be pleas'd, and you shall yield
E2 122 I cannot, nor I will not; I m. speak
E2 1955 M.! it is somewhat hard when kings m. go Mustaffa.
*Sel 131 perhaps you think M. will revolt
*Sel 136 than true M. prove so treacherous
*Sel 147 hear me, M. and Cherseoli
*Sel 198 in love, M.? Selimus in love?
*Sel 202 trusty M., if he had fear'd me
*Sel 230 come sweet M., come Cherseoli
*Sel 520 what counsel gives M. to us?
*Sel 526 then do so, good M.: call our guard

*Sel 722 M., and you worthy men-at-arms
*Sel 875 M., we are princes of the land
*Sel 914 M., while old Bajazet doth live
*Sel 916 why, brave M., Hali and myself
*Sel 939 Bajazet hath honourèd M. with his love
*Sel 943 and too unnatural should M. be
*Sel 945 M. is a loyal friend
*Sel 957 how now, M., what news have we there?
*Sel 975 M., read
*Sel 1065 thou speakest ever like thyself, loyal M.!
*Sel 1248 M., if my mind deceive me not
*Sel 1260 ah sweet M., thou art much deceiv'd
*Sel 1527 ay, good M., send for Selimus
*Sel 1548 M., and the forward janissaries
*Sel 2195 M., you shall keep Byzantium
*Sel 2204 lovèd M. dear unto his death
*Sel 2211 and now, M., prepare thou thy neck
*Sel 2219 M., I am come to seek thee out
*Sel 2227 methought, M., I beheld thy neck
*Sel 2235 fly, sweet M., or we be but dead
*Sel 2262 and that M., movèd them to fly
*Sel 2265 and learned of them, M. was the man
*Sel 2267 M. shall aby at a dear price his
*Sel 2269 Hali, go fetch M. and his wife
*Sel 2290 M. was the man that sav'd you
*Sel 2300 aggrievèd that M. hath showed
*Sel 2303 they know M. never provèd false
*Sel 2313 for why, M.? every merchant-man will *Sel 2327 so brave a man as my M. was
*Sel 2376 slain brave M.? and fair Solyma?
*Sel 1568 O! here's M.'s signet set thereto!
*Sel 1709 my sister Solyma, M.'s wife
*Sel 2274 to work revenge for her M.'s death
*Sel 2297 repining at M.'s dignity
*Sel 2316 spare my M.'s life, and let me die

Muster.
*E3 141 and, Ned, take m. of our men at arms
*Sel 768 we thought it good to m. up our power
*Loc 506 come, let us in, and m. up our train
*Loc 956 sound drums and trumpets; m. up the camp
E2 1174 that m. rebels thus against your king
MP 579 I'll m. up an army secretly
MP 861 I mean to m. all the power I can MP 928 go m. up our men with speed
*Con 1020 let it be your charge to m. up such soldiers
*Con 1651 that you in troops do m. thus yourselves
*TT 258 and bid the duke to m. up his soldiers
*TT 1711 them will I m. up, and thou son Clarence shalt
*TT 1718 shalt in thy countries m. up thy friends
*3H6 2436 those will I m. up
*3H6 2443 in Oxfordshire shalt m. up thy friends
*E3 801 what time he sent me forth to m. men
*E3 1543 like emmets on a bank, m. about him
L 396 and in all quarters ms. men for Rome

Mustered.
2T 46 Tamburlaine hath m. all his men
MP 734 which are already m. in the land
D 856 I m. all the winds unto his wreck
L 306 cornets of horse are m. for the field
*1H6 102 an army have I m. in my thoughts
*TT 578 m. my soldiers, gather'd flocks of friends
*3H6 716 m. my soldiers, gather'd flocks of friends

Mustering.
*Loc 610 m. their weather — beaten soldiers?

Mutability.
*Sel 1399 that state is full of m.

Mutable.
*Sel 843 first of all our state is m.

Mutation.
*Sel 383 an unlook'd for m. may soon prevent us if

Mute.
2F 1595 dost thou [Not in 1624, 1631] know why I stand so m.?
JM 1067 m. o' the sudden! here's a sudden change
E2 107 your pride hath made me m.
HLM 192 true love is m., and oft amazed stands
HLM 429 was m., and neither would deny nor grant his suit
*Con 1157 and that my sovereign's presence makes me m.

Muted.
*Epg 501 stinking of [Eds. with] dogs, and m. all with hawks

Mutin.
L 42 the M. toils, the fleet at Leuca sunk

Mutinies.
*Loc 601 have pester'd every place with m.
1T 150 therefore, to stay all sudden m., we will E2 272 shall be oppress'd with civil m.
*TT 398 was wont to cheer his dad in m.?
*3H6 496 was wont to cheer his dad in m.?

Mutining.
*Epg 541 nor what becomes of the Irish m.

Mutinous.
*Con 1650 what means this [Q3 these] m. rebellions [Q2 rebellion]
*TT 1710 not m. in peace, yet bold in war
*3H6 1151 erroneous, m., and unnatural
*3H6 2435 not m. in peace, yet bold in war

Mutiny.
*1H6 161 and hardly keeps his men from m.
*1H6 1709 to raise a m. betwixt yourselves
*1H6 2198 or sack this country with a m.
*2H6 1731 myself have calm'd their spleenful m.
E2 703 while soldiers m. for want of pay

Mutter.
*TT 160 what m. you? or what conspire you lords?
*3H6 172 what m. you, or what conspire you lords?

Muttered.
L 559 cattle were seen that m. human speech
*1H6 71 amongst the soldiers this is m.

Muttering.
L 249 and m. much, thus to themselves complain'd

Mutton.
1F 372 would give his soul to the devil for a shoulder of m.
1F 374 how! my soul to the devil for a shoulder of m.
1F 830 I am one that loves an inch of raw m. better than 2F 355 he would give his soul to the devil for a shoulder of m.
2F 749 loves an inch of raw m. better than an ell of fried stock-fish 2F 1191 will it please you to [Not in 1631] take a shoulder of m.

Mutual.
E2 429 kind words and m. talk makes our grief greater
D 1531 thy hand and mine have plighted m. faith
HLM 554 wanting sense, by nature have a m. appetence
*HLC 1842 so cast these virgins' beauties m. [V. R. mortall] rays HLM 2341 with m. braves consume each other
Ov 953 that cannot Venus' m. pleasure taste!
Ov 1287 he's happy who Love's m. skirmish slays [B, C, layes]

Ov 2018 mad stream, why dost our m. joys defer?
*2H6 25 the m. conference that my mind hath had Mutually.
1F 686 m. folded in each other's orb
2F 608 m. folded in each other's spheres
Mya.
*HLC 1677 for young Alcmane and bright M. sent
*HLC 1680 for lovely M. was her consort vow'd
*HLC 2098 Hero, Alcmane, M., so outshine thee Mycenae.
L 542 despair of day; as did Thyestes' town, M.
Mycetes.
1T 27 yet live; yea live; M. wills it so
1T 58 the chiefest [4to chiefe] captain of M.' host Myrmidon.
*Loc 1908 what Thracian dog, what barbarous M.
*Loc 915 slain traitorously by all the Ms.
D 512 Ms., with balls of wild-fire in their murdering paws
D 583 was by the cruel Ms. surpris'd
D 419 hear me; but yet with Ms.' harsh ears
Myrrh.
2T 774 embalm'd with cassia, ambergris, and m.
Myrtle.
HLM 23 upon her head she ware [V. R. wore] a m. wreath
HLM 603 with Cupid's m. was his bonnet crown'd
*HLC 1381 within a m. shade she sate and sung
Ov 61 yoke Venus' doves, put m. on thy hair
Ov 795 about my head be [ed. C, the] quivering m. wound
Ov 838 the frost-drad m. shall impale my head
Ov 1711 err I, or m. in her right hand lies?
PS 12 a kirtle embroider'd all with leaves of m.
Myrtle-praise.
Ov 36 girt my shine brow with sea-bank myrtle-sprays! [Old eds. m.]
Myrtle-sprays.
Ov 36 girt my shine brow with sea-bank m.! [Old eds. myrtle-praise]
Mysteries.
Ov 2438 upon their heads the holy m. had L 638 but Figulus, more seen in heavenly m.
Mystery.
1F 169 and more frequented for this m. than 2F 161 and more frequented for this m. than 2F 1563 thinking some hidden m. had been in the horse

N

Nactaball.
*Loc 564 King N.! I cry God mercy
Nags.
Ov 1535 and, with [not in ed. C] swift n. drawing thy little coach Naiads.
*Loc 1791 the wat'ry N., and the lightfoot Fauns Nails.
1F 428 they have vild [Dyce, vile] long n.
MP 102 I'll either rend it with my n. to naught
D 541 and in his eyelids hanging by the n.
Ov 342 my n. to scratch her lovely cheeks I bent
Ov 356 with thy sharp n. upon my face to seize *1H6 463 and with my n. digg'd stones out of the ground
*1H6 1201 the very parings of our n. shall pitch a field
*Con 383 could I come near your dainty visage with my n.
*2H6 506 could I come near your beauty with my n.
*3H6 1064 what time the shepherd blowing of his n.
*Con 1725 leave thee and thy five men as dead as a door-nail
*2H6 2786 if I do not leave you as dead as a door-nail
*Con 1734 and be turned to [Q2 into] hob-n.
*2H6 2804 thou mayst be turned to hob-n.
2F 1449 I'll nail huge forkèd horns, and let them hang Naked.
*Sel 675 leaving his body n. on the plains
1T 1076 present the n. action of my threaten'd end
1T 1145 that n. row about the Terrene sea
1T 1515 or else I swear to have you whipt stark n.
2T 82 I here present thee with a n. sword
2T 908 threw n. swords and sulphur-balls of fire 2T 1144 with n. swords and scarlet liveries
2T 206 with n. negroes shall thy coach be drawn
2T 1425 a n. lady in a net of gold
2T 1634 I will 'noint my n. throat
1F 987 the maidens in our parish dance at my pleasure, stark n.
2F 799 if thou'lt dance n., put off thy clothes
E2 63 crownets of pearl about his n. arms
E2 126 and henceforth parley with our n. swords
E2 977 thy court is n., being bereft of those E2 2121 and tell thy message to my n. breast
HLM 18 where Venus in her n. glory strove to please the HLM 48 about her n. neck his bare arms threw
HLM 214 full of simplicity and n. truth
HLM 735 where seeing a n. man, she screech'd for fear
HLM 811 but as her n. feet were whipping out
HLM 822 and her all n. to his sight display'd
*HLC 1298 a golden star shin'd in her n. breast
*HLC 1334 for in that sea she n. figur'd him
*HLC 1522 and through her n. breast shin'd streams of fire
*HLC 2077 come, n. Virtue's only tire
*HLC 2242 her love and virtues cloth'd him richly n.
Ov 105 n. simplicity, and modest grace
Ov 207 stark n. as she stood before mine eye
Ov 214 I cling'd her n. body [A, her faire white body]; down she fell
Ov 236 when thou stood'st n., ready to be beat
Ov 540 Love is a n. boy, his years saunce stain
Ov 735 all n., holding in her wave-moist hands
Ov 1217 to have thy hookèd arrows shaked in n. bones?
Ov 1217 love hath my bones left n.
Ov 1238 strike, boy; I offer thee my n. breast
Ov 2121 in skipping out her n. feet much grac'd her
L 191 and arms all n.; who, with broken sighs
L 321 and sentence given in rings of n. swords
*Epg 351 he sends for rods, and strips himself stark n.
*1H6 851 the truth appears so n. on my side
*Con 1223 and standing n. on a mountain-top
*2H6 1837 and he but n., though lock'd up in steel
*2H6 1942 though standing n. on a mountain-top
*3H6 2722 and make him, n., foil a man at arms
*E3 86 and send him n. to the wilderness
*E3 1079 flowers, adorns the n. bosom of the earth
*E3 1748 come n., all but for their linen shirts
*E3 2166 some twenty n. starvelings with small flints have Nakedness.
1F 369 alas, poor slave! how poverty, jesteth in his n.!
2F 352 alas, poor slave! see how poverty jests in his n.!
*HLC 895 clothes but our n., and makes us live Name.
*Sel 185 whose only n. affrights your enemies
*Sel 250 or reverence this thread — bare n. of good
*Sel 325 then first the sacred n. of king began
*Sel 495 as shall consume thee, and thy house's n.

*Sel 555 now by the dreaded n. of Termagant
*Sel 711 I am a prince, Ottrante is my n.
*Sel 778 thus shall the glory of your matchless n.
*Sel 1174 uncle, if I may call you by that n.
*Sel 1573 if there were treason, to subscribe his n.
*Sel 1588 father, — if I may call thee by that n.
*Sel 1750 that woeful emperor first of my n.
*Sel 1856 unnatural sons, unworthy of that n.
*Sel 1949 you are deceived, my n. is master Bullithrumble
*Sel 1954 then Bullithrumble, if that be thy n.
*Sel 1954 my n., sir? oh Lord, yes, and if
*Sel 2108 would be eternal glory to your n.
*Sel 2515 of love or duty, or thine own good n.
*Loc 93 I, in the n. of all, protest to you
*Loc 120 and wipe the n. of Trojans from the earth
*Loc 318 I am a gentleman of good fame and n.
*Loc 562 I command you in the n. of our king
*Loc 787 that tremble at the n. of fatal Mors
*Loc 842 that all the world shall sound of Hubba's n.
*Loc 961 shall be agnominated by our n.
*Loc 1361 but ladies must regard their honest n.
*Loc 1056 how fine you can nick — n. me!
1T 116 to quake and tremble at the Persian monarch's n.
1T 137 we, in the n. of other Persian states
1T 394 and when my n. and honour shall be spread
1T 1436 the slave usurps the glorious n. of war 1T 1604 confirming it with Ibis' holy n.
1T 1727 towns, after my n. and thine, Zenocrate
1T 1968 my nature, and the terror of my n.
1T 2052 my crown, my honour, and my n. thrust under yoke 1T 2229 a title higher than the Soldan's n.
2T 459 call'd by the n. Mare Majore
2T 576 jealous of his n. and honour
2T 734 her n. had been in every line he wrote
2T 1155 the n. of mighty Tamburlaine is spread
2T 1449 traitor to my n. and majesty
2T 1512 but, since I exercise a greater n.
2T 1690 by which I hold my n. and majesty
2T 1808 than honour of thy country or thy n.?
2T 2106 blush, heaven, to lose the honour of thy n.
1F 17 that shortly he was grac'd with doctor's n.
1F 250 within this circle is Jehovah's n.
1F 291 for when we hear one rack the n. of God
1F 404 mass, but for the n. of French crowns, a man 1F 611 I'll fetch thee a wife in the devil's n.
1F 812 her n. was Mistress Margery March-beer
1F 831 the first letter of my n. begins with Lechery [Dyce, L.] 1F 1026 and then to our conjuring in the devil's n.
1F 1055 I charge you in the n. of Belzebub
2F 16 that shortly he was grac'd with doctor's n.
2F 275 for when we hear one rack the n. of God
2F 736 her n. was Margery March-beer
2F 750 and the first letter of my n. begins with Lechery [Dyce, L.] 2F 896 that Faustus' n., whilst [1624, 1631, while] this bright frame doth stand 2F 1447 shame to the black scandal of his hated n.
JMP 5 to some perhaps my n. is odious
JM 355 but take it to you, i' the devil's n.!
JM 679 Del Bosco is my n., Vice-admiral unto the JM 904 now let me know thy n., and JM 2109 my n. is Barabas; I am a Jew
E2 169 in our n. command what so thy mind affects E2 297 may it please your lordship to subscribe your n.
E2 299 quick, quick, my lord; I long to write my n.
E2 301 the n. of Mortimer shall fright the king
E2 566 and in the chronicle enrol his n.
E2 984 cursing the n. of thee and Gaveston
E2 1046 my n. is Baldock, and my gentry I fetch
E2 1053 his n. is Spenser; he is well allied
E2 1093 whereof we got the n. of Mortimer
E2 1180 shame and dishonour to a soldier's n.
E2 1211 Edward, how thy n. revives poor Gaveston!
E2 1324 did you regard the honour of your n.
E2 1407 and said, upon the honour of my n.
E2 1741 welcome, o' God's n., madam, and your son!
E2 1910 who wounds me with the n. of Mortimer?
E2 1931 'tis in the n. of Isabel the queen
E2 1936 comes [1598 come; 1612, 1622 came] Leicester, then, in Isabella's n.?
E2 2019 my nobles rule, I bear the n. of king
E2 2039 but Edward's n. survive, though Edward dies
E2 2130 by Mortimer, whose n. is written here!
E2 2131 well may I rent his n. that rends my heart
E2 2160 whenas a king's n. shall be under-writ
E2 2196 and when 'tis done, we will subscribe our n.
E2 2541 king: O, at that n., I feel a hell of grief!
E2 2585 all tremble at my n., and I fear none
MP 131 so that for proof he barely bears the n.
MP 736 in God's n., let them come!
MP 895 I'll subscribe my n., and seal it straight
MP 920 and these salute his highness in our n.
MP 1077 will him, in my n., to kill the duke
MP 1139 he will'd the governor of Orleans, in his n.
MP 1269 salute the Queen of England in my n.
D 101 whose azur'd gates, enchasèd with his n., shall D 188 but what may I, fair virgin, call your n.
D 216 of Troy am I, Aeneas is my n.
D 233 a' God's n. on! and haste thee to the court
D 271 of his n. that in such peace long time did rule
D 336 or whatsoever style belongs unto your n.
D 505 O Hector, who weeps not to hear thy n.?
D 713 yet must I hear that loathsome n. again?
D 1429 let it be term'd Aenea, by your n.
D 1432 callèd Anchisaeon, of my old father's n.
D 1505 and in his n. rebuk'd me bitterly
HLM 290 and know that some have wrong'd Diana's n.?
HLM 291 whose n. is it, if she be false or not HLM 311 sworn to rob her n. and honour
HLM 533 as if her n. and honour had been wrong'd HLM 612 Fame, whose weight consists in nothing but her n.
*HLC 1586 her n. was Eronusis
*HLC 2406 a n. of all earth's jewels pleas'd not her like
*HLC 2407 pleas'd not her like his dear n.
*HLC 2428 and with Leander's n., she breath'd her last Ov 112 by verses horned [C, honored] Iö got her n.
Ov 117 and with my n. shall thine be always sung
Ov 365 her n. comes from the thing: she, being wise
Ov 426 the vain n. of inferior slaves despise
Ov 648 your n. approves you made for such-like things
Ov 766 that all the world may [ed. A, might] ever chant my n.
Ov 779 what age of Varro's n. shall not be told Ov 809 which through the world shall ever chant my n.
Ov 822 of Varro's n. what ear shall not be told?
Ov 843 my n. shall live, and my best part aspire
Ov 1569 what would not she give that fair n. to win?
Ov 1706 now give the Roman Tragedy a n.
Ov 1742 the other gives my love a conquering n.

Ov 1856 God is a n., no substance, fear'd in vain
Ov 2022 thou hast no n., but com'st from snowy mountains
Ov 2195 ah, now a n. too true thou hast I find !
Ov 2250 if aught remains of us but n. and spirit
Ov 2270 nor on the earth was known the n. of floor
Ov 2458 will you make shipwreck of your honest n.
L 136 and thought his n. sufficient to uphold him
L 402 and, ere he sees the sea, loseth his n.
L 517 thou, Rome, at n. of war runn'st from thyself
L 666 let all laws yield, sin bear the n. of virtue
*Epg 14 which taxeth [MS. carrieth] under a particular [C, peculiar] n., a *1H6 281 then come a' God's n., I fear no woman
*1H6 289 excellent Pucelle, if thy n. be so *1H6 404 we charge and command you, in his highness' n., to *1H6 468 so great fear of my n. 'mongst them were spread *1H6 515 wretched shall France be only in my n.
*1H6 627 God is our fortress, in whose conquering n. let us
*1H6 684 using no other weapon but his n.
*1H6 761 that with his n. the mothers still their babes ?
*1H6 1580 God save King Henry of that n. the sixth
*1H6 1618 doth but usurp the sacred n. of knight
*1H6 1891 that Talbot dead, great York might bear the n.
*1H6 1931 that Talbot's n. might be in thee reviv'd
*1H6 1940 is my n. Talbot ? and am I your son ?
*1H6 1942 dishonour not her honourable n.
*1H6 1969 yes, your renowned n. : shall flight abuse it ?
*1H6 2021 in thee thy mother dies, our household's n.
*1H6 2270 Margaret my n., and daughter to a king
*1H6 2291 say Earl of Suffolk, if thy n. be so *1H6 2384 and I again in Henry's royal n.
*Con 126 the reverence of mine age, and Nevil's n.
*Con 294 and ne'er regards the honour of his n.
*Con 558 but tell me sirrah, what's my n. ?
*Con 560 What's his n. ? — I know not
*Con 564 Nor his n. ? — No indeed master
*Con 566 What's thine own n. ? — Sander, and it please you master
*Con 650[a] crowned king, by the n. of Richard the Second [So in Q3]
*Con 660 crowned by the n. of Richard the Second [So in Q1 Q2]
*Con 763 Sirrah, what's thy n. ? — Peter forsooth
*Con 1306 it is thy n. affrights me, not thyself
*Con 1310 thy n. being rightly sounded, is Gualtier, not Water [Q2 Walter]
*Con 1433 Now sir, what's your n. ? — Emanuel sir, and it shall please you
*Con 1437 and [Q3 omits] what do you [Q3 ye] use to write your n. ?
*Con 1441 I have been so well brought up, that I can write mine own n.
*Con 1802 and tell me what's thy n. ? — Alexander Iden
*2H6 595 so I pray you go in God's n., and leave us
*2H6 610 God, whose n. and power thou tremblest at *2H6 810 tell me sirrah, what's my n. ?
*2H6 812 What's his n. ? — I know not
*2H6 816 What's thine own n. ? — Saunder Simpcox
*2H6 892 that hath dishonour'd Gloster's honest n.
*2H6 921 crown'd by the n. of Henry the Fourth
*2H6 1042 a' God's n. see the lists and all things fit
*2H6 1068 Sirrah, whats thy n. ? — Peter forsooth
*2H6 1187 death, at whose n. I oft have been afear'd
*2H6 1349 I do arrest you in his highness' n.
*2H6 1671 so shall my n. with slander's tongue be wounded
*2H6 2072 and bear the n. and port of gentlemen ?
*2H6 2084 and so am I : my n. is Walter Whitmore
*2H6 2086 thy n. affrights me, in whose sound is death
*2H6 2092 never yet did base dishonour blur our n.
*2H6 2293 What is thy n. ? — Emanuel
*2H6 2297 dost thou use to write thy n. ?
*2H6 2301 I have been so well brought up, that I can write my n.
*2H6 2598 he has a familiar under his tongue, he speaks not a' God's n.
*2H6 2685 the n. of Henry the Fifth, hales them to an hundred mischiefs *2H6 2903 Alexander Iden, that's my n.
*2H6 3088 hath not essentially, but by circumstance the n. of valour
*TT 272 a' God's n., let them come
*TT 553 Richard, I bear thy n., and I'll revenge thy death
*TT 555 his n. that valiant duke hath left with thee
*TT 1105 we charge you in God's n. and the king's to
*TT 1107 God's n. be fulfill'd, your king's n. be obey'd
*TT 1399 for mocking marriage with the n. of France
*TT 1774 two of thy n. both Dukes of Somerset, have sold
*TT 1919 then on God's n. lords together cry Saint George
*3H6 691 Richard, I bear thy n., I'll venge thy death
*3H6 693 his n. that valiant duke hath left with thee
*3H6 1409 we charge you in God's n. and the king's, to *3H6 1411 in God's n. lead on, your king's n. be obey'd
*3H6 2091 applaud the n. of Henry, with your leader
*3H6 2564 two of thy n., both Dukes of Somerset, have sold their lives
*3H6 2761 then in God's n., lords, be valiant
*E3 152 to solicit too the Emperor of Almaine in our n.
*E3 249 upon the bare report and n. of arms
*E3 461 write but in letters capital my mistress' n.
*E3 588 you would profane the holy n. of love
*E3 687 when he hath sworn me by the n. of God
*E3 688 to break a vow made by the n. of God
*E3 742 the king's great n. will temper thy [Old eds. their] misdeeds
*E3 794 when thou convert'st from honour's golden n. to *E3 1278 thy n. ? — Gobin de Grey, if it please your excellence
*E3 1452 Edward Plantagenet, in the n. of God, as *E3 1722 a squire, my lord, John Copland is his n.
*E3 1883 Death's n. is much more mighty than his deeds
*E3 1912 if you call forth a hundred men of n., of lords
*E3 2078 he hath my never-broken n. to show
*E3 2339 neglecting our commission in his n.
*E3 2340 his n. I reverence, but his person more
*E3 2341 his n. shall keep me in allegiance still JM 907 my n.'s Ithamore ; my profession what you please
*Sel 333 did first devise the ns. of gods, religion, heaven, and hell
*Sel 344 the foolish ns. of father, mother, brother, and *Sel 349 for these ns. too are but a policy, to 1T 1165 have to their ns. titles [4to title] of dignity
1T 1520 thy ns., and titles, and thy dignities [4to dignitie]
2T 97 in all your ns., desir'd a truce of me ?
1F 252 th' abbreviated [Dyce, abbreviated] ns. of holy saints
1F 690 nor are the ns. of Saturn, Mars, or Jupiter
1F 766 examine them of their several ns. and dispositions 2F 239 th' abbreviated ns. of holy saints
2F 611 nor are the ns. of Saturn, Mars, or Jupiter feign'd

2F 688 now, Faustus, question them of their ns. and dispositions E2 1928 Spenser and Baldock, by no other ns.
Ov 879 heroes of [Old eds. O] great ns., farewell!
Ov 2033 I shame so great ns. to have us'd so vainly
Ov 2453 such as confess have lost their good ns. by it
*Epg 471 fair written in a scroll he hath the [Not in B, C] ns. of *Con 570 thou mightst as well have known all our ns.
*2H6 98 blotting your ns. from books of memory
*2H6 821 thou might'st as well have known all our ns.
1F 666 scarce can I n. salvation, faith, or heaven
1F 752 never to n. God, or to pray to him
2F 589 scarce can I n. salvation, faith, or heaven
D 702 n. not Iarbus : but, sweet Anna, say, is not Ov 1964 what should I n. Asop [Old eds. Aesope], that Thebe lov'd Ov 2399 Proteus what should I n.? teeth, Thebes' first seed?
*Epg 17 oft in my laughing rhymes I n. a gull
*1H6 42 n. not religion, for thou lov'st the flesh
*Con 571 as thus to n. the several colours we do wear
*2H6 822 as thus to n. the several colours we do wear
*TT 1967 what's worse than tyrant that I may not [Q1 Q2 omit] n.
*3H6 2820 what's worse than murtherer, that I may n. it?
*E3 936 n. them, fair countess, and, by heaven, I will
*E3 1895 when we n. a man, his hand, his foot
D 347 he ns. [Old ed. meanes] Aeneas ; let us kiss his feet

Named.

2T 733 had not been n. in Homer's Iliads 2T 737 nor Lesbia nor Corinna had been n.
1F 1526 threatened to tear me in pieces, if I n. God
2F 2009 to tear me in pieces, if I n. God
*FB 8 accurst therefore, for Faustus was I n.
Ov 2035 I erewhile n. Achelöus, Inachus, and Nile [Old eds. Ile]
*1H6 1296 in the time of Henry, n. the Fifth *1H6 2496 'twas neither Charles, nor yet the duke I n.
*Con 650a and left him one only daughter, n. Philippe [So in Q3]
*Con 1396 I John Cade so n. for my valiancy
*HLC 2067 Psittacus, that now the Parrot is surn. by us
*HLC 2431 like two sweet birds surn. th' Acanthides

Namely.

*HLD 5 n. of the performance of whatsoever we may judge

Nameth.

*Sel 2059 ay me, who n. me?

Naming.

1F 1562 ah, rend not my heart for n. of my Christ!
2F 2093 rend not my heart for n. of my Christ

Nan.

1F 1016 if thou hast any mind to N. Spit, our Kitchen-maid
1F 1019 shall I have N. Spit, and to mine own use?
Dia 25 fie, N., why use thy old lover so
Dia 35 my N., whose love I hold so dear
Dia 58 and saw you not [my] N. to-day
Dia 60 my pretty N. is gone away to seek her love
Dia 70 why, how now, sweet N.! I hope you jest
*Con 1388 an Will that came a-wooing to our N. last Sunday

Nap.

*Con 1381 he means to turn this land, and set a new n. on it [Q3 on 't]
*2H6 2205 and turn it, and set a new n. upon it

Napè.

Ov 593 N., free-born, whose cunning hath no border
Ov 625 N., by stumbling on the threshold, started

Napen.

Ov 590 N. alloquitur, ut paratas tabellas

Napkin.

E2 757 or holding of a n. in your hand
*TT 400 look York? I dipp'd this n. in the blood
*TT 478 keep thou the n. and go boast with that *3H6 498 look York, I stain'd this n. with the blood
*3H6 666 a n., steep'd in the harmless blood of sweet *3H6 581 keep thou the n., and go boast of this

Naples.

1F 866 then up to N., rich Campania
2F 842 then up to [1624, 1631, unto] N., rich Campania
E2 2366 I learn'd in N. how to poison flowers
*1H6 2271 the King of N., whosoe'er thou art
*1H6 2313 for though her father be the King of N.
*1H6 2497 but Reignier King of N. that prevail'd
*1H6 2635 a king, the King of N., and Jerusalem
*Con 44 Margaret, daughter to Reignier King of N.
*2H6 47 Reignier King of N., Sicilia, and Jerusalem
*2H6 2947 outcast of N., England's bloody scourge
*TT 440 thy father bears the type of King of N.
*TT 807 iron of N., hid with English gilt *3H6 542 thy father bears the type of King of N.
*3H6 952 iron of N., hid with English gilt

Nappy.

*Loc 526 the can stands full of n. ale. — Song

Nar.

L 472 spread along N. flood that into Tiber falls

Narrow.

2T 425 we kept the n. Strait of Gibraltar [Dyce Jubaltèr]
2T 936 the [4to and] counterscarps n. and steep
E2 971 the haughty Dane commands the n. seas
HLM 648 and pray'd the n. toiling Hellespont to
*HLC 2280 to fly out of the n. Thames with winds unapt
*TT 211 stern Falconbridge commands the n. seas
*TT 1703 is pass'd in safety through the n. seas
*3H6 248 stern Faulconbridge commands the n. seas
*3H6 2428 hath pass'd in safety through the n. seas

Narrowly.

*E3 1527 but n. beset with turning Frenchmen

Nashe.

D (Title) Written by Christopher Marlowe, and Thomas N. Gent

Naso.

Ov 1408 subscribing N. with Corinna sav'd

Nasty.

JM 2021 a masty [Dyce, n.] slave he is Nation.

*Loc 1252 if the brave n. of the Troglodytes
JM 125 they say we are a scatter'd n.
JM 737 (unchosen n., never circumcis'd
E2 1733 « having in their company divers of your n. »
Ov 2506 of me Peligny's n. boasts alone
*1H6 1462 nor should that n. boast it so with us
*1H6 1501 who join'st thou with, but with a lordly n.
*1H6 1717 in France, amongst a fickle wavering n.
*1H6 2518 peace, betwixt onr n., and the aspiring French
*E3 146 a famous war, and with so mighty a n.
*E3 1060 there comes a hare-brain'd n., deck'd in pride
*1H6 1789 our n.'s terror, and their bloody scourge
*E3 1264 and in the midst our n.'s glittering host
*Sel 836 ruling the reins of many ns.
*Sel 1395 what though the world of ns. me hate

*Sel 1754 for Tamburlaine the scourge of ns.
1T 393 the ns. far-remov'd admire me not) 2T 151 so am I fear'd among the ns.
1F 147 shall make all ns. to canonize us
2F 139 shall make all ns. to [1624, 1631, omits] canonize us
Ov 2267 thee, goddess, bountiful all ns. judge
Ov 1916 so use we women of strange ns.' stock

Native.
*Sel 2339 welcome, my lords, into my n. soil
*Sel 2526 when he returns into his n. home 2T 1771 then shall my n. city Samarcanda, and 2T 1810 the city and my n. country's weal
*FB 44 and then return'd unto my n. place
E2 1070 my lords, of love to this our n. land
MP 6 the n. sparks of princely love
MP 478 I may retire me to my n. home
MP 1136 and beat proud Bourbon to his n. home
D 217 who, driven by war from forth my n. world
D 1612 the desolation of his n. Troy
Ov 757 and be hereafter seen with n. hair
L 176 and deem'd renown, to spoil their n. town
*2H6 1687 drove back again unto my n. clime
*2H6 2679 spare England, for it is your n. coast
*TT 1072 and thus disguis'd to greet my n. land
*TT 1359 and thrust King Henry from his n. home
*3H6 1830 did I put Henry from his n. right?
*E3 2 banish'd though thou be from France, thy n. country
*E3 2154 and that our n. stones from English arms rebel

Nativity.
1T 1474 smile, stars that reign'd at my n.
2T 2080 fall, stars that govern his n.
1F 1571 you stars that reign'd at my n.
2F 2102 you stars that reign'd at my n.
*FB 33 woe to the day of my n.!
*1H6 2446 now cursed be the time of thy n.
*3H6 2264 to whom the heavens in thy n., adjudg'd

Natolia.
*Sel 1115 march to N., there we will begin
*Sel 1150 now, fair N. shall thy stately walls
*Sel 1161 to plant thy forces in N.
*Sel 1245 this day was fatal to N.
*Sel 1263 our chief commander of N.
*Sel 1306 citizens in fair N., Acomat has slain
*Sel 1516 and the good governor of N.
*Sel 2504 and Belierby of fair N.
2T 6 now have we march'd from fair N.
2T 13 King of N., let us treat of peace
2T 53 the hot assaults proud Tamburlaine intends N.
2T 114 Kings of N. and of Hungary
2T 148 Orcanes of N. confirm'd this league
2T 153 if any heathen potentate or king invade N.
2T 162 hence to fair N. and to Trebizon
2T 366 all which have sworn to sack N.
2T 370 will quickly ride before N.
2T 406 proud Orcanes of N., with all his viceroys
2T 462 until N. kneel before your feet
2T 486 N. hath dismiss'd the greatest part of all his army 2T 536 from proud Orminius' mount to fair N.
2T 790 Emperor of N., Jerusalem, Trebizon
2T 795 thrice-worthy kings, of N. and the rest 2T 1175 by this time is at N., ready to charge the 2T 1206 die here in N. by your [4to our] highness' hands)
2T 1350 field is fought, and rich N. ours
2T 1766 the Euxine sea, north to N.
2T 1188 means to girt N.'s walls with siege

Natolian.
2T 113 or treat of peace with the N. king
2T 642 full N. bowls of Greekish wine
2T 63 Ns., Sorians [8vo Syrians], black [4to and black] Egyptians

Natural.
1F 702 the first is finished in a n. day
1F 1554 a year, a month, a week, a n. day
2F 622 that the first is finish'd in a n. day
2F 2085 a year, a month, a week, a n. day
MP 183 some n. passion makes her sick
MP 1051 to hatch for treason 'gainst their n. queen?
*1H6 2416 mad n. graces that extinguish art
*TT 77 whom should he follow but his n. king?
*3H6 85 whom should he follow but his n. king?
*3H6 2098 vow, never to lie and take his n. rest, till
*E3 1416 he that you fight for is your n. king

Natural : see Unnatural

Naturale.
1F 218 is not he corpus n.! and is not that mobile?
2F 205 for is he not corpus n.? and is not that mobile?

Naturalized.
2T 1221 n. Turks and stout Bithynians

Naturally.
E2 100 that n. would love and honour you
HLM 434 (all women are ambitious n.) 1F 1033 hush! I'll gull him super*n.*

Nature.
*Sel 118 should set the law of N. all at nought!
*Sel 218 which N. hath inscribed with golden pen
*Sel 357 to which dame N. so large freedom gave?
*Sel 2543 but see, how unkind N. deals with them
*Loc 1751 mother, though n. makes me to lament
1T 104 monster of n., shame unto thy stock 1T 481 N. doth strive with Fortune and his stars to 1T 665 if n. had not given me wisdom's lore!
1T 866 N., that fram'd us of four elements
1T 888 the strangest men that n. ever made!
1T 1968 my n., and the terror of my name
2T 957 invincible by n. [4to by the n.] of the place 2T 1467 thine honour's foil, and shame of n.
2T 2317 the n. of these proud rebelling jades
2T 2321 the n. of thy chariot will not bear 2T 1164 in frame of which N. shew'd more skill 1F 220 but that I am by n. phlegmatic, slow to wrath, and 1F 806 a small trifle to suffice n.
2F 208 but that I am by n. phlegmatic, slow to wrath
2F 731 a small trifle to suffice n.
2F 1848 if sin by custom grow not into n.
E2 662 for with my n. war doth best agree
E2 685 thou seest by n. he is mild and calm
E2 1596 N., yield to my country's cause in this!
D 1081 N., why mad'st me not some poisonous beast
HLM 52 as N. wept, thinking she was undone
HLM 554 wanting sense, by n. have a mutual appetence
*HLC 1110 of bed-rid n. and lives led amiss
*HLC 1361 pursuing n. in her Cynthian body
*HLC 1424 N. had plac'd in it to make it known
*HLC 1437 blastings, witchcrafts, and the strifes of n.
*HLC 1662 that, spite of N., would their business ply
*HLC 2007 and every other birth produc'd by N.
*HLC 2222 N. doth not intend it should [V. R. shall]
*HLC 2225 nor did N. propose one life to maids
Ov 782 that N. shall dissolve this earthly bower
Ov 2142 ah, whither is thy breast's soft n. fled?
Ov 2169 against thyself, man's n., thou wert cunning

*LD 20 measure my thoughts to thee by a scale of this n.
L 51 n. and every power shall give thee place
L 561 prodigious births with more and ugly joints than n. gives L 588 such monsters N. hatch'd against her kind
*1H6 1113 froward by n., enemy to peace
*1H6 1498 or n. makes me suddenly relent
*2H6 1472 a fox, by n. prov'd an enemy to the flock
*2H6 3162 being opposites of such repairing n.
*TT 1227 she did corrupt frail n. in the flesh
*TT 1501 for why hath n. made me halt downright
*3H6 1589 she did corrupt frail n. with some bribe
*3H6 1740 when n. brought him to the door of death ?
*3H6 2303 his head by n. fram'd to wear a crown
*3H6 2570 prevails more than the n. of a brother's love
*Loc 1313 O, that sweet face, painted with n.'s dye
*Loc 1915 N.'s sole wonder, in whose beauteous breasts 1T 345 embellish'd with n.'s pride and richest furniture !
1T 1871 the sum of N.'s skill and heavenly majesty
1F 102 wherein all N.'s treasury [Dyce, treasure] is contain'd 1F 1383 since we have seen the pride of N.'s works, and 1F 1552 fair N.'s eye, rise, rise again, and make 2F 99 wherein all N.'s treasure is contain'd 2F 1838 now we have seen the pride of N.'s work
1F 2083 fair N.'s eye, rise, rise again, and make
JM 1074 and n.'s beauty choke with stifling clouds
E2 1982 pay n.'s debt with cheerful countenance
D 11 which, shaken thrice, makes N.'s buildings quake
HLM 258 and quite confound N.'s sweet harmony
EPF 6 even N.'s rarest alchymy ran there
*1H6 2273 be not offended N.'s miracle
*E3 319 the ground, undeck'd with n.'s tapestry, seems barren

Naught.

*Loc 703 n. reck I of thy threats, thou princox boy
*Loc 311 my pen is n. ; gentlemen, lend me a knife
1T 1496 to make me think of n. but blood and war
2T 865 'tis n. for your majesty to give a kingdom
2T 1686 and fit for n. but perches for the black and fatal ravens
JM 305 of n. is nothing made
JM 306 from n. at first thou cam'st to little wealth
JM 353 content thee, Barabas ; thou hast n. but right
JM 422 that measure n. but by the present time
JM 1441 and n. is to be look'd for now but wars
JM 1442 and n. to us more welcome is than wars
JM 2438 to keep me here will n. advantage you
E2 2525 these looks of thine can harbour n. but death
MP 102 I'll either rend it with my nails to n.
*HLC 1371 yet was of n. but of a serpent sped
*HLC 1467 and 'twas less n. to leave gods in profession
*HLC 1771 his love durst feed on n. but sight and hearing
*HLC 1978 in two parts equal, n. in middle left
*HLC 2069 prates n. but news common to the
*HLC 2183 and n. doth mean of all his antic shows
*HLC 2210 that n. but fires perfum'd must give it light
*HLC 2232 the right of n. is glean'd, but the delight
*HLC 2245 now at oppos'd Abydos n. was heard
*HLC 2394 but here n. serves our turns
*HLC 2408 come n. but my Leander !
Ov 880 your favour n. my mind inflames
Ov 1475 only I'll sign n. that may grieve me much
Ov 1523 healthful Peligny I esteem n. worth
Ov 2024 thy springs are n. but rain and melted snow
Ov 2260 and may th' earth's weight thy ashes n. molest !
L 340 say I merit n., yet, for long service done
*Con 1010 what worse than nought [Q3 n.], then a shame take all
*E3 169 in great affairs 'tis n. to use delay

Naughtiness.

Ov 1694 wine-bibbing banquets tell thy n.
Ov 1892 the fainting seeds of n. doth kill

Naughty.

*2H6 860 a sort of n. persons, lewdly bent

Navarre.

MP 1 Prince of N., my honourable brother
MP 13 thanks, son N. You see
MP 149 ay, but, N. [Old eds. N., N.], — 'tis but a nook
MP 176 help, son N. ! I am poison'd !
MP 428 to get those pedants from the King N.
MP 524 vow, with the rebellious King of N.
MP 550 O, no, my loving brother of N.
MP 753 to march 'gainst the rebellious King N.
MP 867 N., that cloaks them underneath his wings
MP 1057 in civil broils between N. and me ?
MP 1105 wicked N. will get the crown of France
MP 1162 brother of N., I sorrow much that MP 1170 it is enough if that N. may be esteem'd
MP 1173 thanks to my kingly brother of N.
MP 1201 yes, N., but not to death, I hope
MP 1227 N., give me thy hand, I here do swear
MP 1250 O, no, N. ! thou must be king of France
MP 1260 weep not, sweet N., but revenge my death
MP 1268 I die, N. : come bear me to my sepulchre
MP 1275 shall curse the time that e'er N. was king MP 79 Go, then, present them to the Queen N.

Navel.

D 551 then from the n. to the throat at once he ripp'd old Priam

Navies.

*E3 1153 these iron-hearted n., when last I was Navigantem.

Ov 1297 Ad amicam n.

Navy.

D 743 yea, all my n. split with rocks and shelves
*E3 1010 here, till our n., of a thousand sail, have
*E3 1092 but where's our n. ? how are they prepar'd to *E3 1206 how the French n. is destroy'd at sea

Ne.

Ov 2099 but neither was I man nor [ed. A, n.] livèd then Neaera.

Ov 1959 when nymph N. rapt thy looks, Scamander

Neapolitan.

*2H6 2946 O blood-bespotted N., outcast of Naples

Near.

*Sel (Title) The Catherine Wheel, n. The Old Swan, 1594
*Sel 452 and move him to advance his footing n.
*Sel 1181 ay, that thou art so n. unto the crown
*Sel 1223 no, minion, you are too n. akin to me
*Loc 57 soaring with Icarus too n. the sun
*Loc 167 Locrine, draw n., draw n. unto thy sire
*Loc 351 « for your love doth lie as n. and as nigh »
*Loc 673 n. the tavern ; ay, by our lady
*Loc 861 a subtle adder creeping closely n.
1T (Title) at the sign of The Rose and Crown, n. Holborn-Bridge. 1590 1T 181 so n. the residence of your despisèd brother 1T 320 runaways look for orations when the foe is n.
1T 513 king, that now is marching n. to Parthia
1T 1281 for we will scorn they should come n. ourselves
2T 378 from Azamor to Tunis n. the sea

2T 1241 they look as if their deaths were n.
2T 1312 bordering on Mare Roso, n. to Mecca
2T 2215 from thence to Nubia n. Borno-lake
2T 2223 n. five thousand leagues
1F 919 my Lord of Lorraine, will't please you draw n.?
1F 1263 upon a bottle of hay, never so n. drowning in my life 1F 1354 and yet, methinks, if that death were n., he 1F 1409 by this, I know the conjurer is n.
2F 1524 I have a castle joining n. these woods 2F 1725 faith, you are too outrageous : but, come n.
JM (Title) sold at his shop in the Inner-Temple, n. the Church, 1623
JM 234 yes ; give me leave : — and, Hebrews, now come n.
JM 1296 O Ithamore, come n.
JM 1297 come n., my love ; come n., thy master's life
E2 (Title) Richard Jones, dwelling n. Holborn Conduit
E2 (Title) sold at his shop at the Lame Hospital gate, n. Smithfield, 1622 E2 251 what else, my lords ? for it concerns me n.
E2 603 did never sorrow never go so n. my heart as E2 892 out of my presence ! come not n. the court
E2 1278 must not come n. to balk their lips
E2 1460 admit him n.
E2 1502 with sweat and dust all chok'd well n.
E2 1653 that you were dead, ar very n. your death
E2 1809 proud Mortimer pries n. into thy walks
MP (Title) n. the little north door of Saint Paul's Church
MP 86 some window, opening n. the street
MP 328 but slay as many as we can come n.
MP 1190 then come thou n., and tell what news
MP 313 he miss'd him n., but we have struck him now
D 170 how n., my sweet Aeneas, art thou driven !
D 173 n. to these woods, to roast your meat withal
D 264 forbids all hope to harbour n. our hearts
HLM 118 the hearts of those that n. her stood
HLM 186 came somewhat [V. R. something] n. him
HLM 725 by this, Leander, being n. the land
HLM 815 thus n. the bed she blushing stood upright
*HLC 1317 n. the sea's hue, for [V. R. from] thence her goddess came *HLC 1376 n. the fork'd [V. R. forke] point of the divided flame
*HLC 1411 all sad ostents of that too n. success
*HLC 1551 hid in a [V. R. the] watery cloud n. Hero's cries
*HLC 1556 that did touch Hero so n. for that *HLC 1865 and, drawing it n., mix'd so
*HLC 2357 in groans they broke when they came n. him
*HLC 2432 that n. no seas dare ever come
Ov 1235 the haven-touching [ed. B, heaven touching] bark, now n. the lea
Ov 1323 and with the waters sees death n. him thrusts
Ov 1963 they say, Peneus n. Phthia's town did hide
L 43 and cruel field n. burning Aetna fought !
L 242 and snatch'd arms n. their household-gods hung up
L 250 « O walls unfortunate, too n. to France !
L 305 as if the Carthage Hannibal were n.
L 435 they n. the hills, under whose hoary rocks
L 644 Rome, thy citizens are n. some plague
L 665 war's rage draws n.
Dia 77 that a fool come n. you when you mean to speed
*Epg 436 and then a country client presses [Eds. passeth] n. him
*1H6 184 at pleasure here we lie, n. Orleans
*1H6 466 none durst come n., for fear of sudden death
*1H6 603 if any noise or soldier you perceive n. to the walls *1H6 1156 yes, when his holy state is touch'd so n.
*1H6 2153 the Earl of Armagnac n. knit to Charles
*1H6 2422 have I sought every country far and n.
*1H6 2640 because he is n. kinsman unto Charles
*Con 288 villains get you [Q2 ye] gone and come not n. the court
*Con 383 could I come n. your dainty visage with my nails
*Con 1757 shouldst thus approach so n. with colours spread *2H6 362 if you take not heed, you shall go n. to *2H6 506 could I come n. your beauty with my nails
*2H6 749 stand by, my masters, bring him n. the king
*2H6 1230 first note, that he is n. you in descent
*2H6 2851 or dare to bring thy force, so n. the court ?
*TT 1327 then draw n. Queen Margaret and be a witness
*TT 1470 we pardon thee, and as n. as thou canst tell me
*TT 1511 you of [Q3 above] all the rest are nearest [Q3 neere] allied
*3H6 1775 draw n. Queen Margaret, and be a witness
*3H6 2002 tell me their words, as n. as thou canst guess them
*3H6 2051 are n. to Warwick, by blood, and by alliance
*3H6 2101 if Warwick be so n. as men report
*E3 (Title) and are to be sold at his shop n. The Royal Exchange. 1599
*E3 294 pardon me, countess, I will come no n.
*E3 541 how n. then shall I be to remedy ?
*E3 542 as n., my liege, as all my woman's power can
*E3 1048 by which I guess that their approach is n.
*E3 1071 n. to the coast I have descried, [A, discribde], my lord
*E3 1076 but, drawing n., their glorious bright aspect
*E3 1734 I'll pitch my tent n. to the sandy shore

Nearer.

*Sel 293 my resolution treads a n. way
*Sel 479 seignory, n. to you and to the Christians
E2 2263 Isabel is n. than the Earl of Kent
HLM 741 the n. that he came, the more she fled

Nearest.

1F 790 I mean his friends and n. companions
MP 554 God grant my n. friends may prove no worse !
*HLD 2238 but what shines n. best, holds truest worth
*TT 1511 you of [Q3 above] all the rest are n. [Q3 near] allied in *E3 2296 and kings approach the n. unto God, by Neat.

Ov 829 thy verses, n. Tibullus, shall be spoken
*Epg 225 the fine youth Cyprius is more terse and n. than the *TT 505 as doth a lion 'midst a herd of n.
*3H6 616 as doth a lion in a herd of n.

Neatly.

JM 1200 so n. plotted, and so well perform'd?
JM 1649 'tis n. done, sir ; here's no print at all Necessary.

*Sel 797 we must forecast what things be n.
2T 508 not by n. policy to be esteem'd
2T 690 wane with enforc'd and n. change
1F 206 that follows not n. by force of argument
JM 358 'tis n. that be look'd unto
JM 510 it is not n. I be seen
*2H6 1865 it were but n. you were wak'd
*E3 1016 to set aside unn. soothing

Necessity.

1T 1012 be honour'd with your love but for n. !
2T 2280 magnanimity that nobly must admit n.

2T 2284 since fate commands and proud n.
1F 590 ay, of n., for here's the scroll wherein 2F 536 ay, of n., for here's the scroll
E2 535 well, of n. it must be so
E2 1995 not of compulsion or n.
MP 136 to supply, my wants and n.
D 169 see, what strange arts n. finds out!
*1H6 1844 God comfort him in this n.
*3H6 1702 but from deceit, bred by n.

Neck.

*Sel 2211 and now, Mustaffa, prepare thou thy n.
*Sel 2227 methought, Mustaffa, I beheld thy n.
*Loc 1315 that decent n., surpassing ivory
*Loc 2015 one mischief follows on another's n.
2T 275 arms to lay about a lady's n.
2T 1025 that we may tread upon his captive n.
2T 1281 I'll hang a clog about your n. for 1F 1166 I heard this lady, while she lived, had a wart or mole in her n.
2F 695 next, like a necklace, I hang about her n.
2F 972 trod on the n. of German Frederick 2F 1326 had on her n. a little wart or mole
JM 1734 ready to leap off ere the halter was about his n.
E2 258 he claps his cheeks, and hangs about his n.
E2 471 arms, that twin'd about my n., I had been stifled
E2 625 I'll hang a golden tongue about thy [1612, 1622, my] n.
E2 627 no other jewels hang about my n. than these D 44 put thou about thy n., my own sweet heart
D 522 about whose wither'd n. hung Hecuba
D 665 will Dido let me hang about her n.?
D 767 of more sovereign worth than Thetis hangs about Apollo's n.
HLM 31 about her n. hung chains of pebble-stone
HLM 32 which, lighten'd by her n., like diamonds shone
HLM 48 about her naked n. his bare arms threw
HLM 70 as delicious meat is to the tast, so was his n. in touching
*HLC 947 which she [V. R. we] had rather wear about her n.
*HLC 1326 this serv'd her white n. for a purple sphere
*HLC 1351 in working his fair n. she did so grace it
*HLC 1368 the toughen'd sinews in his n. did swell
*HLC 1557 and, thrusting her white n. at Venus, said
Ov 125 about thy n. shall he at pleasure skip?
Ov 154 let not thy n. by his vile arms be prest
Ov 200 her white n. hid with tresses [A trells] hanging down
Ov 332 with locks spread on her white n.
Ov 334 and on her n. a wanton's [ed. C, wanton] mark not missing
Ov 460 and thy n. with lascivious marks made blue
Ov 1011 if her white n. be shadow'd with black hair
Ov 1583 then wreathes about my n. her winding arms
Ov 2046 she on my n. her ivory arms did throw
Ov 2202 the locks spread on his n. receive his tears
Ov 2481 and with a wanton's tooth your n. new-raz'd?
*1H6 1003 direct mine arms, I may embrace his n.
*Con 1360 first let this n. stoop to the axe's edge
*Con 1443 with his penny ink-horn [Q3 pen and inkehorne] about his n.
*2H6 1709 I took a costly jewel from my n.
*2H6 2305 hang him with his pen and ink-horn about his n.
*3H6 1647 yield not thy n. to fortune's yoke
*E3 1749 with each a halter hang'd about his n.
1T 314 and about their ns. hang massy chains of gold
1T 1237 if they should yield their ns. unto the sword 1F 852 drawn by the strength of yoky dragons' ns.
2F 571 drawn by the strength of yoky [1624, yoked] dragons ns. [Dyce omits] 2F 814 drawn by the strength of yokèd dragons' ns.
Ov 639 there sat the hangman for men's ns. to angle
Ov 925 on tell-tales' ns. thou seest the link-knit chains
Ov 2275 she first constrain'd bulls' ns. to bear the yoke
*1H6 812 with which he yoketh your rebellious ns.
*1H6 2510 drive you to break your ns., or hang yourselves
*Con 1663 to bend your ns. under [Q2 unto] their servile yokes
*2H6 325 and smooth my way upon their headless ns.
*2H6 2650 be hang'd with your pardons about your ns.?
*2H6 2709 and humbly thus with halters on their ns., expect
*E3 49 able to yoke their stubborn ns. with steel

Necked.

Ov 1895 I saw a hore against the bit stiff-n.

Necklace.

2F 694 next, like a n., I hang about her neck
Ov 577 and a rich n. caus'd that punishment

Neck-verse.

JM 1726 within forty foot of the gallows, conning his n.

Necromancy.

1F 25 he surfeits upon cursed n.
2F 24 he surfeits upon [1624, 1631, on the] cursed n.
*Sel 1696 besides, he may by devilish n.

Necromantic.

1F 77 and n. books are heavenly
1F 132 for my head but ruminates on n. skill
2F 75 and n. books are heavenly
2F 1265 than if by powerful n. spells thou

Nectar.

*Loc 845 sweeter than N. or Ambrosia
2T 754 giving thee n. and ambrosia
HLM 68 Jove might have sipt out n. from his hand
HLM 437 a draught of flowing n. she requested
HLM 756 than dreary-Mars-carousing n. bowls
HL (Title) Ut N., Ingenium

Ned.

E2 98 well done, N.!
*LD 16 if you can mould yourself to them, N., I make *TT 1882 and N. and I as willing pilots should *TT 1961 ah N., speak to thy mother boy?
*TT 2095 young N., for thee, thine uncles and myself
*3H6 2699 and though unskilful, why not N. and I
*3H6 2813 Oh N., sweet N., speak to thy mother boy
*3H6 2962 young N., for thee, thine uncles, and myself
*E3 141 and, N., take muster of our men at arms
*E3 157 and, N., thou must begin now to forget thy study
*E3 905 go, leave me, N., and revel with thy friends
*E3 1067 then Bayard-like, blind over-weening N., to *E3 1307 but tell me, N., in all thy warlike course hast
*E3 1445 and, N., because this battle is the first that
*E3 1493 the leading of the vaward, N., is thine
*E3 1603 ay, well thou hast deserv'd a knighthood, N.!
*E3 1620 N., thou and Audley shall pursue them still
*E3 2415 sweet N., I would thy mother in the sea had been Need.

*Sel 723 that left not Bajazet in greatest n.
*Sel 2164 hast greatest n. to ponder those things
*Loc 938 and 947 and these and more if n. shall more require
*Loc 1019 that resolution's a sole help at n.

1T 209 aid and assistance, if we stand in n.
2F 1532 I have no great n. to sell him
E2 87 shall sleep within the scabbard at thy n.
D 138 for this so friendly aid in time of n. !
*HLC 2092 no n. have we of factious Day
Ov 1616 fool, if to keep thy wife thou hast no n.
*AT 47 died in the extremest n. and terror's bitterness
*Con 1378 then they had more n. to go to bed now
*2H6 851 alas sir, we did it for pure n.
*2H6 2203 they have the more n. to sleep now then
*TT 279 ay father, with five hundred for a n.
*TT 484 and in thy n. such comfort come to thee
*TT 1237 and for a n. change shapes with Proteus
*TT 1889 lest he in time of n. entice another *3H6 352 ay, with five hundred father, for a n.
*3H6 587 and in thy n., such comfort come to thee
*3H6 2726 lest in our n. he might infect another
*E3 1813 and Charles, when he hath n., be such his soldiers
*Loc 399 I n. not, I, the sequel shall declare
*Loc 561 n. not care for that : I n. no commission
*Loc 1360 kings n. not fear the vulgar sentences
2T 222 but n. we not be spied going aboard ?
2T 814 we shall not n. to nourish any doubt 2T 1405 I go into the field before I n.
1F 375 I had n. have it well roasted, and good sauce
2F 356 I had n. to have it well roasted
JM 163 what n. they treat of peace that are in league ?
JM 1343 he that eats with the devil had n. of a long spoon
JM 1428 you shall not n. trouble yourselves so far
JM 1510 thou shalt not n. ; for, now the nuns are dead
E2 16 what n. the arctic people love star-light ?
E2 247 what n. I ? God himself is up in arms
E2 2364 you shall not n. to give instructions
E2 2480 yet be not far off ; I shall n. your help
E2 2484 n. you any thing besides ?
MP 39 you n. not marvel at the Guise
MP 691 that others n. to comment on my text ?
MP 765 how now, my lord ! faith this is more than n.
HLM 517 wide-open stood the door ; he n. not climb
*HLC 1489 and n. not fear those menaces of error
Ov 614 what n. she tire [Old eds. try] her hand to hold the quill ?
Ov 1565 nor of our love to be asham'd we n.
L 64 thee if I invocate, I shall not n. to crave Apollo's aid
*1H6 158 so you had n., for Orleans is besieg'd
*1H6 2215 now he is gone my lord, you n. not fear
*1H6 2324 and then I n. not crave his courtesy
*Con 1382 ay [Q3 yea] marry he had n. so, for 'tis grown threadbare
*Con 1411 he n. not fear the sword, for his coat is of proof
*2H6 360 they say, a crafty knave does n. no broker
*2H6 2207 so he had n., for 'tis threadbare
*2H6 2257 he n. not fear the sword for his coat is of proof
*TT 277 she shall not n. my lord, we'll meet her in the field
*TT 1441 we n. not France nor any alliance with them
*3H6 350 she shall not n., we'll meet her in the field
*3H6 2729 let him depart, before we n. his help
*3H6 2750 I n. not add more fuel to your fire
*E3 1360 timorous, or coldly negligent did n. a spur
*E3 1792 is lawless and I n. not to obey
*E3 2140 what n. we fight and sweat and keep a coil
*E3 2206 who now, of you or I, have n. to pray !
*Sel 137 your majesty then ns. not much to fear
*Sel 865 my heart is heavy, and I ns. must sleep
*Sel 1146 and if you ns. must die, I'll die with you
*Sel 1655 ns. must I give, what is already gone
*Sel 1945 and if they will ns. creep into kindred with me
*Loc 377 must ns. obey your highness at command
*Loc 548 but when he sees that ns. he must be press'd
*Loc 1630 if there be friends in hell, as ns. there must 1T 658 and more than ns. to make an emperor
1T 1014 your highness ns. not doubt but in short time
1T 1974 must ns. have beauty beat on his conceits
2T 1369 away, ye fools ! my father ns. not me
1F 457 now, Faustus, must thou ns. be damn'd
2F 405 now, Faustus, must thou ns. be damn'd
2F 1072 what ns. this question ? did I not tell you 1F 1489 he must ns. go that the devil drives —
JM 79 thou ns. must sail by Alexandria
JM 214 that you will ns. have ten years' tribute past
JM 1529 what ns. all this ? I know I am a Jew
JM 1535 I must ns. say that I have been a great usurer
E2 1825 my Lord of Kent, what ns. these questions ?
E2 2061 and ns. I must resign my wished crown MP 455 I must ns. confess, the offer of MP 869 your highness ns. not fear mine army's force
MPF 11 and will ns. enter by default
HLM 416 would ns. discover the way to new Elysium
*HLC 2129 would ns. have Teras gone, and *HLC 2298 yet I ns. must see our painted fools and Ov 895 nor is her husband wise : what ns. defence
L 94 this n[s]. no foreign proof nor far-fet story
L 315 (whom from his youth he brib'd), ns. make him king ?
*Con 82 why how now cousin Gloster, what ns. this ?
*Con 332 what ns. your grace to be protector over him so long
*Con 488 how now my lord, why this is more than ns.
*2H6 483 if he be old enough, what ns. your grace to be *2H6 515 she's tickled now, her fume ns. no spurs
*2H6 2252 Valiant I am. — A' must ns., for beggary is valiant
*2H6 2649 will you ns. be hanged with your pardons about your necks
*2H6 3021 a subtle traitor ns. no sophister
*TT 444 it ns. not, or it boots thee not proud queen
*TT 846 and force perforce ns. must I rest [Q2 yeeld] a while
*TT 1051 and having France thy friend thou need'st [Q3 ns.] not dread
*TT 1836 and spite of spites ns. must I yield to death
*3H6 546 it ns. not, nor it boots not, proud queen
*3H6 995 and spite of spite, ns. must I rest awhile
*3H6 2138 nay nay then I see, that Edward ns. must down
*3H6 2154 what Fates impose, that men must ns. abide
*E3 308 what ns. a tongue to such a speaking eye
*E3 1382 that ns. no further question
*E3 2026 coward, what flight ? thou liest, there ns. no flight

Needed.

*Sel 321 there n. then no judge, nor yet no law
1T 1074 he n. not with words confirm my fear

Needest.

2F 789 thou n. [1631, needs] not do that, for E2 781 what n. thou, love, thus to excuse thyself ?
D 1483 and they shall have what thing soe'er thou n.
Ov 59 what n. thou war ? I sue to thee for grace
*TT 1051 and having France thy friend thou n. [Q3 needs] not dread
*E3 1764 thy ransom, man ! why n. thou talk of that ?

Needeth.

E2 1213 no, it n. not

Needful.
Ov 636 and him that hew'd you out for n. uses
*1H6 1847 never so n. on the earth of France
*Con 1021 as shall suffice him in these n. wars
*TT 614 with aid of soldiers 'gainst this n. war
*3H6 750 with aid of soldiers to this n. war
*3H6 2044 and haste is n. in this desperate case
*3H6 2284 it is more than n. forthwith that Edward Needle.
*HLC 1334 her diving n. taught him how to swim
Ov 716 nor hath the n. or the comb's teeth reft them
E2 2368 to pierce the wind-pipe with a n.'s point
*HLC 1400 and their ns. leading Affection prisoner
Ov 2069 and pierc'd my liver with sharp ns.' [ed. A, n.] points?
Needle-points.
Ov 2069 and pierc'd my liver with sharp needles' [ed. A, needle] points?
Needless.
*HLC 2188 with backward humbless [V. R. humbleness], to give n. way Needy.
JM 12 the n. groom, that never finger'd groat
D 1573 and all thy n. followers noblemen?
*Con 917 because I would not rack the n. commons
*2H6 1329 because I would not tax the n. commons
*E3 1326 a thievish pirate, and a n. mate
Negamus.
1F 69 Si peccasse n., fallimur, et nulla
2F 66 Si peccasse n., fallimur, et nulla est in nobis veritas Negebat.
Ov 621 amica noctem n.
Neglect.
*HLC 1001 in which, with plain n. of nuptial rites
*2H6 3129 (as well we may, if not through your n.)
*Sel 335 pains for those men which did n. the law
*Sel 790 your highness should your right in it n.
*Sel 2155 n. to hearken to our loving Father's voice 2T 529 if we n. this [4to the] offer'd victory Neglected.
HLM 562 some amorous rites or other were n.
*HLC 839 since nuptial honours he n.
*1H6 2576 if it be once n., ten to one we shall not Neglecting.
*Sel 860 if our own sons, n. awful duty
D 1506 for lingering here, n. Italy
*E3 2339 n. our commission in his name Neglection.
*1H6 1878 sleeping n. doth betray to loss: the conquest Negligence.
*E3 1220 for his n., be thoroughly wash'd when Negligent.
*1H6 1817 O n. and heedless discipline
*E3 1360 timorous, or coldly n. did need a spur Negligently.
JM 444 as n. to forgo so much
*HLC 1386 that she did n. overslip
Nego.
MP 399 Your n. argumentum cannot serve, sirrah
Negroes.
2T 206 with naked n. shall thy coach be drawn
2T 446 Cubar, where the n. dwell
*HLC 2191 (born 'mongst the n. in the Levant sea Negromancy: see Necromancy
Neighbour.
*Sel 1056 ay, and perchance the n. Christians
*Sel 2555 and now to you my n. emperors
*Loc 43 a doleful scourge unto my n. kings
*Loc 1029 nay, n. Oliver, if you be so hot
*Loc 1032 no, by my dorth, n. Strumbo
*Loc 1038 a very hard question, n.
1T 61 staff, that holds us up and foils our n. foes
1T 722 now send embassage to thy n. kings
1T 1475 and dim the brightness of your [Old eds. their] n. lamps 2T 375 I and my n. king of Fez, have 2T 536 where our n. kings expect
2T 848 to meet and aid my n. kings
2T 836 that shew fair weather to the n. morn
2T 1227 and n. cities of your highness' land [Not in 4to]
D 1550 how many n. kings were up in arms
*Con 745 here n. Horner, I drink to you in a
*Con 746 and fear not n., you shall do well enough
*Con 747 and here n., here's a cup of charneco
*Con 748 here's a pot of good double-beer, n. drink
*Con 768 here's [Q2 here] to thee n., fill all the pots again
*2H6 1047 here n. Horner, I drink to you in a cup of sack
*2H6 1048 and fear not n., you shall do well enough
*2H6 1050 and here n., here's a cup of charneco
*2H6 1053 and here's a pot of good double-beer n.
*E3 193 and burn their n. towns, and so persist with *Sel 2105 and may be hurtful ns. to your grace 1T 115 to see our ns., that were wont to quake and *Loc 35 and eke dismay'd my ns.' arrogance
Neighbourhood.
*E3 1049 as league, and n. requires, when friends are Neither.
1T 966 for n. rain can fall upon the earth, nor 1T 1949 and n. Persia's [Old eds. Perseans and Persians] sovereign nor 2T 442 but n. man nor child in all the land
2T 1827 wherein he spareth n. man nor child
1F 784 I am Wrath. I had n. father nor mother
1F 1222 an honest fellow, and has a great charge, n. wife nor child 2F 356 not so n.: I had need to have it well roasted
2F 719 I am Wrath. I had n. father nor mother
*JMS 14 n. can 't be less than sin to wrong your princely patience
JM 167 haply for n., but to pass along
JM 1366 where they must n. see the messenger, nor JM 2057 dog, do not hale me thus. — Nor me, n.
JM 2175 and n. gets him friends nor fills his bags
JM 2248 thus, loving n., will I live with both
JM 2445 praise be given n. to Fate nor Fortune, but to Heaven
E2 745 she n. walks abroad nor comes in sight
E2 1065 but I respect n. their love nor hate
E2 1098 but n. spare you Gaveston nor his friends
E2 1403 n., my lord; for, as he was surpris'd
E2 1710 now, on my life, they 'll n. bark nor bite
E2 2203 and n. give him kind word nor good look D 187 I n. saw nor heard of any such
D 533 and now am n. father, lord, nor king
D 1470 and left me n. sail nor stern aboard
D 1474 which n. art nor reason may achieve
HLM 33 for n. sun nor wind would burn or parch
HLM 244 n. themselves nor others, if not worn
HLM 276 is n. essence subject to the eye, no, nor to HLM 321 though n. gods nor men may thee deserve
HLM 430 and n. would deny nor grant his suit
*HLC 1493 having n. faith, nor works, nor beauties

Ov 711 yet, although n. [Old eds. either], mix'd of either's hue Ov 1348 and hasting to me, n. darksome night nor Ov 2059 I prove n. youth nor man, but old and rusty
Ov 2099 but n. was I man nor [ed. A, ne] livèd then
L 30 fierce Pyrrhus, n. thou nor Hannibal art cause
L 53 but n. choose the north t'erect thy seat
L 351 n. spoil nor kingdom seek we by these arms
*Epg 263 so, n. of us understanding either [B, C, one an other; MS. other]
*1H6 2195 that n. in birth, or for authority
*1H6 2496 'twas n. Charles, nor yet the duke I nam'd
*Con 871 and [Q3 yet] he will n. move nor speak to us
*Con 1410 I fear n. sword nor fire
*2H6 2134 king, having n. subject, wealth, nor diadem
*2H6 2256 I fear n. sword, nor fire
*TT 40 n. the king, nor him that loves him best
*TT 803 but thou art n. like thy sire nor dam
*TT 2053 I that have n. pity, love nor fear
*3H6 45 n. the king, nor he that loves him best *3H6 207 and n. by treason nor hostility, to seek *3H6 948 but thou art n. like thy sire nor dam
*3H6 1065 can n. call it perfect day, nor night
*3H6 1073 yet n. conqueror, nor conquer'd
*3H6 2921 I that have n. pity, love, nor fear
*E3 692 but n. will I do; I'll keep my oath
*E3 717 n. my daughter, nor my dear friend's wife
*E3 1329 soil, where n. herb nor fruitful grain is had
*E3 1527 n., my lord; but narrowly beset
*E3 1677 that n. victuals nor supply of men may come
*E3 2323 but n. proud nor insolent, I trust
*HLC 1038 that n.'s draught be consecrate to sleep

Nell.

*Con 174 my lovely N., far be it from my heart, to *Con 195 Fie N. Ambitious woman as thou art
*Con 200 How now my lord. What angry with your N.
*Con 203 nay N., I'll give no credit to a dream
*Con 209 come N., thou wilt go with us [Q1 us us] I am sure
*Con 788 sweet N., ill can thy noble mind abrook, the *Con 805 ah N., sweet N., forget this extreme grief
*Con 822 my lovely N., what wouldst thou have me do?
*2H6 277 O N., sweet N., if thou dost love thy lord
*2H6 319 I go. Come N. thou wilt ride with us?
*2H6 1104 sweet N., ill can thy noble mind abrook the *2H6 1122 be patient, gentle N., forget this grief
*2H6 1154 ah N., forbear: thou aimest all awry
*2H6 1163 thy greatest help is quiet, gentle N.
*2H6 1170 my N., I take my leave
*2H6 1625 I thank thee, N. [? Meg], these words content me much Nemean.

L 655 with thy rays now singe the fell N. beast

Nemes'.

L 421 that dwell by N. fields and banks of Satirus

Nemesis.

*Loc 1747 N., the mistress of revenge, sits arm'd Ov 2222 so N., so Delia famous are Ov 2244 N. and thy first wench join their kisses
Ov 2248 N. answers, « What's my loss to thee?
*1H6 2118 your kingdom's terror, and black N.?
*E3 1129 steer [Old eds. stir], angry N., the happy helm

Neoptolemus.

D 479 N., setting his spear upon the ground, leapt forth
D 535 O, let me live, great N.! »

Nepenthe.

*Epg 367 Homer of Moly and N. [MS. Nepenthen] sings
*Epg 369 N. [MS. Nepenthen[, Helen's [B, C, Heavens] drink
*Epg 374 nor hath N. [MS. Nepenthen] so great wonders wrought

Nephew.

*Sel 1117 my n. Mahomet, son to Alemshae
*Sel 1180 why, for I am thy n., dost thou frown?
*Sel 1189 it shall not, n., since I have you here
*Sel 1208 well, n., for thy father lov'd me well
*Sel 1327 to kill thy n. and his sister thus E2 529 not I, against my n.
E2 552 but, n., do not play the sophister
E2 575 but how if he do not, n.?
E2 683 n., I must to Scotland; thou stay'st here
E2 717 but, n., now you see the king is chang'd
E2 1824 n., your father; I dare not call him king
E2 2244 ay, do, sweet n.
MP 227 my n. here, the Duke of Guise
D 630 sleep, my sweet n., in these cooling shades
*1H6 983 but tell me, keeper, will my n. come?
*1H6 999 my lord, your loving n. now is come *1H6 1002 your n., late despised Richard, comes *1H6 1021 that cause (fair n.) that imprison'd me
*1H6 1030 depos'd his n. Richard, Edward's son
*1H6 1067 with silence, n., be thou politic
*2H6 102 n., what means this passionate discourse?
*2H6 280 against my king, my n., virtuous Henry
*TT 2106 and kiss your princely n. brothers [Q3 omits] both *3H6 2973 and kiss your princely n. brothers both
*Sel 1175 which cruelly hunt for your n.'s blood
*Sel 1266 these are thy ns., mighty Bajazet
*Sel 1360 to kill thy ns. with revenging sword
*Sel 1304 and shed not all for your poor ns.' death

Nepotes.

D 1720 pugnent ipsique n.
Ept 3 Scelerum, gaudete, n.!

Neptune.

1T 885 N. and Dis gain'd each of them a crown
1T 1034 or when Minerva did with N. strive
D 1664 O Proteus, N., Jove, save, save Aeneas
*HLC 496 cold N. with his beauty burns
HLM 664 where kingly N. and his train abode
HLM 674 and, looking back, saw N. follow him
HLM 691 thereat N. smil'd, and then told a tale
HLM 705 N. was angry that he gave no ear
HLM 713 as if he ru'd the grief which N. felt
*HLC 2350 then call'd he N., who
*HLC 2377 call'd N., that now rent his brackish curls
*HLC 2385 the more kind N. rag'd, the more he *HLC 2419 Leander brought by N., bruis'd and torn *HLC 2429 N. for pity in his arms did take them
Ov 1795 applaud you N., that dare trust his wave
D 65 and N.'s waves be envious men of war
D 114 Hermes, awake! and haste to N.'s realm
D 958 and hoist aloft on N.'s hideous hills
D 1162 till he hath furrow'd N.'s glassy fields HLM 9 sea-borderers [V. R. Seaborders] disjoin'd by N.'s might *HLC 1180 she saw in N.'s skies how her star wander'd
*HLC 2355 much greater powers [V. R. power] than N.'s Ov 1513 but if stern N.'s windy power prevail
Ov 2341 with joy hears N.'s swelling waters sound
L 692 O Phoebus, show me N.'s shore

Nereus.

Ov 1336 let N. bend the waves unto this shore

Nero.
L 33 but if for N., then unborn, the Fates would *1H6 513 and like thee [? N.], play on the lute, beholding the towns burn
*3H6 1352 and N. will be tainted with remorse
*Sel 151 even as the vipers in great N.'s fen ate up
L 38 but gladly bear these evils for N.'s sake Nervians.
L 430 the stubborn N. stain'd with Cotta's blood
Nest.
*Con 1095 winds, said, seek not a scorpion's n.
*Con 1129 who finds the partridge in the puttock's n.
*2H6 881 Gloster see here the tainture of thy n.
*2H6 1689 wind did seem to say, seek not a scorpion's n.
*2H6 1794 who finds the partridge in the puttock's n.
*TT 701 make war with him, that climbs unto their n.
*3H6 843 make war with him that climb'd unto their n.
*E3 95 drone, crept up by stealth unto the eagle's n.
*E3 1628 that so her n. of young ones may be fed 1T 1856 what, are the turtles fray'd out of their ns.?
1T 2041 why live we, Bajazeth, and build up ns. so high Nestled.
Ov 641 vultures and Furies n. in the boughs
Nestor.
*3H6 1622 I'll play the orator as well as N.
*E3 1551 if he breathe [Old eds. breaketh] out N.'s years on earth Nestor-like.
*1H6 972 N. aged, in an age of care
Net.
2T 1425 a naked lady in a n. of gold
D 1001 as Mars and Venus met — Why, that was in a n.
HLM 157 blood-quaffing Mars heaving the iron n.
*HLC 1572 her tresses were of wire, knit like a n.
Ov 517 Mars in the deed the blacksmith's n. did stable
*TT 384 so doth the coney with the n.
*3H6 481 so doth the coney struggle in the n.
*E3 1544 entangled in the n. of their assaults
*Sel 470 tears, are but [the] ns. wherein to catch his prey
D 518 convey'd me from their crookèd ns. and bands
*HLC 1366 drawing his ns. from forth the [V. R. that] ocean
Ov 431 make a small price, while thou thy ns. dost lay Nether.
*HLC 1934 her heart and all her forces' n. train Netherland.
*E3 1033 what friends King Edward had retain'd in N.
*Epg 538 nor what great town in all the Ns. the Nettled.
*TT 1342 and mark how Lewis stamps as he were n.
*3H6 1809 nay mark how Lewis stamps as he were n.
Net-work.
L 603 and Flamens last, with n. woollen veils
Never.
*Sel 38 and storms may fall, be the day n. so clear
*Sel 43 since I began, — would I had n. begun!
*Sel 203 if he had fear'd me, he n. would have lov'd mine enemy
*Sel 208 the world will n. give him plaudite
*Sel 372 and that can n., n. be attain'd
*Sel 436 yet by my soul it n. should me grieve
*Sel 483 he n. would have come with such a host
*Sel 567 dismay my thoughts, that n. learn'd to stoop
*Sel 572 and though the heavens do n. so crossly frown
*Sel 782 shall n. pass the temple of true fame
*Sel 901 but Bajazet did n. injure him
*Sel 917 Hali and myself were n. false
*Sel 920 and we will n. be degenerate
*Sel 927 for he that n. saw his foeman's face
*Sel 930 and he that n. handled but his pen
*Sel 935 he n. will enlarge the empery
*Sel 1142 n. shall it be said that Mahomet, the son
*Sel 1177 that n. deserv'd such hatred at your hands
*Sel 1404 to slay thy father, were he n. so ill
*Sel 1411 as sure as day, mine eyes shall n. taste sleep
*Sel 1414 yes, thou shalt live, but n. see that day
*Sel 1425 to live on earth, and n. see the sun
*Sel 1483 your eyes do see, but mine can n. behold
*Sel 1542 let Selim n. see the daylight spring
*Sel 1605 thy crime was n. so odious unto me
*Sel 1748 for Fortune n. shew'd herself so cross
*Sel 1779 will n. blow a gentle gale of ease
*Sel 1797 to live and n. see the cheerful day
*Sel 1852 it n. would have griev'd me half so much
*Sel 1868 these twice six months n. did behold
*Sel 1885 « from morn to even, her tongue n. lies »
*Sel 1920 that n. injurèd thee, so, nor so?
*Sel 2139 for thou shalt n. hear me speak again
*Sel 2178 I n. will entreat thee for my life
*Sel 2201 whose cruel soul will n. be at rest till
*Sel 2303 they know Mustaffa n. provèd false
*Sel 2314 will praise his own ware be it n. so bad
*Sel 2415 yet will I n. beg my life of thee
*Sel 2454 and broad-mouth'd terms can n. conquer us
*Sel 2481 for n. yet, since I could manage arms
*Sel 2522 I n. wanted some competitors
*Loc 453 Fortune can n. use her tyranny
*Loc 602 trust me, lordings, I will n. cease to *Loc 691 can n. be put back from victory
*Loc 754 which n. leaveth turning upside-down!
*Loc 788 n. shall proud Humber boast or brag himself
*Loc 953 n. shall sweet quiet enter this my front
*Loc 1058 as if you were n. well warn'd when
*Loc 1119 did n. show such valiantness in fight
*Loc 1300 so fair a dame mine eyes did n. see
*Loc 1392 thou n. shalt carry this unpunished
*Loc 1461 n. came sweet Ceres, n. came Venus here
*Loc 1463 n. sow'd his seed in this foul wilderness
*Loc 1540 can n. rest, but trembling stands
*Loc 1618 n. shall she come within our palace gate
*Loc 1831 words that can n. win the victory
*Loc 1853 n. shall we see the stately Troynovant
*Loc 1855 n. shall we view the fair Concordia
*Loc 1860 n. shall mine eyes behold that dismal hour
*Loc 1861 n. will I view that ruthful spectacle
*Loc 1878 n. shall mine eyes behold thy sunshine eyes
*Loc 1988 and let me n. see one prosperous hour if
*Loc 2009 n. shall these blood-sucking mastiff curs 1T 170 and Jove may n. let me longer live then 1T 258 will n. prosper your intended drifts
1T 434 thyself and them shall n. part from me
1T 437 and they will n. leave thee till the death
1T 819 for he was n. sprung [8vo sprong] of human race
1T 874 will us to wear ourselves, and n. rest
1T 1248 that n. fought but had the victory
1T 1329 and n. had the Turkish emperor so great a foil
1T 1499 dar'st thou, that n. saw an emperor before thou 1T 1653 fall to, and n. may your meat digest!
1T 1790 and be renowmed [4to renown'd] as n. emperors were 1T 1809 will n. be dispens'd with till our deaths
1T 1823 had n. been erected as they be

1T 1890 bloods, that n. nourish'd [4to nourish] thought against 1T 2006 go, n. to return with victory !
1T 2209 whose fortunes n. mastered her griefs
2T 71 that n. seaman yet discover'd 2T 128 n. to draw it out, or [4to and] manage arms against 2T 279 that n. look'd on man but Tamburlaine
2T 427 n. did they recreate themselves
2T 582 he that sits on high and n. sleeps
2T 623 whose change shall n. end
2T 691 may n. such a change transform my love
2T 897 whose lovely faces n. any view'd
2T 982 a wound is nothing, be it n. so deep
2T 1109 Moors, in whom was n. pity found 2T 1263 n. meant to make a conqueror so famous as is 2T 1409 sooner far than he that n. fights
2T 1412 join'd with my father's crown, would n. cure
2T 1428 would n. make ye retire
2T 1469 can n. wash from thy distained brows !
2T 1534 may n. day give virtue to his eyes
2T 1537 may n. spirit, vein, or artier, feed the cursed substance 2T 1551 with engines n. exercis'd, conquer, sack, and 2T 1844 nor the town will n. yield
2T 1859 assault and spare not ; we will n. yield
2T 1903 my heart did n. quake, or courage faint
2T 2019 sickness or death can n. conquer me
2T 2036 n. sepulchre shall grace this base-born tyrant 2T 2071 n. will we sunder camps and arms before himself or 2T 2234 much more land, which n. was descried
1F 96 than all my labours, plod I n. so fast
1F 217 you would n. ask me such a question
1F 331 and scorn those joys thou n. shalt possess
1F 420 and I'll knock them, they were n. so knocked since 1F 664 ay, but Faustus n. shall I repent
1F 679 I am resolv'd ; Faustus shall n. repent
1F 735 n. too late, if Faustus can repent
1F 737 repent, and they shall n. raze thy skin
1F 751 and Faustus vows n. to look to heaven
1F 752 n. to name God, or to pray to him
1F 1068 forgive me now, and I'll n. rob thy library more 1F 1086 i' faith, thy head will n. be out of the pottage-pot 1F 1118 shall (I fear me) n. attain to that degree of 1F 1125 it grieves my soul I n. saw the man
1F 1252 mass, Doctor Lopus was n. such a doctor 1F 1254 purged me of forty dollars : I shall n. see them more 1F 1263 upon a bottle of hay, n. so near drowning in my life
1F 1358 such belly-cheer as Wagner n. beheld in all his life
1F 1482 'tis but a surfeit ; n. fear, man
1F 1487 but Faustus' offence can n. be pardoned
1F 1493 O, would I had n. seen Wertenberg
1F 1494 would I had n. seen Wertenberg, n. read book !
1F 1551 that time may cease, and midnight n. come
1F 1600 and fall into the ocean, n. be found !
2F 93 a greater help to me than all my labours, plod I n. so fast 2F 204 if you were not dunces, you would n. ask me such a question
2F 315 and scorn those joys thou n. shalt possess
2F 587 ay, but Faustus n. shall repent
2F 657 n. too late, if Faustus will repent
2F 659 repent, and they shall n. raze thy skin
2F 674 and Faustus vows n. to look to heaven
2F 777 a book ! why, thou canst not tell [Not in 1624, 1631] n. a word on 't 2F 998 n. serv'd a holy Pope as we shall do 2F 1030 so, so ; was n. devil thus bless'd before 2F 1092 the Pope had n. such a frolic guest
2F 1150 I'll so conjure him as he was n. conjured in his life
2F 1154 now, Robin, now or n. show thy cunning 2F 1163 n. deny 't, for I know you have it 2F 1173 n. out-face me for the matter
2F 1242 as n. yet was seen in Germany
2F 1308 'sblood, I am n. able to endure these torments 2F 1383 I'll n. trust smooth faces and small ruffs more 2F 1398 O, may these eyelids n. close again
2F 1624 he n. left eating till he had eat up all my load of hay 2F 1634 would run over hedge and ditch and n. tire 2F 1650 and n. rested pulling till I had pulled 2F 1814 as Wagner in his life ne'er [1624, 1631, n.] saw the like 2F 1969 but Faustus' offence can n. be pardoned
2F 1975 O would I had n. [1624, 1631, ne'er] seen Wittenberg 2F 1976 would I had n. seen Wittenberg, n. read book !
2F 2066 live quarters broiling on the coals, that n. can die
2F 2082 that time may cease, and midnight n. come
2F 2129 water-drops, and fall into the ocean, n. be found !
2F 2135 for such a dreadful night was n. seen 2F 2137 such fearful shrieks and cries were n. heard
*FB 27 time ran away, and yet I n. thought how
*FB 58 all times and seasons n. to decay
*FB 59 then had my time n. come to dated end
*FA 78 where you shall n. fear such mortal pain
*FB 80 embrace true faith that n. more decays
JMP 25 h'ad n. bellow'd in a brazen bull
JM 12 the needy groom, that n. finger'd groat
JM 100 that n. left us till within a league
JM 170 but n. could effect their stratagem
JM 352 and therefore n. distinguish of the wrong
JM 402 you, that were n. possess'd of wealth, are JM 452 then shall they n. be seen of Barabas
JM 497 as good dissemble that thou n. mean'st, as JM 737 (unchosen nation, n. circumcis'd
JM 738 such as poor villains [Dyce, omits] were n. thought upon till JM 787 the diamond that I talk of n. was foil'd
JM 1026 of that which you, I think, n. dream upon
JM 1045 that n. tasted of the Passover
JM 1245 yet Don Mathias n. offended thee
JM 1281 yet n. shall these lips bewray thy life !
JM 1312 n. shall she grieve me more with her disgrace
JM 1313 n. shall she live to inherit aught of mine
JM 1337 although he n. be richer than in hope
JM 1465 first to Don Lodowick : him I n. lov'd JM 1601 I n. heard of any man but he JM 1616 as n. Jew nor Christian knew the like
JM 1634 no, none can hear him, cry he n. so loud
JM 1732 I n. knew a man take his death so patiently
JM 1922 n. lov'd man servant as I do Ithamore
JM 1955 he and I killed 'em both, and yet n. touched 'em
JM 1962 and 'twas n. known, nor n. shall be for me
JM 2013 he n. put on clean shirt since he was circumcised
JM 2042 and die he shall ; for we will n. yield
JM 2435 freed, or Selim n. return to Ottoman
E2 84 that he should n. return into the realm
E2 411 I'll come to thee ; my love shall n. decline

E2 453 or thou shalt n. be reconcil'd to me
E2 476 n. doted Jove on Ganymede so much as he on E2 494 and yet I love in vain ; he'll n. love me
E2 497 O, n., Lancaster ! I am enjoin'd to sue
E2 603 did n. sorrow go so near my heart as doth
E2 665 ay, Isabel, n. was my heart so light
E2 842 and you the eagles : soar ye n. so high, I
E2 880 whose mounting thoughts did n. creep so low
E2 932 as n. subject did unto his king
E2 956 we n. beg, but use such prayers as these E2 1080 n. was Plantaganet false of his word
E2 1119 that, when I had him, we might n. part !
E2 1314 I shall n. see my lovely Pierce of Gaveston again
E2 1377 Gaveston : shall I n. see, n. behold thee now ?
E2 1464 a ranker rout [1598, 1612, roote] of rebels n. was E2 1628 n. so cheerless nor so far distrest !
E2 1675 the king will n. forsake his flatterers
E2 1782 I would he n. had been flatter'd more !
E2 1913 O, might I n. ope these eyes again
E2 1914 n. again lift up this drooping head
E2 1915 O, n. more lift up this dying heart !
E2 1952 in heaven we may, in earth n. shall we meet
E2 1973 parted from hence, n. to see us more ?
E2 1976 gone, gone, alas, n. to make return l
E2 2056 let n. silent night possess this clime
E2 2378 take this : away, and n. see me more !
E2 2491 n. was there any so finely handled
E2 2556 and tells me, if I sleep, l n. wake
MP 242 and n. cease until that bell shall cease
MP 259 with death delay'd and torments n. us'd
MP 388 and yet didst n. sound anything to the depth
MP 411 can n. be good in logic or philosophy
MP 418 n. was there collier's son so full of pride
MP 802 and either n. manage army more, or else
MP 1024 trouble me not ; I n. offended him
MP 1046 I n. was king of France until this hour
MP 1063 n. was there king of France so yok'd as I
MP 1259 and may it n. end in blood
D 468 O, had it n. enter'd, Troy had stood !
D 471 which thousand battering-rams could n. pierce
D 596 O, had that ticing strumpet n. been born !
D 689 no ; but I charge thee n. look on me
D 718 didst n. think Aeneas beautiful !
D 785 all these, and others which I n. saw, have D 795 but play'd he n. so sweet, I let him go
D 804 then n. say that thou art miserable
D 859 and wish that I had n. wrong'd him so
D 893 but much I fear, my son will n. consent
D 996 who n. will cease to soar till he be slain
D 1045 n. to leave these up-rearèd walls
D 1047 n. to like or love any but her !
D 1067 in all my life I n. knew the like
D 1328 if he forsake me not, I n. die
D 1518 then let me go, and n. say farewell
D 1533 « then let me go, and n. say farewell » ?
D 1611 I n. vow'd at Aulis' gulf the desolation of D 1718 betwixt this land and that be n. league
HLM 61 his dangling [V. R. dandling] tresses, that were n. shorn
HLM 134 for faithful love will n. turn to hate
HLM 282 things that are not at all, are n. lost
HLM 575 n. king more sought to keep his diadem HLM 583 jewels being [V. R. been] lost are found again ; this n.
HLM 666 and swore he n. should return to Jove
HLM 678 and swore the sea should n. do him harm
HLM 799 and now she [V. R. we] wish'd this night were n. done
*HLC 952 as n. yet his ravish'd sense did hear
*HLC 1046 new-come thoughts, that yet she n. knew
*HLC 1150 the night had n. such a heavy spirit
*HLC 1146 but, like an embryon that saw n. light
*HLC 1195 good vows are n. broken with good deeds
*HLC 1206 but bound as we are, we live loosely n.
*HLC 1210 and vows made ignorantly n. bind us
*HLC 1478 though the acts be n. so ill
*HLC 1540 be n. virgin's vow worth [V. R. vow with, and now with] trusting more !
*HLC 1579 cloth had n. dye, nor sweeter colours
*HLC 1580 nor sweeter colours n. viewèd eye
*HLC 1595 n. was any trust in maids or [V. R. nor] men
*HLC 1717 n. was propos'd riddle to her, or augury
*HLC 1719 n. slight tale flew from her charm'd lips
*HLC 1782 for women n. love beauty in their sex
*HLC 2095 here Beauty's day doth n. cease
*HLC 2318 but n. yet in one star many heavens
*HLC 2349 but Glory n. blows cold Pity's fires
Ov 31 O, woe is me ! he n. shoots but hits
Ov 93 either love, or cause that I may n. [Not in A] hate
Ov 106 I love but one, and her [A, he] I love change n.
Ov 242 strike ; so again hard chains shall bind thee n.
Ov 358 anger will help thy hands, though n. so weak
Ov 443 but n. give a spacious time to ire
Ov 464 pray him to lend what thou mayst n. restore
Ov 508 and who thou n. think'st should fall down, lies
Ov 518 in heaven was n. more notorious fable
Ov 573 ill-gotten goods good end will n. have Ov 597 n. to harm me made thy faith evasion
Ov 718 oft was she dress'd before mine eyes, yet n.
Ov 790 verse is immortal and shall n. [Not in ed. A] decay
Ov 967 what two determine n. wants effect
Ov 1029 to whom his wench can say, « I n. did it »
Ov 1061 by chance her beauty n. shinèd fuller
Ov 1204 O Cupid, that dost n. cease my smart
Ov 1447 Armenian tigers n. did so ill
Ov 1478 my life, that I will shame thee n. fear
Ov 1570 but sundry floods in one bank n. go
Ov 1622 what should I do with fortune that n. fails me ?
Ov 1668 shall I, poor soul, be n. interdicted ?
Ov 1669 nor n. with night's sharp revenge afflicted ?
Ov 1924 n. can these by any means agree
Ov 1930 and see at home much that thou n. brought'st thither
Ov 1949 n. was, nor [e'er] shall be, what my verse mentions
*LD 9 merit enough in you, though you are n. so empty
L 92 shall n. faith be found in fellow kings
L 639 whose like Aegyptian Memphis n. had for skill
Dia 4 my heart will n. be as it was Dia 10 or tufted gloves, were they n. so [gay]
*AT 5 a truer story n. was told
*AT 39 and n. gave his life a look until it was too late
*AT 71 he groan'd, and word spoke n. moe
*AT 79 this exit he had n. made
*Epg 56 it [MS. Hee] n. would have utter'd such a thought !
*Epg 242 catch at my cap, and move it not [MS. n.] a whit
*Epg 311 whom fear of shame could n. yet affright
*Epg 320 yet could he n. [MS. n. could hee] make an English rhyme
*Epg 343 yet was he n., to confess the truth
*Epg 527 for in thy life thou n. usest prayer
*1H6 7 England n. lost a king of so much worth

*1H6 8 England n. had a king until his time
*1H6 16 he n. lift up his hand, but conquer'd
*1H6 18 Henry is dead, and n. shall revive
*1H6 43 and n. throughout the year to church thou go'st
*1H6 201 I would n. have fled, but that they left me
*1H6 222 else n. could they hold out so as they do
*1H6 246 I know thee well, though n. seen before
*1H6 282 and while I live, I'll n. fly from a man
*1H6 299 else n. could he so long protract his speech
*1H6 313 which n. ceaseth to enlarge itself, till
*1H6 353 whom Henry our late sovereign could n. brook?
*1H6 392 one that still motions war, and n. peace
*1H6 440 I'll n. trouble you, if I may spy them
*1H6 499 his sword did n. leave striking in the field
*1H6 578 more blessed hap did n. befall our state
*1H6 619 traitors have n. other company
*1H6 646 n. heard I of a warlike enterprise more
*1H6 661 this sudden mischief n. could have fall'n
*1H6 732 n. trust me then : for when a world of men
*1H6 839 the law, and n. yet could frame my will to it
*1H6 1218 he shall submit, or I will n. yield
*1H6 1436 a braver soldier n. couched lance
*1H6 1437 a gentler heart did n. sway in court
*1H6 1450 one sudden foil shall n. breed distrust
*1H6 1551 a stouter champion n. handled sword
*1H6 1554 yet n. have you tasted our reward
*1H6 1556 because till now, we n. saw your face
*1H6 1688 will out, though n. so cunningly you smother it
*1H6 1847 n. so needful on the earth of France
*1H6 1920 n. to England shall he bear his life
*1H6 1947 he that flies so, will n. return again
*1H6 1968 thou n. hadst renown, nor canst not lose it
*1H6 1974 my age was n. tainted with such shame
*1H6 2317 it shall be so, disdain they n. so much
*1H6 2407 a pure unspotted heart, n. yet taint with love
*1H6 2461 I n. had to do with wicked spirits
*1H6 2506 may n. glorious sun reflex his beams upon *1H6 2590 as thou art knight, n. to disobey, nor *1H6 2617 and otherwise, will Henry n. presume
*1H6 2676 was n. yet attaint with any passion
*Con 81 undoing all, as none had n. been done
*Con 294 and n. regards the honour of his name
*Con 358 I n. said any such matter
*Con 503 Plantagenets could n. brook the dare
*Con 536 climb plum-trees? — N. but once sir in all my life
*Con 556 and yet [Q2 omits] I think jet did he n. see
*Con 760 for I am n. able to deal with my master
*Con 836 and our consent n. crav'd therein before
*Con 847 I pray you Sir John, use her n. the worse
*Con 914 I n. robb'd the soldiers of their pay
*Con 1047 he'll n. confess that I did set him on *Con 1153 and n. of the Nevil's noble race
*Con 1224 where biting cold would n. let grass grow
*Con 1292 so bad an end did n. none behold
*Con 1329 ay [Q2 yea] but Jove was n. slain as thou shalt be *Con 1383 'twas n. merry world with us, since these gentlemen came up
*Con 1384 thou shalt n. see a lord wear a leathern apron now-a-days
*Con 1577 I n. sealed to anything but once
*Con 1577 and I was n. mine own man since
*Con 1726 I pray God I may n. eat grass more
*Con 1727 nay it n. shall [Q3 shall n.] be said whilst *Con 1912 vowing n. to stir, till thou or I be slain
*Con 1913 for n. shall my heart be safe at rest, till
*Con 1925 nor n. shall I sleep secure one night, till *2H6 101 undoing all as all had n. been *2H6 126 I n. read but England's kings have had large *2H6 130 a proper jest, and n. heard before, that *2H6 181 I n. saw but Humphrey Duke of Gloster did bear
*2H6 275 and n. more abase our sight so low
*2H6 456 and n. mount to trouble you again
*2H6 539 a fouler fact did n. traitor in the land commit *2H6 553 I n. said nor thought any such matter
*2H6 581 I shall n. be able to fight a blow
*2H6 742 a man that n. saw in his life before
*2H6 765 let n. day nor night unhallow'd pass
*2H6 809 n. before this day, in all his life
*2H6 1044 I n. saw a fellow worse bested
*2H6 1065 for I am n. able to deal with my master *2H6 1077 I n. meant him any ill, nor the king, nor *2H6 1153 nor n. seek prevention of thy foes
*2H6 1168 and my consent n. ask'd herein before?
*2H6 1271 for soldiers' pay in France, and n. sent it?
*2H6 1321 I n. robb'd the soldiers of their pay
*2H6 1331 and n. ask'd for restitution
*2H6 1335 did devise strange tortures for offenders, n. heard of *2H6 1343 I n. gave them condign punishment
*2H6 1422 thou n. didst them wrong, nor no man wrong
*2H6 1482 for things are often spoke, and n. meant
*2H6 1509 he n. would have stay'd in France so long
*2H6 1547 now York, or n., steel thy fearful thoughts
*2H6 1682 why then Dame Eleanor [? Margaret] was n. thy joy
*2H6 1769 which with the heart there cools, and n. returneth
*2H6 1818 whose fruit thou art, and n. of the Nevil's noble race
*2H6 1943 where biting cold would n. let grass grow
*2H6 2092 n. yet did base dishonour blur our name
*2H6 2101 but Jove was n. slain as thou shalt be *2H6 2144 whose dreadful swords were n. drawn in vain
*2H6 2185 that this my death may n. be forgot
*2H6 2208 it was n. merry world in England, since *2H6 2249 for his father had n. a house but the cage
*2H6 2279 and I was n. mine own man since
*2H6 2486 he'll n. call ye Jack Cade more
*2H6 2559 prayers and tears have mov'd me, gifts could n.
*2H6 2572 oft have I struck those that I n. saw
*2H6 2703 was n. subject long'd to be a king, as I do long
*2H6 2653 I thought ye would n. have given out these arms till *2H6 2717 assure yourselves will n. be unkind
*2H6 2786 I pray God I may n. eat grass more
*2H6 2787 nay, it shall n. be said, while England stands
*2H6 2814 n. shall this blood be wiped from thy point
*2H6 2819 for I that n. feared any, am vanquished by famine
*2H6 2911 and n. live but true unto his liege
*TT 5 whose warlike ears could n. brook retreat
*TT 22 I vow by heavens [Q3 heaven] these eyes shall n. close
*TT 321 I n. did thee hurt, wherefore wilt thou kill me?
*TT 548 for n. shall I have more joy
*TT 617 but n. till now thy scandal of retire
*TT 652 but n. once again turn back and fly
*TT 654 n. may he live to see a sunshine day, that
*TT 715 but tell me, didst thou n. yet hear tell
*TT 796 that n. shall dine, unless thou yield the crown

*TT 831 yet know thou we will n. cease to strike
*TT 870 n. to pass from forth this bloody field till
*TT 886 now I that n. wept, now melt in woe
*TT 910 would I had n. reign'd nor n. been king
*TT 944 take on with me and n. be satisfied ?
*TT 946 take on with me and n. be satisfied ?
*TT 977 Oh Phoebus hadst thou n. given consent
*TT 979 thy burning car had n. scorch'd the earth
*TT 1542 courage my soldiers, now or n.
*TT 1799 than if thou n. hadst deserv'd our hate
*TT 1831 and might'st thou live, then would we n. fly
*TT 1936 and n. have stol'n the breech from Lancaster
*TT 1966 and men n. spend their fury on a child
*TT 1974 nay n. bear me hence, despatch me here
*TT 1986 petitioners for blood he [Q3 hee'l] n. put back
*TT 2088 two braver men n. spurr'd their coursers at the *3H6 5 whose warlike ears could n. brook retreat
*3H6 24 I vow by heaven, these eyes shall n. close
*3H6 226 and n. seen thee, n. borne thee son
*3H6 405 I n. did thee harm : why wilt thou slay me ?
*3H6 636 'tis wondrous strange, the like yet n. heard of *3H6 681 for n. henceforth shall I joy again
*3H6 682 n., oh n. shall I see more joy
*3H6 753 but n. till now, his scandal of retire
*3H6 788 but n. once again turn back and fly
*3H6 790 n. may he live to see a sunshine day, that cries
*3H6 857 but Clifford tell me, didst thou n. hear, that *3H6 941 that n. shall dine, unless thou yield the crown
*3H6 961 and n. was Agamemnon's brother wrong'd by *3H6 981 we'll n. leave, till we have hewn thee down
*3H6 1020 I'll n. pause again, n. stand still, till *3H6 1037 I that did n. weep, now melt with woe
*3H6 1165 take on with me, and n. be satisfied ?
*3H6 1167 shed seas of tears, and n. be satisfied ?
*3H6 1177 for from my heart, thine image n. shall go *3H6 1210 O Phoebus ! hadst thou n. given consent
*3H6 1212 thy burning car n. had scorch'd the earth
*3H6 1216 they n. then had sprung like summer flies
*3H6 1303 and n. will I undertake the thing
*3H6 1384 but did you n. swear, and break an oath
*3H6 1385 no, n. such an oath, nor will not now *3H6 1492 my mind will n. grant what I perceive your *3H6 2057 that I may n. have you in suspect
*3H6 2098 vow, n. to lie and take his natural rest, till *3H6 2117 courage my masters : honour now, or n.
*3H6 2475 the lamb will n. cease to follow him
*3H6 2595 more belov'd, than if thou n. hadst deserv'd our hate
*3H6 2681 great lords, wise men n. sit and wail their loss
*3H6 2786 and n. have stol'n the breech from Lancaster
*3H6 2819 and men, n. spend their fury on a child
*3H6 2831 nay, n. bear me hence, dispatch me here
*3H6 2842 petitioners for blood, thou n. putt'st back
*3H6 2955 two braver men, n. spurr'd their coursers at the trumpet's sound
*E3 192 nor n. make fair weather, or take truce
*E3 195 and n. shall our bonny riders rest
*E3 653 false men, that n. pay the duty of their words
*E3 705 was n. father, had, against his child, an embassage so bad
*E3 983 and n. henceforth to solicit me
*E3 990 I n. mean to part my lips again in
*E3 1030 n. to sheathe his sword, or take a truce
*E3 1117 and bring he n. so plain a pedigree
*E3 1188 a bonnier vessel n. yet spread sail
*E3 1288 whom since our landing we could n. meet
*E3 1456 that n. base affections enter there
*E3 1639 oath, n. to be but Edward's faithful friend
*E3 2088 nor that same man doth n. break his word that Never-appalled.

*Loc 41 this heart, this n. heart, that was a terror to Never-broken.

2T 1709 that, like unruly n. jades, break through
*E3 2078 he hath my n. name to show

Never-ceasing.

*Sel 1761 you swelling seas of n. care
*Sel 2175 where woe, and woe, and n. woe

Never-daunted.

*Sel 2396 why then, you n. janissaries, advance
*Loc 33 these arms, my lords, these n. arms

Never-dying.

*Sel 2021 dislodged hath thy n. soul
MP 92 to burst abroad those n. flames
*E3 2226 the n. honour of this day share wholly

Never-fading.

1T 2088 smother the earth with n. mists

Never-foiled.

*Sel 2493 beating the n. Tonombey

Never-singling.

HLM 264 though n. Hymen couple thee

Never-stayed.

1T 1880 thy puissant n. arm will part their bodies

Nevertheless.

*1TA 11 n. now to be mixtured in print with such D 1150 I'll follow thee with outcries n.
Ov 1286 and in the morn been lively n.

Never-yoked.

L 608 on the altar he lays a n. bull

Nevil.

*2H6 984 and N., this I do assure myself, Richard shall *TT 261 and bid Richard N. Earl of Warwick to leave the *Con 126 the reverence of mine age, and N.'s name
*Con 1861 now by my father's age [? badge], old N.'s crest
*2H6 3032 now by my father's badge, old N.'s crest
*Con 645 the Ns. are thy subjects to command
*2H6 438 cannot do more in England than the Ns.
*2H6 906 the Ns. are thy subjects to command
*2H6 2143 the princely Warwick, and the Ns. all, whose *Con 147 and therefore I will take the Ns.' parts
*Con 1153 and never of the Ns.' noble race
*2H6 241 and therefore I will take the Ns.' parts
*2H6 1818 whose fruit thou art, and never of the Ns.' noble race

New.

*Sel 1561 gather n. forces by my overthrow
*Loc 1070 hath my daughter taught you a n. lesson ?
1F 182 the Hebrew Psalter, and N. Testament
2F 174 the Hebrew Psalter, and N. Testament
2F 825 but n. exploits do hale him out again
JM 835 belike he has some n. trick for a purse
E2 282 at the N. Temple
E2 306 for no where else the n. earl is so safe
E2 598 is n. return'd [1612, 1622, news and newes]
E2 1979 make for a n. life, man ; throw up thy eyes
D 990 and mould her mind unto n. fancy's shapes
D 1488 and raise a n. foundation to old Troy
HLM 417 would needs discover the way to n. Elysium
*HLC 845 n. light gives n. directions, fortunes n.
*HLC 1718 or augury, strange or n., but she resolv'd it
Ov 419 behold, what gives the poet but n. verses ?
Ov 769 Ascraeus lives while grapes with n. wine swell
Ov 1075 and ever seem'd as some n. sweet befel

Ov 1146 dost me of n. crimes always guilty frame?
Ov 1197 ungrate, why feign'st n. fears, and dost refuse?
Ov 1371 nor is my war's cause n.; but for a queen
Ov 1375 a woman forc'd the Trojans n. to enter wars
Ov 1805 let my n. mistress grant to be belov'd!
Ov 1939 and in thy foul deep waters thick [ed. C, n.] thou rushest
Ov 2223 the one his first love, th' other his n. care
Ov 2499 tender Love's mother, a n. poet get
L 691 n. factions rise
*AT 60 but leads to errors n.
*Epg 18 but this n. term will [MS. may] many questions breed
*Epg 76 nor the n. water-work, nor the elephant
*Epg 226 more terse and neat than the n. garden of the Old Temple is *1H6 520 a holy prophetess n. risen up
*1H6 680 and lay n. platforms to endamage them
*1H6 969 even as a man n. haled from the rack
*1H6 1527 and doth beget n. courage in our breasts
*1H6 1992 to my determin'd time thou gav'st n. date
*Con 159 with his n. bride, and England's dear-bought queen
*Con 1381 he means to turn this land, and set a n. nap on it [Q3 on 't]
*2H6 253 with his n. bride, and England's dear-bought queen
*2H6 2205 and turn it, and set a n. nap upon it
*2H6 3109 come thou n. ruin of old Clifford's house
*TT 760 have caused him by n. act of parliament to *TT 1377 to revel it with him and his n. bride
*TT 1475 masquers to revel it with him and his n. bride *3H6 903 have caus'd him by n. act of parliament, to
*3H6 1866 masquers to revel it with him, and his n. bride
*3H6 1909 what think you of this n. marriage with the Lady Grey?
*3H6 1944 is now dishonour'd by this n. marriage
*3H6 1968 heir of the Lord Bonville on your n. wife's son
*3H6 2007 masquers, to revel it with him, and his n. bride
*3H6 2172 is n. committed to the Bishop of York
*3H6 2546 shall, whiles thy head is warm, and n. cut off
*E3 1598 and then n. courage made me fresh again
*E3 2001 and dying but beginning of n. life

New: see Anew and Renew

New-begot.
*1H6 80 let not sloth dim your honours, n.

New-begun.
HLM 636 thinking to quench the sparkles n.

New-betrothed.
*Loc 215 cherish and love thy n. wife
JM 1069 that maidens n. should weep a while

New-born.
*Sel 847 then do we fear, more than the child n.
1F 469 and offer lukewarm blood of n. babes
2F 416 and offer lukewarm blood of n. babes
*Con 1256 as mild and gentle as the n. babe

Newcastle.
E2 926 will to N. here, and gather head
*E3 128 Berwick is won: N. is spoil'd and lost

New-coined.
*Loc 367 provide ye a cap-case full of n. words

New-come.
E2 11 is as Elysium to a n. soul
*HLC 1046 a violent crew of n. thoughts
Dia 26 for any other n. guest?
*1H6 704 his n. champion, virtuous Joan of Arc

New-dead.
Ov 2118 either thou'rt witch'd with blood of frogs n.

New-elected.
E2 2069 but seek to make a n. king

New-erected.
D 1435 welcome to Carthage' n. town

Newest.
*Epg 227 and still the n. fashion he doth get
*Epg 460 every day, the flying [B, C, n.] news to hear

New-fangled.
*Epg 233 yet this n. youth, made for these [MS. this] times

New-found.
*Loc 1177 with n. torments rack proud Locrine's bones!
1F 111 and search all corners of the n. world for 2F 108 and search all corners of the n. world
MP 1242 torture him with some n. death!
D 168 and roast our n. victuals on this shore

Newgate.
2F (Title) sold at his shop without N., at the sign of The Bible, 1616

Newhaven.
*Epg 208 the going to Saint Quintin's and N.
*E3 1003 scour to N.; some there stay for me

Newly.
*Loc (Title) n. set forth, over-seen and corrected by W. S. London 1T (Title) Now first, and n. published. London. Printed by 1T (Title) Now n. published. Printed by Richard Jones, dwelling 1F 936 it may be some ghost, n. crept out of Purgatory
*JMD 6 being n. brought to the press, I was loath it should D 1168 when sleep but n. had embrac'd the night
*2H6 2722 the Duke of York is n. come from Ireland
*E3 1166 as those that were but n. reft of life

Newly-yoked.
Ov 51 young oxen n. are beaten more than

New-made.
JM 514 we now are almost at the n. nunnery
JM 519 this house and waters of this n. nunnery
JM 1229 go to the n. nunnery, and inquire
Ov 67 I, lately caught, will have a n. wound
*Con 76 for Suffolk he, the n. duke that rules the roast
*Con 829 for Suffolk he, the n. duke, that may do all in all
*2H6 107 Suffolk, the n. duke that rules the roast
*2H6 355 and from the great and n. Duke of Suffolk
*TT 1372 'tis not his n. bride shall succour him
*3H6 1848 'tis not his n. bride shall succour him

New-razed.
Ov 2481 and with a wanton's tooth your neck n.?

New-repaired.
JM 2262 and caus'd the ruins to be n.

New-replenished.
*E3 1863 and n. pendants cuff the air

New-rigged.
D 1497 why are thy ships n.? or to what end

News.
*Sel 209 what, yet more n.?
*Sel 957 how now, Mustaffa, what n. have we there?
*Sel 963 such n., or none will come to Bajazet
*Sel 990 yet more n.?
*Sel 1243 to carry these sad n. to Bajazet
*Sel 1310 to be the messenger of these sad n.
*Sel 1355 let him come in: Aga, what n. with you?
*Sel 2113 how now, what n.?
*Loc 1574 and tell my father Brutus of this n.
1T 298 N., n.! — How now, what's the matter?

1T 1990 what's the n. ?
1T 2172 what other heavy n. now brings Philemus ?
1F 1301 how now, Wagner ! what's the n. with thee ?
2F 1581 how now, Wagner ! what n. with thee ?
JM 724 to bring the hapless n. to Christendom
JM 2046 I bring thee n. by whom thy son was slain
E2 388 this will be good n. to the common sort
E2 598 is new [1612, 1622, n. and newes] return'd
E2 617 my gracious lord, I come to bring you n.
E2 620 repeal'd ! the n. is too sweet to be true
E2 677 such n. we hear, my lord
E2 796 for I have joyful n. to tell thee of E2 809 How now ! what n. ? is Gaveston arriv'd ?
E2 944 nay, stay, my lord ; I come to bring you n.
E2 1367 madam, what n. ?
E2 1368 n. of dishonour, lord, and discontent
E2 1652 the n. was here, my lord, that you
E2 1663 told us, at our arrival, all the n.
E2 1701 my Lord of Glocester, do you hear the n. ?
E2 1702 what n., my lord ?
E2 1711 now, sirs, the n. from France ?
E2 1721 how now ! what n. with thee ? from whence come these ?
E2 1736 « this is all the n. of import »
E2 2075 my lord, the parliament must have present n.
E2 2116 the next n. that they bring will be my death
E2 2119 another post ! what n. brings he ?
E2 2120 such n. as I expect
E2 2167 first would I hear n. he were depos'd
E2 2176 O, happy n. ! send for the prince my son
E2 2380 no ; unless thou bring me n. of Edward's death
E2 2495 to comfort you, and bring you joyful n.
E2 2587 ah, Mortimer, the king my son hath n.
MP 244 how now, fellow ! what n. ?
MP 731 how now, sirrah ! what n. ?
MP 1082 she comes, as if she droop'd to hear the n.
MP 1144 my lord, I come to bring you n. that MP 1190 come thou near, and tell what n. thou bring'st
MP 1213 I'll send my sister England n. of this D 409 and Priam dead ; yet how, we hear no n.
*HLC 1191 takes [V. R. take] n., as if it were too hot to eat
*HLC 1907 with n. as wholesome as the morning air
*HLC 1924 to be the first mouth of a n. so far deriv'd
*HLC 1925 and that to hear and bear n. brave folks liv'd
*HLC 2056 stray'd out of her way, in hasting with her n.
*HLC 2061 those rare n. which she came short to tell
*HLC 2069 prates naught but n. common to the *HLC 2278 and strives for grace to get his n. forth
L 467 and, swiftly bringing n. of present war, made
*Epg 2 fly, merry Muse [MS. newes], unto that merry town
*Epg 220 when Marcus comes from Mins' [B, C, from Minnes ; MS. for newes]
*Epg 460 every day, the flying [B, C, newest] n. to hear
*Epg 468 straight he learns the n., and doth disclose it
*1H6 68 these n. would cause him once more yield the ghost
*1H6 225 where's the prince Dauphin ? I have n. for him
*1H6 2199 these n. (my lords) may cheer our drooping spirits
*1H6 2391 I'll over then to England with this n.
*Con 144 cold n. for me, for I had hope of France
*Con 214 what Sir John Hume, what n. with you ?
*Con 461 post unto the king, unto Saint Albans, to tell this n.
*Con 602 what n. brings Duke Humphrey of Buckingham?
*Con 603 ill n. for some my lord, and this it is *Con 624 this n. I think hath turn'd your weapon's point
*Con 891 welcome Lord Somerset, what n. from France?
*Con 892 cold n. my lord, and this it is *Con 895 cold n. indeed Lord Somerset
*Con 897 cold n. for me, for I had hope of France
*Con 994 how now sirrah, what n. ?
*Con 995 madam I bring you n. from Ireland
*Con 1444 Captain. N., n.
*Con 1684 Lord Somerset, what n. hear you of the rebel Cade ?
*Con 1750 who comes here Buckingham, what n. with him ?
*2H6 238 cold n. for me : for I had hope of France
*2H6 661 thither goes these n., as fast as *2H6 873 this n. I think hath turn'd your weapon's edge
*2H6 1292 welcome Lord Somerset : what n. from France ?
*2H6 1296 cold n., Lord Somerset : but God's will be done
*2H6 1298 cold n. for me : for I had hope of France
*2H6 1973 whither goes Vaux so fast ? what n. I prithee ?
*2H6 1986 ay me ! what is this world ? what n. are these ?
*2H6 2428 how now ? what n. ? why com'st thou in such haste ?
*2H6 2954 I thank thee Clifford : say, what n. with thee ?
*TT 266 now, what n. ?
*TT 561 how now fair lords : what fare ? what n. abroad ?
*TT 563 should we but [Q1 Q3 omit] report the baleful n.
*TT 570 ten days ago I drown'd those n. in tears
*TT 572 I come to tell you things [Q3 newes] since then befall'n
*TT 1341 smiles at her n. when Warwick frets as [Q2 Q3 at] his *TT 1343 now Margaret and Warwick, what are your n. ?
*TT 1467 now sirrah, what letters or what n. ?
*TT 1468 no letters my lord, and such n. as without your *TT 1600 why brother Rivers, hear you [Q3 ye] not the n.
*TT 1612 the n. is passing strange, I must confess
*TT 1945 that we could have no n. of their repair ?
*TT 1958 ere you come there, you shall hear more n.
*3H6 189 come cousin, let us tell the queen these n.
*3H6 331 but stay, what n. ! why com'st thou in such post ?
*3H6 606 had he been ta'en, we should have heard the n.
*3H6 607 had he been slain, we should have heard the n.
*3H6 699 how now fair lords ? what fare ? what n. abroad ?
*3H6 701 if we should recompt our baleful n., and at *3H6 708 ten days ago, I drown'd these n. in tears
*3H6 808 how now ? what n. ?
*3H6 1343 if this n. be true, poor queen, and son, your *3H6 1807 smiles at her n., while Warwick frowns at his *3H6 1810 Warwick, what are thy n. ?
*3H6 1996 now messenger, what letters, or what n. from France ?
*3H6 2174 these n. I must confess are full of grief
*3H6 2308 what n., my friend ?
*3H6 2311 unsavoury n. : but how made he escape ?
*3H6 2509 that we could hear no n. of his repair
*3H6 2637 even now we heard the n.
*3H6 2810 ere ye come there, be sure to hear some n.
*E3 54 admit him lords, that we may hear the n.
*E3 804 what n., my Lord of Derby, from the emperor ?
*E3 810 what, doth his highness leap to hear this n. ?
*E3 827 what n. with you ?
*E3 880 now, boy, what n. ?
*E3 1099 there's for thy n.
*E3 1199 well met, my masters : how now ? what's the n ?
*E3 1204 have you not heard the n. that flies abroad ?

*E3 1205 What n. ? — How the French navy is destroy'd
*E3 1286 good n., my lord ; the prince is hard at hand
*E3 1709 Lord Percy ! welcome : what's the n. in England ?
*E3 1720 thanks, Percy, for thy n., with all my heart !
*E3 1930 what n. with thee ?
*E3 2352 welcome, Lord Salisbury : what n. from Britain ?
*E3 2359 but now, my lord, as this is joyful n., so

New-singed.

JM 773 the slave looks like a hog's cheek n.

New-sworn.

Ov 1576 and n. soldiers' maiden arms retain'st

New-year's.

*JMD 11 I had no better a n. gift to present you with Next.

*Sel 1691 Corcut, thy pageant n. is to be play'd
*Sel 2212 for thou art n. to die by Selim's hands
*Sel 2568 n., shall you see him with triumphant sword
*Loc 1138 n. for your peace, last for your victory
1T 953 we mean to take his morning's n. arise
2T 929 then n., the way to fortify your men
2T 1758 whither we make our n. expedition
2T 1885 the region n. underneath the element of fire
1F 225 to see you both hanged the n. sessions
1F 863 from Paris n., coasting the realm of France
1F 1536 let us into the n. room, and there pray for him
2F 212 I do not doubt but to see you both hanged the n. sessions
2F 694 n., like a necklace, I hang about her neck
2F 839 from Paris n., coasting the realm of France 2F 2020 but let us into the n. room, and pray for him
JM 1086 revenge it on him when you meet him n.
E2 243 n., himself imprison'd, and his goods asseiz'd
E2 1002 look n. to see us with our ensigns spread
E2 2116 the n. news that they bring will be my death
E2 2236 you, being his uncle and the n. of blood, do
E2 2481 see that in the n. room I have a fire
MP 790 the n. time that I meet her, I'll make her
MP 1011 have ta'en their standings in the n. room
MP 1256 he's your lawful king, and my n. heir
*HLC 1025 because it figur'd so the n. night's horror
*HLC 1962 n., before her went five lovely children
*HLC 1985 n., did go a noble matron
*HLC 2195 n., to the fenny Notus course she holds
*HLC 2201 to snake-foot Boreas n. she did remove Ov 1456 and on the n. fault punishment inflict !
Ov 1938 with snow thaw'd from the n. hill now thou gushest [Old eds. rushest]
L 595 n., an inferior troop, in tuck'd-up vestures
L 600 n., learnèd augurs follow ; Apollo's soothsayers
*Epg 452 and there till ten n. day he doth remain
*1H6 483 where is best place to make our battery n. ?
*1H6 575 that bloom'd one day, and fruitful were the n.
*1H6 945 and so farewell, until I meet thee n.
*1H6 949 shall be wip'd out in the n. parliament
*1H6 1039 I was the n. by birth and parentage
*1H6 1544 first to my God, and n. unto your grace *1H6 1592 I vow'd (base knight) when I did meet thee n., to *Con 45 ere the 30 [Q3 thirty day] of the n. month [Q2 moneth]
*Con 201 the n. I have I'll keep [Q3 keepe it] to myself
*Con 835 at Saint Edmond's-bury, the first of the n. month
*Con 1793 first thanks to heaven, and n. to thee my friend
*2H6 48 ere the thirtieth of May n. ensuing *2H6 149 he is the n. of blood, and heir-apparent to the *2H6 313 n. time I'll keep my dreams unto myself
*2H6 323 were I a man, a duke, and n. of blood
*2H6 532 n., if I be appointed for the place
*2H6 585 shall be the last of the n. month
*2H6 911 n. to whom, was John of Gaunt, the Duke of Lancaster
*2H6 930 the issue of the n. son should have reign'd
*2H6 1167 holden at Bury, the first of this n. month
*2H6 1231 and should you fail, he is the n. will mount
*2H6 1258 as n. the king, he was successive heir
*2H6 1599 and Henry put apart : the n. for me
*TT 143 but that the n. heir must succeed and reign
*TT 660 the n. degree, is England's royal king
*TT 2075 thou Clarence n., [Q3 And Clarence thou art n. must follow them]
*3H6 152 but that the n. heir should succeed and reign
*3H6 796 the n. degree, is England's royal throne
*3H6 2861 and n. his throat, unto the butcher's knife
*3H6 2943 Clarence thy turn is n., and then the rest
*E3 6 who n. succeeded Philip le Beau ? [Old eds. of Bew ?]
*E3 20 and, though she were the n. of blood
*E3 508 O monstrous line ! put in the n. a sword
*E3 510 blot, blot, good Lodowick ! let's hear the n.
*E3 1331 n., — insomuch thou hast infring'd thy faith
*E3 2064 go, and the n. bough, soldier, that thou seest

Nice.

HLM 332 fair fools delight to be accounted n.
*1H6 848 but in these n. sharp quillets of the law
*3H6 2394 why brother, wherefore stand you on n. points ?

Nicebice.

*Loc 1055 no, by my troth, mistress N.

Nicholas.

JM (Title) London ; Printed by I. B. for N. Vavasour

Nick.

*Con 1375 come away N., and put a long staff in thy pike

Nick-name.

*Loc 1056 how fine you can n. me !

Niece.

E2 1062 to wed thee to our n., the only heir
E2 1110 farewell, sweet Gaveston ; and farewell, n.
D 1656 that I may swim to him, like Triton's n.
*TT 1357 did I let pass the abuse done to my [Q3 thy] n. ?
*3H6 1828 did I let pass the abuse done to my n. ?

Niggard.

1F 1305 to whom I must be no n. of my cunning
2F 1588 one to whom I must be no n. of my cunning
*E3 292 then, dear my liege, now n. not thy state

Nigh.

*Loc 26 behold, your Brutus draweth n. his end
*Loc 351 « as near and as n. »
*Loc 398 approacheth n. with all his warlike train
*Loc 465 with millions of men, approacheth n.
*Loc 1091 now, cursed Humber, doth thy end draw n.
*Loc 1267 that draweth n. to our pavilion
*Loc 1283 n. to the rock of high Caphareus
*Loc 1512 n. Durolitum, by the pleasant Ley
*Loc 1590 n. to the river of great Mercia
*Loc 1994 when will that hour, that blessed hour draw n.
2T 539 n. Larissa sways a mighty host 2F 1811 if death were n., he would not frolic thus D 929 or art thou griev'd thy betters press so n. ?
HLM 420 and crave the help of shepherds that were n.
HLM 572 and ever, as he thought himself most n. it
HLM 624 so beauty sweetly [V. R. quickly] quickens when 'tis [V. R. it's] n.
*HLC 1106 cry « Here 'tis ! » when that they vow is nothing n.
*HLC 1136 took a robe was n., exceeding large

Ov 672 that with one word hath n. himself undone
Ov 1792 the shout is n.; the golden pomp comes here
*Con 1092 was I for this n. wrack'd upon the sea
*2H6 1685 was I for this n. wrack'd upon the sea
*TT 1810 ah, who is n.? come to me friend or foe
*3H6 868 my lord cheer up your spirits, your foe is n.
*3H6 2497 and by thy guess, how n. is Clarence now?
*3H6 2610 ah, who is n.? come to me, friend, or foe
*E3 1210 fly, when envy and destruction is so n.?

Night.

*Sel 44 many a careful n. when Cynthia
*Sel 2224 this n., when fair Lucina's shining wain
*Sel 2255 now in the quiet silence of the n.
*Sel 366 in Death's void kingdom reigns eternal N.
*Sel 1319 black Demogorgon, grandfather of N.
*Sel 1804 N.! thou most ancient grand-mother of all
*Loc 382 the n. in dancing and figured masks
*Loc 983 shall ere the n. be colour'd all with blood
*Loc 986 shall ere the n. be figured all with blood
*Loc 989 shall ere the n. converted be to blood
*Loc 1435 upon a certain day at n. I came home
*Loc 1701 and pass the n. and day in Venus' sports
*Loc 1967 and every n. doth live, again to die
*Loc 1115 the arm-strong offspring of the doubled n.
*Loc 1783 when hellish N. in cloudy chariot seated 1T 1415 to shroud his shame in darkness of the n.
1T 1941 making the mantle of the richest n.
1T 2084 hide now thy stained face in endless n.
1T 2154 sleep'st every n. with conquest on thy brows
2T 973 yet at n. carouse within my tent
2T 651 ready to darken earth with endless n.
1F 193 this n. I'll conjure, though I die therefore 1F 511 chief lord and regent of perpetual n.
2F 185 this n. I'll conjure, though I die therefore 2F 230 now that the gloomy shadow of the n.
2F 459 chief lord and regent of perpetual n.!
2F 1256 if a man be drunk over n., the devil cannot hurt him in the morning 2F 1636 Doctor Faustus bad me ride him day and n.
2F 1775 be both your legs bed-fellows every n. together?
2F 1929 and, this gloomy n., here, in this room 2F 2135 for such a dreadful n. was never seen
*FB 52 and carry me to everlasting n.
JM 394 and henceforth wish for an eternal n.
JM 609 and in the shadow of the silent n. doth
JM 621 and direct the hand of Abigail this n.!
JM 632 and speak of spirits and ghosts that glide by n.
JM 794 how shows it by n.?
JM 1128 the time has been that but for one bare n.
JM 1147 and in the n. I clambered up with my hooks
JM 1589 come to my house at one o'clock this n.
JM 1656 what time o' n. is 't now, sweet Ithamore?
E2 17 to whom the sun shines both by day and n.?
E2 55 I'll have Italian masks by n.
E2 544 such reasons make white black, and dark n. day
E2 1284 be thou this n. his keeper; in the morning we E2 1603 stand gracious, gloomy n., to his device!
E2 2050 stay awhile: let me be [1598, omits] king till n.
E2 2056 let never silent n. possess this clime
E2 2207 remove him still from place to place by n.
E2 1744 and, dusky N. in rusty iron car
MP 35 should have been murdered the other n.?
MP 62 if ever day were turn'd to ugly n.
MP 63 and n. made semblance of the hue of hell
MP 64 this day, this hour, this fatal n.
MP 446 for this n. let our fury stay
D 26 have oft driven back the horses of the N.
D 70 see how the n., Ulysses-like, comes forth
D 156 whose n. and day descendeth from thy brows
D 872 the day, the n., my swans, my sweets, are thine
D 1069 I think, it was the devil's revelling n.
D 1154 Hermes this n., descending in a dream, hath D 1168 when sleep but newly had embrac'd the n.
D 1239 that young Ascanius lay with me this n.
D 1622 he lay with me last n.
HLM 195 and N., deep-drench'd in misty Acheron
HLM 197 breath'd darkness forth (dark n. is Cupid's day)
HLM 356 in silence of the n. to visit us)
HLM 361 and spends the n., that might be better spent, in HLM 601 but what [V. R. when] the secret trusty n. conceal'd HLM 599 so that in silence of the cloudy n., though
HLM 799 and now she [V. R. we] wish'd this n. were never done HLM 802 should know the pleasure of this [V. R. the] blessed n.
HLM 830 and with his flaring beams mock'd ugly N.
*HLC 834 resigns his night-sports with the n.
*HLC 1008 and he at n. would swim to Hero's tower
*HLC 1132 the shield of the blackest n. could not defend her
*HLC 1150 the n. had never such a heavy spirit
*HLC 1454 which n. and Hellespont would quickly send her
*HLC 1613 day was hid in day; n. come ere n.
*HLC 1633 as loath the N., incens'd by Fate, should *HLC 1635 longs for Leander and the n.
*HLC 1819 into a double n. they saw them driven
*HLC 2024 brought forth with joy the thickest part of n.
*HLC 2072 Come, come, dear N.! Love's mart of kisses
*HLC 2076 O, come, soft rest of cares! come, N.!
*HLC 2084 come, N., and lay thy velvet hand on glorious Day's *HLC 2113 now Love in N., and N. in Love exhorts
*HLC 2157 no longer could the Day nor Destinies delay the N.
*HLC 2252 foretelling the red n. that followed
*HLC 2304 n. close and silent now goes fast before
*HLC 2440 even like the forehead-cloth that, in the n., or Ov 179 but we must part when heaven with black n. lours
Ov 180 at n. thy husband clips thee: I will weep
Ov 188 but, though this n. thy fortune be to try it
Ov 196 or n. being past, and yet not day begun
Ov 226 but in times past I fear'd vain shades and n.
Ov 241 n. goes away; the door's bar backward strike
Ov 249 strike back the bar; n. fast away doth go
Ov 257 n. runs away; with open entrance greet them
Ov 265 n. goes away; I pray thee, ope the door
Ov 276 n., love, and wine to all extremes persuade Ov 277 n., shameless wine, and love are fearless made
Ov 282 now frosty n. her flight begins to take Ov 429 who seeks, for being fair, a n. to have Ov 594 thy service for n.'s scapes is known commodious
Ov 604 if what I do, she asks, say « Hope for n. »
Ov 679 how oft wish'd I n. would not give thee place
Ov 692 then wouldst thou cry, « Stay, n., and run not thus! » Ov 1242 hapless is he that all the n. lies quiet
Ov 1280 if one can do't; if not, two every n.
Ov 1285 oft have I spent the n. in wantonness
Ov 1348 neither darksome n. nor violent south-winds did
Ov 1941 what day and n. to travel in her quest?

Ov 2064 Corinna crav'd it in a summer's n.
L 15 as far as Titan springs, where n. dims heaven
L 188 at n. in dreadful vision fearful Rome mourning appear'd
L 263 now light had quite dissolv'd the misty n.
L 518 and wilt not trust thy city-walls one n.
L 534 stars, which wont to run their course through empty n.
L 579 such and more strange black n. brought forth in secret
Dia 72 and, if you be jealous, God give you good n.!
*AT 13 both day and n. would he blaspheme
*AT 14 and day and n. would swear
*1H6 1 hung be the heavens with black, yield day to n.
*1H6 309 this n. the siege assuredly I'll raise
*1H6 611 this happy n., the Frenchmen are secure
*1H6 638 shall this n. appear how much in duty, I *1H6 670 most part of all this n.
*1H6 685 the day begins to break, and n. is fled
*1H6 711 for smoke, and dusky vapours of the n.
*1H6 715 that could not live asunder day or n.
*1H6 959 a thousand souls to death and deadly n.
*Con 181 this n. when I was laid in bed, I dreamt
*Con 231 there cast their spells in silence of the n.
*Con 428 dark n., dread n., the silence of the n.
*Con 635 come my lords this n. we'll lodge in Saint Albans
*Con 910 so God help me [Q3 me help], as I have watch'd the n.
*Con 1222 well could I curse away a winter's n.
*Con 1925 nor never shall I sleep secure one n., till
*2H6 26 by day, by n.; waking, and in my dreams
*2H6 282 my troublous dreams this n. doth make me sad *2H6 557 he did speak them to me in the garret one n.
*2H6 601 deep n., dark n., the silent of the n.
*2H6 602 the time of n. when Troy was set on fire
*2H6 669 to sup with me to-morrow n.
*2H6 765 let never day nor n. unhallow'd pass
*2H6 893 well, for this n. we will repose us here
*2H6 1136 no : dark shall be my light, and n. my day
*2H6 1323 so help me God, as I have watch'd the n.
*2H6 1324 ay, n. by n., in studying good for England
*2H6 1941 well could I curse away a winter's n.
*2H6 2057 the jades that drag the tragic melancholy n.
*2H6 2625 defer the spoiling of the city until n.
*TT 30 soldiers stay you here and lodge this n.
*TT 1506 for in the field this n. I mean to rest
*TT 1674 for this n. we'll harbour here in York
*TT 1911 shall with our swords ere [Q1 yer] n. be clean cut down
*TT 1938 let Aesop fable in a winter's n.
*TT 2096 have in our armours watch'd the winter's n.
*3H6 32 and soldiers stay and lodge by me this n.
*3H6 1065 can neither call it perfect day, nor n.
*3H6 1120 may yet (ere n.) yield both my life and them to *3H6 2371 shut, but in the n., or in the time of war
*3H6 2416 now for this n., let's harbour here in York
*3H6 2749 must by the roots be hewn up yet ere n.
*3H6 2787 let Aesop fable in a winter's n.
*3H6 2963 have in our armours watch'd the winter's n.
*E3 479 compar'st thou her to the pale queen of n.
*E3 788 dark n. seems darker by the lightning-flash
*E3 843 ere n., she will resolve your majesty
*E3 1006 this n. will scarce suffice me, to discover
*E3 1164 then 'gan the day to turn to gloomy n.
*E3 1412 that, n. approaching, they escape unfought
*E3 1852 sullen dark and terror of all-ending n.
*E3 1962 ere n. his prayer may be, to pray to God to
*E3 2037 and made at noon a n. unnatural 1F 872 thorough a rock of stone, in one n.'s space
2F 848 thorough [1616, 1621, Through] a rock of stone, in one n.'s space
*HLC 493 their first n.'s meeting, where sweet kisses are *HLC 1025 because it figur'd so the next n.'s horror
*HLC 1822 their last n.'s watch, and drunk with their
*HLC 2115 and suit N.'s rich expansure with your joy
Ov 272 n.'s dewy host march fast away
Ov 375 her I suspect among n.'s spirits to fly
Ov 494 to suffer storm-mix'd snows with n.'s sharp cold?
Ov 1637 suffering much cold by hoary n.'s frost bred
Ov 1655 in n.'s deep silence why the ban-dogs bark
Ov 1669 nor never with n.'s sharp revenge afflicted?
Ov 2221 and that slow web n.'s falsehood did unframe
Ov 2454 what madness is 't to tell night-pranks [ed. A, night-sports; B, C, n.'s pranckes] by day
L 91 or Cynthia, n.'s queen, waits upon the day
*TT 1531 and now what rests but in n.'s coverture
*3H6 2077 and now, what rests? but in n.'s coverture
*3H6 2086 so we, well cover'd with the n.'s black mantle 1F 1276 I tell thee, he has not slept this eight ns.
JM 399 and painful ns., have been appointed me
JM 796 you'll like it better far o' ns. than days
JM 917 as for myself, I walk abroad o' ns.
JM 1861 O, that ten thousand ns. were put in one
Ov 41 although the ns. be long, I sleep not tho
Ov 555 farms out herself on ns. for what she can Ov 572 fair dames, forbear rewards for ns. to crave
Ov 698 made two ns. one to finish up his pleasure
*E3 2479 the weary ns. that I have watch'd in field
*Loc 1444 « I shall teach thee how to ben. me another time »
*HLC 2038 freed by the fair bridegroom on the marriage-n.

Night : see Midnight and Yesternight

Night-cap.
*Epg 345 this gull was sick to show his n. fine

Night-crow.
*TT 2030 the n. cried, aboding luckless tune
*3H6 2897 the n. cried, aboding luckless time

Nighted.
*Sel 140 and leave his steeds ben. in the East
E2 1958 as good be gone, as stay and be ben.

Night-flying.
Ov 230 forthwith love came : no dark n. sprite

Night-foes.
*3H6 2115 but to defend his person from n.?

Night-gown.
Ov 1728 and slipp'd from bed, cloth'd in a loose n.

Night-grown.
E2 581 but cannot brook a n. mushroom

Nightingale.
*Loc 304 not the voice of the n., but a voice sweeter
*E3 111 that, with the n., I shall be scar'd
*E3 442 her voice to music, or the n.
*E3 445 and why should I speak of the n.?
*E3 446 the n. sings of adulterate wrong

Nightly.
E2 2275 must I be vexèd like the n. bird

Night-owl's.
*TT 596 our soldiers like the n. lazy flight
*3H6 733 our soldiers like the n. lazy flight

Night-pranks.
Ov 2454 what madness is 't to tell n. [ed. A, night-sports; B, C, night's-pranckes] by day

Night-'scapes.
Ov 594 thy service for n. is known commodious
Night-sports.
*HLC 834 resigns his n. with the night
Ov 2454 what madness is 't to tell night-pranks [ed. A, n.; B, C, night's pranckes] by day Night-stratagems.
L 514 with slender trench they escape n.
Night's-work.
MP 521 begins to lament for the late n.
Night-time.
JM 949 and in the n. secretly would I steal to Night-wandering.
HLM 113 nor that n., pale, and watery star
Night-wars.
Ov 523 since mayst thou see me watch, and n. move
Nigra.
2T 457 N. Silva, where the devils dance
Nigrantis.
*Loc 795 Et vos queis domus est n. regia Ditis
Nile.
1T 1377 lie slumbering on the flowery banks of N.
1T 2234 as vast and deep as Euphrates or N.
2T 830 to drink the river N. or Euphrates
Ov 1392 and where swift N., in his large channel slipping
Ov 1970 rich N., by seven mouths to the vast sea flowing
Ov 2035 I erewhile nam'd Achelõus, Inachus, and N. [Old eds. Ile]
L 683 the east, where N. augmenteth the Pelusian sea
Nilus.
*Sel 2353 left Egyptian N. and my father's court
JM 78 where N. pays his tribute to the main
*Sel 2539 and take their way to N.' bounds
*Loc 854 high on a bank, by N.' boisterous streams
1T 1029 as looks the sun through N.' flowing stream
JM 43 are gotten up by N.' winding banks
L 20 and they of N.' mouth, if there live any L 684 this headless trunk that lies on N.' sand I know Nimble.
D 1174 on whom the n. winds may all day wait
HLM 405 did charm her n. feet, and made her stay
Ov 984 methinks she would be n. [ed A, should be quick] when she's down Ov 998 who would not love those hands [ed. A, those n. hands] for *E3 197 their light-borne snaffles, nor their n. spurs
Nimble-jointed.
*E3 1933 by me hath sent a n. jennet
Nimbler.
Ov 994 she would be n., lying with a man
*E3 978 my resolution is more n. far, than thy Nimbly.
*HLC 1856 he n. turn'd into Love's self Nimia.
Ov 701 prae n. cura comae deciderant
Nine.
*Loc 440 where Phoebus with the learned ladies n.
1F 712 n.; the seven planets, the firmament, and 2F 631 How many heavens or spheres are there? — N.
D 33 and my n. daughters sing when thou art sad
Ov 1118 whose life n. ages scarce bring out of date
Ov 2065 and n. sweet bouts we had [ed. A, had we] before day-light
*Epg 266 audacious painters have N. Worthies made
*1H6 235 excepting the n. sibyls of old Rome
*2H6 2702 but I was made a king at n. months old
*TT 108 when I was crown'd I was but n. months old
*3H6 115 when I was crown'd, I was but n. months old
*3H6 1388 I was anointed king at n. months old Nine-and-thirty.
*Epg 342 is n. [Eds. thirtie nine] years of age at least Nine-fold.
*Loc 1465 chased from the n. Pyriphlegethon
*Loc 1545 you ghastly devils of the n. Styx
*Loc 1864 but O you judges of the n. Styx Ninus.
*Sel 323 but after N., warlike Belus' son 2T 1866 where Belus, N., and great Alexander have rode Niobe.
*Loc 923 the grief of N., fair Amphion's queen
D 298 N., who for her sons' death wept out life and breath
Ov 2396 N. flint, Callist we make a bear
Nipped.
E2 864 the shepherd, n. with biting winter's rage
*E3 1217 when frozen cold hath n. his careless head Nipping.
*2H6 1096 barren winter, with his wrathful n. cold Nisi.
1F 59 Exhaereditare filium non potest pater, n., &c
2F 56 Exhaereditare filium non potest pater, n., &c
Nobility.
1T 633 advanc'd to rooms of honour and n.
1T 1867 image of honour and n.
1T 1982 and fashions men with true n.
2T 717 whose true n. have merited my latest memory
2T 1511 for deeds of bounty or n.
E2 583 should bear us down of the n.
E2 1326 be counterbuff'd of your n.
E2 1477 advise your grace to cherish virtue and n.
E2 1561 England, unkind to thy n.
D 1170 whereas n. abhors to stay
*1H6 79 awake, awake, English n.
*1H6 1725 King Henry's peers, and chief n., destroyed themselves
*1H6 1767 this jarring discord of n.
*1H6 2315 and our n. will scorn the match
*2H6 889 convers'd with such, as like to pitch, defile n.
*2H6 1259 and such high vaunts of his n.
*2H6 2181 true n., is exempt from fear
*2H6 2212 the n. think scorn to go in leather aprons
*2H6 2656 and delight to live in slavery to the n.
Nobis.
1F 69 et nulla est in n. veritas
1F 265 ipse nunc surgat n. dicatus Mephistophilis
1F 1067 Misericordia pro n.! what shall I do?
2F 66 Si peccasse negamus, fallimur, et nulla est in n. veritas
2F 253 ipse nunc surgat n. dicatis [1624, 1631, dicatus] Mephistophilis!
Noble.
*Sel 951 makes me a friend unto n. Selimus
*Sel 1823 I have a drink, my lords, of n. worth
*Sel 1869 Aga will follow n. Bajazeth
*Sel 2374 slain thy loving father, noble Bajazeth?
*Sel 2490 the n. Hector all besmear'd in blood
*Sel 2502 brave Sinam, for thy n. prisoner
*Sel 2554 consumèd all the family of n. Ottoman
*Loc 91 most n. lord, if aught your loyal peers
*Loc 111 to Graecia's monarch, n. Pandrasus
*Loc 250 t' abbreviate my n. father's life
*Loc 279 then, n. cousin, cease to mourn his chance
*Loc 371 since that our n. father is entomb'd

*Loc 376 right n. lord, your subjects every one
*Loc 423 right n. father, we will rule the land
*Loc 429 bay, that decketh none but n. conquerors
*Loc 493 spoke like a warlike knight, my n. son
*Loc 782 and 785 fly, n. Albanact, and save thyself
*Loc 839 this unexpected honour, n. sire
*Loc 955 that slew my n. brother Albanact
*Loc 1008 right martial be thy thoughts, my n. son
*Loc 1109 that I may 'venge my n. brother's death
*Loc 1120 fight, as I will now for n. Albanact
*Loc 1238 thy valiant captains, and thy n. peers ?
*Loc 1352 and slew my n. brother Albanact
*Loc 1393 pardon, my brother, n. Corineus
*Loc 1643 my n. father with his conquering sword 1T 351 n. and mild this Persian seems to be 1T 414 to [Old eds. are] these resolvèd, n. Scythians !
1T 442 and now, fair madam, and my n. lords
1T 496 in fair Persia n. Tamburlaine shall be my regent
1T 576 then, n. soldiers, to entrap these thieves
1T 680 kneel, and cry me « mercy, n. king ! »
1T 1021 and might in n. minds be counted princely
1T 1593 persecutes the n. Turk and his great emperess ?
1T 1596 but, n. lord of great Arabia, be 1T 2290 what saith the n. Soldan, and Zenocrate ?
2T 557 arm, dread sovereign, and my n. lords !
2T 856 well, then, my n. lords, for this my 2F 1491 make haste to help these n. gentlemen
JM 584 believe me, n. Lodowick, I have seen the E2 307 what man of n. birth can brook this sight ?
E2 1020 no marvel though thou scorn thy n. peers
E2 1240 but, for we know thou art a n. gentleman
E2 1339 long live my sovereign, the n. Edward E2 1356 argues thy n. mind and disposition
E2 1516 a n. attempt and honourable deed
E2 1630 but droop not, madam ; n. minds contemn despair
E2 1646 the marquis is a n. gentleman
E2 1662 Monsieur Le Grand, a n. friend of yours, told
E2 1691 this n. gentleman, forward in arms
E2 1814 ere farther we proceed, my n. lords
E2 1972 O, is he gone ? is n. Edward gone ?
E2 2123 can harbour in a man of n. birth
MP 204 my n. son, and princely Duke of Guise
MP 270 treacherous violence from our n. friend
MP 617 n. minds change not their thoughts for MP 1129 my n. brother murder'd by the king !
MP 1143 that durst attempt to murder n. Guise
*HLC 1809 n. by birth, n. by beauty's flames
*HLC 1986 next, did go a n. matron
*HLC 2054 and the n. maid, sharp-visag'd Adolesche
Ov 1326 then wilt thou Leda's n. twin-stars pray
Ov 1749 I sit not here the n. horse to see
Ov 1944 now wish I those wings n. Perseus had Ov 2020 how wouldst thou flow, wert thou a n. flood ?
*1H6 335 it is the n. Duke of Gloster
*1H6 347 have patience n. duke, I may not open
*1H6 1001 ay, n. uncle, thus ignobly us'd
*1H6 1056 but as the rest, so fell that n. earl
*1H6 1168 that two such n. peers as ye should jar ?
*1H6 1330 see n. Charles the beacon of our friend
*1H6 1422 erects thy n. deeds, as valour's monuments
*1H6 1434 the n. Duke of Bedford, late deceas'd
*1H6 1562 in honour of my n. Lord of York
*1H6 1612 knights of the garter were of n. birth
*1H6 1658 this is my servant, hear him n. prince
*1H6 1679 and that is my petition (n. lord)
*1H6 1843 and cannot help the n. chevalier
*1H6 1848 spur to the rescue of the n. Talbot *1H6 1868 alas, what joy shall n. Talbot have *1H6 1897 cries out for n. York and Somerset
*1H6 1906 while he renowned n. gentleman yields up his life
*1H6 1945 that basely fled, when n. Talbot stood
*1H6 2084 doubtless he would have made a n. knight
*1H6 2108 knight of the n. order of Saint George
*1H6 2441 of purpose, to obscure my n. birth
*1H6 2596 your wondrous rare description (n. earl)
*1H6 2675 through force of your report, my n. Lord of Suffolk
*Con 130 but wherefore weeps Warwick my n. son
*Con 393 my n. uncle had been here in place
*Con 677 the n. Duke of York was done [Q3 putte] to death
*Con 686 then n. father, kneel we both together, and *Con 701 shall live to see the n. Duke of York to be a king
*Con 702 thanks n. Warwick
*Con 715 grieve not n. uncle, but be thou glad *Con 728 my staff, ay [Q2 yea] n. Henry, my life and all
*Con 730 as erst [Q3 ere] thy n. father made it mine
*Con 788 sweet Nell, ill can thy n. mind abrook, the *Con 854 then is he gone, is n. Gloster gone
*Con 1152 and n. stock was graft with crab-tree slip
*Con 1153 and never of the Nevil's n. race
*Con 1614 then n. countrymen, hear me but speak
*Con 1689 had the n. Duke of Suffolk been alive
*Con 1835 long live my n. lord, and sovereign king
*Con 1847 yes n. father, if our words will serve
*Con 1897 n. lord, five horse this day slain under me
*Con 1957 see n. father, where they both do come
*2H6 182 did bear him like a n. gentleman
*2H6 466 for my part, n. lords, I care not which *2H6 887 n. she is : but if she have forgot honour and *2H6 1020 my staff ? here, n. Henry, is my staff
*2H6 1104 ill can thy n. mind abrook the abject people, gazing
*2H6 1534 then, n. York, take thou this task in hand
*2H6 1617 I'll call him presently, my n. lord
*2H6 1623 that faultless may condemn a n. man
*2H6 1667 and all to have the n. duke alive
*2H6 1816 and n. stock was graft with crab-tree slip
*2H6 1818 whose fruit thou art, and never of the Nevil's n. race
*2H6 2968 ay n. father, if our words will serve
*2H6 3055 how now my n. lord ? what all a-foot ?
*2H6 3147 my n. father
*2H6 3154 but n. as he is, look where he comes
*TT 251 then n. father resolve yourself
*TT 501 how doth my n. brother Richard fare ?
*TT 525 looker-on, whenas the n. Duke of York was slain
*TT 528 whenas the n. duke was put to flight
*TT 747 good father cheer these n. lords
*TT 857 thy n. father in the thickest throngs, cried
*TT 866 and so the n. Salisbury gave up the ghost
*TT 1115 the n. gentleman did lose his life
*TT 1526 where a n. heart hath pawn'd an open hand in *TT 1604 King Edward's n. mind his honours doth display
*TT 1848 come n. Somerset, let's take our horse, and *TT 1899 thy n. grandfather doth live again in thee
*TT 2109 thanks n. Clarence worthy brother thanks
*3H6 341 let n. Warwick, Cobham, and the rest
*3H6 650 whenas the n. Duke of York was slain
*3H6 890 my royal father, cheer these n. lords
*3H6 1012 the n. gentleman gave up the ghost
*3H6 1655 now therefore be it known to n. Lewis, that

*3H6 1835 my n. queen, let former grudges pass
*3H6 1878 this n. queen and prince, shall follow with *3H6 2072 where a n. heart hath pawn'd an open hand
*3H6 2976 thank [? thanks] n. Clarence, worthy brother thanks
*E3 1454 so be thy n. unrelenting heart wall'd in
*E3 1619 towards Poitiers, n. father, and his sons
*E3 2101 engag'd his word, writ down his n. hand
*E3 2113 and bid the king prepare a n. grave to
*E3 2267 ah, n. prince, take pity on this town
1T 438 nor thee nor them, thrice-n. Tamburlaine *2H6 1480 thrice-n. Suffolk, 'tis resolutely spoke
*E3 798 thrice-n. Audley, well encounter'd here
E2 72 the king, and the ns., from the parliament
E2 584 and, when the commons and the ns. join
E2 634 my lord, bespeak these ns. fair
E2 724 which of the ns. dost thou mean to serve ?
E2 1234 and drives his ns. to these exigents for E2 1515 away, base upstart ! brav'st thou ns. thus ?
E2 1664 how hard the ns., how unkind the king
E2 1694 that England's queen and ns. in distress
E2 2019 my ns. rule ; I bear the name of king
*1H6 417 good God, these ns. should such stomachs bear
*1H6 1431 for then young Henry with his ns. lie
*1H6 2592 thou nor thy ns., to the crown of England
*2H6 491 and all the peers and ns. of the realm have *2H6 1557 well, ns., well : 'tis politicly done, to L 273 whose tongue could tune the people to the ns.' mind
*1H6 2441 'tis true, I gave a n. to the priest

Noble : see Ignoble

Noble-born.
E2 375 you that be [1612, 1622, are] n. should pity him

Nobleman.
E2 574 and fear to offend the meanest n.
E2 759 or making low legs to a n.
MP 261 to hurt the n. his [Old ed. their] sovereign loves
D 343 like Ilioneus speaks this n.
*Con 1624 there shall not a n. wear a head on his shoulders
*3H6 2102 but say, I pray, what n. is that Noblemen.

1T 21 I refer me to my n., that know my wit
1T 110 the plot is laid by Persian n.
1T 2321 environed with troops of n.
1F 980 Faustus is feasted 'mongst his n.
MP 212 n., only corrupted in religion
MP 804 how many n. have lost their lives
D 1573 and all thy needy followers n. ?
*2H6 1789 then you belike suspect these n.

Noble-minded.
*Loc 914 when he beheld his n. son slain
*1H6 1919 had now entrapp'd the n. Talbot

Nobleness.
*Loc 1930 ah, Locrine, honour'd for thy n.

Noblest.
*Sel 1910 that feedest on the souls of n. men
*Loc 1275 compass'd with princes of the n. blood
*HLC 1765 the n., fairest, and the richest maid

Noblest-born.
*HLC 1990 even the daintiest piece, and n. dame should Nobly.

1T 249 n. resolv'd, sweet friends and followers !
1T 832 n. resolv'd, my good Ortygius
2T 2280 magnanimity that n. must admit necessity
*2H6 996 you madam, for you are more n. born
*2H6 3063 then n. York, 'tis for a crown thou fight'st

Nobly : see Ignobly

Nobody.
1F 788 wounding myself when I had n. to fight withal
1F 923 here's n., if it like your Holiness
JM 1678 I have done 't : but n. knows it but you two *2H6 2461 trust n. for fear you be betray'd
*TT 916 ill blows the wind that profits n.
*3H6 1116 ill blows the wind that profits n.

Nocere.
E2 2403 major sum quam cui possit fortuna n

Noctem.
Ov 620 amica n. negebat

Noctis.
1F 1556 O lente, lente currite, n. equi !
2F 2087 O lente, lente currite, n. equi !

Noctivagi.
Ept 1 N. terror, ganeonis triste flagellum

Nod.
JM 1720 not a wise word ; only gave me a n.
L 142 though every blast it n., and seem to fall
*2H6 1118 and n. their heads, and throw their eyes on thee
E2 231 he ns., and scorns, and smiles at those that pass
*2H6 2584 nay, he ns. at us, as who should say, I'll be even with you Noddest.

*Con 1618 nay thou n. thy head, as who say [So Q1 Q2]
*Con 1618 nay thou n. thy head at us, as who wouldst say [So Q3]

Nodding.
E2 989 n. and shaking of thy spangled crest
Ov 1034 I saw your n. eyebrows much to speak

'Noint : see Anoint

Noise.
*Loc 4 with hideous n. scaring the trembling trees
*Loc 97 scareth the ghosts with high-resounding n.
*Loc 263 that did enchant the waters with his n.
*Loc 576 what n., what sudden clamour's this? How now !
*Loc 635 tell me, you villains, why you make this n.
*Loc 725 in a great mountain heap'd, with hideous n.
*Loc 1266 but stay ; methinks I hear some shrieking n.
*Loc 1780 trembleth and quaketh with a mighty n.
1F 1539 and what n. soever ye hear, come not unto me
2F 1293 and, with a solemn n. of trumpets' sound 2F 2022 and what n. soever you hear, come not E2 611 and with the n. turns up my giddy brain
E2 943 what n. is this ? who have we there ? is 't you ?
D 487 frighted with this confusèd n., I rose
HLM 729 at which celestial n. the longing heart of Hero
*HLC 2049 in n. of that sweet hail her [Old eds. their] cries were *HLC 2257 air felt continual thunder with the n.
*HLC 2350 Neptune, who, through all the n., knew
Ov 267 and opening doors with creaking n. abound ?
Ov 1727 to get the door with little n. unbarr'd
L 239 with confusèd n. of trumpets' clang
L 577 and with what n. an armèd battle joins
*Epg 152 thou with a harsh n. the air dost rudely break [So eds.]
*1H6 344 what n. is this ? what traitors have we here ?
*1H6 517 whence cometh this alarum, and the n. ?
*1H6 602 if any n. or soldier you perceive
*2H6 736 what means this n. ?
*2H6 1839 what n. is this ?
*2H6 2631 what n. is this I hear ?
*3H6 1318 the n. of thy cross-bow will scare the herd
*E3 1168 the hideous n. was such, as each to other seemed

*E3 2402 the cannons, that, with trembling n., did shake the very mountain

Noisome.

1T 2048 than n. parbreak of the Stygian snakes
L 650 if cold n. Saturn were now exalted, and *1H6 552 so bees with smoke, and doves with n. stench, are Nolite.

E2 2344 Edwardum occidere n., timere bonum est
E2 2347 Edwardum occidere n., timere bonum est
E2 2468 Edwardum occidere n. timere, that's his meaning

Nominate.

*Con 571 but suddenly to n. them all, it is impossible
*2H6 824 but suddenly to n. them all, it is impossible

Nomine.

1F 1063 O n. Domini, what meanest thou

Nonce.

E2 2467 Gurney, it was left unpointed for the n.
D 206 and suit themselves in purple for the n.
*1H6 805 this is a riddling merchant for the n.

None.

*Sel 13 arbiter here's n., that may descry the cause
*Sel 955 then n. but Selimus our help shall have *Sel 963 such news, or n. will come to Bajazet
*Sel 1729 so this is well : for I am n. of those that
*Sel 1845 that n. should cause my death but mine own son
*Sel 2202 till n. remain of Ottoman's fair race
*Sel 2364 n. but my queen is overseer there
*Sel 2458 the quarrel toucheth n. but thee and me
*Sel 2520 now I am king alone, and n. but I
*Loc 426 n. must be king but Humber and his son
*Loc 429 bay, that decketh n. but noble conquerors
*Loc 731 let n. of them escape with victory
*Loc 1054 is it you that will have n. of me ?
*Loc 1060 if you will have n. of me, farewell
*Loc 1065 you will have n. of me ?
*Loc 1290 what said I, few ? ay, few or n. at all
*Loc 1562 that n. may say, when I have lost my breath
*Loc 1602 n. but death can match our matchless power
*Loc 1608 but n. may more bewail his mournful hearse 1T 709 and n. shall keep the crown but Tamburlaine
1T 841 that flame that n. can quench but blood and empery 1T 1322 here, madam, you are empress ; she is n.
1T 1759 but n. save kings must feed with these 2T 226 she lies so close that n. can find her out
2T 1071 few or n. shall perish by their shot 2T 1999 he is God alone, and n. but he 1F 413 take your gridirons again ; — Truly, I'll n. of them
1F 741 there's n. but I have interest in the same
1F 1091 how that n. in my empire nor in the whole world can 1F 1294 I have n. about me : come to my ostry, and 1F 1462 and n. but thou shalt be my paramour !
2F 381 here, take your guilders again ; [again not in 1616, but in 1624, 1631, and Dyce]. I'll n. of 'em
2F 663 there's n. but I have interest in the same
2F 723 wounding myself when I could get n. to fight withal 2F 985 and therefore n. of his decrees can stand
2F 1921 and n. but thou shalt be my paramour !
*FB 3 I liv'd a life the like did n. before
*FB 64 but faith was gone, and n. could comfort me
*JMD 8 there is n. more able to tax ignorance
*JMD 10 n. can claim more power or privilege than yourself
*JMS 4 and in that age thought second unto n.
*JMS 35 and, if n. here gainsay it, the part he hath JM 459 a nunnery, where n. but their own sect must enter in JM 840 and few or n. scape but by being purg'd
JM 913 be mov'd at nothing, see thou pity n.
JM 1135 and now, save Pilia-Borza, comes there n.
JM 1622 to fast and be well whipt ? I'll n. of that JM 1634 no, n. can hear him, cry he ne'er so loud
JM 1738 I'll be n. of his followers in haste
JM 1941 nay, I'll have all or none
JM 1950 what wouldst thou do, if he should send thee n. ?
JM 2076 for n. of this can prejudice my life
JM 2348 whence n. can possibly escape alive
E2 19 my knee shall bow to n. but to the king
E2 233 all stomach him, but n. dare speak a word
E2 373 n. but rude and savage-minded men would E2 504 there's n. here but would run his horse to death
E2 526 then thus ; — but n. shall hear it but ourselves
E2 564 and n. so much as blame the murderer [1612, 1622, murther]
E2 773 I am n. of these common pedants, I
E2 867 will n. of you salute my Gaveston
E2 1097 n. be so hardy as to [1598, 1612, omit to] touch the king
E2 1113 heavens can witness, I love n. but you
E2 1161 whose eyes are fix'd on n. but Gaveston
E2 1898 if n. but we do wot of your abode
E2 1963 for friends hath Edward n. but these E2 2072 and in this torment comfort find I n.
E2 2188 and n. but we know where he lieth
E2 2360 ay, ay ; and n. shall know which way he died
E2 2374 nay, you shall pardon me ; n. shall know my tricks
E2 2400 shall rule the realm, the king ; and n. rule us
E2 2413 n. comes : sound, trumpets !
E2 2442 and n. of both them [1612, then] thirst for Edmund's blood E2 2585 all tremble at my name, and I fear n.
MP 112 yet understood by n.
MP 280 I am disguis'd, and n. knows who I am
MP 339 let n. escape ! murder the Huguenots !
MP 541 Tuez, tuez, tuez ! let n. escape
MP 647 flourish in France, and n. deny the same
MP 772 I know n. else but holds them in disgrace
MPF 3 though you take out n. but your own treasure
D 342 for n. of these can be our general
D 708 but tell them, n. shall gaze on him but I
D 783 but speak, Aeneas ; know you n. of these ?
D 788 yet n. obtain'd me : I am free from all
D 1171 and n. but base Aeneas will abide
D 1519 then let me go ; farewell [n.] : I must from hence
D 1699 n. in the world shall have my love but thou
D 1700 so, leave me now ; let n. approach this place
HLM 59 n. for whom succeeding times make [V. R. may] greater moan
HLM 101 such as had n. at all, came lovers home
HLM 141 so fair a church as this had Venus n.
HLM 254 when you fleet hence, can be bequeath'd to n.
HLM 629 O, n. but gods have power [n. have power but gods] their love to hide !
HLM 787 whose fruit n. rightly can describe
*HLC 924 corn that grows on cottages, that n. nor reaps or sows
*HLC 1208 yielding to one another, yield to n.
*HLC 1559 seem a maid, though she be n.
*HLC 1747 and n. is held, without the other, fair

*HLC 2438 as n. (so little) like them
Ov 12 we are the Muses' prophets, n. of thine
Ov 44 or lies he close, and shoots where n. can spy him?
Ov 387 and why shouldst not please? n. thy face exceeds Ov 405 fair women play: she's chaste whom n. will have Ov 678 who can endure, save him with whom n. lies?
Ov 1044 n. such the sister gives her [ed. C, the] brother grave
Ov 1127 the seventh day came; n. following mightst thou see Ov 1176 worthy to kemb [ed. B, keemb] n. but a goddess fair Ov 1274 let such as be mine enemies have n.
Ov 1497 but absent is my fire: lies I'll tell n.
Ov 1619 cruel is he that loves whom n. protect Ov 1879 and I would be n. of the gods severe
Ov 1936 thee I have pass'd, and knew thy stream n. such Ov 1987 to stay thy tresses white veil hast thou n.?
L 259 thus sighing whisper'd they, and n. durst speak
L 353 this spoke, n. answer'd, but a murmuring buzz
L 505 n. linger'd, as loath to leave Rome
*Epg 173 as n. at all can perfect passage find *Epg 292 Sylla, if n. but beggars valiant were *Epg 399 yet would I use n. of these terms before
*Epg 405 fictions, hurtful unto n. but to himself
*1H6 36 n. do you like, but an effeminate prince
*1H6 52 and n. but women left to wail the dead
*1H6 124 hundreds he sent to hell, and n. durst stand him
*1H6 149 his ransom there is n. but I shall pay
*1H6 193 remaineth n. but mad-brain'd Salisbury
*1H6 211 for n. but Samsons and Goliases it sendeth forth
*1H6 341 there's n. protector of the realm, but I *1H6 350 that thou nor n. of thine shall be let in *1H6 466 n. durst come near, for fear of sudden death
*1H6 503 heaven be thou gracious to n. alive, if *1H6 564 for n. would strike a stroke in his revenge
*1H6 1195 inferior to n., but to his majesty
*1H6 1583 esteem n. friends, but such as are his friends
*1H6 1584 and n. your foes, but such as shall pretend *1H6 1696 the quarrel toucheth n. but us alone *1H6 2050 tend'ring my ruin, and assail'd of n.
*1H6 2491 you are deceiv'd, my child is n. of his *1H6 2664 approves her fit for n., but for a king *1H6 2673 that Margaret shall be queen, and n. but she *Con 81 undoing all, as n. had ne'er been done
*Con 177 and God I pray, it do betide no [Q3 n.] ill
*Con 868 that n. so humble as Duke Humphrey was *Con 973 for who's a traitor, Gloster he is n.
*Con 1054 n. then can stop the light to England's crown
*Con 1292 so bad an end did never n. behold
*2H6 191 excepting n. but good Duke Humphrey
*2H6 329 we are alone, here's n. but thee, and I
*2H6 636 true madam, n. at all: what call you this?
*2H6 1186 all comfort go with thee, for n. abides with me
*2H6 1435 say, who's a traitor? Gloster he is n.
*2H6 1445 believe me lords, were n. more wise than I
*2H6 2379 spare n., but such as go in clouted shoon
*TT 249 Henry is n. but doth usurp your right
*TT 908 and n. doth know to whom the day will fall
*TT 1404 had he n. else to make a stale but me?
*TT 1405 then n. but I shall turn his jest to sorrow
*3H6 308 Henry had n., but did usurp the place
*3H6 1902 had he n. else to make a stale but me?
*3H6 1903 then n. but I, shall turn his jest to sorrow
*E3 136 hast thou n. to grieve but silly ladies, with
*E3 491 out with the moon-line, I will n. of it
*E3 814 till after dinner, n. should interrupt him
*E3 827 well, all but one is n.
*E3 1497 your manage may be second unto n.
*E3 1557 for n. of you can tell whether a
*E3 1845 and comfort have we n., save that to die
*E3 2301 is held in reputation n. of ours

Nones.
JM 129 Obed in Bairseth, N. in Portugal

Nonpareille.
*E3 1186 much did the N., that brave ship

Non-plus.
JM 1722 being driven to a n. at the critical aspect of Nook.

E2 367 so I may have some n. or corner left
MP 149 ay, but, Navarre [Old eds. Nacarre, Nacarre], — 'tis but a n. of France
L 397 they by Lemannus' n. forsook their tents
1T 2049 which fill the ns. of hell with standing air

Noon.
Ov 868 and call the sun's white horses back [Old eds. blacke] at n.
*E3 483 my love shall brave the eye of heaven at n.
*E3 2037 and made at n. a night unnatural

Noon-day.
L 535 run their course through empty night, at n. muster'd
*Epg 308 dares man a whore at n. through the street

Noon-tide.
*TT 357 and made an evening at the n. prick
*3H6 453 and made an evening at the n. prick

Noose.
JM 1640 off with your girdle: make a handsome n.

Norfolk.
*TT 29 thanks gentle N.
*TT 151 powers of Essex, Suffolk, N., and of [Q3 omits] Kent
*TT 197 and I'll to N. with my followers
*TT 257 thou cousin Montague, shalt to N. straight
*TT 604 Lord George your brother, N., and myself
*TT 645 now if the help of N. and myself can
*TT 668 the Duke of N. sends you word by me
*TT 1712 in Essex, Suffolk, N., and in Kent, stir up the *3H6 31 thanks gentle N., stay by me my lords
*3H6 163 of Essex, N., Suffolk, nor of Kent
*3H6 215 and I to N. with my followers
*3H6 321 thou Richard shalt to the Duke of N.
*3H6 741 Lord George, your brother, N., and myself
*3H6 745 where is the Duke of N., gentle Warwick?
*3H6 781 now, if the help of N., and myself, with *3H6 809 the Duke of N. sends you word by me
*3H6 2437 shalt stir up in Suffolk, N., and in Kent

Normandy.
E2 812 the king of France sets foot in N.
E2 1373 hath seizèd N. into his hands
*Con 121 won, in Ireland, N., and in France
*Con 1615 I sold not France, I lost not [Q3 nor lost I] N.
*2H6 85 receiv'd deep scars in France and N.
*2H6 112 these counties were the keys of N.
*2H6 216 the state of N. stands on a tickle point
*2H6 2520 for giving up of N. to Monsieur Basimecu
*2H6 2556 I sold not Maine, I lost not N.
*TT 282 indeed, many battles have I won in N.
*E3 1107 my eldest son, the Duke of N.
*E3 1656 a passport of Charles the Duke of N.
*E3 1858 his son, the braving Duke of N., hath
*E3 1931 the Duke of N., my lord and master

*E3 2068 my Lord of N., I have your pass
*E3 2194 and you, high-vaunting Charles of N., that Normans.
*2H6 2139 the false revolting N. thorough thee, disdain to Norris.
*Epg 466 but that they do victorious N. fear North.
*Loc 229 take thou the N. for thy dominion
*Loc 1031 two as stout fellows of us, as any in all the N.
1T (Title) sold at the little n. door of Saint Paul's Church
2T 1766 the Euxine sea, n. to Natolia
2T 1767 the Caspian, n. north-east
E2 110 Lord Percy of the N., being highly mov'd E2 363 and you, Lord Warwick, President of the N.
MP (Title) dwelling near the little n. door of Saint Paul's Church
L 53 but neither choose the n. t' erect thy seat
L 302 see how they quit our bloodshed in the n.
L 408 but the n. alone turmoils the coast
L 525 unknown stars were seen wandering about the n.
*Epg 209 the rising in the n., the frost so great
*1H6 484 I think at the N. gate, for there stands lords
*1H6 1033 the Percies of the N., finding the *1H6 2225 under the lordly monarch of the n.
*Con 527 at Berwick sir [Q3 please your majesty], in the n.
*Con 1901 the bonniest grey that ere was bred in n.
*2H6 761 at Berwick in the n., and 't like your grace
*TT 2 whilst we pursu'd the horsemen of the n.
*3H6 2 while we pursu'd the horsemen of the n.
*E3 180 how much they will deride us in the n.
*E3 1001 Warwick, I make thee Warden of the N.
*E3 2320 is this the proud presumptuous squire o' the n.
Northampton.
*3H6 2440 in Buckingham, N., and in Leicestershire
Northamptonshire.
*TT 1715 in Leicestershire, Buckingham, and N.
North-east.
2T 1767 the Caspian, north n.
*E3 248 turn'd hence again the blasting n. wind Northern.
*Sel 22 from the South-pole unto the N. Bear's 2T 25 the shortest n. parallel
2T 2219 then, by the n. part of Africa
E2 982 the n. borderers, seeing their houses burnt
L 454 doubtless these n. men, whom death, the L 479 brought from out their n. parts
L 532 and, from the n. climate snatching fire, blasted the *Epg 155 much like the burden of a n. song
*Con 1889 proud n. lord, Clifford of Cumberland
*2H6 3053 proud n. lord, Clifford of Cumberland
*TT 215 the n. lords that have forsworn thy colours
*TT 229 for Clifford and those n. lords be gone
*3H6 260 the n. lords, that have forsworn thy colours
*3H6 333 with all the n. earls and lords
*E3 2322 I am, my lord, a n. squire, indeed Northumberland.
*TT 4 whereat the great Lord of N., whose
*TT 49 Earl of N., he slew thy father
*TT 269 with the Earls of Cumberland, N. and Westmoreland
*TT 350 come bloody Clifford, rough N.
*TT 375 wrath makes him deaf [Q1 death], speak thou N.
*TT 388 brave warriors, Clifford and N.
*TT 491 what weeping-ripe, my Lord N. ?
*TT 636 with Clifford, and the haught N.
*TT 776 N., N., we hold thee reverently *3H6 4 whereat the great Lord of N., whose *3H6 54 Earl of N., he slew thy father
*3H6 446 come bloody Clifford, rough N.
*3H6 472 wrath makes him deaf ; speak thou N.
*3H6 485 brave warriors, Clifford and N.
*3H6 594 what, weeping-ripe, my Lord N. ?
*3H6 772 with Clifford, and the haught N.
*3H6 922 N., I hold thee reverently
*3H6 605 from Clifford's and N.'s pursuit ?
*TT 2087 and two Ns., two braver men ne'er
*3H6 2954 and two Ns. : two braver men, ne'er spurr'd Northward.
2T 47 marching from Cairon [Dyce, Cairo] n.
E2 129 and n. Gaveston [Dyce, Lancaster] hath many friends
North-west.
L 407 and where the n. wind nor zephyr rules not Nose.
*Loc 353 « as mine eye to my n. »
*Loc 801 O, what hath he done ? his n. bleeds
*Loc 1439 saw me come with my n. foremost
JM 915 O, brave, master, I worship your n. for this JM 1519 God-a-mercy, n. ! Come, let's begone
JM 1677 he's slain ; look how his brains drop out on 's n.
*Epg 274 she hath a dull dead eye, a saddle n.
*2H6 1635 rear up his body, wring him by the n.
*3H6 2360 but when the fox hath once got in his n.
Nosed.
JM 1208 the bravest, gravest, secret, subtle, bottle-n. knave
Nosegay.
E2 756 and smelling to a n. all the day
Nosterils.
2T 1672 and blow the morning from their n. [8vo and Dyce, nostrils]
Nostra.
1F 265 et per vota n., ipse nunc surgat
2F 252 et per vota n.
Nostrils.
1T 2089 let her horses from their n. breathe rebellious winds
2T 1672 and blow the morning from their n. [4to nosterils]
*2H6 1774 his hair uprear'd, his n. stretch'd with struggling Nostris.
1F 452 with quasi vestigiis n. insistere
2F 402 quasi vestigias nostras [Dyce, vestigiis n.] insistere
Note.
*Loc 549 he'll turn his n., and sing another tune
2T 2116 Tamburlaine (thy instrument and n. of majesty)
E2 1705 you have the n., have you not ?
*HLC 1657 in persons full of n., good deeds are done
*Con 1076 came he even now to sing a raven's n.
*2H6 1643 came he right now to sing a raven's n.
*E3 369 breathes from the wall an angel's n. from heaven of
*E3 1609 here is a n., my gracious lord, of those that
*E3 2211 have writ that n. of death in Audley's face ?
*Loc 879 to quicken with his vital ns. and tunes
*Loc 1171 come all of you, and with your shrieking ns.
*HLC 2177 and pricks his descant face full of false ns.
Ov 629 and thou, the wax, stuff'd full with ns. denying Ov 660 and birds send forth shrill ns. from every bough
Ov 1088 for long shrild trumpets let your ns. resounds
Ov 1100 or voice that how to change the wild ns. knew ?
*3H6 2245 at last, by ns. of household harmony, they 1T 1163 n. the presumption of this Scythian slave !

1T 1980 shall give the world to n., for all my birth, that 2T 1782 to n. me emperor of the three-fold world
JM 2411 now, Selim, n. the unhallow'd deeds of Jews
MP 217 yet will the wisest n. their proper griefs
*1H6 933 I'll n. you in my book of memory
*2H6 1230 first n., that he is near you in descent
*E3 17 but n. the rancour of rebellious minds
*Epg 237 he slyly looks [B, C, spies ; MS, ns.] who first his cap doth move Noted.

*Sel 1227 thou once wast n. for a quiet prince MP 208 n. through the world an action bloody

Nothing.

*Sel 106 and n. must be done without their will *Sel 365 and that's just n. : for, as I suppose
*Sel 368 where n. doth the wicked man affright
*Sel 370 then since in death n. shall to us fall
*Sel 398 what then ? why, Sinam, thou art n. worth
*Sel 1731 for n. is more hurtful to a prince
*Sel 1773 Grief, my lewd boat-swain, stirreth n. sure
*Loc 580 n., Sir, but that he will not take
*Loc 894 yet n. could dismay the forward prince
*Loc 1000 for n. can dismay my regal mind
*Loc 1001 which aims at n. but a golden crown
*Loc 1195 but dire revenge ; n. but Humber's fall
*Loc 1718 where n. reigns but falsehood and deceit
1T 1633 famous for n. but for theft and spoil
1T 1901 n. but fear and fatal steel, my lord
2T 768 n. prevails, for she is dead, my lord 2T 862 Tamburlaine came up of n.
2T 982 a wound is n., be it ne'er so deep
2T 999 'Tis [8vo this] n. — Give me a wound, father
2T 1603 n. but still thy husband ?
1F 26 n. so sweet as magic is to him
1F 63 who aims at n. but external trash
1F 164 will make thee vow to study n. else
1F 176 n., Cornelius. O, this cheers my soul !
1F 240 O, but I fear me n. can reclaim him !
1F 534 my senses are deceiv'd ; here's n. writ
1F 539 n., Faustus, but to delight thy mind withal
1F 763 talk of the devil, and n. else
1F 1012 drunk with ippocras in any tabern in Europe for n.
1F 1014 our Master Parson says that's n.
1F 1105 and n. answerable to the honour of your 1F 1137 i' faith, that's just n. at all
1F 1322 alas, madam, that's n. ! — Mephistophilis, be gone
1F 1540 come not unto me, for n. can rescue me
2F 25 n. so sweet as magic is to him
2F 60 who aims at n. but external trash
2F 156 will make thee vow to study n. else
2F 168 what shall we three want ? — N., Cornelius
2F 228 I fear me n. will reclaim him now
2F 482 my senses are deceiv'd ; here's n. writ
2F 487 n., Faustus, but to delight thy mind 2F 795 I thought you did not sneak up and down after her for n.
2F 1182 say n., Dick
2F 1302 gaping after the devil's governor, and can see n. !
2F 1386 oyster, and drink n. but salt water !
2F 1564 I had n. under me but a little straw
2F 1598 but say n. : see if she have forgotten me 2F 1663 as n. in the world could please me more 2F 1765 and do you remember n. of your leg ?
2F 1778 no, truly, sir ; I would make n. of you 2F 1783 for n., sir ; but methinks you 2F 1964 'tis but a surfeit, sir ; [Not in 1631] fear n.
2F 2023 come not unto me, for n. can rescue me
2F 2049 n., but vex thee more
2F 2071 but yet all these are n. ; thou shalt see
JM 136 and n. violent, oft have I heard tell, can be permanent
JM 305 of naught is n. made
JM 913 be mov'd at n., see thou pity none
JM 1060 n. but death shall part my love and me
JM 1961 do n. : but I know what I know
JM 2320 All fast. — Leave n. loose
JM 2335 there wanteth n. but the governor's pelf
E2 369 n. shall alter us ; we are resolv'd
E2 548 all that he speaks is n. ; we are resolv'd
E2 810 n. but Gaveston ! what means your grace ?
E2 1748 ah, n. grieves me, but my little boy is MP 392 and seen in n. but epitomes
MP 818 and although you take out n. but your own
D 310 but saving air, is n. here
D 316 rejoice that n. now is left of Priamus !
D 634 and n. interrupt thy quiet sleep
D 1028 nay, n. ; but Aeneas loves me not
D 1676 n. can bear me to him but a ship
HLM 261 maids are n., then, without the sweet society of men
HLM 523 he ask'd ; she gave ; and n. was denied
HLM 551 supposing n. else was to be done
HLM 560 n. saw that might delight him more
HLM 612 Fame, whose weight consists in n. but her name
HLM 638 and n. more than counsel lovers hate
*HLC 880 without preserve of virtue, n. lasts
*HLC 1045 and n. with her but a violent crew of *HLC 1106 cry, « Here 'tis ! » when that they vow is n. nigh
*HLC 1491 O lovely Hero, n. is thy sin
*HLC 1672 ah, n. doth the world with mischief fill
*HLC 1917 praise Hymen's valour much, n. bestown
*HLC 1967 is n. else but to produce to light
*HLC 2015 n. they spake, for 'twas esteem'd too plain
*HLC 2214 what made it n., gave it all the prize
Ov 312 she n. said ; pale fear her tongue had tied Ov 462 if he gives n., let him from thee wend
Ov 1623 n. I love that at all times avails me
Ov 1671 wilt n. do, why I should wish thy death ?
Ov 2152 Homer, without this, shall be n. worth
*LD 15 commend n., lest you discredit your
*LD 18 fit excellently, which is, to give n.
L 450 heavenly powers you know, or only know you n.
*Epg 182 compar'st thyself to n. but a dog
*1H6 175 I am left out ; for me n. remains
*1H6 247 be not amaz'd, there's n. hid from me
*1H6 1066 was n. less than bloody tyranny
*1H6 2019 by me they n. gain, and if I stay, 'tis but *1H6 2478 will n. turn your unrelenting hearts ?
*Con 28 and n. can make poor Margaret miserable, unless *Con 1234 for it is n. whilst thou standest here
*Con 1551 the pissing-conduit run n. but red wine
*Con 1570 and n. used but the score and the tally
*Con 1607 Kent, what of Kent ? — N. but bona, terra [Q2 terra bona]
*2H6 292 tut, this was n. but an argument
*2H6 725 talking of hawking ; n. else, my lord
*2H6 1145 nor stir at n., till the axe of death hang over thee
*2H6 2480 the pissing-conduit run n. but claret-wine
*2H6 2547 n. but this : 'tis bona terra. mala gens
*2H6 3112 n. so heavy as these woes of mine

*TT 1017 that n. sung to us but blood and death
*TT 1331 where having n., n. can he lose
*TT 1632 I crave n. but my dukedom
*TT 1826 of all my lands, is n. left me but my body's length
*3H6 1257 that n. sung but death, to us and ours
*3H6 1789 where having n., n. can he lose
*3H6 2237 subjects may challenge n. of their sovereigns *3H6 2358 why, and I challenge n. but my dukedom
*3H6 2631 of all my lands, is n. left me, but my body's length
*3H6 2739 and take his thanks, that yet hath n. else
*E3 144 such as dread n. but dishonour's blot
*E3 628 embrace her, this do I, and catch n. but myself
*E3 662 if n. but that loss may vantage you
*E3 1024 gape for n. else but change and alteration of *E3 1194 then rests there n., but, with present speed, to *E3 2159 our drums strike n. but discouragement

Nothing-pleasant.

*Loc 1714 since Locrine shuns my n. face

Notice.

*Sel 2281 to give them n. of our secrecies
*Epg 206 which in men's general n. doth remain
*1H6 1309 I'll by a sign give n. to our friends
*Con 456 the king shall have n. [Q2 a n.] of this thing
*2H6 1379 myself had n. of your conventicles
*2H6 1586 and given me n. of their villanies
*TT 1625 my lords we had n. of your coming

Notorious.

*Loc 1631 they will revenge this thy n. wrong
*HLC 1582 that shin'd about this spirit n.
Ov 518 in heaven was never more n. fable
*Epg 213 by these events, n. to the people, he *1H6 2493 Alençon that n. Machiavel ?
*E3 1377 is scandalous and most n. lies

Nottingham.

1F (Title) acted by the Right Honourable the Earl of N. his servants

Notus.

*HLC 2195 next, to the fenny N. course she holds

Notwithstanding.

Ov 2104 yet n., like one dead it lay
*2H6 1862 yet n. such a strait edict
*3H6 640 should n. join our lights together

Nought.

*Sel 118 should set the law of Nature all at n. !
*Sel 191 a sea, in which run n. but ambitious reaches
*Sel 460 n. but the Turkish sceptre can him please
*Sel 2234 and in a moment rent me all to n.
*Loc 1194 so, n. will satisfy your wandering ghost
*Loc 1411 where everything consumed is to n. ?
HLM 87 the barbarous Thracian soldier, mov'd with n.
Ov 434 and take heed lest he gets that love for n.
Ov 569 for beds ill-hir'd, we are indebted n.
Ov 863 pardon me, Jove ! thy weapons aid me n.
Ov 1453 but in the air let these words come to n.
*AT 50 kept his course, since n. could him dismay
*1H6 314 till by broad spreading, it disperse to n.
*1H6 399 n. rests for me, in this tumultuous strife, but *Con 186 tush my lord, this signifies n. but this
*Con 1010 what worse than n. [Q3 naught], then a shame take all
*2H6 1429 and can do n. but wail her darling's loss
*2H6 1521 what, worse than n. ? nay, then a shame take all
*2H6 1972 myself no joy in n., but that thou liv'st
*2H6 2836 this hand was made to handle n. but gold
*E3 316 whose habit rude, and manners blunt and plain, presageth n.
*E3 1477 now wants there n. but knighthood
*E3 1745 I will accept of n. but fire and sword
*E3 2161 the spirit of fear, that feareth n. but death

Noun.

*Con 1594 talks of a n. and a verb, and such abominable words
*2H6 2531 men about thee, that usually talk of a n. and a verb

Nourish.

*1H6 51 our isle be made a n. of salt tears
*Sel 239 n. the coals of thine ambitious fire
*Sel 775 to n. peace, from whence your riches spring
*Loc 1421 to n. Humber in this wilderness !
1T 1890 that never nourish'd [4to n.] thought against thy rule
2T 814 not need to n. any doubt 2T 1096 my veins, that there begin and n. every part *2H6 1564 whiles I in Ireland n. a mighty band
*E3 728 the sun, that withers hay, doth n. grass

Nourished.

*Sel 152 ate up the belly that first n. them
1T 1890 never n. [4to nourish] thought against thy rule
*HLC 1380 and by her lay her scrip that n. her
*HLC 2372 dear, for it n. her Leander's life
Ov 1630 so, having vex'd, she n. my warm fire
*3H6 231 or n. him, as I did with my blood

Nourishment.

1T 895 for want of n. to feed them both

Novel.

1T 790 and bid him battle for his n. crown ?

Novelties.

*Loc 461 what uncouth n. bring'st thou

Novelty.

1T 775 aught the world affords in greatest n.

Novice.

JM 533 and be a n. in your nunnery
JM 539 first let me as a n. learn to frame my solitary life
HLM 511 he, being a n., knew not what she meant

Now-a-days.

*Con 1385 thou shalt never see a lord wear a leathern apron n.

Nowhere.

*Loc 667 n. else but by your back-side ? Gate !
E2 306 for n. else the new earl is so safe
E2 418 for n. else seeks he felicity
*HLC 1251 thus my love's grace parts n., but Ov 1080 n. can they be taught but in the bed

Nox.

*Loc 797 N. cœci regina poli, furialis Erinnys

Nubia.

2T 447 and, conquering that, made haste to N.
2T 2215 from thence to N. near Borno-lake

Nubibus.

*2H6 2151 under the which is writ, Invitis n.

Nulla.

1F 69 et n. est in nobis veritas
2F 66 Si peccasse negamus, fallimur, et n. est in nobis veritas

Numa.

Ov 1557 Egeria with just N. had good sport

Numb.

*1H6 979 yet are these feet, whose strengthless stay is n.
*E3 1489 be n. my joints ! wax feeble both mine arms !

Numbed.
*Loc 28 my sinews shrink, my n. senses fail
E2 2516 my mind's distemper'd, and my body n.
L 196 and faintness n. his steps there on the brink
1T 1745 my joints ben. ; unless I eat, I die
L 248 they shook for fear, and cold ben. their limbs Number.
*Sel 58 a n. numberless, of big-boned Tartars
*Loc 472 yea, though they were in n. infinite
*Loc 1760 in such great n. come to Mercia ?
1T 560 suppose they be in n. infinite, yet
1T 1106 your men are valiant, but their n. few 1T 1619 the n. of your hosts united is, a
2T 404 in n. more than are the drops that fall when Boreas
2T 829 in n. yet sufficient to drink the river Nile or Euphrates 2T 1185 (in n. more than are the [8vo this] quivering leaves 2T 1210 tell me, viceroys, the n. of your men 2F 876 do watch [1624, 1631, and Dyce, match] the n. of the days
JM 722 small though the n. was that kept the town
D 428 seeing the n. of their men decreas'd HLM 261 one is no n.
*HLC 1359 stars did glide in n. after her with bloody beams
*HLC 1423 the strength of n. and proportion
*HLC 1968 the odd disparent n. they did choose
*HLC 1973 men therefore deem that equal n.
*HLC 1977 since an even n. you may disunite
*HLC 1981 since 'tis the first odd n. that doth rise
*HLC 1984 for one no n. is
*HLC 1985 the powerful race of n.
Ov 649 the n. two no good divining brings
*2H6 1523 and in the n., thee, that wishest shame
*E3 1040 the mightier that their n. is, the greater glory
*E3 1426 hearts answer the n. of your able hands
*E3 1503 our n. is far greater than our foes
*E3 1890 the n. would confound my memory
*E3 1966 how confident their strength and n. makes them !
JM 134 that's not our fault : alas, our n.'s few !
1T 1399 nay, could their ns. countervail the stars
2T 551 ns., more than infinite, of men
2T 1442 to gather greater ns. 'gainst our power
D 1134 thoughts, that register the ns. of my ruth Ov 24 Love [A, I] slack'd my Muse, and made my ns. [A, n.] soft
Ov 824 then shall Lucretius' lofty ns. die
Ov 1561 yet fit with shorter ns. the heroic sit Ov 1705 and by those ns. is thy first youth spent
*Con 509 make up no factious ns., but even in thine own person meet me
*2H6 711 make up no factious ns. for the matter
*TT 1520 the common people by ns. swarm to us
*3H6 2066 the common people by ns. swarm to us
*HLC 1982 rise from the two foremost ns.' unity
*2H6 421 to n. Ave-Maries on his beads Numbered.
2T 1219, 1225 and 1229 since last we n. to your majesty
*HLC 1399 their plied wits in n. silks might [V. R. must] sing Ov 1033 your faults on the spilt wine I n.
*Epg 319 amongst the poets Dacus n. is
*Epg 332 amongst [MS. amonge] the poets Dacus [A, omits] n. is *3H6 444 the sands are n., that makes up my life Numbereth.
*Sel 1029 but Corcut n. not my days as they Numbering.
*TT 629 n. our Ave-Maries with our beads ?
*3H6 765 n. our Ave-Maries with our beads ?
Numberless.
*Sel 58 a number n., of big-boned Tartars
*Loc 1237 where are thy soldiers, strong and n. ?
*E3 1259 fall n. upon the soldiers' pikes Numbing.
HLM 744 through [V. R. though] n. cold, all feeble, faint, and wan Numen.
*Loc 384 Regit omnia n.
1F 258 Valeat n. triplex Jehovae !
2F 245 Valeat n. triplex Jehovae !
Nummed.
Ov 1129 yet words in thy ben. palate rung
Nun.
*Loc 1828 and well would seem to make a vestal n.
JM 486 how ! as a n. ?
JM 538 well, daughter, we admit you for a n.
JM 576 Abigail, the rich Jew's daughter, become a n. !
JM 591 and strangely metamorphos'd [to a] n.
JM 741 they hop'd my daughter would ha' been a n.
JM 1259 to get me be admitted for a n.
JM 1284 what, Abigail become a n. again !
JM 1307 why, made mine Abigail a n.
JM 1467 and for his sake did I become a n.
HLM 51 so lovely-fair was Hero, Venus' n.
HLM 218 to whom you offer, and whose n. you are HLM 325 then shall you most resemble Venus' n.
Ov 575 that unto death did press the holy n.
Ov 2060 pure rose she, like a n. to sacrifice
JM 331 his house will harbour many ns.
JM 457 for there I left the governor placing ns.
JM 482 turn'd my house into a nunnery, and some ns. are there ?
JM 665 and 'bout this time the ns. begin to wake
JM 810 and made my house a place for ns. most chaste
JM 813 and yet I know the prayers of those ns.
JM 819 good Barabas, glance not at our holy ns.
JM 1235 have not the ns. fine sport with the friars now and then ?
JM 1400 I'll carry 't to the ns. with a powder
JM 1443 O brother, brother, all the ns. are sick
JM 1452 O, he is gone to see the other ns.
JM 1486 O brother, all the ns. are dead !
JM 1496 how sweet the bells ring, now the ns. are dead
JM 1510 for, now the ns. are dead, they 'll die with grief
JM 1959 I carried the broth that poisoned the ns.
JM 2030 by the same token that the ns. loved rice
JM 2049 poison'd his own daughter and the ns.
JM 2071 poisoned the ns. and his own daughter
Ov 2437 as is the use, the ns. in white [ed. C, in their white] veils clad
L 596 then, the ns. and their veil'd matron
Nunc.
*Loc 800 N. me fata vocant, hoc condam pectore ferrum
Nunneries.
JM 1363 they use to send their alms unto the n.
Nunnery.
JM 330 convert his mansion to a n.
JM 459 and of thy house they mean to make a n.
JM 482 they have turn'd my house into a n.
JM 514 we now are almost at the new-made n.

JM 519 this house and waters of this new-made n.
JM 528 house, which they have now turn'd to a n.
JM 533 and be a novice in your n.
JM 823 I'll have a saying to that n.
JM 1229 go to the new-made n., and inquire
JM 1287 art thou again got to the n. ?

Nuntia.

Ept 10 sic cum te n. Ditis vulneret exsanguis

Nuptial.

E2 2022 who spots my n. bed with infamy
MP 4 thus join'd in n. rites
MP 49 how they did storm at these your n. rites
*HLC 839 since n. honours he neglected
*HLC 1001 in which, with plain neglect of n. rites
*HLC 1736 Hymen, that now is god of n. rites
*HLC 1743 that there your n. contracts first were sign'd
*HLC 2009 for human race must join in n. life
*HLC 2025 when the n. song, that
*HLC 2033 that compass'd round the honour'd n. room
*HLC 2087 for torches to our n. grace !
*HLC 2118 let fair n. loves unfold your fruitless breasts
*HLC 2138 thus all the n. crew to joys depart
*HLC 2256 no miser's n. joys
*1H6 2653 must be companion of his n. bed
*TT 1259 to confirm that amity with n. knot
*3H6 1688 to confirm that amity with n. knot
*HLC 1007 the ns. are resolv'd with utmost power
*HLC 1682 and therefore not allow'd to amorous ns.
*HLC 1706 to these quick ns. enter'd suddenly
*HLC 1723 gave such estate to feasts and ns.
*HLC 1735 tale, that fitted well fair Hero and the ns.
*HLC 1763 so should best beauties, bound by ns., do
*HLC 1952 the ns. straight proceed, whiles all the *HLC 2247 many a bellowing herd, slain for the ns.

Nurse.

D 1312 go bid my n. take young Ascanius
D 1331 your n. is gone with young Ascanius
D 1387 n., I am weary ; will you carry me ?
D 1407 come, n.
Ov 453 and sister, n., and mother spare him not
*Epg 378 the mother and the n. of each disease *2H6 2336 the elder of them being put to n., was *E3 639 but, O thou world, great n. of flattery
*E3 1053 and lofty Poland, n. of hardy men

Nursed.

E2 2062 inhuman creatures, n. with tiger's milk

Nurser.

*1H6 2086 the most bloody n. of his harms

Nurseries.

E2 1890 philosophy that in our famous n. of arts

Nursery.

Ov 2282 Crete proud that Jove her n. maintain

Nurtured.

*2H6 302 presumptuous dame, ill-n. Eleanor

Nut.

*Loc 1076 you are a sweet n. ; the devil crack you 1F 1083 I'll get ns. and apples enow
Ov 1113 ns. were thy food, and poppy caus'd thee sleep

Nut-brown.

Ov 1010 and n. girls in doing have no fellow [Not in ed. A]

Nutibus.

Ov 118 Amicam, qua arte quibusve n. in caena

Nutrimented.

*Sel 1978 a good well-n. lad

Nymph.

D 1351 the water, which our poets term a n.
D 1354 the water is an element, no n.
HLM 222 a heavenly n. belov'd of human swains
HLM 538 to see how he his captive n. beguil'd
*HLC 1302 who was a n., but now transform'd a dove
*HLC 1643 a feast, at which appears the wild n. Teras
*HLC 1708 a n. that haunted the green Sestian groves
*HLC 1731 on which the pretty n. might [V. R. may] sit espied
*HLC 1932 a n. born high, made all of voice and fire
*HLC 1941 Hymen goes one, the n. another way
*HLC 2063 made the well-spoken n. take such a toy, that Ov 683 whither go'st thou, hateful n. ?
Ov 1959 when n. Neaera rapt thy looks, Scamander
*E3 850 unto the bosom of a heavenly n.
Ov 1555 to pray a mortal n.'s refusing lord to stay
*Loc 1792 and all the rabble of the woody ns.
*Loc 1970 you mountain ns. which in these deserts reign
E2 58 like sylvan [Old eds. Silvian] ns. my pages shall be clad
D 764 as sea-born ns. shall swarm about thy ships
D 1685 daughter unto the ns. Hesperides
HLM 119 even as when gaudy ns. pursue the chase
HLM 385 and to those stern ns. humbly made request
HLM 731 than ns. and shepherds when the timbrel rings
*HLC 1950 youths with him retir'd to fetch the ns.
Ov 1994 thou o'er a hundred ns. or more shalt reign
Ov 1995 for five-score ns. or more our floods contain
EPF 9 a thousand ns., whose ivory shine, enamelling the banks
*3H6 2446 or modest Dian, circled with her ns.
D 194 or one of chaste Diana's fellow-ns.
HLM 111 for like sea-ns'. inveigling harmony
Ov 1333 both to the sea-ns. and the sea-ns.' father
HLM 696 lest water-ns. should pull him from the brink

O

O.

*Sel 32 O who can take delight in kingly throne ?
*Sel 605 O Titan ! turn thy breathless coursers back
*Sel 1030 O how much dearer loves he me than they !
*Sel 1064 O how thou speakest ever like thyself !
*Sel 1219 O, that will serve to fill my father's purse !
*Sel 1277 O ! you dispensers of our hapless breath
*Sel 1381 O see, my lord, how fell ambition deceives
*Sel 1568 O ! here's Mustaffa's signet set thereto !
*Sel 1781 then O thou blind procurer of mischance
*Sel 1909 O hateful hellish snake of Tartary
*Sel 1968 O Lord help me, I shall be torn in pieces
*Sel 2122 O sir ! I love the fruit that treason brings
*Loc 20 O, what may long abide above this ground, in *Loc 325 O wit ! O pate ! O memory ! O hand ! O ink ! O paper !
*Loc 346 O, my sweet and pigsney, the fecundity of *Loc 554 O master cobler, you are far deceived in me
*Loc 561 O, Sir, you need not care for that
*Loc 587 O wife, I have spun a fair thread !
*Loc 655 « my loving wife, (O cruel strife !) »
*Loc 667 Gate ! O petty treason to my person
*Loc 668 Gate ! O how I am vexed in my choler !
*Loc 709 O horrible, terrible !
*Loc 755 O gods, O heavens, allot me but the place
*Loc 776 and last, (O that this last might so long last !)
*Loc 801 O, what hath he done ? his nose bleeds
*Loc 807 O sticks and stones, brickbats and bones. — Song
*Loc 809 O you cockatrices, and you bablatrices. — Song

*Loc 815 O colliers of Croydon, and rustics of Roydon. — Song
*Loc 821 O master, thieves, thieves, thieves !
*Loc 874 O that I had the Thracian Orpheus' harp
*Loc 878 O that I had Amphion's instrument
*Loc 972 O Fortune vile, unstable, fickle, frail !
*Loc 1080 O Codpiece, thou hast 'done thy master
*Loc 1178 O gods and stars ! damn'd be the gods and stars !
*Loc 1278 O life, the harbour of calamities !
*Loc 1279 O death, the haven of all miseries !
*Loc 1296 O soldiers, is there any misery to
*Loc 1302 O, hath she not a cause for to be sad ?
*Loc 1313 O, that sweet face, painted with nature's dye
*Loc 1329 O kingdom, object to all miseries !
*Loc 1330 O love, the extrem'st of all extremities !
*Loc 1476 O Jupiter, hast thou sent Mercury
*Loc 1479 O alas, Sir, you are deceived. I am not
*Loc 1487 dash out my brains ! O horrible ! terrible !
*Loc 1497 O supreme Jove, annihilate this thought !
*Loc 1530 O vita, misero longa, felici brevis !
*Loc 1541 O, what Danubius now may quench my thirst ?
*Loc 1682 O say me, page, tell me, where is the king ?
*Loc 1732 O no ; his death will more augment my woes
*Loc 1841 O fair Estrilda, we have lost the field
*Loc 1852 O lovely Estrild, now the chase begins
*Loc 1864 but, O you judges of the ninefold Styx
*Loc 1870 forget, O gods, this foul condemned fault !
*Loc 1890 O fickle Fortune ! O unstable world !
*Loc 1899 O no ; this sword that hath bereft his life
*Loc 1901 strengthen these hands, O mighty Jupiter !
1T 101 O, where is duty and allegiance now ?
1T 701 O gods, is this Tamburlaine the thief ?
1T 757 O, my lord, it is sweet and full of pomp !
1T 1364 O Mahomet ! O sleepy Mahomet !
1T 1365 O cursed Mahomet, that mak'st us thus the 1T 1680 O, let him alone
1T 1872 pity our plights ! O, pity poor Damascus !
1T 1888 O, then, for these, and such as we ourselves
1T 1891 pity, O, pity, sacred emperor, the prostrate 1T 1911 O, pity us !
1T 2040 O, wretches, beggars, slaves !
1T 2047 O life, more loathsome to my vexed thoughts [4to thought] 1T 2051 O dreary engines of my loathed sight
1T 2067 O poor Zabina ! O my queen, my queen !
1T 2082 O highest lamp of ever-living [4to everlasting] Jove
1T 2100 O Bajazeth, my husband and my lord !
1T 2101 O Bajazeth ! O Turk ! O emperor !
1T 2159 pardon my love ! O, pardon his contempt
1T 2235 O sight thrice-welcome to my joyful soul
2T 691 O just and dreadful punisher of sin
2T 701 live still, my lord ; O, let my sovereign live !
2T 1385 O cowardly boy ! fie, for shame !
2T 1464 O Samarcanda, where I breathèd first
2T 1528 O damnèd monster ! nay, a fiend of hell
2T 1696 O thou that sway'st the region under earth
2T 1747 O pity us, my lord, and save our honours !
2T 1749 O, merciless, infernal cruelty !
2T 2095 O, then, ye powers that sway eternal seats
2T 2270 O father, if the unrelenting ears of Death
1F 97 O, Faustus, lay that damned book aside
1F 176 nothing, Cornelius. O, this cheers my soul !
1F 240 O, but I fear me nothing can reclaim him !
1F 312 O, by aspiring pride and insolence
1F 326 O, Faustus, leave these frivolous demands
1F 443 O, I'll tickle the pretty wenches' plackets !
1F 448 O Lord ! I pray, sir, let Banio and Belcher go sleep
1F 462 O, something soundeth in mine ears
1F 472 O, they are means to bring thee unto heaven !
1F 528 O, what will not I do to obtain his soul ?
1F 645 O, thou art deceived
1F 742 O, who art thou that look'st so terrible ?
1F 745 O, Faustus, they are come to fetch away thy soul !
1F 781 O, my sweet gold !
1F 795 O, that there would come a famine through all the 1F 806 O, I come of a royal parentage !
1F 810 O, but my godmother, she was a jolly gentlewoman
1F 835 O, this feeds my soul !
1F 838 O, might I see hell, and return again 1F 983 O, this is admirable ! here I ha' stolen one of 1F 1019 O brave, Robin ! shall I have Nan Spit, and to 1F 1063 O, nomine Domini, what meanest thou
1F 1184 O, not so fast, sir ! there's no haste 1F 1231 O, yes, he will drink of all waters ; but 1F 1265 O, yonder is his snipper-snapper
1F 1288 O, my leg, my leg ! — Help, Mephistophilis !
1F 1291 O Lord, sir, let me go, and I'll give you 1F 1456 O, thou art fairer than the evening air
1F 1493 O, would I had never seen Wertenberg
1F 1507 O, he stays my tongue ! I would lift up my hands 1F 1529 O, what shall we do to save [Not in 1604] Faustus ?
1F 1556 O lente, lente currite, noctis equi !
1F 1559 O, I'll leap up to my God ! — Who pulls me down ?
1F 1563 yet will I call on him : O, spare me, Lucifer !
1F 1570 earth, gape ! O, no, it will not harbour me !
1F 1579 O God, if thou wilt not have mercy on my soul
1F 1585 O, no end is limited to damnèd souls !
1F 1597 O, it strikes, it strikes ! Now, body, turn to air 1F 1599 O soul, be chang'd into little water-drops
2F 78 O, what a world of profit and delight, of power 2F 94 O, Faustus, lay that damnèd book aside
2F 168 O, this cheers my soul !
2F 220 O Faustus ! then I fear that which I have long suspected
2F 296 O, by aspiring pride and insolence
2F 310 O, Faustus, leave these frivolous demands
2F 345 Boy ! O disgrace to my person ! zounds, boy in your face !
2F 398 a dog, or a cat, or a mouse, or a rat ! O, brave, Wagner !
2F 410 O, something soundeth in mine ear
2F 420 O, they are means to bring thee unto heaven !
2F 470 Faustus gives to thee his soul : O, there it stay'd !
2F 483 O, yes, I see it plain ; even here is writ, Homo 2F 660 O Christ, my Saviour, my Saviour help to 2F 664 O, what art thou that look'st so terribly ?
2F 667 O Faustus, they are come to fetch thy soul !
2F 707 O my sweet gold !
2F 712 O, that there would come a famine over all the world
2F 735 but my godmother, O, she was an ancient gentlewoman 2F 753 O, how this sight doth delight my soul !
2F 755 O, might I see hell, and return again safe 2F 774 keep further from me, O thou illiterate and unlearned hostler !
2F 806 O, brave ! I [So 1624, 1631. — Not in 1616] Prithee, let's to it presently 2F 1125 Nay, then, take that. — O, I am slain !
2F 1126 O, come and help to bear my body hence !
2F 1156 O, are you here ? I am glad I have found you

2F 1183 O per se, O;; Demogorgon;; Belcher, and Mephistophilis !
2F 1198 O, brave ! an ape ! I pray, sir, let me have the 2F 1218 Will not his grace consort the Emperor? — O, yes 2F 1319 O, pardon me ! my thoughts are so ravish'd with 2F 1335 O, wondrous sight !
2F 1346 the Emperor ! where? — O, zounds, my head !
2F 1355 O, say not so, sir ! the doctor has no skill
2F 1398 O, may these eyelids never close again
2F 1421 O, were that damned hell-hound but in place
2F 1432 O ! — Groan you, Master Doctor ?
2F 1503 O, help me, gentle friend !
2F 1508 O, misery ! How now, Benvolio !
2F 1511 my friends transformèd thus ! O, hellish spite !
2F 1553 O, joyful day ! now am I a made man for ever 2F 1561 O, what a cozening doctor was this !
2F 1573 O, help, help ! the villain hath murdered me
2F 1601 O, hostess, how do you ?
2F 1626 O, monstrous ! eat a whole load of hay !
2F 1644 O, brave doctor !
2F 1789 look you here, sir. — O, horrible !
2F 1842 O, gentle Faustus, leave this damnèd art
2F 1863 O, stay, good Faustus, stay thy desperate steps !
2F 1868 O friend, I feel thy words to comfort
2F 1915 O, thou art fairer than the evening's [Dyce, evening] air 2F 1950 O gentlemen !
2F 1956 O my dear Faustus, what imports this fear ?
2F 1971 O gentlemen, hear me [Not in 1616] with patience
2F 1975 O would I had never [1624, 1631, me'er] seen Wittenberg 2F 1982 in hell for ever, hell, O, hell, for ever !
2F 1987 O my God, I would weep ! but the devil draws in my tears
2F 1990 O, he stays my tongue !
2F 1994 O gentlemen, I gave them my soul for my cunning !
2F 1997 O, God forbid !
2F 2013 O, what may we do to save Faustus ?
2F 2033 O thou bewitching fiend, 'twas thy templation
2F 2042 O Faustus, if thou hadst given ear to me
2F 2047 O, what will all thy riches, pleasures, pomps
2F 2051 O, thou hast lost celestial happiness
2F 2073 O, I have seen enough to torture me !
2F 2078 O Faustus, now hast thou but one bare hour to live
2F 2087 O lente, lente currite, noctis equi !
2F 2090 O, I'll leap up to heaven ! — Who pulls me down ?
2F 2092 one drop of blood will save me : O my Christ !
2F 2094 yet will I call on him : O, spare me, Lucifer !
2F 2101 gape, earth ! O, no, it will not harbour me !
2F 2109 O, half the hour is past ! 'twill all be past anon
2F 2110 O, if my soul must suffer for my sin
2F 2117 O, Pythagoras ! metempsychosis, were that true
2F 2128 O soul, be chang'd into small water-drops
2F 2130 O, mercy, heaven ! look not so fierce on me !
2F 2133 I'll burn my books ! — O Mephistophilis !
2F 2139 O, help us, heaven ! [1624, 1634, heavens]
JM 102 O, they were going up to Sicily
JM 278 O my lord, we will give half !
JM 279 O earth-mettled villains, and no Hebrews born !
JM 325 and covetousness, O, 'tis a monstrous sin !
JM 370 O, yet be patient, gentle Barabas !
JM 371 O silly brethren, born to see this day
JM 427 O, what has made my lovely daughter sad ?
JM 618 O Thou, that with a fiery pillar ledd'st the JM 656 O my girl, my gold, my fortune, my felicity
JM 660 O Abigail, Abigail, that I had thee here too !
JM 663 O girl ! O gold ! O beauty ! O my bliss !
JM 780 O, sir, your father had my diamonds
JM 798 O my lord, we will not jar about the price
JM 915 O, brave, master ! I worship your nose for this
JM 961 O, Barabas, well met
JM 980 O father, Don Mathias is my love !
JM 999 O, heaven forbid I should have such a thought !
JM 1009 O treacherous Lodowick !
JM 1037 O, but I know your lordship would disdain to JM 1063 O wretched Abigail, what hast thee [Dyce, thou] done ?
JM 1068 O muse not at it; 'tis the Hebrews' guise
JM 1072 O, is 't the custom ? then I am resolv'd JM 1111 O, master, that I might have a hand in this !
JM 1155 O, the sweetest face that ever I beheld !
JM 1165 O, bravely fought ! and yet they thrust not home
JM 1173 O Lodowick, hadst thou perish'd by the Turk
JM 1177 O, leave to grieve me ! I am griev'd enough
JM 1178 O, that my sighs could turn to lively breath
JM 1203 O mistress ! ha, ha, ha !
JM 1205 O, my master !
JM 1207 O mistress, I have the bravest, gravest
JM 1211 O, my master has the bravest policy !
JM 1273 O, therefore, Jacomo, let me be one
JM 1279 O Barabas, though thou deservest hardly JM 1296 O Ithamore, come near
JM 1309 O unhappy day !
JM 1317 O master
JM 1325 O trusty Ithamore ! no servant, but my friend !
JM 1396 O my sweet Ithamore, go set it down
JM 1443 O brother, brother, all the nuns are sick
JM 1446 O, what a sad confession will there be !
JM 1452 O, he is gone to see the other nuns
JM 1472 O, monstrous villany !
JM 1486 O brother, all the nuns are dead !
JM 1532 O, speak not of her ! then I die with grief
JM 1546 O holy friars, the burden of my sins lie heavy
JM 1575 O good Barabas, come to our house !
JM 1576 O, no, good Barabas, come to our house !
JM 1580 O Barabas, their laws are strict !
JM 1606 O Jacomo, fail not, but come
JM 1638 O, how I long to see him shake his heels !
JM 1660 O happy hour, wherein I shall convert an infidel
JM 1861 O, that ten thousand nights were put in one
JM 1866 O, that wicked courtezan !
JM 1881 and, when he comes — O, that he were but here !
JM 1889 O, good words, sir, and send it you were best !
JM 1900 O, if that be all, I can pick ope your locks
JM 1919 O, that I should part with so much gold !
JM 1921 O, love stops my breath !
JM 1957 O, bravely done !
JM 2015 O rascal ! I change myself twice a-day
JM 2043 O, bring us to the governor !
JM 2058 I cannot out-run you constable — O, my belly !
JM 2148 O fatal day, to fall into the hands of JM 2161 O villain ! heaven will be reveng'd on thee
JM 2359 Say, will not this be brave ? — O, excellent !
JM 2388 O, help me, Selim ! help me, Christians !
JM 2428 O, monstrous treason !
E2 119 O, our heads !
E2 404 'tis true, sweet Gaveston : O, were it [1612, 1622, were it were it] false !
E2 424 O, might I keep thee here, as I do this !
E2 439 O, that we might as well return as go !
E2 466 O miserable and distressèd queen !

E2 497 O, never, Lancaster ! I am enjoin'd to sue
E2 513 O, Lancaster, let him dissuade the king !
E2 630 O, how a kiss revives poor Isabel !
E2 1099 O, tell me, Spenser, where is Gaveston ?
E2 1105 O, stay my lord ! they will not injure you
E2 1115 O, that mine arms could close this isle about
E2 1288 O treacherous Warwick, thus to wrong thy friend !
E2 1291 O, must this day be period of my life
E2 1432 O, shall I speak, or shall I sigh and die !
E2 1625 whither, O, whither dost thou bend thy steps ?
E2 1641 O my sweet heart, how do I moan thy wrongs
E2 1790 O, no, my lord ! this princely resolution
E2 1802 aims at thy life : O, fly him, then !
E2 1881 O, hadst thou ever been a king, thy heart
E2 1893 O, that I might this life in quiet lead !
E2 1913 O, might I never ope these eyes again
E2 1915 O, never more lift up this dying heart !
E2 1933 O day, the last of all my bliss on earth !
E2 1934 O my stars, why do you lour unkindly on a king?
E2 1972 O, is he gone ? is noble Edward gone ?
E2 2087 O, would I might ! but heavens and earth conspire
E2 2176 O, happy news ! send for the prince my son
E2 2294 O, water, gentle friends, to cool my thirst !
E2 2308 O, level all your looks upon these daring men
E2 2310 O Gaveston, it is for thee that I am wrong'd !
E2 2320 O gentle brother, help to rescue me !
E2 2332 O, miserable is that common-weal, where E2 2510 O villains !
E2 2518 O, would my blood dropp'd out from every vein
E2 2523 O, speak no more, my lord ! this breaks my heart
E2 2539 O, if thou harbour'st murder in thy heart
E2 2541 king : O, at that name I feel a hell of grief !
E2 2548 O, wherefore sitt'st thou here ?
E2 2553 O, let me not die yet ! O, stay a while ! [So Dyce and 1622]
E2 2553 O let me not die, yet stay, O stay a while [So in 1598, 1612]
E2 2563 O, spare me, or despatch me in a trice !
E2 2553 O, let me not die, yet stay, O, stay a while ! [So 2tos, 1598, 1612]
MP 123 Religion ! O Diabole !
MP 184 O, no, sweet Margaret ! the MP 188 O gracious God, what times are these !
MP 189 O, grant, sweet God, my days may MP 203 O, fatal was this marriage to us all !
MP 303 O, let me pray before I die !
MP 305 O God, forgive my sins !
MP 354 O, let me pray, before I take my death !
MP 356 O Christ, my Saviour !
MP 361 O, let me pray unto my God !
MP 377 O, let him go ; he is a Catholic
MP 385 O, good my lord, wherein hath MP 401 O, good my lord, let me but speak a word !
MP 488 O, no ! his body will infect the fire
MP 493 O, 't will corrupt the water, and MP 536 O Monsieur de Guise, hear me but speak !
MP 543 O, let me stay, and rest me here a while !
MP 546 O, say not so ! thou kill'st thy mother's heart
MP 550 O, no, my loving brother of Navarre
MP 555 O, hold me up ! my sight begins to fail
MP 559 O, no, his soul is fled from out his breast
MP 626 O Lord, mine ear !
MP 674 O, would to God, this quill that MP 683 O, no, my lord ; a woman only must MP 687 O, pardon me, my lord !
MP 701 O wicked sex, perjurèd and unjust !
MP 948 O, that his heart were leaping in my hand !
MP 1005 O, pardon me, my Lord of Guise
MP 1007 O my lord, I am one of them that MP 1022 O, I have my death's wound !
MP 1026 O, that I have not power to stay my life !
MP 1115 shed your blood ! O, Lord, no ! for me
MP 1130 O, what may I do for to revenge his death ?
MP 1148 O words of power to kill a thousand men !
MP 1156 O, my lord, I have been a great sinner in my days!
MP 1197 O, my lord, let him live a while !
MP 1240 O, that that damned villain were alive again !
MP 1246 O, the fatal poison works within my breast !
MP 1250 O, no, Navarre ! thou must be king of France
D 17 O, how could I with Helen's brother laugh
D 200 tell us, O, tell us, that are ignorant !
D 255 save, save, O, save our ships from cruel fire
D 298 O my Achates, Theban Niobe, who for her
D 308 O, where is Hecuba ? here she was wont to sit
D 311 O, yet this stone doth make Aeneas weep !
D 317 O, Priamus is left, and this is he !
D 324 O, were I not at all, so thou mightst be !
D 351 O Ilioneus, art thou yet alive ?
D 355 O, what destinies have brought my sweet companions in D 357 O, tell me, for I long to be resolv'd !
D 390 this place beseems me not ; O, pardon me !
D 401 O Priamus, O Troy, O Hecuba !
D 455 and then — O Dido, pardon me !
D 457 O, the enchanting words of that base slave
D 468 O, had it never enter'd, Troy had stood !
D 505 O Hector, who weeps not to hear thy name ?
D 535 O, let me live, great Neoptolemus ! »
D 539 O, end, Aeneas ! I can hear no more
D 566 O, there I lost my wife ! and had not we fought manfully
D 586 O, what became of agèd Hecuba ?
D 596 O, had that ticing strumpet ne'er been born !
D 672 O, stay, Iarbas, and I'll go with thee !
D 694 O Anna, didst thou know how sweet love were D 697 O, that Iarbas could but fancy me !
D 704 O sister, were you empress of the world
D 717 O dull-conceited Dido, that till now didst never D 729 O, here he comes !
D 803 O, happy shall he be whom Dido loves !
D 807 O, if I speak, I shall betray myself !
D 825 O, no ! God wot, I cannot watch my time
D 967 O, how these irksome labours now delight
D 977 O love ! O hate ! O cruel women's hearts
D 991 O God of heaven, turn the hand of fate
D 1002 and yet I am not free, — O, would I were !
D 1019 Aeneas, O Aeneas, quench these flames !
D 1103 hear, hear, O, hear Iarbas' plaining prayers
D 1133 O, leave me, leave me to my silent thoughts
D 1208 O Anna, run unto the water-side !
D 1212 O foolish Trojans, that would steal from hence
D 1224 O princely Dido, give me leave to speak !
D 1233 O false Aeneas ! now the sea is rough
D 1245 O, how a crown becomes Aeneas' head !
D 1251 O, keep them still, and let me gaze my fill !
D 1253 O, where is Ganymede, to hold his cup
D 1257 O, that the clouds were here wherein thou
D 1262 O Dido, patroness of all our lives
D 1301 O blessèd tempests that did drive him in !
D 1302 O happy sand that made him run aground !
D 1306 O, that I had a charm to keep the winds
D 1317 what if I sink his ships ? O, he will frown !

D 1346 O cursèd tree, hadst thou but wit or sense
D 1356 O Dido, blame not him, but break his oars !
D 1397 O, what mean I to have such foolish thoughts ?
D 1398 Foolish is love, a toy. — O sacred love !
D 1409 O, how unwise was I to say him nay !
D 1500 O, pardon me, if I resolve thee why !
D 1521 O, speak like my Aeneas, like my love !
D 1525 O, then, Aeneas, 'tis for grief of thee !
D 1529 O, thy lips have sworn to stay with Dido !
D 1534 O queen of Carthage, wert thou ugly-black
D 1540 O, no ! the gods weigh not what lovers do
D 1574 O, serpent, that came creeping from the shore
D 1603 O, Anna, my Aeneas is aboard
D 1621 O Dido, your little son Ascanius is gone !
D 1625 O cursèd hag and false dissembling wretch
D 1650 O Anna, Anna, I will follow him !
D 1657 O Anna, fetch Arion's [Old ed. Orions] harp
D 1663 O sister, sister, take away the rocks !
D 1664 O Proteus, Neptune, Jove, save, save Aeneas
D 1723 O, help, Iarbas ! Dido in these flames hath D 1731 O sweet Iarbas, Anna's sole delight !
HLM 137 on this feast-day, — O cursed day and hour !
HLM 211 O, shun me not, but hear me ere you go !
HLM 521 O, who can tell the greeting these greedy lovers had HLM 548 O, what god would not therewith be appeas'd ?
HLM 629 O, none but gods have power [V. R. have power but gods] their love to hide !
HLM 645 « O Hero, Hero ! » thus he cried full oft
HLM 676 « O, let me visit Hero ere I die ! »
HLM 703 O, that these tardy arms of mine were wings ! »
*HLC 1226 O goddess, pity love, and pardon it ! »
*HLC 1249 O blessed place, image of constancy !
*HLC 1258 O, see what wealth it yields me, nay, yields him !
*HLC 1393 O, what sweets forms fair ladies' souls do shroud
*HLC 1483 O virtuous love, that taught her to do best when *HLC 1491 O lovely Hero, nothing is thy sin
*HLC 1596 O, it spited fair Venus' heart to see her
*HLC 1794 O, what grief did fill him !
*HLC 1827 O, what a hell was heaven in !
*HLC 2076 O, come, soft rest of cares ! come, Night !
*HLC 2136 O hapless Hero ! that most hapless cloud
*HLC 2292 O sweet Leander, thy large worth I hide
*HLC 2342 O, true glass, to see how ruinous
*HLC 2389 O thievish Fates, to let blood, flesh, and sense
*HLC 2394 O heaven and earth, how most-most wretched is *HLC 2408 O my voice, turn to Leander !
*HLC 2411 O black change !
Ov 31 O. woe is me ! he never shoots buts hits
Ov 239 (O mischief !) now for me obtain small grace
Ov 279 O, harder than the doors thou guard'st I prove thee !
Ov 748 which some admiring, O, thou oft wilt blush !
Ov 879 heroes of [Old eds. O] great names, farewell !
Ov 976 O, how the burden irks, that we should shun !
Ov 1026 O, would my proofs as vain might be withstood !
Ov 1204 O Cupid, that dost never cease my smart
Ov 1205 O boy, that liest so slothful in my heart !
Ov 1302 O, would that no oars might in seas have sunk !
Ov 1370 O care-got triumph, hitherwards advance !
Ov 1466 O, would that suddenly into my gift I could Ov 1551 (O face, most cunning mine eyes to detain !)
Ov 1693 O, poet careless of thy argument ?
Ov 2004 « O would in my forefathers' tomb deep laid my Ov 2190 O, let him change goods so ill-got to dust !
Ov 2356 spare me, O, by our fellow bed, by all the gods
L 13 ay me ! O, what a world of land and sea might L 84 O Rome, thyself art cause of all these evils
L 87 O faintly-join'd friends, with ambition blind
L 201 O vestal flames ! O Rome, my soul's sole goddess
L 250 « O walls unfortunate, too near to France !
L 508 O gods, that easy grant men great estates
L 630 « O gods, I tremble to unfold what you intend !
L 648 O gods, what death prepare ye ?
L 654 O Phoebus, shouldst thou with rays now singe
L 669 O Rome, continue the course of mischief
L 692 O Phoebus, show me Neptune's shore
*Epg 55 O, had his tongue like to his feet been taught
Dia 5 O, but he gives her gay gold rings
*Epg 395 O, that [MS. if] I were one of these [MS. the] mountebanks *1H6 98 O whither shall we fly from this reproach ?
*1H6 109 O no : wherein Lord Talbot was o'erthrown
*1H6 146 O no, he lives, but is took prisoner
*1H6 453 but O, the treacherous Falstaff [? Fastolfe] wounds my heart
*1H6 488 O Lord have mercy on us, wretched sinners
*1H6 489 O Lord have mercy on me, woeful man
*1H6 567 O would I were to die with Salisbury
*1H6 1073 O uncle, would some part of my young years might *1H6 1639 O monstrous treachery
*1H6 1817 O negligent and heedless discipline
*1H6 1853 O God, that Somerset who in proud heart doth
*1H6 1859 O send some succour to the distress'd lord
*1H6 1929 O young John Talbot, I did send for thee to *1H6 1934 but O malignant and ill-boding stars
*1H6 1941 O, if you love my mother, dishonour not her
*1H6 1989 O twice my father, twice am I thy son
*1H6 2042 O, where's young Talbot ? where is valiant John ?
*1H6 2057 O my dear lord, lo where your son is borne
*1H6 2063 O thou whose wounds become hard-favour'd death
*1H6 2452 O burn her, burn her, hanging is too good
*Con 760 O Lord bless me, I pray God, for I am never able to *Con 775 O God I give thee praise
*Con 962 O ! thus King Henry casts away his crutch
*Con 1265 O let me stay, befall, what may befall
*Con 1481 O monstrous simplicity
*Con 1630 O captain, London-Bridge is a-fire
*Con 1795 O let me see that head that in his life, did
*Con 1813 O Buckingham see where Somerset comes
*Con 1920 O ! dismal sight, see where he breathless lies
*2H6 19 O Lord, that lends me life, lend me a heart
*2H6 96 O peers of England, shameful is this league
*2H6 277 O Nell, sweet Nell, if thou dost love thy lord
*2H6 581 O Lord have mercy upon me
*2H6 582 O Lord my heart
*2H6 784 How long hast thou been blind ? — O born so, master *2H6 829 O master, that you could ?
*2H6 848 O God, seest thou this, and bearest so long ?
*2H6 879 O God, what mischiefs work the wicked ones ?
*2H6 1064 O Lord bless me, I pray God, for I am never able to *2H6 1086 O God, have I overcome mine enemies in this presence ?
*2H6 1087 O Peter, thou hast prevail'd in right
*2H6 1739 O Thou that judgest all things, stay my thoughts

*2H6 2156 O that I were a God, to shoot forth thunder
*2H6 2197 O barbarous and bloody spectacle
*2H6 2210 O miserable age : virtue is not regarded in handycrafts-men
*2H6 2283 he can write and read, and cast accompt. — O monstrous
*2H6 2362 O gross and miserable ignorance
*2H6 2573 O monstrous coward ! What, to come behind folks ?
*2H6 2594 O let me live
*2H6 2619 presently. — O brave
*2H6 2805 O I am slain, famine and no other hath slain me
*2H6 2935 O monstrous traitor !
*2H6 2946 O blood-bespotted Neapolitan, outcast of Naples
*2H6 3081 O war, thou son of hell, whom angry heavens do
*2H6 3088 O let the vile world end
*TT 62 O know you not the city favours them
*TT 158 O Clifford, how thy words revive my soul
*TT 165 O Warwick, hear me speak
*TT 288 O tutor, look where bloody Clifford comes
*TT 474 O ten times more than tigers of Arcadia
*TT 526 O speak no more, for I can hear no more
*TT 909 O would my death might stay these civil [Q2 cruel] jars !
*TT 931 O monstrous times begetting such events
*TT 1743 O unbid spite, is spotful Edward come ?
*TT 1767 O cheerful colours, see where Oxford comes
*TT 2045 O God forgive my sins, and pardon thee
*TT 2060 O Jesus bless us, he is born with teeth
*3H6 704 O valiant lord, the Duke of York is slain
*3H6 705 O Warwick, Warwick, that Plantagenet which held thee
*3H6 907 are you there butcher ? O, I cannot speak
*3H6 1134 O piteous spectacle ! O bloody times !
*3H6 1149 O pity God, this miserable age !
*3H6 1153 O boy ! thy father gave thee life too soon
*3H6 1156 O that my death would stay these ruthful deeds
*3H6 1157 O pity, pity, gentle heaven pity
*3H6 1203 O Lancaster ! I fear thy overthrow *3H6 1210 O Phoebus ! hadst thou never given consent, that *3H6 1264 O would he did, and so (perhaps) he doth
*3H6 1365 O Margaret, thus 'twill be, and thou (poor soul) art
*3H6 1675 O, but impatience waiteth on true sorrow
*3H6 2105 O, is it so ? but why commands the king, that *3H6 2814 canst thou not speak ? O traitors, murtherers !
*3H6 2913 O God forgive my sins, and pardon thee
*3H6 2917 O may such purple tears be always shed from *3H6 2928 the women cried O Jesus bless us he is born with teeth
*E3 236 arm, my good lord ; O, we are all surpris'd !
*E3 243 O happy comfort, welcome to our house !
*E3 250 O summer's day ! see where my cousin comes
*E3 508 O monstrous fine ! put in the next a sword
*E3 567 O, were it painted, I would wipe it off
*E3 587 but that your lips were sacred, O my lord
*E3 620 O, that I were a honey-gathering bee
*E3 626 O that she were, as is the air, to me !
*E3 639 but, O thou world, great nurse of flattery
*E3 643 O, that a man might hold the heart's close book
*E3 685 O doting king ! O detestable office !
*E3 874 O, how his mother's face, moulded [Dent modell'd] in his
*E3 962 O perjur'd beauty ! more corrupted judge !
*E3 1132 O, father, how this echoing cannon-shot, like
*E3 1142 O, if it be the French ! — Sweet Fortune, turn
*E3 1502 O Lorraine, say, what mean our men to fly ?
*E3 1513 O hapless fortune !
*E3 1533 the prince, my lord, the prince ! O, succour him !
*E3 1568 O cruel father ! — farewell, Edward, then !
*E3 1570 O, would my life might ransom him from death !
*E3 1575 O joyful sight ! victorious Edward lives !
*E3 2137 O, for more arrows !
*E3 2172 O, that I were some-other-country man !
*E3 2217 O prince, thy sweet becoming [Ed. B, bemoaning] speech to me
*E3 2386 for there, my lord, O, there we did descry
*Sel 187 can it not be ? Oh yes, Cherseoli
*Sel 216 Oh forlorn hopes and hapless Bajazet !
*Sel 421 Oh ! yet, my lord, after your highness' death
*Sel 681 then, Oh thou blindful mistress of mishap
*Sel 966 from Acomat ? Oh let him enter in *Sel 1440 but oh thou Supreme Architect of all
*Sel 1448 Oh cruel heavens and injurious fates !
*Sel 1738 Oh ! th' are two wings wherewith I use to fly
*Sel 1955 my name, sir ? oh Lord, yes, and if
*Sel 1972 Oh, these are as a man should say beggars
*Loc 299 so not only, but also, (oh fine phrase !)
*Loc 307 Oh, but then I shall leave my sweetheart
*Loc 308 Oh my heart ! Now, pate, for thy master !
*Loc 1066 Oh my head, my head !
*Loc 1457 Oh no : the land where ugly Fames dwelt
*1H6 1005 Oh tell me when my lips do touch his cheeks
*1H6 1167 Oh, what a scandal is it to our crown
*1H6 1175 Oh my good lords, and virtuous Henry, pity the *1H6 1206 Oh, how this discord doth afflict my soul
*1H6 1242 Oh loving uncle, kind Duke of Gloster
*1H6 1350 Oh let no words, but deeds, revenge this treason
*1H6 1491 Oh turn thy edged sword another way
*1H6 1727 Oh think upon the conquest of my father
*1H6 2015 Oh, too much folly is it, well I wot, to hazard
*1H6 2089 Oh no forbear : for that which we have *1H6 2119 Oh were mine eye-balls into bullets turn'd
*1H6 2121 Oh, that I could but call these dead to life
*1H6 2232 Oh hold me not with silence over-long
*1H6 2256 Oh, Charles the dauphin is a proper man
*1H6 2265 Oh fairest beauty, do not fear, nor fly
*1H6 2279 Oh stay : I have no power to let her pass
*1H6 2411 Oh wert thou for myself : but Suffolk stay
*1H6 2495 Oh give me leave, I have deluded you
*1H6 2530 Oh Warwick, Warwick, I foresee with grief the *Con 20 Oh gracious God of heaven, lend me a heart
*Con 139 unto the Main, Oh father Maine is lost
*Con 254 Oh we are undone, this is the Duke of Suffolk
*Con 575 Oh master I would you could
*Con 719 Oh gracious Henry, give me leave a while, to *Con 1192 Oh Henry, reverse the doom of gentle Suffolk's banishment
*Con 1231 Oh let this kiss be printed in thy hand
*Con 1247 Oh what is worldly pomp, all men must die
*Con 1266 Oh mightst thou stay with safety of thy life, then
*Con 1276 Oh death, if thou wilt let me live but one whole year
*Con 1278 Oh see my Lord of Salisbury how he is troubled
*Con 1284 Oh see where Duke Humphrey's ghost doth stand
*Con 1290 Oh see he dies, and makes no sign at all *Con 1291 Oh God forgive his soul
*Con 1427 Oh captain a prize
*Con 1442 Oh he's [Q2 Q3 he has] confessed, go hang him with his

*Con 1520 Oh fly my lord, the rebels are entered Southwark
*Con 1736 Oh villain, thou hast slain the flower of Kent
*Con 1742 Oh sword I'll [Q2 I] honour thee for this *Con 1760 Oh how I hate these spiteful abject terms
*2H6 1602 Oh, that it were to do : what have we done ?
*2H6 1636 run, go, help, help : Oh Henry ope thine eyes
*2H6 1638 Oh heavenly God
*2H6 1895 Oh Henry, let me plead for gentle Suffolk
*2H6 1945 Oh, let me entreat thee cease
*2H6 1949 Oh, could this kiss be printed in thy hand
*2H6 1959 even now be gone. Oh go not yet
*2H6 2008 Oh let me stay, befall what may befall
*2H6 2031 Oh torture me no more, I will confess
*2H6 2039 Oh Thou eternal mover of the heavens
*2H6 2041 Oh beat away the busy-meddling fiend, that *2H6 2049 he dies and makes no sign : Oh God forgive him
*2H6 2441 Oh graceless men : they know not what they do
*2H6 2853 Oh I could hew up rocks, and fight with flint
*2H6 2898 Oh let me view his visage being dead, that *2H6 2996 Oh where is faith ? Oh, where is loyalty ?
*TT 286 Oh fly my lord, let's leave the castle
*TT 292 Oh Clifford spare this tender lord
*TT 293 Oh save his life
*TT 301 Oh Clifford, kill me with thy sword
*TT 318 Oh let me pray, before I take my death
*TT 327 Oh, let me live in prison all my days
*TT 347 Oh hark, I hear the drums ?
*TT 367 Oh Clifford, yet bethink thee once again
*TT 425 Oh, 'tis a fault too too unpardonable
*TT 456 Oh tigers heart wrapp'd in a woman's hide ?
*TT 524 Oh one that was a woeful looker-on, whenas the *TT 547 Oh would she break from compass of my breast
*TT 903 Oh gracious God of heaven look down on us
*TT 921 Oh ay 'tis he whom I have slain in fight
*TT 925 Oh pardon God, I knew not what I did
*TT 930 Oh no it is my son that I have slain in fight
*TT 948 Oh would my death their minds could satisfy
*TT 961 Oh father fly, our men have left the field
*TT 977 Oh Phoebus hadst thou never given consent
*TT 1023 Oh would he did, and so perhaps he doth
*TT 1224 Oh monstrous man, to harbour such a thought !
*TT 1801 Oh passing traitor, perjur'd and unjust
*TT 1898 Oh brave young prince, thy noble grandfather doth
*TT 1934 Oh that thy father had been so resolv'd
*TT 1951 Oh kill me too
*TT 2015 Oh better can my breast abide thy dagger's point
*3H6 170 Oh Clifford, how thy words revive my heart
*3H6 402 Oh let me pray before I take my death
*3H6 463 Oh Clifford, but bethink thee once again
*3H6 525 Oh 'tis a fault too too unpardonable
*3H6 558 Oh tiger's heart wrapp'd in a woman's hide
*3H6 577 Oh, ten times more than tigers of Hyrcania
*3H6 652 Oh speak no more, for I have heard too much
*3H6 674 Oh Clifford, boist'rous Clifford, thou hast slain
*3H6 682 never, Oh never shall I see more joy
*3H6 1023 Oh Warwick, I do bend my knee with thine
*3H6 1082 Oh God ! methinks it were a happy life, to be *3H6 1107 Oh yes, it doth ; a thousand-fold it doth
*3H6 1122 who's this ? Oh God ! it is my father's face
*3H6 1124 Oh heavy times ! begetting such events
*3H6 1585 Oh miserable thought !
*3H6 1598 Oh monstrous fault, to harbour such a thought
*3H6 2507 Oh unbid spite, is sportful Edward come ?
*3H6 2549 Oh cheerful colours, see where Oxford comes *3H6 2557 Oh welcome Oxford, for we want thy help
*3H6 2597 Oh passing traitor, perjur'd and unjust
*3H6 2652 hear, deliver'd with a groan, Oh farewell Warwick
*3H6 2732 Oh brave young prince : thy famous grandfather doth
*3H6 2803 Oh, kill me too
*3H6 2813 Oh Ned, sweet Ned, speak to thy mother boy
*Con 1286 so now he's gone again : Oh, oh, oh

Oak.

*Loc 46 as when the sacred o. with thunderbolts
Ov 245 with stiff o. propp'd the gate doth still appear
Ov 872 post, although of o., to yield to verses boast
Ov 2271 on mast of o., first oracles, men fed
L 137 like to a tall o. in a fruitful field
*3H6 659 hews down and fells the hardest-timber'd o.
Ov 2072 by charms mast drops from os., from vines grapes fall
Ov 2096 huge os., hard adamants might she have mov'd
*E3 1402 like stiff-grown os., will stand immovable
*E3 1595 that is enjoin'd to fell a load of os.
Ov 2164 apples, and honey in os.' hollow boughs

Oaken.

D 224 as every tide tilts 'twixt their o. sides
L 358 the chief centurion, crown'd with o. leaves for Oars.

D 742 my o. broken, and my tackling lost
D 753 o. of massy ivory, full of holes
D 1316 bring me his o., his tackling, and his sails
D 1332 and here's Aeneas' tackling, o., and sails
D 1356 O Dido, blame not him, but break his o. !
D 1370 instead of o., let him use his hands
D 1469 yet hath she ta'en away my o. and masts
Ov 1302 O, would that no o. might in seas have sunk !
Ov 1935 that may transport me, without o. to row
Ov 2167 nor hanging o. the troubled seas did sweep

Oath.

2T 131 Sigismund, confirm it with an o.
2T 499 confirm'd by o. and articles of peace
1F 1440 and keep mine o. I made to Lucifer
2F 1899 and keep my vow [Dyce, o.] I made to Lucifer
E2 85 and know, my lord, ere I will break my o.
E2 911 the like o. Pembroke takes
E2 1261 upon mine o., I will return him back
HLM 300 to whom mad'st thou [V. R. thou mad'st] that heedless o. ?
Ov 1836 how long her locks were ere her o. she took *1H6 1581 now Governor of Paris take your o.
*Con 1111 a dreadful o. sworn with a solemn tongue
*2H6 1761 a dreadful o., sworn with a solemn tongue
*2H6 2849 against thy o., and true allegiance sworn *2H6 3011 canst thou dispense with heaven for such an o. ?
*2H6 3013 but greater sin to keep a sinful o.
*2H6 3020 but that he was bound by a solemn o. ?
*TT 188 that here thou take thine [Q3 an] o., to cease these *TT 190 that o. I willingly take and will perform
*TT 244 I'll show your grace the way to save your o.
*TT 247 an o. is of no moment being not sworn before a
*TT 250 and yet your grace stands bound to him by o.
*TT 419 is crown'd so soon, and broke his holy o.
*TT 424 now in his life against your holy o. ?
*TT 494 there's for my [Q2 mine] o., there's for my father's death
*TT 640 his o. enrolled in the parliament
*TT 642 to frustrate his o. or what besides may *TT 757 since when he hath broke his o.

*TT 1036 what not an o. ? nay, then I know he's dead
*TT 1037 'tis hard when Clifford cannot 'ford his friend an o.
*3H6 204 conditionally, that here thou take an o., to *3H6 209 this o. I willingly take, and will perform
*3H6 298 I took an o., that he should quietly reign
*3H6 299 but for a kingdom any o. may be broken
*3H6 305 an o. is of no moment, being not took before a *3H6 310 your o., my lord, is vain and frivolous
*3H6 519 is crown'd so soon, and broke his solemn o. ?
*3H6 524 now in his life, against your holy o. ?
*3H6 597 here's for my o., here's for my father's death
*3H6 722 touching King Henry's o., and your succession
*3H6 776 his o. enroll'd in the parliament
*3H6 778 to frustrate both his o., and what beside may *3H6 901 since when, his o. is broke : for as I hear, you
*3H6 1279 what, not an o. ? nay then the world goes hard *3H6 1280 hard when Clifford cannot spare his friends an o.
*3H6 1384 but did you never swear, and break an o.
*3H6 1385 no, never such an o., nor will not now
*3H6 2580 perhaps thou wilt object my holy o.
*3H6 2581 to keep that o., were more impiety, than
*E3 126 but straight, forgetting of his former o.
*E3 597 forgetting your allegiance and your o. ?
*E3 664 think'st, that thou canst unswear [Old eds. answere] thy o. again ?
*E3 668 that breaks the sacred warrant of an o.
*E3 669 what wilt thou say to one that breaks an o. ?
*E3 676 or break thy o., or cancel all the bonds of love
*E3 679 the lord and master of thy word and o.
*E3 684 thy o. breaks hers, or let thy sovereign die
*E3 692 but neither will I do ; I'll keep my o.
*E3 697 I'll say, an o. may easily be broken
*E3 1638 bear it unto him, and withal mine o.
*E3 1784 ah, but it is mine o., my gracious lord
*E3 1787 thine o. ! why, that doth bind thee to abide *E3 1798 in an o. we must be well advis'd how we *Sel 1091 all respects of duty, promise, and religious os. ?
2T 143 our solemn os.
2T 512 the os. they undertake breed
MP 781 his os. are seldom spent in vain
*HLC 2178 and os. as foul as his false heart
Ov 1194 my self os. in Carpathian seas to cast
*Epg 31 and fills [MS. filleth] up his unperfect speech with os.
*1H6 163 remember lords your os. to Henry sworn *1H6 1640 that in alliance, amity, and os.
*1H6 2625 as doth a ruler with unlawful os.
*TT 241 but I would break an hundred os. to reign one year
*3H6 300 I would break a thousand os. to reign one year
*3H6 344 and trust not simple Henry, nor his os.
*3H6 1391 and tell me then, have you not broke your os. ?
*3H6 1401 but do not break your os., for of that sin
*E3 177 either to be woo'd with broad untuned os., or Obdurate.

1T 1820 might have entreated your o. breasts to E2 1591 and France shall be o. with her tears
D 1596 will, being absent, be o. still
HLM 715 and who have hard hearts and o. minds
*2H6 2605 God should be so o. as yourselves
*3H6 563 thou stern, o., flinty, rough, remorseless

Obed.

JM 129 O. in Bairseth, Nones in Portugal

Obedience.

*Sel 1334 and brought to filial o.
*Loc 1668 by the o. that children ought to 2T 435 made him swear o. to my crown
1F 274 full of o. and humility !
2F 261 full of o. and humility !
2F 1266 thou couldst command the world's o.
E2 1330 and learn o. to their lawful king
*1H6 165 or bring him in o. to your yoke
*1H6 1267 thy humble servant vows o.
*1H6 1538 reclaim'd to your o., fifty fortresses
*3H6 2055 but if you mind to hold your true o.
*E3 278 to witness my o. to your highness
*E3 557 thou hast with all devout o.
*E3 1788 hast thou not sworn o. to thy prince ?

Obedience : see Disobedience

Obedient.

*Sel 389 tell him Selim, his o. son, desires to 2T 2047 aid [4to and] thy o. servant Callapine
1F 342 and always be o. to my will 2F 326 and always be o. to my will 2F 675 so shalt thou show thyself an o. servant
*1H6 1780 and do him homage as o. subjects
*Con 1702 and go in peace o. to your king
*Sel 1855 and now farewell, my diso. sons !
*Loc 1816 have I been diso. to thy words ?

Obey.

*Sel 327 did then to set possessors first o.
*Loc 235 o. the counsels of these fathers grave
*Loc 377 must needs o. your highness at command
*Loc 202 therefore, since he to whom I must o.
2T 1982 whose scourge I am, and him will I [4to I will] o.
2T 2283 my lord, you must o. his majesty
1F 148 as Indian Moors o. their Spanish lords
1F 248 and try if devils will o. thy hest
2F 140 as Indian Moors o. their Spanish lords
2F 235 and try if devils will o. thy hest
E2 1930 stand not on titles, but o. th' arrest
E2 2047 but that the heavens appoint I must o.
*HLC 2354 smit with his fork'd sceptre, that could not o.
Ov 1545 since some fair one I should of force o. !
L 373 love over-rules my will ; I must o. thee, Caesar
*Con 421 and charm the fiends for to o. your wills
*Con 427 and conjure them for to o. my will *Con 931 good uncle o. to his arrest
*Con 1844 he is arrested, but will not o.
*2H6 2835 let them o., that knows not how to rule
*2H6 2937 o. audacious traitor, kneel for grace
*2H6 2965 he is arrested, but will not o.
*TT 1108 and be you kings, command and I'll o.
*TT 1464 for thee they must o., nay shall o.
*3H6 1404 and be you kings, command, and I'll o.
*3H6 1990 and their true sovereign, whom they must o. ?
*3H6 1991 nay, whom they shall o., and love thee too
*E3 1792 is lawless and I need not to o.
*1H6 2590 never to diso., nor be rebellious
*E3 2086 to diso. thy father, or thyself ?

Obeyed.

1T 764 to ask and have, command and be o.
1F 85 emperors and kings are but o. in their several provinces
2F 83 emperors and kings are but o. in their several provinces
E2 359 the legate of the Pope will be o.
*TT 1108 God's name be fulfill'd, your king's be name o.
*TT 1417 your king and Warwick's, and will be o.
*3H6 1411 in God's name lead on, your king's name be o.

Obeydst.
*TT 1291 whom thou o. thirty and eight years
*3H6 1731 whom thou o. thirty and six years
Obeyeth.
*Loc 1503 that diso. thus thy sacred 'hests !
Obeying.
*HLC 1883 the waves o. him, they after beat
*3H6 1397 o. with my wind when I do blow Obitum.
Ept (Title) In o. honoratissimi viri, Rogeri Manwood
Object.
*Loc 1329 O kingdom, o. to all miseries !
1T 2208 behold Zenocrate, the cursed o.
1F 131 mine own fantasy, that will receive no o.
*HLD 3 taketh his ever-farewell of that beloved o.
*HLC 1420 Leander's form left no ill o. there
*HLC 2209 being o. to Leander's sight
*LD 19 yes, thy love I will challenge as my peculiar o.
*TT 675 doth not the o. please your eye my lord ?
*TT 2005 have now the fatal o. in mine eye
*3H6 816 doth not the o. cheer your heart, my lord
*3H6 2868 have now the fatal o. in my eye
2T 211 fit os. for thy princely eye to pierce 1T 2136 how are ye glutted with these grievous os.
1T 2270 and such are os. fit for Tamburlaine
HLM 622 fires and inflames os. removed far
*HLC 931 so to all os. that in compass came
*Sel 271 votaries shall here o. against my forward mind
1F 162 as resolute am I in this, as thou to live : therefore o. it not 2F 154 as resolute am I in this, as thou to live : therefore o. it not Ov 921 o. thou then, what she may well excuse
*1H6 948 this blot that they o. against your house
*1H6 1102 purpose to answer what thou canst o.
*3H6 2580 perhaps thou wilt o. my holy oath Objected.
*1H6 874 good Master Vernon, it is well o.
Objection.
*E3 920 yea, to my o. in thy beauteous love ?
*1H6 1707 to bear with their perverse os.
*2H6 520 as for your spiteful false os., prove them
*E3 1771 but, letting pass these intricate os.
1T 2059 now thrown to rooms of black abjection [Old eds. o.]
Oblation.
Ov 1343 for thy return shall fall the vow'd o.
Ov 2419 an altar takes men's incense and o.
Oblia.
2T 456 and came to O.
Obligations.
*2H6 2288 nay, he can make o., and write court-hand Obligement.
*JMD 12 that inviolable o., by which he rests still engaged Obloquy.
2T 1451 the o. and scorn of my renown !
*1H6 1015 which o. set bars before my tongue Obscure.
1T 392 (I call it yet, because, being yet o., the 1T 2046 in this o. infernal servitude ?
2T 1581 I saw the place o. and dark 2T 2161 the hypostasis, thick and o., doth make your danger great 1F 133 philosophy is odious and o.
2F 127 philosophy is odious and o.
2F 1525 and thither we'll repair, and live o.
E2 101 that base and o. Gaveston
E2 825 my lord, mine's more o. than Mortimer's
Ov 371 when she will, clouds the darken'd heaven o.
Ov 2211 and on all creatures o. darkness brings Ov 2338 these harden'd me, with what I keep o.
*1H6 2441 of purpose, to o. my noble birth
*2H6 2102 o. and lowsy swaine, King Henry's blood Obscured.
MP 690 hath my love been so o. in thee
*HLC 2218 poor virtue loath'd for good, o., held low *1H6 992 and even since then, hath King Richard been o.
*E3 19 the French o. your mother's privilege Obscurity.
1T 1632 to dim thy [4to the] baseness and [4to of] o.
Obsequies.
*HLD 5 of farther o. due unto the deceased
*Ign 20 entombing Cupid with sad o.
*2H6 1749 but all in vain are these vain o.
*TT 466 these tears are my sweet Rutland's o.
*3H6 568 these tears are my sweet Rutland's o.
Obsequious.
*HLC 857 ye lisping Flatteries, and o. Glances
*HLC 2173 should stay his too o. destiny
*3H6 1179 and so o. will thy father be Observation.
*HLC 1252 it leaves something behind worth o.
*TT 1065 tush that's a childish o.
*3H6 1310 tut, that's a foolish o.
*Sel 339 and these religious os. only bug-bears 1T 1914 nor change my martial os.
Observe.
*Con 1880 the which he always did o.
*2H6 1213 can you not see ? or will ye not o. the 1T 1806 which he os. as parcel of his fame
*HLC 2271 os. their rampires and their buildings yet
*E3 840 that os. the pleasure, or displeasure, of her eye Observed.
*Sel 332 could not in quiet dwell, unless they were o.
*Sel 907 so that if all things rightly be o.
JMP 24 which maxim had Phalaris o.
*HLC 973 the snaky paths to each o. law
*HLC 1198 grow from other stocks than from th' o. vow Obstacle.
*1H6 2436 fie Joan, that thou wilt be so o.
Obstant.
*SP 12 all o. lets, down with his fury fling Obstinacy.
*Sel 788 detest stout [dis]obedience and o.
*1H6 2574 in o., to cavil in the course of this contract Obstinate.
*1H6 1213 except you mean with o. repulse to
*E3 1300 ah, France, why shouldst thou be thus o.
*E3 2324 what moved thee then to be so o. to Obstracted.
*HLC 2096 Day is abstracted [V. R. o.] here, and varied Obstructions.
*Epg 380 and clears th' o. of the arteries
Obtain.
1F 528 O. what will not I do to o. his soul ?
2F 476 what will not I do to o. his soul ?
2F 704 and, might I now o. my wish, this house
JM 220 'tis more kingly to o. by peace than to enforce
D 1004 what is it that Dido may desire and not o.
HLM 776 till gentle parley did the truce o.
Ov 239 (O mischief !) now for me o. small grace
Ov 425 nor, so thou mayst o. a wealthy prize

Ov 899 stoln liberty she may by thee o.
*Epg 360 opinion of much wit, and gold o.
*1H6 2567 us'd intercession to o. a league
*TT 1028 Clifford, ask mercy and o. no grace
*3H6 1270 Clifford, ask mercy, and o. no grace
*E3 1659 (which thou may'st easily o., I think Obtained.
1F 357 now that I have o. what I desire [Dyce, desirèd]
2F 341 now that I have o. what I desir'd
D 788 yet none o. me ; I am free from all
*HLC 1650 that day Aurora double grace o.
*HLC 1792 thought, enthrill'd his heart, ere he o. her *1H6 78 by guileful fair words, peace may be o.
*1H6 2092 to know who hath o. the glory of the day Obtaining.
*Sel 1274 entreating life and not o. it Occasion.
*Sel 161 may take o. of my weaken'd age
*Sel 881 why, he was mov'd by just o.
*Sel 1057 would take o. to thrust out their heads
*Sel 1285 and movèd by an o., though unjust
*Sel 275 and catch the front of swift O.
2T 1295 I shall have o. shortly to journey you
2T 2318 will take O. by the slenderest hair
JM 441 and time may yield us an o., which E2 764 and now and then stab, as o. serves *1H6 1708 much less to take o. from their mouths, to *2H6 1212 whate'er o. keeps him from us now
*2H6 3144 a gallant, in the brow of youth, repairs him with o.
*TT 328 and when I give o. of offence
*3H6 328 but that I seek o. how to rise
*3H6 412 and when I give o. of offence
*3H6 1878 and as o. serves, this noble queen and
*E3 67 see, how o. laughs me in the face !
*E3 2384 yet now to see the o. with our eyes did
*E3 2453 these prisoners, chief o. of our strife
JM 2180 begin betimes ; O.'s bald behind
*1H6 1255 for those os. at Eltham-place
*1H6 1257 and those os., uncle, were of force
*3H6 1619 and frame my face to all os.
*E3 1765 all os., that happen for advantage of our foes
*Sel 2485 the great o. which the victors make [So Grosart = Quarto occision] Occhiali.
*Sel 386 O. ? — My lord. — Lo, fly boy
*Sel 442 till the return of young O.
*Sel 534 and in his answer so, O. ?
Occident.
*Sel 139 first shall the sun rise from the o.
Occidere.
E2 2344 Edwardum o. nolite timere, bonum est
E2 2347 Edwardum o. nolite, timere bonum est
E2 2468 Edwardum o. nolite timere, that's his meaning Occidit.
Ept 6 fori lumen venerandae gloria leges, o.
Occision.
*Sel 2485 the great o. which the victors make [So Quarto = Grosart, occasion]
*Loc 1226 the Scythians slain with great o.
Occulte.
Ov 2447 Ad amicam, si peccatura est, ut o. peccet
Occupat.
*2H6 2169 Penè gelidus timor o. artus, it is thee I fear Occupation.
*Sel 1946 I'll betake me to my old o., and run away
*Loc 520 no o. may compare. — Song
2F 393 will you teach me this conjuring o. ?
Occupy.
MP 823 and till the ground that he himself should o.
MPF 5 and fill up his room that he should o.
*Con 1402 and now being not able to o. her furred pack Occurrents.
*HLC 1927 being a carriage special hard to bear o.
*HLC 1927 these o. being so dear, they did
*HLC 2059 that her long-kept o. would [V. R. should] be stale Ocean.
*Loc 24 passèd the greedy gulf of o.
*Loc 182 let me be flung into the o., or
*Loc 277 the boisterous waves of humid o.
*Loc 455 that standeth in the waves of o.
1T 102 fled to the Caspian or the O. main ?
1T 925 as hath the o. or the Terrene sea small drops
1T 940 the o., Terrene, and the Coal-black sea
1T 1354 and all the o. by the British [8vo brightest] shore
2T 110 as the o. to the traveller that rests upon 1F 110 ransack the o. for orient pearl
1F 283 or the o. overwhelm the world
1F 351 to pass the o. with a band of men
1F 1600 and fall into the o., ne'er be found !
2F 107 ransack the o. for orient pearl
2F 267 or the o. to overwhelm the world
2F 335 to pass the o. with a band of men
2F 2129 water-drops, and fall into the o., ne'er be found !
JM 470 and since you leave me in the o. thus to JM 2442 as sooner shall they drink the o. dry
E2 344 this isle shall fleet upon the o.
D 1640 then gan they drive into the o.
HLM 232 the o. maketh more majestical
HLM 722 to the rich o. for gifts he flies
HLM 826 began to sound forth music to the o.
*HLC 1366 drawing his nets from forth the [V. R. that] o.
Ov 1310 the o. hath no painted stones or shells
L 371 hath with thee pass'd the swelling o.
L 412 and changeth as the o. ebbs and flows
L 553 the o. swell'd as high as Spanish Calpe or Atlas 'head
*Epg 482 derives out of the o. [A, os.] so [MS. omits] much wealth
*2H6 1745 and to drain upon his face an o. of salt tears
*3H6 2445 like to his island, girt in with the o.
*E3 1087 they plough the o. hitherward amain
*HLC 2285 more coil than if she danc'd upon the o.'s toil Oceanus.
D 127 for my sake, pity him, O.
O'clock.
*Loc 1452 well, masters, what's o. ?
*FB 65 by twelve o. my glass was almost out
JM 1589 come to my house at one o. this night
*Con 783 Sirrah, what's o. ? — Almost ten my lord
*2H6 1098 Sirs, what's o. ? — Ten, my lord Octavius.
E2 693 the Roman Tully lov'd O.
Odd.
*HLC 1968 the o. disparent number they did choose
*HLC 1981 since 'tis the first o. number that doth rise
*HLC 1983 numbers' unity, that o. and even are *1H6 220 I think by some o. gimmors or device their 1T 311 an os. too great for us to stand against Ov 544 Love and Love's son are with fierce arms at [Old eds. to] os.
Ov 945 why fight'st 'gainst os. ? to thee, being cast, do

L 97 a town with one poor church set them at os.
*1H6 1907 yields up his life unto a world of os.
*1H6 2628 by reason of his adversary's os.
*1H6 2629 a poor earl's daughter is unequal os.
*Con 1728 took os. to combat with a famish'd man
*2H6 2789 took os. to combat a poor famish'd man
*TT 615 'twas os. belike, when valiant Warwick fled
*TT 1833 but Hercules himself must yield to os.
*3H6 357 five men to twenty : though the os. be great *3H6 657 but Hercules himself must yield to os.
*3H6 751 'twas os. belike, when valiant Warwick fled
*E3 1534 he's close encompass'd with a world of os. !
*E3 1907 apprehend no os., for one to one is fair equality
*E3 2363 or is our son beset with too much os. ?

Odious.
*Sel 1594 if my offence do seem so o.
*Sel 1605 thy crime was ne'er so o. unto me
1F 133 philosophy is o. and obscure
2F 127 philosophy is o. and obscure
JMP 5 to some perhaps my name is o.
Ov 595 and to give signs dull wit to thee is o.
*2H6 2449 the sight of me is o. in their eyes

Odoriferous.
D 752 gold, wound on the barks of o. trees

Odorous.
*HLC 926 was crown'd with o. roses, white as snow
*HLC 1687 they came ; sweet Music usher'd th' o. way

Odour.
*Loc 39 that far abroad her dainty o. throws
HLM 28 when 'twas the o. which her breath forth cast
D 1420 the sun from Egypt shall rich os. bring
*HLC 935 now, with warm baths and os. comforted
*HLC 1404 the os. burn'd [V. R. burne], and from their smoke
*HLC 1419 the os. sweeten'd, and the fires burn'd clear

Oenon's.
1F 674 of Alexander's love and O. death ?
2F 595 of Alexander's love and O. death ?

O'er : see Over

Oeuvres.
*2H6 3076 La fin couronne les eumenes [? o.]

Of.
*E3 2420 with hope o. sharp, unheard-o., dire revenge

Off.
*2H6 1219 and if we did but glance a far-o. look
*3H6 1570 and spies a far-o. shore, where he would tread

Offence.
*Sel 1525 so please your grace to pardon his o.
*Sel 1594 if my o. do seem so odious
*Sel 2283 I do not seek to lessen my o.
1F 1487 but Faustus' o. can never be pardoned
2F 1969 but Faustus' o. can ne'er be pardoned
JM 1461 and one o. torments me more than all
E2 109 for this o., be thou accurs'd of God !
E2 1821 madam, without o. if I may ask
MP 630 I will be his bail for this o.
D 1279 command my guard to slay for their o.
HLM 205 fair creature, let me speak without o.
*HLC 904 Ceremony had banish'd all o.
*HLC 1111 and takes away all feeling of o.
*HLC 1238 Jove lov'd him too, and pardon'd her o.
*HLC 1563 why in your priest, then, call you that o.
Ov 169 lest I should think thee guilty of o. !
Ov 1156 would I were culpable of some o.
Ov 1628 ah, oft, how she might, she feign'd o.
Dia 39 to dance a turn or two without o.
*1H6 228 hath the late overthrow wrought this o. ?
*1H6 1653 and what o. it is to flout his friends
*1H6 2630 and therefore may be broke without o.
*1H6 2691 and you (good uncle) banish all o.
*Con 188 shall for th' o., make forfeit of his head
*TT 328 and when I give occasion of o.
*TT 664 shall for the o., make forfeit of his head
*TT 1414 they'll [Q3 they will] take no o. at this sudden marriage
*3H6 412 and when I give occasion of o.
*3H6 1922 that they'll take no o. at our abuse
*3H6 1923 suppose they take o. without a cause
*E3 672 what o. were it, to suggest a man to break a
*E3 764 prescribes a shame for shame, or penance for o.
*Sel 2161 where our os. all are register'd 1T 1611 let Tamburlaine for his os. feel such plagues as *Epg 303 he that dares give his dearest friends os.
*Con 718 for her os. that thou held'st so dear
*2H6 1268 devise strange deaths, for small os. done ?

Offend.
*JMS 17 and, if aught here o. your ear or sight
JM 1459 I did o. high heaven so grievously
E2 86 this sword of mine, that should o. your foes
E2 574 and fear to o. the meanest nobleman
E2 646 slay me, my lord, when I o. your grace
D 261 nor armed to o. in any kind
D 928 why, man of Troy, do I o. thine eyes ?
D 1365 ye shall no more o. the Carthage queen
Ov 1183 what, if a man with bondwomen o.
Ov 1864 the wronged gods dread fair ones to o.
Ov 1891 who may o., sins least ; power to do ill, the *1H6 2277 yet if this servile usage once o., go
*Con 988 lest that in living he o. us more
*2H6 1155 I must o., before I be attainted
*TT 1054 yet look to have them busy to o. thine ears
*3H6 1297 yet look to have them buz to o. thine ears
*3H6 2816 did not o., nor were not worthy blame
*E3 760 why then, give sin a passport to o.
2T 1740 every man that so os. shall die
D 692 because his loathsome sight os. mine eye
*1H6 1130 no, my good lords, it is not that os.

Offended.
2F 1845 though thou hast now o. like a man
2F 1880 I do repent I e'er o. him
JM 511 for I will seem o. with thee for 't
JM 1245 yet Don Mathias ne'er o. thee
JM 1521 thou hast o., therefore must be damn'd
E2 1520 t' appease the wrath of their o. king
MP 1024 trouble me not ; I ne'er o. him
D 851 what, though I was o. with thy son
D 1538 wherein have I o. Jupiter
*HLC 1601 not simply for the fault a whit o.
Ov 351 then first I did perceive I had o.
*Epg 509 thou, Sylla, seem'st forthwith to be o. [So eds.]
*Epg 509 thou seem'st forthwith, Sella, to be o. [So MS.]
*1H6 824 what you have done, hath not o. me
*1H6 2273 be not o. Nature's miracle
*2H6 2587 tell me : wherein have I o. most ?
*3H6 1928 yea, brother Richard, are you o. too ?

Offender.
*1H6 1230 but prove a chief o. in the same
*2H6 1389 and the o. granted scope of speech
*2H6 1339 for I should melt at an o.'s tears
*Con 919 you did devise strange torments for os.
*2H6 498 thy cruelty in execution upon os., hath *2H6 896 and call these foul os. to their answers

*2H6 1335 you did devise strange tortures for os.
Offending.
*2H6 1663 might liquid tears, or heart-o. groans Offensious.
MP 386 wherein hath Ramus been so o. ?
Offensive.
1T 988 when your o. rape by Tamburlaine (which Offer.
1T 1918 they have refus'd the o. of their lives
2T 2188 live to give o. of another fight MP 456 the o. of your Prince Elector's far beyond the *1H6 1787 if you forsake the o. of their love
*Loc 383 and o. to god Risus all our tasks
*Loc 948 I o. up to 'venge my brother's death
1T 293 shall we all [8vo omits] o. to Zenocrate
1T 331 but, if they o. word or violence, we'll fight
1T 404 should o. present dukedoms to our state
1T 1313 now let me o. to my gracious lord his royal crown
1T 1359 o. their mines, to sue for peace, to me
1T 1804 o. our safeties to his clemency
2T 102 canst thou think of this, and o. war ?
2T 359 I o. here my crown, myself, and all the power I have 2T 381 my crown I glady o. thee
2T 1823 o. submission, hang up flags of truce
2T 1854 we o. more than ever yet we did
1F 469 and o. lukewarm blood of new-born babes
2F 416 and o. lukewarm blood of new-born babes
JM 1192 I will o. up my daily sacrifice of sighs and tears
E2 1133 to o. violence to his sovereign !
E2 1239 'tis honourable in thee to o. this
E2 2672 I o. up this wicked traitors head
MP 1186 and will not o. violence to their king
D 722 his lips an altar, where I will o. up as many kisses
HLM 218 to whom you o., and whose nun you are
*HLC 1287 those would she o. to the deities
Ov 1238 strike, boy ; I o. thee my naked breast
L 441 where to Hesus and fell Mercury they o. human flesh
*1H6 47 instead of gold, we'll o. up our arms
*1H6 1226 here Winchester, I o. thee my hand
*Con 796 nor o. once to draw a weapon here
*Con 1694 and o. their lives before your highness' feet
*2H6 773 who said ; Simon, come ; come o. at my shrine
*TT 31 and when the king comes o. him no violence
*3H6 33 and when the king comes, o. him no violence
*E3 589 that love, you o. me, you cannot give *Sel 1591 os. himself into your grace's hands
*Sel 1619 os. me millions of diadems
*Sel 2017 os. himself a grateful sacrifice
2T 2183 os. to set upon [8vo on] us presently
1F 1408 os. to pour the same into thy soul
2F 1866 os. to pour the same into thy soul
HLM 546 she os. up herself a sacrifice to Offered.
*Sel 1554 and since it's o. me so willingly
*Loc 596 now opportunity is o. to
*Loc 1099 thyself at Albanactus' tomb shalt o. be
*Loc 1905 hath Fortune o. to my hapless heart ?
1T 1294 that o. jewels to thy sacred shrine
1T 1989 and fresh supply of conquest and of spoil is o. us
2T 529 if we neglect this [4to the] o. victory 2T 1953 and o. me as ransom for thy life 1F 1191 not so much for the injury he o. me here in E2 248 when violence is o. to the church
HLM 13 and o. as a dower his burning throne
HLM 453 they o. him the deadly fatal knife
*HLC 1863 and with wondrous joys o. it [V. R. in] Eucharis Ov 153 even in his face his o. gobbets [Old eds. goblets] cast
*1H6 1091 injuries, which Somerset hath o. to my house
*Con 1033 take time whilst it is o. thee so fair
*Con 1669 refuse not good whilst it is o. you
*2H6 2640 and yield to mercy, whilst 'tis o. you Offerest.
*E3 637 a kind and voluntary gift thou o.
Offering.
*HLC 1955 like a quick o. burn'd in flames of hair
Ov 1396 and the dull snake about thy os. creep
Ov 2241 nor did thy ashes her last os. lose
*Loc 1229 o. their bodies, and their dearest blood 1T 1555 will yield, o. Damascus to your majesty
MP 917 o. him aid against his enemies
*HLD 15 o. my utmost self now and ever to be HLM 507 was afraid, in o. parley, to be counted light
*TT 702 o. their own lives in their young's defence ?
*3H6 844 o. their own lives in their young's defence ?
Offering-basin.
JM 757 that, when the o. comes to me
Office.
E2 652 if that lofty o. like thee not, I make thee
*1H6 1153 and know the o. that belongs to such *Con 797 but let them do their o. as they should
*Con 841 please it your grace, my o. here doth end
*Con 863 thou hast but done thy o. as thou shouldst
*2H6 1200 it is my o., and madam pardon me
*2H6 1201 ay, ay, farewell, thy o. is discharg'd
*2H6 1696 but left that hateful o. unto thee
*TT 428 that's my o. for my father's death
*TT 2008 that taught his son the o. of a bird
*3H6 528 that is my o. for my father's sake
*3H6 2871 that taught his son the o. of a fowl
*E3 674 an o. for the devil, not for man
*E3 675 the devil's o. must thou do for me
*E3 685 O doting king ! O detestable o. !
*LD 19 in this, and, I hope, many more succeeding os.
L 180 sale made of os., and people's voices bought
*2H6 500 thy sale of os. and towns in France
*1H6 176 but long I will not be Jack-out-of-o.
Office-badge.
*Con 182 this my staff mine o. in court
*2H6 285 methought this staff mine o. in court was Officer.
*1H6 401 come o., as loud as e'er thou canst, cry
*TT 1103 must be content to go with us unto the o.
*3H6 2864 the thief doth fear each bush an o.
1F 1289 Help, Mephistophilis ! call the os. — My leg, my leg !
2F 1210 What, ho, os., gentlemen !
JM 332 now, os., have you done ?
JM 716 go, os., and set them straight in show
*1H6 462 then broke I from the os. that led me
*1H6 1429 placing therein some expert os.
*TT 366 breathe out invectives 'gainst the os.
*TT 1106 to go along with us unto the os.
*3H6 462 breathe out invectives 'gainst the os.
*3H6 1410 to go with us unto the os.
Officiousness.
*Sel 2193 but I'll prevent this their o.
Offspring.
*Loc 1115 the arm-strong o. of the doubled night
JM 620 light Abraham's o. ; and direct the hand of

JM 1044 this o. of Cain, this Jebusite, that
D 116 besiege[s] th' o. of our kingly loins
*HLC 1041 to light [V. R. delight] surrender my soul's dark o.
Ov 1420 wilt thou thy womb-enclosèd o. wrack ?
*3H6 2179 for love of Edward's o. in my womb

Oft.

*Sel 71 thy father o. hath cried that thou hadst lived
*Sel 602 how o. said thou the sun should change his course
*Loc 34 that o. have quell'd the courage of my foes
*Loc 792 that o. hath saved his master's doubtful life
*Loc 1323 how true is that which o. I heard declared 1T 35 o. have I heard your majesty complain of Tamburlaine
1T 2255 been o. resolv'd in bloody purple showers
2T 1378 and o. hath warn'd thee to be still in field
1F 1524 o. have I thought to have done so ; but the devil 2F 2007 o. have I thought to have done so ; but JM 137 and nothing violent, o. have I heard tell, can be permanent E2 1004 how o. have I been baited by these peers
E2 2012 full o. am I soaring up to heaven (— Dyce often)
MP 94 o. have I levell'd, and at last have learn'd that D 26 have o. driven back the horses of the Night
D 244 or in these shades, deceiv'st mine eyes so o.
D 362 o. hath she ask'd us under whom we serv'd
D 1310 as o. as he attempts to hoist up sail !
HLM 41 those with sweet water o. her handmaid fills
HLM 192 true love is mute, and o. amazed stands
HLM 237 vessels of brass o. handled, brightly shine
HLM 400 Pride, that dwells in towered courts, is o. in shepherds' cells)
HLM 520 and o. look'd out, and mus'd he did not come HLM 645 « O Hero, Hero ! » thus he cried full o.
HLM 778 forth plungeth, and o. flutters with her wing
*HLC 1341 and o. would shriek so, that her guardian, frighted
*HLC 2317 and said, « O. have you view'd in one heaven
Ov 40 or why slips the coverlet so o. ?
Ov 166 I and my wench o. under clothes did lurk
Ov 435 deny him o. : feign now thy head doth ache
Ov 438 or lest his love, o. beaten back, should wane
Ov 444 anger delay'd doth o. to hate retire
Ov 469 pray o., that my dead bones may in their grave lie soft
Ov 499 o. to invade the sleeping foe 'tis good
Ov 596 Corinna clips me o. by thy persuasion
Ov 679 how o. wish'd I night would not give thee place
Ov 681 how o. that either wind would break thy coach
Ov 718 o. was she dress'd before mine eyes, yet
Ov 720 o. in the morn, her hairs not yet digested
Ov 748 which some admiring, O, thou o. wilt blush !
Ov 878 she in requital doth me o. embrace
Ov 1021 that my chief wish should be so o. to die
Ov 1147 to overcome, so o. to fight I shame
Ov 1202 how o., and by what means, we did agree
Ov 1227 that have so o. serv'd pretty wenches' diet
Ov 1249 let me enjoy her [Old eds. her enjoy me] o., o. be debarr'd
Ov 1285 o. have I spent the night in wantonness
Ov 1389 I o. have done what might as much procure
Ov 1400 she o. hath serv'd thee upon certain days
Ov 1450 o. dies she that her paunch-wrapt child hath slain
Ov 1517 the youth, o. swimming to his Hero kind
Ov 1528 why doth my mistress from me o. divide ?
Ov 1628 ah, o., how much she might, she feign'd offence
Ov 1635 o. cozen me, o., being woo'd, say nay
Ov 1654 search at the door who knocks o. in the dark
Ov 1657 why she alone in empty bed o. tarries
Ov 1696 o. some points at the prophet passing by Ov 1730 ah, how o. on hard doors hung I engrav'd
Ov 1843 by which she perjur'd o. hath lied to [Old eds. by] me
Ov 2145 perhaps he'll tell how o. he slew a man
Ov 2319 o. bitter juice brings to the sick relief
Ov 2320 I have sustain'd, so o. thrust from the door, to Ov 2478 why see I lines so o. receiv'd and given ?
L 258 as o. as Rome was sack'd, here gan the spoil »
*AT 61 well might learn'd Cambridge o. regret
*Epg 17 o. in my laughing rhymes I name a gull
*Epg 128 the puritan Severus o. doth read this [MS. his] text
*Epg 194 I have often [A, B, o. ; C, omits] heard thee tell
*Epg 418 so o. he hath recited [MS. reported] to his friends
*Epg 493 student of the Common-Law, o. leaves his books [MS. booke]
*Epg 515 yet I think o., and I [Eds. omit] think I think aright
EPF 16 as o. we see turtle-taught lovers either other close
*1H6 421 father I know, and o. have shot at them
*Con 117 o. have I seen [Q2 heard] this haughty cardinal swear
*Con 1113 o. have I seen a timely-parted ghost
*Con 1342 those lips of thine that so o. have kiss'd the queen
*2H6 183 o. have I seen the haughty cardinal
*2H6 776 and many time and o. myself have heard a voice
*2H6 1187 death, at whose name I o. have been afear'd
*2H6 1764 o. have I seen a timely-parted ghost
*2H6 2186 great men o. die by vild bezonians
*2H6 2402 o. have I heard that grief softens the mind
*2H6 2571 o. have I struck those that I never saw
*2H6 2980 o. have I seen a hot o'erweening cur, run *2H6 3102 and beauty, that the tyrant o. reclaims, shall *TT 344 and twice so o. came Edward to my view
*TT 447 'tis beauty, that o. makes women proud
*TT 616 o. have I heard thy praises in pursuit
*TT 1820 were likened o. to kingly sepulchres
*3H6 430 and full as o. came Edward to my side
*3H6 549 'tis beauty that doth o. make women proud
*3H6 752 o. have I heard his praises in pursuit
*3H6 2625 were liken'd o. to kingly sepulchres
*E3 112 as o. as I dispose myself to rest

Often.

*Sel 67 that thou mightst live, how o. did I crave !
*Sel 68 how o. did I bootless prayers raise to
*Sel 1317 from whence the damnèd ghosts do o. creep
*Sel 2228 thy neck so o. folded in my loving arms
2T 629 whose power is o. prov'd a miracle
2T 1576 this air, beat o. with thy sighs
1F 1018 as o. as thou wilt, and at midnight
E2 2437 how o. shall I bid you bear him hence ?
E2 2012 full oft[en] am I soaring up to heaven
MP 108 hath o. pleaded kindred to the king
HLM 503 yet, as she went, full o. look'd behind
HLM 579 we o. kiss it, o. look thereon
*HLC 1561 how o. have we drawn you from above
Ov 839 and of sad lovers I'll be o. read
Ov 1047 but Venus o. to her Mars such brought Ov 1579 o. at length, my wench depart I bid
Ov 1626 ah, o., that her hale [Old eds. haole] head ach'd

Ov 1955 great floods the force of it do o. prove
*LD 14 weary all that come to you with the o. repetition of it
L 528 the flattering sky glitter'd in o. flames
*Epg 86 thither his horse so o. doth him carry [So in ed. A]]
*Epg 86 thither his horse so o. him doth carry [So in MS.]]
*Epg 86 thither his horse doth him so o. carry [So eds. B, G]]
*Epg 194 I have o. [A, B, oft; C, omits] heard thee tell
*Epg 288 Sylla is o. challeng'd to the field
*Epg 462 to rich men's tables he doth ever [Eds. o.] bear
*1H6 740 are o. welcomest when they are gone
*1H6 2417 repeat their semblance o. on the seas
*Con 1412 being so o. burnt in the hand, for stealing of sheep
*2H6 78 did he so o. lodge in open field
*2H6 1482 for things are o. spoke, and seldom meant
*2H6 1583 full o., like a shag-hair'd crafty kern
*2H6 1717 how o. have I tempted Suffolk's tongue
*2H6 2108 how o. hast thou waited at my cup
*TT 124 ay and our colours o. borne in France, and now in *TT 504 how o. did I see him bear himself as doth a
*TT 1316 myself have o. heard him say and swear
*TT 2055 for I have o. heard my mother say
*3H6 133 ay, and their colours o. borne in France
*3H6 1759 myself have o. heard him say, and swear
*3H6 1767 yet I confess, that o. ere this day, when *3H6 2204 and o. but attended with weak guard
*3H6 2923 for I have o. heard my mother say
*E3 726 honour is o. lost, and got again
*E3 1593 and my weary arms with o. blows
*E3 1660 by reason I have o. heard thee say, he and *E3 2480 the dangerous conflicts I have o. had

Oftener.

*Epg 93 for no buff-jerkin hath been o. worn *2H6 771 being call'd a hundred times, and o.

Oftentimes.

*Sel 73 the Christian armies, o. defeated
HLM 47 and o. into her bosom flew

Oft-subdued.

*1H6 561 as you fly from your o. slaves

Ofttimes.

HLM 223 receives no blemish, but o. more grace
*HLC 1724 that though o. she forewent tragedies
L 411 shore which is nor sea nor land, but o. both Oh : : see O

Oil.

*1H6 974 these eyes, like lamps, whose wasting o. is spent *2H6 3103 shall to my flaming wrath, be o. and flax
JM 5 that bought my Spanish os. and wines of Greece
JM 96 about their os. or other businesses
*Epg 396 which praise their os. and powders which they sell !

Oiling.

*Ign 24 o. my saint with supple sonnetting

Ointment.

2T 1625 an o. which a cunning alchymist distilled

Okes.

HL (Title) Printed by N. O. for William Leake

Old.

*Sel (Title) The Catherine-Wheel, near The O. Swan. 1594
*Sel 231 leave to o. men and babes that kind of folly
*Sel 256 my father Bajazet is weak and o.
*Sel 373 unless o. Bajazet do die the death
*Sel 566 nor shall his flight to o. Byzantium
*Sel 914 Mustaffa, while o. Bajazet doth live
*Sel 922 because we would depose o. Bajazet
*Sel 1379 then tear the o. man piecemeal with my teeth
*Sel 1465 or make that o. false traitor bleed his last
*Sel 1511 o. Aga was a prince among your lords
*Sel 1620 I smile to see how that the good o. man
*Sel 1829 faith I am o. as well as Bajazet
*Sel 1836 now know, o. lords, that you have drank your last
*Sel 1921 o. Hali's sons with two great companies
*Sel 1946 I'll betake me to my o. occupation, and run away
*Sel 2126 we thought you had o. Gyges' wondrous ring
*Sel 2203 yet for o. Bajazet loved Mustaffa dear
*Sel 2299 o. Hali's sons do bend their brows at me
*Sel 2432 as fell of force as those o. earth-bred brethren
*Loc 108 drove me and o. Assaracus, mine eam
*Loc 272 and o. Tithonus, husband to the morn
*Loc 551 what, will you any o. shoes or buskins
*Loc 904 amongst the which o. Debon, martial knight
*Loc 1033 dat will zeek to injure your o. vreends
*Loc 1962 worse than the swing of o. Ixion's wheel 1T 459 shoulders as might mainly bear o. Atlas' burden
1T 884 for as, when Jove did thrust o. Saturn down 1T 1873 pity o. age, within whose silver hairs honour and 2T 304 when I am o., and cannot manage arms
2T 736 for whose birth o. Rome was proud
2T 817 will now retain her o. inconstancy
1F 159 that yearly stuffs o. Philip's treasury
1F 269 go, and return an o. Franciscan friar
1F 305 his ghost be with the o. philosophers !
1F 595 tush, these are trifles and mere o. wives' tales
1F 777 I am Covetousness, begotten of an o. churl
1F 778 begotten of an o. churl, in an o. leathern bag 1F 786 when I was scarce half-an-hour o.
2F 151 that yearly stuff'd [1624, 1631, stuffs] o. Philip's treasury
2F 256 go, and return an o. Franciscan friar
2F 289 my ghost be with the o. philosophers !
2F 541 no, these are trifles and mere o. wives' tales
2F 703 Covetousness, begotten of an o. churl, in a leathern bag 2F 721 I leapt out of a lion's mouth when I was scarce an hour o.
2F 1593 what, my o. guess ! [1624, 1631, guests] welcome 2F 1600 what, my o. guest !
JM 110 and herein was o. Abraham's happiness
JM 630 now I remember those o. women's words
JM 851 let me see, sirrah ; are you not an o. shaver ?
JM 1728 whom I saluted with an o. hempen proverb
E2 767 mine o. lord, whiles he liv'd, was so precise
E2 1341 welcome, o. man : : com'st thou in Edward's aid ?
E2 1354 welcome ten thousand times, o. man, again !
E2 1478 and have o. servitors in high esteem
E2 1957 that waits your pleasure, and the day grows o.
E2 2153 for now we hold an o. wolf by the ears
E2 2292 thus lives o. Edward not reliev'd by any MP 689 am I grown o. or is thy lust grown young ?
MP 1080 especially with our o. mother's help
D 453 as therewithal the o. man overcome, kiss'd him
D 493 o. men with swords thrust through their aged sides
D 552 from the navel to the throat at once he ripped o. Priam
D 556 and dipp'd it in the o. king's chill-cold blood
D 836 avaunt, o. witch ! and trouble not my wits
D 1190 will Dido raise o. Priam forth his grave
D 1393 say Dido what she will, I am not o.

D 1432 callèd Anchisaeon, of my o. father's name
D 1488 and raise a new foundation to o. Troy
Ov 364 give ear, — there is an o. trot, Dipsas hight
Ov 376 and her o. body in birds' plumes to lie
Ov 475 the gods send thee no house, a poor o. age
Ov 482 'tis shame for eld [ed. C, o.] in war or love to be Ov 653 now o'er [ed. A, on] the sea, from her o. love comes she Ov 709 fastening her light web some o. beam about?
Ov 754 she holds and views her o. locks in her lap
Ov 1015 a young wench pleaseth, and an o. is good Ov 1110 which do perchance o. age unto them give Ov 1678 an o. wood stands, uncut of long year's space
Ov 1948 I speak o. poets' wonderful inventions
Ov 2059 I prove neither youth nor man, but o. and rusty
Ov 2159 yet when o. Saturn heaven's rule possess'd Ov 2417 there stands an o. wood, with thick trees dark-clouded
*LD 5 which, in regard of your o. right in it, I have L 45 (seeing thou, being o., must shine a star)
L 74 time ends, and to o. Chaos all things turn
L 122 that late deeds would dim o. triumphs
L 138 bearing o. spoils and conquerors' monuments
L 165 and scorn'd o. sparing diet
L 220 and watery moon being three days o., enforc'd
L 244 o. swords with ugly teeth of black rust foully scarr'd
L 343 whither now shall these o. bloodless souls repair?
L 552 and the Alps shook the o. snow from off their L 583 as their o. custom was, they call th' Etrurian augurs
Dia 25 fie, Nan, why use thy o. lover so
*AT 7 'tis of a man in crime grown o.
*Epg 80 Faustus, nor [Eds. not] lord nor knight, nor wise nor o.
*Epg 105 for that it was his grandsire's [MS. fathers] chain of o.
*Epg 200 corrects o. Holinshed our famous chronicler
*Epg 203 accounts the time of every o. event, not from *Epg 226 more terse and neat than the new garden of O. Temple is *Epg 234 doth, above all, praise o. George [A, omits] Gascoigne's rhymes
*Epg 364 this o. mad colt deserves a martyr's praise
*Epg 504 leaving [MS. and leaves] o. Ployden, Dyer, and Brooke alone
*Epg 505 to see o. Harry Hunkes and Sacarson [MS. Sakerstone]
*1H6 218 of o. I know them; rather with their teeth the *1H6 235 excepting the nine sibyls of o. Rome
*1H6 280 out of a great deal of o. iron, I chose forth
*1H6 688 bring forth the body of o. Salisbury
*1H6 1402 then be it so: heavens keep o. Bedford safe
*1H6 1424 I think her o. familiar is asleep
*1H6 1549 when I was young (as yet I am not o.)
*1H6 2029 before young Talbot from o. Talbot fly
*1H6 2072 now my o. arms are young John Talbot's grave
*1H6 2127 I think this upstart is o. Talbot's ghost
*Con 330 our king is o. enough himself, to give his answer
*Con 332 if he be o. [Q2 bold] enough, what needs your grace to *Con 471 and 'twas ten to one, o. Joan had not gone out
*Con 1861 now by my father's age [? badge], o. Nevil's crest
*Con 1928 as o. Anchises' son did bear his aged father
*Con 1947 but did you see o. Salisbury, since we with *Con 1950 that aught but well betide that good o. man
*Con 1952 charging his lance with his o. weary arms
*2H6 481 the king is o. enough himself to give his censure
*2H6 483 if he be o. enough, what needs your grace to be *2H6 673 and ten to one, o. Joan had not gone out
*2H6 2702 but I was made a king at nine months o.
*2H6 2992 o. Salisbury, shame to thy silver hair
*2H6 3001 why art thou o., and want'st experience?
*2H6 3032 now by my father's badge, o. Nevil's crest
*2H6 3099 York not our o. men spares
*2H6 3109 come thou new ruin of o. Clifford's house
*2H6 3110 as did Aeneas o. Anchises bear, so
*2H6 3153 so was his will, in his o. feeble body
*TT 108 when I was crown'd I was but nine months o.
*TT 109 you are o. enough now and yet methinks you lose
*TT 766 yes, and o. York too, and yet not satisfied
*TT 1766 'tis even so, and yet you are o. Warwick still *3H6 115 when I was crown'd, I was but nine months o.
*3H6 116 you are o. enough now, and yet
*3H6 911 ay, and o. York, and yet not satisfied
*3H6 1388 I was anointed king at nine months o.
*3H6 1841 and I forgive, and quite forget o. faults
*3H6 2366 the good o. man would fain that all were well
*3H6 2891 and many an o. man's sigh, and many a widow's
*E3 635 and that my o. endeavour will remove it
*E3 1483 no otherwise than did o. Jacob's words
*E3 1991 ah, good o. man, a thousand thousand armours these

Olive.
EPF 14 the tamarisk, o., and the almond tree
*3H6 2265 adjudg'd an o. branch, and laurel crown
Ov 1494 and some few pastures Pallas' os. bore

Oliver.
*Loc 1029 nay, neighbour O., if you be so hot
*Loc 1071 Ay, but hear you, goodman O.
*1H6 208 England all Os. and Rowlands breed

Olive-tree.
E2 64 in his sportful hands an o.

Olympia.
2T 1567 distress'd O., whose weeping eyes, since thy 2T 1580 well met, O.: I sought thee
2T 1587 tell me, O., wilt thou grant my suit?
2T 1594 O., pity him in whom thy looks have 2T 1643 I will, O., and will keep it for the richest present 2T 1647 here, then, O. — [Stabs her
D 778 this man and I were at O.'s [Old ed. Olympus] games

Olympiad.
*HLC 1647 thought an O. in Leander's stay

Olympian.
*3H6 1045 such rewards as victors wear at the O. games

Olympus.
*Sel 2437 hurled mount O. at great Mars his targe
*Loc 719 hurl'd mount O. at great Mars his targe
D 778 this man and I were at Olympia's [Old ed. O.] games
HLM 460 and aged Saturn in O. dwell
1F 850 did mount himself to scale O.' top
2F 571 did mount himself to scale O.' top [Dyce omits]
2F 812 did mount him [Not in 1631] up to scale O.' top
Ov 857 and how O.' top high Ossa bore

Ominous.
1T 1660 and may this banquet prove as o. as Progne's
*HLC 1389 these o. fancies did her soul express
*HLC 1644 bears an ivory lute, tells o. tales
L 112 with o. howls bare down to hell her son
L 556 o. birds defil'd the day

*1H6 1788 thou o. and fearful owl of death
*TT 1064 for Gloster's dukedom is too o.
*3H6 1309 for Gloster's dukedom is too o.
Omitted.
*1TA 7 I have purposely o. and left out some fond and Omitting.
*2H6 1988 o. Suffolk's exile, my soul's treasure ?
Omnes.
*Loc 798 Diique deaeque o., Albanum tollite regem
1F 965 et o. Sancti ! Amen !
Omnia.
*Loc 384 Regit o. numen
Omnipotence.
1F 81 of power, of honour, of o.
2F 79 of power, of honour, and o., is promis'd to Omnipotent.
2T 588 Thou, Christ, that art esteem'd o.
Omnium.
*Sel 1960 Justice of peace, ad quorum, and o. populorum
Omphale.
*Loc 1213 yielded his valiant heart to O.
On.
*TT 524 Oh one that was a woeful looker-o.
*3H6 649 ah, one that was a woeful looker-o., whenas the Oncaymaeon.
1F 39 bid O. [Dyce, Economy] farewell
Once.
*SP 7 and daunted o., his force again renew
*Sel 53 poor Hali Bashaw having o. sped well
*Sel 157 these branch-like veins which o. did gird my arms
*Sel 418 if Selimus were o. your emperor I'd *Sel 433 and death o. come then all alike are sped
*Sel 612 for that if o. thou hadst been laid in grave
*Sel 622 but when thou o. art dead, which of them
*Sel 648 Selimus, o. thy son, but now thy foe
*Sel 803 but, when you o. have got the regiment
*Sel 902 nor sought his death, nor o. abused him
*Sel 1069 o. more will Bajazet be emperor
*Sel 1227 thou o. wast noted for a quiet prince
*Sel 1489 those are the hands which Aga o. did use to *Sel 1538 will Fortune favour me yet o. again ?
*Sel 1540 well, if I chance but o. to get the deck
*Sel 1544 friend, let me see thy letter o. again
*Sel 1553 that I might o. the imperial army lead
*Sel 1559 lest I should o. again rise up in arms
*Sel 1575 now o. again have at the Turkish throne
*Sel 1624 for if I o. get 'mongst the janissars
*Sel 1704 Corcut o. dead, then Acomat remains
*Sel 1724 and would your grace would o. but taste of them
*Sel 1809 suffer not o. the joyful daylight peep
*Sel 1925 if they had o. but set their eyes on me
*Sel 2138 then let me freely speak my mind this o.
*Sel 2432 earth-bred brethren, which o. heap'd hill on hill
*Loc 693 bold, as o. to menace warlike Albanact ?
*Loc 1274 o. was I guarded with Mavortial bands
*Loc 1394 pardon this o., and it shall be amended 1T 130 pass [4to hast] into Graecia, as did Cyrus o.
1T 943 not [4to nor] o. to set his foot in [4to on] Africa 1T 1470 and make it swallow both of us at o. !
1T 1558 but, if he stay until the bloody flag be o. advanc'd
2T 56 o. lost, all Turkey would be overthrown 2T 994 in my blood wash all your hands at o.
2T 1431 be put in the front of such a battle o. !
2T 1460 good my lord, let him be forgiven for o. [8vo one]
2T 1705 come o. in fury, and survey his pride 2T 1954 die. — Shoot at him all at o.
1F 309 was not that Lucifer an angel o. ?
1F 940 o. again, my lord, fall to 1F 1527 to fetch both body and soul, if I o. gave ear to divinity
2F 293 was not that Lucifer an angel o. ?
2F 1254 I am content, for this o., to thrust my head out at 2F 2010 if I o. gave ear to divinity
2F 2148 a scholar o. admir'd for wondrous knowledge
*FB 34 woe to the time that o. did foster me !
JM 454 but they will give me leave o. more, I trow, to JM 951 o. at Jerusalem, where the pilgrims kneel'd
JM 1247 because the prior dispossess'd thee o.
JM 1355 that I bought of an Italian, in Ancona, o.
JM 2077 o. more, away with him !
JM 2203 for sith, as o. you said, within this isle, in E2 631 o. more receive my hand ; and let this be E2 735 and would have o. preferr'd me to the king
E2 986 in the field with banner spread, but o. ?
E2 1162 yet o. more I'll importune him with prayer
E2 1175 to see [1598, these] his royal sovereign o. again
E2 1235 will, if he seize him o., violate any promise
E2 1396 brave their king : God end them o.
E2 2049 two kings in England cannot reign at o.
E2 2144 death ends all, and I can die but o.
E2 2439 at our command. — O. more, away with him !
MP 37 dares o. adventure, without the king's consent
MP 297 now, Guise, shall Catholics flourish o. again !
MP 366 and mean o. more to menace us
MP 596 welcome from Poland, Henry, o. again !
MP 1239 die, wounded and poison'd both at o. ?
MPF 12 what though you were o. in possession
MPF 13 yet coming upon you o. unawares
D 12 I vow, if she but o. frown on thee more
D 15 as o. I did for harming Hercules !
D 93 which, o. perform'd, poor Troy, so long suppress'd
D 95 and flourish o. again, that erst was dead
D 293 might we but o. more see Aeneas' face, then D 525 he, with his falchion's point rais'd up at o., and D 551 from the navel to the throat at o. he ripped old Priam
D 782 with this gentleman, unless I be deceiv'd, disputed o.
D 908 be it as you will have [it] for this o.
D 1068 it hail'd, it snow'd, it lighten'd, all at o.
D 1198 to leave her so, and not o. say farewell
D 1338 and o. again conspire against the life of me
D 1605 o. didst thou go, and he came back again
HLM 461 and o. again Saturn and Ops began their HLM 505 and o. she stay'd, and would have turn'd again
HLM 584 'tis [V. R. this] lost but o., and o. lost, lost for ever HLM 637 but love resisted o., grows passionate
*HLC 909 yet did the gentle flock transfer o. more this
*HLC 1119 one soul did deal with both affairs at o.
*HLC 1254 for where he o. is, he is ever there
*HLC 1896 but Love, o. enter'd, wish'd no greater aid Ov 1259 Graecinus (well I wot), thou told'st me o.
Ov 1260 I could not be in love with two at o.
L 118 made all shake hands, as o. the Sabines did
L 317 and, having o. got head, still shall he reign ?
*Ign 42 nor for thy love will I o. gnash a brick
*AT 41 he had a friend o., gay and greene
*Epg 143 Leuca in presence o. a fart did let *Epg 165 strives to be deliver'd of all his thoughts at o.
*Epg 172 to issue all at [A, a] o. so forward are *Epg 175 the false knave Flaccus o. a bribe I gave

Ov 2342 leave thy o.-powerful words, and flatteries
*1H6 68 these news would cause him o. more yield the ghost
*1H6 141 durst not presume to look o. in the face
*1H6 288 my heart and hands thou hast at o. subdu'd
*1H6 318 ship, which Caesar and his fortune bare at o.
*1H6 418 I myself fight not o. in forty year
*1H6 499 o. in contempt they would have barter'd me
*1H6 836 then say at o., if I maintain'd the truth
*1H6 931 were growing time o. ripen'd to my will *1H6 1208 behold my sighs and tears, and will not o. relent ?
*1H6 1320 and o. again we'll sleep secure in Roan
*1H6 1325 which o. discern'd, shows that her meaning is *1H6 1396 for o. I read, that stout Pendragon
*1H6 1503 when Talbot hath set footing o. in France
*1H6 2077 o. I encounter'd him, and thus I said
*1H6 2168 if o. he come to be a cardinal
*1H6 2231 help me this o., that France may get the field
*1H6 2277 yet if this servile usage o. offend, go
*1H6 2576 if o. it be neglected, ten to one we shall not *1H6 2699 goes as did the youthful Paris o. to Greece
*Con 132 Anjou and Maine, both given away at o.
*Con 536 never but o. sir in all my life
*Con 796 nor offer o. to draw a weapon here
*Con 1236 o. by the king, but three times thrice by thee
*Con 1513 yet stay, I'll read the letter one [Q2 Q3 o.] again
*Con 1577 I never sealed to anything but o.
*Con 1934 and o. again when I have borne my father to *2H6 518 with walking o. about the quadrangle
*2H6 1029 two pulls at o. ; his lady banish'd, and a *2H6 1275 my lords at o. : the care you have of us
*2H6 1964 banished, o. by the king, and three times thrice by thee
*2H6 2278 for I did but o. seal to a thing, and I was never *2H6 2415 but stay, I'll read it over o. again
*TT 216 colours, will follow mine if o. they see them spread
*TT 252 and o. more claim the crown
*TT 367 Oh Clifford, yet bethink thee o. again
*TT 530 who all at o. let drive at him
*TT 650 and o. again bestride our foaming steeds
*TT 651 and o. again cry charge upon the foe
*TT 652 but never o. again turn back and fly
*TT 889 away, away, o. more sweet lords farewell
*TT 1422 should o. gainsay your highness' pleasure
*TT 1663 I am resolv'd o. more to claim the crown
*TT 1727 and o. again convey him to the Tower
*TT 1853 and o. more try our fortune in the field
*TT 1863 are landed, and mean o. more to menace us
*TT 1877 o. more have we spread our sails abroad
*TT 1883 for o. with careful minds guide on the stern
*TT 2003 the bird o. lim'd doth fear the fatal bush
*TT 2080 o. more we sit in England's royal [Q3 omits] throne
*3H6 230 or felt that pain which I did for him o.
*3H6 261 will follow mine, if o. they see them spread
*3H6 463 Oh Clifford, but bethink thee o. again
*3H6 786 and o. again, bestride our foaming steeds
*3H6 787 and o. again cry Charge upon our foes
*3H6 788 but never o. again turn back and fly
*3H6 1040 away, away : o. more sweet lords farewell
*3H6 1862 let me give humble thanks for all, at o.
*3H6 1961 and for this o., my will shall stand for law
*3H6 2189 to set the crown o. more on Henry's head
*3H6 2192 (for trust not him that hath o. broken faith)
*3H6 2336 that o. more I shall interchange my waned state
*3H6 2350 my liege, I'll knock o. more to summon them
*3H6 2360 but when the fox hath o. got in his nose
*3H6 2425 and that o. gotten, doubt not of large pay
*3H6 2456 Montague, and all at o., o. more a happy farewell
*3H6 2478 and o. again proclaim us King of England
*3H6 2700 for o. allow'd the skilful pilot's charge ?
*3H6 2947 o. more we sit in England's royal throne
*E3 155 march, and o. more repulse the trait'rous Scots
*E3 727 but life, o. gone, hath no recovery
*E3 1237 publish'd by one that was a friar o.
*E3 1661 he and thyself were students o. together
*E3 1673 thus o. I mean to try a Frenchman's faith
*E3 1795 to kill, my lord, when war is o. proclaim'd
*E3 1799 and when we o. have sworn, not to infringe it
*E3 1842 o. we are sure we have ensnar'd the son
*E3 2057 and at o. despatch this little business
*E3 2177 make up o. more with me
*E3 2195 that o. to-day sent me a horse to fly

One.

*Sel 313 and every o. his life in peace did pass
*Sel 1014 whom waves do toss o. way and winds another
*Sel 1043 to flesh their anger o. upon another
*Sel 1242 now scour the streets, and leave not o. alive
*Sel 1394 is to be fear'd and curs'd of every o.
*Sel 1522 and he must be o. of the royal blood
*Sel 1641 with o. assent have crown'd prince Selimus
*Sel 1688 then o. of the Hydra's heads is clean cut off
*Sel 1742 and o. of these shall still maintain my cause
*Sel 1914 and gape and long o. for the other's ends ?
*Loc 62 then, worthy lord, since there's no way but o.
*Loc 298 with o. of his vengible bird-bolts
*Loc 376 your subjects every o. must needs obey
*Loc 448 and thus consorted all to o. effect
*Loc 476 yet would we not start back o. foot from them
*Loc 584 I will resign it to o. of these poor fellows
*Loc 804 yet o. word, good master
*Loc 1034 your old friends, o. of your vamiliar guests
*Loc 1324 o. dram of joy must have a pound of care
*Loc 1451 I am now become o. of the richest men in our parish
*Loc 1988 let me never see o. prosperous hour if
*Loc 2015 o. mischief follows on another's neck
*1TA 14 leave unto your learned censures both the o. and the other 1T 332 we'll fight, five hundred men-at-arms to o.
1T 623 would make o. thirst [8vo thrust ; 4to thrist] and strive to be 1T 724 for o. that knew not what a king should do
1T 725 to o. that can command what 'longs thereto
1T 833 and, since we all have suck'd o. wholesome air 1T 918 under the conduct of o. Tamburlaine
1T 927 moon begins to join in o. her semicircled horns
1T 1022 how can you fancy o. that looks so fierce 1T 1183 to talk with o. so base as Tamburlaine ?
1T 1352 where they shall meet and join their force in o.
1T 1361 come, bind them both, and o. lead in the Turk
1T 1563 not o. should scape, but perish by our swords 1T 1584 let us unite our royal bands in o.
1T 1961 if these had made o. poem's period
1T 1964 o. thought, o. grace, o. wonder, at the least 1T 1993 as if there were no way but o. with us
2T 253 and every o. commander of a world
2T 268 water and air, being symboliz'd in o.
2T 428 or cease o day from war

2T 583 nor is in o. place circumscriptible
2T 778 o. [4to our] epitaph writ in as many several languages
2T 980 that by the wars lost not o. drop [4to dram] of blood
2T 1102 o. minute and our days, and o. sepulchre
2T 1197 not o. of them shall live
2T 1460 good my lord, let him be forgiven for once [8vo o.]
2T 1787 tremble every o. at every little breath
2T 2046 but o. host is left to honour thee
2T 2187 there should not o. of all the villain's power live
1F 291 for when we hear o. rack the name of God
1F 422 say I should kill o. of them, what would folks say?
1F 580 hath no limits, nor is circumscrib'd in o. self place 1F 607 fetch me o., for I will have o.
1F 641 nay, let me have o. book more, — and then I have done
1F 683 are all celestial bodies but one globe
1F 688 all jointly move upon o. axletree
1F 692 but, tell me, have they all o. motion
1F 716 conjunctions, oppositions, aspects, eclipses, all at o. time 1F 829 I am o. that loves an inch of raw mutton better than 1F 872 thorough a rock of stone, in o. night's space
1F 874 in midst [Dyce, o.] of which a sumptuous temple stands 1F 898 as match the days within o. complete year 1F 978 amongst the rest the Emperor is o.
1F 984 here I ha' stolen o. of Doctor Faustus' conjuring-books
1F 1012 that's o. of my conjuring works
1F 1070 vanish villains, th' o. like an ape [So quartos. — Dyce, omits] 1F 1174 o. of you call him forth
1F 1211 I have been all this day seeking o. Master Fustian
1F 1227 but I must tell you o. thing before you have him; ride
1F 1434 o. thing, good servant, let me crave of thee
1F 1548 now hast thou but o. bare hour to live
1F 1561 o. drop would save my soul, half a drop: ah
2F 275 for when we hear o. rack the name of God
2F 528 no limits, nor is circumscrib'd in o. self-place
2F 604 are all celestial bodies but o. globe
2F 609 and jointly move upon o. axletree
2F 613 but have they all o. motion, both situ et tempore?
2F 636 resolve me, then, in this o. question
2F 638 all at o. time, but in some years we have more 2F 748 I am o. that loves an inch of raw mutton 2F 765 I have gotten o. of Doctor Faustus' conjuring-books 2F 804 and we 'll not pay o. penny for it 2F 848 through a rock of stone, in o. night's space
2F 850 in o. of which a sumptuous temple stands 2F 863 all's o., for we'll be bold with his venison 2F 877 within the compass of o. complete year 2F 1576 murder or not murder, now he has [1631, hath] but o. leg 2F 1587 o. to whom I must be no niggard of my cunning 2F 1628 for I have heard of o. that has eat a load of logs 2F 1652 and has the doctor but o. leg, then?
2F 1653 for o. of his devils turned me into the likeness of 2F 1760 yes, I remember I sold o. a horse
2F 1772 I pray you, tell me o. thing
2F 1784 you should have a wooden bed-fellow of o. of 'em
2F 1786 did not I [1624, I not] pull off o. of your legs
2F 1893 o. thing, good servant, let me crave of thee
2F 2079 now hast thou but o. bare hour to live
2F 2092 o. drop of blood will save me: O my Christ!
2F 2142 for, 'twixt the hours of twelve and o.
*FB 61 at last, when I had but o. hour to come
*JMS 23 in Hero and Leander o. did gain a lasting memory
*JMS 27 whom we may rank with (doing no o. wrong) Proteus for JM 29 as o. of them, indifferently rated, and JM 131 many in France, and wealthy every o.
JM 141 but o. sole daughter, whom I hold as dear as JM 191 howe'er the world go, I'll make sure of o.
JM 230 go o. and call those Jews of Malta hither
JM 268 and each of them to pay o. half of his estate
JM 299 and better o. want for a common good, than JM 379 you were a multitude, and I but o.
JM 386 but for every o. of those, had they been valu'd
JM 634 and now methinks that I am o. of those JM 689 but o. amongst the rest became our prize
JM 760 o. that I love for his good father's sake
JM 862 I must have o. that's sickly
JM 865 let me see o. that's somewhat leaner
JM 939 and now and then o. hang himself for grief
JM 948 o. time I was an hostler in an inn
JM 1066 stay her, but let her not speak o. word more
JM 1128 the time has been, that but for o. bare night
JM 1191 interr'd within o. sacred monument of stone
JM 1233 I pray, mistress, will you answer me to o. question?
JM 1235 a very feeling o.: have not the nuns fine sport with the friars JM 1273 O, therefore, Jacomo, let me be o.
JM 1461 and o. offence torments me more than all
JM 1501 now all are dead, not o. remains alive
JM 1589 come to my house at o. o'clock this night
JM 1609 the Turk shall be o. of my godfathers
JM 1617 o. turn'd my daughter, therefore he shall die
JM 1657 What time o' night is 't now, sweet Ithamore? — Towards o.
JM 1694 when holy friars turn devils and murder o. another?
JM 1742 he gave me a letter from o. Madam Bellamira
JM 1862 O, that ten thousand nights were put in one
JM 1876 like o. that is employ'd in catzery and JM 2002 dost know a Jew, o. Barabas?
JM 2025 o. letter more to the Jew
JM 2027 prithee, sweet love, o. more, and write it sharp
JM 2059 o. dram of powder more had made all sure
JM 2107 o. that can spy a place where you may enter
JM 2235 to perform o. stratagem that I'll impart to thee
JM 2257 that at o. instant all things be done
JM 2418 all's o., for with thy galleys couldst thou not get hence
E2 159 for o. of greater birth than Gaveston
E2 181 thou shouldst not plod o. foot beyond this place
E2 226 vouchsafes for vailing of his bonnet, o. good look
E2 401 if I be king, not a, of them shall live
E2 582 such a o. as my Lord of Cornwall is E2 700 but this I scorn, that o. so basely-born
E2 730 may with o. word advance us while we live
E2 775 but o. of those that saith quandoquidem
E2 816 a homely o., my lord, not worth the telling
E2 1199 that heading is o., and hanging is the other
E2 1246 my Lord Mortimer, and you, my lords, each o.
E2 1762 and, Edward, thou art o. among them all
E2 1900 not o. alive: but shrewdly I suspect a
E2 2252 I tell thee, 'tis not meet that o. so false

E2 2322 soldiers, let me but talk to him o. word
E2 2369 or, whilst o. is asleep, to take a quill
E2 2513 o. plays continually upon a drum
E2 2536 o. jewel have I left; receive thou this MP 141 in o. cloister keep five hundred
MP 438 that you were o. that made this massacre
MP 450 spare not o. that you suspect of heresy
MP 672 where we may o. enjoy the other's sight
MP 680 to such a o., my lord, as, when she MP 1007 I am o. of them that is set to murder you!
MP 1079 these two will make o. entire Duke of Guise
D 40 but, as this o., I'll tear them all from him
D 97 who with the sun divides o. radiant shape
D 194 or o. of chaste Diana's fellow-nymphs
D 196 and lighten our extremes with this o. boon
D 236 not o. of them hath perish'd in the storm
D 382 this is no seat for o. that's comfortless
D 405 and scarcely do agree upon o. point
D 448 his eyes turn'd up to heaven, as o. resolv'd to die
D 460 o. Laocoon, breaking a spear upon his hollow breast
D 789 and yet, God knows, entangled unto o.
D 810 but not so much for thee, — thou art but o.
D 866 we two, as friends, o. fortune will divide
D 890 and both our deities, conjoin'd in o., shall D 903 then in o. cave the queen and he shall meet
D 946 ay, mother; I shall o. day be a man
D 983 and with o. shaft provoke ten thousand darts
D 1034 I follow o. that loveth fame for [Dyce, 'fore] me
D 1181 we may, as o., sail into Italy
D 1632 I am as true as any o. of yours
*HLD 14 a double duty, the o. to yourself, the other to the deceased
HLM 10 the o. Abydos, the other Sestos hight HLM 45 but this is true; so like was o. the other, as HLM 131 there might you see o. sigh; another rage
HLM 145 where by o. hand light-headed Bacchus hung
HLM 176 we wish that o. should lose, the other win
HLM 177 and o. especially do we affect of two gold ingots
HLM 187 he started up; she blush'd as o. asham'd HLM 230 as heaven preserves all things, so save thou o.
HLM 242 in time it will return us two for o.
HLM 261 o. is no number
HLM 263 wilt thou live single still? o. shalt thou be HLM 277 no, nor to any o. exterior sense
HLM 296 some o. or other keeps you as his own
HLM 390 nor would vouchsafe so much as o. poor word
HLM 396 glister'd with dew, as o. that seem'd to scorn it
HLM 502 wherewith, as o. displeas'd, away she trips
HLM 814 o. [V. R. and] half appear'd, the other half was hid
*HLC 970 o. way look'd ill, another graciously
*HLC 975 o. hand a mathematic crystal sways
*HLC 976 which, gathering in o. line a thousand rays
*HLC 1017 to look of o. abash'd is impudence
*HLC 1115 two souls, o. for the face, o. for the heart
*HLC 1118 o. soul did deal with both affairs at once
*HLC 1120 both at o. instant contrary effects [V. R. affects]
*HLC 1122 for this o. vice of ours, that forms the thought
*HLC 1202 such virtue love hath to make o. of two
*HLC 1207 two constant lovers being join'd in o.
*HLC 1208 yielding to o. another, yield to none
*HLC 1330 she wrought a sea, in o. flame, full of ships
*HLC 1331 but that o. ship where all her wealth did pass
*HLC 1385 o. to the vine, another to her scrip
*HLC 1598 and o. she choos'd, for temper [V. R. tempter] of her mind
*HLC 1603 o. that was her servant vow'd
*HLC 1656 ten times in o., in persons full of note
*HLC 1673 but want of feeling o. another's ill!
*HLC 1732 every o. so hears, as all their senses climb'd
*HLC 1838 at length, o. cheering other, call for wine
*HLC 1843 o. lights another, face the face displays
*HLC 1866 as two clear tapers mix in o. their light
*HLC 1941 Hymen goes o., the nymph another way
*HLC 1960 gripp'd all their beauties, and crush'd out o. flame
*HLC 1971 but the midst holds o. to rejoin it ever
*HLC 1984 for o. no number is
*HLC 2003 bind in o. self-sacred knot each other's [V. R. other] mind
*HLC 2010 o. of Juno's birds, the painted jay
*HLC 2047 that every o. a shower of confits rains
*HLC 2226 nor did Nature propose o. life to maids
*HLC 2282 and then hath o. point reach'd, then alters all
*HLC 2309 no o. mean there was to get his love home
*HLC 2318 «Oft have you view'd in o. heaven many stars
*HLC 2319 but never yet in o. star many heavens
*HLC 2330 thickening for haste, o. in another, so
*HLC 2358 and such space did take 'twixt o. another Ov 10 began to smile, and took [A, take] o. foot away
Ov 106 I love but o., and her [A, he] I love change never Ov 193 o. window shut, the other open stood
Ov 205 and striving thus, as o. that would be cast
Ov 208 not o. wen in her body could I spy
Ov 400 each o. according to his gifts respect
Ov 402 to yield their love to more than o. disdain'd
Ov 416 nor o. or two men are sufficient
Ov 447 nor, if thou cozen'st o., dread to forswear
Ov 495 o. as a spy doth to his enemies go
Ov 559 why should o. sell it, and the other buy it?
Ov 672 that with o. word hath nigh himself undone
Ov 688 not o. in heaven should be more base and vile!
Ov 698 made two nights o. to finish up his pleasure
Ov 979 no o. face likes me best; all faces move
Ov 989 before Callimachus o. prefers me far
Ov 995 and when o. sweetly sings, then straight I long to Ov 997 or if o. touch the lute with art and cunning
Ov 1002 some o. of these might make the chastest fall
Ov 1007 I think what o. undeck'd would be, being drest [Not in ed. A]
Ov 1136 there lives the phoenix, o. alone bird ever Ov 1149 o. among many is, to grieve thee, took Ov 1198 well mayst thou o. thing for thy mistress use
Ov 1270 was not o. wench enough to grieve my heart?
Ov 1279 let o. wench cloy me with sweet love's delight
Ov 1280 if one can do't; if not, two every night
Ov 1318 and what each o. speaks believe
Ov 1398 turn thy looks hither, and in o. spare twain
Ov 1455 forgive her, gracious gods, this o. delict
Ov 1476 I would not out, might I in o. place hit Ov 1545 since some fair o. I should of force obey!
Ov 1570 but sundry floods in o. bank never go
Ov 1572 nor in my books shall o. but thou be writ
Ov 1685 and o., I think, was longer, of her feet
Ov 1740 with sceptres and high buskins th' o. would dress me
Ov 1821 o. slow we favour: Romans, him revoke
Ov 1923 cannot a fair o., if not chaste, please thee?
Ov 2061 or o. that with her tender brother lies
Ov 2103 and o. gave place still as another came Ov 2104 yet notwithstanding, like o. dead it lay

Ov 2141 canst touch that hand wherewith some o. lie[s] dead ?
Ov 2170 and to thine own [ed. C, thy o.] loss was thy wit swift running Ov 2186 o. her [Old eds. she] commands, who many things can give Ov 2223 the o. his first love, th' other his new care
Ov 2480 like o. start up, your hair toss'd and displac'd
*LD 17 o. special virtue in our patrons of these days
L 56 if any o. part of vast heaven thou swayest
L 97 a town with o. poor church set them at odds
L 272 o. that was fee'd for Caesar, and whose tongue
L 469 o. swears his troop of daring horsemen fought
L 518 and wilt not trust thy city-walls o. night
L 520 lest some o. might ease the commons' jangling minds
L 586 o. that knew the hearts of beasts, and L 627 o. half did look dead and discolour'd
L 650 the death of many men meets in o. period
Dia 50 but o. of these my love must be
*AT 4 a tale of fear ; a true o. it shall be
*AT 23 but brake his leg in o. lewd scene
*AT 69 of o. who was his rival foe
*Epg 32 but speaks not o. wise word throughout the year
*Epg 134 but he devours more capons in a [B, C, o.] year than *Epg 135 than would suffice an [A, a ; MS. o.] hundred protestants
*Epg 223 only for that he came too much at [Dyce, on] o. — So eds.
*Epg 223 only for that he comes too much o. [= on] o. — So MS.
*Epg 355 to make myself his wench but o. half-hour
*Epg 263 so, neither of us understanding either [B, C, o. an other ; MS. other]
*Epg 323 the man that keeps the elephant hath o.
*Epg 395 O, that [MS. if] I were o. of these [MS. the] mountebanks
*Epg 449 to Gill's [A and MS. Gilles ; B, C, Gyls] where he doth eat till o.
*Epg 488 shall, if he do [MS. doth] return, gain three for o.
*Epg 489 but ten to o., his knowledge and [MS. or] his wit will not EPF 15 as kind companions, in o. union grows
*1H6 75 o. would have lingering wars, with little cost *1H6 82 of England's coat, o. half is cut away
*1H6 152 four of their lords I'll change for o. of ours
*1H6 186 faintly besiege us o. hour in a month
*1H6 199 when he sees me go back o. foot, or fly
*1H6 204 he fighteth as o. weary of his life
*1H6 212 it sendeth forth to skirmish : o. to ten ?
*1H6 392 o. that still motions war, and never peace
*1H6 478 here, through this grate, I count each o.
*1H6 493 o. of thy eyes, and thy cheek's side struck off ?
*1H6 501 o. eye thou hast to look to heaven for grace
*1H6 502 the sun with o. eye vieweth all the world
*1H6 575 that bloom'd o. day, and fruitful were the next *1H6 632 that if it chance the o. of us do fail
*1H6 698 upon the which, that every o. may read
*1H6 1006 that I may kindly give o. fainting kiss
*1H6 1076 which giveth many wounds, when o. will kill *1H6 1132 it is because no o. should sway but he *1H6 1133 no o., but he, should be about the king
*1H6 1140 o. imperious in another's throne ?
*1H6 1181 do pelt so fast at o. another's pate
*1H6 1276 that grudge o. thought against your majesty
*1H6 1450 o. sudden foil shall never breed distrust
*1H6 1493 o. drop of blood drawn from thy country's bosom
*1H6 1599 and that the French were almost ten to o.
*1H6 1732 that any o. therefore should be suspicious
*1H6 1956 you fled for vantage, every o. will swear
*1H6 1962 shall all thy mother's hopes lie in o. tomb ?
*1H6 2014 the help of o. stands me in little stead
*1H6 2016 to hazard all our lives in o. small boat
*1H6 2020 'tis but the short'ning of my life o. day
*1H6 2150 strife should reign among professors of o. faith *1H6 2161 so let them have their answers every o.
*1H6 2210 divided into two parties, is now conjoin'd in o.
*1H6 2576 ten to o. we shall not find like opportunity *1H6 2626 or o. that at a triumph, having vow'd to *Con 33 with o. voice welcome my beloved queen
*Con 128 then let us join all three in o. for this *Con 239 from o. that hired me to set her on *Con 317 or York, or Somerset, all's o. [Q1 wonne] to me
*Con 471 and 'twas ten to o., old Joan had not gone out
*Con 557 but clothes and gowns ere this day many a o.
*Con 580 then send for o. presently
*Con 650[a] and left him o. only daughter, named Philippe [So in Q3]
*Con 869 but now let o. meet him even in the morn
*Con 870 when every o. will give the time of day
*Con 1209 my hair be fixt on end, as o. distraught
*Con 1276 Oh death, if thou wilt let me live but o. whole year
*Con 1312 Gualtier or Water [Q2 Walter], all's o. to me
*Con 1425 for his breath stinks so, that o. cannot abide it
*Con 1471 and o. of them was stolen away by a
*Con 1506 licence to kill four-score and o. a-week
*Con 1513 yet stay, I'll read the letter o. [Q2 Q3 once] again
*Con 1908 be this the day of doom to o. of us
*Con 1925 nor never shall I sleep secure o. night, till
*Con 1927 and left not o. of them to breathe on earth
*Con 1931 but stay, here's o. of them to whom my *2H6 36 lords, with o. cheerful voice, welcome my love
*2H6 276 as to vouchsafe o. glance unto the ground
*2H6 464 so o. by o. we'll weed them all at last
*2H6 467 or Somerset, or York, all's o. to me
*2H6 544 doth any o. accuse York for a traitor ?
*2H6 557 he did speak them to me in the garret o. night
*2H6 673 and ten to o., old Joan had not gone out
*2H6 834 then send for o. presently
*2H6 983 Warwick shall o. day make the Duke of York a king
*2H6 1223 when every o. will give the time of day
*2H6 1322 nor ever had o. penny bribe from France
*2H6 1428 looking the way her harmless young o. went *2H6 1462 were 't not all o., an empty eagle were set, to *2H6 1514 show me o. scar, character'd on thy skin
*2H6 1775 his hands abroad, as o. that grasp'd and *2H6 1924 mine hair be fix'd on end, as o. distract
*2H6 1954 as o. that surfeits, thinking on a want
*2H6 2192 it is our pleasure o. of them depart
*2H6 2271 and I will apparel them all in o. livery
*2H6 2333 by her he had two children at o. birth
*2H6 2378 we will not leave o. lord, o. gentleman, spare none *2H6 2391 a licence to kill for a hundred lacking o.
*2H6 2514 and o. shilling to the pound, the last subsidy
*2H6 2570 tut, when struck'st thou o. blow in the field ?
*2H6 2621 let them kiss o. another : for they lov'd well when *2H6 2659 for me, I will make shift for o.

*2H6 2893 if o. so rude, and of so mean condition may pass
*2H6 3060 of o. or both of us the time is come
*TT 242 but I would break an hundred oaths to reign o. year
*TT 283 whenas the enemy hath been ten to o.
*TT 317 root out that cursed line and leave not o. on earth
*TT 324 thou hast o. son, for his sake pity me
*TT 372 but buckle with thee blows twice two for o.
*TT 379 for o. to thrust his hand between his teeth
*TT 382 and ten to o., is no impeach in wars
*TT 515 now are they but o. lamp, o. light, o. sun
*TT 519 already each o. shining by his meed
*TT 520 may join in o. and overpeer the world
*TT 524 Oh o. that was a woeful looker-on, whenas the *TT 941 wither o. rose, and let the other flourish
*TT 1173 o. way or other she is for a king
*TT 1442 for this o. speech the Lord Hastings well deserves, to *TT 1452 why man be of good cheer, I will [Q3 Ile] provide thee o.
*TT 1765 and ten to o. you 'll meet him in the Tower
*TT 2004 and I the hapless male to o. poor bird, have
*TT 2068 be resident in men like o. another
*TT 2076 and by o. and o. I will despatch the rest [So Q1 Q2]
*TT 2076 so by o. and o. despatching all the rest [So Q3]
*3H6 177 my Lord of Warwick, hear but o. word
*3H6 300 I would break a thousand oaths to reign o. year
*3H6 360 whenas the enemy hath been ten to o.
*3H6 400 and leave not o. alive, I live in hell
*3H6 408 thou hast o. son, for his sake pity me
*3H6 469 but buckler with thee blows twice two for o.
*3H6 476 for o. to thrust his hand between his teeth
*3H6 479 and ten to o., is no impeach of valour
*3H6 628 three glorious suns, each o. a perfect sun
*3H6 633 now are they but o. lamp, o. light, o. sun
*3H6 639 each o. already blazing by our meeds
*3H6 649 ah, o. that was a woeful looker-on, whenas the *3H6 1071 now, o. the better : then, another best
*3H6 1160 the o., his purple blood right well resembles *3H6 1162 wither o. rose, and let the other flourish
*3H6 1515 o. way, or other, she is for a king
*3H6 1569 like o. that stands upon a promontory, and spies a *3H6 1608 and I, like o. lost in a thorny wood
*3H6 1857 my quarrel, and this English queen's, are o.
*3H6 1880 yet ere thou go, but answer me o. doubt
*3H6 1958 for this o. speech, Lord Hastings well deserves to *3H6 2132 nor how to be contented with o. wife
*3H6 2261 yet in this o. thing let me blame your grace
*3H6 2535 and ten to o. you 'll meet him in the Tower
*3H6 2714 in case some o. of you would fly from us
*3H6 2867 and I the hapless male to o. sweet bird
*3H6 2935 be resident in men like o. another
*E3 416 to o. that shames the fair, and sots the wise
*E3 669 what wilt thou say to o. that breaks an oath ?
*E3 739 what can o. drop of poison harm the sea
*E3 827 well, all but o. is none
*E3 946 law can hinder you to execute the o.
*E3 972 take thou the o., and with it kill thy queen
*E3 1141 retreat is sounded : o. side hath the worse
*E3 1184 how the o. for fame, the other by compulsion
*E3 1195 to join our several forces all in o.
*E3 1237 publish'd by o. that was a friar once
*E3 1265 conspire in o. to leave a desolation where they come
*E3 1311 upon the o. side of [Old eds. with] the river's bank
*E3 1327 o., that hath either no abiding place, or
*E3 1335 to cope with o. so much inferior to myself
*E3 1347 but as the o. hath no such property, so
*E3 1369 or o. of us shall fall into his grave
*E3 1393 but o. that tears her entrails with thy hands
*E3 1496 that courage and experience join'd in o.
*E3 1538 we have more sons than o., to
*E3 1705 and give to every o. five crowns a-piece
*E3 1760 for o. that is our deadly enemy
*E3 1825 by o. that is an aged hermit there
*E3 1874 for, like a half-moon, op'ning but o. way, it
*E3 1892 which, briefly, is no more, indeed, than o.
*E3 1897 and being all but o. self instant strength
*E3 1898 why, all this many, Audley, is but o.
*E3 1899 and we can call it all but o. man's strength
*E3 1904 there is but o. France, o. King of France
*E3 1906 hath but the puissant legion of o. king
*E3 1907 and we have o.
*E3 1908 apprehend no odds, for o. to o. is fair equality
*E3 1977 the o. in choice, the other holds in chase
*E3 2041 images, bloodless and pale, o. gazing on another
*E3 2164 o. poor David hath with a stone foil'd twenty stout Goliahs
*E3 2200 o. against twenty, beat you up together ?
*E3 2218 is as a mourning knell to o. dead-sick
*E3 2236 to yield her city for o. little breach
*Sel 1191 where o.'s cut off, the fewer are behind
Ov 931 I saw o.'s legs with fetters black and blue
*Loc 176 sorted amongst the glorious happy os.
D 162 bequeath her young os. to our scanted food
Ov 1864 the wrongèd gods dread fair os. to offend
*2H6 879 O God, what mischiefs work the wicked os. ?
*TT 698 yet in protection of their tender os.
*3H6 840 yet in protection of their tender os.
*E3 1628 that so her nest of young os. may be fed
JMP 26 bellow'd, in a brazen bull, of great os.' envy

One-and-twenty.

*2H6 2514 he that made us pay o. fifteens

O'Neil.

E2 967 the wild O., with swarms of Irish Kerns
*Con 996 the wild O. my lords [Q3 lord], is up in arms

Only.

*Sel 340 o. bug-bears to keep the world in fear
*Sel 343 a bauble, was o. found to make us peaceable
*Sel 857 fastned up o. by a horse's hair
*Sel 937 is o. fit for valiant Selimus
*Sel 952 o. let Bajazet while he doth live
*Sel 1005 o. desires your grace would not invest
*Sel 1736 for the o. things that wrought our empery
*Sel 185 whose o. name affrights your enemies
*Sel 2551 whose o. touch burneth up stones and trees
*Sel 2545 whose o. sight kills millions of men
*Loc 18 whose o. looks did scare his enemies
*Loc 166 and o. pillar of my weaken'd age
*Loc 226 and Albanact, thy father's o. joy
*Loc 321 not o. but also to kill him
*Loc 386 Andromeda, the o. daughter of King Cepheus
*Loc 1002 the o. upshot of mine enterprises
*Loc 1938 find me young Sabren, Locrine's o. joy
*Loc 2039 and as a woman was the o. cause that 1T 803 that o. made him king to make us sport
1T 1023 o. dispos'd to martial stratagems ?

1T 1140 the o. fear and terror of the world
1T 1214 the o. paragon of Tamburlaine
1T 1761 and for Tamburlaine o. to enjoy them
1T 1822 whiles o. danger beat upon our walls
1T 1970 save o. that in beauty's just applause
1T 2238 well met, my o. dear Zenocrate
2T 900 o. to gaze upon Zenocrate
2T 1573 whose drift is o. to dishonour thee
2T 2276 leading a life that o. strives to die
2T 2191 your royal presence, which o. will dismay the enemy 1F 7 o. this, gentlemen, we must perform the form of 1F 130 yet not your words o., but mine own fantasy
1F 301 there is no chief but o. Belzebub
1F 1075 o. for pleasure of these damnèd slaves
1F 1177 a wife, that not o. gives thee horns, but makes thee wear them 1F 1384 the pride of Nature's works, and o. paragon of excellence
1F 1610 o. to wonder at unlawful things
2F 7 o. this, gentles, — we must now perform the 2F 285 there is no chief but o. Belzebub
2F 1188 o. for pleasure of these damnèd slaves
2F 2031 think o. upon hell, for that must be thy mansion
2F 2069 were gluttons, and lov'd o. delicates
2F 2158 o. to wonder at unlawful things
*JMS 18 we o. act and speak what others write
*JMS 40 he o. aim'd to go, but not out-go
JM 380 and of me o. have they taken all
JM 397 for o. I have toil'd to inherit here the JM 1149 so I took o. this, and run my way
JM 1326 I here adopt thee for mine o. heir
JM 1331 o. know this, that thus thou art to do
JM 1449 what, all dead, save o. Abigail !
JM 1720 not a wise word ; o. gave me a nod
JM 2234 o. to perform one stratagem that I'll impart
E2 179 that wert the o. cause of his exile
E2 419 and o. this torments my wretched soul
E2 692 and not kings o., but the wisest men
E2 1062 the o. heir unto the Earl of Glocester
MP 183 but I hope it be o. some natural passion
MP 213 that noblemen, o. corrupted in religion
MP 683 a woman o. must partake the secrets of MP 832 I did it o. in despite of thee
MPF 26 I did it o. in despite of thee
D 152 brave prince of Troy, thou o. art our god
D 725 his looks shall be my o. library
D 831 that o. Juno rules in Rhamnus' town
D 1236 hath not the Carthage queen mine o. son ?
D 1322 o. Aeneas' frown is that which terrifies
HLM 418 but she, whose o. dower was her chastity
HLM 482 to which the Muses' sons are o. heir
*HLC 494 kisses are th' o. crowns of both their bliss
*HLC 1312 nor did it cover, but adumbrate o. her
*HLC 1498 and they the o. fathers of the graces
*HLC 1502 and o. for religion's fire did stay
*HLC 1599 to be the o. ruler of her kind
*HLC 1760 for o. now his chin's first down consorted
*HLC 1939 and lov'd her tongue, o. for quickness' sake
*HLC 2077 come, naked Virtue's o. tire
*HLC 2243 men kiss but fire that o. shows pursue
Ov 182 then will he kiss thee, and not o. kiss
Ov 232 thee fear I too much ; o. thee I flatter
Ov 554 o. a woman gets spoils from a man
Ov 1050 such bliss is o. common to us two Ov 1079 no joined kisses spent bewail I o.
Ov 1475 o. I'll sign naught that may grieve me much
Ov 2183 o. our loves let not such rich churls gain
Ov 2299 o. was Crete fruitful that plenteous year
Ov 2428 o. the goddess hated goat did lack Ov 2462 slip still, o. deny it when 'tis done
Ov 2504 not o. by war's rage made gentleman
L 449 and o. gods and heavenly powers you know
L 450 heavenly powers you know, or o. know you nothing
L 483 nor were the commons o. struck to heart
L 494 as if the o. hope that did remain to L 662 swift Hermes retrograde ; Mars o. rules the heaven
L 669 war o. gives us peace
L 671 o. civil broils make peace »
*AT 10 and Christ his o. son
*Epg 98 for that he swears he hath four o. swiv'd
*Epg 223 o. for that he came too much at [Dyce on] one. — So eds.
*Epg 223 o. for that he comes too much one [= on] one. — So MS.
*Epg 290 but then he doth this o. answer yield [MS. make]
*Epg 565 o. this last in credit doth remain
*1H6 273 o. this proof I'll of thy valour make *1H6 515 wretched shall France be o. in my name
*1H6 537 come, come, 'tis o. I that must disgrace thee
*1H6 826 but o. with your patience, that we may taste
*1H6 1078 o. give order for my funeral
*1H6 2117 is Talbot slain, the Frenchmen's o. scourge
*1H6 2144 the o. means to stop effusion of our *1H6 2153 proffers his o. daughter to your grace
*1H6 2587 o. reserv'd, you claim no interest in any *Con 650ª and left him one o. daughter, named Philippe [So in Q3]
*Con 1598 o. for which cause they were most worthy to live
*Con 1958 the o. props unto the House of York
*2H6 917 and left behind him Richard, his o. son
*2H6 1191 o. convey me where thou art commanded
*2H6 1743 for judgment o. doth belong to thee
*2H6 1989 why o. Suffolk mourn I not for thee ?
*2H6 2499 o. that the laws of England may come out of your mouth
*2H6 2536 when (indeed) o. for that cause they have been *2H6 2691 but o. my followers' base and ignominious treasons
*2H6 2727 his arms are o. to remove from thee the Duke of *TT 1650 but I o. claim my dukedom
*3H6 234 and disinherited thine o. son
*3H6 661 but o. slaughter'd by the ireful arm of *3H6 1144 ah, no, no, no, it is mine o. son
*3H6 1890 that o. Warwick's daughter shall be thine
*3H6 1956 and with their helps o., defend ourselves
*3H6 2089 for I intend but o. to surprise him
*3H6 2268 and I choose Clarence o. for protector
*3H6 2382 and o. claim our dukedom
*E3 11 o. Isabel was all the daughters that this Philip had
*E3 1666 o., before thou go'st, swear by thy faith that Onset.

E2 1089 I'll give the o.

Onus.

E2 2395 saying it is o. quam gravissimum

Opals.

*Loc 1518 with o., rubies, glistering emeralds
JM 25 bags of fiery o., sapphires, amethysts

Ope.

*Sel 2256 that, ere the windows of the Morn be o.
2F 1231 see, see, his window's o. ! we'll call to him 2F 1701 at the gate ? go, pacify their fury, set it o.

JM 1900 O, if that be all, I can pick o. your locks
D 62 then gan the winds break o. their brazen doors
Ov 219 on movèd hooks set o. the churlish door
Ov 2158 she held her lap o. to receive the same
*2H6 2711 then heaven set o. thy everlasting gates Ov 221 the gate half-o. my bent side in will take JM 669 now, Phoebus, o. the eye-lids of the day
E2 1913 O, might I never o. [1598, open] these eyes again
HL 2111 o. when he shuts his eye, and shut when he doth open
Ov 265 night goes away; I pray thee o. the door
Ov 268 we err; a strong blast seem'd the gates to o.
Ov 439 to beggars shut, to bringers o. thy [ed. C, the] gate
Ov 871 verses o. doors; and locks put in the post
Ov 2491 and I see when you o. the two-leav'd book
*2H6 1636 run, go, help, help: Oh Henry o. thine eyes
*TT 307 then let my father's blood o. it again?
*3H6 1030 yet that thy brazen gates of heaven may o., and *3H6 2510 now Warwick, wilt thou o. the city gates
*E3 1675 and will not o. their gates and let us in *HLC 1524 in flashing streams, and os. the darken'd heaven
*TT 508 lo how the morning os. her golden gates
*3H6 623 see how the morning os. her golden gates

Open.

*Sel 1737 were o. wrongs, and hidden treachery
*Loc 483 I'll meet young Albanact in the o. field
*Loc 1728 this o. wrong must have an o. plague
1T 1241 what 'tis to meet me in the o. field
2T 1187 hounds with o. cry pursue the wounded stag
2F 2060 the jaws of hell are o. [1624, 1631, is ready] to receive thee
E2 1773 and for the o. wrongs and injuries
D 1337 I'll set the casements o., that the winds may
D 1589 leap in mine arms; mine arms are o. wide
*HLC 2178 praising with o. throat, and oaths as foul as Ov 193 one window shut, the other o. stood
Ov 257 night runs away; with o. entrance greet them
Ov 541 and hath no clothes, but o. doth remain
Ov 1825 but now again the barriers o. lie
Ov 1989 and fiercely knock'st thy breast that o. lies?
Ov 1992 fear not; to thee our court stands o. wide
Ov 2377 her gate by my hands is set o. wide
L 432 Vangions who, like those of Sarmata, wear o. slops
L 461 leaving your country o. to the spoil
L 582 his grave broke o., did affright the boors
*Epg 114 the guard will stoop, and gates fly o. wide »
*1H6 357 or we'll burst them o., if that you come not quickly
*1H6 400 but to make o. proclamation
*1H6 458 in o. market-place produc'd they me
*1H6 582 and feast and banquet in the o. streets
*Con 633 and leave her o. for the law to judge
*Con 798 come you my lord to see my o. shame?
*2H6 78 did he so often lodge in o. field
*2H6 521 prove them, and I lie o. to the law
*2H6 998 shall, after three days o. penance done
*2H6 1115 come you, my lord, to see my o. shame?
*2H6 2398 if we mean to thrive and do good, break o. the gaols
*TT 1514 I had rather have you o. enemies, than hollow friends
*TT 1527 hath pawn'd an o. hand in sign of love
*TT 1769 the gates are o., see they enter in *3H6 302 I shall be, if I claim by o. war
*3H6 1611 not knowing how to find the o. air
*3H6 2073 where a noble heart hath pawn'd an o. hand
*3H6 2551 the gates are o., let us enter too
*E3 2012 our men with o. mouths and staring eyes look
*E3 2190 I'll smile and tell him that this o. scar doth
*E3 2389 and every barricado's o. front was thick embossed
*Loc 1168 and scare the ghosts with your wide-o. throats
HLM 517 wide-o. stood the door; he need not climb
Ov 866 quickly soft words hard doors wide-o. strook
Ov 1723 my flattering speeches soon wide-o. knock
L 212 with jaws wide-o. ghastly roaring out
*Sel 1487 o. my bosom, there you shall it see
*Sel 1596 behold I o. unto you my breast
1T 327 o. the mails, yet guard the treasure sure 2T 580 o., thou shining veil of Cynthia
JM 964 what, ho, Abigail! o. the door, I say!
JM 1422 o. an entrance for the wasteful sea
JM 1636 the other chambers o. towards the street
JM 2131 o. the gates for you to enter in E2 1913 O, might I never ope [1598, o.] these eyes again
E2 2371 or o. his mouth, and pour quick-silver down
E2 2548 they fall; and yet with fear o. again
*HLC 2112 o. when he doth shut his eye, and shut when he doth o.
*1H6 333 o. the gates, 'tis Gloster that calls
*1H6 346 o. the gates, here's Gloster that would enter *1H6 347 have patience noble duke, I may not o.
*1H6 355 o. the gates, o. I'll shut thee out shortly
*1H6 356 o. the gates unto the Lord Protector
*1H6 1778 o. your city gates, be humble to us
*2H6 794 let me see thine eyes; wink now, now o. them
*TT 297 fear that makes him close his eyes? I'll o. them
*TT 496 o. thy gates of mercy gracious God
*TT 1636 o. the gates, we are King Henry's friends
*TT 1637 say you so, then I'll o. them presently
*3H6 377 fear that makes him close his eyes? I'll o. them
*3H6 390 then let my father's blood o. it again
*3H6 599 o. thy gate of mercy, gracious God
*3H6 2363 o. the gates, we are King Henry's friends
*E3 811 I have not yet found time to o. them 2T 1236 with Jove, os. the firmament to see the slaughter

Opened.

2T 399 were o. wide, and I might enter in E2 2458 I o. but the door to throw him meat, and HLM 166 and modestly they o. as she rose
HLM 681 he watch'd his arms, and, as they o. wide at *3H6 2364 ay, say you so? the gates shall then be o.

Opening.

2T 1661 o. the doors of his rich treasury
MP 86 stand in some window, o. near the street
Ov 267 and o. doors with creaking noise abound?
*E3 1874 for, like a half-moon, o. but one way, it

Openly.

1T 149 and o. exclaim against their [4to the] king
JMP 10 though some speak o. against my books
Ov 2455 and [ed. A, or] hidden secrets o. to bewray?
*2H6 2433 and calls your grace usurper, o.

Operation.

2T 1595 greater o. and more force than Cynthia's
JM 1356 whose o. is to bind, infect, and poison deeply
*E3 741 digest the ill, and make it lose his o.?

Ophir.

*Sel 258 the Turkish crown of pearl and O. gold

Opinion.

*Sel 307 quickly unfold mine own o.
*Sel 1623 but soon shall that o. be remov'd

*1TA 8 in my poor o., far unmeet for the matter
JM 585 the strangest sight, in my o., that ever I beheld
*Epg 360 o. of much wit, and gold obtain
*1H6 873 shall yield the other in the right o.
*1H6 883 if I, my lord, for my o. bleed
*1H6 884 o. shall be surgeon to my hurt
*Con 328 my lord in mine o. it were best that Somerset
*Con 977 in mine o. it were good he died
*2H6 795 in my o., yet thou seest not well
*2H6 902 in craving your o. of my title
*TT 1429 my lord then this is my [Q3 mine] o.
*3H6 1939 then this is mine o. : that King Lewis
*1H6 482 let me have your express os.
*1H6 2656 in our os. she should be preferr'd
*Loc 1035 zeeing your 'pinion is to deal withouten reazon

Oportere.
Ov 477 amantem non o. desidiosum esse

Opportunity.
*Loc 596 now o. is offered to try
1T 124 since Fortune gives you o. to gain
2T 521 love the o. that God hath given
JM 2181 slip not thine o., for fear too late thou MP 573 my o. may serve me fit to MP 915 fit o. to shew your love
MP 1158 but how wilt thou get o. ?
*1H6 613 embrace we then this o.
*1H6 2577 we shall not find like o.

Oppose.
2T 2299 let some god o. his holy power against E2 684 leave now to o. thyself against the king
JM 463 what, will you thus o. me, luckless stars
*2H6 1577 o. himself against a troop of kerns
*2H6 2790 o. thy steadfast-gazing eyes to mine
*2H6 2962 makes him o. himself against his king
*2H6 2985 if you o. yourselves to match Lord Warwick

Opposed.
2T 696 o. in one diameter, their spheres are mounted on *HLC 1084 till he find o. a loose and rorid vapour
*HLC 2245 now at o. Abydos naught was heard
Ov 391 th' o. star of Mars hath done thee harm
Ov 2382 with Muse o., would I my lines were done
*E3 2180 if heaven be not o., we cannot lose the day

Opposeth.
1T 847 that thus o. him against the gods

Opposite.
2T 1261 join'd those stars that shall be o.
2T 1918 right o. against the western gate
HLM 8 in view and o. two cities stood
*2H6 1855 loyalty, free from a stubborn o. intent
*TT 453 as o. to every good, as the Antipodes are to us *3H6 555 thou art as o. to every good, as the Antipodes
*E3 519 and every grief, his happy o.
*E3 791 the shame is treble by the o.
*2H6 3162 being os. of such repairing nature

Opposition.
*E3 944 thy o. is beyond our law
1F 715 why have we not conjunctions, os., aspects 2F 637 conjunctions, os., aspects, eclipses

Oppress.
1T 259 that thus o. poor friendless passengers

Oppressed.
*Loc 1118 and rid the o. from the tyrants' yokes
*Loc 906 and Albanact, o. with multitude
*Loc 1972 prepare to see a heart o. with care
JM 474 the plight wherein these Christians have o. me
E2 272 shall be o. with civil mutinies
Ov 172 if he lies down, with wine and sleep o.
*3H6 2470 nor much o. them with great subsidies

Oppression.
1T 2043 by living long in this o.
*1H6 1636 of such as your o. feeds upon
*1H6 2379 free from o., or the stroke of war

Opprobrious.
D 938 have taunted me in these o. terms

Ops.
1T 861 that caus'd the eldest son of heavenly O. to HLM 462 Saturn and O. began their golden reign

Opus.
1F 1613 terminat author [Dyce, auctor] o.
2F 2161 terminat auctor o.

Or.
E2 2177 further, o. this letter was seal'd, Lord Berkeley came Ov 109 and die ere [A, o.] thou shalt [B, C, shall] grieve
MP 1072 I'll clip his wings o. e'er he pass my hands
Ov 1812 a [Old eds. o.] while thy tiptoes on the foot-stool rest
*2H6 583 sirrah, o. you must fight, o. else be hang'd

Oracle.
1T 596 for, even as from assurèd o., I take thy doom
1F 170 than heretofore the Delphian o.
2F 162 than heretofore the Delphian o.
*Sel 1512 his counsels always were true os.
1T 401 nor are Apollo's os. more true
1T 599 for fates and os. [of] heaven have sworn to 1T 1197 I speak it, and my words are os.
Ov 2271 on mast of oak, first os., men fed
L 580 Sylla's ghost was seen to walk, singing sad os.
*2H6 657 these os. are hardly attain'd, and hardly understood
*E3 1238 whose os. have many times prov'd true

Oranges.
D 1378 dewberries, apples, yellow o.

Oras.
Ept 6 heu, secum effoetus Acherontis ad o. multa abiit virtus

Oration.
*Loc 1829 how finely frames she her o. !
1T 320 runaways look for os. when the foe is near *2H6 103 this pero. with such circumstance

Orator.
1T 318 or look you I should play the o. ?
D 790 this was an o., and thought by words to compass me
HLM 346 and yet I like them for the o.
*1H6 1754 the king prettily (methought) did play the o.)
*Con 1182 to try how quaint an o. you were *2H6 1879 to show how quaint an o. you are *TT 232 nay, I can better play the o.
*TT 713 full well hath Clifford play'd the o.
*TT 1086 and Warwick is a subtle o.
*3H6 285 no, I can better play the o.
*3H6 855 full well hath Clifford play'd the o.
*3H6 1345 for Warwick is a subtle o.
*3H6 1622 I'll play the o. as well as Nestor
1T 321 our swords shall play the os. for us

Oratory.
HLM 724 a gift prevails when deep-persuading o. fails
*1H6 733 could not prevail with all their o.
*E3 309 eye, that more persuades than winning o. ?

Orb.
2T 1138 Jove's vast palace, the empyreal o.
1F 686 mutually folded in each other's o.

2F 607 even from the moon unto th' empyreal o.
E2 1974 Rent, sphere of heaven ! and, fire, forsake thy o. !
*E3 1861 the aspiring hill shows like a silver quarry or an o.
*Sel 1441 First Mover of these tenfold crystal os.
E2 1439 by heaven, and all the moving os. thereof

Orbicular.

*HLC 1253 his motion is, like heaven's, o.

Orcanes.

2T 45 stout O., pro-rex of the world
2T 59 fear not O., but great Tamburlaine
2T 78 O., (as our legates promis'd thee) we, with 2T 106 O., view my royal host
2T 148 O. of Natolia confirm'd this league
2T 406 proud O. of Natolia
2T 498 league we lately made with King O.

Orchard.

D 1376 I have an o. that hath store of plums
HLM 786 enter'd the o. of th' Hesperides
*Con 230 and on the back side of my o. here
*E3 1872 makes it the o. of the Hesperides
JM 1819 the meads, the os., and the primrose-lanes

Orcus'.

1T 970 their cannons, mouth'd like O. gulf, batter the walls
2T 622 lead his soul, through O. burning gulf

Ordained.

1T 500 the man o. by heaven to further action
E2 2271 men are o. to live in misery
Ov 28 took out the shaft o. my heart to shiver
*1H6 172 being o. his special governor
*1H6 232 o. is to raise this tedious siege
*1H6 1611 when first this order was o. my lords *2H6 3093 wast thou o. (dear father) to lose thy youth in *TT 2043 for this amongst the rest was I o.
*TT 2102 this shoulder was o. so thick to heave
*3H6 2911 for this (amongst the rest) was I o.
*3H6 2969 this shoulder was o. so thick, to heave
*E3 1549 this is the day o. by destiny to 1T 2195 then, as the powers divine have pre-o.

Ordaining.

MP 600 a watchful senate for o. laws

Order.

*Sel 568 march, Sinam, march, in o. after him
*Loc 611 what o. keep they in their marshalling ?
1T 46 your grace hath taken o. by Theridamas 2F 1383 to clap horns of honest men's heads o' this o.
JM 337 then we'll take o. for the residue
JM 1602 maligned the o. of the Jacobins
JM 1632 no ; 'tis an o. which the friars use
MP 230 what o. will you set down of the massacre ?
MP 254 and I will go take o. for his death
MP 750 and place ourselves in o. for the fight
MP 1152 I am a friar of the o. of the Jacobins
MP 1179 here is a friar of the o. of the Jacobins
D 113 I will take o. for that presently
D 817 but I will take another o. now
*HLC 964 Devotion, O., State, and Reverence, her shadows were Ov 592 in skilful gathering ruffled hairs in o.
*1H6 716 after that things are set in o. here
*1H6 1078 only give o. for my funeral
*1H6 1428 now will we take some o. in the town
*1H6 1611 when first this o. was ordain'd my lords
*1H6 1619 profaning this most honourable o.
*1H6 2108 Knight of the noble o. of Saint George
*2H6 1536 whiles I take o. for mine own affairs
*2H6 1732 until they hear the o. of his death
*2H6 2382 they are all in o., and march toward us
*2H6 2383 but then are we in o., when we are most out of o.
*3H6 355 let's set our men in o., and issue forth
*E3 1080 majestical the o. of their course
*2H6 1488 ere you can take due os. for a priest
*Sel 33 public diso. joined with private carke
*2H6 3080 fear frames diso., and
*2H6 3080 diso. wounds where it should guard 1T 747 (staying to o. all the scatter'd troops)
D 1712 and o. all things at your high dispose Ordered.

*HLC 899 so o. that it still excites desire
1T 577 thieves that live confounded in diso. troops

Ordering.

*HLC 903 Time and all-states-o. Ceremony had banish'd

Orderly.

*E3 1450 o. bring forth a strong attirement for
*E3 1500 that o. dispos'd, and set in 'ray

Ordinance.

*Sel 304 to plant 'gainst me their bookish o.
*E3 2390 was thick emboss'd with brazen o.

Ordinance : see Ordnance

Ordinary.

*Epg 84 he rides to Paul's, he rides to th' o.

Ordnance.

2T 946 great artillery, and store of o.
2T 965 a peal of o. strike a ring of pikes
2T 1051 volleys of o., till the breach be made
2T 1080 see the bringing of our o. along
2T 1084 betwixt which shall our o. thunder forth 1F 896 within whose walls such store of o. are 2F 874 where thou shalt see such store of o.
MP 237 I'll have a peal of o. shot from the tower
MP 329 go shoot the o. off
*1H6 433 a piece of o. 'gainst it I have plac'd
*Sel 304 to plant 'gainst me their bookish ordinance
*E3 2390 was thick emboss'd with brazen ordinance

Ordure.

*E3 324 their pride, to spring from o., and corruption's side

Ore.

*E3 318 for where the golden o. doth buried lie, the Orestes.

1T 432 and, by the love of Pylades and O., whose Ov 1097 what Pylades did to O. prove Organ.

1T 856 and death arrests the o. of my voice
HLM 555 and, wanting os. to advance a step

Organon.

MP 389 was it not thou that scoff'dst the O. ?
MP 408 I knew the O. to be confus'd
2T 2174 the soul, wanting these os. by which it moves

Orgon.

2F 773 A per se, a; t, h, e, the; o per se, o; Demy o. gorgon

Orient.

*Sel 2557 those soldans of the O., Egypt and 2T 469 mingled with coral and with oriental [Dyce o.] pearl
1F 110 ransack the ocean for o. pearl
2F 107 ransack the ocean for o. pearl
JM 91 store of Persian silks, of gold, and o. pearl
JM 1565 I know not how much weight in pearl o. and round

JM 2288 a pearl so big, so precious, and withal so o.
HLM 79 those [V. R. these] o. cheeks and lips, exceeding his that HLM 818 as from an o. cloud, glimps'd [Old eds. glympse]
*E3 2284 did in the o. purple of the morn salute our coming forth

Oriental.
1T 1348 sailing along the o. sea
2T 68 from Scythia to the o. plage [4to Place] of Indian 2T 469 mingled with coral and with o. [Dyce orient] pearl
*E3 346 but no more like her o. red, than brick to coral

Orientis.
1F 260 O. princeps Belzebub, inferni ardentis monarcha
2F 247 O. princeps Belzebub, inferni ardentis monarcha

Orifex.
2T 1098 in blood that straineth [8vo staineth] from their o.

Original.
Ov 1423 or [Old eds. on] stones, our stock's o., should be hurl'd

Orion.
D 274 when, suddenly, gloomy O. rose
1F 245 longing to view O.'s drizzling look
2F 231 longing to view O.'s drizzling look
D 1657 O Anna, fetch Arion's [Old ed. Os.] harp
L 664 sword-girt O.'s side glisters too bright

Orisons.
JM 579 fitter for a tale of love, than to be tired out with o.
*TT 429 yet stay : and let's hear the o. he makes *3H6 529 nay stay, let's hear the o. he makes
*E3 1921 the mercy that draws from me submissive o.

Orithyia's.
Ov 270 if, Boreas, bear'st [Old eds. beares] O. rape in mind

Orleans.
MP 448 Gonzago, post you to O.
MP 1076 go to the governor of O., and will him, in my name, to MP 1139 he will'd the governor of O., in his name
*1H6 61 Guienne, Champaigne, Rheims, O.
*1H6 94 the Bastard of O. with him is join'd
*1H6 112 retiring from the siege of O.
*1H6 158 so you had need, for O. is besieg'd
*1H6 184 at pleasure here we lie, near O.
*1H6 226 Bastard of O., thrice-welcome to us
*1H6 304 shall we give o'er O., or no ?
*1H6 327 drive them from O., and be immortalis'd
*1H6 419 sirrah, thou know'st how O. is besieg'd
*1H6 477 now it is supper-time in O.
*1H6 543 I must go victual O. forthwith
*1H6 565 Pucelle is entered into O., in spite of us
*1H6 570 rescued is O. from the English
*1H6 577 recover'd is the town of O.
*1H6 699 shall be engrav'd the sack of O.
*1H6 1508 was not the Duke of O. thy foe ?
*1H6 1908 O. the Bastard, Charles, Burgundy
*1H6 1997 beat down Alençon, O., Burgundy
*1H6 1999 the ireful Bastard of O., that drew blood
*1H6 2025 the sword of O. hath not made me smart
*Con 7 the dukes of O., Calaber, Britaine, and Alençon
*2H6 7 the Dukes of O., Calaber, Britaine, and Alençon

Orminius'.
2T 488 betwixt Cutheia and O. mount
2T 535 from proud O. mount to fair Natolia

Ormus.
JM 966 here are letters come from O.

Ornament.
*JMD 6 published without the o. of an Epistle
*HLC 1433 as an o. t' enrich their houses
*HLC 1963 deck'd with o. of sweet colours
*1H6 1607 to wear this o. of knighthood, yea or no ?
*E3 421 and every o., that thou wouldst praise
*Sel 1401 are os. fit for a private man
*Loc 1096 the os. of thy pavilions
*1H6 2190 for clothing me in these grave os.
*TT 1221 I will go clad my body in gay os.
*3H6 1583 I'll deck my body in gay os.
*E3 345 his cheeks put on their scarlet os.

Oro.
D 1547 o., si quis adhuc precibus locus, exue mentem

Orphan.
*2H6 3017 to reave the o. of his patrimony
*3H6 2892 and many an o.'s water-standing eye
*Loc 163 favour my sons, favour these os., lords
JM 937 and with young os. planted hospitals
*3H6 2894 os., for their parents' timeless death

Orpheus.
Ov 2212 to Thracian O. what did parents good
*Epg 441 this [Eds. thus] O. to such hearers [MS. eares] giveth music
*Loc 874 O that I had the Thracian O.' harp

Ortygius.
1T 134 behold, my lord, O. and the rest bringing the 1T 731 O. and Menaphon, my trusty friends
1T 738 I will not thank thee, sweet O.
1T 832 nobly resolv'd, my good O.

Orwin.
D (Title) at London, Printed, by the widow O., for Thomas Woodcocke

Osiris.
Ov 1395 so in thy temples shall O. stay

Ossa.
Ov 858 Olympus' top high O. bore, mount Pelion up to prop
Ept 11 feliciter o. quiescant
L 390 as when against pine-bearing O.'s rocks beats Thracian Boreas

Ostents.
*HLC 1267 o. that threaten her estate
*HLC 1411 all sad o. of that too near success
L 583 to these o., as their old custom was, they call the Ostrich.

*Con 1717 I'll make thee eat iron like an ostridge [Q2 Q3 estridge] *2H6 2774 but I'll make thee eat iron like an o.

Ostrich : see Estridge

Ostry.
1F 1295 come to my o., and I'll give them you 2F 780 lest I send thee into the o. with a vengeance

Other.
*Sel 591 was for no o. purpose and intent
*Sel 947 and ere his o. brethren get the crown
*Sel 1707 when these are off, some o. will arise
*Sel 2045 and high exalted above o. men
*Loc 1953 clasping each o. in their feebled arms *1TA 14 leave unto your learned censures both the one and the o.
1T 84 when o. men press [4to prease] forward for renown?
1T 137 we in the name of o. Persian states
1T 769 what say my o. friends ? will you be kings ?
1T 894 the heat and moisture, which did feed each o.
1T 1275 but I shall turn her into o. weeds
1T 1530 for he that gives him o. food than this, shall

1T 2080 since o. means are all forbidden me
1T 2172 what o. heavy news now brings Philemus?
2T 116 to dare each o. to the field
2T 686 I fare, my lord, as o. empresses
2T 1388 and take my o. toward brother here
2T 1617 I'll use some o. means to make you yield
1F 186 and then, all o. ceremonies learn'd
1F 1271 why, he's asleep: come some o. time
1F 1313 great bellied women do long for some dainties or o.
2F 178 and then, all o. ceremonies learn'd
2F 771 I scorn't, faith: I have o. matters in hand
2F 792 have waded as deep into matters as o. men 2F 1480 take thou this o., drag him
2F 1577 and cast his leg into some ditch or o.
2F 1617 as I was going to Wittenberg, t' o. day
*JMS 2 ('mongst o. plays that now in fashion are)
*JMS 25 th' o. wan the attribute of peerless
JM 52 with o. merchandise are safe arriv'd
JM 92 how chance you came not with these o. ships
JM 96 about their oils or o. businesses
JM 165 tut, tut, there is some o. matter in 't
JM 198 from Cyprus, Candy, and those o. isles
JM 200 what's Cyprus, Candy, and those o. isles to us
JM 336 and of the o. we have seized half
JM 389 and o. ships that came from Egypt last
JM 857 I will serve you, sir. — Some wicked trick or o.
JM 938 and every moon made some or o. mad
JM 1398 for I have o. business for thee
JM 1452 O, he is gone to see the o. nuns
JM 1469 both, jealous of my love, envied each o.
JM 1497 that sound at o. times like tinkers' pans!
JM 1618 the o. knows enough to have my life
JM 1636 the o. chambers open towards the street
JM 2268 strong-countermin'd with o. petty isles
E2 627 no o. jewels hang about my neck than these E2 827 which all the o. fishes deadly hate
E2 1186 look for no o. fortune, wretch, than death!
E2 1199 that heading is one, and hanging is the o.
E2 1215 in o. matters; he must pardon us in this
E2 1304 the king of heaven, perhaps, no o. king
E2 1848 but where's the king and the o. Spenser fled?
E2 1928 Spenser and Baldock, by no o. names, I arrest
E2 2183 then let some o. be his guardian
E2 2615 but hath your grace no o. proof than this?
MP 35 should have been murdered the o. night?
MP 310 it may be 'tis some o., and he escap'd
MP 466 and, on the o. side, against the Turk
D 947 be a man, and better able unto o. arms
D 1130 be rul'd by me, and seek some o. love
D 1290 speak of no o. land: this land is thine
*HLD 13 than any o. foster countenance whatsoever
*HLD 15 a double duty, the one to yourself, the o. to the deceased
HLM 10 the one Abydos, the o. Sestos hight HLM 45 but this is true: so like was one the o., as HLM 130 he whom she favours lives; the o. dies
HLM 140 unhappily, as after chanc'd, they did each o. spy
HLM 146 and with the o. wine from grapes out-wrung
HLM 227 and I in duty will exell all o.
HLM 252 which, after his decease, some o. gains
HLM 296 some one or o. keeps you as his own
HLM 386 both might enjoy each o., and be blest
HLM 524 both to each o. quickly were affied
HLM 556 mov'd by love's force, unto each o. lep [V. R. leap]?
HLM 562 some amorous rites or o. were neglected
HLM 814 one [V. R. and] half appear'd, the o. half was hid
*HLC 866 made him disdain each o. epithite
*HLC 950 to put in flame his o. secret fire
*HLC 981 her o. hand a laurel rod applies
*HLC 1114 to seem in countenance o. than she was *HLC 1144 each limb help'd o. to put on disgrace
*HLC 1164 so with the o. it was call'd again
*HLC 1198 even those good deeds that grow from o. stocks
*HLC 1375 at the scarf's o. end her hand did frame
*HLC 1492 those foul faults o. priests are in
*HLC 1518 the o. bounty-loving Dapsilis
*HLC 1747 and none is held, without the o., fair
*HLC 1841 each helping o. to relieve their woes
*HLC 1838 at length, one cheering o., call for wine
*HLC 1845 even by the whiteness each of o. took *HLC 1979 to reunite each part from o. reft
*HLC 2007 and every o. birth produc'd by Nature
*HLC 2342 with mutual braves consume each o.
*HLC 2379 face, where tears in billows did each o. chase
*HLC 2422 though they could get of him no o. good Ov 193 one window shut, the o. open stood
Ov 229 and smiling said, «Be thou as bold as o.»
Ov 496 the o. eyes his rival as his foe
Ov 559 why should one sell it, and the o. buy it?
Ov 1674 some o. seek that may in patience strive with thee
Ov 1710 the o. smil'd, (I wot) with wanton eyes
Ov 1742 the o. gives my love a conquering name
Ov 2223 the one his first love, th' o. his new care
Ov 2339 some o. seek, who will these things endure
L 6 trumpets and drums, like deadly, threatening o.
L 34 the Fates would find no o. means
L 102 keeps each from o., but being worn away
L 103 they both burst out, and each encounter o.
L 129 Caesar's cause the gods abetted, Cato lik'd the o.
L 471 o. that Caesar's barbarous bands were spread
L 628 dead and discolour'd, th' o. lean and thin
L 693 Phoebus, show me Neptune's shore, and o. regions!
Dia 7 and many o. goodly things
Dia 26 for any o. new-come guest?
*Epg 205 but from some o. famous accident
*Epg 263 so, neither of us understanding either [B, C, one an o.; MS. o.]
*Epg 304 which o. valiant fools do fear to do
*Epg 438 and, listening to the song, heed not each o. [So eds. B, C]
*Epg 438 and, listening to the song, mark [MS. markes] not each o. [So A and MS.]
EPF 17 as oft we see turtle-taught lovers either o. close
*1H6 205 the o. lords, like lions wanting food, do rush
*1H6 633 the o. yet may rise against their force
*1H6 619 traitors have never o. company
*1H6 678 there rests no o. shift but this
*1H6 684 using no o. weapon but his name
*1H6 771 I'll sort some o. time to visit you
*1H6 825 nor o. satisfaction do I crave
*1H6 873 shall yield the o. in the right opinion *1H6 982 as witting I no o. comfort have
*1H6 1582 that you elect no o. king but him
*1H6 1675 with o. vile and ignominious terms
*1H6 1760 o. affairs must now be managed
*1H6 1768 this shouldering of each o. in the court
*1H6 1881 whiles they each o. cross, lives, honours
*1H6 2041 where is my o. life? mine own is gone
*Con 272 my master said so, th' o. day when we were

*Con 301 the o. day she vaunted to her maids, that
*Con 364 and when I did correct him for his fault the o. day
*Con 1060 may perceive no o., but that he died of his own accord
*Con 1300 this o., the master's mate shall have *Con 1406 his father had no house [Q3 no o. house] but the cage
*Con 1424 for he was thrust into the mouth the o. day
*Con 1902 hold Warwick, and seek thee out some o. chase
*2H6 449 she vaunted 'mongst her minions t' o. day
*2H6 566 did correct him for his fault the o. day
*2H6 869 and o. of your highness' privy council
*2H6 2067 the o. Walter Whitmore is thy share
*2H6 2483 treason for any, that calls me o. than Lord Mortimer
*2H6 2526 had no o. books but the score and the tally
*2H6 2805 famine and no o. hath slain me
*2H6 2868 but if thy arms be to no o. end
*2H6 3019 and have no o. reason for this wrong
*2H6 3061 hold Warwick : seek thee out some o. chase
*TT 941 wither one rose, and let the o. flourish
*TT 1123 widow come some o. time to know our mind
*TT 1173 one way or o. she is for a king
*TT 1220 what o. pleasure is there in the world beside ?
*TT 1771 no, so some o. might set upon our backs
*3H6 1060 nay Warwick, single out some o. chase
*3H6 1161 the o. his pale cheeks (methinks) presenteth
*3H6 1162 wither one rose, and let the o. flourish
*3H6 1431 and come some o. time to know our mind
*3H6 1515 one way, or o., she is for a king
*3H6 1581 what o. pleasure can the world afford ?
*3H6 2035 for I will hence to Warwick's o. daughter
*3H6 2541 and with the o., fling it at thy face
*3H6 2552 so o. foes may set upon our backs
*E3 92 my gracious father, and these o. lords
*E3 361 her voice more silver every word than o.
*E3 485 what is the o. fault, my sovereign lord ?
*E3 526 thou shouldst have plac'd this here, this o. here
*E3 947 let it forbid you to attempt the o.
*E3 974 and with the o. I'll despatch my love
*E3 1032 but, on the o. side, to think what friends
*E3 1145 our men may vanquish, and the o. fly !
*E3 1156 hasting to meet each o. in the face
*E3 1159 by this, the o., that beheld these twain give *E3 1169 as each to o. seemèd deaf and dumb
*E3 1185 one for fame, the o. by compulsion laid about
*E3 1312 the river's bank, I on the o.
*E3 1343 let it be seen, 'mongst o. petty thefts, how
*E3 1348 so is the o. most satirical
*E3 1430 that th' o. day was almost dead for love ?
*E3 1867 coting [? coating] the o. hill in such array that all his *E3 1977 the one in choice, the o. holds in chase
*E3 2013 with open mouths and staring eyes look on each o.
*E3 2365 with forty o. serviceable knights
*Sel 1914 and gape and long one for the o.'s ends ?
1F 686 mutually folded in each o.'s orb
2F 608 mutually folded in each o.'s spheres
E2 1041 carous'd a bowl of poison to each o.'s health !
MP 672 where we may one enjoy the o.'s sight
HLM 804 both in each o.'s [V. R. o.] arms chain'd as they lay [Old eds. laid]
*HLC 2003 bind in one self-sacred knot each o.'s [V. R. o.] mind Ov 1849 for o.'s faults why do I loss receive ?
Ov 2119 or jaded cam'st thou from some o.'s bed
L 120 these captains emulous of each o.'s glory
*Con 371 and there to try each o.'s right or wrong
*E3 2014 attend each o.'s words, and yet no creature speaks
*Sel 362 and yet I think, think os. what they will
*Sel 375 and liv'd at ease, while os. liv'd uneath
*Loc 1624 let os. wail for Corineus' death
*1TA 1 To the Gentlemen-Readers and os. that 1T 2126 steed, that stamp'd on os. with their thundering hoofs
1F 498 have you any pain that tortures [Dyce, torture] os. !
1F 795 I am lean with seeing os. eat
2F 446 why, have you any pain that torture os. ?
2F 712 I am lean with seeing os. eat
*JMS 18 we only act and speak what os. write
*JMS 25 in Tamburlaine, this Jew, with os. many, th' o. wan E2 713 while os. [1598, o.] walk below, the king and he E2 1668 and os. of our party [Dyce, part] and faction
E2 1733 « divers of your nation, and os. »
E2 1759 kin and countrymen slaughter themselves in os.
E2 2584 and os. are but shrubs compar'd to me
MP 105 for this I wake, when os. think I sleep
MP 691 that os. need to comment on my text ?
D 407 os. report 'twas Sinon's perjury
D 475 some surfeited, and os. soundly slept
D 785 all these, and os. which I never saw, have been
D 787 some came in person, os. sent their legates
D 1090 as os. did, by running to the wood
HLM 243 rich robes themselves and os. do adorn
HLM 244 neither themselves nor os. if not worn
*HLC 1190 and gossip-like, says because os. [V. R. o.] say
*HLC 1490 which she at os. threw with greatest terror
Ov 123 while os. touch the damsel I love best ?
Ov 461 chiefly shew him the gifts which os. send Ov 962 please her ; her hate makes os. thee abhor
Ov 1072 I grieve lest os. should such good perceive
Ov 1314 let os. tell how winds fierce battles wage
Ov 1318 let os. tell this ; and what each one speaks
Ov 1908 few love what os. have unguarded left
Ov 2031 perchance these os., me mine own loss moves
L 410 and os. came from that uncertain shore which *1H6 465 my grisly countenance made os. fly
*1H6 606 (when os. sleep upon their quiet beds)
*1H6 2465 because you want the grace that os. have *Con 156 watch thou, and wake when os. be a sleep [Q2 Q3 asleep]
*Con 732 as os. would ambitiously receive it
*Con 1564 os. to the Inns of the [Q3 omits] Court
*2H6 250 watch thou, and wake when os. be asleep
*2H6 1024 as os. would ambitiously receive it
*2H6 2495 os. to th' Inns of Court, down with them all
*TT 269 and [Q3 with] os. of the House of Lancaster
*E3 97 as os. shall be warned by his harm
*E3 1294 and os. wasted ; leaving at our heels a wide
*E3 2307 as conquer os. by the dint of sword
*Loc 1492 that do intrude themselves in os.' lands
MP 216 though gentle minds should pity os.' pains
*HLC 1836 and then mix mournful tales of os.' deaths
Ov 1155 if ill, thou say'st I die for os.' love
*AT 38 no warning ever took from os.' woeful fate
*2H6 2766 I seek not to wax great by os.' warning [? waning]

Other-countrymen.

*E3 2172 O, that I were some-o. !

Othersome.
*HLC 2032 and so did o. that compass'd round
*TT 1190 I being but a bachelor, have o.
*3H6 1534 I being but a bachelor, have o.
Otherways.
1F 1374 no o. for pomp and majesty than when *Con 1497 or o. I'll have his crown tell him Otherwhile.
D 935 for o. he will be out of joint
*TT 1190 I being but a bachelor, have o.
*1H6 185 os., the famish'd English, like pale ghosts Otherwise.
*Sel 1135 save thou thyself by flight or o.
*Sel 2134 since thou wilt deal no o. with me 1T 1305 yet should he not persuade me o. but 2T 787 Callapinus Cyricelibes, o. Cybelius 2F 1830 no o. for pomp or majesty than when JM 318 and which of you can charge me o. ?
JM 1802 « O. I'll confess all »
JM 2393 but wish thou hadst behav'd thee o.
*HLC 2291 but o. he scorns comparison
*1H6 276 o. I renounce all confidence
*1H6 339 we do no o. than we are will'd
*1H6 2617 and o., will Henry ne'er presume
*Con 1553 that calls me any [Q2 omits] o. than Lord Mortimer
*Con 1770 but if it be no o. but [Q3 then] so
*E3 1096 no o. than were the sails with wind
*E3 1365 but if I have been o. employ'd
*E3 1483 no o. than did old Jacob's words
*E3 1700 an if your grace no o. vouchsafe Ottoman.
*Sel 1523 sprung from the loins of mighty O.
*Sel 2554 consumèd all the family of noble O.
JM 2243 will take his leave, and sail toward O.
JM 2276 to sail to Turkey, to great O.
JM 2435 freed, or Selim ne'er return to O.
*Sel 2202 till none remain of O.'s fair race Ottrante.
*Sel 711 I am a prince, O. is my name
*Sel 713 O. ? Was 't not thou that slew my son ?
Ought.
*Sel 279 that I o. to follow virtuous and goodly sons
*Sel 1406 what o. not to be done unto a father
*Loc 1669 that children o. to bear unto their sire
JM 476 for in extremity we o. to make no bar of policy
HLM 436 as he o. not perform, nor yet she ask
Ov 955 with self-same wounds he gave, he o. to smart
Ov 1954 great floods o. to assist young men in love
Ov 2408 and my wench o. to have seem'd falsely prais'd
*1H6 1606 o. to wear this ornament of knighthood
*Con 738 take up the staff, for here it o. to stand
*TT 1648 as every loyal subject o. to do
*3H6 2379 as every loyal subject o. to do
*E3 24 o. not admit a governor to rule, except he
*E3 81 and where he sets his foot, he o. to kneel
*Sel 658 o. his safety unto you [So Qto. — Grosart, owed] Oughtest.
*Sel 244 thou o. to set barrels of blood abroach Ov 1552 thou o. therefore to scorn me for thy mate
*Con 1602 thou o. not to let thy horse wear a cloak
*2H6 2540 marry, thou o. not to let thy horse wear a cloak Out.
Ov 440 let him within hear barr'd-o. lovers prate
D 822 and feed infection with his let-o. [Old ed. left o.] life Outalian.
*Con 1611 He speaks French. — No 'tis Dutch. — No tis O.
Outbid.
E2 1363 have crowns of us t' outbid the barons
Out-burned.
*HLC 2323 mourn'd to be by influence of earth o.
Outcast.
*Sel 672 shall make thy carcase as the o. dung
*2H6 2947 o. of Naples, England's bloody scourge Outcries.
*Sel 733 Hymen's song, into Bellona's horrible o.
*Loc 631 these o. raised in our stately court ?
D 425 with whose o. Atrides being appall'd
D 1150 I'll follow thee with o. ne'ertheless Outcry.
*E3 2022 hark ! what a deadly o. do I hear !
Out-drive.
Ov 719 snatching the comb to beat the wench, o. her
Out-face.
2F 1173 never o. me for the matter
D 951 ay ; and o. him too, do what he can *2H6 2791 see if thou canst o. me with thy looks Out-facing.
*HLC 2085 lay thy velvet hand on glorious day's o. face
Out-house.
JM 2217 and in an o. of the city shut his soldiers
JM 2297 a monastery which standeth as an o. to the town
Outlandish.
E2 706 with base o. cullions at his heels
Outlaw.
*1H6 1143 as an o. in a castle keeps, and useth it Outlive.
*Con 438 but [Q2 yet] him o., and die a violent death
*Con 614 yet him o., and die a violent death
*2H6 618 but him o., and die a violent death
*2H6 647 But him o., and die a violent death
Out-of-office.
*1H6 176 but long I will not be Jack-o.
Outrage.
*HLC 2143 and from the Fates their o. blinds
L 2 and o. strangling law, and people strong *1H6 1704 with this immodest clamorous o., to
*Sel 83 but I shall have more home-borne os.
*Loc 662 well, we must remedy these os.
1T 40 his lawless train daily commit incivil [4to uncivil] os.
L 106 his loss made way for Roman os.
*Con 1494 pardon thee and these, their os. and rebellious deeds ?
*3H6 2513 and he shall pardon thee these os. ?
Outrageous.
*Sel 1770 your flashing buffets and o. blows
*Loc 1180 curst be the sea, that with o. waves
1T 1664 suffer these o. curses by these slaves of yours ?
2F 1725 faith, you are too o. : but, come near E2 858 desired her more, and wax'd o.
E2 2010 for such o. passions cloy my soul
Ov 2210 o. death profanes all holy things
*1H6 1106 the manner of thy vile o. crimes
*1H6 2516 mov'd with remorse of these o. broils
*E3 1823 to happen us in this o. war Outragious.
1T 539 this country swarms with vile o. men
Out-reached.
MP 977 and see thy traitorous guile o.
Outright.
*1H6 2421 ah Joan, this kills thy father's heart o.
*2H6 301 nay Eleanor, then must I chide o.

Out-run.
2F 1576 now he has [1631, hath] but one leg, I'll o. him
JM 2057 I cannot o. you constable
E2 1683 I think King Edward will o. us all
Ov 1827 at last now conquer, and o. the rest
*2H6 3121 can we o. the heavens? good Margaret stay *3H6 297 it will o. you, father, in the end
Out-scold.
*E3 2141 when railing crows o. our adversaries?
Outshine.
*HLC 2098 Hero, Alcmane, Mya, so o. thee
*E3 484 and being unmask'd, o. the golden sun
JM 795 How shows it by night? — Os. Cynthia's rays Outside.
HLM 15 the o. of her garments were of lawn
Out-spreads.
Ov 2390 our verse great Tityus a huge space o.
Outstander.
Ov 1958 Troy had not yet been ten years' siege' o.
Outstretched.
2T 575 the power of his o. arm
*TT 390 that aim'd at mountains with o. arm
*3H6 487 that raught at mountains with o. arms Outward.
1T 352 if o. habit judge the inward man
2T 947 scour the o. curtains of the fort
*HLC 1080 and o. forms embraceth inwardly
Ov 539 now inward faults thy o. form disgrace
*1H6 823 did mistake the o. composition of his body
*E3 312 more happy do not make our o. wall, than Outward-seeming.
*TT 2072 ½ under pretence of o. ill [Q1 Q2 omit this line]
Outwear.
D 815 that ugly imp that shall o. my wrath
Outweighs.
1T 63 o. the sands and all the craggy rocks of Caspia Outwentest.
E2 1550 as much as thou in rage o. the rest
Out-wrung.
HLM 146 and with the other wine from grapes o.
Oven.
*E3 1255 corn-fields and vineyards, burning like an o.
Over.
*Sel 400 to give the empire o. unto me
*Sel 680 and Bajazet triumph o. his fall?
*Sel 856 and o. his head a threat'ning sword did hang
*Sel 936 so that the rule and power o. us
*Sel 1340 o. these princes' lamentable tombs
*Sel 1683 as if he had power o. life and death
*Sel 1902 I began to swear all the criss cross row o.
*Sel 2150 vault which hangeth o. our unhappy heads
*Sel 2158 and give us o. to our wicked choice
*Sel 2562 shall gently creep o. the flowery meads
*Loc 408 stay us from cutting o. to this isle
*Loc 567 with a bastinado o. your shoulders
*Loc 622 chasing the Grecians o. Simois
*Loc 713 and in his glory triumphs o. all
*Loc 1090 he drove the Argives o. Xanthus' streams
*Loc 1468 scatter'd huge Hydras o. all the plains
1T 9 have triumph'd o. Afric [4to Affrica]
1T 173 to triumph o. many provinces!
1T 362 and we will triumph o. all the world
1T 1223 triumphing o. him and these his kings
1T 2000 deserves a conquest o. every heart
2T 873 o. my zenith hang a blazing star
2T 1049 o. thy argins and cover'd ways, shall play 2T 1150 o. whose zenith, cloth'd in windy air, and 2T 1182 God's great lieutenant o. all the world
2T 2049 to triumph o. cursed Tamburlaine
1F 225 thus having triumphed o. you, I will 1F 425 so I should be called Kill-devil all the parish o.
1F 892 o. the which two stately bridges lean
1F 1232 ride him o. hedge or ditch, or where thou wilt, but not 1F 1333 the year is divided into two circles o. the whole world
1F 1406 I see an angel hovers o. thy head
2F 213 thus having triumphed o. you, I will set my countenance
2F 713 O, that there would come a famine o. all the world
2F 870 o. the which two stately bridges lean
2F 1041 flies o. the Alps to fruitful Germany
2F 1256 if a man be drunk o. night, the devil cannot hurt him in the morning 2F 1543 you may ride him o. hedge and ditch 2F 1549 o. hedge and ditch, or where thou wilt, but 2F 1633 such a horse as would run o. hedge and ditch
2F 1691 the year is divided into two circles o. the whole world
2F 1864 I see an angel hover o. thy head
2F 2058 like those bright-shining saints, and triumph'd o. hell!
*JMD 10 o. whom none can claim more power or privilege
JM 467 that I may vanish o. the earth in air
JM 672 singing o. these, as she does o. her young
JM 1815 where painted carpets o. the meads are hurl'd
JM 2095 for the Jew's body, throw that o. the walls
JM 2120 they thought me dead, and threw me o. the walls
E2 (Title) sold at his shop in Chancery Lane, o. against the Rolls, 1612 E2 797 my Lord of Cornwall is a-coming o.
E2 1164 my son and I will o. into France
E2 1359 favour, that, as the sun-shine, shall reflect o. thee
E2 2158 and that I be protector o. him
MP 997 as ancient Romans o. their captive lords, so
MP 998 so will I triumph o. this wanton king
D 207 that they may trip more lightly o. the lawnds
D 975 to see a Phrygian, far-fet o. the sea, preferr'd
D 1299 and fire proud Lacedaemon o. their heads
D 1653 and, o. his ships, will soar unto the sun
*HLC 1139 even o. her head and face, down to her [V. R. the] feet Ov 322 o. my mistress is my right more great?
Ov 339 nor shamefully her coat pull o. her crown
Ov 489 mounts, and rain-doubled floods he passeth o.
Ov 653 now o. [ed. A, on] the sea, from her old love comes she Ov 792 and [ed. A, the] banks o. which gold-bearing Tagus flows
Ov 835 the banks o. which gold-bearing Tagus flows
Ov 1518 had oft swum o., but the way was blind
Ov 1592 and Love triumpheth o. his buskin'd poet
Ov 1994 thou o. a hundred nymphs or more shalt reign
*Epg 409 and that the bridge at Paris on [MS. in Paris o.] the Seine is *1H6 304 shall we give o. Orleans, or no?
*1H6 709 leap o. the walls for refuge in the field
*1H6 1312 and we be lords and rulers o. Roan
*1H6 2046 his bloody sword he brandish'd o. me
*1H6 2391 I'll o. then to England with this news
*Con 47 shall be released and delivered o. to the king
*Con 50 a sudden qualm came o. [Q3 ore] my heart

*Con 55 shall be released and delivered o. to the king her father
*Con 55 and she sent o. of the King of England's own proper cost
*Con 321 and there be made the regent o. the French
*Con 329 it were best that Somerset were regent o. France
*Con 333 what needs your grace to be protector o. him so long
*Con 334 madam I am but protector o. [Q3 ore] the land
*Con 401 let Somerset be regent o. [Q3 ore] the French
*Con 404 we make your grace regent o. the French
*Con 584 leap me o. this stool and run away
*Con 588 whip him till he leap o. that same stool
*Con 737 when thou wert protector o. my [Q3 this my] land
*Con 827 until the axe of death hang o. [Q3 ore] thy head
*Con 916 have I sent o. for the soldiers' wants
*Con 1001 that fortunate champion were sent o.
*Con 1436 for they use to write o' th' [Q3 ore the] top of letters
*Con 1480 marry always provided, I'll be protector o. him
*Con 1571 and then with a little blotting o. with ink
*Con 1819 by heaven, thou shalt not govern o. me
*2H6 58 and delivered o. to the king her father
*2H6 58 she sent o. of the King of England's own proper cost
*2H6 227 weeps o. them, and wrings his hapless hands
*2H6 571 let Somerset be regent o. the French
*2H6 838 leap me o. this stool, and run away
*2H6 842 whip him till he leap o. that same stool
*2H6 1146 till the axe of death hang o. thee
*2H6 1469 his guilt should be but idly posted o., because *2H6 2276 that parchment being scribbled o. should undo a man *2H6 2324 o. whom (in time to come) I hope to reign
*2H6 2353 I am content he shall reign, but I'll be protector o. him
*2H6 2415 but stay, I'll read it o. once again
*2H6 2417 face, rul'd like a wandering planet o. me
*2H6 2657 take your houses o. your heads
*2H6 2672 should make a start o. seas, and vanquish you?
*2H6 2813 and hang thee o. my tomb, when I am dead
*2H6 2934 give place: by heaven thou shalt rule no more o. him
*TT 163 and o. the chair of state where now he sits
*TT 205 and given our [Q2 o.] rights unto the House of York
*TT 299 and so he walks insulting o. his prey
*TT 1376 that Lewis of France is sending o. masquers
*TT 1474 that Lewis of France is sending o. masquers
*3H6 175 and o. the chair of state, where now he sits
*3H6 307 that hath authority o. him that swears
*3H6 378 so looks the pent-up lion o. the wretch
*3H6 380 and so he walks, insulting o. his prey
*3H6 1100 years, pass'd o. to the end they were created *3H6 1649 still ride in triumph, o. all mischance
*3H6 1865 that Lewis of France is sending o. masquers to *3H6 1895 shall waft them o. with our royal fleet
*3H6 2006 that Lewis is sending o. masquers, to
*E3 432 what beauty else could triumph o. me
*E3 838 she is as imperator o. me
*E3 963 when, to the great star-chamber o. our heads, the *E3 1940 for I will stain my horse quite o. with blood
*E3 2032 ravens do croak and hover o. our soldiers' heads

Over-awe.

*1H6 37 whom like a school-boy you may o.

Over-base.

E2 1243 how mean'st thou, Mortimer? that is o.

Overbear.

E2 1316 the barons o. me with their pride
*3H6 1600 but to command, to check, to o. such, as *E3 931 will o. and awe these dear regards

Over-blown.

*2H6 517 now lords, my choler being o.

Over-board.

D 745 our masts the furious winds struck o.
*3H6 2683 what though the mast be now blown o.

Over-bold.

*Loc 696 and rue too late thy o. attempts
*Loc 1257 soon should they rue their o. attempts

Overborne.

*1H6 976 weak shoulders, o. with burthening grief
*1H6 1151 ay, see the bishop be not o.
*1H6 2196 the bishop will be o. by thee

Over-burdened.

*Sel 867 that I may rest my o. soul
*Loc 1884 welcome to Locrine's o. heart!

Overcame.

*HLC 1961 how beauty o. the thoughts of all men
*1H6 108 what? wherein Talbot o., is 't so?
*1H6 496 in thirteen battles, Salisbury o.

Overcast.

*Loc 242 mine eyes wax dim, o. with clouds of age
D 1062 or day so clear so suddenly o.?
HLM 764 o. with dim and darksome coverture
*E3 266 pernicious winds, hath sullied, wither'd, o., and done

Over-charged.

*Sel 1255 'tis but your highness' o. mind
*2H6 1937 or like an o. gun, recoil
*2H6 1982 the secrets of his o. soul
*3H6 1139 be blind with tears, and break o. with grief

Over-charging.

*1H6 393 o. your free purses with large fines

Over-cloy.

D 874 that o. my soul with their content

Overcome.

*Loc 1821 thy filthy mind, o. with filthy lusts 1T 301 sent from the king to o. us all
1T 304 and I that triumph'd [4to tryumph] so, be o.?
1T 366 than Tamburlaine be slain or o.
2T 409 he should be o.
D 326 he is alive; Troy is not o.!
D 403 discourse at large, and truly too, how Troy was o.?
D 408 but all in this, that Troy is o.
D 438 and prophesied Troy should be o.
D 453 as therewithal the old man o., kiss'd him
D 474 we banqueted, till, o. with wine, some D 1563 if words might move me, I were o.
HLM 758 she, o. with shame and sallow [V. R. shallow] fear HLM 831 till she, o. with anguish, shame, and rage
Ov 1147 to o., so oft to fight I shame
*Con 894 is o. my lord, all is lost
*Con 1023 as soon shall o. those Irish rebels
*2H6 1086 O God, have I o. mine enemies in this presence?
*TT 179 in dreadful war mayst thou be o.
*3H6 194 in dreadful war may'st thou be o.

Over-dare.

2T 1246 to o. the pride of Graecia

Over-daring.

*Loc 100 or, with Ixion's o. son, be
E2 342 meet you for this, proud o. peers?

*1H6 1887 the o. Talbot hath sullied all his Overflow.
*Sel 509 yet will he quickly o. his banks
JM 1424 shall o. it with their refluence
E2 1764 who made the channel o. with blood Overflowing.
*Sel 283 your wisdom's o. wit, digs deep with
*Sel 2384 first shall the o. Euripus
*Sel 2467 than thou canst rule thy o. tongue
*Loc 706 than thou dost rule thy o. tongue
Ov 1950 rather, thou large bank-o. river, slide in Overgone.
*Sel 276 before she be too quickly o.
D 148 the Cyclops' shelves, and grim Ceraunia's seat, have you o.
*3H6 1184 sad-hearted men, much o. with care
Over-gorged.
*2H6 2136 o., with gobbets of thy mother's bleeding heart
Over-great.
JM 203 alas, my lord, the sum is o. !
Over-grow.
Ov 651 and sluttish white-mould o. the wax !
*2H6 1241 suffer them now, and they 'll o. the garden
Over-hardiness.
*Sel 823 to resist them were o.
Over-hastened.
*Loc 1942 crying, « Revenge my o. death »
Over-head.
HLM 143 and o. a lively vine of green sea-agate spread
Overjoy.
D 968 and o. my thoughts with their escape !
*2H6 31 and o. of heart doth minister
E2 641 this salutation os. my heart
Overjoyed.
D 350 Achates, speak, for I am o.
D 473 at whose accursèd feet, as o., we banqueted
Over-laden.
Ov 580 take cluster'd grapes from an o. vine
Over-laid.
*Loc 36 now yields to death, o. with crooked age
Over-long.
*1H6 2232 Oh hold me not with silence o.
Overlook.
*Loc 721 how doth he o. with haughty front
E2 1549 fôr which thy head shall o. the rest
*TT 499 so York may o. the town of York
*3H6 602 so York may o. the town of York Over-match.
2T 1256 thou wouldst with o. of person fight
Over-matched.
*Loc 1511 well have I o. his subtilty
*1H6 1893 set from our o. forces forth for aid
*TT 386 so true men yield by robbers o.
*3H6 483 so true men yield with robbers, so o.
Over-matching.
1T 487 a thousand sworn and o. foes
*3H6 440 and spend her strength with o. waves
Over-mounting.
*1H6 2055 did drench his o. spirit
Over-passed.
*Sel 47 since when, what dangers I have o.
*Sel 2033 till the days of mourning be o.
*Sel 2528 with delight declares the travels he hath o.
MP 813 now that this storm is o.
D 145 how many dangers have we o. !
L 185 now Caesar o. the snowy Alps

Over-peer.
*1H6 429 in yonder tower, to o. the city
2F 969 and, like a steeple, os. the church
Over-peered.
E2 314 we will not thus be fac'd and o.
*TT 1818 whose top-branch o. Jove's spreading tree
*2H6 2619 whose top-branch o. Jove's spreading tree
Over-reach.
1T 1937 a world of idle fantasies to o. the devil
*E3 2281 no, no, ye cannot o. us thus Over-ridden.
*E3 1435 as resty-stiff as 'twere a many o. jades
Over-ripened.
*Con 167 why droops my lord like o. corn
*2H6 261 why droops my lord like o. corn
Over-rule.
*Sel 105 ah ! if the soldiers o. thy state
HLM 117 more os. the flood than she L 373 love os. my will ; I must obey thee, Caesar
Over-ruled.
*Sel 1084 should be rul'd and o. by them
E2 135 am I a king, and must be o. ?
E2 333 was ever king thus o. as I ?
HLM 174 for will in us is o. by fate
L 178 hence came it that th' edicts were o.
*1H6 734 yet hath a woman's kindness o.
Over-run.
*Sel 2534 that sought to o. my territories
2T 1189 fire the town, and o. the land
*1H6 103 wherewith already France is o.
*TT 368 and in thy mind o. my former time
*3H6 464 and in thy thought o. my former time Over-seen.
*Loc (Title) newly set forth, o. and corrected by W. S. London Overseer.
*Sel 2364 none but my queen is o. there
Over-shades.
*TT 1021 dark cloudy death o. his beams of life
*3H6 1262 dark cloudy death o. his beams of life
Over-shine.
*3H6 641 and o. the earth, as this the world
Oversight.
D 719 for quittance of this o., I'll make me bracelets of D 1678 but die in fury of this o. ?
Over-slip.
*HLC 1386 that she did negligently o.
Over-slipped.
*Sel 880 and o. the duties of a son
Over-solitary.
1F 1480 belike he is grown into some sickness by being o.
2F 1960 he is not well with being o.
Over-spent.
*E3 2316 we would, till gloomy winter were o.
Overspread.
*Loc 434 and o. with parti-colour'd flowers
JM 1816 and Bacchus' vineyards o. the world
*Epg 275 an [C, and] ill-shap'd face, with morphew o.
*Epg 346 and his wrought pillow o. with lawn
EPF 20 so did their garland-tops the brook o.
Overstretched.
E2 963 the murmuring commons, o., break [Old eds. hath]
Over-strong.
E2 1783 fly, fly, my lord, the queen is o.
Ov 19 great are thy kingdoms, o., and large

Overtake.
*Sel 571 yet Selimus would o. them soon
1T 746 and, till thou o. me, Tamburlaine
D 208 and o. the tuskèd boar in chase
*1H6 544 o. me if thou canst, I scorn thy strength
Over-tedious.
*1H6 1482 speak on, but be not o.
Overthrew.
1T 1299 as when my emperor o. the Greeks
D 1412 a statelier Troy than that which grim Atrides o.
Overthrow.
*Sel 171 that mine own sons would seek my o. ?
*Sel 993 hearing of Selim's worthy o.
*Sel 1130 and would to God, with Selim's o.
*Sel 1377 burn up the fields, and o. whole towns
*Sel 1561 gather new forces by my o.
*Sel 1697 procure my death, or work my o.
*Sel 1919 but thou must seek poor Corcut's o.
*Sel 2470 is able to o. poor Tonombey
*Loc 605 shall fully shew their fatal o.
*Loc 740 to cut me off by such hard o. !
*Loc 928 in vain you sorrow for this o.
*Loc 1104 that bears the tokens of our o.
*Loc 1151 and he that seeks his sovereign's o.
*Loc 1157 may help me to bewail mine o.
*Loc 1282 but that thou view'dst thy enemy's o.
*Loc 1304 and shed salt tears for her o.
*Loc 1777 prejudicating Locrine's o.
*Loc 1799 and feed thy soul with Locrine's o.
*Loc 1813 with full pretence to seek thine o.
1T 567 and make us triumph in their o.
1T 972 achiev'd in pursuit of the city's o. ?
1T 1069 and make my soul divine her o.
1T 1176 whom I have brought to see their o.
1T 1333 and making bonfires for my o.
1T 1452 than it should [8vo should it] so conspire my o.
1T 1516 great Tamburlaine, great in my o.
1T 1591 the o. of mighty Bajazeth about the confines of Bithynia ?
1T 1797 were but to bring our wilful o.
1T 2241 and therefore grieve not at your o.
1T 2277 and I am pleas'd with this my o.
2T 494 in the fortune of their o., we may discourage all 2T 567 with such treason seek our o.
2T 1800 gives such assurance of our o.
1F 22 and, melting, heavens conspir'd his o.
2F 21 and, melting, heavens conspir'd his o.
JM 2402 know, Calymath, I aim'd thy o.
E2 559 'tis hard for us to work his o.
E2 981 ballads and rhymes made of thy o.
E2 2063 why gape you for your sovereign's o. ?
MP 862 to o. those factious [Old ed. sexious] Puritans
MP 1138 whose murderous thoughts will be his o.
D 760 the wars of Troy, — but not Troy's o.
*Epg 212 the blazing star, and Spaniards' o.
*1H6 24 that plotted thus our glory's o. ?
*1H6 228 hath the late o. wrought this offence ?
*1H6 394 that seeks to o. religion
*1H6 1408 we are like to have the o. again
*1H6 1413 for I have seen our enemies' o.
*Con 1659 and leave to seek your country's o.
*2H6 1394 to swear false allegations, to o. his state *TT 969 ah Lancaster, I fear thine o.
*3H6 1203 O Lancaster ! I fear thy o.
*3H6 2142 though fortune's malice o. my state
*E3 182 bray forth their conquest, and our o.
*E3 1988 can o. the limit of our fate
*E3 2362 what, have our men the o. at Poitiers !
2T 2048 make him, after all these os., to triumph Overthrown.
*Sel 1151 walls be o. and beaten to the ground 2T 56 all Turkey would be o.
*1H6 109 O no : wherein Lord Talbot was o.
*1H6 2524 that in this quarrel have been o.
*TT 1879 and Warwick as our mainmast o.
*E3 893 the large limit of fair Britany by me be o. ?
Overthwart.
*Sel 108 shall cross a prince and o. him still 2T 971 shot through the arms, cut o. the hands Overthwarting.
L 156 and blasts their eyes with o. flames
Over-tortured.
2F 2067 this ever-burning chair is for o. souls
Overturn.
*Loc 762 I'll o. the mountain Caucasus Overturned.
1F 4 in courts of kings where state is o.
2F 4 in courts of kings where state is o.
Over-veiled.
*1H6 686 night is fled, whose pitchy mantle o. the earth
Over-violent.
D 1073 the motion was so o.
Overwatched.
E2 2544 you're o., my lord : lie down and rest
Overweening.
*Con 944 whose o. arm I have held back
*2H6 1372 whose o. arm I have pluck'd back
*2H6 2980 oft have I seen a hot o. cur, run
*E3 1067 then Bayard-like, blind o. Ned, to Overweens.
*3H6 1578 my eyes too quick, my heart o. too much Overweigh.
1T 494 diadem shall o. his weary witless head Overweighing.
1T 1837 or be the means the o. heavens have kept to Overwhelm.
1F 283 or the ocean o. to the world
2F 267 or the ocean to o. the world
E2 152 sooner shall the sea o. my land
E2 2045 that, like a mountain, os. my bliss
Overwhelmed.
*Sel 78 and o. me in sad mischance
*Sel 653 my heart is o. with fear and grief
*Loc 1301 with floods of woes she seems o. to be Over-woo.
E2 1259 my lords, I will not o. your honours
Ovid.
Ov 845 I, O., poet, of my [Old eds. thy] wantonness
Ov 1288 and to the gods for that death O. prays 1F 769 I am like to O.'s flea ; I can creep into every 2F 692 I am like to O.'s flea, I can creep into every corner of a wench
Ov (Title) Certain of Os. Elegies. By C[hristopher] Marlow[e]
Ov (Title) All O.'s Elegies. Three Books. By C[hristopher] M[arlowe] Ov 3 we which were O.'s five books, now are three Owe.
*Sel 297 I o. no more to him than he to me
*Sel 912 but for I o. allegiance to my king
*Loc 2023 to whom we o. our country, lives, and goods
E2 317 is this the duty that you o. your king ?

*HLD 2 discharged of the duty we o. to our friend
*Epg 525 the heavens do o. [A, draw] no kindness unto thee
*1H6 1916 I o. him little duty, and less love
*TT 2107 the duty that I o. unto your majesty
*3H6 2354 for now we o. allegiance unto Henry
*3H6 2974 the duty that I o. unto your majesty, I seal upon
*E3 647 that I should o. bright gold, and render lead !
*E3 2241 I take thy gift, to pay the debts I o.
*E3 2358 challenge our favour, for we o. it thee
JM 987 a merchant's fled that os. me for a hundred tun of wine
*TT 1155 service, such as subjects os. and the laws commands
*E3 590 for Caesar os. that tribute to his queen
*E3 592 for Sarah os. that duty to her lord

Owed.

*Sel 658 o. his safety unto you [Grosart. — Quarto, ought]

Owen.

*Con 675 and but for O. Glendower, had been king
*2H6 940 and but for O. Glendower, had been king

Owing.

JM 1571 and where not, have I debts o.

Owl.

*HLC 2179 his false heart, the beauty of an o.
*1H6 1788 thou ominous and fearful o. of death
*TT 1903 let him to bed, and like the o. by day he hiss'd, and
*TT 2029 the o. shriek'd at thy birth, an evil sign
*3H6 2736 like the o. by day, if he arise, be mock'd and wonder'd at *3H6 2896 the o. shriek'd at thy birth, an evil sign
*TT 596 our soldiers like the night-o.'s lazy flight
*3H6 733 our soldiers like the night-o.'s lazy flight
Ov 640 to hoarse screech-os. foul shadows it allows
*2H6 603 the time when screech-os. cry, and ban-dogs howl
*2H6 1933 and boding screech-os., make the concert full
*TT 1016 bring forth that fatal screech-o. to our house
*3H6 1256 bring forth that fatal screech-o. to our house
*Con 1217 and boding scrike-os. [Q3 scritch-os.] make the consort full Own-built.

*HLC 1401 leading Affection prisoner through their o. cities

Owner.

JM 527 sometimes the o. of a goodly house
*Con 1721 without the leave of me the o.
*2H6 226 while as the silly o. of the goods weeps over them *2H6 2780 climbing my walls in spite of me the o.
*Sel 1366 land, which answers not his honours' [Query, os.' — Grosart, earers'] greedy mind

Ox.

*Loc 1486 I had rather give an whole o.. than that *2H6 2226 sin struck down like an o., and iniquitie's throat cut like a calf

Oxen.

JM 385 and two hundred yoke of labouring o.
Ov 51 young o. newly-yok'd are beaten more than Ov 52 than o. which [C, that] have drawn the plough before
Ov 668 slow o. early in the yoke are pent
Ov 2400 o. in whose mouths burning flames did breed ?
*1H6 560 or horse or o. from the leopard
*1H6 2649 as market-men for o., sheep, or horse
*2H6 2387 they fell before thee like sheep and o.
*2H6 2856 on sheep or o. could I spend my fury

Oxford.

E2 1047 my gentry I fetch from O., not from heraldry
*TT 1283 O., how haps that in this smooth discourse you
*TT 1293 can O. that did ever fence the right
*TT 1305 Queen Margaret, Prince Edward, and O.
*TT 1717 and thou brave O. wondrous well belov'd
*TT 1731 where is the post that came from valiant O. ?
*TT 1741 then O. is at hand, I hear his drum
*TT 1767 O cheerful colours, see where O. comes
*TT 1768 O., O., for Lancaster
*TT 1864 O. and Somerset are fled to her
*TT 1876 and welcome Somerset, and O. too
*TT 1922 away with O. to Hames Castle straight
*3H6 1723 O., how haps it in this smooth discourse
*3H6 1733 can O., that did ever fence the right
*3H6 1744 Queen Margaret, Prince Edward, and O.
*3H6 1876 thou and O., with five thousand men shall *3H6 2327 therefore, Lord O., to prevent the worst
*3H6 2442 and thou brave O., wondrous well belov'd
*3H6 2455 sweet O., and my loving Montague
*3H6 2490 where is the post that came from valiant O. ?
*3H6 2549 Oh cheerful colours, see where O. comes *3H6 2550 O., O., for Lancaster
*3H6 2557 Oh welcome O., for we want thy help
*3H6 2671 and Somerset, with O., fled to her
*3H6 2696 why is not O. here, another anchor ?
*3H6 2738 thanks gentle Somerset, sweet O. thanks
*3H6 2764 away with O. to Hames Castle straight

Oxfordshire.

*3H6 2443 in O. shalt muster up thy friends

Oyster.

2F 1386 turned to a gaping o., and drink nothing but salt water !

Oyster-wife.

1F 793 begotten of a chimney-sweeper and an o.
2F 710 begotten of a chimney-sweeper and an o.
*Epg 433 then an o. doth stint her cry, and

P

Pacandam.

Ov 292 Ad p. amicam, quam verberaverat

Pace.

*Loc 240 and cruel Death hasteneth his quicken'd p.
*Loc 452 and courage follows with embolden'd p.
*Loc 1880 thither I go before with hasten'd p.
*E3 2253 march proudly toward Calais with triumphant p.
1T 1392 with wanton ps. trampling on the ground
D 1426 not past four thousand ps. at the most Ov 1691 the Lydian buskin in fit ps. [Old eds. buskin fit places] kept her Ov 1213 and than things fonnd do ever further p.

Paced.

JM 1267 p. too long the fatal labyrinth of mischief
2F 1040 and on a proud-p. steed, as swift as thought

Pacify.

*Sel 1070 but we must send to p. our son
*Loc 1277 and with my death must p. their mood
1T 2191 to p. my country and my love
2F 1701 go, p. their fury, set it ope
D 1097 that I may p. that gloomy Jove
*E3 2256 no more, Queen Philippe, p. yourself

Pack.

2T 1833 a p. of faint-heart fugitives
*Con 1402 and now being not able to occupy her furred p.
*2H6 2246 not able to travel with her furred p.

*E3 2112 to Calais, Salisbury ? then to Calais p.

Packed.

D 1334 sails that, in despite of me, p. with the winds to Packing.

*1H6 1624 be p. therefore, thou that wast a knight
*2H6 1558 to send me p. with an host of men
*2H6 1714 and bid mine eyes be p. with mine heart
*E3 965 the universal sessions calls to count this p. evil

Pacostiphos.

1F 1061 Polypragmos Belseborams framanto p. tostu

Padua.

1F 873 from thence to Venice, P., and the rest
2F 849 from thence to Venice, P., and the East [1604, and Dyce, rest] 2F 937 Lord Cardinals of France and P.
JM 1132 and from P. were wont to come

Paean.

D 1015 whose amorous face, like P., sparkles fire
L 677 « P., whither am I hal'd ?

Paenam.

*Loc 1 In p. sectatur et umbra

Pagan.

2T 495 discourage all the p. troop that dare attempt to war 2T 532 with expedition to assail the p.
2T 476 these heathenish Turks and ps.
MP 1204 what irreligious ps.' parts be these Paganism.

2T 523 their foul blasphemous p.

Page.

*Sel 1926 so thus disguisèd, my poor p. and I
*Sel 2043 p., if thou shew us where thy master is *Sel 2057 but sure I wonder where my p. is gone
*Sel 2063 but that thy p. betrayèd thee to us
*Sel 2072 so my false p. hath vilely dealt with me
*Sel 2117 his trait'rous p. betrayèd to our hands
*Sel 2119 let the vile p. be famishèd to death
*Loc 1524 thither eftsoons, accompanied with my p.
*Loc 1682 O say me, p., tell me, where is the king ?
E2 58 like sylvan [Old eds. Silvian] nymphs my ps. shall be clad Pageant.

*Sel 1691 Corcut, thy p. next is to be play'd 2T 1754 now themselves shall make our p.
*2H6 327 not be slack to play my part in Fortune's p.
*Sel 1279 to see sad ps. of men's miseries
2T 1753 make us jesting ps. for their trulls
Ov 2414 with famous ps., and their home-bred beasts

Paid.

*Loc 1231 now, cursed Humber, hast thou p. thy due 1F 399 as if they had p. for my [Dyce, their] meat and drink 1F 1034 Drawer, I hope all is p. ; God be with you !
1F 1037 I must yet have a goblet p. from you, ere you go 2F 373 as familiar with me as if they p. for their meat and drink
*FB 26 and at the length my soul was truly p.
*1H6 691 now have I p. my vows unto his soul
*1H6 1511 they set him free, without his ransom p.
*Con 1315 ransom me at what thou wilt, it shall be p.
*Con 1321 then save our lives, it shall be p.
*2H6 2083 rate me at what thou wilt, thou shalt be p.
JM 202 the ten years' tribute that remains unp.

Paid : see Repaid

Pails.

2T 1683 and drink in p. the strongest muscadel

Pain.

*Sel 435 believe, a heaven of joy, and hell of endless p.
1T 855 an uncouth p. torments my grievèd soul
1T 1079 more honour and less p. it may procure
2T 623 from p. to p., whose change shall never end
2T 1114 quickly rid thee both of p. and life
2T 1278 invent some p. that most may vex his body 2T 1657 now the damnèd souls are free from p.
2T 1910 torture, or p., can daunt my dreadless mind
2T 2134 shall I sit and languish in this p. ?
2T 2185 a present medicine to recure my p. !
1F 498 why [So Dyce. — Not in 1604] have you any p. that 1F 594 that, after this life, there is any p. ?
1F 1582 impose some end to my incessant p.
2F 466 why, have you any p. that torture others ?
2F 540 that, after this life, there is any p. ?
2F 1938 his store of pleasure must be sauc'd with p.
2F 2111 impose some end to my incessant p.
*FB 2 how I am plung'd in p., but cannot die
*FB 78 where you shall never fear such mortal p.
E2 42 but yet it is no p. to speak men fair
MP 544 a griping p. hath seiz'd upon my heart
MP 547 I must say so ; p. forceth me complain
D 995 that resteth in the rival of thy p.
D 1129 for her that so delighteth in thy p. !
*HLC 1071 and bore with p. thoughts that spake straight
*HLC 1344 they kill that feel not their friends' living p.
Ov 1157 they that deserve p., bear't with patience
Ov 1449 but tender damsels do it, though with p.
Ov 1649 ay me, let not my warnings cause my p. !
Ov 1854 but my p. to purge her perjuries
Ov 1881 or in mine eyes, good wench, no p. transfuse
Ov 2278 and worshipp'd by their p. and lying apart ?
*1H6 406 henceforward, upon p. of death
*1H6 1625 henceforth we banish thee on p. of death
*2H6 1861 in pain of your dislike, or p. of death
*2H6 1894 but three days longer, on the p. of death
*2H6 1593 no p. they can inflict upon him, will make him say *2H6 2024 so thou wilt let me live, and feel no p.
*TT 1321 unless the Lady Bona quit his p.
*TT 2034 thy mother felt more than a mother's p.
*3H6 230 or felt that p. which I did for him once
*3H6 1764 unless the Lady Bona quit his p.
*3H6 2901 thy mother felt more than a mother's p.
*1H6 2361 whom I with p. have wooed and won thereto
*E3 1548 I will not have a man, on p. of death, sent
*Sel 334 and 'gan of ps., and feign'd rewards, to tell
*Sel 335 ps. for those men which did neglect the law
1T 2020 that lingering ps. may massacre his heart
2T 602 the dishonour of the ps. I feel 2T 1532 let your hates, extended in his ps.
2T 1544 and, with the ps. my rigour shall inflict
2T 1843 vex your slavish bosoms with continual ps. !
2T 1849 be forc'd with ps. more exquisite than 2T 2245 your ps. do pierce our souls
2T 2266 if not resolv'd into resolvèd ps.
2F 995 curse, to light as heavy as the ps. of hell
2F 1851 no mortal can express the ps. of hell
JM 367 I ban their souls to everlasting ps.
JM 814 having money for their ps., are wondrous
MP 216 though gentle minds should pity others' ps.
MP 743 it will not countervail his ps., I hope
*2H6 631 are deeply indebted for this piece of ps.
2F 2046 and now must taste hell's ps. [1624, 1631, hell-ps.] perpetually
*HLC 1834 what ps. he felt, how long in p. he lay

*HLC 2046 and so true feeling of her harmless ps.
Ov 294 while rage is absent, take some friend the ps.
Ov 2230 trust in good verse, Tibullus feels death's ps.
2T 1533 expel [Dyce excel] the hate wherewith he ps. our souls !

Pained.
Ov 288 whate'er thou art, farewell ; be like me p. !
Ov 1847 and by mine eyes ; and mine were p. sore

Painful.
2T 2112 though they think their p. date is out
JM 399 and p. nights, have been appointed me
E2 2306 the p. cares that wait upon my Ov 667 the p. hind by thee to field is sent
*E3 1581 my p. voyage on the boist'rous sea
*E3 1717 and p. travel of the queen herself that
*E3 2485 the p. traffic of my tender youth
*E3 2492 a rest, and interceasing [Ed. A, intercession] of our p. arms

Paint.
2T 176 to p. in words what I'll perform in deeds
D 865 as these thy protestations do p. forth
*HLC 2443 colours, p. their states to life
*1H6 881 lest bleeding you do p. the white rose red
*E3 1355 to p. thy vicious and deformed cause
*HLC 2116 Love ps. his longings in sweet virgins' eyes
*HLC 2124 Love ps. his longings in sweet virgins' eyes

Painted.
*Sel 430 like devils' faces scor'd on p. posts
*Loc 624 well hast thou p. out in eloquence
*Loc 1126 been p. with my foemen's brains
*Loc 1313 O, that sweet face, p. with nature's dye
JM 1815 where p. carpets o'er the meads are hurl'd
E2 865 frolics not more to see the p. spring
HLM 509 her p. fan of curled plumes let fall
*HLC 1103 p. moons, whose lights profane Beauty's true heaven
*HLC 1173 he came in swimming, p. all with joys
*HLC 1280 and thereof springs the p. beast
*HLC 1576 and all her body girt [V. R. girdled] with p. snakes
*HLC 2010 one of Juno's birds, the p. jay
*HLC 2031 a p. box of confits in her hand
*HLC 2299 our p. fools and cock-horse peasantry
Ov 734 such were they as Diana p. stands
Ov 1310 the ocean hath no p. stones or shells
Ov 1589 Love laughèd at my cloak and buskins p.
Ov 1779 coat-tuck'd Diana's legs are p. like them
L 398 they whom the Lingones foil'd with p. spears
*TT 345 with purple falchion p. to the hilts
*3H6 431 with purple falchion, p. to the hilt
*E3 567 O, were it p., I would wipe it off
Ov 2101 or Thamyris in curious-p. things ?

Painters.
*Epg 266 audacious p. have Nine Worthies made

Painting.
*Epg 428 of p. which with breathing will be thaw'd
*JMS 38 in graving with Pygmalion to contend, or p. with Apelles

Pair.
2F 787 I'll clap as fair a [1624, 1631, a fair] p. of horns on 's head as *1H6 714 like to a p. of loving turtle-doves
*2H6 363 to call them both a p. of crafty knaves

Paisans.
*1H6 1315 P., le pauvre gens de France

Paised.
HLM 530 where fancy is in equal balance p.

Palace.
*Loc 919 her p., burnt with all-devouring flames
*Loc 1618 ne'er shall she come within our p. gate
1T 491 that leads to p. of my brother's life
2T 679 up to the p. of th' empyreal heaven
2T 749 batter the shining p. of the sun
2T 1138 Jove's vast p., the empyreal orb
2T 1775 there my p. royal shall be placed 1F 979 at whose p. now Faustus is feasted
2F 859 this is the goodly p. of the Pope
D 520 who then ran to the p. of the king
HLM 245 who builds a p., and rams up the gate
HLM 383 then towards [V. R. toward] the p. of the Destinies
HLM 663 for here the stately azure p. stood
*2H6 1703 might in thy p., perish Eleanor [? Margaret]
*2H6 1850 they will by violence tear him from your p.
*2H6 2154 and beggary, is crept into the p. of our king
*TT 23 this is the p. of that fearful king
*TT 88 march'd through the city to the p. gates
*TT 546 now my soul's p. is become a prison
*TT 1206 and brought as prisoner to your p. gates
*TT 1764 you left poor Henry in the bishop's p.
*3H6 25 this is the p. of the fearful king
*3H6 95 march'd through the city to the p. gates
*3H6 678 now my soul's p. is become a prison
*3H6 1553 and brought your prisoner to your p. gates
*3H6 2458 here at the p. will I rest awhile
*3H6 2534 you left poor Henry at the bishop's p.
*E3 575 as lend my body, p. to my soul
*Loc 640 hold our habitacles in kings' ps.
1T 1503 that roofs of gold and sun-bright ps. should 2T 1553 consume your cities and your golden ps.
*1H6 2205 else ruin combat with their ps.
*1H6 2394 set this diamond safe in golden ps. as it becomes

Palace-gate.
*Loc 666 and build your houses by our p.
EPF 11 that glorious p. where the day-shining sun in E2 1526 and ploughs to go about our ps.

Palate.
Ov 1129 yet words in thy benummèd p. rung

Palatine.
2T 94 thyself, then County P.
2T 104 then County P., but now a king

Pale.
*Sel 665 upon my sword's sharp point standeth p. Death
*Sel 1311 and now mine eyes fast swimming in p. death
*Loc 30 black ugly Death, with visage p. and wan
*Loc 1936 to p. and ignominious aspect
1T 467 p. of complexion, wrought in him with passion 1T 987 should by heart's sorrow wax so wan and p.
1T 1057 and cast a pale complexion on his cheeks
1T 1744 my veins are p. ; my sinews hard and dry
1T 1883 now wax all p. and wither'd to the death
1T 2247 Jove, viewing me in arms, looks p. and wan
2T 727 sadly supplied with p. and ghastly death
2T 1240 your presence makes them p. and wan
2T 2146 shaking and quivering, p. and wan for fear
MP 158 p. death may walk in furrows of my face MP 1019 as p. as ashes ! nay, then, it is time to E2 2387 and, when I frown, make all the court look p.
D 411 like p. Death's stony mace, beats forth my senses
D 1259 heaven [Old ed. heavens] envious of our joys, is waxen p.
HLM 66 grief makes her p., because she moves not there

HLM 113 nor that night-wandering, p., and watery star
*HLC 1407 on whose p. flame an angry spirit flew
*HLC 1884 leaving the chalky shore a great way p.
Ov 312 she nothing said ; p. fear her tongue had tied Ov 1306 for thee the east and west winds make me p.
Ov 1957 Inachus grew p., and, in cold fords, hot lecherous
L 537 struck with th' earth's sudden shadow, waxèd p.
*1H6 185 otherwhiles, the famish'd English, like p. ghosts
*1H6 878 I pluck this p. and maiden blossom here
*1H6 894 for p. they look with fear, as witnessing the truth
*1H6 939 and by my soul, this p. and angry rose, as *1H6 1800 and p. destruction meets thee in the face
*1H6 1811 shall see thee wither'd, bloody, p., and dead
*Con 1114 of ashy semblance, p. and bloodless
*2H6 1627 how now ? why look'st thou p. ? why tremblest thou ?
*2H6 1666 look p. as primrose with blood-drinking sighs
*2H6 1765 of ashy semblance, meagre, p., and bloodless
*2H6 2575 these cheeks are p. for watching for your good
*TT 512 but severed in a p. clear-shining sky
*3H6 630 but sever'd in a p. clear-shining sky
*3H6 1161 the other his p. cheeks (methinks) presenteth
*E3 341 lo, when she blush'd, even then did he look p.
*E3 344 anon, with reverent fear when she grew p.
*E3 353 if she look'd p., 'twas silly woman's fear
*E3 355 if he look'd p., it was with guilty fear
*E3 479 compar'st thou her to the p. queen of night
*E3 1146 say, mirror of p. death, to whom belongs the *E3 2041 stand like metamorphos'd images, bloodless and p.
E2 968 lives uncontroll'd within the English p.
*1H6 1818 how are we park'd and bounded in a p. ?
*Con 998 doth [Q2 do] plant themselves within the English p.
E2 794 and meet me at the park-p. presently
*3H6 522 and will you p. your head in Henry's glory

Pale : see Impale

Pale-faced.
*2H6 1551 let p. fear keep with the mean-born man

Paleness.
*1H6 1684 the p. of this flower, bewray'd the faintness of Palestina.

2T 1212 from P. and Jerusalem

Palfrey.
*Con 1572 and in Cheapside shall my p. go to grass
*2H6 2266 and in Cheapside shall my p. go to grass

Palisadoes.
*Epg 256 curtains, and p. [Eds. pallizadois ; MS. passadoes]

Pallas.
*Loc 1918 and with them dies fair P. and sweet Love
HLM 327 flint-breasted P. joys in single life
HLM 328 but P. and your mistress are at strife
*Epg 163 than Jove when P. issu'd from his brain
Ov 1117 and crow [Old eds. crowes] survives arms-bearing P.' hate
Ov 1494 and some few pastures P.' olives bore
Ov 1861 P.' lance strikes me with unconquer'd arm

Palm.
*HLC 901 the p. of Bounty ever moist preserving
*HLC 2268 and much p. bears for his rare judgment
Ov 1830 he holds the p. ; my p. is yet to gain
Ov 2351 and doubt to which desire the p. to give Ov 2494 from him that yields, the p. [ed. A, garland] is quickly got Palmer's.

*2H6 2926 thy hand is made to grasp a p. staff

Palpable.
*E3 478 that line hath two faults, gross and p.

Palpably.
2T 1633 think you to mock me thus p. ?

Palsy.
*Con 1617 it is the p. and not fear that makes me
*2H6 2583 the p., and not fear provokes me

Paltry.
*Loc 702 I'll crack thy cockscomb, p. Scythian
1T 53 to apprehend that p. Scythian
1F 58 a pretty case of p. legacies !
2F 55 a pretty case of p. legacies !
JM 6 here have I purs'd their p. silverlings
JM 1027 my daughter here, a p. silly girl
JM 1812 content : but we will leave this p. land
E2 2629 rather die than sue for life unto a p. boy
*1H6 2028 to save a p. life, and slay bright fame
*Con 1881 and now behold, under a p. ale-house sign
*2H6 2157 upon these p., servile, abject drudges
*2H6 3115 for underneath an ale-house' p. sign, the Castle

Palude.
*Loc 799 Tollite flumineis undis rigidaque p.

Paly.
*2H6 1744 fain would I go to chafe his p. lips

Pampelonia.
MP 587 in P. crown [Dyce, Pampeluna]

Pampeluna.
MP 587 in P. crown [Old ed. Pampelonia]

Pampered.
2T 1665 holla, ye p. jades of Asia

Pamphlets.
*1H6 1097 with written p., studiously devis'd ?

Pan.
JM 1497 that sound at other times like tinkers' ps. !
MP 185 my brain-p. breaks ; my heart doth faint
*2H6 2758 my brain-p. had been cleft with a brown bill JM 1741 and a dagger with a hilt like a warming-p.

Pander.
*HLC 1102 an art that makes the face a p. to the heart
*HLC 1479 Meanness must p. be to Excellence [V. R. Excellencie]

Pandrasus.
*Loc 67 the Grecian monarch, warlike P.
*Loc 111 to Graecia's monarch, noble P.
*Loc 117 though P. and his contributaries

Pang.
MP 72 will every savour breed a p. of death ?
MP 545 a sudden p., the messenger of death
*Loc 243 the ps. of death compass my crazed bones 1T 2217 ah, that the deadly ps. I suffer now would JM 2407 to pinch me with intolerable ps.
*Con 1287 see how the ps. of death doth gripe his heart
*2H6 2044 see how the ps. of death do make him grin
*TT 1838 and at the ps. of death I heard him cry and say
*3H6 1007 and in the very ps. of death, he cried
*E3 516 the sick man best sets down the ps. of death

Pangaeus'.
L 678 I see P. hill with hoary top

Pant.
*HLC 1573 struggled in ps., and could not get releast 2F 1973 though my heart ps. and quivers to remember 1F 1491 though my heart ps. and quivers to remember that 2F 1418 and ps. until I see that [1624, 1631, the] conjurer dead

Panting.
E2 1938 here, man, rip up this p. breast of mine
1T 1148 that they [4to omits] lie p. on the galleys' side
HLM 50 and, with still p. rock [V. R. rockt], there took his rest Pap.
Ov 1468 then would I wish thee touch my mistress' p.
Papal.
2F 930 and crouch before the P. dignity
2F 942 that doth assume the P. government
2F 1006 against our state and p. dignity ?
E2 397 enforce the p. towers to kiss the lowly ground
MP 811 to beat the p. monarch from our lands
MP 1221 if I do, the p. monarch goes to wreck
MP 1226 and enforce the p. towers to kiss the lowly earth
Paper.
*Loc 325 O wit ! O pate ! O memory ! O hand ! O ink ! O p. !
JM 1841 give me a ream of p. : we'll have a
E2 298 give me the p.
E2 2133 so may his limbs be torn as is this p. !
Ov 611 I hate fair p. should writ matter lack *Con 415 here Sir John, take this scroll of p. here
*3H6 1816 sends me a p. to persuade me patience ?
*E3 383 art thou there, Lodowick ? give me ink and p.
*E3 394 hast thou pen, ink, and p. ready, Lodowick ?
*E3 462 my mistress' name, and it will gild thy p.
*E3 521 give me the pen and p., I will write
*E3 1806 give me the p., I'll subscribe to it 2T 578 take here these ps. as our sacrifice and witness
D 1709 these letters, lines, and perjur'd ps.
*HLC 2295 drown thy graces, which white ps. drink
Ov 2130 I might not go whither my ps. went
*Con 814 mail'd up in shame with ps. on my back
*2H6 1127 mail'd up in shame, with ps. on my back
*TT 1347 and now to excuse himself sends us a post of ps. ?
*E3 851 for I will use it as my writing-p.
Paper-house.
*Con 1638 entered my action in his wife's p.
Paper-mill.
*Con 1592 thou hast built up a p.
*2H6 2529 thou hast built a p.
Paphos.
D 1042 by P., Capys, and the purple sea
Ov 1543 that P. and flood-beat [Old eds. and the floud-beate] Cytherea guides Papistry.
MP 1232 whom God hath bless'd for hating p.
Para.
JM 645 Bueno p. todos mi ganado no era
Paradise.
*Loc 447 do equal it with Tempe's p.
2T 668 like tried silver run through P.
1F 760 that sight will be as pleasing unto me, as P. was to Adam 1F 762 talk not of P. nor creation
2F 682 as pleasant unto me, as P. was to Adam 2F 684 talk not of P. or creation
*HLC 888 and sweeten human thoughts like P.
*HLC 1315 all that all-love-deserving p.
*E3 1802 as willing I return as if I were to fly to p.
Paragon.
*Loc 1770 say'st thou so, Estrild, beauty's p. ?
*Loc 1876 farewell, fair Estrild, beauty's p.
1T 1214 the only p. of Tamburlaine
1F 1384 the pride of Nature's works, and only p. of excellence Parallel.
2T 25 the shortest northern p.
Paramour.
*Loc 1374 that thus he courts the Scythian's p. ?
*Loc 1585 and Humber's p. possess her place
*Loc 1950 and by him lies his lovely p.
1F 1129 and bring with him his beauteous p.
1F 1146 Alexander and his p. shall appear before your grace
1F 1154 you bring Alexander and his p. before the Emperor !
1F 1436 that I might have unto my p. that heavenly Helen 1F 1462 and none but thou shalt be my p. !
2F 1225 of Alexander and his beauteous p.
2F 1288 great Alexander, and his p.
2F 1295 great Alexander and his beauteous p.
2F 1307 the royal shapes of Alexander and his p.
2F 1312 and thou bring Alexander and his p.
2F 1895 that I may have unto my p. that 2F 1921 and none but thou shalt be my p. !
*1H6 2159 than wanton dalliance with a p.
*1H6 2301 then how can Margaret be thy p. ?
*1H6 1355 encompass'd with thy lustful ps.
Parapets.
2T 944 and p. to hide the musketeers
*Epg 256 of p., of curtenys, and pallizadois [So in Eds.]
*Epg 256 of p. [MS. parapelets], of curtains, and palisadoes Pararit.
Ov 2365 ut rivales multos sibi p.
Parasite.
*HLC 2174 who like a fleering [V. R. fleeting] slavish p.
Paratas.
Ov 590 Napem alloquitur, ut p. tabellas
Parbreak.
1T 2048 than noisome p. of the Stygian snakes
Parce.
Ept 8 Pro tot virtutibus uni, livor, p. viro
Parcel.
1T 1806 which he observes as p. of his fame
2T 355 to make it p. of my empery
2T 2165 is not a p. of the elements, but of a substance more divine 2T 2291 and serve as p. of my funeral
*3H6 2890 which now mistrust no p. of my fear Parcelling.
*E3 1884 thy p. this power hath made it more Parch.
HLM 34 neither sun nor wind would burn or p. her hands
*TT 409 what ? hath thy fiery heart so parch'd [Q3 p.] thine entrails Parched.
2T 2173 are p. and void of spirit
*Con 447 riding amidst the sing'd and p. smokes
*TT 409 what ? hath thy fiery heart so p. [Q3 parch] thine entrails *3H6 506 what, hath thy fiery heart so p. thine entrails Parching.
L 254 under the frosty bear, or p. east
*1H6 257 and to sun's p. heat display'd my cheeks
*2H6 79 in winter's cold, and summer's p. heat Parchment.
*Con 1574 lamb should p. [Q3 p. should] be made
*2H6 2276 that of the skin of an innocent lamb should be made p.
*2H6 2276 that p. being scribbled o'er should undo a man

Parchment-bottom.
*E3 848 go, break the thundering p. out Pardon.
*Sel 1215 nor will I beg my p. at thy hands
*Sel 1547 thou hast a p., Selim, granted thee
*Sel 1600 may merit p. at your princely hands
*Sel 1602 upon his knees begs p. of your grace 1T 1839 and bring us p. in your cheerful looks 2T 1121 entreat a p. of the God of heaven
2T 1289 humbly crave a p. for thy life
2T 1457 let all of us entreat your highness' p.
2T 1830 will get his p., if your grace
1F 937 come to beg a p. of your Holiness 2F 1119 and now is come unto your Holiness for his p.
*JMS 5 we humbly crave your p.
*JMS 16 thus low dejected, we your p. crave
E2 1034 your p. is quickly got of Isabel
*Con 1159 make thee crave p. for thy passèd speech
*Con 1501 shall have free p. from his majesty
*Con 1654 who mildly hath his p. sent to you
*2H6 1824 make thee beg p. for thy passed speech
*2H6 2637 and here pronounce free p. to them all
*2H6 2642 who loves the king, and will embrace his p.
*2H6 2718 and so with thanks and p. to you all, I
*TT 1469 without your highness' special [Q3 omits] p. I dare not *3H6 1998 such, as I (without your special p.) dare not relate
*3H6 2239 I then crave p. of your majesty
*E3 634 may I with p. know your highness' grief 2F 1726 I have procur'd your ps. [1624, p.]
*2H6 2650 be hang'd with your ps. about your necks ?
*Sel 1222 ah p. me, dear uncle, p. me !
*Sel 1283 ah, Selimus, now do I p. thee
*Sel 1535 so please your grace to p. his offence
*Loc 1393 p., my brother, noble Corineus
*Loc 1394 p. this once, and it shall be amended 1T 2159 p. my love ! O, p. his contempt
1T 2164 and p. me that was not mov'd with ruth 2T 1456 yet p. him, I pray
1F 750 nor will I henceforth : p. me in this 1F 1423 entreat thy lord to p. my unjust presumption 2F 673 nor will Faustus henceforth : p. him for this 2F 1319 O, p. me ! my thoughts are so ravish'd with 2F 1882 entreat thy lord to p. my unjust presumption
JM 974 I am a little busy, sir ; pray, p. me
JM 1000 p. me though I weep
JM 1278 Thy father's ! how ? — Nay, you shall p. me
JM 1684 no, p. me ; the law must have his course
JM 1768 pray, p. me ; I must go see a ship
E2 186 saving your reverence, you must p. me
E2 449 I mean not so ; your grace must p. me
E2 1033 p. me, sweet ; I forgot myself
E2 1215 in other matters ; he must p. us in this
E2 1322 my lord, p. my speech : did you
E2 1686 Sir John of Hainault, p. us, I pray
E2 2105 ah, p. me, grief makes me lunatic
E2 2374 nay, you shall p. me, none shall know my tricks
E2 2429 sweet mother, if I cannot p. him
MP 687 O, p. me, my lord !
MP 1005 O, p. me, my Lord of Guise
MP 1006 p. thee ! why, what hast thou done ?
D 390 this place beseems me not ; O, p. me !
D 455 and then — O Dido, p. me !
D 681 Iarbus, p. me, and stay a while D 1238 Aeneas, p. me ; for I forgot that
D 1499 p. me, though I ask ; love makes me ask
D 1500 O, p. me, if I resolve thee why !
*HLC 1226 O goddess, pity love, and p. it !
*HLC 1931 there he must p. them
Ov 863 p. me, Jove ! thy weapons aid me nought
*1H6 815 victorious Talbot, p. my abuse
*1H6 1596 p. me princely Henry, and the rest
*Con 50 p. my lord, a sudden qualm came
*Con 285 I beseech your grace to p. me
*Con 627 and p. me my gracious sovereign
*Con 899 p. my liege, that I have stay'd so long
*Con 1494 and he will p. thee and these
*Con 1497 come to me and he will, and then I'll p. him
*Con 1698 to p. these their faults, that
*Con 1764 Humphrey Duke of Buckingham, p. me
*Con 1771 the king doth p. thee, and grants to thy request
*Con 1838 if thou didst mistake, we p. thee, kneel again
*2H6 52 p. me gracious lord, some sudden qualm
*2H6 378 I pray my lord p. me, I took ye for *2H6 1200 it is my office, and madam p. me
*2H6 1305 p., my liege, that I have stay'd so long
*2H6 2861 Buckingham, I prithee p. me
*2H6 2957 for thy mistaking so, we p. thee
*TT 145 his is the right, and therefore p. me
*TT 925 Oh p. God, I knew not what I did
*TT 926 and p. father, for I knew thee not
*TT 1361 my gracious queen p. what is past
*TT 1470 we p. thee, and as near as thou canst tell me
*TT 1747 and call Edward king and he will p. thee
*TT 1795 p. me Edward, for I have done amiss
*TT 1976 here sheathe thy sword, I'll p. thee my death
*TT 2045 O God forgive my sins, and p. thee
*3H6 154 his is the right, and therefore p. me
*3H6 237 p. me Margaret, p. me sweet son
*3H6 1130 p. me God, I knew not what I did
*3H6 1131 and p. father, for I knew not thee
*3H6 2000 go to, we p. thee
*3H6 2513 and he shall p. thee these outrages ?
*3H6 2591 p. me, Edward, I will make amends
*3H6 2832 here sheathe thy sword, I'll p. thee my death
*3H6 2913 O God forgive my sins, and p. thee
*E3 294 p. me, countess, I will come no near
*E3 527 p. my boldness, my thrice-gracious lord Pardonable.
*TT 425 Oh, 'tis a fault too-too unp.
*3H6 525 Oh 'tis a fault too-too unp.
Pardoned.
1F 1488 but Faustus' offence can never be p.
2F 1969 but Faustus' offence can ne'er be p.
*HLC 1238 Jove lov'd him too, and p. her offence
*E3 698 but not so easily p., being broken
*E3 1297 yet, those that would submit, we kindly p.
Pardonnez.
JM 1989 p. moi, be no in tune yet
JM 2023 p. moi, monsieur ; me be no well
'Parel : see Apparel
Parents.
*Loc 196 careful p. glory not so much at their own
*E3 1229 forsake your loving p. in distress
*Sel 1791 my p. were but men of poor estate
*Sel 1812 curse on my p. that first brought me up
*Loc 1983 ah ! loving p., little do you know
1F 11 now is he born, his p. base of stock
1F 769 I am Pride, I disdain to have any p.
1F 802 my p. are all dead, and the devil a penny they 1F 1594 curs'd be the p. that engender'd me !

2F 11 now is he born of p. base of stock
2F 692 I am Pride. I disdain to have any p.
2F 727 my p. are all dead, and the devil a penny they have left me
2F 2123 curs'd be the p. that engender'd me !
*HLC 1908 to the sad p. of each savèd maid
*HLC 1912 the p. of chaste Eucharis
*HLC 2121 part in disposing them your p. share [V.R. are] Ov 101 I gladly grant my p. given to save
Ov 297 I might have then my p. dear misus'd
Ov 1443 both unkind p. ; but, for causes sad
Ov 2212 to Thracian Orpheus what did p. good
L 502 nor could the bed-rid p. keep back their sons
*Loc 1921 and bring my soul unto my p.' ghosts
*Loc 1928 so I am left to wail my p.' death
2T 2038 when I record my p.' slavish life
D 489 young infants swimming in their p.' blood
*HLC 1889 fear of her p.' frowns
*3H6 2894 orphans, for their p.' timeless death

Parentage.

1T 224 and yet a shepherd by my p.
1F 806 O, I come of a royal p. !
D 1286 Aeneas, for his p., deserves as large a
HLM 416 like an insolent commanding lover, boasting his p.
*1H6 1039 I was the next by birth and p.
*1H6 2433 graceless, wilt thou deny thy p. ?
*2H6 2338 and ignorant of his birth and p., became a
*E3 23 France, replete with princes of great p.

Parian.

Ov 344 like marble from the P. mountains hew'd

Parientem.

Ov 1383 Ad Isidem, ut p. Corinnam juvet

Parings.

*1H6 1201 the very p. of our nails shall pitch a field

Paris.

1T 66 as did Sir P. with the Grecian dame
1F 1375 than when Sir P. cross'd the seas with her 1F 1450 I will be P., and for love of thee, instead of Troy
2F 1831 than when Sir P. cross'd the seas with her
2F 1909 I will be P., and for love of thee
D 777 I this in Greece, when P. stole fair Helen D 823 say, P., now shall Venus have the ball ?
D 1555 so thou wouldst prove as true as P. did
Ov 1597 what thankless Jason, Macareus, and P.
Ov 1611 there P. is, and Helen's crime's record
*1H6 2699 goes as did the youthful P. once to Greece
D 855 and P.' judgment of the heavenly ball
1F 863 from P. next, coasting the realm of France
2F 839 from P. next, coasting the realm of France
MP (Title) The Massacre at P. : with the death of the Duke of Guise MP 34 that all the protestants that are in P.
MP 137 P. hath full five hundred colleges
MP 522 which my Lord of Guise did make in P.
MP 884 seen with what a pomp he enter'd P.
MP 891 did they of P. entertain him so ?
MP 908 now, that P. takes the Guise's part
MP 914 and that P. is revolted from his grace
MP 1180 sent from the President of P.
MP 1192 the President of P. greets your grace
MP 1267 fire P., where these treacherous rebels lurk
*Epg 409 and that the bridge at P. on [MS. in P. over] the Seine is *1H6 62 P., Guysors, Poictiers, are all quite lost
*1H6 66 is P. lost ? is Rouen yielded up ?
*1H6 1430 and then depart to P., to the king
*1H6 1581 now Governor of P. take your oath
*1H6 2135 and now to P. in this conquering vein
*1H6 2202 then march to P. royal Charles of France
*2H6 92 in his infancy, crowned in P. in despite of foes
*2H6 216 P. is lost, the state of Normandy stands on a *2H6 537 till P. was besieg'd, famish'd, and lost
*E3 1505 that came from P., weary with their march

Paris-garden.

*Epg 494 to P. [C, to Parish-garden ; MS. the Parish garden] doth
*Epg 547 to P., Cock-pit, or the play

Parish.

*Loc 1451 I am now become one of the richest men in our p.
1F 425 so I should be called Kill-devil all the p. over 1F 987 now will I make all the maidens in our p. dance at *1H6 2430 I did beget her, all the p. knows

Parish-garden.

*Epg 494 to Paris-garden [C, to P. ; MS. the P.] doth

Parisians.

*1H6 2200 'tis said, the stout P. do revolt

Paris-ward.

*1H6 1469 their powers are marching unto P.

Park.

E2 2448 come, son, we'll ride a-hunting in the p.
*TT 1588 ay, ay, the horse stands ready at the p. corner
*3H6 2200 into the chiefest thicket of the p.
*3H6 2218 your horse stands ready at the p. corner
*TT 1824 my ps. my walks, my manors that I had *3H6 2629 my ps., my walks, my manors that I had Parked.

*1H6 1818 how we are p. and bounded in a pale ?

Park-pale.

E2 794 and meet me at the p. presently

Parle.

1T 326 stay, Techelles, ask a p. first
2T 117 a friendly p. [4to parley] might become you both 2T 1037 summon a p., drum
2T 1859 shall bide no more regard of p. [Old eds. parlie]
*3H6 2505 go, trumpet, to the walls, and sound a p.
2T 11 shall we p. with the Christians ?
2T 50 't is requisite to p. for a peace

Parled.

E2 618 that you have p. with your Mortimer ?
HLM 191 these lovers p. by the touch of hands

Parley.

*Sel 1163 summon a p. to the citizens
*Sel 2368 summon a p., sirs, that we may know 2T 117 a friendly parle [4to p.] might become you both 2T 1859 shall bide no more regard of parle [Old eds. parlie]
HLM 507 afraid, in offering p., to be counted light
HLM 776 till gentle p. did the truce obtain
*1H6 1474 summon a p., we will talk with him
*1H6 1475 a p. with the Duke of Burgundy
*1H6 1476 who craves a p. with the Burgundy ?
*1H6 2351 we'll crave a p., to confer with him
*TT 777 break off the p., for scarce I can refrain
*TT 1784 a p. sirrah to George of Clarence
*3H6 923 break off the p., for scarce I can refrain the 2F 952 may p. with this [1624, 1631, the] Pope
2F 1492 I heard them p. with the conjurer
E2 126 and henceforth p. with our naked swords
E2 1302 come, let thy shadow p. with King Edward E2 1380 you shall go p. with the king of France
*Con 1512 I'll come and p. with their general
*2H6 2414 will p. with Jack Cade their general

*2H6 2632 dare any be so bold to sound retreat or p.
*TT 811 to p. thus with England's lawful heirs ?
*E3 191 say that we with England will not p.
Parleyed.
*2H6 2568 this tongue hath p. unto foreign kings for your behoof Parliament.
1T 914 than if the gods had held a p., and E2 73 from the p. I'll stand aside
E2 184 as then I did incense the p., so will I now
E2 1827 but as the realm and p. shall please
E2 2075 my lord, the p. must have present news
*1H6 949 shall be wip'd out in the next p.
*1H6 1093 and therefore haste I to the p.
*1H6 1362 God speed the p. : who shall be the speaker ?
*Con 834 I summon your grace, unto his highness' p.
*Con 836 a p. and our consent never crav'd
*Con 970 what will your highness leave the p. ?
*Con 1941 and summon a p. with speed
*Con 1965 there as I hear to hold a p.
*2H6 1166 I summon your grace to his majesty's p.
*2H6 1410 what, will your highness leave the p. ?
*2H6 2507 my mouth shall be the p. of England
*2H6 3165 to call a present court of p.
*TT 34 the bloody p. shall this be call'd
*TT 59 here in the p., let us assail the *TT 213 until that act of p. be recall'd
*TT 392 was it you that revell'd in our p.
*TT 584 to dash your late decree in p.
*TT 640 his oath enrolled in the p.
*TT 760 have caused him by new act of p. to *3H6 35 the queen this day here holds her p.
*3H6 39 the bloody p. shall this be call'd
*3H6 65 my gracious lord, here in the p. let us assail
*3H6 258 until that act of p. be repeal'd
*3H6 490 was 't you that revell'd in our p.
*3H6 721 to dash our late decree in p.
*3H6 776 his oath enroll'd in the p.
*3H6 903 have caus'd him by new act of p., to Parliament-house.
*TT 66 to make a shambles of the p.
*3H6 73 to make a shambles of the p.
Parma.
1F 120 and chase the Prince of P. from our land
2F 117 and chase the Prince of P. from our land
MP 1030 Philip and P., I am slain for you !
Parnill.
*Con 1389 and Gregory that should have your P.
Parricide.
*Sel 2372 what cravest thou, thou bloodthirsty p. ?
*Sel 363 that ps., when death hath given them rest Parrot.
*HLC 2067 Psittacus, that now the P. is surnam'd by us
Ov 1083 the p., from East India to me sent Ov 1098 such to the p. was the turtle-dove
Ov 1120 the p. given me, the far world's [Old eds. words] best choice Ov 1139 the p., into wood receiv'd with these Parsants : see Peasants
Parson.
*Sel 1990 make you as eloquent as our p. himself 1F 1014 our Master P. says that's nothing Part.
*Sel (Title) The First P. of the tragical reign of Selimus
*SP 14 we have the greatest p. of our reward
*Sel 1 The First P. of the most tyrannical Tragedy and reign of Selimus
*Sel 237 but now unmask thyself, and play thy p.
*Sel 364 shall have as good a p. as [have] the best
*Sel 905 gave he not him an empire for his part
*Sel 921 nor do we take p. with prince Selimus
*Sel 2118 but for that false p., let the vile page be
*Sel 2239 if to the farthest p. of Asia
*Sel 2571 if this First P., Gentles, do like you well
*Sel 2572 the Second P. shall greater murthers tell
*Loc 207 then now, my son, thy p. is on the stage 1T (Title) the First P. of two tragical discourses, as they were 1T (Title) The First P. of Tamburlaine the Great 1T 316 in every p. exceeding brave and rich 1T 477 in every p. proportion'd like the man
2T (Title) The Second P. of the bloody conquests of mighty Tamburlaine 2T (Title) and the manner of his own death. The Second P.
2T (Title) The Second P. of Tamburlaine the Great 2TP 3 made our poet pen his Second P.
2T 440 the western p. of Africa
2T 486 the greatest p. of all his army
2T 948 dismount the cannon of the adverse p.
2T 1096 my veins, that there begin and nourish every p.
2T 2219 then, by the northern p. of Africa
1F 856 and take some p. of holy Peter's feast
1F 893 that make safe passage to each p. of Rome
1F 908 and take some p. of holy Peter's feast
2F 571 and take some p. of holy Peter's feast [Dyce, omits]
2F 832 and take some p. of holy Peter's feast
2F 871 that make safe passage to each p. of Rome
2F 887 and take some p. of holy Peter's feast
*JMD 3 and the p. of the Jew presented by so unimitable an actor as *JMS 36 the p. he hath studied, and intends to play it
JM 2 and of the third p. of the Persian ships
JM 1505 for my p., fear you not
E2 933 content ; I'll bear my p. — Holla ! who's there ?
E2 1431 a bloody p., flatly 'gainst the law of arms !
E2 1500 'tis not amiss, my liege, for either p. to E2 1668 and others of our party [Dyce p.] and faction
MP 85 now come thou forth, and play thy tragic p.
MP 908 now that Paris takes the Guise's p.
D 182 now is the time for me to play my p.
D 628 and so play my p. as every touch shall wound
HLM 369 every p. strove to resist the motions of her heart
*HLC 1000 with sense of his unceremonious p.
*HLC 1466 did greatest hold in her self-greatest p.
*HLC 1979 to reunite each p. from other reft
*HLC 2024 brought forth with joy the thickest p. of night
*HLC 2121 p. in disposing them your parents share [V. R. are]
*HLC 2122 and that a third p. is Ov 151 and where thou drink'st, on that p. I will sup
Ov 316 better I could p. of myself have wanted
Ov 584 in verse to praise kind wenches, 'tis my p.
Ov 843 my name shall live, and my best p. aspire
Ov 954 who first depriv'd young boys of their best p.
Ov 1035 even from your cheeks p. of a voice did break
Ov 1487 Sulmo, Peligny's third p., me contains Ov 1483 and even the ring perform a man's p. well
Ov 2242 p. of her sorrow here thy sister bearing
Ov 2292 and corn with least p. of itself return'd
L 56 if any one p. of vast heaven thou swayest
L 281 now, while their p. is weak and fears, march hence
*AT 80 nor play'd a p. so ill

*1H6 95 Reignier, Duke of Anjou, doth take his p.
*1H6 670 most p. of all this night
*1H6 800 for what you see ; is but the smallest p.
*1H6 911 I'll turn my p. thereof into thy throat
*1H6 1073 would some p. of my young years might but *1H6 1528 Pucelle hath bravely play'd her p. in this *1H6 1966 p. of thy father may be sav'd in thee
*1H6 1967 no p. of him, but will be shame in me
*1H6 2527 have we not lost most p. of all the towns
*Con 211-212 I'll not behind for playing my p. [Q1 Q2 omit]
*Con 400 doth breed suspicion on the p. of York
*Con 1327 ay [Q2 yea] sir, but these rags are no p. of the duke
*Con 1691 and all the rest that do take p. with him
*2H6 327 not be slack to play my p. in Fortune's pageant
*2H6 466 for my p., noble lords, I care not which *2H6 2100 ay, but these rags are no p. of the duke
*2H6 2867 that is too much presumption on thy p.
*2H6 3083 throw in the frozen bosoms of our p., hot coals of vengeance
*TT 923 my father he came on the p. of York
*TT 1277 that did subdue the greatest p. of Spain
*TT 1925 for my p. I'll not trouble thee with words
*3H6 2767 for my p., I'll not trouble thee with words
*3H6 1127 came on the p. of York, press'd by his master
*3H6 1594 to disproportion me in every p.
*3H6 1717 which did subdue the greatest p. of Spain
*3H6 2289 ay, therein Clarence shall not want his p.
*E3 71 'twere but a foolish p., to say him nay
*E3 107 bear'st thou a p. in this conspiracy ?
*E3 1338 to satisfy thy lust in either p.
*E3 2060 of whom the better p. are slain and fled
*E3 2177 the twentieth p. of those that live are men enough
*E3 2179 enough to quail the feeble handful on the adverse p.
*E3 2478 and, for my p., the bloody scars I bear, the 1T 1742 draws bloody humours from my feeble ps.
2T 2178 then will I comfort all my vital ps.
1F 891 with winding banks that cut it in two ps.
2F 869 with winding banks that cut it in two ps.
E2 65 to hide those ps. which men delight to see MP 1204 what irreligious pagans' ps. be these
*HLD 9 the ps. of reckoning and worth which you
HLM 414 to eye those ps. which no eye should behold
*HLC 933 flow'd from his ps. with force so virtual
*HLC 1092 to display it through all our cloudy ps.
*HLC 1313 adumbrate only her most heart-piercing ps.
*HLC 1970 since in two equal ps. it will not sever
*HLC 1972 rejoin it ever, as common to both ps.
*HLC 1978 in two ps. equal, naught in middle left
*HLC 2114 all your ps. employ, and suit Night's rich
*HLC 2236 for all the ps. that did on love depend L 479 brought from out their northern ps.
L 622 a small thin skin contain'd the vital ps.
*1H6 1180 and banding themselves in contrary ps.
*1H6 1742 to be our regent in these ps. of France
*Con 60 discharge your grace from being regent in the ps. of France
*Con 147 and therefore I will take the Nevils' ps.
*2H6 65 discharge your grace from being regent i' th' ps. of France
*2H6 241 and therefore I will take the Nevils' ps.
*2H6 2381 such as would (but that they dare not) take our ps.
*2H6 3136 discomfit reigns in the hearts of all our present ps.
*HLC 1577 her down ps. in a scorpion's tail combin'd
*Sel 1895 for thou hast join'd us, we cannot p.
*Loc 1047 school you, ere you and we p. hence 1T 333 before we p. from our possession
1T 434 thyself and them shall never p. from me
1T 1881 thy puissant never-stayed arm will p. their bodies 2T 251 where Egypt and the Turkish empire p.
2T 2249 must p , imparting his impressions
2F 827 that with his wings did p. the subtle air
JM 288 nor will I p. so slightly therewithal
JM 666 to shun suspicion, therefore, let us p.
JM 825 come home, and there's no price shall make us p.
JM 1060 nothing but death shall p. my love and me
JM 1168 P. 'em, p. 'em ! — Ay, p. 'em now they are dead
JM 1595 p. 'em, master, p. 'em
JM 1919 O, that I should p. with so much gold !
JM 2417 we will not let thee p. so suddenly
JM 2434 thou canst not p. ; for Malta shall be freed
E2 343 ere my sweet Gaveston shall p. from me
E2 430 therefore, with dumb embracement, let us p.
E2 1119 that, when I had him, we might never p. !
E2 1945 Spenser, ah, sweet Spenser, thus, then, must we p. ?
E2 1967 well, that shall be, shall be : p. we must E2 1968 sweet Spenser, gentle Baldock, p. we must HLM 582 so soon to p. from that she dearly held
HLM 649 pray'd the narrow toiling Hellespont to p. in twain
Ov 179 but we must p. when heaven with black night lours
*Epg 69 the self-same devil did them p. asunder
*Epg 71 that thus did [MS. straight would] p. them ere they did me evil
*Epg 264 we p. as wise as when [MS. wisely as] we came together
*2H6 1961 loather a hundred times to p. than die
*2H6 2622 now p. them again, lest they consult about *2H6 2775 ere thou and I p.
*TT 883 brothers, give me your hands, and let us p.
*3H6 2769 so p. we sadly in this troublous world
*E3 969 stand where thou dost, I'll p. a little from thee
*E3 990 I never mean to p. my lips again in any *HLC 1251 thus my love's grace ps. no where, but Partake.

JM 2341 and, governor, now p. my policy
MP 684 a woman only must p. the secrets of my heart
D 1122 yes, if you would p. with me the cause of Partaker.

1T 419 to be p. of thy good or ill
*1H6 932 for your p. Poole, and you yourself
D 1261 to be ps. of our honey talk
L 128 each side had great ps.
*1H6 654 make us ps. of a little gain

Parted.

JM 639 yet, when we p. last, he said he would attend
E2 1140 how comes it that the king and he is p. ?
E2 1973 p. from hence, never to see us more ?
*HLC 854 now we praise, as having p.
*HLC 1505 given Venus as she p. th' airy sphere
*HLC 1670 all the celestials p. mourning then
*HLC 2120 are not your own alone but p. are L 549 the flame in Alba, consecrate to Jove, p. in twain
*TT 391 and p. but the shadow with his hand
*3H6 488 yet p. but the shadow with his hand
*TT 1547 the duke, why Warwick when we p. last, thou
*3H6 2124 why Warwick, when we p., thou call'dst me king

*Con 1113 oft have I seen a timely-p. ghost
*2H6 1764 oft have I seen a timely-p. ghost Parthia.
1T 165 Albania, Mesopotamia, and of P.
1T 513 that now is marching near to P.
1T 785 then thou for P.; they for Scythia and Media
Parthian.
1T 608 to drink the mighty P. Araris
L 107 Ps., y' afflict us more than ye suppose
L 232 or darts which Ps. backward shoot, march'd on Partial.
1T 1616 in sounding through the world his p. praise
2T 549 in p. aid of that proud Scythian
JM 462 you p. heavens, have I deserv'd this plague?
MP 327 I swear by this cross, we'll not be p.
JM 1194 and with my prayers pierce imp. heavens
*Loc 44 now by the weapons of unp. death
Parti-coloured.
*Loc 434 and overspread with p. flowers
2T 835 look like the p. clouds of heaven
*E3 322 earth doth boast his pride [Capell, proud, conj. pied], and p. cost Particular.
*Loc 288 and all the p. stars of the pole antastic
JM 1705 law wills that each p. be known
*Epg 14 which taxeth [MS. carrieth] under a p. [C, peculiar] name, a
*Epg 44 yet doth not his p. humour shun the common stews
*2H6 2307 Where's our general? — Here I am thou p. fellow Particularities.
*2H6 3092 p. and petty sounds to cease Particularly.
JM 297 we late p. thine, to save the ruin of a Parties.
*1H6 2210 that divided was into two p.
Parting.
E2 860 thy sight is sweeter far than was thy p. hence
D 1201 as p. friends accustom on the shore
*1H6 1081 and peace, no war, befall thy p. soul
*TT 970 more than my body's p. from my soul
*3H6 1204 more than my body's p. with my soul
*2H6 2009 away: though p. be a fretful corrosive Partly.
*3H6 1491 but now you p. may perceive my mind Partner.
Ov 1365 but I no p. in my glory brook
*1H6 1394 and will be p. of your weal or woe
L 86 dire league of ps. in a kingdom last not *1H6 1387 my vows are equal ps. with thy vows Partnership.
L 93 dominion cannot suffer p.
Partridge.
*Con 475 and on a sudden sous'd the p. down
*Con 1129 who finds the p. in the puttock's nest
*2H6 1794 who finds the p. in the puttock's nest
JM 1779 buries it up, as ps. do their eggs, under the earth Party.
E2 1668 and others of our p. [Dyce, part] and faction
*1H6 863 but dare maintain the p. of the truth
*1H6 955 will I upon thy p. wear this rose
*E3 1857 his p. stronger battled than our whole Pash.
1T 1200 did p. the jaws of serpents venemous
Ov 1481 and through the gem let thy lost waters p.
Pass.
*E3 2068 I have your p. and warrant for my safety
*Sel 299 and p. from me the Turkish seignory
*Sel 313 and every one his life in peace did p.
*Sel 408 and let you p. free without punishment?
*Sel 782 shall never p. the temple of true fame
*Sel 1718 before he p. forth of Byzantium
*Sel 2143 thou shalt perceive all things will come to p.
*Loc 381 where we will p. the day in knightly sports
*Loc 675 if you chance to p. or re-p. that way
*Loc 757 I'll p. the Alps to wat'ry Meroe
*Loc 766 I'll p. the frozen zone, where icy flakes
*Loc 1573 and p. Cocytus, to the Elysian fields
*Loc 1701 and p. the night and day in Venus' sports
*Loc 1704 p. through the circuit of the heavenly vault
*Loc 1956 to p. foul Styx in Charon's ferry-boat
*Loc 2014 this present stream shall present bring to p.
1T 130 p. [4to hast] into Graecia, as did Cyrus once
1T 797 haste to bid him battle ere he p. too far 2T 684 if she p. this fit, the worst is past 2T 1711 and p. their fixèd bounds exceedingly 1F 351 to p. the ocean with a band of men
2F 335 to p. the ocean with a band of men
2F 912 and view their triumphs as they p. this way
*JMS 19 we know not how our play may p. this stage
JM 167 haply for neither, but to p. along
JM 532 I'd p. away my life in penitence
JM 1021 well, let it p.; another time shall serve
JM 1082 here must no speeches p., nor swords be drawn
JM 2220 do but bring this to p. which thou pretendest
E2 231 he nods, and scorns, and smiles at those that p.
E2 1578 that suffer'd Jove to p. in showers of gold
E2 1610 I thank them, gave me leave to p. in peace
E2 2384 the proudest lords salute me as I p.
MP 164 things shall come to p. where resolution strives MP 656 to work the way to bring this thing to p.
MP 1072 I'll clip his wings or e'er he p. my hands
D 366 see, where her servitors p. through the hall
D 558 through which he could not p. for slaughter'd men
D 1509 to leave this town and p. to Italy
*HLC 1113 this she thought most hard to bring to p.
*HLC 1127 hole to p. through all these worldly cinctures
*HLC 1331 but that one ship where all her wealth did p.
*HLC 2308 who feign'd he in another ship would p.
Ov 224 he shows me how unheard to p. the watch
Ov 505 the keepers' hands and corps-du-gard to p.
Ov 626 going out again, p. forth the door more wisely
Ov 1104 and p. our scarlet of red saffron's mark
Ov 1161 dull'd with much beating, slowly forth doth p.!
Ov 1976 nor p. I thee, who hollow rocks down tumbling
L 451 that souls p. not to silent Erebus or Pluto's bloodless kingdom
*1H6 2279 Oh stay: I have no power to let her p.
*1H6 2292 what ransom must I pay before I p.?
*Con 880 then let it p., and call it [Q3 call't] a woman's fear
*Con 983 to bring to p. the thing which now we doubt
*Con 1302 and let them pay their ransoms [Q3 ransome] ere they p.
*3H6 1835 my noble queen, let former grudges p.
*Con 1878 then the prophecy is come to p.
*2H6 612 till thou speak, thou shalt not p. from hence *2H6 765 let never day nor night unhallow'd p.
*2H6 1113 no, stir not for your lives, let her p. by *2H6 2045 disturb him not, let him p. peaceably
*2H6 2646 shake he his weapon at us, and p. by *2H6 2894 may p. into the presence of a king

*TT 662 proclaim'd, in every borough as we p. along
*TT 739 and in the towns whereas they p. along, proclaims
*TT 870 never to p. from forth this bloody field till
*TT 1357 did I let p. the abuse done to my [Q3 thy] niece?
*TT 1870 and in every county [Q3 country] as we p. along
*3H6 798 proclaim'd in every borough as we p. along
*3H6 1828 did I let p. the abuse done to my niece?
*E3 1250 and, unrestrain'd, make havoc as they p.
*E3 1277 and had direction how to p. the sea?
*E3 1643 now, if I knew but safely how to p.
*E3 1771 but, letting p. these intricate objections
*E3 2072 and it is current, thou shalt freely p.
*E3 2082 I do beseech you, let him p. in quiet
*E3 2102 for all your knights to p. his father's land
*E3 2343 I pray thee, Philippe, let displeasure p.
*Loc 675 if you chance to p. and re-p. that way
*Sel 270 nor p. I what our holy votaries shall here object 1T 109 ah, Menaphon, I p. not for his threats!
E2 438 I p. not for their anger, come, let's go
E2 2068 they p. not for thy frowns as late they did
*Con 1455 as for these silken-coated slaves I p. not a pin
*2H6 2322 as for these silken-coated slaves I p. not
*Loc 1113 that it shall p. the high pyramides
D 295 as shall surp. the wonder of our speech
HLM 219 her you surp. as much as sparkling diamonds flaring glass 1F 1267 do you hear? you, hey-p., where's your master?
2F 1797 you think to carry it away with your hey-p. and re-p.

Passadoes.

*Epg 256 of curtains, and palisadoes [Eds. pallizadois; MS. p.]

Passage.

*Sel 253 make thou a p. for thy gushing flood
*Sel 620 because they stop my p. to the crown
*Sel 2494 and hewing p. through the Persians
*Loc 767 stopping the p. of the fleeting ships
*Loc 898 Hewing a p. through them with his sword
1T 240 exhalations, fighting for p., tilt within the earth 1T 490 though strait the p. and the port be made that leads 1T 630 and makes a p. for all prosperous arms
1T 649 made p. thorough Persian arms!
1T 1486 fighting for p., make[s] the welkin crack
1T 2039 to get a p. to Elysium [Old eds. Elisian]!
1T 2096 and make a p. for my loathed life!
2T 581 make a p. from the empyreal heaven
2T 919 sorrow stops the p. of my speech
2T 1600 making a p. for my troubled soul
1F 893 that make safe p. to each part of Rome
2F 871 that make safe p. to each part of Rome
2F 2037 when thou wert i' the way to heaven, damm'd up thy p.
JM 2126 to make a p. for the running streams
D 1163 and cut a p. through his topless hills
*HLC 1619 and from her p. those fat vapours rent
L 224 which being broke, the foot had easy p.
L 296 souse down the walls, and make a p. forth
*Epg 173 as none at all can perfect p. find
*1H6 1074 might but redeem the p. of your age
*1H6 1323 here is the best and safest p. in *1H6 2540 choler chokes the hollow p. of my poison'd voice
*TT 306 my father's blood hath stopp'd the p. where *3H6 388 my father's blood hath stopp'd the p. where *3H6 1031 and give sweet p. to my sinful soul
*3H6 2113 unless our halberds did shut up his p.
*E3 1599 that, in despite, I carv'd my p. forth

Passed.

*Sel 740 a field of dainties I have p. through
*Loc 24 p. the greedy gulf of ocean
*Loc 127 since when we p. the Cilician gulf
*Loc 612 after we p. the groves of Caledon
*Loc 1398 which is not yet p. all remedy
*Loc 1432 I have p. them all with a good corragio 1T 203 have p. the army of the mighty Turk
1T 531 then, having p. Armenian deserts now
2T 898 that have not p. the centre's latitude
1F 859 p. with delight the stately town of Trier
2F 835 p. with delight the stately town of Trier
*FB 37 the time I past away, with much delight
JM 1415 for the performance of your promise p.
JM 2086 in prison, till the law has p. on him
MP 365 I fear the Guisians have p. the bridge
*HLC 1611 when she had p. her sphere
Ov 1936 thee I have p., and knew thy stream none such L 371 hath with thee p. the swelling ocean
*Con 1159 make thee crave pardon for thy p. speech
*2H6 1824 make thee beg pardon for thy p. speech
*TT 1572 and having p. these cares, I'll post to York
*TT 1621 thus far from Belgia have we p. the seas
*TT 1703 is p. in safety through the narrow seas
*3H6 1100 and years, p. over to the end they were created
*3H6 2338 well have we p., and re-p. the seas
*3H6 2428 hath p. in safety through the narrow seas
*E3 1782 that, having hardly p. a dangerous gulf, will *E3 2380 this said, we p., not daring to reply
*Sel 1102 or that my life fore-p. in Pleasure's court
*Sel 1599 and sorrow for my grievous crime fore-p.
*Epg 214 he measures time, and things fore-p. doth show
*E3 1971 and stratagems fore-p. with iron pens are texted in *Sel 47 since when, what dangers I have over-p.
*Sel 2033 till the days of mourning be over-p.
*Sel 2528 with delight declares the travels he hath over-p.
MP 813 now that this storm is over-p.
D 145 how many dangers have we over-p.!
L 185 now Caesar over-p. the snowy Alps
*1H6 1083 and like a hermit over-p. my days
*3H6 2338 well have we p., and re-p. the seas
HLM 70 and surpast the white of Pelops' shoulder

Passengers.

1T 32 doth prey upon my flocks of p.
1T 259 that thus oppress poor friendless p.
*Con 924 thief, that robs and murthers silly p.
*2H6 1342 or foul felonious thief, that fleec'd poor p.
*2H6 1441 crocodile, with sorrow snares relenting p.

Passes.

2F 767 and now we'll have such knavery as't p.

Passeth.

*Loc 987 the profound stream that p. by my tents
1T 67 return with speed; time p. swift away
*Epg 436 and then a country client presses [Eds. p.] near him
Ov 489 mounts, and rain-doubled floods he p. over
Ov 606 time p. while I speak: give her my writ
*2H6 1225 and p. by with stiff unbowed knee
*Sel 2050 p. the royal pleasures of a king 1F 1382 whose heavenly beauty p. all compare

Passing.

*Loc 592 p. the frontiers of brave Graecia
*HLC 1769 her estate, in p. his, was so interminate for Ov 635 be broke with wheels of chariots p. by!
Ov 1696 oft some points at the prophet p. by

*1H6 672 I was employ'd in p. to and fro
*Sel 1733 I like Lysander's counsel p. well
1T 755 is it not p. brave to be a king
1F 895 erected is a castle p. strong
2F 873 erected is a castle p. strong
JM 861 hast thou thy health well ? — Ay, p. well
Ov 213 to leave the rest, all lik'd [A, pleasde] me p. well
*Epg 302 (the portion of his wit being p. little) [Not in MS.]
*TT 1612 the news is p. strange, I must confess
*TT 1801 Oh p. traitor, perjur'd and unjust
*3H6 2597 Oh p. traitor, perjur'd and unjust
*E3 513 but what is done, is p. p. ill
*Loc 1315 that decent neck, surp. ivory

Passion.

1T 467 pale of complexion, wrought in him with p.
1T 995 yet since a farther p. feeds my thoughts 1T 1929 that in thy p. for thy country's love, and MP 183 some natural p. makes her sick
*HLC 1159 like Jove's son's club, strong p. struck her down
*HLC 1289 as relics of her late-felt p.
*HLC 1848 and now did his enamour'd p. take heart
*1H6 2677 attaint with any p. of inflaming love
*3H6 571 beshrew me, but his p. moves me so, that *3H6 1696 to tell the p. of my sovereign's heart
*3H6 2180 that is it that makes me bridle p.
*E3 338 and changing p., like inconstant clouds
*E3 390 I will acquaint him with my p.
*AT 76 and raging p.'s thrall
*Sel 1824 which soon will calm your stormy ps.
*Loc 341 now must I frame my amorous ps.
*Loc 344 understanding your ps. were so great
1F 1248 confound these ps. with a quiet sleep
2F 1558 confound these ps. with a quiet sleep
E2 616 Diablo, what ps. call you these ?
E2 2010 for such outrageous ps. cloy my soul
E2 2284 your ps. make your dolours to [1622, omits] increase
D 301 had not such ps. in her head as I !
HLM 132 some, their violent ps. to assuage, compile sharp satires
*HLC 1042 should die to loves, to ps., and society
*HLC 1400 sings P's huge conquest, and
*1H6 1762 for had the ps. of thy heart burst out
*1H6 2216 of all base ps., fear is most accurs'd
*1H6 2599 do breed love's settled ps. in my heart
*TT 469 beshrew me but his ps. move me so
*TT 1266 to tell the ps. of my sovereign's heart
*E3 2446 for inward ps. will not let me speak

Passionate.

1T 353 his deep affections make him p.
1F 328 what, is great Mephistophilis so p. for being 2F 312 what, is great Mephistophilis so p. for being E2 806 look, Lancaster, how p. he is
E2 1768 you must not grow so p. in speeches
E2 1927 but, Leicester, leave to grow so p.
HLM 637 but love resisted once grows p.
*HLC 949 but as he [V. R. she] shook with p. desire
*2H6 102 nephew, what means this p. discourse ?
*TT 1599 why is your grace so p. of late ?
*E3 428 forget not to set down, how p., how 2T (Title) with his imp. fury, for the death of his lady and love

Passover.

JM 1045 that never tasted of the P.

Passport.

JM 608 that tolls the sick man's p. in her hollow beak
*E3 760 why then, give sin a p. to offend
*E3 1655 procure me but a p. of Charles
*E3 1775 to claim a p. how it please himself
*E3 1811 I must despatch and send this p. first

Past.

*Sel 153 you see the harvest of my life is p.
*Sel 2225 was p. the chair of bright Cassiopey
*Loc 777 myself with wounds p. all recovery
*Loc 1381 is this the honour for my labours p. ?
1T 1323 not now, Theridamas ; her time is p.
2T 242 let us haste, lest time be p.
2T 684 if she pass this fit, the worst is p.
2T 1586 now I find thee, and that fear is p.
1F 1209 nay, till I'm p. this fair and pleasant green, I'll 1F 1578 ah, half the hour is p. ! 'twill all be p. anon
2F 2109 O, half the hour is p. ! 'twill all be p. anon
*FB 50 I thought of all things that was p. and done
*JMS 9 he that hath p. so many censures is now
JMP 16 birds of the air will tell of murders p. !
JM 214 that you will needs have ten years' tribute p.
JM 237 to levy of us ten years' tribute p.
JM 438 things p. recovery are hardly cur'd with exclamations
JM 1612 so, now the fear is p., and I am safe
JM 2353 doth sink into a deep pit p. recovery
MP 631 till this our coronation-day be p.
D 1426 not p. four thousand paces at the most HLM 27 many would praise the sweet smell as she p.
*HLC 1785 nor, p. due means, presume of due success
*HLC 2436 the first, in thorns of love, that sorrows p.
Ov 196 or night being p., and yet not day begun
Ov 226 but in times p. I fear'd vain shades and night
Ov 1932 till I be p., thy waters stay
Ov 2325 his side p. service, and his courage spent Ov 2451 but that thou wouldst dissemble, when 'tis p.
L 290 with thy blood must thou aby thy conquest p.
L 437 and, Trevier, thou being glad that wars are p. thee
*1H6 236 what's p., and what's to come, she can descry
*Con 867 the time hath been, but now that [Q3 the] time is p.
*2H6 114 for grief that they are p. recovery
*TT 1361 my gracious queen pardon what is p.
*3H6 1324 here comes a man, let's stay till he be p.
*3H6 1867 thou seest what's p., go fear thy king withal
*3H6 2329 till storms be p. of civil enmity
*E3 1757 but now 'tis p. that no man can recall

Past : see Passed

Pasteboard.

*Loc 566 draw your p., or else, I promise you

Pastime.

*Loc 522 for merry p. and joyful glee. — Song
1F 757 we are come from hell to show thee some p.
2F 678 to show thee some p.
Ov 2473 and with your p. let the bed-stead creak
*HLC 1223 rapt with ps., pomp, all joys impure
Ov 1041 the youthful sort to divers ps. run

Pastors.

1F 140 gravell'd the p. of the German church
2F 132 gravell'd the p. of the German church

Pastures.

2T 1713 and pull their kicking colts out of their p.
Ov 1494 and some few p. Pallas' olives bore

Patay.

*1H6 1597 this dastard, at the battle of Poictiers [? P.], when Patched.

*HLC 1187 slick-tongu'd Fame, p. up with voices rude

Pate.
*Loc 308 now, p., for thy master !
*Loc 325 O wit ! O p. ! O memory ! O hand !
1F 961 that took Friar Sandels a blow on the p. !
2F 1140 cursed be he that struck Friar Sandels a blow on the p. !
*1H6 1181 do pelt so fast at one another's p.
*2H6 2964 and chop away that factious p. of his 2F 918 to beat the beads about the friars' ps.
1F 909 where thou shall see a troop of bald-p. friars Pater.
1F 59 Exhaereditare filium non potest p., nisi, &c.
2F 56 Exhaereditare filium non potest p., nisi, &c.
Path.
2T 1791 p. pav'd with bright crystal and enchas'd 1F 1390 by which sweet p. thou mayst attain the goal that HLM 74 did imprint that heavenly p. with many a
*E3 1295 a wide apparent field, and beaten p.
*Sel 2530 the monster-guarded ps. that lead to crowns
HLM 304 pearl, which down her face made milk-white ps.
*HLC 973 the snaky ps. to each observed law Pathetical.
1T 400 could use persuasions more p.
Patiatur.
Ov 38 in triumphum duci se a Cupidine p.
Patience.
*SP 13 which, if with p. of you shall be heard
*Loc 1658 wilt thou abuse my gentle p. ?
2T 711 with love and p. let your true love die
1F 1490 hear me with p., and tremble not at my speeches !
2F 1115 have p. at this troublesome banquet
2F 1972 O gentlemen, hear me [Not in 1616] with p.
JM 401 ay, I pray, leave me in p.
MP 552 yet is there p. of another sort
Ov 1157 they that deserve pain, bear 't with p.
Ov 1674 some other seek that may in p. strive with thee
L 362 we grieve at this thy p. and delay
*1H6 347 have p. noble duke, I may not open
*1H6 826 but only with your p., that we may taste of *1H6 1103 presumptuous priest, this place commands my p.
*2H6 600 p., good lady, wizards know their times
*2H6 1164 I pray thee sort thy heart to p.
*TT 57 p. is for poltroons such as he
*TT 203 what p. can there be [Q1 omits] ? ah timorous man
*TT 1926 nor I, but stoop with p. to my death
*3H6 63 p. is for poltroons, such as he *3H6 1671 with p. calm the storm, while we *3H6 1816 sends me a paper to persuade me p. ?
*3H6 2768 nor I, but stoop with p. to my fortune Patience : see Impatience
Patient.
*Sel 499 when on the p. in his grave dust's heap'd
*Epg 442 and Philo to such ps. giveth physic
*Sel 1347 I think my wrath hath been too p.
2T 763 ah, good my lord, be p. !
1F 9 to p. judgments we appeal our plaud
2F 9 and now to p. judgments we appeal
JM 323 be p., and thy riches will increase
JM 370 O, yet be p., gentle Barabas !
JM 400 good Barabas, be p.
JM 2083 be p., gentle madam : it was he E2 338 why are you mov'd ? be p., my lord
E2 1992 be p., good my lord, cease to lament
MP 273 and so be patient, good Lord Admiral
MP 845 be p., Guise, and threat not Epernoun
Ov 437 receive him soon, lest p. use he gain
*1H6 1660 be p. lords, and give them leave to speak
*1H6 2532 be p. York, if we conclude a peace
*Con 385 be p. gentle aunt
*Con 1012 Somerset forbear, good York be p.
*2H6 430 madam be p. : as I was cause your *2H6 1122 be p., gentle Nell, forget this grief
*2H6 1637 he doth revive again, madam be p.
*TT 56 be p. gentle Earl of Westmoreland
*TT 202 be p. gentle queen, and then I'll stay
*3H6 62 be p., gentle Earl of Westmoreland
*3H6 223 be p. gentle queen, and I will stay
*3H6 224 who can be p. in such extremes ?
*3H6 508 why art thou p., man ? thou shouldst be mad Patient : see Impatient
Patiently.
JM 1733 I never knew a man take his death so p.
E2 408 and therefore, sweet friend, take it p.
E2 2608 you could not bear his death thus p.
D 1617 that I may learn to bear it p.
Ov 726 how p. hot irons they did take
*Con 806 and bear it p. to ease thy heart Patiently : see Impatiently
Patrimony.
*2H6 3017 to reave the orphan of his p.
Patroclus.
E2 691 for P. stern Achilles droop'd
Patron.
*Sel 1093 Mahomet, chief president and p. of the Turks 2F 1007 most sacred p. of the church of Rome
E2 1765 p. shouldst thou be ; but thou
*LD 7 instructions, touching the property of a p.
*TT 1750 call Warwick p. and be penitent
*3H6 2516 call Warwick p., and be penitent
1T 1841 before the Majesty of Heaven and holy ps. of Aegyptia
*LD 17 one special virtue in our ps. of these days Patronage.
*JMD 10 to grace some of mine own works with your courteous p.
*LD 6 I have raised in the circle of your p.
*1H6 1144 in a castle keeps, and useth it, to p. his theft
*1H6 1564 dare p. the envious barking of your saucy tongue
*E3 1487 to p. the fatherless and poor Patroness.
*Sel 682 chief p. of Ramus' golden gates
D 1262 O Dido, p. of our lives
Pattern.
*Loc 228 a perfect p. of all chivalry
*Loc 1914 Estrild, the perfect p. of renown
*1H6 2660 and is a p. of celestial peace
*E3 1685 you wretched ps. of despair and woe
Paul.
2F 1085 by holy P., we saw them not !
1T (Title) sold at the little north door of Saint P.'s Church
MP (Title) dwelling near the little north door of Saint P.'s Church
D (Title) and are to be sold at his shop in P.'s Church-yard, at L (Title) at the sign of the Flower de Luce in P.'s Church-yard, 1600
HL (Title) sold in P.'s Church-yard, at the sign of The Black Bear. 1600
*Epg 84 he rides to P.'s, he rides to th' ordinary
*Epg 211 the fall of money, and burning of P.'s steeple

*Epg 309 dares dance in P.'s, and in this formal age Paulum.
*Epg 479 In P. XLI.
Paulus.
*Epg 481 P., in spite [MS. fight] of envy, fortunate Paunch.
*Loc 764 rolleth hot flames from out her monstrous p.
Paunch-wrapt.
Ov 1450 oft dies she that her p. child had slain
Pause.
MP 403 not for my life dó I desire this p.
*TT 1118 ay, so I will, but yet I'll make a p.
*3H6 1423 it were no less, but yet I'll make a p.
*Sel 92 and in a pleasant quiet 'joys to p.
*1H6 1987 where is John Talbot? p., and take thy breath
*2H6 3067 what seest thou in me York? why dost thou p.?
*3H6 1020 I'll never p. again, never stand still, till *3H6 1230 now breathe we lords, good fortune bids us p.
Paused.
HLM 343 so having p. a while, at last she said
Pauseth.
L 209 p. till fell wrath and kingly rage increase
Pauvres.
*1H6 1315 Paisans, les p. gens de France
Paved.
2T 1792 p. with bright crystal and enchas'd with stars
1F 868 the streets straight forth, and p. with finest brick 2F 844 whose streets straight forth, and p. with finest brick 2F 852 whose frame is p. with sundry-colour'd stones
EPF 4 prey that in the pebble-p. channel lay
Ov 1680 in midst thereof a stone-p. sacred spring
Pavement.
*Sel 570 and trod the airy p. with their heels
2T 208 the p. underneath thy chariot-wheels
HLM 147 of crystal shining fair the p. was Pavilion.
*Sel 2023 and leave her frail, earthly p. — thy body
*Loc 1267 that draweth nigh to our p.
*Loc 1774 and bring us to their proud p.
2T 1566 come, bring them in to our p.
*Loc 411 have pitched up lordly ps.
*Loc 1096 the ornaments of thy ps.
2T 1519 ransack the tents and the ps. of these proud Turks 1T 1428 black are his feathers, black p.
Paw.
E2 2003 he rends and tears it with his wrathful p.
*2H6 2982 who being suffer'd with the bear's fell p.
*Sel 1743 or fox's skin, or lion's rending ps.
*Sel 2497 and rends them strongly in his kingly ps.
*Loc 14 but all in vain he threat'neth teeth and ps.
*Loc 860 and as he stretched forth his cruel ps.
1T 242 stretching their ps., and threatening herds of beasts
2T 1208 stretching their monstrous ps., grin with their teeth
E2 1007 affright a lion? Edward, unfold thy ps.
MP 1124 and with their ps. drench his black soul in hell
D 513 with balls of wild-fire in their murdering ps.
*3H6 379 that trembles under his devouring ps.
Pawn.
*Epg 348 at Trollop's, by Saint Clement's Church, in [MS. at] p.
*Sel 412 and I am sure would p. their dearest blood
*2H6 2942 they 'll p. their swords of my enfranchisement
*TT 1310 thereon I p. mine honour and my credit
*3H6 1751 thereon I p. my credit and mine honour
*E3 543 power can p. itself to buy thy remedy
*E3 725 consent to p. thine honour, rather than thy life Pawned.
*TT 1527 hath p. an open hand in sign of love
*TT 2118 hath p. the Sicils and Jerusalem
*3H6 2073 where a noble heart hath p. an open hand
*3H6 2985 hath p. the Sicils and Jerusalem Pay.
1TP 2 and such conceits as clownage keeps in p.
1T 147 wanting both p. and martial discipline
1T 372 as if he meant to give my soldiers p.!
E2 104 these will I sell, to give my soldiers p.
E2 703 while soldiers mutiny for want of p.
MP 852 and, being able, I'll keep an host in p.
MP 853 thou able to maintain an host in p.!
Ov 545 to serve for p. beseems not wanton gods
*Con 907 and stopp'd the soldiers of their p.
*Con 914 I never robb'd the soldiers of their p.
*Con 1777 and there you shall receive your p. of me
*2H6 1271 for soldiers' p. in France, and never sent it?
*2H6 1317 and being protector, stay'd the soldiers' p.
*2H6 1321 I never robb'd the soldiers of their p.
*2H6 2876 you shall have p., and everything you wish
*TT 600 with promise of high p. and great rewards
*TT 1993 discharge the common soldiers with p. and thanks
*3H6 737 with promise of high p., and great rewards
*3H6 2425 and that once gotten, doubt not of large p.
*3H6 2850 discharge the common sort with p. and thanks
*E3 1882 Death, in p. and service of Chatillion
1T 2314 shall p. a yearly tribute to thy sire
2T 1964 shall p. me tribute for in Babylon
1F 376 well roasted and good sauce to it, if I p. so dear 1F 1078 will you take sixpence in your purse to p. for your supper 2F 357 and good sauce to it, if I p. so dear, I can tell you 2F 804 and we'll not p. one penny for it 2F 1728 and we will p. for what we take 2F 1801 I pray you who shall p. me for my a
JM 8 who so richly p. the things they traffic for JM 188 such a sum as all the wealth of Malta cannot p.
JM 268 and each of them to p. one half of his estate
JM 272 he that denies to p. shall straight become a Christian
JM 284 I will be no convertite. — Then p. thy half
JM 290 either p. that, or we will seize on all
JM 1404 p. me my wages, for my work is done
JM 1405 I'll p. thee with a vengeance, Ithamore!
E2 321 no, threaten not, my lord, but p. them home
E2 1508 till he p. dearly for their company
E2 1982 p. nature's debt with cheerful countenance
E2 2340 is sure to p. for it when his son's of age
Ov 328 p. vows to Jove; engirt thy hairs with bays
Ov 670 to pedants that with cruel lashes p. them
Ov 1284 I p. them home with that they most desire
Ov 1832 p. it not here, but in another place
*1H6 149 his ransom there is none but I shall p.
*1H6 2238 my body shall p. recompense, if *1H6 2292 what ransom must I p. before I pass?
*1H6 2296 why speak'st thou not? what ransom must I p.?
*1H6 2549 to p. him tribute, and submit thyself
*Con 1302 and let them p. their ransoms [Q3 ransome] ere they pass
*Con 1320 a hundred pounds a-piece, either p. that or die
*Con 1625 but he shall p. me tribute for it

*2H6 2071 what think you much to p. two thousand crowns
*2H6 2513 he that made us p. one-and-twenty fifteens
*2H6 2610 not wear a head on his shoulders, unless he p. me tribute
*2H6 2611 not a maid be married, but she shall p. to me her maidenhead *3H6 2027 they shall have wars, and p. for their presumption
*E3 653 false men, that never p. the duty of their words
*E3 1846 to die we p. sour earnest for a sweeter life
*E3 2241 I take thy gift, to p. the debts I owe 2F 1799 who ps. for the ale ?
JM 78 where Nilus ps. his tribute to the main
MP 258 to find and to rep. the man with death

Payeth.

Ov 570 the hirer p. all ; his rent discharg'd

Paying.

MP 271 rep. all attempts with present death

Payment.

1F 1205 calls for the p. of my latest years
*TT 355 with downright p. lent unto my father
*3H6 451 with downright p., show'd unto my father

Peace.

*Loc 1678 p., uncle, p., and cease to talk hereof
JM 651 Who's there ? — Who's that ? — P., Abigail ! 'tis I
JM 1378 p., Ithamore ! 'tis better so than spar'd
*Epg 553 p., idle Muse, have done ! for it is time
*1H6 388 p. mayor, thou know'st little of my wrongs
*Con 324 P. Warwick. Give thy betters leave to speak
*Con 346 p. headstrong Warwick
*2H6 478 p. son, and show some reason Buckingham
*2H6 540 p. headstrong Warwick
*2H6 704 I prithee p., good queen
*TT 115 P. sons. — P. thou and give King Henry leave to *TT 1944 p. wilful boy, or I will tame your tongue
*3H6 125 sons p.
*3H6 1793 p. impudent, and shameless Warwick
*3H6 2793 p. wilful boy, or I will charm your tongue
*Sel 80 till I was forced conclude a friendly p.
*Sel 313 and every one his life in p. did pass
*Sel 329 to maintain p., and govern bloody fights
*Sel 775 to nourish p., from whence your riches spring
*Sel 934 and being given to p., as Corcut is
*Sel 953 enjoy in p. the Turkish diadem
*Sel 1666 and live in p. the remnant of our days
*Loc 1138 next for your p., last for your victory
*Loc 1692 p. to the king of Brittany, my love !
*Loc 1693 p. to all those that love and favour him !
*Loc 2043 in quiet p. and sweet felicity
1T 1359 offer their mines, to sue for p., to me 2T 13 let us treat of p.
2T 50 't is requisite to parle for a p.
2T 57 for that cause the Christians shall have p.
2T 77 the Christians must have p.
2T 80 to treat of friendly p. or deadly war
2T 84 if p., restore it to my hands again
2T 113 treat of p. with the Natolian king
2F 124 let p. be ratified on these conditions
2T 136 and vow to keep this p. inviolable !
2T 499 confirm'd by oath and articles of p.
2T 563 articles of p. and solemn covenants
2F 1012 and proud disturbers of the church's p.
2F 1269 in p. possess the triple diadem
*FB 24 to live in p. [B. M. Copy, pleasure] and do what things I would JM 163 what need they treat of p. that are in league ?
JM 166 why, Barabas, they come for p. or war
JM 220 more kingly to obtain by p. than to enforce conditions
JM 1473 to work my p., this I confess to thee
JM 2437 in person there to meditate [Dyce, mediate] your p.
E2 1177 thou proud disturber of thy country's p.
E2 1340 in p. triumphant, fortunate in wars !
E2 1394 and go in p. ; leave us in wars at home
E2 1610 I thank them, gave me leave to pass in p.
E2 1673 for England's honour, p., and quietness !
E2 1776 in p. may repossess her dignities and honours
MP 272 death upon the cursed breakers of our p.
MP 718 where he makes p. and war
MP 872 and, as dictator, make or p. or war !
D 119 that dares thus proudly wrong our kinsman's p.
D 272 that in such p. long time did rule the same
D 1023 and yet I'll speak, — and yet I'll hold my p.
D 1146 that do pursue my p. where 'er it goes
*HLC 1050 when [V. R. whence] P. assur'd her towers had fortified
*HLC 1974 being authors of sweet p. and unity
*HLC 2093 to cast, in envy of thy p., her balls of discord
*HLC 2169 and guard Leander to his love in p.
*HLC 2388 if any comfort live, it is in p.
Ov 247 in midst of p. why art of arms afraid ?
Ov 912 and what less labour than to hold thy p. ?
Ov 1108 vain-babbling speech and pleasant p. thou lov'd'st
Ov 1372 Europe and Asia had in firm p. been Ov 1798 p. pleaseth me, and in mid p. is love
Ov 2182 they manage p., and raw war's bloody jaws
L 61 p. through the world from Janus' fane shall fly
L 69 and what made madding people shake off p.
L 99 'twas p. against their wills
L 113 bare down to hell her son, the pledge of p.
L 172 again, this people could not brook calm p.
L 227 « Here, here », saith he, « an end of p.
L 243 arms near their household-gods hang up, such as p. yields
L 252 predestinate to ruin ! all lands else have stable p.
L 311 let come their leader, whom long p. hath quail'd
L 446 you now in p. renew your barbarous customs
L 669 war only gives us p.
L 671 only civil broils make p. »
*1H6 45 cease, cease these jars, and rest your minds in p.
*1H6 78 by guileful fair words, p. may be obtain'd
*1H6 387 thus coutumeliously should break the p.
*1H6 392 one that still motions war, and never p.
*1H6 403 in arms this day, against God's p. and the king's *1H6 1080 and prosperous be thy life in p. and war
*1H6 1081 and p., no war, befall thy parting soul
*1H6 1113 froward by nature, enemy to p.
*1H6 1128 and for dissention, who preferreth p. more *1H6 1186 to hold your slaught'ring hands, and keep the p.
*1H6 1210 or who should study to prefer a p., if *1H6 1217 then be at p., except ye thirst for blood
*1H6 1360 yet Pucelle hold thy p.
*1H6 1693 quiet yourselves (I pray) and be at p.
*1H6 1695 and then your highness shall command a p.
*1H6 1739 and therefore, as we hither came in p., so let *1H6 1740 so let us still continue p., and love
*1H6 1782 but if you frown upon this proffer'd p.
*1H6 2141 to have a godly p. concluded of *1H6 2174 to draw conditions of a friendly p.
*1H6 2204 p. be amongst them if they turn to us
*1H6 2267 I kiss these fingers for eternal p.
*1H6 2311 and p. establish'd between these realms

*1H6 2517 have earnestly implor'd a general p.
*1H6 2526 shall we at last conclude effeminate p. ?
*1H6 2532 be patient York, if we conclude a p.
*1H6 2546 and suffer you to breathe in fruitful p.
*1H6 2595 for here we entertain a solemn p.
*1H6 2637 as his alliance will confirm our p.
*1H6 2660 and is a pattern of celestial p.
*Con 37 here are the articles confirm'd of p.
*Con 74 done all we could to keep that land in p. ?
*Con 499 let me be blessed for the p. I make
*Con 734 may honourable p. attend thy throne
*Con 735 uncle Gloster, stand up and go in p.
*Con 1702 and go in p. obedient to your king
*Con 1755 to know the reason of these arms in p. ?
*Con 1789 long live King [Q1 Q2 omit] Henry in triumphant p.
*2H6 40 here are the articles of contracted p.
*2H6 541 image of pride, why should I hold my p. ?
*2H6 707 let me be blessed for the p. I make *2H6 1014 and go in p., Humphrey, no less belov'd
*2H6 1026 may honourable p. attend thy throne
*2H6 2046 p. to his soul, if God's good pleasure be *2H6 2638 all, that will forsake thee, and go home in p.
*2H6 2847 to know the reason of these arms in p.
*2H6 3077 thus war hath given thee p., for thou art still *2H6 3078 p. with his soul, heaven if it be thy will *2H6 3094 to lose thy youth in p., and achieve the *TT 180 or live in p. abandon'd and despis'd
*TT 623 as he is fam'd for mildness, p. and prayer
*TT 985 and thou this day hadst kept thy throne in p.
*TT 1683 and govern and protect my realm in p.
*TT 1710 not mutinous in p., yet bold in war
*TT 2098 that thou might'st repossess the crown in p.
*TT 2115 having my country's p., and brothers' loves [Q3 omits this line]
*3H6 195 or live in p. abandon'd and despis'd
*3H6 759 as he is fam'd for mildness, p., and prayer *3H6 1219 and thou this day, hadst kept thy chair in p.
*3H6 2266 as likely to be bless'd in p. and war
*3H6 2435 not mutinous in p., yet bold in war
*3H6 2965 that thou might'st repossess the crown in p.
*3H6 2982 having my country's p., and brothers' loves
*E3 36 you are the lineal watchman [Old eds. watchmen] of our p.
*E3 282 lady, stand up : I come to bring thee p.
*E3 371 when she would talk of p., methinks, her tongue
*E3 1245 sweet-flow'ring p., the root of happy life
*E3 1298 for who in scorn refus'd our proffer'd p.
*E3 1488 or for the benefit of England's p.
*E3 2288 we take possession of the town in p.
*E3 2295 it is a glorious thing to stablish p.
*Sel 1959 Mass, I think he be some justice of p.
*Con 1596 thou hast appointed certain justices of p. [Q3 the p.]
*2H6 2533 thou hast appointed justices of the p., to *Con 347 image of pride, wherefore should I p. ?
*3H6 126 p. thou, and give King Henry leave to speak

Peaceable.

*Sel 343 was only found to make us p.

Peaceably.

*2H6 2045 disturb him not, let him pass p.

Peaceful.

JM 138 give us a p. rule ; make Christians kings
*HLC 1063 and all her p. mansions possess'd
*1H6 729 our wars will turn unto a p. comic sport
*1H6 2536 that p. truce shall be proclaim'd in France
*2H6 120 deliver'd up again with p. words ?
*3H6 1231 and smooth the frowns of war, with p. looks *3H6 2302 his looks are full of p. majesty
*E3 200 in p. wise, upon their city walls
*E3 2303 that p. quietness brings most delight

Peacemakers.

*Con 497 for blessed are the p. on earth
*2H6 706 for blessed are the p. on earth

Peacock.

*1H6 1445 and like a p. sweep along his tail
D 870 and thy fair ps. by my pigeons perch

Peal.

2T 965 hast thou beheld a p. of ordnance strike
MP 237 I'll have a p. of ordnance shot from the tower
E2 931 I'll thunder such a p. into his ears as Pearl.

*Sel 258 the Turkish crown of p. and Ophir gold
*Sel 559 thinks he to stop my mouth with gold or p. ?
1T 460 a p. more worth than all the world is plac'd 1T 762 to wear a crown enchas'd with p. and gold
1T 1213 fairer than rocks of p. and precious stone 1T 1934 rain'st on the earth resolved p. in showers
2T 469 mingled with coral and with oriental [Dyce, orient] p.
2T 988 and fairest p. of wealthy India 2T 1177 the gold and [4to the] silver, and the p., ye got 2T 1351 our men shall sweat with carrying p.
2T 1398 turn'd into p. and proffer'd for my stay 2T 2235 rocks of p. that shine as bright as all the lamps that 1F 110 ransack the ocean for orient p.
2F 107 ransack the ocean for orient p.
JM 23 and in his house heap p. like pebble-stones
JM 91 store of Persian silks, of gold, and orient p.
JM 629 found the gold, the ps., and jewels, which he hid
JM 1564 I know not how much weight in p. orient and round
JM 2287 a p. so big, so precious, and withal so orient
E2 63 crownets of p. about his naked arms
E2 711 a short Italian cloak, larded with p.
D 1203 and tears of p. cry, « Stay, Aeneas, stay ! »
HLM 39 where sparrows perch'd, of hollow p. and gold
HLM 303 a stream of liquid p., which down her face made
HLM 381 and, as she wept, her tears to p. he turn'd
HLM 395 whose careless hair, instead of p. [V. R. pearles] t' adorn it HLM 659 the bottom, where the ground was strew'd with p.
*E3 1340 exceeding store of treasure, p. and coin
*Loc 1854 mounted on coursers garnish'd all with ps.
JM 446 ten thousand portagues, besides great ps.

Pearled.

*Sel 1451 or run a brinish shower of p. tears

Peasant.

*Loc 1633 what, prat'st thou, p., to thy sovereign ?
1T 1433 merciless villain, p., ignorant of 2F 1425 be ready, then, and strike the [1624, 1631, that] p. down
JM 1024 my death ! what, is the base-born p. mad ?
JM 2006 I scorn the p. : tell him so
E2 237 and at the court-gate hang the p. up
E2 302 unless he be declin'd from that base p.
E2 309 see, what a scornful look the p. casts !
E2 325 were he a p., being my minion
E2 515 then speak not for him ; let the p. go
MP 98 that hangs for every p. to achieve ?

MP 416 why suffer you that p. to declaim ?
D 932 p., go seek companions like thyself
HLM 85 his presence made the rudest p. melt
Ov 184 constrain'd against thy will, give it the p.
*Ign 38 as some sworn p. to a female smock
*1H6 1371 like p. foot-boys do they keep the walls
*1H6 2031 and like me to the p. boys of France
*1H6 2440 p. avaunt
2T 1516 and plague such ps. [4to parsants]
2F 1495 base ps., stand !
MP 1015 tut, they are p. ; I am Duke of Guise
MP 1028 to die by ps., what a grief is this !
D 1280 shall vulgar ps. storm at what I do ?
*1H6 2648 so worthless ps. bargain for their wives
*Con 289 dare these ps. write against me thus *2H6 2436 his army is a ragged multitude of hinds and ps.
*2H6 2649 and you base ps., do ye believe him, will Peasantry.

*HLC 2299 our painted fools and cock-horse p.

'Pease : see Appease

Pebble-paved.

EPF 4 prey that in the p. channel lay

Pebble-stone.

HLM 31 about her neck hung chains of p.
JM 23 and in his house heap pearl like ps.
*1H6 1179 have fill'd their pockets full of ps.

Peccasse.

1F 69 Si p. negamus, fallimur, et nulla
2F 66 Si p. negamus, fallimur, et nulla est in nobis veritas

Peccati.

1F 67 Stipendium p. mors est
2F 64 Stipendium p. mors est

Peccatorum.

1F 1065 Peccatum p. ! — Here's thy goblet, good Vintner

Peccatum.

1F 1065 P. peccatorum ! — Here's thy goblet, good Vintner

Peccatura.

Ov 2447 Ad amicam, si p. est, ut occulte peccet

Peccet.

Ov 2447 Ad amicam, si peccatura est, ut occulte p.

Peck.

*TT 364 so doves do p. the raven's piercing talents
*TT 688 and doves will p., in rescue of their brood
*3H6 460 so doves do p. the falcon's piercing talons
*3H6 830 and doves will p. in safeguard of their brood

Pectore.

*Loc 800 Nunc me fata vocant, hoc condam p. ferrum

Peculiar.

*Sel 1396 hate is p. to a prince's state
*Loc 1306 Locrine may move his own p. woe
*LD 19 yes, thy love I will challenge as my p. object
*Epg 14 which taxeth [MS. carrieth] under a particular [C, p.] name, a Pedants.

E2 773 I am none of these common p., I
MP 428 devise to get those p. from the King Navarre
MP 440 murder the Huguenots ! take those p. hence !
Ov 670 to p. that with cruel lashes pay them

Pedigree.

2F 731 I come [1624, 1631, came] of a royal p.
*1H6 1043 he, from John of Gaunt doth bring his p.
*TT 1287 you tell a p. of threescore and two years, a silly time
*TT 1294 now buckler falsehood with a p. ?
*3H6 1727 you tell a p. of threescore and two years,
*3H6 1734 now buckler falsehood with a p. ?
*E3 5 and now go forward with our p.
*E3 1117 bring he ne'er so plain a p., 'tis you are in possession

Pedlar's.

*Con 1401 she was a p. daughter indeed, and sold many laces
*2H6 2243 she was indeed a p. daughter, and sold many laces

Peeled.

*1H6 359 p. priest, dost thou command me to be shut out ?

Peep.

*Sel 1809 suffer not once the joyful daylight p.
1T 527 Aurora shall not p. out of her doors, but
*HLC 884 with damask eyes the ruby blood doth p.
*2H6 713 ay, where thou dar'st not p.
*2H6 2750 durst not p. out, for all the country is laid for me
HLM 597 and now the sun, that through th' horizon ps.

Peeping.

E2 67 like Actaeon, p. through the grove

Peer.

*Sel 138 since you are lord of subjects, prince and p.
E2 845 unto the proudest p. of Britainy
MP 840 what p. in France but thou, aspiring Guise, durst *1H6 2193 or be inferior to the proudest p.
*Con 486 proud protector dangerous p.
*2H6 690 pernicious protector, dangerous p.
*2H6 698 becomes so good a quarrel, and so bad a p.
*2H6 2609 the proudest p. in the realm, shall not wear a
*TT 47 back'd by the power of Warwick that false p.
*3H6 52 back'd by the power of Warwick, that false p.
*E3 2435 triumphant rideth like a Roman p.
*Sel 126 perhaps you fear that we your loyal ps.
*Sel 945 yet know, you warlike ps., Mustaffa is *Loc 91 if aught your loyal ps. accomplish may
*Loc 161 then, loyal ps., since you are all agreed
*Loc 1238 thy valiant captains, and thy noble ps. ?
*Loc 1246 so Locrine's ps. have daunted all thy ps.
*Loc 1702 frolic, brave ps. ; be joyful with your king 2T 79 we, with our ps. have cross'd Danubius'
2T 164 friend Sigismund, and ps. of Hungary
2T 1194 viceroys and ps. of Turkey
2T 1871 Semiramis, courted by kings and ps. of Asia 2F 1014 without enforcement of the German ps.
*FB 38 'mongst princes, ps., and many a worthy knight
E2 18 farewell base stooping to the lordly ps.
E2 99 my lord, why do you thus incense your ps. ?
E2 249 then will you join with us, that be his ps. ?
E2 318 we know our duties : let him know his ps.
E2 342 meet you for this, proud over-daring ps. ?
E2 400 as for the ps., that back the clergy thus E2 437 the ps. will frown
E2 509 be thou my advocate unto these ps.
E2 664 having the love of his renowmed [Old eds. renowned] ps.
E2 979 I mean the ps., whom thou shouldst dearly love
E2 1004 how oft have I been baited by these ps.
E2 1020 no wonder though thou scorn thy noble ps.
E2 1697 that England's ps. may Hainault's welcome see
E2 2593 to crave the aid and succour of his ps.
D 418 and Dido, and you Carthaginian ps., hear me
*1H6 1168 that two such noble ps. as ye should jar ?
*1H6 1289 this late dissention grown betwixt the ps.
*1H6 1533 my gracious prince, and honourable ps.
*1H6 1725 King Henry's ps., and chief nobility, destroy'd themselves
*1H6 2522 after the slaughter of so many ps.

Con 11 in sight of England and her royal ps.
*Con 32 and uncle Gloster, and you lordly ps.
*Con 67 brave ps. of England, pillars of the state
*Con 160 and Humphrey with the ps. be fall'n at jars
*Con 240 to plot these treasons 'gainst the king and ps.
*Con 605 hath plotted treasons 'gainst the king and ps.
*Con 707 'gainst us, our states [Q3 State], and ps.
*2H6 11 in sight of England, and her lordly ps.
*2H6 73 brave ps. of England, pillars of the state
*2H6 96 O ps. of England, shameful is this league
*2H6 219 the ps. agreed, and Henry was well pleas'd
*2H6 254 and Humphey with the ps. be fall'n at jars
*2H6 439 Salisbury and Warwick are no simple ps.
*2H6 491 and all the ps. and nobles of the realm have *2H6 705 peace, good queen, and whet not on these furious ps.
*2H6 1609 the king and all his ps. are here at hand
*TT 1286 methinks these ps. of France should smile at that *3H6 1667 our people, and our ps., are both misled
*3H6 1726 methinks these ps. of France should smile at that *E3 708 my mother and the ps. importune you, to
*E3 799 how is it with my sovereign, and his ps. ?
*E3 904 set the king, the dauphin, and the ps., at liberty
*E3 1395 you ps. of France, why do you follow him
*E3 1479 my gracious father, and ye forward ps.
*E3 1716 is, by the fruitful [B, faithful] service of your ps. and *E3 2422 but all the ps. in France shall mourners be JM 39 into what corner ps. my halcyon's bill ?
*1H6 429 in yonder tower, to over-p. the city 2F 969 and, like a steeple, over-ps. the church

Peered.
L 244 worm-eaten leathern targets, through which the wood p.
L 624 the entrails p.
E2 314 we will not thus be fac'd and over-p.
*TT 1818 whose top-branch over-p. Jove's spreading tree
*3H6 2619 whose top-branch over-p. Jove's spreading tree

Peering.
L 581 and Marius' head above cold Tav'ron p.

Peerless.
*Loc 1219 and so forgetteth p. Guendolen
2T 374 magnificent and p. Tamburlaine
1F 1366 as to let us see that p. dame of Greece
1F 1373 you shall behold that p. dame of Greece
2F 1822 to let us see that p. dame of Greece
2F 1829 you shall behold that p. dame of Greece
*JMS 26 th' other wan the attribute of p.
*1H6 2663 her p. feature, join'd with her birth

Peevish.
E2 214 let that p. Frenchman guard him sure
*1H6 908 I scorn thee and thy fashion, p. boy
*1H6 1191 you of my household, leave this p. broil
*1H6 2410 to send such p. tokens to a king
*3H6 2870 why what a p. fool was that of Crete
*E3 358 a ling'ring English siege of p. love

Pegasus.
*Sel 569 were his light steeds as swift as P.
1T 283 mounted on steeds swifter than P.

Peirsant.
*Sel 1335 Aga, thou art a man of p. wit

Peise.
*E3 641 and p. their deeds with weight of heavy lead ?

Peleus.
Ov 1556 who doubts with P. Thetis did consort ?

Pelf.
JM 2335 there wanteth nothing but the governor's p.
HLM 250 in heaping up a mass of drossy p.
Ov 543 he hath no bosom, where to hide base p.

Pelican.
*E3 1626 a p., my lord, wounding her bosom with Pelides.

Ov 1210 did not P., whom his spear did grieve

Pelignian.
Ov 1491 P. fields with [ed. B, which] liquid rivers flow

Peligny.
Ov 846 born at P., to write more address
Ov 1523 healthful P. I esteem naught worth
Ov 1487 Sulmo, P.'s third part, me contains Ov 2501 which I, P.'s foster-child, have fram'd
Ov 2506 of me P.'s nation boasts alone

Pelion.
Ov 858 Olympus' top high Ossa bore, mount P. up to prop
Ov 1298 the lofty pine from high mount P. raught

Pelops.
Ov 1763 ah, P. from his coach was almost fell'd
*Loc 270 brave Tantalus, the valiant P.' sire
HLM 71 and surpast the white of P.' shoulder

Pelt.
*1H6 1181 do p. so fast at one another's pate

Pelting.
1T 661 how those were hit by p. cannon-shot

Pelusian.
L 683 where Nile augmenteth the P. sea

Pembroke.
E2 (Title) acted by the Right Honourable the Earl of P. his servants
E2 590 and so will P. and I
E2 648 P. shall bear the sword before the king
E2 649 and with this sword P. will fight for you
E2 911 the like oath P. takes
E2 1255 P., what wilt thou do ?
E2 1260 but if you dare trust P. with the prisoner
E2 1415 P. and Lancaster spake last
E2 1546 and P. undertook for his return
E2 925 meantime my Lord of P. and myself
E2 1272 my Lord of P., we deliver him you
E2 1279 'tis very kindly spoke, my Lord of P.
E2 1418 the Earl of P. mildly thus bespake
*TT 1505 P., go raise an army presently
*TT 1562 and when I have fought with P. and his followers
*3H6 2045 P. and Stafford, you in our behalf go levy men
*3H6 2150 when I have fought with P., and his fellows
E2 1263 why, I say, let him go on P.'s word
E2 1426 for, being deliver'd unto P.'s men, their E2 1294 my Lord of P.'s men, strive ye no longer

Pen.
*Sel 218 which Nature hath inscribed with golden p.
*Sel 930 and he that never handled but his p.
*Loc 311 my p. is naught; gentlemen, lend me a knife
1T 1725 and with this p. reduce them to a map
1T 1937 and comments volumes with her ivory p.
*JMS 12 then you crown the action, and renown the p.
MP 664 go fetch me p. and ink
HLM 75 but my rude p. can hardly blazon forth the *1H6 1108 able verbatim to rehearse the method of my p.
*1H6 1285 I'll call for p. and ink, and write my mind
*Con 1443 with his penny ink-horn [Q3 p. and inkehorne] about

*2H6 2304 hang him with his p. and ink-horn about his neck
*E3 394 hast thou p., ink, and paper ready, Lodowick ?
*E3 401 Muse, to bring thee hither an enchanted p.
*E3 408 for so much moving hath a poet's p.
*E3 521 give me the p. and paper, I will write
*E3 1467 use in fashion of a brazen p. to 1T 1953 if all the ps. that ever poets held had fed the L 443 whose immortal ps. renown the valiant souls slain in your wars
*E3 995 hath task'd the vain endeavour of so many ps.
*E3 1971 and stratagems forepast with iron ps. are texted in 2TP 3 made our poet p. his Second Part
Ov 1874 why grieve I, and of heaven reproaches p.?

Penalty.
JM 289 sir, half is the p. of our decree
*E3 70 upon a p., enjoin'd to come
*E3 605 it is a p., to break your statutes
*E3 1299 endur'd the p. of sharp revenge

Penance.
*Loc 1248 that thou mayst suffer p. for thy fault
2T 604 end all my p. in my sudden death
1F 1189 release him : he hath done p. sufficient 2F 1372 he has [1624, 1631, hath] done p. now sufficiently JM 1556 would p. serve [to atone] for this my sin
JM 1558 and so could I ; but p. will not serve
*Con 709 in London do p. bare-foot in the streets
*Con 787 in shameful p. wand'ring in the streets
*Con 799 ah Gloster, now thou doest [Q3 dost] p. too
*2H6 998 shall, after three days open p. done
*2H6 1116 to see my open shame ? now thou dost p. too
*2H6 1171 let not her p. exceed the king's commission
*2H6 1203 madam, your p. done, throw off this sheet
*E3 764 prescribes a shame for shame, or p. for offence

Pence.
2F 1597 I am eighteen-p. on the score
1F 1077 will you take six*p.* in your purse to pay for your supper
JM 1754 what gentry can be in a poor Turk of ten*p.* ?
*Con 1641 you 'll take any man by the throat for twelve-p.

Pendant.
*E3 1869 pikes do seem straight trees of gold, the p. [streamers] leaves *E3 1863 and new-replenish'd ps. cuff the air

Pendragon.
*1H6 1397 that stout P., in his litter sick

Penè.
*2H6 2169 P. gelidus timor occupat artus, it is thee I fear

Penelope.
1F 621 be she as chaste as was P.
2F 559 were she as chaste as was [1624, 1631, were] P.
Ov 409 P. in bows her youths' strength tried
Ov 1595 we write, or what P. sends Ulysses
Ov 1603 white-cheek'd P. knew Ulysses' sign
Ov 1905 P., though no watch look'd unto her

Penetrable.
*E3 862 in a deep march of p. groans

Penetrate.
*Loc 404 doth p. the hardest marble stone
*Loc 1925 to p. the bulwark of my breast

Penetrating.
*HLC 1151 yet might a p. [Old eds. an imitating] eye well see how Peneus.

Ov 1963 they say, P. near Phthia's town did hide

Penitence.
JM 532 I'd pass away my life in p.
*TT 1029 Clifford, repent in bootless p.
*3H6 1271 Clifford, repent in bootless p.

Penitent.
E2 2575 if thou now [1612, 1622, omit] grow'st p., I'll be thy ghostly father
*2H6 1603 didst ever hear a man so p. ?
*TT 1750 call Warwick patron and be p.
*3H6 2516 call Warwick patron, and be p.

Penny.
1F 803 dead, and the devil a p. they have left me
2F 728 and the devil a p. they have left me
2F 804 and we'll not pay one p. for it
*Con 912 that p. that ever I took from France
*Con 1415 you shall have seven half*p.* loaves for a p.
*Con 1442 hang him with his p. ink-horn [Q3 pen and inkehorne] about *2H6 1322 nor ever had one p. bribe from France
*E3 1998 I will not give a p. for a life
*E3 1160 give earnest-p. of a further wreck [Dent, wrack]
*Con 1415 you shall have seven half*p.* loaves for a p.
*2H6 2263 seven half-p. loaves sold for a p.
*E3 1999 nor half a half*p.* to shun grim death

Pennyworths.
*2H6 223 pirates may make cheap p. of their pillage

Pension.
1F 804 the devil a penny they have left me, but a bare p.
2F 729 the devil a penny they have left me, but a small p.
MP 120 a p., and a dispensation too
2T 464 cooks shall have ps. to provide us cates

Pensive.
2T 1593 a fitter subject for a p. soul
E2 2270 my lord, be not p. ; we are your friends
Ov 1501 upon the cold earth p. let them lay
*3H6 1918 that you stand p., as half malcontent ?

Pensiveness.
E2 2172 in health, madam, but full of p.
D 1139 in this delight of dying p.

Pent.
*Sel 802 but in the green and unripe blade is p.
E2 2009 thus hath p. and mew'd me in a prison
Ov 668 slow oxen early in the yoke are p.
*2H6 1120 and in thy closet, p. up, rue my shame

Pentacle.
*HLC 967 a rich disparent p. she wears

Penthesilèa.
*Loc 490 the warlike queen of Amazons, P.

Pent-up.
*Con 803 and in thy p. study rue my shame
*TT 298 so looks the p. lion on the lamb
*3H6 378 so looks the p. lion o'er the wretch

People.
1T 1789 conquering the p. underneath our feet
2T 67 he brings a world of p. to the field
1F 780 that this house and all the p. in it were turned to gold 2F 963 and curse the p. that submit to him
JM 918 and kill sick p. groaning under walls
E2 16 what need the arctic p. love star-light ?
E2 579 so shall we have the p. of [1612, 1622, on] our side
E2 914 and make the p. swear to put him down
E2 1038 I dare not, for the p. love him well
E2 1765 overflow with blood of thine own p.
MP 459 a martial p., worthy such a king
MP 599 a warlike p. to maintain thy right

D 338 what kind of p., and who governs them
D 707 the p. swarm to gaze him in the face
HLM 123 so ran the p. forth to gaze upon her
Ov 63 the p. thee applauding, thou shalt stand
Ov 72 Iō triumphing shall thy p. sing
Ov 747 and vanquish'd p. curious dressings lend thee
Ov 1214 we p. wholly given thee, feel thine arms
Ov 1257 so of both p. shalt thou homage gain
Ov 2330 the p. by my company she pleas'd
Ov 2423 white heifers by glad p. forth are led Ov 2439 when the chief pomp comes, loud the p. hollow
Ov 2463 and, before folk [ed. A, p.], immodest speeches shun
L 2 and outrage strangling law, and p. strong
L 69 and what made madding p. shake off peace
L 172 again, this p. could not brook calm peace
L 241 the p. started ; young men left their beds
L 273 whose tongue could tune the p. to the nobles' mind
L 354 but a murmuring buzz th' unstable p. made
L 507 th' irrevocable p. fly in troops
*Epg 213 by these events, notorious to the p., he *Epg 543 whether of the gull'd p. he be more esteem'd
*1H6 2688 among the p. gather up a tenth
*Con 98 the common p. swarm about him straight
*Con 789 the abject p. gazing on thy face
*Con 800 see how the giddy p. look at thee
*Con 811 and when I start the cruel p. laugh
*Con 878 'tis likely that the p. will follow him
*Con 1041 I shall perceive how the common p. do
*Con 1419 I thank you good p.
*Con 1456 'tis to you good p. that I speak
*2H6 77 his valour, coin, and p. in the wars ?
*2H6 156 what though the common p. favour him
*2H6 196 have made thee fear'd and honour'd of the p.
*2H6 1105 the abject p., gazing on thy face
*2H6 1131 and when I start, the envious p. laugh
*2H6 2269 I thank you good p.
*2H6 2323 it is to you good p., that I speak
*2H6 2454 the rascal p., thirsting after prey, join with *2H6 2554 the p. liberal, valiant, active, wealthy
*TT 947 how will the p. now misdeem their king
*TT 974 the common p. swarm like summer flies
*TT 1520 the common p. by numbers swarm to us
*TT 1705 and many giddy [Q3 giddy headed] p. follow him
*3H6 1667 our p., and our peers, are both misled
*3H6 2066 the common p. by numbers swarm to us
*3H6 2252 and that the p. of this blessed land may not *3H6 2430 and many giddy p. flock to him
*E3 163 the joyful clamours of the p. are, when
*E3 2299 so let her p. live to call thee king
*Sel 98 stern Selimus hath won my p.'s heart
*Sel 844 and our continuance at the p.'s rate
*Sel 1385 do you not fear the p.'s adverse fame ?
*Sel 1392 that loves to be great in his p.'s grace 2T 1804 satisfy the p.'s general prayers
Ov 500 and arm'd to shed unarmèd p.'s blood
L 180 and p.'s voices bought by themselves and sold
L 466 increas'd true fear, and did invade the p.'s minds
*TT 1311 what is he gracious in the p.'s eyes ?
*3H6 1752 but is he gracious in the p.'s eye ?
*3H6 2134 nor how to study for the p.'s welfare
*E3 2460 how many p.'s lives might'st thou have sav'd
*TT 123 no, first shall war unp. this my realm
*3H6 132 no : first shall war unp. this my realm

Peopled.
2T 379 is Barbary unp. for thy sake
2T 394 all Barbary is unp. for thy sake
Ov 1424 hurl'd, again, by some, in this unp. world

Peopling.
1T 1129 unp. Western Africa and Greece

Per.
1F 290 that was the cause, but yet p. accidens
2F 772 A p. se, a ; t, h, e, the ; o p. se, o ; Demy orgon gorgon 2F 1183 O p. se, O ; Demogorgon : Belcher, and Mephistophilis !

Peradventure.
*E3 1220 may, p., for his negligence, be
*E3 2277 you p. are but servile grooms

Perceive.
*Sel 1036 as well you might p. in that sad fight
*Sel 2143 thou shalt p. all things will come to pass 1T 19 I p. you think I am not wise enough 1T 1959 wherein, as in a mirror, we p. the 2T 683 your majesty shall soon p.
2T 2198 I p. my martial strength is spent 1F 886 that thou mayst p. what Rome containeth 2F 864 that thou mayst p. what Rome contains JM 1251 but I p. there is no love on earth
E2 1198 I p. that heading is one, and hanging is the other
E2 1491 my lord[s] p. you how these rebels swell ?
MP 844 thou shouldst p. the Duke of Guise is mov'd
MP 846 lest thou p. the king of France be mov'd
D 877 but, that thou mayst more easily p. how Ov 287 she may p. how we the time did wast
Ov 351 then first I did p. I had offended
Ov 1072 I grieve lest others should such good p.
Ov 1190 in both thy [Old eds. my] cheeks she did p. thee [ed. C, the] blush *1H6 602 if any noise or soldier you p.
*1H6 743 come hither captain, you p. my mind
*1H6 1466 your honours shall p. how I will work *1H6 1468 hark, by the sound of drum you may p. their *1H6 1652 let him p. how ill we brook his treason
*1H6 1718 if they p. dissention in our looks
*1H6 2166 then I p., that will be verified
*1H6 2194 Humphrey of Gloster, thou shalt well p., that *1H6 2293 for I p. I am thy prisoner
*Con 778 for by his death we do p. his guilt
*Con 865 can you not see, or will you not p., how *Con 1041 I shall p. how the common people do
*Con 1059 that when the king comes, he may p.
*2H6 1089 for by his death, we do p. his guilt
*2H6 1590 by this, I shall p. the commons' mind
*TT 1614 more friends, than Lancaster must at this time p.
*3H6 1491 but now you partly may p. my mind
*3H6 1492 will never grant what I p. your highness aims at *E3 336 I might p. his eye in her eye lost
*E3 1254 I might p. five cities all on fire

Perceived.
Ov 1897 when he p. the reins let slack, he stay'd
Ov 1982 her, from his swift waves, the bold flood p.
*1H6 2045 when he p. me shrink, and on my knee

Perceivest.
JM 473 thou p. the plight wherein these

Perceiving.
*Epg 243 which he p. [A which p. he ; B, C, which to p. he] seems
*TT 535 the ruthless queen p. he did weep
*E3 1314 but, happily, p. your approach he hath

Perch.
E2 820 on whose top-branches kingly eagles p.

D 870 and thy fair peacocks by my pigeons p.
Perchance.
*Sel 1056 ay, and p. the neighbour Christians would
*Sel 1566 read it again, p. thou dost mistake
Ov 262 but now p. thy wench with thee doth rest
Ov 1110 which do p. old age unto them give Ov 2031 p. these others, me mine own loss moves Perched.
HLM 39 where sparrows p., of hollow pearl and gold Perches.
2T 1687 p. for the black and fatal ravens
Percies.
*1H6 1033 during whose reign, the P. of the North Percussion : see Repercussion
Percy.
E2 110 Lord P. of the North, being highly mov'd
E2 114 th' undaunted spirit of P. was appeas'd
*E3 1709 Lord P.! welcome : what's the news in England?
*E3 1720 thanks, P., for thy news, with all my heart!
Perdicas.
2T 1413 I'll to cards. — P.!
2T 1423 they say I am a coward, P.
Perdition.
JM 552 child of p., and thy father's shame!
Pereat.
E2 2476 P. iste! Let him have the king
Peremptory.
*Sel 2465 thou that resolvest in p. terms to 1T 1919 my customs are as p. as wrathful planets
*2H6 693 is your priest-hood grown p.?
*2H6 1217 how proud, how p., and unlike himself
*3H6 2484 where p. Warwick now remains Perennis.
Ov 758 Ad invidos, quod fama poetarum sit p.
Perfect.
*Sel 288 view in me the p. picture of right tyranny
*Loc 228 a p. pattern of all chivalry
*Loc 509 and bring our wished joys to p. end
*Loc 1112 of p. marble, and of jacinth stones
*Loc 1273 the p. platform of a troubled wight
*Loc 1914 Estrild, the p. pattern of renown
1T 876 that p. bliss and sole felicity
2T 589 prove thyself a p. God
2F 1224 the royal shapes and warlike [1624, 1631, p.] semblances
E2 2018 but p. shadows in a sunshine day?
MP 808 that lift themselves against the p. truth
*HLC 1100 to make a p. metal counterfeit
*HLC 1348 but, as she prick'd, it grew more p. still *HLC 1727 they thought her p. born, and could not grow
*HLC 1750 should invade two p. lovers
*LD 22 Thine in all rites of p. friendship, Thomas Thorpe
*Epg 20 who is a true and p. gull indeed
*Epg 173 as none at all can p. passage find
*1H6 2645 to choose for wealth, and not for p. love
*3H6 628 three glorious suns, each one a p. sun
*3H6 1065 can neither call it p. day, nor night
MPF 21 thus fall, imp. exhalation
*Epg 31 and fills [MS. filleth] up his unp. speech with oaths Perfecter.
1F 189 and then wilt thou be p. than I
2F 181 and then wilt thou be p. than I
Perfection.
JM 818 fruit, I mean, in fullness of p.
HLM 274 women receive p. every way
*Ign 6 thy beauty['s] ravishing p.
*E3 494 that her p. emulates the sun
*Ign 4 modesty, which makes thee in p.'s throne to sit 2T 891 as a register of all her virtues and ps.
*1H6 2607 the chief ps. of that lovely dame
*3H6 1514 all her ps. challenge sovereignty
Perferat.
Ov 591 ut paratas tabellas ad Corinnam p.
Perforce.
*Loc 110 so that p. we were constrain'd to fly 1T 448 I must be pleas'd p., — wretched Zenocrate!
E2 2419 'a would have taken the king away p.
*1H6 947 how I am brav'd, and must p. endure it
*Con 165 and force p., I'll make him yield the crown
*2H6 259 and force p. I'll make him yield the crown
*TT 139 and made him to resign the crown p.
*TT 294 soldiers away and drag him hence p.
*TT 846 and force p. needs must I rest [Q2 yeeld] a while
*TT 1987 away I say, and take her hence p.
*3H6 34 unless he seek to thrust you out p.
*3H6 148 and made him to resign his crown p.
*3H6 2830 away with her, go bear her hence p.
*E3 1191 that we p. were fain to give them way Perform.
*Sel 1383 could you unkind p. so foul a deed
*Loc 2013 and that which Locrine's sword could not p.
1T 1099 and menace [4to meane] more they can well p.
1T 2298 my hand is ready to p. the deed
2T 176 to paint in words what I'll p. in deeds
1F 7 we must p. the form of Faustus' fortunes 1F 108 p. what desperate enterprise I will?
1F 163 the miracles that magic will p.
1F 257 and try the uttermost magic can p.
1F 286 no more than he commands must we p.
1F 540 and to show thee what magic can p.
1F 546 but yet conditionally that thou p. all 1F 1136 as by art and power of my spirit I am able to p.
1F 7 we must now p. the form of Faustus' fortunes 2F 105 p. what desperate enterprise [1624, 1631, enterprises] I will 2F 155 the miracles that magic will p. will make 2F 244 and try the utmost magic can p.
2F 270 no more than he commands must we p.
2F 488 and let thee see what magic can p.
2F 493 conditionally that thou p. all covenants
2F 921 and I'll p. it [Not in 1624, 1631] Faustus 2F 1240 see this conjurer p. such rare exploits
*FB 46 he did p., and bond and seal did bind
JM 2234 to p. one stratagem that I'll impart to thee
E2 499 this wills my lord, and this must I p.
E2 587 my lords, if to p. this I be slack
E2 2354 that shall convey it, and p. the rest
MP 88 discharge thy musket, and p. his death
MP 207 and, as we late decreed, we may p.
MP 578 as speedily as I can p., I'll muster up an army
D 1580 the rocks and sea-gulfs will p. at large
HLM 436 task, as he ought not p., nor yet she ask
Ov 1483 and even the ring p. a man's part well
Ov 2076 to this add [ed. A, and] shame : shame to p. it quail'd me
L 379 this hand, albeit unwilling, should p. it
*Con 9 I did p. my task and was espous'd
*Con 1052 to help him to p. this enterprise
*Con 1809 for those that could p. this worthy act
*TT 190 that oath I willingly take and will p.
*3H6 209 this oath I willingly take, and will p.

*3H6 1412 and what God will, that let your king p.
*E3 1671 and will unfeignedly p. the same
*E3 1791 not to p. the covenant of my word

Performance.

JM 1415 for the p. of your promise pass'd
*HLD 5 the p. of whatsoever we may judge shall *2H6 588 expects p. of your promises
*E3 642 that fair p. cannot follow promise ?

Performed.

1T 1899 that which mine honour swears shall be p.
1F 982 I leave untold ; your eyes shall see ['t] p.
1F 1442 shall be p. in twinkling of an eye
2F 1667 to think but well of that which Faustus hath p.
2F 1901 shall be p. in twinkling of an eye
JM 1110 true, and it shall be cunningly p.
JM 1200 so neatly plotted, and so well p. ?
MP 18 and now, my lords, the marriage-rites p.
D 93 which, once p., poor Troy, so long suppress'd
HLM 326 when Venus' sweet rites are p. and done
Ov 2044 though both of us p. our true intent
*1H6 571 thus Joan de Pucelle hath p. her word
*Con 66 provide to see her coronation be p.
*Con 950 the proverb will no doubt be well [Q3 omits] p.
*Con 1031 come let us go, that it may be p.
*Con 1296 go take him hence, and see his funerals be [Q3 omits] p.
*2H6 9 I have p. my task, and was espous'd
*2H6 72 provide to see her coronation be p.
*2H6 970 and that's not suddenly to be p.
*2H6 1537 a charge, Lord York, that I will see p.
*TT 1149 that's soon p., because I am a subject
*3H6 1478 that's soon p., because I am a subject

Performing.

2T 864 p. all your promise to the full

Perfume.

MP 170 methinks the gloves have a very strong p.
HLM 215 this sacrifice, whose sweet p. descending
*Sel 2015 loadeth his wings with precious ps.
*Sel 2029 wrapped in the sweet ps. of thy magnific deeds
Ov 1866 who now will care the altars to p. ?
*Con 1747 ring bells aloud, bonfires p. the air

Perfumed.

1F 774 except the ground were p., and covered 2F 700 unless the ground be p., and covered with cloth of arras
MP 70 where are those p. gloves which I sent ?
*HLC 2210 naught but fires p. must give it light
Ov 1684 Elegia came with hairs p. sweet
*Epg 283 and is withal p. with civet hot [MS. sweete]
*Con 162 with whose sweet smell the air shall be p.
*2H6 256 with whose sweet smell the air shall be p.

Pergama.

D 151 which P. did vaunt in all her pride

Pergamus.

*Loc 918 when she beheld the town of P.
*Loc 1281 thou wretched queen of wretched P.

Pergat.

Ov 1676 utrum elegos p. scribere an potius tragoedias

Perhaps.

*Sel 126 p. you fear that we your loyal peers
*Sel 131 p. you think Mustaffa will revolt
*Sel 195 p., my lord, Selimus lov'd the dame
*Sel 285 p. you think that now forsooth you sit
*Sel 401 p. I shall attain it at his hands
*Sel 729 p. you wonder why prince Acomat
*Sel 786 p. you may make him your enemy
*Sel 886 p. he thought his aged father's love was *Sel 1333 and may p. by counsel be reclaim'd
*Loc 1025 p. some blissful star will favour us
1T 250 these lords p. do scorn our estimates
1T 1274 madam, she thinks p. she is too fine?
JMP 5 to some p. my name is odious
JM 219 let's know their time ; p. it is not long
E2 1270 yet not p., if Warwick's wit
E2 1304 the king of heaven, p., no other king
D 926 but love and duty led him on p. to HLM 299 p. thy sacred priesthood makes thee loath
*HLC 1127 p. might find some little hole to pass
Ov 401 p. the Sabines rude, when Tatius reign'd
Ov 2145 p. he'll tell how oft he slew a man
*1H6 847 I have p. some shallow spirit of judgment
*1H6 1349 your grace may starve (p.) before that time
*1H6 2323 p. I shall be rescu'd by the French
*TT 1023 Oh would he did, and so p. he doth
*3H6 1264 O would he did, and so (p.) he doth
*3H6 2580 p. thou wilt object my holy oath
*E3 30 p., it will be thought a heinous thing, that
*E3 1559 p., he is already slain or ta'en

Periapts.

*1H6 2221 now help ye charming spells and p.

Pericranion.

2T 346 cleave his p. with thy sword

Peril.

JM 31 may serve, in p. of calamity, to ransom
MP 95 p. is the chiefest way to happiness
*Epg 512 forsake his dearest friend in p. of his life *2H6 1365 for thousands more, that yet suspect no p.
*TT 658 which p. heaven forfend
*3H6 794 must Edward fall, which p. heaven forfend
*E3 1783 will put himself in p. there again?
*E3 1932 pitying thy youth is so engirt with p.
*E3 2449 got with as mickle p. of our lives as e'er was Perilous.

*E3 1975 teach me an answer to this p. time

Period.

*Sel 403 to end the p. with a fatal stab 1T 1961 if these had made one poem's p.
2T 461 yet shall my soldiers make no p. until 2T 1613 every p. ends with death, and every line begins
E2 1291 O, must this day be p. of my life
L 650 the death of many men meets in one p.
*1H6 1790 the p. of thy tyranny approacheth
*2H6 1362 and prove the p. of their tyranny
*TT 1921 lo here a p. of tumultuous broils
*3H6 2763 now here a p. of tumultuous broils
*E3 465 I have not to a p. brought her praise
*E3 468 that they disdain an ending p.
*E3 474 then wherefore talk'st thou of a p. to that which Periphrasticon.

1F 1058 Sanctobulorum P. — nay, I'll tickle you

Perish.

*Loc 830 so p. they that are our enemies !
*Loc 831 so p. they that love not Humber's weal !
*Loc 1149 so p. they that envy Britain's wealth 1T 72 shall either p. by our warlike hands, or 1T 1119 when they p. by our warlike hands
1T 1563 not one should scape, but p. by our swords
2T 416 shall p. in this fight
2T 1071 few or none shall p. by their shot
2T 2044 millions of Turks p. by Tamburlaine
2T 2138 that, if I p., heaven and earth may fade
1F 1528 gentlemen, away, lest you p. with me

2F 2011 gentlemen, away, lest you p. with me
JM 300 than many p. for a private man
JM 1315 but p. underneath my bitter curse
JM 2327 for, so I live, p. may all the world !
E2 37 farewell, and p. by a soldier's hand
E2 638 as gross vapours p. by the sun, even so let E2 904 mov'd may he be, and p. in his wrath !
MP 960 now must he fall, and p. in his height
MP 978 and p. in the pit thou mad'st for me
MP 1033 Vive la messe ! p. Huguenots !
D 1018 and I must p. in his burning arms
D 1581 and thou shalt p. in the billows' ways
D 1708 p. thou too
HLM 248 lone women, like to empty houses, p.
*HLC 878 for lust's plague, doth p. with possessing Ov 894 believe me, whom we fear, we wish to p.
L 70 the Fates are envious, high seats quickly p.
*1H6 1275 and as my duty springs, so p. they *1H6 1278 p. base prince, ignoble Duke of York
*1H6 1359 or else let Talbot p. with this shame
*1H6 1702 and p. ye with your audacious prate
*2H6 1703 might in thy palace, p. Eleanor [? Margaret]
*2H6 2412 for God forbid, so many simple souls should p. by the sword
*TT 942 for if you strive, ten thousand lives must p.
*E3 131 the Countess Salisbury is like to p.

Perished.
E2 2038 so shall not England's vine be p.
JM 1173 O Lodowick, hadst thou p. by the Turk
D 236 not one of them hath p. in the storm
Ov 1422 all human kind by their default had p.

Perisheth.
*1H6 1910 and Talbot p. by your default

Peristera.
*HLC 1301 wand, on whose bright top P. did stand

Perjuraverat.
Ov 1833 De amica p.

Perjured.
*Sel 1412 before my sword have riven his p. breast
2T 609 the p. traitor, Hungary
2T 827 in conquest [8vo in the conquest] of the p. Christian
MP 701 O wicked sex, p. and unjust !
D 1565 thy mother was no goddess, p. man
D 1709 these letters, lines, and p. papers
Ov 308 bewails her p. Theseus' flying vows and sails
Ov 1291 let merchants seek wealth with p. lips
Ov 1843 by which she p. oft hath lied to [Old eds. by] me
Ov 1869 but bids his darts from p. girls retire
Ov 2357 by all the gods (who by thee to be p. fall)
*TT 750 now p. Henry wilt thou yield thy crown
*TT 1801 Oh passing traitor p. and unjust
*TT 1947 lascivious Edward, and thou p. George
*3H6 893 now p. Henry, wilt thou kneel for grace ?
*3H6 2597 Oh passing traitor, p. and unjust
*3H6 2796 lacivious Edward, and thou p. George
*E3 667 what may be said to any p. villain
*E3 962 O p. beauty ! more corrupted judge !

Perjuries.
Ov 562 knights of the post of p. make sale
Ov 1854 but my pain to purge her p.
Ov 2333 and, to my loss, god-wronging p. ?

Perjury.
2T 579 witness of thy servant's p.
2T 587 behold and venge this traitor's p.
2T 600 accurs'd and hateful p.
MP 703 her eyes and looks sow'd seed of p.
D 407 others report 'twas Sinon's p.
D 440 a man compact of craft and p.
D 1703 for p. and slaughter of a queen
HLM 312 committ'st a sin far worse than p.
*3H6 2802 and there's for twitting me with p.

Perkins.
*JMS 30 merit in him [« P. »] who doth personate our Jew to-day

Permanent.
JM 137 and nothing violent, oft have I heard tell, can be p.

Permission.
*Sel 884 he could not get p. to kiss his hands

Permit.
*1H6 1027 I will, if that my fading breath p.
1F 1612 to practice more than heavenly power ps.
2F 2160 to practise more than heavenly power ps.

Permittatur.
Ov 2262 cum amica concumbere non p.

Permitted.
*E3 1797 no doubt, is lawfully p. us

Pernicious.
*Sel 475 whose fairest words are most p.
*Sel 851 in wine, in meat we fear p. poison
E2 1475 whose brightness such p. upstarts dim
E2 1523 than banish that p. company ?
*Epg 404 Crassus his lies are no [MS. not] p. lies
*1H6 1112 thou art a most p. usurer
*1H6 1637 forsaken your p. faction, and join'd with
*Con 1164 p. blood-sucker of sleeping men
*2H6 690 p. protector, dangerous peer
*2H6 1829 p. blood-sucker of sleeping men
*E3 265 as a May blossom with p. winds, hath
*E3 1333 I hold thee for a false p. wretch

Perpendicular.
1T 1729 the point that shall begin the p.

Peroration.
*2H6 103 this p. with such circumstance

Perpetual.
1F 511 chief lord and regent of p. night !
1F 1553 rise, rise again, and make p. day
2F 459 chief lord and regent of p. night !
2F 2062 stare into that vast p. torture-house
2F 2084 rise, rise again, and make p. day
Ov 476 p. thirst, and winter's lasting rage !
Ov 1023 alas, a wench is a p. evil !
Ov 1132 whose earth doth not p. green grass lack Ov 2029 who said with grateful voice « P. be » ?
*TT 1897 and warriors faint, why 'twere p. shame ?
*3H6 2731 and warriors faint, why 'twere p. shame

Perpetually.
1F 1549 and then thou must be damn'd p. !
2F 2046 and now must taste hell's pains [1624, 1631, hell-pains] p.
2F 2080 then thou must be damn'd p. !

Perpetuity.
*1H6 2060 coupled in bonds of p.

Perplexed.
*Loc 1026 and comfort bring to our p. state
*HLC 1476 love would not leave her conscience p.
Ov 164 I have been wanton, therefore am [C, are] p.
*1H6 2690 I rest p. with a thousand cares
*Con 23 a world of pleasure to my p. soul
*E3 2444 for whom, even now, my soul was much p. !

Perriwig.
1F 771 sometimes, like a p., I sit upon her brow
2F 694 sometimes, like a p., I sit upon her brow

Persean : see Persian

Persecute.
*Loc 603 to p. the rascal runagates
*E3 1341 leave therefore now to p. the weak
*Sel 872 whom thine own son so vildly ps.?
1T 1593 the slavery wherewith he ps. the noble Turk

Persecutor.
*TT 2018 a p. I am sure thou art
*3H6 2883 a p. I am sure thou art

Persepolis.
1T 37 that robs your merchants of P.
1T 141 have fill'd P. with Afric captains
1T 726 and now we will to fair P.
1T 742 to follow me to fair P.
1T 751 and ride in triumph through P.
1T 752 and ride in triumph through P. !
1T 756 and ride in triumph through P. ?
1T 1350 even from P. to Mexico

Perseus.
*Loc 385 when P. married fair Andromeda
Ov 1944 now wish I those wings noble P. had Ov 2389 victorious P. a wing'd steed's back takes
*E3 1473 and may the view thereof, like P.'shield, astonish

Persever.
2F 1846 do not p. in it like a devil
Ov 1504 if they determine to p. so

Persia.
*Sel 2258 I to P.
*Sel 2558 those soldans of the Orient, Egypt, and P.
1T 6 unhappy P., — that in former age hast been 1T 59 the hope of P., and the very legs whereon our 1T 155 since I see the state of P. droop and languish
1T 162 Emperor of Asia and P. [4to and of P.] 1T 355 in thee, thou valiant man of P., I see the 1T 431 than doth the king of P. in his crown
1T 496 in fair P. noble Tamburlaine shall be my regent 1T 588 and live like gentlemen in P.
1T 681 are you the witty king of P. ?
1T 710 thee do I make my regent of P.
1T 721 and govern P. in her former pomp
1T 848 and scorns the powers that govern P. !
1T 887 if Tamburlaine be plac'd in P.
1T 904 who think you now is king of P. ?
1T 915 and all pronounc'd me king of P.
1T 936 hie thee, my basso [4to brother], fast to P.
1T 960 they say he is the king of P.
1T 1041 you see, though first the king of P.
1T 1177 by this my sword that conquer'd P.
1T 1227 and may my love, the king of P., return 1T 1284 ye gods and powers that govern P.
1T 1488 but, ere I march to wealthy P.
1T 2289 invest her here the [4to my] Queen of P.
1T 2302 and here we crown thee Queen of P.
2T 319 for he shall wear the crown of P.
2T 803 this proud usurping king of P.
2T 1184 Tamburlaine, this king of P.
2T 1339 as the foolish king of P. did
2T 1770 spoils we will convey with us to P.
2T 1925 and make our greatest haste to P.
2T 2009 and presently depart to P.
2T 2011 ay, good my lord, let us in [4to omits] haste to P.
2T 2205 here I began to march towards P.
1T 646 that it may reach the king of P.'s crown 1T 1949 neither P.'s [Old eds. Perseans and Persians] sovereign nor Persian.

*Sel 49 the P. Sophi, mighty Ismael
*Sel 2097 to ask for aid of P. Ismael
*Sel 2185 his P. aid cannot save him from me
1T 45 or display his vagrant ensign in the P. fields
1T 91 which will revolt from P. government
1T 110 the plot is laid by P. noblemen
1T 116 to quake and tremble at the P. monarch's name
1T 137 we, in the name of other P. states
1T 280 than the possession of the P. crown
1T 300 a thousand P. horsemen are at hand
1T 342 whom seek'st thou, P. ? I am Tamburlaine 1T 351 noble and mild this P. seems to be 1T 403 if the P. king should offer present dukedoms 1T 428 welcome, renowmed [4to renowned] P., to us all !
1T 493 when the princely P. diadem shall overweigh his 1T 649 made passage thorough P. arms !
1T 723 and let them know the P. king is chang'd
1T 778 that if I should desire the P. crown
1T 784 assay to get the P. kingdom to myself
1T 800 make but a jest to win the P. crown
1T 883 to lift our swords against the P. king 1T 958 and show your pleasure to the P.
1T 1347 until the P. fleet and men-of-war, sailing
1T 1498 by thy cruelty, unlawfully usurp'st the P. seat
1T 1580 by murder raisèd to the P. crown
1T 2284 to grace her princely temples with the P. crown
2T 887 wrought with the P. and th' [4 omits] Egyptian arms
2T 1963 Africa, which hath been subject to the P. king
JM 2 and of the third part of the P. ships
JM 91 store of P. silks, of gold, and orient pearl
D 779 I know this face ; he is a P. born
*Sel 143 we fought not for you 'gainst the P.'s tent
*Sel 596 to turn thy strength upon the Ps.
*Sel 1053 while Ismael and the cruel Ps.
*Sel 1651 against the Sophi and his Ps.
*Sel 1795 t' have died among the cruel Ps.
*Sel 1846 had Ismael and his warlike Ps.
*Sel 2478 dings down the flying Ps. with their swords
*Sel 2494 and hewing passage through the Ps.
1T 329 that their reflections may amaze the Ps.
1T 1190 shall swallow up these base-born Ps.
1T 1635 thy inglorious crew of Scythians and slavish Ps.
2T 1960 Tartars and Ps. shall inhabit there
1T 1260 swords, that thirst to drink the feeble Ps.' blood 1T 1949 neither Persia's [Old eds. Perseans and Ps.] sovereign nor 2T 1199 for ever term'd [Old eds. terme] the Ps.' sepulchre
2T 1234 let us to the field (the Ps.' sepulchre)
*HLC 1627 Hero held Leander's picture, as a P. shield

Persist.
2T 1560 I will p. a terror to the world
MP 615 as now you are, so shall you still p.
*E3 194 and so p. with eager roads beyond their Person.

*Sel 2293 had hedg'd your p. in a dangerous ring
*Sel 2404 to guard your p. from my angry sword
*Loc 53 and grieve to see your p. vexed thus
*Loc 208 for thou must bear the p. of a king
*Loc 667 Gate ! O petty treason to my p.
*Loc 744 but on the p. of young Albánact ?
1T 268 expects the arrival of her highness' p.
1T 279 thy p. is more worth to Tamburlaine than 1T 1157 attend upon the p. of your lord
1T 1514 how you abuse the p. of the king
1T 1607 wrong unto the hallow'd p. of a prince

1T 1734 content thyself : his p. shall be safe 1T 1870 in whose sweet p. is compris'd the sum of 1T 2278 if, as beseems a p. of thy state
1T 2280 her state and p. want no pomp, you see 2T 10 should meet our p. to conclude a truce
2T 255 and save thy sacred p. free from scathe
2T 1247 set his warlike p. to the view of fierce Achilles
2T 1256 wouldst with overmatch of p. fight
2T 1389 for p. like to prove a second Mars
2T 2057 come in p. to resist your power
2F 345 Boy ! O disgrace to my p. ! zounds, boy in your face !
2F 677 we are come from hell in p. to show thee some JM 1701 villains, I am a sacred p. ; touch me not JM 2152 we give, to guard thy p., these our Janizaries
JM 2437 in p. there to meditate [Dyce, mediate] your peace
E2 166 fear'st thou thy p. ? thou shalt have a guard
E2 1193 severely we will execute upon thy p.
E2 1346 I come in p. to your majesty
E2 1471 from your princely p. you remove this Spenser
E2 1816 of love and care unto his royal p.
E2 1875 to keep your royal p. safe with us
E2 2253 so false should come about the p. of a prince
MP 613 no p., place, or time, or circumstance MP 899 I think, for safety of your royal p.
D 787 some came in p., others sent their legates
D 913 that thus in p. go with thee to hunt
*HLC 1453 from hell she thought his [V. R. her] p. would defend her
*Con 510 in thine own p. meet me at the east end of the grove
*Con 1174 that they will err from your highness' p.
*Con 1758 whereas the p. of the king doth keep. ?
*Con 1810 and thou shalt wait upon the p. of the king
*2H6 712 in thine own p. answer thine abuse
*2H6 1235 that he should come about your royal p.
*2H6 1279 from meaning treason to our royal p.
*2H6 1386 to keep your royal p. from treason's secret knife
*2H6 1858 they say, in care of your most royal p.
*2H6 2448 so might your grace's p. be in danger
*TT 1256 first to do greetings to thy royal p.
*TT 1609 to the danger of his royal p. then ?
*3H6 1601 such, as are of better p. than myself
*3H6 1685 first, to do greetings to thy royal p.
*3H6 2048 myself in p. will straight follow you
*3H6 2115 but to defend his p. from night-foes ?
*3H6 2166 no, but the loss of his own royal p.
*E3 255 the king is come himself in p. hither
*E3 2340 his name I reverence, but his p. more
*E3 2342 but to his p. I will bend my knee
*Sel 815 the stedfast ps. from their purpose lifts
*HLC 1432 and they were ps. of especial price
*HLC 1657 in ps. full of note, good deeds are done
*Epg 473 and ps., times, and places, still he frames to every tale
*2H6 860 a sort of naughty ps., lewdly bent

Personage.
1T 454 what stature wields he, and what p. ?
1T 480 the face and p. of a wondrous man

Personate.
*JMS 30 merit in him [« Perkins »] who doth p. our Jew this day

Persuade.
*Sel 399 I will endeavour to p. him, man, to
*Sel 1951 that would fain p. me he knows me
*Loc 1681 let him p. himself to die the death
1T 485 that could p., at such a sudden pinch, with reasons 1T 1305 yet should he not p. me otherwise but 1T 1853 what simple virgins may p., we will 2T 1891 could not p. you to submission
JM 698 p. our governor against the Turk
E2 2240 mother, p. me not to wear the crown
Ov 276 night, love, and wine to all extremes p.
*Epg 474 frames to every tale, the better to p.
*1H6 1205 let me p. you to forbear a while *1H6 1395 couragious Bedford, let us now p. you
*1H6 1710 let me p. you take a better course
*1H6 1737 but your discretions better can p.
*2H6 1740 my thoughts, that labour to p. my soul
*3H6 1816 sends me a paper to p. me patience ?
*3H6 2368 p. both him, and all his brothers, unto reason
*E3 703 I'll say, it is my duty to p.
*E3 1790 but either to p. or threaten me
*Epg 419 that [MS. as] now himself ps. himself 'tis [MS. its] so
*E3 309 eye, that more ps. than winning oratory ?

Persuaded.
1T 1597 be so p. that the Soldan is no more dismay'd
E2 2162 be thou p. that I love thee well
*1H6 809 how say you madam ? are you now p. ?
*2H6 3150 p. him from any further act
*TT 1638 by my faith, a wise stout captain and soon p.
*3H6 2365 a wise stout captain, and soon p.
*E3 1754 had we not been p., John our king would Persuading.

HLM 724 a gift prevails when deep-p. oratory fails

Persuasions.
Ov 596 Corinna clips me oft by thy p.
1T 400 could use ps. more pathetical
1T 782 I know they would with our ps.
JM 564 blind friar, I reck not thy ps.
*1H6 1457 by fair ps., mix'd with sugar'd words

Persuasive.
*E3 389 and hath a lusty and p. spirit

Pert.
E2 701 by his sovereign's favour grow so p.

Pertaining.
*HLC 1004 all rites p. to his married state

Perturbation.
*Sel 767 now to prevent all sudden p.

Peruse.
1F 624 hold, take this book, p. it thoroughly
1F 841 in meantime take this book : p. it throughly 2F 562 here, take this book, and p. it well
2F 758 meanwhile p. this book and view it throughly
*1H6 1816 out some light horsemen, and p. their wings
*E3 441 write on, while I p. her in my thoughts
*E3 2494 refresh your weary limbs, p. your spoils

Perused.
2F 1942 thou hast p. my will, — how dost thou like it ?
*1H6 2137 have you p. the letters from the pope

Peruseth.
Ov 607 but see that forthwith she p. it

Perusian.
L 41 add, Caesar, to these ills, P. famine

Perverse.
*1H6 1124 if I were covetous, ambitious, or p.
*1H6 1707 to bear with their p. objections
*E3 1708 as wilful stubbornness hath made p.

Pester.
*Loc 1790 with howling ditties p. every wood

Pestered.
*Loc 601 have p. every place with mutinies Pestiferous.
*1H6 1110 thy lewd, p., and dissentious pranks Pestilence.
JM 1402 and the horse-p. to boot : away !
Peter.
1F 809 P. Pickle-herring and Martin Martlemas-beef 2F 734 my godfathers were these, P. Pickled-herring and 2F 928 but thus I fall to P., not to thee
2F 929 to me and P. shalt thou grovelling lie 2F 1086 by P., you shall die
*Con 751 I'll pledge you all, and a fig for P.
*Con 752 here P. I drink to thee, and be not afeard [Q3 affraid]
*Con 753 here P., here's a pint of claret-wine for thee
*Con 754 and here's a quart for me, and be merry P.
*Con 764 Sirrah, what's your name ? — P. forsooth
*Con 765 P., what more ? — Thumpe
*Con 771 to prove myself an honest man, and P. a knave
*Con 771 and so have at you P. with downright blows
*Con 774 hold P., I confess, Treason, treason
*Con 776 Ho well done P. God save the King
*2H6 1055 I'll pledge you all, and a fig for P.
*2H6 1056 here P., I drink to thee, and be not afraid
*2H6 1058 be merry P., and fear not thy master
*2H6 1069 Sirrah, what's thy name ? — P. forsooth
*2H6 1070 P. ? what more ? — Thump. — Thump ?
*2H6 1078 and therefore P. have at thee with a downright blow
*2H6 1082 hold P., hold, I confess, I confess treason
*2H6 1087 O P., thou hast prevail'd in right
1F 856 and take some part of holy P.'s feast
1F 908 and take some part of holy P.'s feast
1F 953 because it is Saint P.'s holiday
2F 571 and take some part of holy P.'s feast [Dyce omits]
2F 832 and take some part of holy P.'s feast
2F 887 and take some part of holy P.'s feast
2F 926 ascends Saint P.'s chair and state pontifical 2F 931 thus Saint P.'s heir, from Bruno's back, ascends 2F 932 from Bruno's back, ascends Saint P.'s chair
2F 974 « That P.'s heirs should tread on Emperors
2F 1016 and by your death to climb Saint P.'s chair
2F 1034 that we may solemnize Saint P.'s feast 2F 1270 and sit in P.'s chair, despite of chance
JMP 12 yet will they read me, and thereby attain to P.'s chair Petition.
*1H6 1679 and that is my p. (noble lord)
*E3 2471 now, father, this p. Edward makes
*Sel 1409 and heard the bashaws' stout ps.
*Con 287 so now show your ps. [Q2 p.] to Duke Humphrey Petitioner.
*2H6 389 I am but a poor p. of our whole township
*TT 1985 ps. for blood he [Q3 hee'l] ne'er put back
*3H6 2842 ps. for blood, thou ne'er putt'st back Petticoat.
*Epg 281 her green silk stockings, and her p. of taffeta
*Con 1583 item, a gown, a kirtle, a p., and a smock
*TT 1936 that you might still have kept your p.
*3H6 2785 that you might still have worn the p.
Petty.
*Loc 419 and all the power their p. kings can make
*Loc 667 Gate ! O p. treason to my person
*Loc 1761 have they pitched their p. host so close 2T 1244 ye p. kings of Turkey, I am come
2T 1331 how now, ye p. kings ? lo, here are bugs
1F 134 both law and physic are for p. wits
2F 55 a p. case of paltry legacies !
2F 128 both law and physic are for p. wits
JMP 26 o' the poor p. wights, let me be envied and not pitied
JM 2268 strong-countermin'd with other p. isles
MP 150 sufficient yet for such a p. king
D 1413 Carthage shall vaunt her p. walls no more
D 1627 thou for some p. gift hast let him go
*1H6 92 except some p. towns of no import
*2H6 1273 tut, these are p. faults to faults unknown
*2H6 2075 be counterpoised with such a p. sum
*2H6 3092 particularities and p. sounds to cease
*E3 82 'tis not a p. dukedom that I claim, but all
*E3 1343 let it be seen, 'mongst other p. thefts, how *E3 2150 and every p. disadvantage prompts the Phaedra.
Ov 1598 P., and Hippolyte may read, my care is Phaeton.
*Sel 2462 like to the bold fool-hardy P.
2T 2323 [any] more than heaven's coach the pride of P.
E2 311 like P., aspir'st unto the guidance of the sun !
HLM 107 another P. had got the guidance of the sun's rich chariot
*TT 356 now P. hath tumbled from his car
*TT 978 that P. should check thy fiery steeds
*3H6 452 now P. hath tumbled from his car
*3H6 1211 that P. should check thy fiery steeds Phalaris.
JMP 24 which maxim had P. observ'd
Pharaoh's.
*Epg 140 and so, like [B, C, as] P. kine, they eat up clean those that Pharisee.
*Epg 133 and thereof [MS. therefore], like [B, C, as] a P., he vaunts Pharos.
Ov 1391 Memphis, and P. that sweet date-trees yields Pharsalia.
1T 1249 nor in P. was there such hot war
L 38 P. groan with slaughter
Phemius.
Ov 2100 take delight when P. sings
Phemonöe.
*HLC 2026 was by P. [Old eds. Phemonor and Phemoner] sung Pheres : see Fere
Philemus.
1T 2172 what other heavy news now brings P. ?
Philip.
MP 864 the Catholic P., King of Spain
MP 1030 P. and Parma, I am slain for you !
MP 1031 P., depose the wicked branch of curs'd Valois his line !
*Epg 111 for what said P. King of Macedon ?
*E3 6 who next succeeded P. le Beau ? [Old eds. of Bew ?]
*E3 12 Isabel was all the daughters that this P. had
*E3 1111 P., my youngest boy, and I will lodge
*E3 1114 now tell me, P., what is thy conceit, touching
*E3 1123 well said, young P. !
*E3 1197 come, gentle P., let us hence depart
*E3 1866 P., the younger issue of the king
*E3 1943 P., the second son to the most mighty Christian King
*E3 1952 herald of P., greet thy lord from me

*E3 2023 here comes my brother P.
*E3 2205 welcome, Artois, and welcome, P., too 1F 159 the golden fleece that yearly stuffs old P.'s treasury 2F 151 that yearly stuff'd [1624, 1631, stuffs] old P.'s treasury
*1H6 322 nor yet Saint P.'s daughters were like thee

Philippe.

*Con 650[a] and left him one only daughter, named P. [So in Q3]
*2H6 934 had issue P., a daughter
*2H6 951 who married P. sole daughter unto Lionel
*E3 2256 no more, Queen P., pacify yourself
*E3 2308 P., prevail; we yield to thy request
*E3 2343 I pray thee, P., let displeasure pass
*E3 2417 content thee, P.
*E3 2440 away with mourning, P., wipe thine eyes

Philippi.

L 680 and under Haemus' mount, P. plains
L 693 I have seen P.

Philistine.

JM 971 use him as if he were a P.

Phillis.

Ov 1606 and P. hath to read, if now she lives
Ov 1596 or P.' tears that her Demophoon misses

Philo.

*Epg 425 P., the lawyer, and the [MS. the gentleman, the] fortune-teller
*Epg 442 and P. to such patients giveth physic

Philomel.

Ov 1089 why, P., dost Tereus' lewdness mourn ?

Philonem.

*Epg 424 In P. XXXVIII.

Philosopher.

*Sel 87 Corcut my eldest, a p.
*Sel 561 let his minion, his p. Corcut
*Sel 1692 for though he be a grave p.
JM 848 what, hast the p.'s stone ?
1F 305 his ghost be with the old ps. !
2F 289 my ghost be with the old ps. !
L 418 ps., look you; for unto me, thou cause

Philosophus.

1F 41 Ubi desinit p., ibi incipit medicus

Philosophy.

*Sel 2124 Corcut, could not your p. keep you safe?
*Sel 2130 upbraid'st thou me with my p. ?
1F 113 I'll have them read me strange p.
1F 133 p. is odious and obscure
2F 110 I'll have them read me strange p.
2F 127 p. is odious and obscure
E2 1889 make trial now of that [1612 omits; 1622, thy] p. that MP 412 can ne'er be good in logic or p.

Phineus.

*Loc 389 but lo ! proud P. with a band of men

Phlegethon.

*Sel 1198 'twere better for you run through P.
2T 880 Lethe, Styx, and P.
1F 903 and the fiery lake of ever-burning P.
2F 882 and the fiery lake of ever-burning P.
*Loc 1170 do plunge yourselves in Puryp.
*Loc 1465 chased from the nine-fold Pyrip.
*Loc 1640 I'd send thy soul to Pyrip.

Phlegmatic.

1F 221 by nature p., slow to wrath, and prone to lechery 2F 208 but that I am by nature p., slow to wrath

Phoeb.

*Sel 1509 that P. shall fly and hide him in the clouds
*Sel 2386 and P.'s bright globe bring the day from the West

Phoebe.

Ov 1799 with augurs Phoebus, P., with hunters stands
L 535 P., having fill'd her meeting horns to match
2T 2311 when wandering P.'s [4to Phoebus] ivory cheeks were scorch'd
*HLC 1611 and scarce durst up for fear of P.'s laughter
L 77 and P.'s wain chase Phoebus

Phoebus.

*Loc 440 where P. with the learned ladies nine
*Loc 758 where fiery P. in his chariot
1T 229 by east and west, as P. doth his course
2T 217 when P., leaping from his hemisphere
2T 694 gives light to P. and the fixed stars
2T 2311 when wandering Phoebe's [4to P.] ivory cheeks were scorch'd
JM 669 now, P., ope the eye-lids of the day
E2 1743 gallop a pace, bright P., through the sky
D 111 and P., as in Stygian pools, refrains to
*HLC 1082 and as P. throws his beams abroad
*HLC 1651 Aurora double grace obtain'd of her love P.
Ov 22 then scarce can P. say, « This harp is mine »
Ov 733 P. and Bacchus wish'd were hanging down
Ov 794 fair P. lead me to the Muses' springs
Ov 836 me let bright P. swell with cups full-flowing
Ov 1046 P. gave not [ed. C, to] Diana such, 'tis thought
Ov 1799 with augurs P., Phoebe with hunters stands
Ov 2147 I, the pure priest of P. and the Muses
Ov 2214 where Linus, by his father P. laid
Ov 2383 and P. had forsook my work begun !
L 78 Phoebe's wain chase P., and enrag'd affect his place
L 542 P. flying through the east
L 654 O P., shouldst thou with thy rays now singe the L 680 P., what rage is this ?
L 692 O P., show me Neptune's shore
*TT 977 Oh P. hadst thou never given consent *3H6 1210 O P. ! hadst thou never given consent, that 1T 1001 and all that pierceth P.' silver eye
*HLC 2052 mirror by which P.' love, green Tellus, decks her
*HLC 2110 marigolds, that deck the skies, P.' celestial flowers
Ov 1608 Sappho her vow'd harp lays at P.' feet
L 676 disclosing P.' fury in this sort

Phoenissa.

D 1157 let my P. grant, and then I go

Phoenix.

*Sel 458 the p. gazeth on the sun's bright beams
*Sel 2014 after he has five long ages liv'd, the sacred p.
*Sel 2028 thou wert the P. of this age of ours
Ov 1136 there lives the p., one alone bird ever *1H6 2133 but from their ashes shall be rear'd a p.
*TT 358 my ashes like the p. may bring forth a bird that *3H6 454 my ashes, as the p., may bring forth a bird, that Phrase.

*Loc 299 so not only, but also, (oh fine p. !)
*HLC 2410 accents, ps., that show all grief's wounds

Phrygia.

2T 1191 from the bounds of P. to the sea
L 199 ye gods of P. and Iülus' line

Phrygian.

*Loc 1015 brought to the ports of P. Tenedos
*Loc 1142 and if thou take not heed, proud P.
D 220 with twice twelve P. ships I plough'd the deep

D 449 our P. shepherd[s] hal'd within the gates
D 975 to see a P., far-fet o'er the sea, preferr'd
*Loc 409 Ps., under the conduct of Posthumius' son Phthia's.
Ov 1963 they say, Peneus near P. town did hide
Phyllis : see Phillis
Physic.
*Sel 1682 a cunning Jew, professing p.
2T 682 physicians, will no [8vo not] p. do her good ?
1F 45 the end of p. is our body's health
1F 55 P., farewell ! Where is Justinian ?
1F 134 both law and p. are for petty wits
2F 43 the end of p. is our body's health
2F 52 P., farewell ! Where is Justinian ?
2F 128 both law and p. are for petty wits
JM 924 being young, I studied p., and began to JM 1444 and p. will not help them ! they must die
MP 1039 ah, this sweet sight is p. to my soul !
*LD 10 when I bring you the book, take p., and keep state
*Epg 388 which doth of p. make a mockery
*Epg 429 doth practise p. ; and his credit grows
*Epg 442 and Philo to such patients giveth p.
*1H6 1248 and I will see what p. the tavern affords Physical.
*HLC 1268 the strange, yet p., events
Physician.
*Sel 498 in vain I send for the p., when 1F 42 be a p., Faustus ; heap up gold
2F 40 be a p., Faustus ; heap up gold
2T 682 ps., will no [8vo not] physic do her good ?
2T 2184 see, my ps., now, how Jove hath sent a present medicine 1F 76 these metaphysics of ps., and 1F 1481 if he be so, we'll have ps. to cure him 2F 1962 if it be so, we'll have ps., and Phyteus'.
2T 2316 thoughts as pure and fiery as P. [Dyce, conj. Pythius'] beams Picardy.
*1H6 610 Artois, Walloon, and P., are friends to us
*2H6 2140 and P. hath slain their governors Pick.
JM 22 without control can p. his riches up
JM 1900 O, if that be all, I can p. ope your locks
*2H6 2755 eat grass, or p. a sallet another while Pickedevaunts.
1F 362 you have seen many boys with such p. as I have Picking.
*Sel 1981 and your tongues from p. and stealing Pickled.
JM 2009 he lives upon p. grasshoppers and Pickled-herring.
2F 734 my godfathers were these, Peter P. and Pickle-herring.
1F 809 Peter P. and Martin Martlemas-beef
Picture.
*Sel 288 view in me the perfect p. of right tyranny
1TP 7 view but his p. in this tragic glass
2T 892 and here the p. of Zenocrate, to shew her beauty
2T 894 sweet p. of divine Zenocrate
2T 1450 image of sloth, and p. of a slave !
E2 423 here, take my p., and let me wear thine
*HLC 1417 and from thence she pluck'd his lovely p.
*HLC 1431 to fair Leander's p. sacrifice
*HLC 1450 and many more effects this p. wrought
*HLC 1627 Hero held Leander's p. as a Persian shield
*1H6 783 for in my gallery thy p. hangs
*1H6 2123 were but his p. left amongst you here
*E3 1625 What p.'s this ? — A pelican, my lord D 774 see where the ps. of my suitors hang
*Sel 854 Dionysius did p. out the image of a king Pictured.
*E3 1184 of resolution, and of cowardice, were lively p.
Piece.
*Sel 1714 I have a p. of service for you, sir 1F 998 keep out, for I am about a roaring p. of work
*HLC 1284 she every p. did lay upon an [V. R. the] altar
*HLC 1989 even the daintiest p. and noblest-born dame
*1H6 433 a p. of ordnance 'gainst it I have plac'd
*2H6 631 are deeply indebted for this p. of pains
*2H6 2984 and such a p. of service will you do
*Sel 849 thus is our mind in sundry ps. torn
*Sel 1298 by Tartar pirates all in ps. torn
*Sel 1968 I shall be torn in ps. with devils and goblins 1T 1677 first, legions of devils shall tear thee in ps.
1T 2104 tear me in ps.-give [8vo and give] me the sword 1F 395 into familiars, and they shall tear thee in ps.
1F 736 if thou repent, devils shall tear thee in ps.
1F 1525 but the devil threatened to tear me in ps., if 2F 370 and make them tear thee in ps.
2F 658 if thou repent, devils will tear thee in ps.
2F 2008 but the devil threatened to tear me in ps.
*FB 71 both legs and arms in ps. torn they see Ov 233 thy lightning can my life in ps. batter
*1H6 470 and spurn in ps. posts of adamant
*1H6 2087 hew them to ps., hack their bones asunder
*1H6 2511 break thou in ps., and consume to ashes
*2H6 288 and on the ps. of the broken wand were plac'd 1T 788 came creeping to us with their crowns a-p. [8vo apace]
*Con 1320 a hundred pounds a-p., either pay that or die
*E3 1705 and give to every one five crowns a-p.
Ov 474 and rivell'd cheeks, I would have pull'd a-ps.
*E3 1070 or hack'd a-ps. when thou com'st ashore
JM 2356 a warning-p. shall be shot off from the tower
JM 2344 in several places are field-ps. pitch'd Piece-meal.
*Sel 624 I soon should hew their bodies in p.
*Sel 1379 then tear the old man p. with my teeth
*Sel 1654 or hew thy body p. with our swords 1T 1464 so he bids that may command thee p. to be torn 2T 1110 will hew us p., put us to the wheel
2T 2319 and draw thee [4to me] p. like Hippolytus, through rocks
1F 1421 revolt, or I'll in p. tear thy flesh
2F 1879 revolt, or I'll in p. tear thy flesh
*HLC 1158 and spread her mantle p. in the air
*E3 100 he chance to tear him p. for his pride Piece-torn.
Ov 1087 for woful hairs let p. plumes abound
Pied.
*HLC 856 p. Vanity, the mint of strange attires
*HLC 1533 thy broken vow deceit with her p. garters must rejoin
*HLC 1578 p. wings shin'd out of her shoulders
*Ign 43 or some p. colours in my bonnet stick
*E3 322 earth doth boast his pride [Capell, proud, conj. p.], and parti-colour'd cost Pied-plumed.
*HLC 2066 turn'd her into the p. Psittacus
Pierce.
E2 (Title) and also the life and death of P. Gaveston

E2 1172 yet liveth P. of Gaveston unsurpris'd
E2 1315 I shall never see my lovely P. of Gaveston again
E2 1538 good P. of Gaveston, my sweet favourite
E2 1548 poor P., and headed him 'gainst law of arms
Dia 19 for P., the farmer's son, I fear, is like to Dia 22 and tell P. from me beside, that Dia 31 if he can dance as well as P.
*Sel 1784 and p. my poor heart with thy thrillant steel
*Loc 1340 or with my sword I'll p. thy coward's loins 1T 349 as if he meant to p. Avernus' darksome vaults [8vo vauts] 1T 492 proud is [4to in] his fortune if we p. it not 1T 2013 vollies of shot p. through thy charmed skin
1T 2095 p. through the centre of my wither'd heart 2T 211 fit objects for thy princely eye to p.
2T 390 p. the black circumference of hell
2T 728 death, whose darts do p. the centre of my soul
2T 769 thy words do p. my soul
2T 1020 I long to p. his [8vo the] bowels with my sword
2T 1503 whose scalding drops will p. thy seething brains
2T 1632 nor pistol, sword, nor lance, can p. your flesh
2T 1841 fall to the earth, and p. the pit of hell
2T 2136 let us charge our spears, and p. his breast
2T 2245 your pains do p. our souls
2T 2305 p. through the coffin and the sheet of gold 2F 1279 charms that shall p. through [1631, thorough] the ebon gates of JM 1194 and with my prayers p. impartial heavens
E2 41 dart her plumes, thinking to p. my breast
E2 2368 to p. the wind-pipe with a needle's point
D 471 which thousand battering-rams could never p.
D 1008 Aeneas ! no ; although his eyes do p.
*HLC 951 a music so divine did p. his ear
*HLC 1614 and Venus could not through the thick air p.
*Con 30 her looks did wound, but now her [Not in Q2] speech doth p.
*Con 432 to p. the bowels of this centric earth
*3H6 806 I come to p. it, or to give thee mine
*3H6 1350 her tears will p. into a marble heart

Pierced.
*Sel 1847 p. my body with their iron spears
*Loc 2045 would that this sword were p. in his heart !
1T 439 shall want my heart to be with gladness p.
2T 1095 I feel my liver p., and all my veins, that 2T 2269 p. with the joy of any dignity
E2 1882 p. deeply with sense of my distress
*HLC 999 she vanish'd, leaving p. Leander's heart
*HLC 1134 this was the point p. Hero to the heart
*HLC 1625 it p. so deeply, and it burn'd so blue
*HLC 1671 p. with our human miseries more than men Ov 2069 and p. my liver with sharp needles' [ed. A, had ... needle] points ?
*AT 72 p. through the eye and brain
*E3 1198 this soldier's words have p. thy father's heart

Pierceth.
*Loc 79 p. the skies, and, with the skies, the throne 1T 1001 and all that p. Phoebus' silver eye

Piercing.
*Sel 1330 dart down on him your p. lightning brand
*Loc 1241 or as the ploughman with his p. share
*Loc 1510 his wrathful eyes, p. like lynxe's eyes
1T 462 are fix'd his p. instruments of sight
*1H6 902 ay, sharp and p. to maintain the truth
*TT 364 so doves do peck the raven's p. talents
*3H6 460 so doves do peck the falcon's p. talons
*3H6 2622 have been as p. as the mid-day sun
*E3 274 to draw my subject eyes from p. majesty
*HLC 1313 but adumbrate only her most heart-p. parts
E2 413 rend not my heart with thy too-p. words

Pierian.
*HLC 1034 stood up to the chin in the P. flood
Ov 2217 P. dew to poets is distill'd !

Pierides.
1T 1033 song they sung for honour 'gainst P.

Pies.
*TT 2033 and chattering p. in dismal discord sung
*3H6 2900 and chattering p. in dismal discords sung

Piety.
JM 1252 pity in Jews, nor p. in Turks
D 79 what, is not p. exempt from woe ?
*HLC 1460 to follow love with zeal her p.
Ov 2208 the gods care we are call'd, and men of p.
*3H6 2581 to keep that oath, were more imp., than Jephtha, when Pigeons.

D 870 and thy fair peacocks by my p. perch
Ov 64 guiding the harmless p. with thy [Not in A] hand

Pigs.
Ov 2426 and little p., base hog-sties' sacrifice

Pigsney.
*Loc 346 O, my sweet and p., the fecundity of Pigwiggen.

*Sel 1974 as if I were master P. our constable

Pike.
*Con 1375 and put a long staff in thy p.
*Loc 748 amongst the dangers of the thick thronged ps.
1T 2012 enforce thee run upon the baneful ps. !
2T 291 and harmless run among the deadly ps.
2T 966 a peal of ordnance strike a ring of ps.
E2 1343 lo, with a band of bow-men and of ps.
D 492 and with main force flung on a ring of ps.
L 424 those of Bituriges, and light Axon ps.
*1H6 117 he wanted ps. to set before his archers
*3H6 253 the soldiers should have toss'd me on their ps.
*E3 221 a field of plate, a wood of ps. advanc'd
*E3 1259 fall numberless upon the soldiers' ps.
*E3 1868 his gilded upright ps. do seem straight trees of gold
*E3 2392 there twice as many ps., in quadrant-wise

Pile.
2F 1019 and on a p. of faggots burnt to death
JM 783 I'll sacrifice her on a p. of wood

Piled.
D 490 headless carcasses p. up in heaps

Pil'd-esteemed.
*1H6 451 death, rather than I would be so p. [? vild]

Pilfering.
*E3 1330 dost altogether live by p.

Pilgrimage.
*1H6 1082 in prison hast thou spent a p.

Pilgrims.
2T 899 as p. travel to our hemisphere
JM 951 once at Jerusalem, where the ps. kneel'd

Pilia.
JM 1756 is 't not a sweet faced youth, P. ?

Pilia-Borza.
JM 1135 and now, save P., comes there none
JM 1706 P., didst thou meet with Ithamore ?
JM 1975 prithee, P., bid the fiddler give me the posy

Pillage.
1T 1435 p. and murder are his usual trades
*1H6 2081 not born to be the p. of a giglot wench

*2H6 223 pirates may make cheap pennyworths of their p.
*E3 1344 how thou canst win this p. manfully
*E3 1367 to skirmish, not for p., but for the crown Pillaged.
JM 2282 within a town of war so lately p.
Pillar.
*Loc 166 and only p. of my weaken'd age
*Loc 1595 that as a p. might uphold our state 2T 882 this p., plac'd in memory of her
JM 618 that with a fiery p. ledd'st the sons of Israel
*Con 1922 ah, aged p. of all Cumberland's true house
*Sel 1473 ps. that support the image of true magnanimity?
1T 1324 the ps., that have bolster'd up those terms, are faln
2T 1861 Babylon, whose lofty ps., higher than the clouds
*Con 67 brave peers of England, ps. of the state
*2H6 73 brave peers of England, ps. of the state
*TT 878 and call them ps. that will stand to us
*3H6 1043 and call them ps. that will stand to us
*E3 2425 the ps. of his hearse shall be their bones Pilling.
1T 1343 the galleys and those p. brigandines, that Pillow.
HLM 750 and therefore let it rest upon thy p.
*Epg 346 and his wrought p. overspread with lawn
*Con 1242 and whispers to his p. as to him
*2H6 1981 he calls the king, and whispers to his p., as to him Pillowberes.
*Loc 1535 caves were my beds, and stones my p.
Pilot.
*Sel 1776 a restless p. for the charge unfit
*Sel 2421 nor dost thou like a wary p. sit 1T 1599 when the p. stands and views a stranger's ship rent
L 499 the p. from the helm leaps in the sea
*3H6 2686 yet lives our p. still
*3H6 2700 for once allow'd the skilful p.'s charge?
*TT 1882 and Ned and I as willing ps. should Pin.
1T 677 our crown the p. that thousands seek to cleave
*Con 1455 as for these silken-coated slaves I pass not a p.
*Con 1718 and swallow my sword like a great p.
*2H6 2775 and swallow my sword like a great p.
E2 769 and, being like ps.' heads, blame me for the bigness Pincers.
*HLC 1574 her arms were all with golden p. drest
Pinch.
1T 485 that could persuade, at such a sudden p.
*1H6 1822 not rascal-like to fall down with a p.
JM 2407 to p. me with intolerable pangs
Pinched.
*3H6 618 who having p. a few, and made them cry Pindus.
L 674 as Maenas [Old ed. Maenus] full of wine on P. raves
Pine.
Ov 1298 the lofty p. from high mount Pelion raught
L 571 shaking her snaky hair and crooked p.
*2H6 1033 thus droops this lofty p., and hangs his sprays
*E3 1075 seem'd as it were a grove of wither'd ps.
*E3 2397 a hazel-wand amidst a wood of ps.
JM 374 why p. not I, and die in this distress?
E2 458 speak not unto her: let her droop and p.
E2 855 thy absence made me droop and p. away
E2 1907 to fall on shore, and here to p. in fear of D 642 how long, fair Dido, shall I p. for thee?
*1H6 1023 within a loathsome dungeon, there to p.
*E3 286 lest yielding here I p. in shameful love
Pine: see Repine
Pine-bearing.
HLM 122 from steep p. mountains to the plain
L 390 as when against p. Ossa's rocks beats Thracian Boreas
L 688 thence to the p. hills
Pined.
1T 2092 and my p. soul, resolv'd in liquid air
HLM 43 some say, for her the fairest Cupid p.
HLM 136 p. as they went, and thinking on her died
HLM 694 as for his love both earth and heaven p.
*HLC 2219 do good, be p., — be deedless good, disgrac'd Pine-tree.
D 458 made him to think Epeus' p. horse a sacrifice
Pining.
2T 786 drooping and p. for Zenocrate
E2 1123 whose p. heart her inward sighs have blasted
*1H6 1488 see, see the p. malady of France
*Sel 2297 rep. at Mustaffa's dignity
'Pinion: see Opinion
Pinioned.
JM 923 see 'em go p. along by my door
*HLC 1402 p. with stories and Arachnean ditties Pinions.
Ov 1093 all you whose p. in the clear air soar
Pinnace.
*Con 1346 this villain being but captain of a p.
*2H6 2062 for whilst our p. anchors in the Downs
*2H6 2159 this villain here, being captain of a p.
Pinning.
JM 940 p. upon his breast a long great scroll Pint.
*Con 753 here Peter, here's a p. of claret-wine for thee Pioners.
1T 973 the captive p. of Argier cut off the water
2T 1046 these p. of Argiers in Africa
2T 1067 p., away!
Pious: see Impious and Impiously
Pipe.
D 441 whose ticing tongue was made of Hermes' p.
HLM 407 and sweetly on his p. began to play
Ov 2421 here, when the p. with solemn tunes doth sound
*Loc 1521 and from the day with water-flowing ps.
1T 974 water that by leaden ps. runs to the city
2T 1055 the leaden ps. that bring fresh water
E2 2368 to pierce the wind-p. with a needle's point
Piper.
2F 752 Away to hell, away! On, p.!
Piracy.
1T 1575 compact of rapine, p , and spoil
Pirate.
*Con 1348 mighty Abradas, the great Macedonian p.
*2H6 2160 threatens more than Bargulus, the strong Illyrian p.
*2H6 2731 is straightway calm [? calm'd], and boarded with a p.
*E3 1326 a thievish p., and a needy mate
*Sel 1298 by Tartar ps. all in pieces torn 1T 1150 these are the cruel ps. of Argier
L 336 what, now Sicilian ps. are suppress'd
L 347 say, Pompey, are these worse than ps. of Sicilia?
*Con 1370 and Suffolk dies by ps. on the seas
*2H6 223 ps. may make cheap pennyworths of their pillage

*2H6 2190 savage islanders Pompey the Great, and Suffolk dies by ps.
L 123 would dash the wreath thou war'st for ps.' wreck
Pissing-conduit.
*Con 1551 the p. run nothing but red wine
*2H6 2480 the p. run nothing but claret-wine
'Pistle : see Epistle
Pistol.
2T 1632 nor p., sword, nor lance, can pierce your flesh
Pit.
2T 1841 fall to the earth, and pierce the p. of hell
JM 2353 doth sink into a deep p. past recovery
MP 978 and perish in the p. thou mad'st for me
*Loc 1794 and shroud themselves in hideous hollow ps.
*Loc 1866 within the bottomless Abyssus' ps.
JM (Title) by her Majesty's servants at the Cock-p.
*JMD 5 I ushered it unto the court, and presented it to the Cock-p.
*Epg 547 to Paris-garden, Cock-p., or the play Pitch.
*HLC 1621 melted like p., as blue as any vein
*1H6 2476 place barrels of p. upon the fatal stake
*Con 1631 and fetch p. and flax and squench [Q3 quench] it
*2H6 889 convers'd with such, as like to p., defile nobility 1T 460 'twixt his manly p. a pearl more worth than 2T 818 and raise our honours to as high a p.
*1H6 803 it is of such a spacious lofty p.
*1H6 842 between two hawks, which flies the higher p.
*Con 478 master soars a falcon's p. [Q1 Q2 master loves to be aloft]
*Con 481 that can soar no higher than a falcon's p. [So Q1 Q2]
*2H6 675 and what a p. she flew above the rest
*2H6 681 and bears his thoughts above his falcon's p.
*E3 422 fly it a p. above the soar of praise
2T 2085 Hell and Darkness p. their pitchy tents
2F 1475 then p. them headlong to the lowest hell
D 941 huntsmen, why p. you not your toils apace
*1H6 1202 the very parings of our nails shall p. a field
*Con 1911 and here I stand, and p. my foot to thine
*TT 749 p. we our battle here, for hence we will not move
*TT 1506 p. up my tent, for in the field this night I mean
*3H6 2746 here p. our battle, hence we will not budge
*E3 1106 shall p. your battles on the lower hand
*E3 1734 I'll p. my tent near to the sandy shore Pitched.
*Sel 1212 spears be p. thick under the castle wall
*Loc 116 in p. field encounter'd me and mine
*Loc 411 have p. up lordly pavilions
*Loc 1761 and have they p. their petty host so close 1T 532 and p. our tents under the Georgian hills
1T 1552 your tents of white now p. before the gates
2T 120 our tents are p., our men stand [4to are] in array
2T 487 his army, p. against our power
2T 851 our battle, then, in martial manner p.
JM 2344 in several places are field-pieces p.
MP 54 trap, which he hath p. within his deadly toil
L 544 headlong p. her burning head on bending Hespery
*1H6 119 stakes pluck'd out of hedges they p. in the ground *1H6 1796 on either hand thee, there are squadrons p.
*TT 1602 what ? loss of some p. battle against Warwick
*3H6 2164 what loss of some p. battle against Warwick ?
*E3 1446 that ever yet thou fought'st in p. field Pitcher.
Ov 531 when on her head a water-p. lay'd Pitcheth.
1T 1418 the first day when he p. down his tents
Pitchy.
*Sel 1810 but let thy p. steeds aye draw thy wain
1T 2087 engirt with tempests, wrapt in p. clouds
2T 1490 cloth'd with a p. cloud for being seen
2T 2085 Hell and Darkness pitch their p. tents
1F 246 and dims the welkin with her p. breath
2F 233 and dims the welkin with her [1624, 1631, his] p. breath
*1H6 686 night is fled, whose p. mantle over-veil'd the earth
*TT 2071 but I will sort a p. day for thee
*3H6 2938 but I will sort a p. day for thee Piteous.
E2 2503 to see a king in this most p. state ?
D 746 which p. wants if Dido will supply, we
*HLC 1160 and with a p. shriek enforc'd her swoun
*HLC 1544 from her grief-burst veins, in p. flood
*1H6 190 or p. they will look, like drown'd mice
*TT 482 and say, alas, it was a p. deed
*3H6 585 and say, alas, it was a p. deed
*3H6 1134 O p. spectacle ! O bloody times !
*TT 542 the p. spectacle that ere mine eyes beheld Piteously.
Ov 2200 how p. with drooping wings he stands
Pith.
Ov 1281 though I am slender, I have store of p.
Pithless.
*1H6 977 and p. arms, like to a wither'd vine Pitho.
Ov 2063 and Libas and the white-cheek'd P. thrice
Pitied.
*Loc 1286 the gods that p. thy continual grief
2T 1829 whose state he [8vo was] ever p. and reliev'd JMP 27 let me be envied and not p.
JM 119 than p. in a Christian poverty
E2 426 't is something to be p. of a king
E2 2140 mine enemy hath p. my estate
E2 2293 and so must die, though p. by many *3H6 1348 for she's a woman to be p. much Pitied'st.
*TT 1032 thou p. York, and I am son to York
*TT 1033 thou p. Rutland, and I will pity thee
*3H6 1275 thou p. Rutland, I will pity thee Pitiest.
2T 761 if thou p. Tamburlaine the Great Pitiful.
*Sel 1295 p. spectacle of sad dreeriment !
*Sel 1296 p. spectacle of dismal death !
*Sel 2268 shall aby at a dear price his p. intent
*Loc 343 told me a p. story of your anguish
2T 998 methinks, 't is a p. sight
E2 2181 the Lord of Berkeley is so p.
E2 2654 think not to find me slack or p.
D 451 to whom he us'd action so p., looks so remorseful
*LD 12 sweat with the invention of some p. dry jest
*1H6 1209 who should be p., if you be not ?
*1H6 1635 the p. complaints of such as your oppression
*TT 1136 be p. then dread lord and grant it them
*TT 460 women are mild, p., and flexible
*3H6 562 women are soft, mild, p., and flexible
*3H6 1448 be p., dread lord, and grant it then
*E3 407 and make a flint-heart Scythian p.
Pitiless.
*Sel 1321 the p. Erynnis arm'd with whips
JM 2389 governor, why stand you all so p. ?

Pittering.
*Sel 505 and when his p. streams are low and thin
*Loc 446 moving the p. leaves of Sylvan's woods Pity.
*Sel 471 which, who so mov'd with foolish p. hears
*Sel 1224 if ever p. enterèd thy breast
*Sel 2088 the more's the p.
*Sel 2294 yet I took p. on your danger there
*Sel 2330 'twere p. thou shouldst want the company of
*Loc 1372 take p. on poor Estrild's wretched thrall
*Loc 1745 all childish p. henceforth then farewell !
1T 986 'tis more than p. such a heavenly face should 1T 1564 yet would you have some p. for my sake
1T 1843 we entreat grace to our words and p. to our looks 1T 2063 that would with p. cheer Zabina's heart
1T 2160 contempt of earthly fortune and respect of p.
2T 823 Jove, surcharg'd with p. of our wrongs
2T 1109 Moors, in whom was never p. found
2T 1158 take p. of a lady's ruthful tears
2F 1856 and p. of thy future misery
JM 343 unless your unrelenting flinty hearts suppress all p.
JM 1252 p. in Jews, nor piety in Turks
JM 2390 should I in p. of thy plaints or thee
E2 1943 my heart with p. earns to see this sight
D 131 and therefore will take p. on his toil
D 1575 and I for p. harbour'd in my bosom
HLM 714 in gentle breasts relenting thoughts, remorse, and p. rests
HLM 717 the god, seeing him with p. to be mov'd
HLM 797 love is not full of p., as men say
*HLC 1665 and p. did the heart of heaven confound
*HLC 1697 and high in her worst fate make p. sit
*HLC 2347 he would some p. on his Hero take
*HLC 2429 Neptune for p. in his arms did take them
Ov 403 now Mars doth rage abroad without all p.
Ov 1402 on labouring women thou dost p. take
*1H6 1053 again, in p. of my hard distress
*Con 922 p. was all the fault that was in me
*2H6 1338 p. was all the fault that was in me
*2H6 1439 cold in great affairs, too full of foolish p.
*2H6 2555 which makes me hope you are not void of p.
*2H6 3104 henceforth, I will not have to do with p.
*TT 320 ay, such p. as my rapier's point affords
*TT 680 lenity, and harmful p. must be laid aside
*TT 704 were it not p. that this goodly boy, should *TT 726 this harmful p. makes your followers faint
*TT 825 and we in p. of the gentle king, had *TT 991 and at their hand I have deserv'd no p.
*TT 1135 were it not p. they should lose their father's lands ?
*TT 1423 'twere a [Q3 omits] p. to sunder them that yoke so well together
*TT 2053 I that have neither p., love nor fear
*3H6 404 such p. as my rapier's point affords
*3H6 822 this too much lenity and harmful p. must be *3H6 846 were it not p. that this goodly boy should lose *3H6 974 and we in p. of the gentle king, had *3H6 1225 for at their hands, I have deserv'd no p.
*3H6 1446 'twere p. they should lose their father's lands
*3H6 1932 ay, and 'twere p., to sunder them, that yoke
*3H6 2466 my p. hath been balm to heal their wounds
*3H6 2921 I that have neither p., love, nor fear
*E3 203 cry out, « Enough ; spare England now for p. »
*E3 2267 ah, noble prince, take p. on this town
*HLC 1549 when P.'s queen, the goddess Ecte, that *HLC 2349 but Glory never blows cold P.'s fires
*Sel 871 good Bajazet, who would not p. thee
*Sel 1233 dost thou not p. Alemshac in me ?
*Sel 1626 and who art thou that thus dost p. us ?
1T 196 ah, shepherd, p. my distressèd plight !
1T 1747 some happy power will p. and enlarge us
1T 1872 p. our plights ! O, p. poor Damascus !
1T 1873 p. old age, within whose silver hairs honour and 1T 1875 p. the marriage-bed, where many a lord, in prime 1T 1891 p., O, p., sacred emperor, the prostrate 1T 1911 O, p. us !
2T 167 p. the ruthful plight of Callapine
2T 171 I p. it, and with my heart wish
2T 1594 Olympia, p. him in whom thy looks have greater operation
2T 1599 ah, p. me, my lord, and draw your sword
2T 1747 O p. us, my lord, and save our honours !
2T 1824 that Tamburlaine may p. our distress
1F 659 Faustus, repent ; yet God will p. thee
1F 660 thou art a spirit ; God cannot p. thee
1F 662 be I a devil, yet God may p. me
1F 663 ay, God will p. me, if I repent
2F 582 Faustus, repent ; yet God will p. thee
2F 583 thou art a spirit ; God cannot p. thee
2F 585 be I a devil, yet God may p. me
2F 586 yea, God will p. me, if I repent
2F 1487 p. us, gentle Faustus ! save our lives !
JM 523 p. the state of a distressèd maid !
JM 599 to love, or, at the least, to p.
JM 913 be mov'd at nothing, see thou p. none
E2 375 you that be [1612, 1622, are] noble-born should p. him
E2 2093 what, are you mov'd ? p. you me ?
E2 2338 the commons now begin to p. him
E2 2627 for my sake, sweet son, p. Mortimer !
E2 2658 and I shall p. her, if she speak again
MP 216 though gentle minds should p. others' pains
MP 223 than p. or relieve these upstart heretics
D 127 for my sake, p. him, Oceanus
D 1587 though thou nor he will p. me a whit
D 1736 that gods and men may p. this my death
*HLC 1226 O goddess, p. love, and pardon it ! »
*1H6 1176 p. the city of London, p. us
*2H6 580 I cannot fight ; for God's sake p. my case
*TT 319 to thee I pray : sweet Clifford p. me
*TT 324 thou hast one son, for his sake p. me
*TT 990 the foe is merciless and will not p. me
*TT 1033 thou pitied'st Rutland, and I will p. thee
*TT 1408 not that I p. Henry's misery, but *3H6 403 to thee I pray ; sweet Clifford p. me
*3H6 408 thou hast one son, for his sake p. me
*3H6 1149 O p. God, this miserable age !
*3H6 1157 O p., p., gentle heaven p.
*3H6 1224 the foe is merciless, and will not p.
*3H6 1275 thou pitied'st Rutland, I will p. thee
*3H6 1906 not that I p. Henry's misery, but Pitying.
*Sel 877 yet we will not, for p. his estate
D 1114 now, if thou be'st a p. god of power
HLM 598 as p. these poor lovers, downward [V. R. downewards] creeps
*E3 1932 p. thy youth is so engirt with peril Pity-sake.
HLM 745 « If not for love, yet, love, for p.
Placable.
*SP 10 character in blood the image of an un*p.* king

Place.

*Sel 243 reproach, than filial duty in so high a p.
*Sel 839 if he were, in the p. of Bajazet
*Sel 1434 that, if himself had but been in thy p.
*Loc 66 triumphantly in every p. we came
*Loc 601 have pester'd every p. with mutinies
*Loc 638 P. ! Ha ! ha ! ha !
*Loc 639 P.! I cry God mercy ! Why, do you think
*Loc 743 hadst thou no p. to spit thy venom out
*Loc 755 allot me but the p. where I may find
*Loc 976 and every p. is strew'd with carcasses
*Loc 1410 what basilisk was hatched in this p. ?
*Loc 1585 and Humber's paramour possess her p.
*Loc 2018 and, for because this river was the p.
1T 716 and give you equal p. in our affairs
1T 1524 is this a p. for mighty Bajazeth ?
1T 1774 as far as from the frozen plage [Old eds. p.] of heaven
2T 68 from Scythia to the oriental plage [4to P.] of India 2T 583 nor is in one p. circumscriptible
2T 782 because this p. bereft me of my love
2T 957 invincible by nature [4to by the nature] of the p.
2T 1581 I saw the p. obscure and dark
2T 1870 the p., where fair Semiramis, courted by kings and peers
2T 2255 resign my p. and proper title to my son
1F 223 to come within forty foot of the p. of execution
1F 535 I see it plain ; here in this p. is writ
1F 574 tell me, where is the p. that men call hell ?
2F 210 to come within forty foot of the p. of execution
2F 522 tell me, where is the [1624, 1631, that] p. that men call hell ?
2F 1421 O, were that damned hell-hound but in p.
2F 1735 ay ; but, Sir Saucebox, know you in what p. ?
*FB 44 and then return'd unto my native p.
JM 633 about the p. where treasure hath been hid
JM 638 so good as but to be about this happy p. !
JM 810 and made my house a p. for nuns most chaste
JM 1161 this is the p. : now Abigail shall see
JM 2107 one that can spy a p. where you may enter
JM 2164 no simple p., no small authority
JM 2202 to dispossess himself of such a p. ?
E2 181 thou shouldst not plod one foot beyond this p.
E2 658 deserve no common p. nor mean reward
E2 1453 and in this p. of honour and of trust
E2 1986 till you come to the p. appointed
E2 2207 remove him still from p. to p. by night
E2 2406 the trumpets sound ; I must go take my p.
E2 2493 Foh, here's a p. indeed, with all my heart !
E2 2634 and, seeing there was no p. to mount up higher MP 501 he becomes the p. so well as I could MP 613 no person, p., or time, or circumstance
MP 671 may come and meet me in some p.
MP 718 Spain is the p. where he makes peace and war
MP 750 and p. ourselves in order for the fight
D 268 there is a p., Hesperia term'd by us
D 387 sit down, Aeneas, sit in Dido's p.
D 390 this p. beseems me not ; O, pardon me !
D 1700 so, leave me now ; let none approach this p.
HLM 278 nor hath it any p. of residence
HLM 470 and Jupiter unto his p. restor'd HLM 617 air thrust from his sphere, set in a foreign p.
HLM 752 and in her lukewarm p. Leander lay
*HLC 1093 at the eye, as the most pregnant p.
*HLC 1116 they shifted p. as either list
*HLC 1245 she view'd Leander's p., and wish'd
*HLC 1246 wish'd he were turn'd to his p., so his p. were Leander
*HLC 1249 not gone hence, had he been like his p.
*HLC 1249 O blessed p., image of constancy !
*HLC 1255 this p. was mine ; Leander, now 'tis thine
*HLC 1262 dear p., I kiss thee, and do welcome thee
*HLC 1282 now from Leander's p. she rose [V. R. arose]
*HLC 1890 female pride loathing the lower p.
Ov 104 my spotless life, which but to gods gives [A, give] p.
Ov 173 the thing and p. shall counsel us the rest
Ov 238 for what entreats for thee sometimes took p.
Ov 360 put in their p. thy kembèd [Old eds. keembed] hairs again
Ov 679 how oft wish'd I night would not give thee p.
Ov 791 to verse let kings give p. [ed. A, let kings give p. to verse]
Ov 834 kings shall give p. to it, and kingly shows
Ov 1476 I would not out, might I in one p. hit Ov 1621 and may repulse p. for our wishes strike
Ov 1679 'tis credible some god-head [Old eds. good head] haunts the p.
Ov 1802 champions please [ed. B, pleace ; C, p.] Pollux, Castor loves horsemen more Ov 1832 pay it not here, but in another p.
Ov 1975 the stream charg'd, gave p.
Ov 2103 and one gave p. still as another came Ov 2123 to cover it, spilt water on [ed. A, in] the p.
Ov 2300 where Ceres went, each p. was harvest there
Ov 2323 when I to watch supplied a servant's p.
*LD 13 when you have found a p. for them to come in at L 51 nature and every power shall give thee p.
L 58 the midst is best ; that p. is pure and bright
L 78 chase Phoebus, and enrag'd affect his p.
L 125 and thoughts that always scorn'd a second p.
L 607 inters with murmurs dolorous, and calls the p. Bidental
*Epg 37 leaving the best and most conspicuous p.
*Epg 42 and such a p. where all may have [MS. men may] resort
*Epg 81 to every p. about the town doth ride
*Epg 92 thy pleasure's p. like a buff-jerkin lasteth
*Epg 122 mislikes the p., and fled into his feet
*Epg 144 some laugh'd a little ; she forsook [B, C, refus'd] the p.
*1H6 174 each hath his p. and function to attend
*1H6 240 Reignier stand thou as dauphin in my p.
*1H6 372 I'll use, to carry thee out of this p.
*1H6 375 draw men, for all this privileg'd p.
*1H6 483 where is best p. to make our battery next ?
*1H6 676 they found some p., but weakly guarded
*1H6 1072 cloy'd with long continuance in a settled p.
*1H6 1103 presumptuous priest, this p. commands my patience
*1H6 1390 we will bestow you in some better p.
*1H6 1453 we'll set thy statue in some holy p.
*1H6 1461 France were no p. for Henry's warriors
*1H6 1559 and in our coronation take your p.
*1H6 1854 doth stop my cornets, were in Talbot's p.
*Con 238 but I have gold comes from another p.
*Con 319 let Somerset enjoy his p. and go to France
*Con 326 all in this p. are thy betters far
*Con 393 my noble uncle had been here in p.
*Con 687 and in this private p. be we the first to honour him
*Con 1190 if Suffolk be found to breathe in any p., where

*Con 1613 termed it the civil'st p. of all this land
*Con 1639 Dick follow thy suit in her common p.
*2H6 171 pride and greatness of his p. be grief to us
*2H6 470 if Somerset be unworthy of the p.
*2H6 486 and at his pleasure will resign my p.
*2H6 511 though in this p. most master wear no breeches *2H6 532 next, if I be appointed for the p.
*2H6 574 for single combat, in convenient p.
*2H6 993 from thence, unto the p. of execution
*2H6 1947 nor let the rain of heaven wet this p.
*2H6 2552 is term'd the civil'st p. of all this isle
*2H6 2667 alas, he hath no home, no p. to fly to *2H6 2933 give p. : by heaven thou shalt rule no more o'er him
*TT 952 I'll bear thee hence from this accursed p.
*TT 1045 and rear it in the p. your father's stands
*TT 1482 for as I hear, she was then in p. ?
*TT 1939 his currish riddles sorts not with this p.
*3H6 308 Henry had none, but did usurp the p.
*3H6 1288 head, and rear it in the p. your father's stands
*3H6 1328 thy p. is fill'd, thy sceptre wrung from thee
*3H6 1364 to strengthen and support King Edward's p.
*3H6 2015 for I have heard, that she was there in p.
*3H6 2262 for choosing me, when Clarence is in p.
*3H6 2281 shadow to Henry's body, and supply his p.
*3H6 2788 his currish riddles sorts not with this p.
*E3 66 and he himself will repossess the p.
*E3 105 viper to the p. where thou wast foster'd
*E3 224 will bring the hindmost rank unto this p.
*E3 296 far from this p. let ugly treason lie !
*E3 780 that is committed in a holy p.
*E3 1036 that drink and swill in every p. they come
*E3 1327 one, that hath either no abiding p., or
*E3 1507 no sooner in the fore-front took their p., but *E3 2115 and as thou travell'st westward from this p.
*E3 2337 had but your gracious self been there in p.
*E3 2354 and John [Old eds. Charles] de Mountford, regent of that p.
Ov 1768 the p.'s laws this benefit allow *1H6 918 he bears him on the p.'s privilege
*Loc 680 depopulate the ps. where they come
1T 2320 mount up your royal ps. of state
1F 584 all ps. shall be hell that is [Dyce, are] not heaven
2F 532 all ps. shall be hell that is [1624, 1631, and Dyce, are] not heaven
JM 2344 in several ps. are field-pieces pitch'd
E2 2136 whither you will : all ps. are alike
MP 407 my ps., being but three, contain all his
*HLC 1497 as if their lives were cut out by their ps.
Ov 1122 supplying their void ps. with the worst
Ov 1223 his sword laid by, safe, though rude ps. yields
Ov 1602 and writings did from divers ps. frame
Ov 1691 the Lydian buskin in fit paces [Old eds. buskin fit ps.] kept her
Ov 1981 stray'd bare-foot through sole ps. on a time
*Epg 473 persons, times, and ps., still he frames to every tale
*1H6 601 sirs, take your ps., and be vigilant
*2H6 1618 lords take your ps. : and I pray you all proceed
*E3 1104 'tis best we be dispers'd to several ps.
*2H6 2979 if thou dar'st bring them to the baiting-p.
*2H6 2808 wither garden, and be henceforth a burying-p.
*Loc 637 where are your houses ? where's your dwelling-p. ?
*1H6 405 to repair to your several dwelling-ps.
*1H6 1256 especially for those occasions at Eltham-P.
JM 730 this is the market-p., here let 'em stand
JM 830 come, then, here's the market-p.
L 238 the soldiers having won the market-p.
*1H6 458 in open market-p. produc'd they me
*1H6 689 and here advance it in the market-p.
1F 877 but tell me now what resting-p. is this ?
2F 855 but tell me [Not in 1624] now, what resting-p. is this ?
1F 580 nor is circumscribed in one self-p.
2F 528 no limits, nor is circumscrib'd in one self-p.
*3H6 1323 in this self-p., where now we mean to stand
*Sel 2027 thy woeful son Selimus thus doth p.
*Loc 686 and p. them in the grove of Caledon
*Loc 2033 and p. young Locrine in his father's tomb
1T 863 and p. himself in the empyreal heaven
1T 2148 and p. their chiefest good in earthly pomp
2T 328 and he that means to p. himself therein
2T 945 casemates to p. the great [4to greatst] artillery 2F 1407 and p. our servants and our followers close in 2F 1419 where shall we p. ourselves, Benvolio ?
JM 1370 there, Ithamore, must thou go p. this plot [Dyce, pot]
JM 1635 why, true ; therefore did I p. him there
JM 2295 except he p. his tables in the streets
E2 305 your grace doth well to p. him by your side
MP 423 go p. some men upon the bridge
Ov 617 and in the midst of Venus' temple p. them
*1H6 1304 take heed, be wary how you p. your words
*1H6 2476 p. barrels of pitch upon the fatal stake
*2H6 1464 as p. Duke Humphrey for the king's protector?
*TT 1246 and p. King Henry in his former rule
*3H6 1566 to take their rooms, ere I can p. myself
*E3 41 p. the true shepherd of our commonwealth
*Sel 245 and seek with sword whole kingdoms to dis*p.*

Placed.

*Sel 855 when Damocles was p. in his throne
*Loc 141 and in that isle at length I p. you
*Loc 1523 where I have p. fair Estrild secretly 1T 460 a pearl more worth than all the world is p.
1T 887 if Tamburlaine be p. in Persia
1T 1261 base concubine, must thou be p. by me
2T 2 p. by the issue of great Bajazeth
2T 265 p. by her side, look on their mother's face
2T 882 this pillar, p. in memory of her 2T 886 and here this mournful streamer shall be p.
2T 1775 there my palace royal shall be p.
2T 2094, 2119 earth droops, and says that hell in heaven is p.
2T 2290 let it be p. by this my fatal chair
MP 296 the Admiral's guard, p. by my brother
*HLC 1424 Nature had p. in it to make it known
*Ign 16 with the base-viol p. between my thighs
*1H6 133 he being in the vaward, p. behind
*1H6 433 a piece of ordnance 'gainst it I have p.
*1H6 2403 words sweetly p., and modestly directed
*1H6 2550 thou shalt be p. as viceroy under him
*Con 183 and on the ends were p., the heads of *2H6 289 were p. the heads of Edmund Duke of Somerset
*2H6 454 and p. a choir of such enticing birds, that
*TT 1013 your father's head which Clifford p. there
*TT 1228 and p. an envious mountain on my back
*TT 1268 hath p. thy glorious image and thy virtues
*3H6 1253 your father's head, which Clifford p. there
*3H6 1698 hath p. thy beauty's image, and thy virtue
*E3 526 thou shouldst have p. this here, this other here
*Sel 2517 disgra'ct, disp., I longer loathe to live

Ov 2480 like one start up, your hair toss'd and disp.
Placer.
JM 673 Hermoso p. de los dineros
Placet.
MP 873 whilst I cry p., like a senator !
Placing.
JM 457 I left the governor p. nuns, disp. me
*1H6 1429 p. therein some expert officers Plackets.
*Loc 1081 this it is to be meddling with warm p.
1F 444 O, I'll tickle the pretty wenches' p. !
Plage.
1T 1774 as far as from the frozen p. [Old eds. place] of heaven
2T 68 from Scythia to the oriental p. [4to Place] of India Plague.
*Sel 1803 and bring a general p. on all the world
*Loc 1728 this open wrong must have an open p.
*Loc 1729 this p. must be repaid with grievous war
1F 49 whereby whole cities have escap'd the p.
1F 614 a p. on her for a hot whore !
2F 46 whereby whole cities have escap'd the p.
2F 794 a p. take you ! I thought you did not sneak 2F 1176 a p. take you ! I thought 'twas your knavery to 2F 1342 a p. upon you ! let me sleep a while 2F 1613 You know Doctor Faustus ? — Ay, a p. take him !
JM 462 you partial heavens, have I deserv'd this p. ?
E2 567 for purging of the realm of such a p.
*HLC 878 for lust's p., doth perish with possessing L 644 Rome, thy citizens are near some p.
L 648 with what p. mean ye to rage ?
*Epg 472 all the widows which [MS. that] the p. hath made
*1H6 1838 a p. upon that villain Somerset
*Con 1201 a p. upon them all, wherefore should I curse them ?
*2H6 1915 a p. upon them : wherefore should I curse them?
*TT 1941 ay, thou wast born to be a p. to men
*3H6 2790 ay, thou wast born to be a p. to men
*Sel 1323 to pour their ps. on cursèd Acomat
*Loc 1632 and pour their ps. upon thy cursed head
*Loc 1804 and pour thy ps. on cursed Locrine's head 1T 1082 then haste, Agydas, and prevent the ps. which 1T 1612 feel such ps. as heaven and we can pour on him
JM 363 the ps. of Egypt, and the curse of heaven
*HLC 1405 unsavoury fumes, that air with ps. inspir'd
L 32 these ps. arise from wreak of civil power
*Con 1347 threatens more ps. than mighty Abradas
*Sel 513 where he may p. those Christian runnagates
2T 1149 when he shall bid them p. the world
2T 1516 p. such peasants [4to parsants] as resist
2F 1477 and hell shall after p. their treachery
E2 2401 mine enemies will I p., my friends advance
Ov 1446 to p. your bodies with such harmful strokes ?
*1H6 2573 or we will p. thee with incessant wars
*TT 1940 by heaven brat I'll p. you for that word
*3H6 2588 to p. thee, for thy foul misleading me
*3H6 2789 by heaven, brat, I'll p. ye for that word Plagued.
1F 1593 but mine must live still to be p. in hell
2F 1032 the Cardinals will be p. for this anon
2F 2122 but mine must live still to be p. in hell
L 108 being conquer'd, we are p. with civil war
Plaguy.
JM 942 but mark how I am blest for p. them
*1H6 2258 a p. mischief light on Charles
*Epg 207 the siege of Boulogne, and the p. sweat Plain.
HLM 122 from steep pine-bearing mountains to the p.
Ov 16 and quiver-bearing Dian till the p. ?
L 470 upon Minerva's p., where bulls are graz'd
*E3 1439 now on this p. of Cressy spread yourselves
*Sel 675 leaving his body naked on the ps.
*Loc 433 the ps., my lord, garnish'd with Flora's wealth
*Loc 608 cam'st thou through the ps. ?
*Loc 617 fetching careers along the spacious ps.
*Loc 968 which shall be made upon the virent ps.
*Loc 982 the grassy ps., that now do please thine eyes
*Loc 1415 breathed forth poison in these tender ps.?
*Loc 1468 scatter'd huge Hydras over all the ps.
*Loc 1802 lo where their army glistereth on the ps.
*Loc 964 posteth his horses to fair Thetis ps.
*Loc 1179 that did not drown me in fair Thetis' ps. !
1T 557 scouting abroad upon these champion ps.
2T 107 my royal host, that hides these ps.
2T 402 banquet on these ps. a while 2T 636 amidst these ps. for fowls to prey upon 2T 878 singe these fair ps., and make them
2T 1073 a hundred horse shall scout about the ps.
2T 1193 the hills, the valleys, and the ps.
2T 1732 fought so lion-like upon Asphaltis' ps. ?
2T 250 now rest thee here on fair Larissa-ps.
2T 352 promis'd to meet me on Larissa-ps.
2T 901 thou shalt not beautify Larissa-ps.
D 1343 is this the wood that grew in Carthage ps.
Ov 712 such as, in hilly Ida's watery ps.
L 1 wars worse than civil on Thessalian ps.
L 680 and under Haemus' mount, Philippi ps.
*Con 443 safer shall he be upon the sandy ps.
*Con 621 for safer shall he be upon the sandy ps.
*2H6 623 safer shall he be upon the sandy ps.
*2H6 654 Safer shall he be upon the sandy ps.
*E3 1315 he hath withdrawn himself to Cressy ps.
*Loc 358 tell your tale in p. terms
*Loc 361 but to speak in p. terms
*Loc 1062 if you be p., mistress Driggle-draggle
2T 951 by p. and easy demonstration
JM 1866 « Barabas, send me three hundred crowns ; — » p. Barabas !
HLM 569 as in p. terms, yet cunning, he craved [Dyce, crave] it
*HLC 1001 in which, with p. neglect of nuptial rites
*HLC 2015 nothing they spake, for 'twas esteem'd too p. for Ov 538 while thou wert p., I lov'd thy mind and face *1H6 1300 which is so p., that Exeter doth wish his *1H6 1629 no more but p. and bluntly ? (To the King)
*Con 681 what p. [Q3 omits] proceedings can be more p.
*2H6 356 yet I do find it so : for to be p., they *2H6 955 what p. proceedings is more p. than this ?
*3H6 1650 be p., Queen Margaret, and tell thy grief
*E3 315 swain, whose habit rude, and manners blunt and p.
*E3 1117 and bring he ne'er so p. a pedigree, 'tis you are
*E3 1909 what tidings, messenger ? be p. and brief
1F 535 I see it p. ; here in this place is writ 2F 483 I see it p. ; even here is writ, Homo, fuge 2F 1329 Faustus, I see it p.
*TT 1158 to tell you p. my lord, I had rather lie in prison
*3H6 1494 to tell thee p., I aim to lie with thee
*3H6 1495 to tell you p., I had rather lie in prison
E2 2013 to p. me to the gods against them both
D 250 and p. to him the sum of your distress

Ov 2369 or shall I p. some god against me wars ?
L 37 we p. not, heavens, but gladly bear these evils
Plain-dealing.
*2H6 2298 a mark to thyself, like a honest p. man ?
Plainer.
*Sel 490 although I see it p. than the light
E2 1468 and bid me say, as p. to your grace
Plainest.
Ov 5 if, reading five, thou p. of tediousness
Plaining.
D 1103 hear, hear, O, hear Iarbas' p. prayers
Plainly.
*Loc 1893 wherein, as in a glass, we p. see
JM 2191 now tell me, governor, and p., too
MP 859 my lord, to speak more p., thus it is E2 2614 speaks, and p. saith, 'twas thou that murder'dst him
Ov 2032 to this I fondly loves to floods [ed. C. floude] told p.
*TT 2061 and so I was indeed, which p. signified, that *3H6 1915 I mind to tell him p. what I think
*3H6 2929 which p. signified, that I should snarl, and bite Plainness.
*1H6 877 then for the truth and p. of the case
*Con 124 thy simple p. and thy house-keeping, hath *2H6 189 thy deeds, thy p., and thy house-keeping Plaint.
*Sel 1758 or what shall I first reckon in my p. ?
*Sel 450 and feignèd ps., his subtle tongue doth file
JM 2390 should I in pity of thy ps. and thee
E2 1590 that Isabel shall make her ps. in vain
MP 539 shall drive no ps. into the Guise's ears
D 140 whiles my Aeneas spends himself in ps.
D 1644 my tears nor ps. could mollify a whit
*HLC 2426 and leave poor ps. to us that shall succeed
*TT 988 bootless are ps., and cureless are my wounds
*3H6 1222 bootless are ps., and cureless are my wounds
*3H6 1353 tainted with remorse, to hear and see her ps.
Plane.
E2 94 the sword shall p. the furrows of thy brows
Planeting.
L 640 for skill in stars and tuneful p.
Planets.
HLM 367 like a p. moving several ways at one self instant
*2H6 2417 face, rul'd like a wandering p. over me
1T 871 and measure every wandering p.'s course
*Loc 287 the four elements, the seven ps., and 1T 19 and through [8vo thorough] your ps. I perceive you think 1T 1920 as peremptory as wrathful ps., death, or destiny
1T 1942 the moon, the ps., and the meteors, light 1F 637 a book where I might see all characters and ps. of 1F 701 who knows not the double motion of the ps. ?
1F 712 nine ; the seven ps., the firmament, and 2F 621 who knows not the double motion [1624, motions] of the ps. ?
2F 631 the seven ps., the firmament, and the empyreal heaven
2F 815 he views [1624, 1631, to view] the clouds, the ps., and the stars 2F 1055 the ps. seven, the gloomy air
*FB 47 the secrets of the stars and ps. told
D 979 and, like the ps., ever love to range !
L 662 why do the ps. alter their course
*1H6 23 what ? shall we curse the ps. of mishap ?
*1H6 55 combat with adverse ps. in the heavens Plange.
*Ept 5 P. ! fori lumen, venerandae gloria legis
Plank.
JM 504 there have I hid, close underneath the p.
JM 627 to search the p. my father did appoint 2T 1287 in a stable lie upon the ps.
*E3 1173 the crannied [Old eds. cranny] cleftures of the through-shot ps.
Plant.
*TT 1317 that this his love was an eternal p.
*3H6 1760 that this his love was an external p.
*3H6 2824 how sweet a p. have you untimely cropp'd 1F 642 wherein I might see all ps., herbs, and trees
*Sel 304 to p. 'gainst me their bookish ordinance
*Sel 1161 to p. thy forces in Natolia
MP 644 to p. ourselves with such authority
MP 723 to p. the true succession of the faith
MP 937 to p. the Pope and Popelings in the realm
D 1424 and p. our pleasant suburbs with their [Old. ed. her] fumes
*1H6 1046 they labour'd, to p. the rightful heir
*Con 998 doth [Q2 do] p. themselves within the English pale
*TT 43 I'll p. Plantagenet : and root him out who dares ? [Q3 dare]
*TT 1218 ere I can p. myself
*3H6 48 I'll p. Plantagenet, root him up who dares
*3H6 1046 this may p. courage in their quailing breasts Ov 393 a rich lover ps. his love on thee, and *HLC 1215 when life is gone, death must imp. his terror
*TT 1364 and rep. Henry in his former state
*3H6 1838 and rep. Henry in his former state
*2H6 1246 which fear, if better reasons can supp.
*TT 1433 doth join with Warwick to supp. your state Plantagenet.
E2 1080 never was P. false of his word
*1H6 513 P. I will, and like thee [Nero], play on the lute *1H6 867 I pluck this white rose with P.
*1H6 896 no P. : 'tis not for fear, but anger
*1H6 901 hath not thy rose a thorn, P. ?
*1H6 906 where false P. dare not be seen
*1H6 909 turn not thy scorns this way, P. ?
*1H6 984 Richard P., my lord, will come
*1H6 1000 Richard P., my friend, is he come ?
*1H6 1018 in honour of a true P., and for alliance sake
*1H6 1159 P. I see must hold his tongue
*1H6 1250 which in the right of Richard P., we *1H6 1272 rise Richard, like a true P.
*Con 505 I am P. as well as thou, and son to John of Gaunt *2H6 2240 my mother was a P.
*TT 35 unless P. Duke of York be king
*TT 43 I'll plant P. : and root him out who dares [Q3 dare] ?
*TT 91 P. of thee and of thy sons
*TT 117 ah P., why seek'st thou to depose me ?
*TT 147 P. for all the claim thou lay'st, think not
*TT 191 Long live King Henry. P. embrace him ?
*TT 331 P. I come P.
*TT 353 yield to our mercies proud P.
*TT 418 but how is it that great P., is crown'd
*TT 518 that we the sons of brave P.
*TT 567 that P., which held thee dear
*TT 730 Edward P., arise a knight
*3H6 40 unless P., Duke of York, be king
*3H6 48 I'll plant P., root him up who dares
*3H6 98 P., of thee and these thy sons
*3H6 127 P. shall speak first : hear him lords
*3H6 158 P., for all the claim thou lay'st

*3H6 181 Richard P. enjoy the kingdom after *3H6 209 long live King Henry : P. embrace him
*3H6 416 P., I come P.
*3H6 449 yield to our mercy, proud P.
*3H6 518 but how is it that great P. is crown'd so soon
*3H6 638 that we, the sons of brave P., each one *3H6 705 O Warwick, Warwick, that P. which *3H6 873 Edward P., arise a knight
*E3 1452 Edward P., in the name of God, as
*E3 1459 Edward P., Prince of Wales
*E3 1465 Edward P., Prince of Wales
*E3 1471 Edward P., Prince of Wales
*E3 1577 welcome, P. !
*E3 2441 sound, trumpets, welcome in P. !
*Con 503 Dare, I tell thee priest, Ps. could never brook the dare
*TT 118 are we not both [Q1 both both] Ps. by birth

Planted.

JM 937 and with young orphans p. hospitals
D 863 and p. love where envy erst had sprung
D 1289 I shall be p. in as rich a land
*HLC 1781 to make his own desires imp. in his dear Eucharis
*Sel 77 my strongest garrisons they have supp.
Ov 1519 although vine-p. ground contains me

Planting.

*E3 134 about the p. of Lord Montfort there ?

Plasterer.

*2H6 2326 villain thy father was a p.

Plat.

*HLC 1910 but Hymen and Eucharis had laid this p. [V. R. plot]

Plate.

2F 1810 and store of golden p.
D 758 hollow pyramides of silver p.
L 164 men took delight in jewels, houses, p.
*E3 221 the sun, reflecting on the armour, show'd a field of p.
*E3 1860 trimm'd the mountain on our right hand up in shining p.
JM 836 and if he has, he is worth three hundred ps.
JM 842 rat'st thou this Moor but at two hundred ps.

Platform.

*Sel 1680 to make that sure I have a p. laid
*Loc 1273 the perfect p. of a troubled wight
D 1503 when I was laying a p. for these walls
*1H6 680 and lay new ps. to endamage them

Plato.

E2 1891 thou suck'dst from P. and from Aristotle
1T 1537 even from this day to P.'s wondrous year

Plaud.

1F 9 to patient judgments we appeal our p.

Plaudit.

*Sel 208 the world will never give him p.
*Loc 1923 may mourn our case with mournful ps.

Plautus.

Ov 777 rude Ennius, and P. full of wit

Play.

*JMD 3 this p., composed by so worthy an author as Master Marlowe
*JMS 19 we know not how our p. may pass this stage
HLM 94 « Leander, thou art made for amorous p.
Ov 1913 although thou chafe, stoln pleasure is sweet p.
*AT 18 a poet was he of repute, and wrote full many a p.
*Epg 167 when ended is the p., the dance, the song
*Epg 450 then sees a [MS. hee seeth a ; A, then sees he a] p. till six
*Epg 456 sometimes he comes not to the p.
*Epg 547 to Paris-garden, Cock-pit, or the p.
*Con 937 but I am made the prologue to their p.
*2H6 1364 but mine is made the prologue to their p.
*E3 385 and bid the lords hold on their p. at chess
*JMS 2 ('mongst other ps. that now in fashion are)
HLM 308 ps., masks, and all that stern age counteth evil
*AT 81 take warning ye that ps. do make
*Epg 3 where thou mayst ps., revels, and triumphs see *Epg 82 he rides into the fields ps. to behold
*Sel 237 but now unmask thyself, and p. thy part
*Sel 869 eunuchs, p. me some music while I sleep
*Sel 1880 begins to p. clubs trump with me [So Quarto. — Grosart, ps.]
*Loc 1445 and so she began to p. knaves trumps 1T 318 or look you I should p. the orator ?
1T 321 our swords shall p. the orators for us
1T 473 on which the breath of heaven delights to p.
2T 671 that sing and p. before the King of Kings
2T 1050 p. upon the bulwarks of thy hold. — fire, bombard 2T 1418 but what shall we p. for ?
2T 1089 soldiers, p. the men ; the hold is yours !
2T 1194 viceroys and peers of Turkey, p. the men 2F 1315 and I'll p. Diana, and send you the horns presently
*JMS 36 the part he hath studied, and intends to p. it
JM 1987 p., fiddler, or I'll cut your cat's guts into chitterlings
E2 40 as if a goose should p. the porcupine
E2 552 but, nephew, do not p. the sophister
MP 85 now come thou forth, and p. thy tragic part
D 1 come, my gentle Ganymede, and p. with me
D 182 now is the time for me to p. my part
D 621 will set thee on her lap, and p. with thee
D 628 and so p. my part as every touch shall wound
D 754 holes, through which the water shall delight to p.
HLM 36 they took delight to p. upon those hands
HLM 357 I p. with Venus' swans and sparrows all the day
HLM 407 and sweetly on his pipe began to p.
*HLC 2189 thus his false fate did with Leander p.
Ov 18 while Mars doth take th' Aonian harp to p. ?
Ov 405 fair women p. : she's chaste whom none will have Ov 432 lest they should fly ; being ta'en, the tyrant p.
Ov 696 thou art as fair as she ; then kiss and p.
Ov 964 good form there is, years apt to p. together
Ov 2113 to take it in her hand, and p. with it
Ov 2376 the bawd I p. ; lovers to her I guide
*Ign 27 I cannot buss thy fill, p. with thy hair
*Epg 330 and also him which with the ape doth p.
*1H6 514 p. on the lute, beholding the towns burn
*1H6 1754 the king prettily (methought) did p. the orator
*Con 957 beshrow [Q2 Q3 Beshrew] the winners' hearts, they p. me false
*2H6 327 slack to p. my part in Fortune's pageant
*2H6 2994 what wilt thou on thy death-bed p. the ruffian ?
*TT 232 nay, I can better p. the orator
*TT 1485 then belike she means to p. the Amazon
*TT 2062 that I should snarl and bite, and p. the dog
*3H6 285 no, I can better p. the orator
*3H6 1622 I'll p. the orator as well as Nestor
*3H6 1975 leave to p. the brother in mine own behalf
*3H6 2019 belike she minds to p. the Amazon
*3H6 2930 that I should snarl, and bite, and p. the dog
*E3 916 p., spend, give, riot, waste ; do what thou wilt
*Sel 1880 begins to ps. clubs trump with me [So Grosart. — Quarto, p.]

E2 2513 one ps. continually upon a drum
MP 727 ps. with her gory colours of revenge
D 656 ps. with your garments and embraceth you
*1H6 2281 as ps. the sun upon the glassy streams

Played.

*Sel (Title) as it was p. by the Queen's Majesty's Players
*Sel 879 if Selim have p. false with Bajazet
*Sel 1691 Corcut, thy pageant next is to be p.
JM (Title) as it was p. before the King and Queen
*JMS 22 and he then by the best of actors [« Allin »] p.
*JMS 41 nor think that this day any prize was p.
MP (Title) p. by the Right Honourable the Lord-High-Admiral his servants
D (Title) P. by the Children of her Majesty's Chapel
D 793 but p. he ne'er so sweet, I let him go
HLM 679 with his tresses p., and, smiling wantonly
HLM 693 p. with a boy so lovely-fair [V. R. so faire] and kind HLM 768 she the harpy p., and Ov 1180 whence knows Corinna that with thee I p. ?
Ov 1704 thy Muse hath p. what may mild girls content
Ov 1713 why tread'st me down ? art thou aye gravely p. ?
Ov 2329 I have thy husband, guard, and fellow p.
Dia 75 but now do I see she hath play['d] with his bable
*AT 80 nor p. a part so ill
*1H6 132 if Sir John Falstaff [? Fastolfe] had not p. the coward
*1H6 585 when they shall hear how we have p. the men
*1H6 1528 Pucelle hath bravely p. her part in this
*Con 1478 boys p. at span-counter with French crowns
*2H6 1397 beshrew the winners, for they p. me false
*TT 713 full well hath Clifford p. the orator
*TT 1453 nay you p. the broker so ill for yourself, that *3H6 855 full well hath Clifford p. the orator
*3H6 1018 as if the tragedy were p. in jest, by counterfeiting actors
*E3 (Title) as it hath been sundry times p. about the city of London

Playedst.

*Loc 261 p. thou as sweet on the sweet-sounding lute as Player.

*AT 21 he had also a p. been upon the Curtain-stage
*Sel (Title) as it was played by the Queen's Majesty's Ps.
E2 986 and then thy soldiers march'd like ps.

Playeth.

*Sel 455 so p. crafty Selimus with me

Play-fellow.

D 603 and his young prince shall be thy p.
*E3 918 now, my soul's p. ! and art thou come
*2H6 1908 be ps. to keep you company

Playhouse-doors.

*Epg 166 for, as we see at all the [MS. that att the] p.

Playing.

D 51 and p. with that female wanton boy
HLM 353 the sea, p. on [V. R. upon] yellow sand, sends forth
Ov 1182 that might be urg'd to witness our false p.
Ov 2448 seeing thou art fair, I bar not thy false p.
*Con 211-212 a woman, I'll not behind for p. my part [Q1 Q3 omit]

Plea.

*E3 1923 to urge the p. of mercy to a man
*Epg 261 I tell of fourching, vouchers, and counter*ps.*

Plead.

1T 73 or p. for mercy at your highness' feet
1T 1269 must p. for mercy at his kingly feet
1T 1733 yet give me leave to p. for him, my lord
2T 2277 and p. in vain unpleasing sovereignty ?
E2 510 what, would you have me p. for Gaveston ?
E2 511 p. for him that will, I am resolv'd
E2 538 and therefore, though I p. for his repeal
D 254 as poor distressèd misery may p.
L 275 « while eloquence prevail'd, and I might p.
*1H6 1155 it fitteth not a prelate so to p.
*Con 1363 Suffolk's imperial tongue cannot p. to such a jady groom
*Con 1531 my innocence my lord shall p. for me
*2H6 1895 Oh Henry, let me p. for gentle Suffolk
*2H6 1897 no more I say : if thou dost p. for him
*2H6 2174 us'd to command, untaught to p. for favour
*TT 99 or else our swords shall p. it in the field?
*3H6 106 if not, our swords shall p. it in the field
*E3 1374 swords, and they shall p. for us and our affairs
E2 531 no ? do but mark how earnestly she ps. !

Pleaded.

*Sel 609 now let my cause be p., Bajazet
E2 626 seeing thou hast p. with so good success
MP 108 hath often p. kindred to the king
*1H6 860 if he suppose that I have p. truth

Pleading.

*2H6 2596 he shall die, and it be but for p. so well for his life

Pleasance.

D 6 and held the cloth of p. whiles you drank

Pleasant.

*Sel 40 that thinks a sceptre is a p. thing
*Sel 92 and in a p. quiet 'joys to pause
*Loc (Title) No less p. than profitable
*Loc 316 with the p. water of your secret fountain
*Loc 432 are they not p. in her gracious eyes ?
*Loc 620 went to behold the p. flowering fields
*Loc 977 behold the grass hath lost its p. green
*Loc 1512 nigh Durolitum, by the p. Ley
*Loc 1710 with p. joy enjoy your sweetest love
1T 1216 and speech more p. than sweet harmony
2T 1612 no such discourse is p. in [4to to] mine ears
1F 112 for p. fruits and princely delicates
1F 1172 the knight that was so p. with me here of late ?
1F 1209 nay, till I'm past this fair and p. green I'll 2F 109 for p. fruits and princely delicates
2F 681 that sight will be as p. unto me, as 2F 1659 thanks, Master Doctor, for these p. sights
E2 51 wanton poets, p. wits, musicians, that E2 763 you must be proud, bold, p., resolute
D 178 the air is p., and the soil most fit for D 1424 and plant our p. suburbs with their [Old ed. her] fumes
HLM 566 the more a gentle pleasing [V. R. p.] heat reviv'd
Ov 1108 vain-babbling speech and p. peace thou lov'd'st
Ov 1177 our p. scapes shew thee no clown to be Ov 1390 thou that frequent'st Canopus p. fields
*Epg 405 are no [MS. not] pernicious lies, but p. fictions
*Con 1253 but like a p. slumber in thy lap ?
*Con 1710 good Lord how p. is this country life
*2H6 1996 but like a p. slumber in thy lap ?
*E3 1345 if gall or wormwood have a p. taste
*Loc 1714 since Locrine shuns my nothing-p. face 1F 136 un*p.*, harsh, contemptible, and vild [Dyce, vile] 2F 1853 this my exhortation seems harsh and all un*p.*
Ov 185 forbear, sweet words, and be [C, in] your sport un*p.*

Pleasantness.

MP 639 how likes your grace my son's p. ?

Pleasant-smiling.
HLM 91 a p. cheek, a speaking eye
Please.
*Sel 460 nought but the Turkish sceptre can him p.
*Sel 1009 and when it shall the great Creator p.
*Sel 1427 death would a watched caitiff greatly p.
*Sel 1525 so p. your grace to pardon his offence
*Sel 1825 and glad your heart, if so you p. to taste it
*Sel 1884 « and how to p. her alas I do not know »
*Sel 1890 « thus p., or disp., she lays it on my skin »
*Sel 1962 and it p. you I'll go forward in my catechism
*Sel 2148 and p. the anger of the highest God [So Quarto. — Daniel' pease]
*Loc 193 if so thy uncle and herself do p.
*Loc 373 if so you p., this day my love and I
*Loc 584 if you p. I will resign it to one of
*Loc 982 the grassy plains that now do p. thine eyes 1TP 8 and then applaud his fortunes as you p.
1T 1123 such as his highness p.
2T 1390 'twill p. my mind as well to hear
1F 106 shall I make spirits fetch me what I p.
1F 151 like lions shall they guard us when we p.
1F 541 but may I raise up spirits when I p. ?
1F 559 at all times, in what form or shape soever he p.
1F 634 that I might raise up spirits when I p.
1F 914 that I may be invisible, to do what I p.
1F 918 my Lord of Lorraine will't p. you draw near ?
1F 1171 wilt p. your highness now to send for the knight
1F 1326 here they be, madam : wilt p. you taste on them ?
2F 103 shall I make spirits fetch me what I p.
2F 143 like lions shall they guard us when we p.
2F 489 but may I raise such spirits when I p. ?
2F 506 in what shape and form soever he p.
2F 908 and what might p. mine eye I there beheld 2F 1049 and do what 'er I p., unseen of any 2F 1069 first, may it p. your sacred Holiness to 2F 1117 p. it [Not in 1624, 1631] your Holiness, I think 2F 1190 will it p. you to [Not in 1631] take a shoulder of mutton 2F 1237 to accomplish whatsoe'er the doctor p.
2F 1310 be it as Faustus p. ; we are content 2F 1361 and therefore, my lord, so p. your majesty, I'll 2F 1582 if it p. you, the Duke of Vanholt doth 2F 1663 as nothing in the world could p. me more 2F 1690 p. it your grace, the year is divided into two circles
2F 1743 with all my heart, kind doctor ; p. thyself
*FB 45 what pleasure I did wish to p. my mind
JM 749 we Jews can fawn like spaniels when we p.
JM 908 my name's Ithamore ; my profession what you p.
JM 963 p. you walk in with me
JM 1776 and you can have it, sir, an if you p.
JM 1896 p. you dine with me, sir
JM 2374 will 't p. thee, mighty Selim Calymath, to E2 53 draw the pliant king which way I p.
E2 71 such things as these best p. his majesty
E2 297 may it p. your lordship to subscribe your name
E2 761 and saying, « Truly, an 't may p. your honour »
E2 813 a trifle ! we'll expel him when we p.
E2 1044 may 't p. your grace to entertain them now
E2 1617 return to England, and p. my father well
E2 1827 but as the realm and parliament shall p.
E2 2201 who now makes Fortune's wheel turn as he p.
MP 245 an it p. your grace, the Lord High Admiral
MP 463 to p. himself with manage of the wars
MP 623 then may it p. your majesty to give me leave
MP 974 an p. your grace, the Duke of Guise
MP 1178 an it p. your majesty, here is a friar
D 383 may it p. your grace to let Aeneas wait
D 732 Achates, how doth Carthage p. your lord ?
D 1064 that can call them forth whenas she p.
HLM 19 to p. the careless and disdainful eyes of proud Adonis
HLM 685 and throw [Old eds. threw] him gaudy toys to p. his eye
*HLC 1475 but she would p. the world with fair pretext
*HLC 1805 Love's special lesson is to p. the eye
Ov 144 when I, my light, do or say aught that p. thee
Ov 387 and why shouldst not p. ? none thy face exceeds Ov 739 to p. thyself, thyself put out of mind
Ov 913 let him p., haunt the house, be kindly us'd
Ov 962 p. her ; her hate makes others thee abhor
Ov 977 but where Love p. am [ed. A, and] driven
Ov 1006 both short and long p. me, for I love both Ov 1101 what helps it thou wert given to p. my wench ?
Ov 1140 turns all the godly [Old eds. goodly] birds to what she p.
Ov 1266 and [not in ed. A] this doth p. me most Ov 1632 to p. me, what fair terms and sweet words has she !
Ov 1675 to pleasure [ed. C. p.] me, forbid me to corrive with thee Ov 1754 let either heed what p. them, and Ov 1802 champions p. [ed. B, pleace ; C, place] Pollux, Castor loves horsemen more
Ov 1909 nor doth her face p., but her husband's love
Ov 1923 cannot a fair one, if not chaste, p. thee ?
Ov 1968 not Calydon nor Aetolia did p.
Ov 2310 these gifts are meet to p. the powers divine
L 52 what god it p. thee be, or where to sway
L 204 Caesar is thine, so p. it thee, thy soldier
L 389 all jointly cried they 'll follow where he p.
*1H6 1412 now quiet soul, depart when heaven p.
*1H6 1547 yes, if it p. your majesty, my liege
*1H6 2160 yet call the ambassadors, and as you p., so let *1H6 2257 no shape but his can p. your dainty eye
*1H6 2348 and if my father p., I am content
*1H6 2380 my daughter shall be Henry's, if he p.
*1H6 2593 so, now dismiss your army when we p.
*Con 36 my Lord Protector, so it p. your grace, here are *Con 57 they p. us well, Lord Marquis kneel down
*Con 205 and it p. your grace, the king and queen
*Con 256 if it p. your majesty, with my Lord Protector's grace
*Con 335 and when it p. his grace, I will resign my charge
*Con 351 if it p. your grace, this fellow here, hath accused
*Con 358 an't shall p. your majesty, I never said any *Con 476 no marvel if it p. your majesty
*Con 520 and it p. your grace, there is a man that came blind
*Con 527 at Berwick sir [Q3 p. your majesty], in the north
*Con 567 What's thine own name ? — Sander, and it p. you master
*Con 579 yes my lord, if it p. your grace
*Con 724 with all my heart good uncle, when you p.
*Con 740 p. it your majesty, this is the day that
*Con 743 and they are ready when your grace doth p.
*Con 794 p. it your grace, we'll take her from the sheriffs ?
*Con 841 p. it your grace, my office here doth end
*Con 1434 Now sir, what's your name ? — Emanuel sir, and it shall p. you [Q3 ye]
*Con 1688 and be it [Q3 omits] as He p., to stop the pride of

*Con 1698 but may it p. your majesty, to pardon
*Con 1803 Alexander Iden, if it p. your grace
*2H6 39 my Lord Protector, so it p. your grace
*2H6 61 They p. us well. Lord Marquess kneel down
*2H6 382 mine is, and 't p. your grace, against John Goodman
*2H6 547 p. it your majesty, this is the man that *2H6 553 and 't shall p. your majesty, I never said
*2H6 754 born blind, and 't p. your grace
*2H6 817 Saunder Simpcox, and if it p. you, master
*2H6 833 yes, my lord, if it p. your grace
*2H6 1035 p. it your majesty, this is the day appointed *2H6 1039 so p. your highness to behold the fight
*2H6 1111 so p. your grace, we'll take her from the sheriff
*2H6 1172 an 't p. your grace, here my commission stays
*2H6 1176 so am I given in charge, may 't p. your grace
*2H6 1238 and when he p. to make commotion, 'tis to be *2H6 1531 I will, my lord, so p. his majesty
*2H6 2721 p. it your majesty to be advertis'd, the *2H6 2905 so p. it you my lord, 'twere not amiss he were *TT 243 and if it p. your grace to give me leave, I'll
*TT 675 doth not the object p. your eye my lord ?
*TT 676 even as the rocks p. them that fear their wrack
*TT 1057 to effect this marriage if it p. my lord
*TT 1124 may it p. your grace I cannot brook delays
*TT 1166 p. it your highness to dismiss me either with ay or no
*TT 1205 and it p. your grace, Henry your foe is taken
*TT 1651 until it p. God to send the rest
*TT 1690 and it [Q3 if it] p. your grace, it is young Henry
*3H6 1300 to effect this marriage, so it p. my lord
*3H6 1433 may it p. your highness to resolve me now
*3H6 1504 p. you dismiss me, either with ay, or no
*3H6 2383 only claim our dukedom, till God p. to send the rest
*E3 1279 thy name ? — Gobin de Grey, if it p. your excellence
*E3 1738 upon condition it will p. your grace to *E3 1751 to be afflicted, hang'd, or what I p.
*E3 1772 will 't p. your highness to subscribe, or no ?
*E3 1775 to claim a passport how it p. himself
*E3 2063 dispose of him as p. your majesty
*E3 2272 to bear what torturing death or punishment you p.
*E3 2344 this man doth p. me and I like his words
*Sel 1456 why so, this music ps. Acomat
*1H6 2371 command in Anjou what your honour ps.
*3H6 1436 and if what ps. him, shall pleasure you

Please : see Displease

Pleased.

1T 448 I must be p. perforce, — wretched Zenocrate !
1T 1736 if with their lives they will be p. to yield
1T 1905 but I am p. you shall not see him there 1T 2277 and I am p. with this my overthrow 2T 1619 I must and will be p., and you shall yield 1F 1309 his merriment hath much p. me
2F 1277 for proof whereof, if so your grace be p.
2F 1666 in that it pleaseth [1624, 1631, hath p.] your grace
*JMD 9 you have been p. to grace some of mine own works
JM 402 you, that were ne'er possess'd with wealth, are p. with want
E2 165 is Edward p. with kingly regiment
MP 982 I heard your majesty was scarcely p.
D 19 sweet Jupiter, if e'er I p. thine eye
D 793 but his fantastic humours p. not me
*HLC 1725 yet for her strangeness still she p. their [V. R. her] eyes
*HLC 1753 and that in Hymen, p. so matchlessly
*HLC 2406 all earth's jewels p. not her like his dear name
Ov 213 to leave the rest, all lik'd [A, pleasde] me passing well Ov 385 « Mistress, thou know'st thou hast a blest youth p.
Ov 889 she p. me soon : I sent, and did her woo
Ov 1076 'tis ill they p. so much ; for in my lips lay
Ov 1143 « This tomb approves I p. my mistress well
Ov 1978 whom Ilia p., though in her looks grief revell'd
Ov 2330 the people by my company she p.
*Epg 89 Kate, being p., wish'd that her pleasure could endure
*1H6 253 heaven and our Lady gracious hath it p. to *2H6 219 the peers agreed, and Henry was well p.
*2H6 315 nay be not angry, I am p. again
*2H6 2769 and sends the poor well p. from my gate
*2H6 3158 and it hath p. him three times to-day
*TT 1460 before it p. his highness to advance my state *3H6 1979 my lords, before it p. his majesty to Pleasest.

2F 891 sweet Mephistophilis, thou p. me 2F 1330 and in this sight thou better p. me than Pleaseth.

1T 1416 p. your mightiness to understand
2T 2156 p. your majesty to drink this potion
2F 992 resign or seal, or what so p. us
2F 1666 in that it p. [1624, 1631, it hath pleased] your grace
E2 1635 so p. the queen my mother, me it likes
E2 2405 it p. me and Isabel the queen
MP 1215 p. your grace to let the surgeon
D 41 as then but say, « their colour p. me »
Ov 1015 a young wench p. and an old is good
Ov 1798 peace p. me, and in mid peace is love
Ov 1914 she p. best, « I fear », if any say
*1Hß 1432 what wills Lord Talbot, p. Burgundy
*TT 1062 shall do and undo as him [Q3 himselfe] p. best
*3H6 1307 shall do, and undo as him p. best

Pleasing.

*Sel 1607 are thrice as p. to my aged spirit
*Loc 1935 that I may change those her so p. looks 1F 759 that sight will be as p. unto me, as Paradise was to Adam
E2 56 sweet speeches, comedies, and p. shows
D 598 come, let us think upon some p. sport
HLM 566 the more a gentle p. [V. R. pleasant] heat reviv'd
*HLC 1685 the rites would p. matter minister to *HLC 1975 but p. to th' infernal empery
Ov 537 this cause hath thee from p. me debarr'd
*3H6 1985 so your dislikes, to whom I would be p., doth 2T 2277 and plead in vain un*p.* sovereignty

Pleasure.

*1TA 1 and others that take p. in reading histories
1T 554 his highness p. is that he should live
1T 760 the p. they enjoy in heaven, cannot compare 1T 958 and show your p. to the Persian
2T 1383 I take no p. to be murderous
2T 1756 let them take p. soundly in their spoils
1F 672 had not sweet p. conquer'd deep despair
1F 966 when Faustus had with p. ta'en the view of 1F 987 all the maidens in our parish dance at my p., stark naked
1F 1075 only for p. of these damnèd slaves
1F 1516 for vain p. of twenty-four years hath Faustus lost
2F 593 had not sweet p. conquer'd deep despair
2F 895 I'll spend in p. and in dalliance

2F 1188 only for p. of these damnèd slaves
2F 1669 have taken no p. in those sights
2F 1938 his store of p. must be sauc'd with pain 2F 1958 is all our p. turn'd to melancholy ?
2F 1999 for the vain p. of four-and-twenty years
2F 2075 he that loves p. must for p. fall
*FB 24 to live in peace [B. M. copy, p.] and do what things I would
*FB 45 what p. I did wish to please my mind
E2 304 it is our p. ; we will have it so
E2 1957 that waits your p., and the day grows old
E2 1994 and that you lay for p. here a space
E2 2242 but be content, seeing 'tis his highness' p.
MP 127 whose p. uncontroll'd weakeneth his body
D 24 whose face reflects such p. to mine eyes ?
HLM 426 but speeches full of p. [V. R. ps.] and delight
HLM 537 the mirthful god of amorous p. smil'd
HLM 661 and took great p. to spurn in careless sort the HLM 802 should know the p. of this [V.R. the] blessed night
HLM 823 whence his admiring eyes more p. took than
*HLC 900 and still gives p. freeness to aspire
*HLC 1480 P. atones Falsehood and Conscience
*HLC 1512 graceful Aedone that sweet p. loves
Ov 125 about thy neck shall he at p. skip ?
Ov 167 when p. mov'd us to our sweetest work
Ov 520 p. and ease had mollified my mind
Ov 560 why should I lose, and thou gain, by the p.
Ov 698 made two nights one to finish up his p.
Ov 953 that cannot Venus' mutual p. taste !
Ov 1283 p. adds fuel to my lustful fire
Ov 1913 although thou chafe, stoln p. is sweet play
*Ign 10 that my soul doth dance and leap with p.
*Epg 89 Kate, being pleas'd, wish'd that her p. could endure
*Epg 91 content thee, Kate ; although thy p. wasteth
*1H6 184 at p. here we lie, near Orleans
*1H6 1258 therefore my loving lords, my p. is, that *1H6 2583 although you break it, when your p. serves
*Con 23 a world of p. to my perplexed soul
*Con 1714 nor would I change this p. for the court
*2H6 136 it was the p. of my lord the king
*2H6 305 hast thou not worldly p. at command
*2H6 316 my Lord Protector, 'tis his highness' p., you do
*2H6 486 and at his p. will resign my place
*2H6 666 at your p., my good lord
*2H6 750 his highness' p. is to talk with him
*2H6 1969 with every several p. in the world
*2H6 2046 peace to his soul, if God's good p. be *2H6 2192 it is our p. one of them depart
*2H6 2845 are thou a messenger, or come of p.
*TT 1220 what other p. is there in the world beside ?
*TT 1422 should once gainsay your highness' p.
*TT 1535 we may surprise and take him at our p.
*TT 1580 and lets him use his p. in the chase
*3H6 865 than in possession any jot of p.
*3H6 1434 and what your p. is, shall satisfy me
*3H6 1581 what other p. can the world afford ?
*3H6 2081 we may surprise and take him at our p.
*3H6 2242 for that it made my imprisonment a p.
*3H6 2243 ay, such a p., as incaged birds conceive
*3H6 2990 shows, such as befits the p. of the court
*E3 841 observes the p., or disp., of her eye
*E3 1812 and then I will attend your highness' p.
*E3 2473 that, as thy p. chose me for the man
*Sel 739 and surfeited with p.'s surquedry
*Sel 1102 or that my life forepassed in P.'s court
*Epg 92 thy p.'s place like a buff-jerkin lasteth
*Sel 2050 passeth the royal ps. of a king
*Loc 1882 farewell, foul sin, and thy enticing ps. !
1T 2181 when my poor ps. are divided thus 2F 2047 Ó, what will all thy riches, ps., pomps, avail thee now ?
2F 2052 ps. unspeakable, bliss without end
JM 590 cropt from the ps. of the fruitful earth
JM 613 the incertain ps. of swift-footed time
E2 1266 nay, do your ps. : I know how 't will prove E2 1485 his sports, his ps., and his company ?
Ov 2266 why are our ps. by thy means forborne ?
PS 2 and we will all the ps. prove that PS 19 an if these ps. may thee move
*Con 1713 as all the ps. in the court can yield
*TT 2123 shows, such as befits the ps. of the court 1F 1316 and, for I see your courteous intent to p. me
D 737 in what might Dido highly p. thee
Ov 1675 to p. [ed. C, please] me, forbid me to corrive with thee
*3H6 1436 and if what pleases him, shall p. you

Pleasure : see Displeasure

Pleasuring.
*1TA 16 to the advancing and p. of your excellent degree

Pledge.
E2 1238 my lords, I will be p. for his return
E2 1417 refusing to receive me [1622, my] p. for him
D 1459 lest Dido, spying him, keep him for a p.
*HLC 1037 confer with it, and make my p. as deep
L 113 bare down to hell her son, the p. of peace
*1H6 1698 there is my p., accept it Somerset
*1H6 2183 bear her this jewel, p. of my affection
*3H6 1881 what p. have we of thy firm loyalty ?
Ov 1444 their wedlocks' ps. veng'd their husbands bad
*2H6 2879 my sons, as ps. of my fealty and love
1T 1765 take these three crowns, and p. me
1F 935 I'll drink to your grace. — I'll p. your grace 2F 1111 I drink unto your grace. — I p. your grace
JM 1936 I'll p. thee, love, and therefore drink it off
JM 1944 three and fifty dozen : I'll p. thee
*Con 750 I'll p. you all, and a fig for Peter
*2H6 1054 let it come i' faith, and I'll p. you all *3H6 1892 and here to p. my vow, I give my hand

Plenteous.
*HLC 1306 her p. hair in curled billows swims on Ov 2299 only was Crete fruitful that p. year
*Con 168 corn, hanging the head at Ceres' p. load
*2H6 262 corn, hanging the head at Ceres' p. load ?
*E3 495 that she breeds sweets as p. as the sun

Plentiful.
*HLC 1616 because she was so p. a theme
*E3 1058 beside your p. reward in crowns

Plentifully.
*HLC 897 but what doth p. minister

Plenty.
*Loc 294 in as great p. as the water runneth from JM 112 than thus to pour out p. in their laps
D 1110 and all the fruits that p. else sends forth

Pleshè.
MP 572 and now, P., whilst these broils do last MP 591 truth, P. ; and God so prosper me in all
MP 594 come, P., let's away whilst time doth serve
MP 926 P. ! — My lord ?
MP 928 P., go muster up our men

Pliant.
1F 273 how p. is this Mephistophilis

2F 260 how p. is this Mephistophilis
E2 53 may draw the p. king which way I please
Ov 1862 at me Apollo bends his p. bow

Plied.
*HLC 1399 that their p. wits in number'd silks might [V. R. must] sing

Plies.
*3H6 1472 he p. her hard, and much rain wears the marble

Plight.
*Loc 1272 let him behold poor Estrild in this p.
1T 196 ah, shepherd, pity my distressèd p. !
2T 167 pity the ruthful p. of Callapine
JM 473 the p. wherein these Christians have oppressèd me
D 356 have brought my sweet companions in such p. ?
*HLC 1634 Hero's p. ; longs for Leander and the night
*3H6 1669 and (as thou seest) ourselves in heavy p.
1T 1872 pity our ps. ! O, pity poor Damascus !
*HLC 851 unexperienc'd blood, and maids' [V. R. made and make] sharp ps.
2T 507 faith which they profanely p.
JM 1058 then, gentle Abigail, p. thy faith to me

Plighted.
D 1531 thy hand and mine have p. mutual faith
*1H6 2386 give thee her hand for sign of p. faith

Pliny.
E2 826 P. reports, there is a [1598, omits] flying-fish

Plod.
E2 181 thou shouldst not p. one foot beyond this place
1F 96 a greater help to me than all my labours, p. I ne'er so fast
2F 93 a greater help to me than all my labours, p. I ne'er so fast
Ov 993 trips she, — it likes me well ; ps. she, — what than [= then] ?

Plodded.
*Con 1354 and bare-head p. by my foot-cloth mule
*2H6 2106 bare-headed p. by my foot-cloth mule

Plot.
JM 1370 there, Ithamore, must thou go place this p. [Dyce, pot]
1T 110 the p. is laid by Persian noblemen
JM 1615 now I have such a p. for both their lives
E2 2179 Edmund laid a p. to set his brother free
MP 164 the p. is laid, and things shall come to pass
*HLC 1910 but Hymen and Eucharis had laid this plat [V. R. p.]
*Epg 469 no sooner hath the Turk a p. devis'd to [Not in Eds.]
*1H6 748 the p. is laid, if all things fall out right, I
*Con 104 I'll lay a p. to heave him from his seat
E2 2226 our ps. and stratagems will soon be dash'd
*2H6 1360 I know, their comp. is to have my life
*Sel 192 seditious comps., murder, fraud, and hate
*Sel 1735 « to clothe my comps. in a fox's skin »
1F 16 the fruitful p. of scholarism grac'd
*1H6 921 I'll maintain my words on any p. of ground
*2H6 643 a pretty p., well chosen to build upon *2H6 962 and in this private p. be we the first, that 2T 1701 joying the fruit of Ceres' garden-p. [8vo garded p].
*Con 240 to p. these treasons 'gainst the king and peers

Plotted.
JM 1200 so neatly p., and so well perform'd ?
*1H6 24 that p. thus our glory's overthrow ?
*1H6 1885 was by York and Talbot too rashly p.
*Con 605 hath p. treasons 'gainst the king and peers
*2H6 1366 will not conclude their p. tragedy

Plotting.
*Con 455 that your [Q2 Q3 you] are p. treasons thus with conjurers

Plough.
Ov 52 than oxen which [C. that] have drawn the p. before
*Sel 2081 two ps. going, two barns filling, and a
E2 1526 and ps. to go about our palace-gates
Ov 2163 but better things it gave, corn without ps.
1T 384 p. up huge furrows in the Caspian Sea Ov 100 (soon may you p. the little land [A, landes] I have Ov 1508 and raging winds in boisterous south-winds p.
*E3 1087 they p. the ocean hitherward amain

Ploughed.
D 220 with twice twelve Phrygian ships I p. the deep

Ploughing.
D 1717 by p. up his countries with the sword !

Ploughman.
*Sel 316 the p. with a furrow did not mark how
*Loc 1241 or as the p. with his piercing share 2T 2069 nor p., priest, nor merchant, stays at home
Ov 2296 the p.'s hopes were frustrate at the last Ploughshare.

Ov 832 the suffering p. or the flint may wear
Ov 2165 with strong ps. no man the earth did cleave
Ov 2276 and untill'd ground with crookèd ps. broke

Ployden.
*Epg 504 leaving [MS. and leaves] old P., Dyer, and Brooke alone

Pluck.
*Sel 684 and p. thee from thy ever-turning wheel
1T 1650 p. out that ; and 'twill serve thee and thy wife
MP 1126 so, p. amain : he is hard-hearted
D 34 from Juno's bird I'll p. her spotted pride
D 149 p. up your hearts, since Fate still rests our friend
Ov 2177 gold from the earth, instead of fruits, we p.
Ov 2514 your golden ensigns p. [Old eds. pluckt] out my field
*1H6 861 from off this briar p. a white rose with me
*1H6 864 p. a red rose from off this thorn with me
*1H6 867 I p. this white rose with Plantagenet
*1H6 868 I p. this red rose, with young Somerset
*1H6 870 stay lords and gentlemen, and p. no more
*1H6 878 I p. this pale and maiden blossom here
*1H6 880 prick not your finger as you p. it off
*1H6 889 in sign whereof, I p. a white rose too
*1H6 961 that you on my behalf would p. a flower
*2H6 2831 and p. the crown from feeble Henry's head
*TT 620 can p. the diadem from faint Henry's head
*3H6 60 what, shall we suffer this ? let's p. him down
*3H6 756 can p. the diadem from faint Henry's head
*3H6 1629 tut, were it farther off, I'll p. it down
*E3 2163 p. out your eyes, and see not this day's shame !

Plucked.
*Sel 2409 yet Selimus hath p. your haughty plumes
MP 675 late been p. from out fair Cupid's wing
*HLC 1416 and from thence she p. his lovely picture
Ov 2514 your golden ensigns pluck [Old eds. pluckt] out my field
*1H6 118 instead whereof sharp stakes p. out of hedges
*2H6 1372 whose overweening arm I have p. back
*3H6 2515 confess who set thee up, and p. thee down

Plucker.
*3H6 1027 thou setter up, and p. down of kings

Plumed.
*Sel 1204 and shook your p. crest against our shield
1T 313 their p. helms are wrought with beaten gold

1F 1453 and wear thy colours on my p. crest
2F 1912 and wear thy colours on my p. crest
*1H6 2244 that France must vail her lofty-p. crest
*HLC 2066 turn'd her into the pied-p. Psittacus

Plume.
2T 1780 in my helm a triple p. shall spring
*Sel 2409 yet Selimus hath pluck'd your haughty ps.
1T 33 and, as I hear, doth mean to pull my ps.
1T 1429 his armour, ps., and jetty feathers, menace death and hell
E2 41 dart her ps., thinking to pierce my breast
HLM 509 her painted fan of curled ps. let fall
HLM 613 whose tardy ps. are reeking water and *HLC 1516 proin their fair ps. [V. R. proine up their ps.; and proyne their ps.]
Ov 376 and her old body in birds' ps. to lie
Ov 529 in snow-white ps. of a false swan included
Ov 1087 for woful hairs let piece-torn ps. abound
*1H6 1446 we'll pull his ps., and take away his train
*E3 85 I'll take away those borrowed ps. of his L 338 must Pompey as his last foe p. on me

Plump.
JM 1351 that will preserve life, make her round and p.
HLM 679 he clapp'd his p. cheeks [V. R. claps his plumpt, and plumpts]

Plumped.
HLM 679 he clapp'd his plump cheeks [V. R. claps his plumpt, and plumpts]

Plums.
D 1376 I have an orchard that hath store of p.
*Con 537 my wife did long for p.
*2H6 788 mass, thou lov'dst p. well, that wouldst venture so

Plum-tree.
*Con 534 lame? — With falling off on [Q3 omits] a p.
*2H6 782 A fall off a tree. — A p., master
*Con 535 wert thou blind and would climb ps.?

Plunge.
*Loc 1170 do p. yourselves in Puryflegethon

Plunged.
*FB 2 how I am p. in pain, but cannot die
L 539 his burning chariot p. in sable clouds

Plungeth.
HLM 778 forth p., and oft flutters with her wing

Plurimos.
*Epg 57 In P. V. [MS. In meritriculas [sic] Londinensis]

Plus.
JM 1722 driven to a non-p. at the critical aspect of my Pluto.

L 576 when before he had look'd P. in the face
*Con 446 the damn'd pool, where P. in his fiery waggon sits
*Loc 267 nor move compassion in grim P.'s heart
*Loc 1003 were they enchained in grim P.'s court 2F 1057 P.'s blue fire, and Hecat's tree
E2 1961 let P.'s bells ring out my fatal knell
L 452 that souls pass not to Erebus or P.'s bloodless kingdom

Ply.
*HLC 1662 that, spite of nature, would their business p.

Po.
Ov 1571 Eurotas cold, and poplar-bearing P.

Pocket.
*Loc 1488 I think I have a quarry of stones in my p.
*Con 1431 and he has a book in his p. with red letters
*2H6 2286 h'as a book in his p. with red letters in 't *1H6 1179 have fill'd their ps. full of pebble-stones

Podolia.
2T 455 Stoka, P., and Codemia

Poem.
*HLD 8 the unhappily deceased author of this p.
1T 1961 if these had made one p.'s period

Poesy.
1T 1958 the heavenly quintessence they still from their immortal flowers of p.
Ov 833 but heavenly p. no death can fear
L 445 sit safe at home and chant sweet p.

Poet.
1T 571 and 'tis a pretty toy to be a p.
2TP 3 made our p. pen his Second Part
JM 1851 you'd make a rich p., sir
*HLC 2448 they were the first that ever p. sung
Ov 30 saying, « P., here's a work beseeming thee »
Ov 419 behold, what gives the p. but new verses?
Ov 845 I, Ovid, p. of my [Old eds. thy] wantonness
Ov 854 hath this same p. my sad chance discern'd
Ov 1592 and Love triumpheth o'er his buskin'd p.
Ov 1693 O, p. careless of thy argument?
Ov 1744 grant, Tragedy, thy p. time's least tittle [ed. C. title]
Ov 2196 Tibullus, thy work's p., and thy fame
Ov 2232 thee [ed. C, the] sacred p., could sad flames destroy?
Ov 2499 tender Love's mother, a new p. get Ov 2511 « How such a p. could you bring forth? » says
*AT 17 a p. was he of repute, and wrote full many a play
*Epg 267 but p. Decius more audacious far
*E3 409 then, if thou be a p., move thou so
Ov 421 the p.'s god, array'd in robes of gold
*Ign 12 graceful utterance to some (by thee made happy) p.'s line
*E3 408 for so much moving hath a p.'s pen
*E3 413 how much more shall the strain [Q° A, strains] of p.'s wit 1T 570 so ps. say, my lord
1T 1953 if all the pens that ever ps. held had fed the 2T 735 wanton ps., for whose birth old Rome was proud
*JMS 20 but by the best of ps. [« Marlo »] in that age the Malta-Jew had being E2 51 wanton ps., pleasant wits, musicians, that
D 1351 the water, which our ps. term a nymph
Ov 34 farewell, stern war, for blunter ps. meet!
Ov 2217 Pierian dew to ps. is distill'd!
Ov 2220 the work of ps. lasts; Troy's labour's fame, and *Epg 319 amongst the ps. Dacus number'd is *Epg 332 amongst [MS. amonge] the ps. Dacus [A. omits] number'd is *3H6 314 and all that ps. feign of bliss and joy
*E3 730 the ps. write, that great Achilles' spear could heal
*E3 868 that ps. term the wanton warrior, blind
Ov 1948 I speak old ps.' wonderful inventions
Ov 2384 nor, as use will not ps.' record hear
Ov 2406 ps.' large power is boundless and immense

Poetae.
Ov 1676 Deliberatio p., utrum elegos pergat

Poetarum.
Ov 758 Ad invidos, quod fama p. sit perennis

Poetry.
E2 54 music and p. is his delight
*Epg 331 though all his p. be like to this
*E3 388 this fellow is well read in p.

*E3 464 with the sweet hearing of thy p.
Poictiers.
*1H6 62 Paris, Guysors, P., are all quite lost
*1H6 1597 this dastard, at the battle of P. [? Patay], when *1H6 1874 Maine, Blois, P., and Tours are won away
*E3 1619 towards P., noble father, and his sons
*E3 2362 what, have our men the overthrow at P. !
Point.
*Sel 665 upon my sword's sharp p. standeth pale Death
*Loc 1639 with the sharp p. of this my battle-axe 1T 529 and kill proud Tamburlaine with p. of sword 1T 1681 take it up [8vo and Dyce omit] from my sword's p.
1T 1729 the p. that shall begin the perpendicular
1T 1900 behold my sword ; what see you at the p. ?
2T 1028 unto the frontier p. [4to port] of Soria 2T 1635 when you stab, look on your weapon's p.
2T 1645 and mark your weapon's p.
E2 1181 upon my weapon's p. shouldst thou fall
E2 2368 to pierce the wind-pipe with a needle's p.
E2 2632 there is a p., to which when men aspire
E2 2633 they tumble headlong down : that p. I touch'd MP 444 I'll whip you to death with my poniard's p.
D 405 and scarcely do agree upon one p.
D 525 he, with his falchion's p. rais'd up at once, and
*HLC 1134 this was the p. pierc'd Hero to the heart
*HLC 1376 near the fork'd [V. R. forke] p. of the divided flame
*HLC 2282 and then hath one p. reach'd, then alters all
L 413 whether the sea roll'd always from that p.
L 457 makes them run on the sword's p., and desire to die
L 549 parted in twain, and with a double p. rose, like
*1H6 1268 and humble service, till the p. of death
*Con 624 this news I think hath turn'd your weapon's p.
*Con 1239 that Cardinal Beaufort is at p. of death
*2H6 217 the state of Normandy stands on a tickle p.
*2H6 674 but what a p., my lord, your falcon made
*2H6 1975 that Cardinal Beaufort is at p. of death
*2H6 2814 ne'er shall this blood be wiped from thy p.
*TT 320 ay, such pity as my rapier's p. affords
*TT 2015 Oh better can my breast abide thy dagger's p.
*3H6 404 such pity as my rapier's p. affords
*3H6 499 that valiant Clifford, with his rapier's p., made
*3H6 1006 broach'd with the steely p. of Clifford's lance
*3H6 1085 to carve out dials quaintly, p. by p.
*3H6 2879 my breast can better brook thy dagger's p., than *E3 1119 and that's the surest p. of all the law
*E3 2394 like to a slender p. within the compass of the horizon
*Sel 213 armed at all ps. does he lead with him
*Sel 1272 received him falling on their spears sharp ps.
*Loc 470 for we'll receive them at the lances' ps.
*Loc 1748 sits arm'd at all ps. on our dismal blades
1T 488 then, when our powers in ps. of swords are join'd 1T 1186 leave words, and let them feel your lances' ps.
1T 1252 direct our bullets and our weapons' ps.
1T 1907 and on their ps. his fleshless body feeds
*TT 208 the soldiers should have toss'd me on their lances' ps.
*TT 1635 why my Lord-Mayor, what stand you upon ps. ?
*3H6 2394 why brother, wherefore stand you on nice ps. ?
Ov 2069 and pierc'd my liver with sharp needles' [ed. A, had ... needle] ps. ?
*TT 401 that valiant Clifford with his rapier's [Q2 rapier] p., made 2F 917 and p. like antics at [1624, 1631, to] his triple crown
Ov 2008 why stay I ? men p. at me for a whore
*2H6 1117 see how the giddy multitude do p.
Ov 1696 oft some ps. at the prophet passing by Point-blank.
2T 1079 carry full p. unto their walls
*2H6 2518 within p. of our jurisdiction regal Pointed.
JM 790 is it square or p. ? pray, let me know
JM 791 p. it is, good sir, — but not for you
1T 1396 that stood as bristle-p. as a thorny wood
*E3 984 this sharp-p. knife shall stain thy earth with E2 2349 un*p.* as it is, thus shall it go
E2 2467 Gurney, it was left un*p.* for the nonce
'Pointed : see Appointed
Pointing.
*Con 801 shaking their heads, and p. at thee here
Pointing-stock.
*2H6 1142 was made a wonder, and a p. to every Poise.
*3H6 1074 so is the equal p. of this fell war
*2H6 897 and p. the cause in justice' equal scales
*E3 641 and p. their deeds with weight of heavy lead ?
MP 115 with this weight I'll counter*p.* a crown Poised.
*2H6 2075 be counter*p.* with such a petty sum
*3H6 1774 which with her dowry shall be counter*p.*
Poison.
*Sel 851 in wine, in meat we fear pernicious p.
*Sel 1716 get a strong p., whose envenom'd taste
*Sel 1913 and with thy p. animatest friends
*Sel 2346 by p. made good Bajazet to die
*Loc 863 privily shed his p. through his bones
*Loc 1415 breathed forth p. in these tender plains ?
1T 1447 to suck up p. from the moorish fens
1T 1656 and in your hands bring hellish p. up 1F 669 then swords, and knives, p., guns, halters
JM 784 I ha' the p. of the city for him, and the JM 1498 I was afraid the p. had not wrought
E2 470 the cup of Hymen had been full of p. !
E2 1041 carous'd a bowl of p. to each other's health !
MP 184 the fatal p. works within my head
MP 1246 O, the fatal p. works within my breast !
D 1520 these words are p. to poor Dido's soul
Ov 466 under sweet honey deadly p. lurks
Ov 745 thou mad'st thy head with compound p. flow
Ov 947 to meet for p. or vile [Old eds. vild] facts we crave not Ov 1440 and why dire p. give you babes unborn ?
*AT 64 brought p. forth instead
*Con 1212 p. be their drink, gall worse than gall, the *Con 1283 fetch me the strong [Q3 omits] p. which the 'pothecary sent me
*2H6 1648 hide not thy p. with such sugar'd words
*2H6 1927 p. be their drink
*2H6 2038 and bid the apothecary bring the strong p. that *E3 298 eye ; which shoots infected p. in my heart
*E3 739 what can one drop of p. harm the sea
*E3 757 when p. hath encompassed the root
*E3 787 that p. shows worst in a golden cup
*E3 1376 as all the immodest p. of thy throat is scandalous 2F 590 swords, ps., halters, and envenom'd steel
JM 1389 and all the ps. of the Stygian pool
*SP 8 p. his father, kill his friends in fight
*Sel 501 break out in blisters that will p. us
*Sel 1687 shall p. Bajazet and that blind lord
*Sel 1838 a potion which I did prepare to p. you 2T 1575 affords no herbs whose taste may p. thee

JM 919 sometimes I go about and p. wells
JM 1349 will you p. her with a mess of rice-porridge ?
JM 1357 whose operation is to bind, infect, and p. deeply
JM 1399 a drench to p. a whole stable of Flanders mares
JM 1509 good master, let me p. all the monks
E2 2366 I learn'd in Naples how to p. flowers
E2 2455 that were enough to p. any man
*3H6 532 whose tongue more ps. than the adder's tooth

Poisoned.

*Sel (Title) in the end caused him to be p.
*Sel 1918 whose p. ghost before high God doth groan ?
1T 2014 and every bullet dipt in p. drugs !
2T 855 the p. brains of this proud Scythian
JMP 13 are p. by my climbing followers
JM 1115 'Tis p., is it not ? — No, no
JM 1386 whereof his sire the Pope was p. !
JM 1522 I fear they know we sent the p. broth
JM 1897 and you shall be most heartily p.
JM 1958 I carried the broth that p. the nuns
JM 1986 the scent whereof was death ; I p. it
JM 2049 p. his own daughter and the nuns
JM 2070 p. the nuns and his own daughter
JM 2080 I hope the p. flowers will work anon
MP 71 perfum'd gloves which I sent to be p.
MP 176 help, son Navarre ! I am p. !
MP 187 my mother p. here before my eyes !
MP 490 and so we shall be p. with him
MP 1237 you are stricken with a p. knife !
MP 1238 a p. knife ! what, shall the French king die
MP 1239 die, wounded and p. both at once ?
*HLC 2391 to rob it with a p. influence !
L 337 and jaded king [Old ed. and Jaded, king] of Pontus p. slain
*1H6 2540 choler chokes the hollow passage of my p. voice
*TT 431 whose tongue [Q3 tongue's] more p. than the adder's tooth
*E3 116 afflicts me so, as doth his p. view

Poisonous.

D 1081 Nature, why mad'st me not some p. beast
*2H6 1680 be p. too, and kill thy forlorn queen

Poison-sucking.

*E3 622 and not a p. envious spider

Poland.

MP 455 my Lords of P., I must needs confess
MP 458 P. is, as I have been inform'd
MP 471 undertake to wear the crown of P.
MP 475 with P., therefore, must I covenant thus MP 563 presently despatch ambassadors to P.
MP 576 and now that Henry is call'd from P.
MP 596 welcome from P., Henry, once again !
MP 619 your grace hath worn the P. diadem
*E3 1053 and lofty P., nurse of hardy men
MP 484 for P.'s crown and kingly diadem

Pole.

*Sel 22 from the South P. unto the Northern Bear's
*Loc 288 and all the particular stars of the p. antastic 1T 1788 we mean to travel to th' Antarctic P.
2T 2233 and from the Antarctic P. eastward
1F 689 whose terminine is term'd the world's wide p.
2F 610 whose termine is term'd the world's wide p.
2F 820 within the concave compass of the p.
L 54 nor yet the adverse reeking southern p.
*Loc 1554 accursed gods, that rule the starry ps.
1T 288 thou shalt be drawn amidst the frozen pools [4to Ps.]
2T 257 when heaven shall cease to move on both the ps.
2T 1153 the adverse ps. of that straight line which 1F 83 all things that move between the quiet ps. are 1F 695 upon the ps. of the world
1F 696 but differ in their motion upon the ps. of the zodiac 2F 81 all things that move between the quiet ps.
2F 616 upon the ps. of the world
2F 617 but differ in their motions upon the ps. of the zodiac
*2H6 2179 sooner dance upon a bloody p., than stand uncover'd to *2H6 2586 I'll see if his head will stand steadier on a p., or no
E2 118 let these their heads preach upon ps.
E2 1327 strike off their heads, and let them preach on ps.
*Con 1623 and bring them to me upon two ps. presently
*2H6 2602 head, and bring them both upon two ps. hither

Pole-axes.

D 495 who with steel p. dash'd out their brains

Poli.

*Loc 797 Nox cæci regina p., furialis Erinnys

Policies.

1T 8 that, in their prowess and their p., have triumph'd
*1H6 1451 search out thy wit for secret p.
*Con 1006 had York been there with all his far-fetch'd p.

Policy.

*Sel 349 for these names too are but a p., to *Sel 1556 soft, let me see is there no p. to *Sel 2365 and too too weak is all her p.
*Loc 690 for p., join'd with chivalry can never
*Loc 1527 for love aboundeth still with p.
1T 668 therefore in p. I think it good to hide it close
2T 508 by necessary p. to be esteem'd
2F 1459 an excellent p. !
JM 144 tush, tell not me ; 'twas done of p.
JM 186 which tribute all in p., I fear, the Turk
JM 360 and that will prove but simple p.
JM 361 ay, p. ! that's their profession
JM 476 for in extremity we ought to make no bar of p.
JM 1211 O, my master has the bravest p. !
JM 1241 was this the pursuit of thy p.
JM 2163 thus hast thou gotten, by thy p., no simple place
JM 2172 maintain it bravely by firm p.
JM 2201 'twere slender p. for Barabas to dispossess himself of JM 2249 making a profit of my p.
JM 2258 my p. detests prevention
JM 2341 and, governor, now partake my p.
E2 1074 I fear me, you are sent of p., to E2 1271 if Warwick's wit and p. prevail
MP 122 my p. hath fram'd religion
*HLC 974 did P. in her broad bosom draw
*HLC 1459 where her religion should be p.
*Epg 201 and p. collects out of all actions done these *Epg 540 nor how the Scottish p. now stands
*1H6 1303 through which our p. must make a breach *1H6 2578 to say the truth, it is your p., to *Con 982 and it may be by p. he works
*2H6 82 toil his wits to keep by p. what Henry got *2H6 1232 meseemeth then, it is no p., respecting *2H6 1449 that he should die, is worthy p.
*2H6 1452 but in my mind, that were no p.
*2H6 1507 if York, with all his far-fet p., had *2H6 2135 by devilish p. art thou grown great
*TT 1024 and 'tis his p. that [Q2 omits] in the time of death
*TT 1907 I thought it was his p., to take us unprovided
*3H6 343 with powerful p. strengthen themselves

*3H6 1265 'tis but his p. to counterfeit
*3H6 2742 it is his p., to haste thus fast
*E3 1647 it shall be so : this p. will serve Polipus.
*Sel 597 but thou, like to the crafty p.
Polished.
*Con 1179 indeed 'tis like the commons rude unp. hinds
*2H6 1876 'tis like the commons, rude unp. hinds
*E3 76 his lame unp. shifts are come to light Polites.
*Sel 1863 and poor P. slain before his face ?
Politic.
*1H6 1067 with silence, nephew, be thou p.
Politicly.
*2H6 1557 well, nobles, well, 'tis p. done, to Poll.
E2 1334 we'll steel it on their crest[s], and p. their tops
Polluted.
L 227 « An end of peace ; here end p. laws !
*1H6 2462 but you that are p. with your lusts
*E3 771 more esteem'd than the p. closet of a king Pollux.
Ov 1499 P. and Castor might I stand betwixt
Ov 1802 champions please [ed. B, pleace ; C, place] P., Castor loves horsemen more Polonian.
*Sel 544 here the P., he comes hurtling in
*E3 1043 the stern P., and the warlike Dane Polony.
MP 570 provide for Henry's coronation from P.
Poltroons.
*TT 57 patience is for p. such as he *3H6 63 patience is for p., such as he Polycrates.
*Loc 626 as fortunate as was P.
Polypheme.
2T 28 giants as big as hugy P.
Polyphemus.
*Loc 1185 where P. and the Cyclops dwell
Polypragmos.
1F 1060 P. Belseborams framanto
Polyxena.
D 577 P. cried out, « Aeneas, stay !
Pomfret.
*Con 670 in P. Castle harmless Richard was shamefully murthered
*2H6 924 P. ; where, as you all know, harmless Richard was murther'd Pomp.
*Sel 923 that leads his life still in lascivious p.
*Sel 2006 when thus they see me with religious p. tc
*Loc 2026 with such great p. and great solemnity
1T 707 with greatest p. had crown'd thee emperor 1T 721 and govern Persia in her former p.
1T 757 O, my lord, it is sweet and full of p. !
1T 2148 and place their chiefest good in earthly p.
1T 2280 her state and person want no p., you see 2TP 4 Death cuts off the progress of his p.
2T 262 so ; now she sits in p. and majesty
2T 1663 shall be tomb'd with all the p.
2T 1722 advanc'd in higher p. than this 2T 1793 all the gods stand gazing at his p.
2T 1874 where brave Assyrian dames have rid in p.
1F 5 nor in the p. of proud audacious deeds
1F 1374 no otherways for p. and majesty than when 2F 5 nor in the p. of proud audacious deeds
2F 1830 no otherwise for p. or majesty than when E2 1885 whilom I was, powerful and full of p.
E2 2099 make me despise this transitory p.
MP 884 seen with what a p. he enter'd Paris
D 54 Juno, false Juno, in her chariot's p.
D 915 whose glittering p. Diana's shrowds [Dyce, shrowd] supplies
D 943 sister, see, see Ascanius in his p.
*HLC 1223 rapt with pastimes, p., all joys impure
*HLC 2255 rich banquets, triumphs, every p.
Ov 1397 and in thy p. horn'd Apis with thee keep Ov 1791 now comes the p. ; themselves let all men cheer
Ov 1792 the shout is nigh ; the golden p. comes here
Ov 1809 the gods and their rich p. witness with me
Ov 2422 the annual p. goes on the cover'd ground
Ov 2439 when the chief p. comes, loud the people hollow
Ov 2441 such was the Greek p., Agamemnon dead
*1H6 143 for living idly here, in p. and ease
*Con 1247 Oh what is worldly p., all men must die
*2H6 1137 to think upon my p., shall be my hell
*TT 1844 what is p., rule, reign, but earth and dust ?
*3H6 2632 why, what is p., rule, reign, but earth and dust ?
2F 2047 O, what will all thy riches, pleasures, ps., avail thee now ?
Pompey.
L 121 thou fear'd'st great P., that late deeds would dim
L 125 P. could bide no equal, nor Caesar no superior
L 130 P. was struck in years, and by long rest forgot
L 330 so, P., thou, having lick'd warm gore from L 338 must P. as his last foe plume on me
L 346 say, P., are these worse than pirates of Sicilia ?
L 519 well might these fear, when P. fear'd and fled
*2H6 2190 savage islanders P. the Great, and Suffolk dies by pirates
L 98 Caesar's and P.'s jarring love soon ended
L 314 must P.'s followers, with strangers' aid Pompous.
*Sel 88 Acomat p., Selim, a warrior
Ov 86 thee p. birds, and him two tigers, drew
*Epg 335 rode through the street in [MS. streetes with] p. jollity
*E3 2017 but now the p. sun, in all his pride, look'd Pond.
*Loc 1548 you coal-black devils of Avernus' p.
1F 1260 rid him into the deep p. at the town's end 1F 1261 I was no sooner in the middle of the p., but my *Loc 1789 sent from Avernus' ps. by Rhadamanth Ponder.
*Sel 2165 to p. these things in thy secret thoughts
1F 1412 leave me a while to p. on my sins
2F 1870 leave me a while to p. on my sins
Ponderous.
2F 1417 yet my heart [1624, 1631, heart's] more p. than my head
*E3 1591 as on an anvil with their p. glaives Poniard.
E2 563 suborn'd to greet his lordship with a p.
MP 444 I'll whip you to death with my p.'s point
*TT 563 at each word's deliverance stab ps. in our flesh
*3H6 702 and at each word's deliverance stab ps. in our flesh Ponte.
1F 894 upon the bridge call'd Ponto [Dyce, P.] Angelo
2F 872 upon the bridge call'd Ponto [Dyce, P.] Angelo
2F 1021 and bear him straight to Ponto [Dyce, P.] Angelo

Ponticus.
*Epg 58 Faustinus [MS. Fautinus], Sextus, Cinna [MS. Cuma], P. [MS. Pontinus]
*Epg 554 since lousy P. envies [A, ensues] my fame
*Epg 560 why doth not P. their fames envy ?
Pontifical.
2F 926 ascends Saint Peter's chair and state p.
Ponto.
1F 894 upon the bridge call'd P. [Dyce, Ponte] Angelo
2F 872 upon the bridge call'd P. [Dyce, Ponte] Angelo
2F 1021 and bear him straight to P. [Dyce, Ponte] Angelo Ponton.
*1H6 446 a prisoner, call'd the brave Lord P. de Santrailles Pontus.
L 337 and jaded king [Old ed. and Jaded king] of P. poison'd slain Pool.
*Sel 556 and by the blackest p. in loathsome hell 1T 1655 dive to the bottom of Avernus' p.
JM 1389 and all the poisons of the Stygian p.
*Con 445 then down I say, unto the damn'd p., where Pluto
*E3 1389 this champion field shall be a p. of blood 1T 288 thou shalt be drawn amidst the frozen ps. [4to Poles]
2T 337 and I would strive to swim through [8vo thorow] ps. of blood 2T 2111 and angels dive into the ps. of hell !
D 111 and Phoebus, as in Stygian ps., refrains to Poole.
*1H6 910 proud P., I will, and scorn both him and thee
*1H6 912 away, away, good William de la P.
*1H6 932 for your partaker P., and you yourself
*1H6 946 have with thee P. : farewell ambitious Richard *1H6 954 against proud Somerset, and William P.
*1H6 1286 fie De la P. disable not thyself
*Con 41 William De la P., Marquis of Suffolk
*Con 185 and William De la P. first Duke of Suffolk
*Con 305 I tell thee P., when thou didst run at tilt
*Con 1325 the Duke of Suffolk, William De la P.
*Con 1338 Yes P. — P. — Ay P., puddle, kennel, sink and dirt
*2H6 44 and William De la P. Marquess of Suffolk
*2H6 290 and William De la P. first Duke of Suffolk
*2H6 415 I tell thee P., when in the city Tours thou *2H6 2098 the Duke of Suffolk, William De la P.
*2H6 2122 P., Sir P. ? lord, ay, kennel, puddle, sink Poor.
*Sel 53 p. Hali Bashaw having once sped well
*Sel 63 in losing Alemshae, p. I lost more than *Sel 111 p. Bajazet, what then remains to thee but *Sel 427 and p. Ixion's lamentable moan ?
*Sel 1015 even so my p. heart endures a combat
*Sel 1050 ah ! then too weak would be p. Acomat
*Sel 1159 p. Mahomet, thou thought'st thyself too sure
*Sel 1273 his sister, p. Zonara, [luckless maid]
*Sel 1289 the p. remainder of my Alemshae
*Sel 1300 to see the death of Alemshae's p. seed
*Sel 1304 and shed not all for your p. nephews' death
*Sel 1308 and I escap'd with this p. company
*Sel 1400 bare faith, pure virtue, p. integrity
*Sel 1500 but grief hath weaken'd my p. aged hands
*Sel 1515 shall Mahomet and p. Zonara's ghosts
*Sel 1557 policy t' entrap p. Selimus, in this device ?
*Sel 1583 and liv'st as a p. exile in this light
*Sel 1601 behold where p. inglorious Selimus
*Sel 1749 to any prince as to p. Bajazet
*Sel 1780 but suffer my p. vessel to be rent
*Sel 1784 and pierce my p. heart with thy thrillant steel
*Sel 1787 the while p. Aga tells his tragedy
*Sel 1791 my parents were but men of p. estate
*Sel 1794 p. Aga, had it not been much more fair
*Sel 1863 and p. Polites slain before his face ?
*Sel 1867 and now farewell, sweet light, which my p. eyes
*Sel 1893 « to bear the blows that my p. head doth feel »
*Sel 1896 « and I p. fool must ever bear the smart »
*Sel 1919 but thou must seek p. Corcut's overthrow
*Sel 1926 so thus disguisèd, my p. page and I
*Sel 1971 give some meat to p. hunger-starvèd men
*Sel 2061 p. prince, thou thoughtest in these disguised weeds
*Sel 2067 thus I like p. Amphiaraus, sought by
*Sel 2470 is able to overthrow p. Tonombey
*Loc 316 will, ere it be long, consume my p. heart
*Loc 584 I will resign it to one of these p. fellows
*Loc 639 why, do you think that such p. honest men as we be *Loc 670 to gratify such p. men as we be
*Loc 1272 let him behold p. Estrild in this plight
*Loc 1288 p. Estrild lives, despairing of relief
*Loc 1321 have so entrapp'd p. Locrine's love-sick heart
*Loc 1372 take pity on p. Estrild's wretched thrall
*Loc 1556 cast down your lightning on p. Humber's head
*Loc 1995 when p. distressed Sabren may be gone ?
*Loc 1997 where art thou Death ? shall not p. Sabren die ?
*1TA 8 in my p. opinion, far unmeet for the matter
*1TA 14 and myself the p. printer of them
1T 259 that thus oppress p. friendless passengers
1T 621 for turning my p. charge to his direction
1T 1101 alas, p. Turk ! his fortune is too weak 1T 1857 alas, p. fools, must you be first shall feel the 1T 1872 pity our plights ! O, pity p. Damascus !
1T 2067 O p. Zabina ! O my queen, my queen !
1T 2181 when my p. pleasures are divided thus 2T 1241 p. souls, they look as if their deaths were near 1F 368 alas, p. slave ! see how poverty jesteth in his 2F 351 alas, p. slave ! see how poverty jests in his nakedness !
2F 1274 shall make p. Faustus, to his utmost power, both 2F 1537 I am a very p. man, and have lost very much of late 2F 1835 with ten years' wars [Dyce, war] afflict p. Troy ?
2F 2059 and now, p. soul, must thy good angel leave thee
2F 2070 and laugh'd to see the p. starve at their gates
JMP 26 o' the p. petty wights, let me be envied and not pitied
JM 254 alas, my lord, the most of us are p. !
JM 309 and make thee p. and scorn'd of all the world
JM 611 vex'd and tormented runs p. Barabas
JM 738 p. villains, such as p. villains [Dyce, omits] were ne'er thought upon till JM 1089 what greater gift can p. Mathias have ?
JM 1550 hard-hearted to the p., a covetous wretch
JM 1754 what gentry can be in a p. Turk of tenpence ?
JM 2168 p. Barabas, to be the governor
E2 147 hath felt more torment than p. Gaveston
E2 415 to go from hence grieves not p. Gaveston
E2 462 how dear my lord is to p. Isabel !
E2 630 O, how a kiss revives p. Isabel !
E2 875 ay me, p. soul, when these begin to jar !
E2 954 are not so p., but, would they sell their land
E2 966 and, lame and p., lie groaning at the gates
E2 1023 p. Gaveston, that hast no friend but me !
E2 1111 no farewell to p. Isabel thy queen !

E2 1212 how thy name revives p. Gaveston !
E2 1548 p. Pierce, and headed him 'gainst law of arms
E2 2132 this p. revenge hath something eas'd my mind
E2 2173 alas, p. soul, would I could ease his grief
E2 2307 that wait upon my p. distressèd soul
E2 2496 small comfort finds p. Edward in thy looks
E2 2647 is this report rais'd on p. Isabel
MP 364 fright p. Ramus sitting at his book
MP 856 all France knows how p. a duke thou art
D 64 p. Troy must now be sack'd upon the sea
D 93 which, once perform'd, p. Troy, so long suppress'd
D 227 but hapless I, God wot, p. and unknown
D 254 as p. distressèd misery may plead
D 330 and why should p. Aeneas be alive ?
D 413 and makes p. Aeneas sink at Dido's feet
D 516 ah, how could p. Aeneas scape their hands ?
D 696 p. soul, I know too well the sour of love
D 1128 alas, p. king, that labours so in vain
D 1323 is that which terrifies p. Dido's heart
D 1339 conspire against the life of me, p. Carthage queen
D 1520 these words are poison to p. Dido's soul
D 1582 to whom p. Dido doth bequeath revenge
HLM 127 p. soldiers stand with fear of death dead-strooken
HLM 249 less sins the p. rich man, that starves himself
HLM 368 she, p. soul, assays, loving, not to love at all
HLM 390 nor would vouchsafe so much as one p. word
HLM 477 and to this day is every scholar p.
HLM 504 and many p. excuses did she find to linger
HLM 598 as pitying these p. lovers, downward [V. R. downewards] creeps HLM 632 and love that is conceal'd betrays p. lovers
HLM 675 whereat aghast, the p. soul gan to cry
HLM 796 and she, alas, p. silly maiden, at his mercy was *HLC 991 told him how p. was substance without rites
*HLC 1800 p. Hymen look'd so ill, that
*HLC 2150 their jar drowns [V. R. jarres drowne] p. Leander
*HLC 2218 p. virtue loath'd for good, obscur'd, held low
*HLC 2261 p. Leander, poorest where the fire of *HLC 2344 p. Leander cried for help
*HLC 2360 and the p. lover took a little breath
*HLC 2370 their cruelties even her p. torch envi'd
*HLC 2402 like a p. snail, her gentle supple limb hung
*HLC 2426 and leave p. plaints to us that shall succeed
Ov 283 and crowing cocks p. souls to work awake
Ov 390 if thou wert rich, p. should not be my state
Ov 428 p. lover, with thy grandsires I exile thee
Ov 475 the gods send thee no house, a p. old age
Ov 506 the soldier's and p. lover's work e'er was Ov 582 let p. men shew their service, faith, and care
Ov 638 p. wretches on the tree themselves did strangle
Ov 665 p. travellers, though tir'd, rise at thy sight
Ov 1027 ay me, p. soul, why is my cause so good ?
Ov 1032 p. wretch, I saw [Old eds. p. wench I saw] when thou didst
Ov 1152 if I praise any, thy p. hairs thou tearest
Ov 1465 myself, p. wretch, mine own gifts now envy
Ov 1599 and what p. Dido, with her drawn sword sharp
Ov 1668 shall I, p. soul, be never interdicted ?
Ov 1870 p. Semele, among so many, burn'd
Ov 2179 courts shut the p. out ; wealth gives estimation
Ov 2184 'tis well, if some wench for the p. remain
Ov 2449 but let not me, p. soul, know [ed. A, wit] of thy straying
L 97 a town with one p. church set them at odds
L 155 affrights p. men, and blasts their eyes with L 174 greedy desire, still p., did vile [Old eds. vild] deeds
*Epg 138 for those p. slaves which have not wherewithal
*Epg 336 Caius [MS. Leaves] his p. familiar friend [MS. frends] of late, bespake
*Epg 439 there by the sergeant stands the debitor [MS. and A, debtor poore]
*1H6 301 he may mean more than we p. men do know
*1H6 605 thus are p. servitors (when others sleep
*1H6 725 to visit her p. castle where she lies
*1H6 988 p. gentleman, his wrong doth equal mine
*1H6 1125 perverse, as he will have me : how am I so p. ?
*1H6 1316 p. market-folks that come to sell their corn
*1H6 2006 mean and right p., for that pure blood of mine
*1H6 2067 p. boy, he smiles, methinks, as who should say *1H6 2314 yet he is p., and our nobility will scorn the *1H6 2629 a p. Earl's daughter is unequal odds
*1H6 2644 that he should be so abject, base, and p.
*Con 28 and nothing can make p. Margaret miserable, unless
*Con 780 the truth and innocence of this p. fellow
*Con 786 that my p. lady should come by this way
*Con 1106 farewell p. Henry's joy, now thou art gone
*Con 1235 thus is p. Suffolk ten times banished
*Con 1804 a p. esquire of Kent
*2H6 109 Anjou and Maine, unto the p. King Reignier
*2H6 389 I am but a p. petitioner of our whole township
*2H6 763 p. soul, God's goodness hath been great to thee
*2H6 923 sent his p. queen to France, from whence she came *2H6 1091 the truth and innocence of this p. fellow
*2H6 1342 or foul felonious thief, that fleec'd p. passengers *2H6 1465 so the p. chicken should be sure of death
*2H6 1963 thus is p. Suffolk ten times banished
*2H6 1987 but wherefore grieve I at an hour's p. loss
*2H6 1533 justices of the peace, to call p. men before them
*2H6 2578 long sitting to determine p. men's causes
*2H6 2769 and sends the p. well pleas'd from my gate
*2H6 2789 took odds to combat a p. famish'd man
*2H6 2904 a p. esquire of Kent, that loves his king
*TT 97 p. Clifford, how I scorn thy worthless threats
*TT 225 p. queen, her love to me and to the prince her son
*TT 304 in vain thou speakest p. boy
*TT 405 alas p. York ? but that I hate thee much
*TT 443 hath that p. monarch taught thee to insult ?
*TT 819 and grac'd thy p. sire with his bridal-day
*TT 934 p. boy thy father gave thee life too late
*TT 938 p. lambs do feel the rigour of their wraths
*TT 1080 my queen and son p. souls are gone to France
*TT 1083 if this be true, p. queen and son, your
*TT 1450 alas p. Clarence, is it for a wife that thou art
*TT 1764 you left p. Henry in the bishop's palace
*TT 2004 and I the hapless male to one p. bird, have
*TT 2006 where my p. young was lim'd, was caught and kill'd
*TT 2010 yet for all that the p. fowl was drown'd [Q2 drowne]
*TT 2011 I Daedalus, my p. son Icarus
*TT 2048 see how my sword weeps for the p. king's death
*3H6 104 p. Clifford, how I scorn his worthless threats
*3H6 273 p. queen, how love to me, and to her son, hath *3H6 387 in vain thou speak'st, p. boy
*3H6 503 alas p. York, but that I hate thee deadly
*3H6 545 hath that p. monarch taught thee to insult ?
*3H6 968 and grac'd thy p. sire with his bridal day
*3H6 1097 so many weeks, ere the p. fools will ean
*3H6 1136 p. harmless lambs abide their enmity

*3H6 1344 p. queen, and son, your labour is but lost
*3H6 1359 that she (p. wretch) for grief can speak no more *3H6 1365 O Margaret, thus 'twill be, and thou (p. soul) art *3H6 1662 this is the cause that I, p. Margaret, with *3H6 1855 renown'd prince, how shall p. Henry live, unless *3H6 1970 alas, p. Clarence : is it for a wife that *3H6 2521 ay, by my faith, for a p. earl to give *3H6 2534 you left p. Henry at the bishop's palace
*3H6 2708 all these, the enemies to our p. bark
*3H6 2869 where my p. young was lim'd, was caught, and kill'd
*3H6 2873 I Daedalus, my p. boy Icarus
*3H6 2916 see how my sword weeps for the p. king's death
*E3 170 alas, how much in vain my p. eyes gaze for
*E3 580 I kill my p. soul, and my p. soul me
*E3 847 p. sheep-skin, how it brawls with him that beateth it !
*E3 911 the sin is more, to hack and hew p. men, than to *E3 986 which thou wouldst stain, my p. chaste blood
*E3 1258 I likewise might discern the p. inhabitants
*E3 1487 to patronage the fatherless and p.
*E3 1683 but what are these p. ragged slaves, my lord ?
*E3 1690 we are distressed p. inhabitants
*E3 1702 p. silly men, much wrong'd and more distress'd !
*E3 2053 of those p. English, that are mark'd to die
*E3 2164 one p. David hath with a stone foil'd twenty stout Goliahs
*E3 2242 these two p. squires redeem'd me from the French

Poorest.
*Loc 546 the p. state is farthest from annoy
*HLC 2261 poor Leander, p. where the fire of *Epg 416 the p. every year [MS. day] dispends five thousand pound

Pope.
1T 787 as if the Turk, the P., Afric, and Greece, came 1F 855 to see the P. and manner of his court 1F 907 nay, Faustus, stay : I know you'd fain see the P.
2F 571 to see the P. and manner of his court [Dyce omits]
2F 831 to see the P. and manner of his court
2F 859 this is the goodly palace of the P.
2F 886 nay, stay, my Faustus : I know you'd see the P.
2F 910 that this proud P. may Faustus' coming [1624, 1631, cunning] see 2F 914 by cunning in thine art to cross the P.
2F 952 may parley with this [1624, 1631, the] P.
2F 959 the P. shall curse, that Faustus came to Rome
2F 960 P. Adrian, let me have some [Not in 1624, 1631] right of law 2F 971 and, as P. Alexander, our progenitor
2F 981 P. Julius swore to princely Sigismond
2F 984 P. Julius did abuse the church's rights
2F 998 ne'er serv'd a holy P. as we shall do 2F 1043 the P. will curse them for their sloth to-day 2F 1092 the P. had never such a frolic guest 2F 1215 but where is Bruno, our elected P.
2F 1241 before the P. and royal Emperor
2F 1243 has not the P. enough of conjuring yet ?
2F 1285 as the P. to a costermonger
JM 1386 Borgia's wine, whereof his sire the P. was poison'd !
E2 245 this certify the P. ; away, take horse
E2 346 you know that I am legate to the P.
E2 359 the legate of the P. will be obey'd
E2 405 the legate of the P. will have it so
MP 40 for what he doth, the P. will ratify MP 119 for this, have I a largess from the P.
MP 319 and send them for a present to the P.
MP 709 I mean the Guise, the P., and King of Spain
MP 717 Spain is the council-chamber of the P.
MP 855 the P. and King of Spain are thy good friends MP 863 the P. will sell his triple crown, ay, and MP 937 to plant the P. and Popelings in the realm MP 1031 P. excommunicate, Philip depose the wicked branch of MP 1111 wert thou the P., thou mightst not scape
*1H6 379 in spite of p., or dignities of church
*1H6 381 Gloster, thou wilt answer this before the p.
*1H6 2137 have you perus'd the letters from the p.
*2H6 427 would choose him p., and carry him to Rome 2F 890 in honour of the P.'s triumphant victory
MP 839 nay, for the P.'s sake, and thine own benefit MP 1055 in the P.'s defence, to spend the treasure, that 2F 982 for him and the succeeding Ps. of Rome

Popedom.
MP 1106 the P. cannot stand ; all goes to wreck

Popelings.
MP 937 to plant the Pope and P. in the realm

Popish.
MP 588 in spite of Spain, and all the p. power
MP 1274 and all those p. prelates there, shall curse the time

Poplar.
Ov 346 like p. leaves blown with a stormy flaw

Poplar-bearing.
Ov 1571 Eurotas cold, and p. Po

Poppy.
JM 2118 I drank of p. and cold mandrake juice
Ov 1113 nuts were thy food, and p. caus'd thee sleep

Popular.
L 132 and, being p., sought by liberal gifts to gain the Populate.

*Loc 680 dep. the places where they come

Populorum.
*Sel 1960 Justice of peace, ad quorum, and omnium p.

Populous.
*2H6 1966 a wilderness is p. enough, so Suffolk had thy heavenly company

Porch.
Ov 888 there, where the p. doth Danaüs' fact display

Porcupine.
*Sel 2444 under the conduct of this p. ?
E2 40 as if a goose should play the p.
2T 271 (which should be like the quills of ps.
*2H6 1579 were almost like a sharp-quill'd porpentine

Pore.
1T 2019 at every p. [4to dore] let blood come dropping forth

Poring.
*Con 293 whose eyes are always p. on his book

Porpentine.
*2H6 1579 were almost like a sharp-quill'd p..

Porpentine : see also Porcupine

Porridge.
*1H6 187 they want their p., and their fat bull-beeves
JM 1350 poison her with a mess of rice-p. ?
JM 1394 was ever pot of rice-p. so sauced ?

Porridge-pots.
2F 1205 let the maids look well to their p.

Port.
*Sel 262 that she shall sink before she get the p.
*Sel 1853 but welcome Death, into whose calm p.
1T 490 though strait the passage and the p. be made that leads

2T 1028 unto the frontier point [4to p.] of Soria
L 406 so did Alcides' p., whose seas eat hollow rocks
L 489 that in chain'd troops break forth at every p.
*E3 1583 I bring my fraught into the wished p.
*Loc 1015 brought to the ps. of Phrygian Tenedos 2T 1892 but still the ps. were shut
*2H6 2072 and bear the name and p. of gentlemen ?

Portagues.
*Sel 1997 faith I'll to them and get the p.
JM 446 ten thousand p., besides great pearls

Port-cullis.
JM 1437 close your p., charge your basilisks

Portend.
1F 519 what might the staying of my blood p. ?
2F 467 what might the staying of my blood p. ?
JM 2409 tell me, Christians, what doth this p. ?
*HLC 1529 endure what this ps. [V. R. protends]

Portendeth : see Pretendeth

Portending.
*Sel 1790 p. miserable chance to me

Porter.
Ov 218 unworthy p., bound in chains full sore
Ov 244 hard-hearted p., dost and wilt not hear ?
*Epg 433 first stands [MS. comes] a p. ; then an oyster-wife
*1H6 745 p., remember what I gave in charge
*Epg 169 ps., and serving-men, together throng

Portingale.
1T 1353 keeping in awe the Bay of P.

Portion.
*Loc 1450 she bought with her p. a yard of land 1T 627 which I esteem as p. of my crown
*Epg 302 (the p. of his wit being passing little) [Not in MS.]
*1H6 2346 and have no p. in the choice myself
*E3 2286 or may our p. be with damned fiends 2T 2250 be equal ps. into [4to unto] both your breasts
JM 255 then let the rich increase your ps.

Portion : see Proportion

Portly.
*Loc 319 in 'parel comely, in gait p.
1T 376 to be my queen and p. emperess
1T 916 great kings of Barbary, and my p. bassoes

Port-masters.
E2 1719 our p. are not so careless of Portraiture.

*Loc 625 the p. of Humber and his son

Poscat.
Ov 525 Ad puellam, ne pro amore praemia p.

Posies.
JM 1040 with Christian p. round about the ring
PS 10 and a thousand fragrant p. [So E. H]
PS 10 with a thousand fragrant p. [So P. P.]
PS 10 and a thousand fragrant p. [So C. A.]

Posse.
*2H6 648 Aio [te] Aeacida Romanos vincere p.

Possess.
*Loc 206 deny that which they most desire to p.
*Loc 778 must leave my crown for Humber to p.
*Loc 1585 and Humber's paramour p. her place
1F 331 and scorn those joys thou never shalt p.
1F 1117 or they that shall hereafter p. our throne
2F 315 and scorn those joys thou never shalt p.
2F 1269 in peace p. the triple-diadem
E2 1236 violate any promise to p. him
E2 2056 let never silent night p. this clime
Ov 2181 all they p. ; they govern fields and laws
*Con 129 that good Duke Humphrey may his state p.
*TT 24 and that the regal chair ? p. it York
*3H6 26 and this the regal seat : p. it York

Possess : see Dispossess and Repossess

Possessed.
JM 402 you, that were ne'er p. of wealth
HLM 534 wrong'd by being p. of him for whom she long'd
*HLC 1063 peaceful mansions p. with war's just spoil
*HLC 1069 and of every sort strange thoughts p. her Ov 2159 yet when old Saturn heaven's rule p.
*LD 8 that you are not yet p. of *1H6 2557 I am p. with more than half the Gallian territories
*Con 16 the fairest queen that ever king p.
*Con 678 the heirs of John of Gaunt have p. the crown
*Con 1662 and ancient freedom which you have p. ?
*2H6 2566 unless you be p. with devilish spirits
*TT 918 may be p. of some store of crowns
*3H6 1118 may be p. with some store of crowns
*E3 1633 am quietly p. in Britain's dukedom
JM 1247 because the prior disp. thee once
*E3 2151 prompts the fear-p. abject soul to fly

Possesseth.
*Loc 29 a chilling cold p. all my bones

Possessing.
*HLC 878 for lust's plague, doth perish with p.

Possession.
*Sel 1916 with the p. of the sacred throne
1T 280 than the p. of the Persian crown 1T 333 before we part from our p.
1F 179 and have these joys in full p.
2F 171 and have these joys in full p.
E2 203 take p. of his house and goods
MP 154 that hinder our p. to the crown
MP 825 and though I come not to take p.
MPF 12 what though you were once in p.
MPF 16 and though I come not to keep p.
*TT 39 for now I mean to take p. of my right
*TT 1067 Now to London. To see these honours in p.
*3H6 44 I mean to take p. of my right
*3H6 865 than in p. any jot of pleasure
*3H6 1312 now to London, to see these honours in p.
*E3 1118 'tis you are in p. of the crown
*E3 2288 we take p. of the town in peace
*Sel 317 how far his great ps. did reach
JM 312 preach me not out of my ps.

Possessor.
*Sel 1358 and thought to leave p. of the crown *3H6 1656 that Henry, sole p. of my love, is *Sel 327 did then to set ps. first obey

Possibilities.
*3H6 1577 I'll cut the causes off, flattering me with imp.

Possibility.
*1H6 2565 coveting for more, be cast from p. of all Possible.

*Loc 1985 but may this be, and is it p. ?
JM 1780 and is 't not p. to find it out ?
JM 1781 by no means p.
*1H6 266 ask me what question thou canst p.
*E3 1026 and is it p., that they are now so loyal

Possible : see Impossible

Possibly.
JM 2348 whence none can p. escape alive

Possit.
E2 2403 major sum quam cui p. fortuna nocere

Post.
Ov 273 the bar strike from the p.; or I
Ov 562 knights of the p. of perjuries make sale
Ov 871 verses ope doors; and locks put in the p.
*TT 1880 yet warlike lords raise you that sturdy p.
*Sel 430 like devils' faces scor'd on painted ps.
1T 2323 hang up your weapons on Alcides' p[s].
Ov 290 and farewell, cruel ps., rough threshold's block
Ov 2156 the ps. of brass, the walls of iron were *1H6 470 and spurn in pieces ps. of adamant 2F 1216 that on a Fury's back came p. from Rome?
JM 966 here are letters come from Ormus, and the p. stays
E2 740 and even now a p. came from the court
E2 2119 another p.! what news brings he?
*Con 460 let me go p. unto the king, unto Saint Albans *2H6 665 give me leave, my Lord of York, to be the p.
*TT 575 tidings as swiftly as the p. could run, was *TT 1335 here comes some p. Warwick to thee or us
*TT 1347 and now to excuse himself sends us a p. of papers?
*TT 1375 return in p., and tell false Edward thy supposed king
*TT 1731 where is the p. that came from valiant Oxford?
*TT 1735 where is the p. that came from Montague?
*3H6 331 but stay, what news? why com'st thou in such p.?
*3H6 1799 Warwick, this is some p. to us, or thee
*3H6 1863 then England's messenger, return in p.
*3H6 2490 where is the p. that came from valiant Oxford?
*3H6 2494 where is the p. that came from Montague?
*3H6 2846 Where's Richard gone. — To London all in p.
*3H6 713 tidings, as swiftly as the ps. could run
*Sel 2206 go, sirrah, p. to Acomat's young sons
*Loc 1572 back will I p. to hell-mouth Taenarus 2F 1246 I would he would p. with him to Rome again!
E2 223 why p. we not from hence to levy men?
E2 1104 Spenser and I will p. away by land
E2 2215 so, now away! p. thitherwards amain
MP 448 Gonzago, p. you to Orleans
MP 919 p., then, to France, and there salute
*1H6 2682 take therefore shipping, p. my lord to France
*Con 410 and take my leave to p. with speed to France
*Con 1525 therefore fly my lord, and p. to Killingworth
*TT 260 and Richard thou to London straight shalt p.
*TT 273 cousin Montague p. you hence
*TT 335 ah York, p. to thy castle, save thy life
*TT 999 that now towards Berwick doth p. amain
*TT 1573 I'll p. to York, and see how Edward fares
*TT 1852 that done, with them we'll p. unto the queen
*3H6 340 my brother Montague shall p. to London
*3H6 1189 mount you my lord, towards Berwick p. amain
*E3 1665 take horse, and p. from hence

Posted.
2F 1039 to censure Bruno, that is p. hence
*2H6 1469 his guilt should be but idly p. over, because *3H6 2465 nor p. off their suits with slow delays

Posterity.
*Loc 962 and talked of by our p.
*1H6 49 p. await for wretched years

Posteth.
*Loc 964 sun p. his horses to fair Thetis' plains

Post-haste.
*TT 605 in haste, p., are come to join with you
*3H6 742 in haste, p., are come to join with you

Posthumius'.
*Loc 410 under the conduct of P. son

Posy.
JM 1976 bid the fiddler give me the p. in his hat there
JM 1978 sirrah, you must give my mistress your p.

Pot.
JM 1332 but first go fetch me in the p. of rice
JM 1370 there, Ithamore, must thou go place this plot [Dyce, p.]
JM 1376 I'm loath such a p. of pottage should be spoiled
JM 1394 was ever p. of rice-porridge so sauced?
*Con 748 here's a p. of good double-beer, neighbour drink
*Con 1416 and the three-hooped p., shall have ten hoops
*2H6 1052 and here's a p. of good double-beer neighbour
*2H6 2263 the three-hooped p., shall have ten hoops
*Con 768 here's [Q2 here] to thee neighbour, fill all the ps. again 2F 1205 let the maids look well to their porridge-ps.
1F 1087 i' faith, thy head will never be out of the pottage-p.
*2H6 2760 it hath served me instead of a quart-p. to drink in Potent.

*E3 1397 whom should they follow, aged imp., but he Potent: see Omnipotent

Potentate.
1T 1158 your lord, the greatest p. of Africa
2T 152 if any heathen p. or king invade Natolia 2T 991 robe that late adorn'd the Afric p.
1F 356 nor any p. of Germany
2F 340 nor any p. of Germany
*Sel 2104 you know they are two mighty ps.
1T 907 and all the earthly ps. conspire to 1F 1071 great ps. do kneel with awful fear
*1H6 1438 but kings and mightiest ps. must die

Potest.
1F 59 Exhaereditare filium non p. pater, nisi, &c.
2F 56 Exhaereditare filium non p. pater, nisi, &c.
Ov 2311 Ad amicam, a cujus amore discedere non p.

'Pothecary: see Apothecary

Potion.
*Sel 1837 this was a p. which I did prepare 2T 2156 pleaseth your majesty to drink this p.
E2 1608 but hath thy p. wrought so happily?
*E3 743 give the bitter p. of reproach a sugar'd-sweet and *Sel 1721 for I have ps. of so strong a force

Potitus.
Ov 1354 Exultat, quod amica p. sit

Potius.
Ov 1676 utrum elegos pergat scribere an p. tragoedias

Pottage.
JM 1377 I'm loath such a pot of p. should be spoiled

Pottage-pot.
1F 1087 i' faith, thy head will never be out of the p.

Potter's.
*1H6 548 my thoughts are whirled like a p. wheel

Potuit.
*Loc 1208 Non p. Juno vincere, vicit amor
Ov 2038 cum ea coire non p., conqueritur

Pound.
*Loc 1324 one dram of joy must have a p. of care
JM 18 and for a p. to sweat himself to death
E2 920 they rate his ransom at five thousand p.
*Epg 417 every year [MS. day] dispends five thousand p. [MS. ps.]
*Con 915 many a p. of mine own proper cost have I sent *2H6 1328 no: many a p. of mine own proper store
*2H6 2033 I'll give a thousand p. to look upon him
*2H6 2514 and one shilling to the p., the last subsidy
JM 2337 with free consent, a hundred thousand ps.

JM 2338 ps. say'st thou, governor ?
*Con 392 I would not for a thousand ps. of gold
*Con 1320 a hundred ps. a-piece, either pay that or die

Pour.

*Sel 1323 to p. their plagues on cursèd Acomat
*Sel 1325 to p. my tears upon my dearest friends ?
*Sel 1505 let women weep, let children p. forth tears
*Sel 1635 but will p. out his prayers to the heavens
*Loc 1475 p. down some drink, or else I faint and die
*Loc 1632 and p. their plagues upon thy cursed head
*Loc 1804 and p. thy plagues on cursed Locrine's head
*Loc 1888 p. down your tears, you wat'ry regions !
1T 1448 and p. it [8vo omits] in this glorious tyrant's throat !
1T 1612 feel such plagues as heaven and we can p. on him
1T 2071 I may p. forth my soul into thine arms
2T 824 p. it down in showers on our heads
2T 1502 will p. down blood and fire on thy head
1F 1408 offers to p. the same into thy soul
2F 1866 offers to p. the same into thy soul
JM 112 than thus to p. out plenty in their laps
E2 1496 I shall p. vengeance with my sword on those E2 2371 or open his mouth, and p. quick-silver down
Ov 631 wherein bad honey Corsic bees did p.
E2 1352 that ps., in lieu of all your goodness shown L 608 and ps. down wine, then crams salt leaven on his Poured.

*Sel 2231 and, while I p. my tears on thy dead corpse
2T 528 p. with rigour on our sinful heads
2T 2089 sacred virtues p. upon his throne
*Con 717 lest God had p. his vengeance on thy head Ov 1511 forth-p. by cloy'd Charybdis, and again devour'd

Pourest.

Ov 1782 flames into flame, floods thou p. seas into Pourings.

*HLC 2248 blows of broad axes ; p. [V. R. powring] out of floods

Pourtrayed.

1T 479 well hast thou p. in thy terms of life the face and 1T 1054 upon his brows was p. ugly death

Poverty.

1F 368 alas, poor slave ! how p. jesteth in his nakedness !
2F 351 alas, poor slave ! see how p. jests in his nakedness !
JM 119 than pitied in a Christian p.
JM 464 to make me desperate in my p. ?
E2 21 sparks, rak'd up in embers of their p.
HLM 476 that he and P. should always kiss
Ov 2128 now poverty great barbarism we hold
L 166 P., who hatch'd Rome's greatest wits, was loath'd
*2H6 446 and in her heart she scorns our p.
*E3 879 basest theft is that, which cannot cloak itself on p.

Powder.

JM 952 I strewèd p. on the marble stones
JM 1354 it is a precious p. that I bought
JM 1401 I'll carry 't to the nuns with a p.
JM 2059 one dram of p. more had made all sure
E2 2370 and blow a little p. in his ears
E3 2409 with sighs as black as p. fuming into smoke
*Epg 396 which praise their oils and ps. which they sell !
JM 2345 bombards, whole barrels full of gun*p.*

Powdered.

2T 92 p. shot and feather'd steel

Power.

*Sel 69 to that high p. that life first to thee gave !
*Sel 768 we thought it good to muster up our p.
*Sel 835 what prince soe'er trusts to his mighty p.
*Sel 936 so that the rule and p. over us is *Sel 1683 as if he had p. over life and death
*Loc 419 and all the p. their petty kings can make
*Loc 733 than all the p. of the trembling Huns
*Loc 1588 gathering a p. of Cornish soldiers
*Loc 1602 none but death can match our matchless p.
*Loc 1674 what though her p. be not so great as yours ?
1T 538 they gather strength by p. of fresh supplies
1T 766 such p. attractive shines in princes' eyes 1T 928 yet would we not be brav'd with foreign p.
1T 948 but if, presuming on his silly p., he 1T 1235 and as the heads of Hydra, so my p., subdu'd, shall 1T 1388 but speak, what p. hath he ?
1T 1402 yet would the Soldan with his conquering p.
1T 1583 join your Arabians with the Soldan's p.
1T 1747 some happy p. will pity and enlarge us 1T 1667 having the p. from the empyreal heaven to 1T 1796 or hope of rescue from the Soldan's p.
1T 1836 the wrath of Tamburlaine and p. [4to ps.] of wars 1T 2022 ah, fair Zabina ! we may curse his p., the 1T 2198 what cursed p. guides the murdering hands of 1T 2248 fearing my p. should [4to shall] pull him from his throne
1T 2269 all sights of p. to grace my victory
1T 2304 that late the p. of Tamburlaine subdu'd 2T 19 'gainst him, you must address your p.
2T 360 I offer here my crown, myself, and all the p. I have 2T 439 with my p. did march to Zanzibar 2T 482 take all advantages of time and p.
2T 487 his army, pitch'd against our p.
2T 537 expect our p. and our royal presence 2T 543 with greater p. than erst his pride hath felt 2T 555 terrified with [8vo which] unacquainted p. of our host 2T 559 taking advantage of your slender p.
2T 575 and hath the p. of his outstretched arm
2T 586 in his endless p. and purity, behold and venge 2T 592 and make the p. I have left behind (too little to 2T 626 his p., which here appears as full as rays of Cynthia
2T 629 whose p. is often prov'd a miracle
2T 632 whose p. had share in this our victory 2T 831 their p. enow to win the world
2T 1040 stand at the walls with such a mighty p.
2T 1442 gather greater numbers 'gainst our p.
2T 1517 the p. of Heaven's eternal majesty
2T 1704 this proud contemner of thy dreadful p.
2T 1984 now, Mahomet, if thou have any p.
2T 2057 come in person to resist your p.
2T 2113 that their p. is puissant as Jove's 2T 2187 not one of all the villain's p. live to give offer of 2T 2299 some god oppose his holy p. against the wrath and 1F 81 of p., of honour, of omnipotence
1F 564 full p. to fetch or carry the said John Faustus
1F 1136 as by art and p. of my spirit I am able to perform
1F 1612 to practice more than heavenly p. permits
2F 79 of p., of honour, and omnipotence, is promis'd 2F 428 stand by me, what p. can hurt me ?
2F 512 full p. to fetch or carry the said John Faustus
2F 986 is not all p. on earth bestow'd on us ?
2F 990 in token of our seven-fold p. from heaven 2F 1274 to his utmost p., both love and serve the 2F 1278 the doctor stands prepar'd by p. of art to 2F 1510 nay, fear not, man ; we have no p. to kill 2F 2054 hell or the devil had had no p. on thee
2F 2160 to practise more than heavenly p. permits
*JMD 11 over whom none can claim more p. or privilege

JM 205 I wish, grave governors [Dyce, governor] 'twere in my p. to JM 1905 it is in my p. to hang thee
JM 2193 since things are in thy p.
E2 267 for we have p., and courage too
E2 454 your highness knows, it lies not in my p.
E2 1005 and dare not be reveng'd, for their p. is great !
E2 1118 had p. to mollify his stony heart
E2 1142 and with the p. that he intendeth presently to E2 1280 your honour hath an adamant of p. to draw a prince
E2 2084 call thou them back ; I have no p. to speak
MP 588 in spite of Spain, and all the popish p.
MP 649 Guise hath gather'd a p. of men
MP 720 to send his p. to meet us in the field
MP 725 the p. of vengeance now encamps itself
MP 796 the duke is slain, and all his p. dispers'd
MP 834 that you have gather'd a p. of men
MP 861 I mean to muster all the p. I can MP 1026 O, that I have not p. to stay my life !
MP 1148 O words of p. to kill a thousand men !
D 1004 desire and not obtain, be it in human p. ?
D 1114 now, if thou be'st a pitying god of p.
D 1592 I have not p. to stay thee
HLM 173 it lies not in our p. to love or hate
HLM 629 O, none but gods have p. [V. R. none have p. but gods] their love to hide !
*HLC 892 and who, like earth, would spend that dower [V. R. p.] of heaven
*HLC 1007 the nuptials are resolv'd with utmost p.
*HLC 1028 hast p. t' inspire her burning faculties
*HLC 1058 led in his p., and made Confusion run
*HLC 1066 supplying it with p. of a destroyer
*HLC 1858 thus came Love, with Proteus and his p.
Ov 11 rash boy, who gave thee p. to change a line ?
Ov 322 over my mistress is my p. more great ?
Ov 1513 but if stern Neptune's windy p. prevail
Ov 1859 and all things too much in their sole p. drenches
Ov 1891 who may offend, sins least, p. to do ill, the Ov 2153 Jove, being admonish'd gold had sovereign p.
Ov 2358 and by thy face, a p. to me divine
Ov 2406 poets' large p. is boundless and immense
L 32 these plagues arise from wreak of civil p.
L 51 nature and every p. shall give thee place
L 66 thy p. inspires the Muse that sings this war
L 333 speak, when shall this long-usurp'd p. end ?
L 462 their huge p. made him bold to manage greater deeds
*Epg 354 I envy him not, but wish I [A, he] had the p. to *Epg 372 from whence an herb of heavenly p. is brought *Epg 383 it is tobacco, which [MS. that] hath p. to clarify the *Epg 385 hath p. to rarify [MS. ratiffie] the thick gross humour
*Epg 537 against the Turkish p. encroaching still *1H6 455 if I now had him brought into my p.
*1H6 521 is come with a great p., to raise the siege
*1H6 657 at all times will you have my p. alike ?
*1H6 717 we'll follow them with all the p. we have *1H6 1523 my forces and my p. of men are yours
*1H6 1781 and I'll withdraw me, and my bloody p.
*1H6 1833 that he is march'd to Bourdeaux with his p.
*1H6 2279 Oh stay : I have no p. to let her pass
*Con 1445 coming with the king's p., and mean to kill us all
*2H6 610 God, whose name and p. thou tremblest at *2H6 1157 and each of them had twenty times their p.
*2H6 2443 until a p. be rais'd to put them down
*2H6 2723 and with a puissant and a mighty p. of *2H6 2850 should raise so great a p. without his leave ?
*TT 47 back'd by the p. of Warwick that false peer
*TT 609 how far hence is the duke with his p. ?
*TT 611 some five miles off the duke is with his p.
*TT 644 their p. I guess them fifty thousand strong
*TT 669 the queen is coming with a puissant p.
*TT 1781 of p. enough to bid his brother battle
*TT 1905 Duke Edward with a mighty p. is marching hitherwards
*3H6 52 back'd by the p. of Warwick, that false peer
*3H6 162 'tis not thy southern p. of Essex, Norfolk
*3H6 780 their p. (I think) is thirty thousand strong *3H6 2064 till we meet Warwick, with his foreign p.
*3H6 2460 methinks, the p. that Edward hath in field
*3H6 2636 the queen from France hath brought a puissant p.
*3H6 2656 away, away, to meet the queen's great p.
*E3 246 would not back for all the armed p. of this land
*E3 273 hath p. to draw my subject eyes from
*E3 289 and let the p. of a mighty king honour our roof
*E3 342 as if her cheeks, by some enchanted p., attracted
*E3 542 as near, my liege, as all my woman's p. can
*E3 545 engage thy p. to redeem my joys
*E3 551 say, that within thy p. [it] doth lie, to *E3 553 to give me all the joy within thy p.
*E3 556 that p. of love, that I have p. to give
*E3 723 he, that hath p. to take away thy life
*E3 724 hath p. to take thine honour
*E3 988 even by that P. I swear, that
*E3 989 that P. that gives me now the p. to be ashamed of *E3 1042 some friends have we, beside domestic [A, drum stricke, B, drumsticke] p.
*E3 1313 I fear'd he would have cropp'd our smaller p.
*E3 1884 thy parcelling this p. hath made it more
*E3 1887 then, all the world, — and call it but a p.
*E3 1895 behind us, and on either hand, are but a p.
*E3 2087 thy word, nor no man's may exceed his p.
*E3 2089 that keeps it to the utmost of his p.
*E3 2474 to be the instrument to show Thy p.
1T 488 then, when our ps. in points of swords are join'd
1T 736 so will we with our ps. and our [8vo omits] lives 1T 817 some ps. divine, or else infernal, mix'd their 1T 848 and scorns the ps. that govern Persia !
1T 1284 ye gods and ps. that govern Persia
1T 1617 Capolin, hast thou survey'd our ps. ?
1T 1828 enthrall'd to foreign ps. and rough imperious yokes
1T 1868 from whom the ps. divine have made the world 1T 2192 must Tamburlaine by their resistless ps.
1T 2195 then, as the ps. divine have pre-ordain'd
2T 2095 ye ps. that sway eternal seats
2T 2126 let us march against the ps. of heaven
2T 2199 ps. that mean t' invest me in a higher throne
2T 2275 against the inward ps. of my heart
E2 2306 immortal ps. that know the painful cares that D 117 charge him from me to turn his stormy ps.
*HLC 930 to our sight's ps. communicated be
*HLC 1121 retention and ejections in her ps. being acts alike
*HLC 1937 all ps. she had, even her tongue, did so
*HLC 2198 and him she chargeth by the fatal ps., to *HLC 2241 but all his ps. in her desires awaked
*HLC 2355 much greater ps. [V. R. p.] than Neptune's

Ov 1844 th' eternal ps. grant maids' society falsely to swear
Ov 2310 these gifts are meet to please the ps. divine
L 449 and only gods and heavenly ps. you know
L 633 in the breast of this slain bull are crept th' infernal ps.
*1H6 1469 their ps. are marching unto Paris-ward
*1H6 1531 now let us on, my lords, and join our ps.
*1H6 2203 and keep not back your ps. in dalliance
*2H6 876 sorrow and grief have vanquish'd all my ps.
*2H6 1644 whose dismal tune bereft my vital ps.
*2H6 2708 he is fled my lord, and all his ps. do yield *2H6 2873 then Buckingham I do dismiss my ps.
*TT 151 'tis not thy southern ps. of Essex, Suffolk
*TT 1693 if heavenly ps. do aim aright to my *TT 1862 I mean those ps. which the queen hath got in France
*3H6 2300 if secret ps. suggest but truth to *3H6 2663 those ps. that the queen hath rais'd in Gallia
*E3 1516 withdraw your ps. unto this little hill
*E3 2028 awake thy craven ps., and tell on Powerful.

2F 1265 than if by p. necromantic spells thou
E2 1885 whilom I was, p. and full of pomp
HLM 77 loves of men, much less of p. gods
*HLC 1288 of her fair goddess and her p. son
*HLC 1985 the p. race of number
*1H6 2220 cull'd out of the p. regions under earth
*3H6 343 with p. policy strengthen themselves
*3H6 2620 and kept low shrubs from winter's p. wind Ov 2342 leave thy once-p. words, and flatteries

Pox.

JM 1973 here's to thee with a — P. on this drunken hiccup !
*Epg 400 I would but say, that it the p. will [MS. would] cure
*Con 1679 and so a p. take you all
*Con 1739 and so a p. rot thee, for Jack Cade must die

Practice.

JM 1470 and by my father's p., which is there set down
MP 462 whom p. long hath taught to
*Con 1049 to put in p. and to gather head
*2H6 1621 he to be approv'd in p. culpable MP 1229 that hatcheth up such bloody ps.
*1H6 1585 pretend malicious ps. against his state
*2H6 1255 upon my life began her devilish ps.

Practisants.

*1H6 1321 here enter'd Pucelle, and her p.

Practise.

2T 1720 to p. bitter taunts and tyrannies
1F 129 to p. magic and concealed arts
1F 1612 to p. more than heavenly power permits
2F 126 to p. magic and concealèd arts
2F 2160 to p. more than heavenly power permits
JM 662 but I will p. thy enlargement thence JM 925 to p. first upon the Italian
Ov 2471 p. a thousand sports when there you come
*Epg 429 doth p. physic ; and his credit grows
*1H6 626 well, let them p. and converse with spirits
*1H6 794 shadow, whereon to p. your severity

Practised.

*2H6 864 have p. dangerously against your state

Praemia.

Ov 525 Ad puellam, ne pro amore p. poscat

Praetor.

Ov 1813 now greatest spectacles the P. sends

Praise.

*Sel 1388 yet are they forc'd to bear them all with p.
*Sel 2030 whose lasting p. mounteth to highest heaven 1T 1616 in sounding through the world his partial p.
1F 1378 too simple is my wit to tell her p.
2F 973 adding this golden sentence to our p.
JM 2444 due p. be given neither to Fate nor Fortune, but to Heaven
D 1038 as my despisèd worths that shun all p.
D 1446 and thou despise the p. of such attempts
*HLC 896 p. doth not any of her favours give Ov 2285 faith to the witness Jove's p. doth apply
Ov 2374 and justly ; for her p. why did I tell ?
Ov 2512 « How small soe'er [ed C, to err], I'll you for greatest p. »
*Epg 364 this old mad colt deserves a martyr's p.
*1H6 589 shall in procession sing her endless p.
*1H6 1806 this is the latest glory of thy p.
*1H6 2397 good wishes, p., and prayers, shall Suffolk ever have *1H6 2414 solicit Henry with her wondrous p.
*1H6 2606 tale, is but a preface of her worthy p.
*Con 122 hath won thee immortal p. in England
*Con 524 thou happy man, give God eternal p.
*Con 775 O God I give thee p.
*Con 1700 stand up you simple men, and give God p.
*2H6 1277 that would annoy our foot, is worthy p.
*2H6 2712 to entertain my vows of thanks and p.
*2H6 3070 nor should thy prowess want p. and esteem, but *TT 1685 to sin's rebuke and my Creator's p.
*3H6 2275 to sin's rebuke, and my Creator's p.
*E3 422 fly it a pitch above the soar of p.
*E3 465 I have not to a period brought her p.
*E3 466 her p. is as my love, both infinite
*E3 1554 why, then his epitaph is lasting p.
*E3 1695 a charitable deed, no doubt, and worthy p.
*E3 426 of what thou art to p., thy p.'s worth
*TT 616 oft have I heard thy ps. in pursuit
*3H6 752 oft have I heard his ps. in pursuit
Ov 36 girt my shine brow with sea-bank myrtle-sprays ! [Old eds. myrtle p.]
*Sel 1389 whom fear constrains to p. their princes' deeds
*Sel 2314 every merchant-man will p. his own ware
1T 768 nay, though I p. it, I can live without it 1F 1133 and give me cause to p. thee whilst I live
E2 565 but rather p. him for that brave attempt
HLM 27 many would p. the sweet smell as she past
*HLC 853 now we p., as having parted
*HLC 1917 p. Hymen's valour much, nothing bestown
Ov 584 in verse to p. kind wenches, 'tis my part
Ov 877 but when I p. a pretty wench's face
Ov 1152 if I p. any, thy poor hairs thou tearest
Ov 1804 thee, gentle Venus, and the boy that flies, we p.
*Epg 6 fall in between their hands that p. and [MS. seeme to] love thee
*Epg 234 doth, above all, p. old George [A, omits] Gascoigne's rhymes
*Epg 396 which p. their oils and powders which they sell !
*Con 1440 I p. God I have been so well brought up, that
*E3 421 and every ornament, that thou wouldst p.
*E3 426 of what thou art to p., thy p.'s worth
*E3 434 what, think'st thou I did bid thee p. a horse ?
*E3 471 hers more to p., than tell the sea by drops
*E3 1521 how are we bound to p. thy wondrous works

Praised.

Ov 2131 she p. me, yet the gate shut fast upon her

Ov 2408 and my wench ought to have seem'd falsely p.
*2H6 743 now God be p., that to believing souls gives
*E3 1615 our God be p. !

Praising.

*HLC 2178 p. with open throat, and oaths as foul as Ov 750 p. for me some unknown Guelder dame

Prancing.

1T 1391 men in armour clad, upon their p. steeds
*3H6 626 trimm'd like a younker, p. to his love ?

Pranks.

*1H6 1110 thy lewd, pestiferous, and dissentious p.
Ov 2454 what madness is 't to tell night-p. [ed. A, night-sports; B, C, night's pranckes] by day

Prate.

*1H6 1702 and perish ye with your audacious p.
Ov 440 let him within hear barr'd-out lovers p.
*E3 1410 father, range your battles, p. no more
E2 1865 take him away; he ps.
*HLC 2068 who still with counterfeit confusion ps.
*Epg 257 of flankers [MS. ffrankers], ravelins, gabions, he ps.

Pratest.

*Loc 1633 what, p. thou, peasant, to thy sovereign ?

Prattle.

*1H6 1111 as very infants p. of thy pride
1T 251 and think we p. with distemper'd spirits

Prattling.

*Sel 286 sit with some grave wizard in a p. shade

Pray.

*Sel 2073 p. God that thou mayst prosper so as she
*Loc 569 I p. thee, good fellow, be content
*Loc 2041 so let us p. for that renowned maid
1T 87 nay, p. you [4to omits you], let him stay 1T 1669 I p. you, give them leave, madam
1T 1709 p. thee, tell why art thou so sad ?
1T 2005 p. for us, Bajazet; we are going
2T 1456 yet pardon him, I p. your majesty
1F 298 and p. devoutly to the prince of hell
1F 448 O Lord ! I p., sir, let Banio and Belcher go sleep
1F 752 never to name God, or to p. to him
1F 1219 alas, sir, I have no more ! — I p. you, speak for me 1F 1221 I p. you, let him have him: he is an honest fellow 1F 1536 let us into the next room, and there p. for him 1F 1538 ay, p. for me, p. for me; and 1F 1541 p. thou, and we will p. that God may 2F 282 and p. devoutly to the prince of hell
2F 1097 Lord Raymond, p., fall to 2F 1108 ay, p., do, for Faustus is a-dry 2F 1115 I p., my lords, have patience at this 2F 1158 p., where's the cup you stole from the tavern ?
2F 1193 ay, I p. you, heartily, sir
2F 1198 I p., sir, let me have the carrying of him
2F 1670 I p. you tell me, what is the thing you most desire 2F 1710 p. be bold elsewhere, and trouble not the Duke 2F 1768 then I p. you [Not in 1616] remember your courtesy 2F 1771 I p. you, tell me one thing
2F 1801 I p. who shall pay me for my a — 2F 2020 but let us into the next room, and p. for him
2F 2021 ay, p. for me, p. for me 2F 2024 p. thou, and we will p. that God may have 2F 2138 p. heaven the doctor have escap'd the danger
JM 401 ay, I p., leave me in patience
JM 790 is it square or pointed ? p., let me know
JM 877 I p., sir, be no stranger at my house
JM 974 I am a little busy, sir; p., pardon me
JM 1231 and say, I p. them come and speak with me
JM 1232 I p., mistress, will you answer me to one question?
JM 1372 p., do, and let me help you, master
JM 1373 p., let me taste first
JM 1479 so I have heard; p., therefore, keep it close
JM 1547 then, p. you, tell me, is 't not too late now to JM 1559 to fast, to p., and wear a shirt of hair
JM 1768 p., pardon me; I must go see a ship
JM 1892 p., bid him come and fetch it
JM 1924 p., when, sir, shall I see you at my house ?
JM 2368 see, I p., how busy Barabas is there above
E2 817 p. thee, let me know it
E2 1686 Sir John of Hainault, pardon us, I p.
E2 1707 I p., let us see it. — what have we there ?
E2 1745 between you both shorten the time, I p.
E2 1919 my lord, I p., be short
MP 55 and p. that God may still defend MP 303 O, let me p. before I die !
MP 304 then p. unto our Lady; kiss this cross
MP 354 O, let me p., before I take my death !
MP 360 he's my saint; p. to him
MP 361 O, let me p. unto my God !
MP 682 I p. thee, let me see
MP 1023 then p. to God, and ask forgiveness of the king
MP 1087 p. God thou be a king now this is done
D 1125 Anna, against this Trojan do I p.
D 1476 as how, I p. ? may I entreat you tell ?
Ov 121 p. God it may his latest supper be !
Ov 146 strike on the board, like them that p. for evil
Ov 186 to him I p. it no delight may bring Ov 265 night goes away; I p. thee ope the door
Ov 464 p. him to lend what thou mayst ne'er restore
Ov 469 p. oft, that my dead bones may in their grave lie soft
Ov 650 angry, I p. that rotten age you wracks
Ov 950 what can be easier than the thing we p. ?
Ov 1326 then wilt thou Leda's noble twin-stars p.
Ov 1394 by fear'd Anubis' visage, I thee p.
Ov 1554 to p. a mortal nymph's refusing lord to stay
Ov 1750 yet whom thou favour'st, p. may conqueror be Ov 1807 what Venus promis'd, promise thou we p.
Ov 2259 thy bones, I p., may in the urn safe rest
L 504 they stay'd not either to p. or sacrifice
*1H6 44 except it be to p. against thy foes
*1H6 623 p. God she prove not masculine ere long *1H6 1139 for what are you, I p., but one imperious in *1H6 1187 p. uncle Gloster mitigate this strife
*1H6 1693 quiet yourselves (I p.) and be at peace
*1H6 2631 why what (I p.) is Margaret more than that ?
*Con 52 uncle of Winchester [Q1 Q2 My Lord of York], I p. you [Q3 do you] read on *Con 177 and God I p., it do betide no [Q3 none] ill!
*Con 250 I p. God save the good Duke [Q2 omits] Humphrey's life
*Con 349 p. God the Duke of York do clear himself
*Con 460 my lord, I p. you let me go post unto the king
*Con 760 O Lord bless me, I p. God, for I am never able to *Con 839 I p. proceed no further against my lady, than the *Con 847 I p. you Sir John, use her ne'er the worse
*Con 1633 I p. you sir, let me have justice of this fellow here
*Con 1726 I p. God I may never eat grass more
*2H6 55 uncle of Winchester, I p. read on *2H6 378 I p. my lord pardon me, I took ye for *2H6 543 p. God the Duke of York excuse himself
*2H6 595 and so I p. you go in God's name
*2H6 644 now p. my lord, let's see the devil's writ

*2H6 735 I p. my lords let me compound this strife
*2H6 1060 drink, and p. for me, I p. you
*2H6 1064 O Lord bless me, I p. God, for I am never able to *2H6 1164 I p. thee sort thy heart to patience
*2H6 1178 entreat her not the worse, in that I p. you use her well
*2H6 1618 and I p. you all proceed no straiter 'gainst
*2H6 1624 p. God he may acquit him of suspicion
*2H6 2734 I p. thee Buckingham go and meet him
*2H6 2786 I p. God I may never eat grass more
*2H6 3119 priests p. for enemies, but princes kill
*TT 318 Oh let me p., before I take my death
*TT 319 to thee I p. : sweet Clifford pity me
*TT 1248 and p. the God of heaven to bless thy state
*TT 1593 and p. that I may reposses the crown
*TT 2105 brothers of Clarence and of Gloster, p. love my lovely queen [So Q3]
*3H6 402 Oh let me p. before I take my death
*3H6 403 to thee I p. ; sweet Clifford pity me
*3H6 2102 but say, I p., what nobleman is that *3H6 2231 and p. that I may repossess the crown
*E3 1148 relate, I p. thee, if thy breath will serve, the *E3 1431 and what, I p. you, is his goodly guard ?
*E3 1539 renowned Edward, give me leave, I p.
*E3 1956 haply, he cannot p. without the book
*E3 1962 to p. to God to put it in my heart to
*E3 2206 who now, of you or I, have need to p. !
*E3 2343 I p. thee, Philippe, let displeasure pass
Ov 1288 and to the gods for that death Ovid ps.

Prayed.
1F 249 seeing thou hast p. and sacrificed to them
1F 1522 that divines might have p. for thee ?
2F 236 seeing thou hast p. and sacrific'd to them
2F 2005 that divines might have p. for thee ?
HLM 183 he kneel'd ; but unto her devoutly p.
HLM 648 and p. the narrow toiling Hellespont to
*HLC 2365 she wept, and p. for him to every Fate
Ov 2093 as she might straight have gone to church and p. ?
*1H6 34 had not churchmen p.. his thread of life had not

Prayer.
1F 471 contrition, p., repentance — what of them ?
2F 419 contrition, p., repentance — what of [1624, 1631, be not of] these ?
E2 1162 yet once more I'll importune him with p.
D 1655 or else I'll make a p. unto the waves
*Epg 527 thou never usest p. but at primero
*TT 623 as he is fam'd for mildness, peace and p.
*3H6 759 as he is fam'd for mildness, peace, and p.
*3H6 2238 but, if an humble p. may prevail
*E3 1958 then render back this commonplace of p.
*E3 1962 ere night his p. may be, to pray to God to
*E3 1963 to put in my heart to hear his p.
*Sel 68 how often did I bootless ps. raise to
*Sel 1635 but will pour out his ps. to the heavens
*Loc 1706 and bear my ps. to his all-hearing ears
1T 1065 lifting his ps. to the heavens for aid 1T 1812 let us have hope that their unspotted ps.
2T 1804 satisfy the people's general ps.
2T 2271 ears of Death and Hell be shut against my ps.
JM 813 and yet I know the ps. of those nuns
JM 1194 and with my ps. pierce impartial heavens
JM 1736 he made such haste to his ps., as if E2 956 we never beg, but use such ps. as these MP 43 doth hear and see the ps. of the just D 312 and would my ps. (as Pygmalion's did) could give it life
D 1103 hear, hear, O, hear Iarbas' plaining ps.
D 1118 how now, Iarbas ! at your ps. so hard ?
HLM 375 Cupid beats down her ps. with his wings
*HLC 1787 gat Fortune in the end to speed to his best ps.
*HLC 1852 juggled the little god with ps. and gifts
Ov 95 Jove knows with such-like ps. I daily move her
Ov 278 all have I spent ; no threats or ps. move me
Ov 968 our ps. move thee to assist our drift
*1H6 32 the church's ps. made him so prosperous
*1H6 2397 good wishes, praise, and ps., shall Suffolk ever have *2H6 2559 ps. and tears have mov'd me, gifts could never *2H6 2604 if when you make your ps., God should be *3H6 1487 my love till death, my humble thanks, my ps.
*E3 1947 commends this book, full fraught with [holy] ps.
*E3 1961 and therefore knows no ps. for my avail

Praying.
*HLC 914 p. to the sea for his return)

Preach.
JM 312 p. me not out of my possessions
E2 118 let these their heads p. upon poles
E2 1327 strike off their heads, and let them p. on poles
MP 394 he, forsooth, must go and p. in Germany
*1H6 1227 I have heard you p., that malice was a

Preached.
*E3 694 a recantation of all the virtue I have p. to her

Preacher.
MP 342 sirrah, are you a p. of these heresies ?
MP 343 I am a p. of the word of God

Preachment.
*TT 393 and made a p. of your high descent ?
*3H6 491 and made a p. of your high descent ?
E2 1329 as by their ps. they will profit much
E2 1985 come, come, keep these ps. till you

Prease.
1T 84 when other men press [4to p.] forward for renown ?

Precedent.
1T 865 what better p. than mighty Jove ?
Ov 550 take from irrational beasts a p.
*AT 36 his wicked deeds surmount all p. of crime
*TT 703 for shame my lord, make them your p.
*3H6 845 for shame, my liege, make them your p.
*E3 2106 dwell'st thou on ps. ? then be it so

Precepts.
JM 542 I do not doubt, by your divine p. and Ov 1594 (alas, my p. turn myself to smart !)

Precibus.
D 1547 oro, si quis adhuc [Old ed. ad haec] p. locus

Precinct.
1T 217 as any prizes out of my p.
*1H6 671 within her quarter, and mine own p.

Precious.
*Sel 812 then wile them to thy will with p. gifts
*Sel 2015 loadeth his wings with p. perfumes
1T 121 lading their ships [8vo shippe] with gold and p. stones
1T 285 silk, enchas'd with p. jewels of mine own
1T 1213 fairer than rocks of pearl and p. stone 2T 215 a golden canopy, enchas'd with p. stones
2T 263 more p. in mine eyes than all the wealthy kingdoms
2T 1638 if you lov'd him, and it so p. ?
2T 2231 inestimable drugs and p. stones
2T 2251 my flesh, divided in your p. shapes
2T 2309 as p. is the charge thou undertak'st as that 1F 1407 and, with a vial full of p. grace, offers 2F 1865 and, with a vial full of p. grace

JM 1354 it is a p. powder that I bought
JM 2288 a pearl so big, so p., and withal so orient
D 1710 shall burn to cinders in this p. flame
Ov 2127 wit was sometimes more p. than gold
PS 22 meat, as p. as the gods do eat [Only in C. A, 1655]
*1H6 593 an urn more p. than the rich-jewell'd coffer of Darius
*1H6 2339 and set a p. crown upon thy head 1T 1903 for there sits Death ; there sits imperious [4to imp.] Death

Precise.
JM 490 but be thou so p. as they may think it
E2 767 was so p., that he would take exceptions at *Epg 33 but, to define a gull in terms [MS. words] p.

Precisely.
Ov 627 and somewhat higher bear thy foot p.

Preciseness.
*1H6 2486 is all your strict p. come to this ?

Precisian.
1F 226 I will set my countenance like a p., and 2F 214 I will set my countenance like a p.

Predecessors.
*Sel 933 and keep that safe his p. got
*Sel 2025 where our great p. sleep in rest

Predestinate.
L 251 p. to ruin ! all lands else have stable peace

Predominant.
*2H6 1358 foul subornation is p.

Pre-eminence.
1F 1121 chief spectacle of the world's p.
*E3 2330 to lose the least p. that I had won

Preface.
*Sel 1116 begin and make a preface to our massacres
*1H6 2606 tale, is but a p. of her worthy praise

Prefer.
2T 1729 I will p. them for the funeral they have bestow'd on *HLC 940 should be her [V. R. the] altar to p. a kiss
*HLC 1130 in whose fane she did p. her virgin vows
*HLC 1947 did at Athens now p. his welcome suit *1H6 1210 or who should study to p. a peace, if 1F 27 which he ps. before his chiefest bliss
2F 26 which he ps. before his chiefest bliss
*HLC 1074 such strife still grows where sin the race ps.
Ov 989 before Callimachus one ps. me far

Preferment.
*Sel 2089 the way to p. — down Holborn, up Tyburn
*HLC 1789 p. seldom graceth bashfulness *2H6 179 while these do labour for their own p.
*Con 115 whilst these do seek their own ps. thus Preferred.

*Sel 1408 p. he not the stubborn janissaries ?
E2 735 and would have once p. me to the king
E2 750 then hope I by her means to be p.
D 976 p. before a man of majesty
Ov 2134 for bloodshed knighted, before me p.
*1H6 1105 although in writing I p. the manner of *1H6 2656 in our opinions she should be p.
*2H6 479 why Somerset should be p. in this ?
*2H6 2563 because my book p. me to the king

Preferrest.
*3H6 255 but thou p. thy life, before thine honour

Preferreth.
Ov 4 for these before the rest p. he
*1H6 1128 and for dissention, who p. peace more

Pregnant.
*HLC 1093 at the eye, as the most p. place

Prejudicating.
*Loc 1777 p. Locrine's overthrow

Prejudice.
JM 2076 for none of this can p. my life
MP 471 p. their hope of my inheritance to the crown
*1H6 1532 and seek how we may p. the foe

Prejudiced.
1F 1100 thou shalt be no ways p. or endamaged

Prejudicial.
*TT 141 think you that were p. to the crown ?
*3H6 150 think you 'twere p. to his crown ?

Prelate.
*1H6 352 arrogant Winchester, that haughty p.
*1H6 1109 no p., such is thy audacious wickedness
*1H6 1142 and am I not a p. of the church ?
*1H6 1155 if fitteth not a p. so to plead
*Con 89 but my presence, proud p. as thou art
*Con 626 forbear ambitious p. to urge my grief
*2H6 140 proud p., in thy face I see thy fury 2F 1009 all the synod of priests and ps.
2F 1089 false ps., for this hateful treachery
MP 1274 those popish ps. there, shall curse the time

Premeditated.
*1H6 1096 com'st thou with deep p. lines
*1H6 267 and I will answer unp.

Premeditation.
*TT 1219 a cold p. for my purpose
*3H6 1567 a cold p. for my purpose

Premised.
E2 1726 [reading] « my duty to your honour p., etc. »
*2H6 3089 and the p. flames of the last day, knit earth and heaven together

Premises.
*Loc 2038 let them be warned by these p.

Premunition.
*Sel 816 change into hatred by such p.

'Prentice : see Apprentice

Pre-ordained.
1T 2195 then, as the powers divine have p.

Preparation.
E2 1397 I take my leave, to make my p. for France
*1H6 167 and here take my leave, to go about my p.

Prepare.
*Sel 647 then Bajazet p. thee to the fight
*Sel 1837 a potion which I did p. to poison you
*Sel 2211 and now, Mustaffa, p. thou thy neck
*Loc 1029 come, p. yourself, you shall find
*Loc 1688 but p. yourself ; yonder's the king
*Loc 1972 p. to see a heart oppress'd with care
1T 546 therefore cheer up your minds ; p. to fight
1T 1159 Techelles and the rest, p. your swords
1T 1302 p. thyself to live and die my slave
2T 335 I would p. a ship and sail to it
2T 1328 p. whips, and bring my chariot
2T 1757 till we p. our march to Babylon
1F 939 friars, p. a dirge to lay the fury of this ghost
2F 382 p. thyself, or [So Dyce. — Old eds. for] I will presently raise up two devils
2F 1037 now, Faustus, come, p. thyself for mirth 2F 1490 come, sirs, p. yourselves in readiness
MP 1119 no remedy ; therefore p. yourself
*HLC 1025 the next night's horror ; which p. to hear
*HLC 1363 when they p., and think of wives' states
Ov 583 all for their mistress, what they have, p.
Ov 2293 when well-toss'd mattocks did the ground p.
Ov 2413 the priests to Juno did p. chaste feasts

L 648 O gods, what death p. ye ?
*2H6 317 you do p. to ride unto Saint Albans
*2H6 1109 I'll p. my tear-stain'd eyes, to see her miseries
*TT 741 p. your battles, for they be at hand
*TT 1394 and now we will p., to levy soldiers
*3H6 2740 p. you lords, for Edward is at hand
*E3 68 no sooner minded to p. for France
*E3 2113 and bid the king p. a noble grave to *3H6 2046 go levy men, and make p. for war

Prepared.
*Sel 303 but for I see the Schoolmen are p.
*Sel 1232 he that's p. to do as much for you
*Loc 32 and with his dart p. is to strike
1T 1504 should have p. to entertain his grace ?
2T 1226 of Sorians from Halla is repair'd [4to p.] 2F 1278 the doctor stands p. by power of art to JM 2414 was this the banquet he p. for us ?
D 67 p. stands to wreck their wooden walls
D 260 our bands are not p. to lawless spoil
HLM 828 he the bright Day-bearing [Old eds. the day bright-bearing] car p.
Ov 7 with Muse p., I meant [A, uprear'd, I mean] to sing of arms
Ov 231 nor hands p. to slaughter, me affright
Ov 2000 thrice she p. to fly, thrice she did stay
PS 24 p. each day for thee and me [Only in C, A, 1655]
*1H6 277 I am p. : here is my keen-edg'd sword
*E3 1092 but where's our navy ? how are they p. to *Sel 1597 ready-p. to die at your command

Preposterous.
*3H6 2857 good Gloster, and good devil, were alike, and both p.

Prerogative.
*1H6 2561 detract so much from that p.

Presage.
*Loc 969 see how the traitor doth p. his harm !
2T 871 meteors [that] may p. death and destruction
D 1325 p. the downfall of my empery
L 527 and comets that p. the fall of kingdoms
